

Shun Hasty Action Is Advice To Board On Superintendent Job

Wayne R. Parmer Is Extolled In Resolution; Teachers Take Leaves, Others Are Appointed

Acting on behalf of the Belleville School Improvement League, Lester A. Skinner, its president, submitted a resolution passed at the last meeting, recommending that the Board of Education, in order to get the best possible man for the position of superintendent, should not take hasty action in the matter. The School Improvement League suggested that the best interests of the town might be served if the superintendent is not named until next year.

Charles Yocum, chairman of the teachers' committee, under whose jurisdiction the naming of the new superintendent falls, announced "the situation is open. There will be no hasty action."

Bicycle Thefts Mount At This Time Of Year

With the Summer vacation period less than a month away, Public Safety Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan cautions youngsters that it's a bad time to leave bicycles lying around without some means of protection against theft. About this time each year a large number of reports of stolen bikes are received by the police department. Two came in on Sunday, when Walter Schichram of 18 Smith Street and George Guckley of 2 Branch Brook Drive reported the loss of their bikes.

He has served on the Yankee, a whaling boat, has visited 20 different countries and islands, lived with Eskimos, and was buried in a Polar Desert for more than a year. He is a member of the American Polar Society.

Because he is a top-flight storyteller with keen and spontaneous humor, the evening should be a gala one for the turnout of members.

No Matter How You Serve It, a Lot of Lettuce Grows in Belleville

Fredericks-Scott Ship Holds Paper Collection

This will be the 42nd drive by the post and it is hoped that all the streets will be piled with paper and help the veterans swell the PAL fund.

PRINCIPAL FOUND UNDER DESK, DIES OF HEART ATTACK

Robert N. Hayes Of School No. 5, Had Started Typing Closing Program

Mr. Robert N. Hayes, principal of School No. 5, in Greylock parkway, who was found unconscious under his desk in his office where he had started to type out the program for the school's closing exercises, died of a heart attack early yesterday morning at Mountsinai Hospital. Mr. Hayes joined the Belleville school system in 1924, became vice-principal of School No. 1 in 1925 and principal there in 1926. After serving at No. 1 for 10 years he was moved to School No. 5 at the beginning of the 1936-37 school year.

Mr. Hayes who had an attack of illness two years ago but carried on his duties as principal with undiminished effort since that date. Tuesday morning he arrived at School No. 5 sometime between 7 and 7:30 o'clock. When found sprawled under his desk less than an hour later, a sheet of paper in his typewriter started out with the closing exercise program but ran off into incoherent typing.

Mrs. Hayes was notified and he was rushed to Mountsinai Hospital, where he succumbed.

Mr. Hayes was born in Mountaintop, Pa., one of seven children of the late Nelson and Jennie Hayes. He served as a sergeant in World War I and taught in the schools of Dover before coming here. He held a master's degree in education from Rutgers University, received in 1926, when Rutgers first granted this degree.

He was active in school organizations and held membership in the National Education Association, Elementary Principals Association of New Jersey, the Belleville Teachers Association, the New Jersey Audio-Visual Education Association, and the Parent Teachers Association of School No. 5.

He had served on the local executive committee of both the Boy Scouts of America and the Girl Scouts of America. He was a member of the Belleville Lodge F. & A. M., Second Presbyterian Church of Newark and the Everyman's Bible Class of Newark.

Sixty Acre Farm Here Produces One Million Heads Of Salad Leaves

August Plenge's Sons Also Operate Layout in Warren County; Year Round Farming

It's a lot of lettuce no matter how you serve it!

But it's green and tender, grown that way for the discriminating housewife, on the August Plenge Sons truck farm in Joralemon Street, now in the middle of its "Boston lettuce" season. Believe it or not, the hands on the Plenge farm cut, crated and shipped 45,000 heads—that's right, forty-five thousand—Thursday and another 25,000 heads on Friday. All was destined for direct delivery to stores of three of the largest food chains in the Metropolitan area.

Only Farm Left

Belleville once abounded in farms, but today only the Plenge place remains. How long it can resist the encroachment of residential development remains to be seen. But in the meantime, the Plenge brothers continue to work the ground to the utmost, making the local place with its high overhead pay through cheaper transportation costs, when delivering the produce to market. They also operate a second a larger layout at Asbury in Warren County.

Forty years ago, the late August Plenge bought the farm of 60 acres, almost half of which was growing up in scrub trees. By hard work on his own part and later by his sons, all the 60 acres were cleared and put into production in the intervening years.

Seven Sons and One Daughter

Today the two farms are operated by the children, six sons and one daughter. August Jr., Wilma, John and Charles operate the Belleville farm, while William, Robert and Harry have charge of the 210 acres in Warren County. A seventh brother, Fred Plenge, is proprietor of the American Packaging Company of Elizabeth, the source of the mountains of crates used in the Plenge farming operations.

The planting of crops on both places are so spaced that the Asbury crops come in about 10 days or two weeks after the Belleville crop first reaches the market. This enables the Plenges to run one crop for about a month. Most of the Plenge vegetables are sold direct and very little reaches the commission markets. Nine trucks run six days a week making deliveries of from 1,500 to 2,500 crates of produce per day, depending upon the market and the rapidity with which the crops reach a marketable stage.

These figures include Boston iceberg and Romaine lettuce, escrow and chicken. More than 110,000 heads of cauliflower, now ripening in the fields, will be cut and marketed within two weeks. Scallions, celery and spinach will follow in the same ground for another crop this year.

Through the liberal use of manure and commercial fertilizer, some parts of the farm may produce as many as four different crops in the growing season, which begins early in March and ends in December. The produce raised is all of rapid growing variety. The Plenges leave the beans, tomatoes and corn to other farmers whose overhead is not as high. Even a few months of idle ground would be too much for a "city farm."

Use Ground to Full Extent

Modern machinery and willing hands make it possible to use the ground to its fullest extent. More than 10 miles of pipe provide man-made rain to cool the growing plants in periods of excessive heat and to provide the moisture needed for quick growing. The water is pumped out of the third river by means of a pump powered by a 30 horsepower motor. Booster pumps at the junction of the mains and the irrigation pipes step up the head to 60 pound pressure.

Farming at the Plenge place is

WINS FIRST PRIZE IN HOBBY SHOW FOR HAND-MADE CLOCK

August Engel Also Wins Blue Ribbon For Table In Furniture Division

Belleville may well be proud of August Engel, a septuagenarian, who lives at 28 Berkeley Avenue, for he is the holder of a blue ribbon awarded for his hand carved wooden clock at the second annual Hobby Show for Older People held at the Y. W. C. A., 53 Washington Street, Newark, May 22, 23, and 24.

The purpose of the show, which is co-sponsored by the Council of Social Agencies of Newark and West Hudson and the Soroptimist Club of Newark, is to demonstrate that people of 60 years or more can and do develop special talents and in doing so remain active, contributing members of society.

The intricately carved scroll-work clock is natural wood treated with shellac. A clock was purchased and installed in the cabinet. Engel also received first prize for a scrollled table entered in the same class but in the furniture division.

Successful In Effort To Have Poem Deleted From 200 Text Books

Edward J. Abramson Backed By Church Delegation Claims Children Hurt by Objectionable Verse

Edward J. Abramson of 45 Lloyd Place, president of the Congregation A.A.A., acted as spokesman for a delegation from that church Monday night at the meeting of the Board of Education, and successfully induced the Board to vote the deletion of a poem, "King John and the Abbott" from a text book used in the schools of Belleville since 1927.

Mr. Abramson told the board that through the use of this poem in classroom work the feelings of a section of the people of the town had been injured. "When you hurt our children we feel the pain," Mr. Abramson declared. Mr. Abramson was backed not only by a delegation but had a stenographer taking verbatim notes on the Board's proceedings.

Children Ridiculed

Mr. Abramson declared that he had called the attention of Walter Loesner, chairman of the textbook committee to the objectionable passage in hopes that it would be deleted without publicity. But it was not done. "I understand that our superintendent advised teachers not to use that passage," he further declared that no safeguards were taken to prevent children from reading it. And after that passage was read in school the "Children of Jewish faith were degraded and ridiculed," he declared.

Mr. Abramson said his delegation didn't care if the board tore the page out of the book or pasted a piece of paper over the offensive paragraph, so long as something was done.

Good Literature

Mr. Parmer defended the book as containing "good literature," but when asked by Mrs. Homer C. Zink admitted that there was no reason why the poem in question could not be eliminated by cutting the pages from the book. Upon this advice the board voted to do this, and in the words of Mr. Loesner, to see that if the same poem is in revised additions of the same book, if purchased in the future, to see that it is deleted from these also.

Thanks Board

Anthony Moro, president of the Parent Teacher's Association of School No. 2 thanked the Board for redaction of that school and asked if the grading and paving of the school ground was included in the projects planned with the money from the recently authorized bond issue. He was assured that the grading was included but it was doubted that there would be enough money for the paving in the appropriation.

Mrs. Shea, representing School No. 10 thanked the Board for a reading table provided for that school.

Raymond McCann recommended that the board pass a resolution empowering Ruel Daniels, district clerk, to sign the necessary contract for the Federal subsidies of the High School Cafeteria. In answer to a question by Mrs. Zink, Mr. McCann reported that the deficit so far is $2,800 but if half of the amount of subsidies promised by the government are paid the cafeteria deficit will be reduced to $200. Mrs. Zink commented that Mr. McCann was optimistic.

Mr. Parmer announced plans for the elimination of the com-

FIREMEN PRAISED FOR WORK AT FACTORY FIRE

Two Injured At Blaze In The So-Easy-Window-Door Plant

The Belleville fire department received high praise from insurance adjusters for their prompt and efficient work at the fire in the So-Easy-Window and Door Company plant at 25 Joralemon Street, Saturday evening. Firemen were called to the plant owned by Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Linroth of Sea Girt, at 5:39 and had the fire out in an hour and a half.

When the first engine arrived the flames were leaping out of the door and a heavy pall of smoke rolled across Joralemon Street and bounced off the buildings of the Eastwood-Nealley Company, giving the impression that there was fire on both sides of the street. As soon as the firemen could ventilate the fire the smoke problem was eased. Four lines of hose were laid.

The fire was confined to the northeast corner of the plant, where stock valued at $15,000 was partly destroyed. The roof rafters and roof were badly charred.

Two firemen were injured, slightly. Fireman Andrew Lukowiak tripped over a hose and sprained his ankle and Fireman August Bechtold suffered a laceration of his right index finger.

CEREBRAL PALSY FIVE EXTENDED

Another 15 Days Needed For Volunteer Workers To Cover
Specific Areas and Groups

The month-long drive for funds by the Essex County division of the Cerebral Palsy League of New Jersey, scheduled to end today, has been extended for another 15 days, according to an announcement made by William Jernick, Mayor of Nutley, and general county chairman. The quota for Essex is $141,227.

Mayor Jernick said, "Contributions to our campaign are just starting to roll in, and additional time is needed by our volunteer workers to cover their specific areas and groups. By June 15, we will have reached every group in a area in the county."

"We have made excellent progress in creating for the first time a public awareness regarding the ailment of Cerebral Palsy, but there is still a great deal of work to be done to make everyone understand the condition of CP," he added.

"Cerebral Palsy can be treated," he continued, "right here in our county treatment center, which is located in the Summer Avenue school building in Newark. We are treating over 100 cases a week. We have trained teachers and therapists to give these Cerebral Palsied children the necessary physical as well as mental education to enable them to grow like other children."

"There is still much more that we can do, but we need money to operate. If we are able to reach our quota this year, we will be able to expand our facilities at the treatment center and give aid to a portion of the other 1100 Cerebral Palsy cases in the county that have been unable to receive much needed treatment," Mayor Jernick concluded.

home gardeners have finished thumbing through the Plengse catalogue, which arrives in the late winter mail. The last crops, knob celery and scallions, come out of the ground in mid-December and often as late as Christmas.

Running two large layouts with multiple crops presents a real problem in planting. Because plants of the cabbage family cannot be planted in the same ground more often than once every three years, the Plengses maintain a master plan of their layouts, with each farm divided into sections. Before planting time the brothers agree on the way to use the ground to the best advantage.

Were High School Athletes
All but the older two of the Plengse boys were athletes at Belleville High School, playing on the football and basketball teams. They were too busy in the Spring, working for Dad, to do anything about baseball. They agree that in their own schooling they found that too much emphasis was placed on preparing young people for white collar jobs, while trades were treated as something to be avoided.

Combining this with the so-called wit of the comedians of a few years back, who usually could get a yack by referring to "hayscoeds, rubes and plow-pushers," they found that their school companions would laugh when mention was made that a Plengse expected to follow in his father's footsteps.

Unjust Attitude

live. It is this attitude that is to blame for the fact that it is next to impossible for the Plengses to hire native American or second generation Americans for jobs on the farm. Out of a total of 60 employees, only three are in this class. The rest are from Puerto Rico.

Farmers are of the belief that it more Americans would consider working at farming it would not be necessary to raise the price of a head of lettuce, cabbage or cauliflower at store level by more than one cent, to provide adequate wages, high enough to compete with industrial and office jobs. On the Plengse farm alone, one extra half-cent per head would amount to a considerable sum by the end of the growing season.

On the other hand, the Puerto Ricans working and living on the two Plengse farms are willing, able, sober and intelligent farm workers. They are thrifty folks and eventually will become better American citizens than many native born.

Today the Plengses raise some tomato and pepper plants for retail sale, but about 14 years ago, before they had their Asbury place, they opened a retail stand at the corner of Joralemon Street and Franklin Avenue. centage of the crops grown here. If every family in Belleville, Nutley and Bloomfield bought one head of lettuce per week during the four peak weeks in the Spring, it would not account for more than two days' production. The building is still on the corner, but is now operated by the O'Boyle brothers as the Ideal Milk Bar.

That's YOUR dollar he's stretching!

Most John Dietmeier—Marine veteran of the Pacific theatre. Since leaving the service 3 1/2 years ago, he's been working, along with 22,000 other New Jersey telephone people, to provide more telephone service and make everyone's service better!

John Dietmeier is placing a new telephone cable. At the same time, with the help of a device designed by Bell Telephone Laboratories, he's stretching your telephone dollar.

In the old days, when new telephone cable was placed, it was supported by rings placed by hand. Now, using the ingenious cable lasher, a lineman binds the cable and supporting strand together. Result: more dependable service.

How do such developments affect you? They mean trouble free service and long-range economy. And every penny, both in construction and maintenance expense, counts these days with material costs up so much—for example, lead 228% and copper 112%. Even more important, these developments mean better service, more valuable service to you.

DID YOU KNOW? Although your cost of living has gone up 85%, telephone rates have increased an average of only 22%!

239th CONSECUTIVE DIVIDEND

The Board of Managers has declared a quarterly dividend for the three months ending May 31, 1951, payable on and after June 1, to all depositors entitled thereto under the by-laws, at the rate of 2% per annum.

The present law requires the payment to the State Treasurer of unclaimed bank deposits, which (generally speaking) are accounts which have been "dormant" for 20 years, in the names of persons as to whom the bank has no current information. It is, therefore, particularly important that depositors, in person or by mail, promptly present their passbooks at the bank for crediting dividends, and keep us advised in writing of any change of name, address and other means of identification.

Associated Artists Stage Outdoor Exhibit Saturday

Spectators Approve Of Seventy Paintings Set Up On The Lawn Of Christ Church

The lawn of Christ Episcopal Church took on all the Bohemian atmosphere of New York City's Greenwich Village and the streets of Paris last weekend, when the Associated Artists of Belleville presented an outdoor exhibit of over 70 paintings created by members of the group.

Attracted by the unusual sight of pictures perched on folding chairs, leaning against trees, and even the appearance of a rather plump native woman clad only in a long skirt, peering sullenly from the leaves of a hedge, the population of Belleville woke up to the long hidden fact that there is a group of talented artists in town who deserve recognition and a little outside help in finding a workshop. In fact the basic purpose of the exhibit was to acquaint the public with the work done by the group, made up of amateurs and professionals, and to invite anyone interested to join their ranks.

The exhibit was a success, judging from the reaction of the spectators. They came alone or in groups, and included town and country officials, friends, neighbors and strangers who happened to be passing by. Some were merely curious, others were art lovers, and still others were self-appointed critics.

The paintings, divided into three groups, primitive, conventional, abstract and modern, gave a basic over-all picture of modern art. Each category seemed to appeal to a different type of viewer. The most popular was the conventional group, made up of landscapes and works that require skill, yet do not require a great deal of emotion on the part of the artist. Paintings of this type are more or less studies of technique and value.

Representative of the spectators who favored the conventional, were Mrs. Robert Berkowitz and Mrs. Eric Wagman. They thought the work shown was "wonderful." Both said they had no idea Belleville had such artistic people and stated that they were pleased and surprised at the quality of the pictures. The two women were particularly impressed with the work of Mrs. H. I. Russell, Alberta Del Grosso, Lorena Clark and Howard Irving, all in the conventional group.

Others whose works appeared in the exhibit were Mildred Ger, Ada Scarano, Frank Livingston, Amy Nees, Alice Hugel and R. Zimm.

Primitive paintings, as represented by Marge Cooper's "Pier" and "Country Road," met with popular approval. Figures of this sort do not require a great deal of technique, and their value lies in the emotion created by the artists.

By far the most controversial subjects in the show were abstract and modern paintings. Richard Van Teigham and J. Gibbs. Mr. Van Teigham's portrayal of "New York Harbor" aroused a great deal of interest. Spectators either thought it was excellent or just looked bewildered. Most of them, however, agreed that they liked his cubist treatment of "housetops."

Also on exhibit were the work of Jack Gibbs, including a prize-winning "Time." Another work of his, which met with popular approval was the "Fisherman," an interpretation of the ruggedness of men who appear in the pages of "Moby Dick."

No article written on an exhibit would be complete without including some of the comments of spectators. These ranged from the silent approval of a little lady, looking like a fairy to godmother, who merely smiled and nodded her head, to the critical remark made by a small boy looking at a picture of Second River, who said derisively, "That water ain't that deep."

Questions on Truman's Spending

...the eight and a half billion dollar for aid and military assistance proposed by President Truman last week should win approval by Congress, the taxpayers of Essex County alone will be called upon to pay an estimated $53,211,000 as their share of its cost. The total cost to New Jersey taxpayers will be $285,600,000, which exceeds the past state budget in the history of New Jersey by $105,000,000.

This brings to mind four pertinent questions:

1. With taxes for all government, federal, state and local now expected to take about a third of the income of the American people, how many more billions can we afford to put into foreign programs before a point is reached where the tax burden will impair our own productive growth?

2. To what extent can loans be made to place grants in the President's new program for military as well as economic aid? The experience of ECA, the Export-Import Bank and other agencies has shown that foreign aid extended through loans has often produced more effective results than outright gifts and grants.

3. In view of the fact that the President's new program calls for an expenditure equal to the entire Federal budget for pre-war 1940, is it not high time that Congress establish machinery by which it can keep itself and the American people better informed about these foreign outlays? Congress is poorly informed about the results which are being obtained from our huge investment in foreign aid programs or the efficiency with which the large bureaucracy administering the program carries on its work.

4. Should not the legislation for the new foreign aid program contain definite provisions to end these huge expenditures when

Remember When

Five Years Ago

With an extensive rehabilitation program nearly completed, Camp Ro-Li had taken on an appearance of one of the finest summer camps in the East. A variety of carpenters, electricians and painters, had been busily engaged putting the camp site into shape for the opening date. Many additions and improvements in the camp guaranteed it to be one of the most modern and up-to-date in the area.

Miss Jean Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brown of Washington Avenue, won the title of "Miss Belleville" at the annual contest. The pretty daughter was scheduled to travel to the Madison Armory to compete with other winners from North Jersey towns for the crown of "Miss Regent of 1946."

Ten Years Ago

The Town Commission, with Commissioners Waters and Noll, adopted public safety measures. Clark's amendments to the police and fire department ordinances which would revise the salary scale for employees in both services and which would also create several new positions.

Belwood Park residents were preparing for another battle before the Town Commission to prevent further encroachment by the development upon their town. Because of the the job was then finished. When ECA and the Foreign Military Assistance programs were first enacted, definite understandings were reached as to the date of their termination, but the new program calls for their extension with military aid greatly expanded.

More Hamburger, Less Steaks

Butchers and housewives are in a terrible stew—beef stew, of course.

Only general confusion attends the second week of application of the government's meat pricing-and-cutting regulations. Once again the Federal Government has given proof that bureaucrats who sit at their desks in some Washington office and pontificate, too often lack the practical knowledge that comes with experience.

Out of a 700-pound steer, there are only 30 pounds of round steaks. In dictating a lower price for round steaks, the government boasted of the 12 to 15 cents a pound that the OPS was saving the housewife. A butcher has to stay in business and if he must sell round steaks at a dictated low price, he will have to make it up on the porter house cuts and other steaks, much more numerous than round steaks in any steer. So where is the economy?

Hamburger is the heart of the meat business, and any butcher will tell you that—but then, perhaps, the government bureaucrats, to whom the dollar is somebody else's money, may live on a steak level and know nothing about hash and hamburger.

Eliminate Offensive Passages

Passages from literature which might harm a segment of our cosmopolitan population have no place in the text books of our schools, especially when our children are prone to place importance to the repetition of those passages by a teacher. This was quite forcibly demonstrated at the Board of Education meeting Monday night when a delegation from the Congregation A.A.A. asked the Board of Education to delete such a passage from a text book used here since 1927.

The Board concurred in the request of the delegation by ordering that the poem containing the offensive passage be cut from the 200 copies of the book used here. The Board also ruled that if further and revised editions of the book are purchased, containing the poem, it be deleted in the same manner.

When "King John and the Abbott" was written tolerance for the views of others was neither practiced nor popular in England. If tolerance was practiced there wouldn't have been colonies founded on religious principles in this country. Today, tolerance is taught in our schools and our churches. Anything in variance to this practice is unnecessary and objectionable.

Fortunately the situation is about to be remedied in this instance, but not without undue publicity. The text book committee cannot be expected to comb every school book for objectionable utterance, but if they do develop, prompt action should be taken, so that our children do not carry through life some unfair impressions of the other fellow.

LETTERS

To the Editor, Times-News:

Thanks Public Safety Dept.

I want to take this opportunity through your paper, in expressing my appreciation for the wonderful work being done by the Department of Public Safety in our town.

A week ago Friday, Mr. Thomas Bagley fell while walking on Greylock Parkway, and fractured his hip. One of the neighbors notified the police department, and without delay a police car and the town ambulance arrived and brought him home. Later in the afternoon the police were kind enough to deliver a hospital bed to my home. They set it up, and moved Mr. Bagley from his bed into the hospital bed. That evening we found that it was necessary to move him to the hospital, and once again the town ambulance came to take him to East Orange General Hospital.

I thought this incident might be of interest to the people of our town as it is impossible for me to express in any other way my deep gratitude for their services.

Mrs. Frank Witt

Thanks Mobile Unit

I wish to express my great appreciation for the willing and generous help which the Mobile unit of the Belleville Red Cross, the policemen and the firemen gave to my husband, George Johnston, during his illness.

ONE MAN'S OPINION...

There's Peace Talk in the Swedish Air, But If China Wants Peace in Korea, Make Her Pull Out of Tibet

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Stockholm, which always has been a convenient capital to plant diplomatic rumors and often served that purpose for Stalin in the past, is the source of a report which is current at the United Nations headquarters this week that Russia would regard a settlement of the Korean war along the boundary line of the 38th Parallel as acceptable. The date of June 25, the first anniversary of the North Korean treachery, has even been set as a time limit.

Gen. J. Lawton Collins, Army Chief of Staff, said before the Senate committee investigating the MacArthur affair last week that the United States would consider a settlement on the parallel "honorable." Gen. Omar Bradley told the same committee: "A negotiation may take place where we are now, north of it (the 38th Parallel) or south of it, but in any case we hope to get a negotiation and a settlement."

Once again the Kremlin will turn a defeat into a victory.

In three Spring offensives, the Chinese Communist army has lost close to one million effectives, killed, wounded or prisoners. There is a rumor prevalent in Washington that the Chinese high command will make one more try, probably late in June, and that they will back up their attack this time with their air force which they have been saving in the Manchurian sanctuary because they know if they use their planes, we will use our bombers against key centers in China itself and against depots and communications in Manchuria.

The Stockholm rumor, therefore, is timely. It may mean one of two things: Russia fears our arrival again at the Yalu River without, this time a Chinese army strong enough to drive us back, or it may mean that Russia is trying to gain time by talking peace while building up the Chinese army anew for the fourth offensive in late June. Either way, we have nothing to gain by too hasty negotiations, a too hasty peace.

Folly of Appeasement

It would be wrong to seek a peace at any price. There is a price that must be put on a return to the status quo at the 38th Parallel. Firstly, South Korea must be protected against a new invasion either by North Koreans or by Chinese. Secondly, Red China which "stole" Tibet while the rest of the world was watching Korea must be compelled in any settlement to withdraw to her own borders. If we needed a concrete illustration of the cost and the dangers of appeasement, the rape of Tibet is a timely lesson. There was no more loyal friend of Red China than India. If India had had its way, we would have given Communist China the seat of Nationalist China in the Security Council. Every government would have recognized Mao Tse-Tung as the ruler of 400 million Chinese.

Lesson for Nehru

Nehru insisted repeatedly, and his agents at the UN preached the same sermon, that the rest of the world was misjudging China. Communist China, he kept insisting, was the real China. Nehru is served. For his passive attitude, his pacifist theories and his appeasement of Mao, he now has an undefended border with China. We'll see what appeasement costs India now.

It takes time to prove a point, but in smashing three Red Chinese offensives we proved that manpower alone is not enough to win wars. That is a lesson that the Western European nations should learn. The Chinese army might as well have been using spears. To attack our high fire power frontally as they did was like attacking tanks with bicycles.

Where Are We Going

Now the point is proven. We are attacking with an "unlimited objective." The immediate objective of United Nations forces continuing to advance northward beyond the 38th parallel is to swing laterally in an effort to cut off as many retreating Chinese Communists as possible; 60,000 is a possible "bag."

After driving new spearheads northward against light resistance of Communist screening forces covering the general withdrawal, Allied units now are concentrating efforts to trap and annihilate major portions of the Communist army.

...longer line, but parallels the relatively short-lived UN success. Irrespective of whether or not the present offensive carries much further northward, undoubtedly the desirable UN objective is the so-called narrow waist of North Korea slightly north of Pyongyang, North Korean capital. Such a line, if attained and held, would provide a short front, give the UN the prestige of a territorial gain in North Korea, yet not be close enough to the Chinese border to cause Peiping genuine alarm about Manchuria.

Opinion at general headquarters here is that the present offensive is unlikely to reach the narrow waist of North Korea without a pause followed by another major push. Only a Communist collapse would grant the Allies such a valuable gain without heavy fighting.

Not a Rout

At present, the enemy retreat, while steady and rapid, is not classifiable yet as a rout, and such reports are regarded as over-optimistic. The Communists are following their usual tactics of melting into the hills in the day time and striking back with nuisance attacks at night.

As Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, pointed out, the present operation is like wringing water from a sponge—water trickles through the hands and only the sponge remains.

Archbishop Walsh Guest of Honor At Cathedral Banquet

James J. McMahon of Montclair, chairman of the Essex County section of the Memorial Division of the Sacred Heart Cathedral Builders' Association, has announced that the Most Rev. Thomas J. Walsh, Archbishop of Newark, will be honored guest at a banquet in the Robert Treat Hotel Thursday night. Over 500 members of the Memorial Division are expected to attend and to initiate a program to completely furnish the cathedral prior to its formal dedication in 1953.

In approving the plans of the Memorial Division. Archbishop Walsh issued the following statement: "It is a felicitous expression to call the cathedral the Crown of the Archdiocese. The superlative achievements of the Archdiocese of Newark in religion, education, and charity deserve a glorious crown worthy of the resplendent faith and marvelous fruits of our truly devoted Catholic brethren, now in excess of one million souls. "A crown, to be worthy of its exalted purpose, needs the adornment of jewels and precious stones set in beautiful design with artistic skill. The cathedral's main altar and the eight chapel altars will be among its most precious stones."

How much electricity is in a pound of coal?

How much electricity is in 2/3 of a pint of oil?

Enough electricity to light a 100-watt bulb for 10 hours!

ELECTRICITY is made in Public Service's generating stations using either coal or oil as fuel. As shown above, it doesn't seem like much fuel—only about a pound of coal or 2/3 of a pint of oil to light a 100-watt bulb for 10 hours.

But think of the millions and millions of light bulbs in the homes, the stores, and the factories we serve. Think of all the electric appliances in daily use in Public Service territory.

When you think of all the electric energy needed by our customers, you see why it takes tremendous amounts of fuel for the power plants behind your switch. To give you an idea: in 1950, Public Service burned 1,045,682 tons of coal and 403,563,466 gallons of oil in our electric generating stations.

But even though Public Service has expended hundreds of millions of dollars to provide modern and efficient generating, transmission and distribution facilities... and spends millions of dollars annually for coal and oil... the cost of electricity to you has been kept down.

ELECTRICITY... does so much costs so little

WORTH TRYING

By PIERSON

Perhaps it is our national tendency to abandon the old for the glittering new, which is responsible for the low ebb of some of the finest sports this country has ever known. The young people of today would do well to investigate the possibilities of any number of sports which can be both enjoyable and healthful. The efforts of the Nereid Boat Club, now in the third year of providing opportunity for young people to learn about rowing, is an example.

In this line we found it exceedingly interesting to talk to our next door neighbor, Joe DeBacco, whose bike shop at 326 Washington Avenue is the headquarters for the rejuvenated Alpine Wheelmen, Inc.

The Alpine Club, once famous in bike racing circles, and which almost passed out of existence when the closing of the sulky track at Weequahic Park caused the discontinuance of its weekly races, now has made new arrangements with the Essex County Park Commission to hold weekly events in the old reservoir in Branch Brook Park, each Sunday. Alf Goulet, one of the better names in the bike racing business, is director of the races which are held from 1 to 3:30 o'clock each Sabbath. In an effort to attract youngsters, the program is divided into two parts, the first for novices riding stock bikes and the second for the more experienced riders affiliated with the club. Sunday will mark the fourth program at Branch Brook Park. We heartily endorse the events especially for youngsters.

No more healthful exercise was ever devised. The bicycle is standard equipment in the training efforts of all sorts of athletes who must use their legs. Ice skaters for instance train all year on bikes for the few short months of the winter ice season.

Like many another sport bicycle racing once had its full treatment of the efforts of professional promoters, who milked the sport for all it was worth and then dropped it fast, as soon as something new got the glamour treatment. Today the emphasis in this machine age is on stock car racing, which to our mind is not a sport but an exhibition. It was not more than five years ago that the emphasis was on midget cars, a lot more dangerous undertaking. Today there is nothing as dead nor as dull from the fans' point of view as a midget car race.

Unfortunately too much emphasis is put on the spectator appeal and too little on participation. That is why we are an avowed amateur sport fan. The only worthwhile values obtained from sports for any person is from participation. The synthetic thrill gained from watching a professional go through the motions of doing his job is but a fleeting one. It has no retention value. It serves no useful purpose.

Every boy can't be a star baseball player. The same goes for football and basketball. But there is such a wide field of activities open that the only boy who cannot find something in which he can get enjoyment, is one utterly lacking in co-ordination or rudimentary intelligence.

Bicycling certainly should be investigated. The Alpine Wheelmen in a very short while already have found a couple of capable junior riders here in Belleville. John Greulich is the club's junior champ and Joseph Gantheime did so well in his initial stock bike effort that he was a club entry in a big race at New Brunswick recently. Ray Frate, a Belleville man, is the club's current champion. Herb Hoffman from town is president of the Wheelmen.

Angelo DeBacco, who teamed with Alvaro Giorgetti to win the last six day bike race in New York City in March of 1948, is affiliated with his brother, Joseph, in the local bike store. Although he is a professional, he is allowed to compete for the Alpine Club in invitation events.

RAIN AND MORE RAIN

Postponed! Cancelled! They are the words of the day when one goes to check up on the sports events listed for various teams at the high school. The recent week of rain has just about killed off the competition in the waning weeks of the high school season. The big event of the closing week is the freshman crew race between Belleville and Nutley at 2:30 Saturday afternoon on the Passaic. Other events on the card so far is a baseball game and tennis match Thursday at West Orange and Clifford Scott, respectively. A tennis match at Kearny, a golf match at Upper Montclair on Friday, a baseball game with Orange and a golf match with Hillside

Belleville's Sr. Four Nipped in Best Chance to Return With Title; Another Bellboat Bumped

A second in the four-oared shell of Belleville High, thirds by Nutley's double-sculls, Nutley's senior eight-oared shell and Jack McNish in the senior singles scull, plus a fourth place by Belleville's junior eight-oared shell, were brought home from Philadelphia by the crews under the direction of Bill Bennett.

George Plosa, a member of the Belleville crew, has written a full account of the activities Friday and Saturday.

By GEORGE PLOSA
Friday morning, the Belleville and Nutley High School crew teams journeyed to Philadelphia to compete in the National Schoolboy Rowing Championships on the Schuylkill river. The Bellboys entered a junior (under 18 years of age) eight, a senior four and a senior single. The Maroon of Nutley pinned its hopes on a junior four, a junior single and a senior eight.

Nutley Four Fails
Because of a large number of entries in various classes, elimination heats were held Friday afternoon. The first heat involved the Nutley junior four, which trailed the leaders all the way and failed to qualify for the championship races, to be held the next day. The four was manned by Bill Meyer, Bonnie Moreira, George Long, Carl Adlon and Coxwain Bill Smith.

The next heat found the Belleville junior eight among the entries. The Bellboys took the lead at the gun, and held onto it right down to the three-quarter mile mark. At this point they faltered, not able to maintain their high heat, and George Washington, H. S. from Alexandria, Va., forged ahead. The race finished this way, with the Bellboys qualifying, 1.5 seconds behind the Virginians. The winning time was 5:27.

Senior Four Romps Home
The Belleville senior four, in its heat, had an easy time of it. They jumped off to a quick lead and never were headed. They romped home first three and one half lengths in front of Northeast High of Philadelphia in 5:55.4.

Because of a last minute scratching of Northeast High, the Nutley senior eight did not have to compete in a heat. The scratching brought the field down to the limit of six in a race.

On Saturday, the first race was the junior championship single sculls. Nutley was represented by Bill Pfachler. Charles Melvaine of LaSalle High, Philadelphia, possessed much more polish, finesse and experience than the average junior sculler and walked off with this event, leaving Pfachler and the other at Forest Hill on Monday, and last of all, a tennis match at East Orange on Wednesday.

Also Postponed

Dan Morris, writer with the Daily Mirror in New York, whom we have known since he covered about half the county for the Newark Ledger, tells us that the Varsity Club meeting, announced for next week has been postponed until June 21. At that time the baseball team, the golf team and senior members of the crew will be guests of the club.

Has Fourteen Strikeouts In Seven-Inning Fray; Tim O'Shea Stingy

By RON KRAUSS
Jim McConnell, lanky Bellboy right hander, struck out 14 and allowed only two hits as he shut-out Kearny High 2 to 0 at the Belleville Municipal Stadium, Friday. It was McConnell's third successive victory and his second two-hit shutout of the season. Jim was never really in trouble and exhibited flawless control as he walked but one Cardinal.

Tim O'Shea, Cardinal southpaw, limited Belleville to three hits, but two of the three were collected in the second inning when the Bellboys scored both their runs.

With one out Vince Vitelli began the uprising with a fly ball double to right. Don Cuomo then scored Vitelli with a line single to the same spot. Cuomo stole second and a moment later Roger Hansen drew a walk. McConnell's potential double-play bounder to second was interrupted when Hansen spoiled the shortstop's relay with a rolling block. Cuomo scored from second on the play.

The Bellboys placed only two men on bases after that inning, but McConnell's pitching left nothing to be desired. He whiffed one man in the first inning, struck out the side in the second and recorded two strikeouts in each inning thereafter.

Not one Kearny runner reached third base, and only one reached second safely. It marked the second time McConnell has beaten Kearny this year.
