ISSUE PERMITS FOR POST OFFICE AND TAG CO. ADDITION

Building Department Figures Soar To $191,500 For Week On New Construction Here

Building permit figures soared to new heights this week during the first week of Building Inspector Thomas Greco's vacation. In his absence the permits have been issued by Campbell McCall, secretary to Commissioner Joseph King and former building inspector. The permit for the new post office building at the north east corner of Washington avenue and Essex Street, valued at $70,000 and another for a second story addition at the American Tag Company, 151 Courtlandt street valued at $76,000, plus a factory shed, and three new residences, pushed the total to $191,500.

Owner's Builder
The new post office is being erected by Benjamin R. Leinhardt of 44 Court street, Brooklyn, listed on the building permit as both owner and contractor. The architect is Isadore Nafelt of Newark. It measures 83 feet on Washington avenue and 63 feet on Essex street. In addition there will be a 16x33 loading platform at the rear facing a parking and loading lot. Excavation for the building was started this week.

Just one year ago the American Tag Company erected an addition to its plant at Courtlandt and Rutgers streets, but for the company's expanding business. The new addition was planned by Architect Raymond B. Platt of Bloomfield. The Peterson Construction Company of Montclair will do the work.

Factory-Lumber Sheds
The J. P. Glasby Manufacturing Company, Inc., at the corner of Montgomery and Willett streets, was given a permit for a one-story concrete block storage shed valued at $8,500 and the Stanley Lumber Company of 280 North 8th street was granted a permit for a one-story lumber shed valued at $5,000.

Peter Iacullo will erect a new dwelling at 134 Brighton avenue, valued at $10,000. Victor Micati will erect another ranch type house at 34 Berkeley avenue, valued at $9,000. The other new dwelling will be erected by James A. Hacker at 9A Crescent terrace, valued at $8,500.

Other Permits
Other permits included one for a garage valued at $300 for Nick Guadagno at 124 Mt. Prospect avenue; an alteration valued at $300 being done by Rudolph W. Peterson at 90 Joralemon street; a kitchen extension valued at $300 for Thomas Scull-thorpe at 50 Cleveland street; a $450 garage for Matthew J. Smith of 182 Mill street; a $350 replacement job for Joseph Vada of 20 Heckel street who will replace an old wooden staircase with one of steel; and a sign valued at $450 which the United Advertising Corporation will erect at 180 Washington avenue.

Patriotic Purpose of July 4 Celebration Cited by Hyde

While games were played, circus performers went through their turns and fireworks were shot in the air, the real meaning of the Fourth of July, especially this year's 175th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, did not pass unnoticed during Belleville's celebration. The stands at the Municipal Stadium were only partly filled when the evening's program started with the day's only patriotic speech, a two-minute talk by Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, whose Recreation Committee was in charge of the day's events.

"On this holiday occasion, I would like you to bear with me for just a moment and recall why we are all here this evening," Commissioner Hyde told the audience. "One hundred and seventy-five years ago, the Declaration of Independence was signed. This memorable, hardy band of men, whom we have come to know from our history books, gave America its greatest documentary proof of impending greatness. Today, the United States is the forerunner in progress, science and the development of civilization.

"Today, even at this moment, we are engaged in a tense struggle to rid the world of tyranny and bring about a lasting peace. The fate of the entire world, yes, even civilization, rests in our hands. If we are to survive, we must return to the principles embodied in the Declaration of Independence. Those principles are contained in one of the most profound, yet unbelievably simple sentences ever written. The Declaration of Independence states, and I quote: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are

New Phone Number For Police Headquarters

With the distribution of the new telephone directories the telephone number of the Belleville Police Headquarters has been changed to Belleville 2-4600. Some time ago the Fire Headquarters number was changed to Belleville 2-1500. Householders would be wise to write each of these numbers on the front of the new phone book for emergency purposes.

"PARK" HOSPITAL STUDIES MEDICAL CENTER BENEFITS

Centralized Purchasing Might Effect Economy Of Operation Of Five Units

An entirely new plan for hospital care in the Newark-Belleville-Nutley-Bloomfield area has been under consideration for the past several months, according to John F. Kidde, campaign chairman of the Lutheran Memorial Hospital building fund. Briefly, this plan is based on the creation of a medical center or medical group, to be composed of two general and three or more specialized hospitals.

The Lutheran Memorial Hospital has elected to explore joint action with other hospitals in respect to the formation of this medical center. The other hospitals which have indicated interest are the Hospital of St. Barnabas, Newark Eye and Ear Infirmary, Babies' Hospital and the Hospital for Crippled Children.

If a medical center is created, all participating hospitals will preserve their own identities. For example, the Lutheran Memorial Hospital will continue to have its own medical staff, board of trustees, etc., but will participate with the other hospitals in centralizing purchasing and in other ways to effect economy of operation.

G. Lawton Cox Named To Library Trustees

Belleville Men Hurt in Newark Blast

SUPERINTENDENT LEFT CAR TO RUN FOR RR TRESTLE

Vincent E. Dunbar Burned On Neck, Car Comes Through Without Damage

Vincent E. Dunbar

Vincent E. Dunbar of 16 Belle Terrace, Belleville, plant superintendent of the Warren Maritime Corporation, was one of those burned in the explosion of 70 tanks of propane gas at the company's plant in Newark Saturday. Mr. Dunbar is recovering from burns on the neck at the Bayonne General Hospital.

He was one of the firm's seven employees on the premises on Saturday morning, a situation which came about because the full crew had worked the night before unloading the company's tank ship. He was in his car when the first tank went up. He got out an down the Passaic river bank to a railroad trestle leading to Bayonne and was partly way across the trestle when picked up by a boat in the Passaic river.

Car Came Through Intact
Although almost the entire premises of the Warren plant was flattened by the series of explosions, Mr. Dunbar's car was found where he had abandoned it, apparently in good shape and running order, on Monday.

Mr. Dunbar, with the firm nine years, was in complete charge of the Newark plant, coming here from Port Arthur, Texas, in 1947. While at Port Arthur he came through the famous Texas City Explosion and fire unhurt, as did the Warren plant there. Mr. Dunbar was building a pipe line to Houston when the Texas City blast went off. Although an oil refinery next door to the Warren plant at Port Arthur went up in flames there was no damage there.

Saturday the shoe was on the other foot. Along one side of the Warren plant the meadows are built up with oil refineries and oil storage tanks. While the propane gas tanks shot out like projectiles, they all went off in the other direction.

Children Visiting Grandparents
Mr. and Mrs. Dunbar have an apartment in the garden apartment development opposite Branch Brook Park. They have two children, Vincent 11, and Libby, 10, both of whom were visiting their grandparents in Louisiana at the time of the explosion. Mrs. Dunbar figures the children will stay where they are awhile longer, as a result of the accident.

Belleville Red Cross Crew Serves At Disaster Scene

Station Wagon-Ambulance and Canteen Unit Reported Saturday Evening and Worked Until Sunday Morning at Request of Newark Chapter

In the recent Warren Maritime gas explosion in Newark, the Belleville Disaster Unit of the Red Cross again participated in relief operations, assisting the Newark Chapter to provide necessary ambulance, nursing and canteen service, in the emergency, according to Edwyn J. Lambrecht, Disaster Unit chairman.

Receiving a request at 9 p. m. Saturday evening from the Newark Chapter to provide relief equipment and personnel, Lambrecht alerted his volunteer aides, and within an hour the first Belleville Red Cross ambulance unit was on its way to the disaster scene, with the Canteen Unit following 30 minutes later, bringing sandwiches and coffee prepared on short notice by the Canteen group.

Lambrecht, with Mrs. Winston Ross, R. N., and William J. Ross, chairman, Safety Services, accompanied the first ambulance—the newest station wagon equipped with a wheeled ambulance stretcher, first-aid equipment and other emergency items.

Mrs. Howard G. Ryer, Motor Service member, with the second Red Cross station wagon, took the Canteen group, with two five-gallon coffee containers, and ample sandwiches for workers at the explosion area. Accompanying Mrs. Ryer were Mrs. Paul Breen, Mrs. Horace Knox, Oscar McEntee and

"Peeping Tom" Ordinance Plugs A Legal Loophole

Now Illegal to Mar Buildings; Annoy Children or Teachers, Insult Folks on Public Thoroughfares or to Pry or Watch Homes; Set Fine at $200

Because Belleville police recently were faced with the possibility that a "Peeping-Tom" would escape punishment for his act, because the state law covering disorderly persons has no provision for this offense, the Town Commissioners on Tuesday night at the request of Public Safety Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan, passed on first reading an ordinance describing a number of acts for which a person can be arrested, and providing for a fine of $200 or 90 days in jail or both.

In the recent situation, the person accused of "peeping" pleaded guilty and paid a $25 fine, but had he said not guilty, Magistrate Everett B. Smith would have had no alternative but to let him off free. The person in question has since moved out of town.

Covers Many Things
The ordinance makes it illegal to enter any public or private building and break, injure or deface it or fences and outbuildings; to disturb the exercises of any public school or molest or give annoyance to children or teachers; to obstruct, molest, hinder, annoy, frighten, threaten, insult or interfere with anyone on a public thoroughfare; to loiter on private property and to pry into the privacy or security of persons living therein by peeping or any sly or furtive method of spying upon, watching or keeping under observation the people occupying said home.

Every Man For Self
It was every man for himself in this instance and Mr. Perkins started running for Doreus avenue, at the same time tearing off his clothing as he ran. Glad in shoes and socks he was picked up by a passing truck driver and taken to the hospital. Soon after his talk with Mrs. Perkins, he started treatments including heavy shots of dope to deaden his intense pain.

Mr. Perkins joined the Warren firm four years ago, when the Newark plant was opened, and soon after his release from the Army. He was born in New York, but raised in Grant avenue, Nutley, where his parents still reside. While attending Nutley High School he began keeping company with Ellen Mueller, also of Grant avenue, and during the War they were married. They have two children, Wm. 5 and Mary Ellen, 19 months.

He received his degree in business administration from Rutgers University in 1940 and in February 1941 was inducted into the army. He went through officer's training school and came out of the army as a Captain. He served in an ordnance unit, overseas and was hospitalized for a time for battle fatigue.

TOWN SELLS FIVE PARCELS OF LAND

The Town of Belleville is the most active agency in the realty field in the town. At each meeting the commissioners go over bids submitted by persons seeking to buy property which the town acquired from time to time by tax foreclosure. Tuesday night bids were accepted from five individuals, totaling $4,650, on five parcels, most of which were without improvements.

Jerry Lepre of 251 Division Avenue, bid $1,750 for a number of lots in Norton Street and Thomas C. Maglione of 436 Greylock Parkway bid $100 for a backyard strip in the same general area. Salvatore Taibi of 87 Frederick street bid $800 for a lot at 61-63 Frederick street. Patrick Greco of 87 Carner avenue bid the same amount for a lot at 71-73 Carner Avenue. Mrs. Minnie Mazzeo of 174 Bloomfield avenue, Nutley bid $1,200 for a lot at 81-87 Moore Place. Since there were no further bids on the property, they were accepted.

Brush-Maker By Trade
Mr. Engel is a brush maker by trade, having worked or lived near the intersection of Mill and Main Streets for more than 50 years, it was when he first came to Belleville that he took a position in the Hardman Brush Company, which had its plant on the site of the present Hanlon-Goodman factory opposite that intersection. The original building burned to the ground in a fire almost 50 years ago.

Mr. Engel, whose "Church Clock" and ornamental stand, won the awards in a show held May 22, 23 and 24, has been working with wood since he was a child

OFFICE MANAGER MOST SERIOUSLY BURNED IN BLAST

Erwin Perkins Passed Crisis Tuesday Morning; Hit In Back By Flames

Erwin Perkins

Erwin Perkins of 103 DeWitt Avenue, Belleville, and formerly of Nutley, was the most seriously injured of those hurt in the explosion of the Warren Maritime Corporation plant in Newark on Saturday. Mr. Perkins, office manager of the plant, was caught in the back by a burst of flame when the first explosion occurred. He suffered first, second and third degree burns. He passed the crisis Tuesday morning but is still in the critical list at St. James Hospital, Newark.

The shocks of the explosions were felt over a wide area of Belleville and Mrs. Perkins hearing that an oil plant had had an explosion on the Newark Meadows attempted to call her husband, but received a busy signal. After hanging up the phone she received a call from St. James hospital, reporting that her husband had been seriously burned in a big fire in Newark. A few minutes later the Belleville police arrived at the DeWitt avenue address with the same information. Mrs. Perkins arrived at the hospital while her husband was still conscious and he told her that he had his back to the tanks when the first explosion went off. A tongue of flame licked out and set his clothes afire.

It was every man for himself in this instance and Mr. Perkins started running for Doreus avenue, at the same time tearing off his clothing as he ran. Glad in shoes and socks he was picked up by a passing truck driver and taken to the hospital. Soon after his talk with Mrs. Perkins, he started treatments including heavy shots of dope to deaden his intense pain.

He was born in New York, but raised in Grant avenue, Nutley, where his parents still reside. He went through officer's training school and came out of the army as a Captain. He served in an ordnance unit, overseas and was hospitalized for a time for battle fatigue.

Commissioners Meet In Soundproofed Chamber

When the Town Commissioners met Tuesday night in regular session it met in new surroundings. Accousticon Tile, designed to deaden sounds in the Commission Chamber, has been erected on all walls by the Woolstate Company of East Orange at a cost of $873. The work was provided for in the budget, started on Monday and nearly finished in time for the Commission meeting.

He was graduated from Princeton University in 1926 and Stevens Institute of Technology in 1928. Mr. Kidde lives at 71 Eagle Rock Way, Montclair.

NEIGHBOR'S CLAIM HALTS RAMP PLAN FOR NICOLA STREET

Guarino Marble Works, Inc., Says Commissioners Cannot Override Deed Easement

The Board of Commissioners was forced to reverse itself on Tuesday night, after it had passed an ordinance licensing the Alfred Allen Watts Company to use a portion of Nicola Street for the erection of a loading ramp. The commissioners were sailing through routine business, after Acting Mayor Patrick A. Waters had asked for objections to ordinances and whether any citizen wished to be heard. Since no one spoke up, it was assumed that there were no objections.

Then Attorney David H. Weiner of Newark arose and asked if action had been taken on the ordinance pertaining to Nicola Street. When assured that the ordinance had passed, he asked Mayor Waters to reopen the matter so that he might present the views of his clients, the Guarino Marble Works, Inc.

Been There 50 Years
Mr. Weiner explained that his clients as a corporate body and as a family firm has been in business since the turn of the century and for 45 years were of the impression that Nicola Street was their property. When the Alfred Allen Watts Company established here the ownership of the portion of the property which comprises this paper street was questioned. Mr. Weiner made a search and found that instead of ownership, his clients had a right of way or easement over the property, as well as the other owners of abutting property. He claimed his clients hold a deed which created the right of way.

With the official establishment of a street there, it was no longer an easement but a piece of public property open to the Guarino Marble Works, Alfred Allen Watts and the Erie Railroad.

Action Reversed
"The proposed ramp will destroy the right of way guaranteed in our deed and will deprive my client of his rights," Mr. Weiner declared. "The Commissioners of the Town of Belleville have no right under the law to so deprive my client, and should you persist in passing this ordinance, I have been retained by my client to carry the matter into the courts."

On the recommendation of Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan, a resolution was adopted to rescind the commission action in passing the ordinance on final reading. Then the matter was laid over for action at the meeting on July 24. At that time it is expected that the ordinance will be withdrawn.

Difficult To Find Drug To Combat Infantile Paralysis

Michigan Professor Believes Right Drug Will Come Along Eventually; Present Drugs Kill Bacteria But Cannot Attack Virus Diseases, Such as Polio

Since sulpha-drugs, penicillin and other antibiotics have proved so effective in treatment or prevention of many infectious diseases, why don't they work in polio and other diseases caused by viruses?

This question — of timely interest with the approach of the 1951 polio season — is discussed by Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., of the University of Michigan School of Public Health in the July issue of the National Foundation News, published by the March of Dimes organization.

Affirming his scientific belief that the right drug will come along eventually, Dr. Francis reveals that the fundamental difficulty in finding a drug to combat virus diseases and those caused by bacteria. It is with bacterial diseases that the most spectacular effects have been achieved through antibiotics.

"Bacteria are highly developed, self-sufficient organisms as compared with the more dependent and parasitic viruses," Dr. Francis states. "Bacteria can obtain their food from many sources; they can convert material to their own needs, and they multiply freely under these conditions. Moreover, when they enter the body they grow primarily outside the cells of the body and the resulting disease, to a large extent, is inflammation produced by the blood serum and the white blood cells.

"Viruses are much more intimate parasites. They select specific cells of the body, enter them promptly and, in this location, are protected from the action of the normal defenses of the body, as well as from the influence of chemicals that might be harmful to them if they grew outside the cells, like bacteria. Established in a cell, the virus utilizes the chemical components that are essential to the life of the cell itself, with the result that the cell may be injured beyond repair.

"This, then, is the fundamental reason why the use of drugs to combat polio presents difficulties."

In the case of poliomyelitis, caused by one of the tiniest viruses,

Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., of the University of Michigan School of Public Health, believes the right drug will come along eventually to combat virus diseases like polio.

es, Dr. Francis explains, infected nerve cells that die are not replaced; thus the function of the muscles they supply is lost.

"The problem is, then, to prevent the virus from establishing itself in the highly important nerve cell," he writes, "or, if it has gained admission, to make that environment unfavorable to the virus without damaging the cell at the same time."

Summarizing research, which he describes as "tedious work but intriguing too, since it represents the effort of the human mind to outguess the virus," Dr. Francis concludes:

"The best evidence indicates that polio is basically an infection of the alimentary tract, from which the virus gains entry to nerve cells along the nerves from the throat intestines. If this is correct, the danger of paralysis could be eliminated by drugs that would prevent establishment or multiplication of the virus in the alimentary tract, before it extended to the nerves. Such a drug, if successful, also would eliminate the further spread of the virus to other persons through infected excreta."

While optimism is heightened by results of many scientific studies being financed simultaneously by March of Dimes funds, "these various approaches must be considered merely as possibilities," Dr. Francis cautions. "Their probability depends upon results of research. By bringing numerous skills and abilities of different kinds together to focus on the problem, as now is being done through the research programs of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, many schemes of attack are possible."

ago, Mr. and Mrs. Engel were then just married and were living in a house on Main Street in the vicinity of the Nereid Boat Club. The house was torn down to make room for the present park.

Following his employment with Hardman, Mr. Engel worked in the brush business again with the McGuire Brothers Brush Factory in Bloomfield and then after a siege of illness gave up the brush work and signed as a porter with the Weston Electric Company in Newark. Nine years ago he joined the Wallace & Tiernan company as a porter and was back at the same corner where he started in Belleville a half century ago.

Accident Nearly Ruined Works

Mr. Engel entered the show at the Newark Y.M.C.A. more or less by accident, and another accident nearly prevented him from winning one of the ribbons. Glancing through a Newark newspaper one day in February he noticed an item asking for persons of more than 70 years of age to show their hobbies at a show. He sent for an application and after reading the rules, indicated his desire to show in two classes.

One of the items which Mr. Engel expected to show was a church clock, made of some 500 pieces of mahogany, maple and white holly. When the clock was finished, Mr. Engel decided to take it to the Wallace and Tiernan plant where he could varnish it. On the way he dropped it and split several pieces of wood on the face of the clock.

Rather than replace the broken pieces, Mr. Engel started over from scratch and just to make the clock a little different than the original, added an extra steeple. It was the second clock which won one of the ribbons. Another clock, this one 40 inches in height is planned as the entry in next year's contest.

Mr. Engel figures that the material for each of his clocks costs about $35, so that his hobby is not exactly a cheap way to spend a few evenings.

Have Six Children

Born in Philadelphia of Pennsylvania Dutch stock, Mr. Engel was brought to Newark when he was 11 years old. It was there that he met Mrs. Engel and after he became firmly established in a job in Belleville, the wedding which had lasted 50 years took place. The couple have three daughters and three sons; Mrs. Theresa Aggar of Newark, August Jr., of Cranford; Mrs. Viola Har-di of Hillside; Harold and Norman, twins, of the Berkeley Avenue address and Mrs. Ruth Miller, also of Belleville.

Commuter Railroads Seek Approval of Rate Boosts

Monthly Tickets Would Increase $2.70 and $3.00; Weekly Rate Up 75 Cents; Cite Operating Expenses and Deficits as Reasons

Six railroads operating commutation service in the New York-Northern New Jersey area today filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission and the State Public Utility Commissions new tariffs to become effective August 10, providing for increases in commutation fares to partly offset large increases in operating expenses and to reduce the heavy deficits sustained in rendering commutation service.

The new schedule of fares, with some exceptions, generally advances the cost of weekly tickets to and from New York City by 75c, the popular Monday to Friday monthly tickets by $2.70, and the unrestricted monthly tickets (good for unlimited use every day of the week) by $3.00. On the intrastate tickets between points in New Jersey where the current fares are now on a lower basis than the interstate fares, the increases will be somewhat greater to equalize the intrastate and interstate fares for like distances.

Five Roads Appeal
The roads filing new tariffs include the Lackawanna, Erie, Lehigh Valley, New Jersey & New York RR, and Pennsylvania. The Jersey Central is at present filing on interstate traffic only. It is believed other railroads are considering increases in their commutation fares.

Concerning the need for these higher fares the railroads said: "The commutation service is inherently a costly service to provide by reason of the morning and evening traffic peaks for which equipment and crews must be provided. The cost of providing this service—wages, materials and supplies—has steadily increased to a point where if the railroads are to continue to operate the service for the convenience of their patrons some reduction must be made in the losses sustained. Freight shippers and others are insistent that the passenger service, which includes the commuter service, stand on its own feet so as to reduce losses that drain off freight revenues.

"Although these new commuter fares will fall far short of making ends meet, they will help to reduce the losses in commutation service.

Flat Increases Explained
"It may be asked why the railroads propose a flat increase applying to all commuters regardless of the distance they ride. The reason is that commutation service with its twice-a-day peak load is unlike other passenger service. Commutation trains obviously must carry equipment and crews to accommodate the morning and evening rush periods. The investment in equipment, the terminal expenses and the many other costs are the same for long haul and short haul passengers. While we will continue to charge a higher fare for the long haul commuter, we believe it is proper to recognize the fact that certain fixed costs are the same regardless of the distance travelled. For these reasons the increase in commuter fares is being made on a flat basis so that both the short-haul and the long-haul riders will, in fairness, pay the same amount of increase."

It was stated that tariffs covering similar increases in commuter fares are being filed by the railroads in other principal commutation areas in Pennsylvania and Ohio.

The railroads ask for the co-operation and support of their commuter patrons in introducing this fare increase made necessary by the continued rise in operating expenses.

Reports Twelve Watermelons Missing From His Truck

It's a good season for watermelons, or so it seems from a report received at police headquarters from Vincent Simeone of 230 Belleville avenue, a pedler, who complains that sometime between 10 p.m. Friday night and 7 a.m. Saturday morning someone, or for that matter more than one, stole 12 watermelons from his truck, valued at $2.20 each. Mr. Simeone said he loaded his truck Friday night, in preparation for his Saturday morning trade, but when he went to drive away from home, he found his stock of melons had evaporated. Police couldn't even find the seeds.

Playgrounds Look Forward To Five Feature Programs

Softball Teams Ready; Game Champs Fight Off Local Challengers

Belleville's playgrounds completed their third week of activity last week and things are now in such a shape that one might say that everything is running smoothly. Softball teams have been organized, ping-pong and checker champs are battling off challengers. But the season is far from over. There are at least five more big events on the program, starting with the Dodd Show, Wednesday, and followed by the Playground Olympics, the Treasure Hunt, the Gay 'Nineties Parties and the Field Day in successive weeks.

Memorial Playground
Directors
Donald Ross, Michael Lattamilla, Peter and Anthony Botsamilla are proudly displaying the banners they made on Monday, Arts and Crafts Day. This was their answer to the many rings and necklaces which have been showing up of late. The children, both boys and girls are developing an avid interest in weaving. Later in the summer there may be a contest for the best article produced in handicraft. There is usually a long list of contestants waiting to pitch horseshoes. An unbeatable duo is comprised of Frank Corsi and Andy Rowjohn. Their closest competitor is Billy D'Annola who has been seen practicing since the playground opened. Approximately 60 fans turned out to watch a free hitting softball contest in which the West Ends, behind the pitching of Frank Moerli, defeated H & H by a score of 13 to 4. Bobby Pessacia checked for the losers.

Clearman Field Playground
Directors
Donald Brown, Edward Berlinki After a week of tryouts the Midget League was formed. The following boys were made captains of their respective teams: Condons, Thomas Reid; Hawks, Fred Lowack; Falcons, Ray Kimble; Eagles, Robert Yudin. If the first two games are an indication of the type of ball the boys will be playing then we will see some corking games in the future. The Falcons beat the Eagles with the shutout, 3 to 0, with Bob Caulfield getting the white wash. Ted Blazer and Ray Kimble also stood out for the victors; Bob Yudin and Larry Remes were the standouts for the losers. The second game between the Condons and Hawks was a slugfest, with Hawk's winning, 8 to 3. Andy Suppa was the batting star of the game with three hits. Others who hit well were Fred Lowack, Tom Cullen, Fred Schuerman and Louis Iannicella for the victors and Ellison Pardum and Jack McCumber for the losers. Our junior team has been playing some practice games with fair success, but we expect to be red hot with the right combination soon as the extra playground games start. Our registration has gone up to 140 and we expect 200 in another week.

No. 3 School Playground
Director: Judy Daniels
This week we had our Pet Show. The winners are Carol Babb, Jeffery Britland and Bobby Babb. We had our usual games of volleyball, lodge ball, checkers, jacks, picture contests and many new games we have learned. We all had a wonderful time at the Fourth of July celebration. In the morning we participated in the sack and three-legged races and some of us were lucky. We won and received a tremendous piece of watermelon as a prize. In the afternoon we ran in the track events and in the evening we were treated to a fine circus performance and then a real display of fireworks. Sure was swell and hope we have another fine celebration next year.

Recreation House Playground
Directors
Elsie Aierstock, William Boyd Another week of playground activity has passed and what a week it was! Boys and girls are still enjoying all the sports, especially softball, checkers, horseshoes and ping-pong. There isn't a moment that passes that someone isn't saying, "horseshoes and checkers." We had two big activities. The first was a pet show. Contestants paraded their show. past a big audience of parents and children sitting on the Recreation House front stairs and lawn. Judges for the contest were: Knute Mayers, Russell Purdie, Joan Swetell and Rita Zimmer. Prizes were awarded as follows: Most talented, white mice entered by Douglas Miller, Lawrence Miller and Howard Beresford; most comically dressed, the Member girls' dog as a clown; best groomed, Anita Skrinber's dog. Still more enjoyable have been the fire hydrant, hot weather so we can continue these throughout the summer. Next week we will have the results of our bicycle parade.

No. 10 School Playground
Directors
Helen Koehne, Jack O'Connor Our biggest feature last week was our annual pet show. Many types of pets were exhibited. The children who received top honors were: Funniest, Nicky Dinito, brown and white dog; cutest, Jim Pirdan, puppy with the snub nose and tail; prettiest, Carol Murawski, toy pomeranian. All were proudly displayed as Mrs. Pasternak of 23 Carpenter Street and the playground directors acted as judges to select the winners. The ever popular ping-pong game was added by the addition of new equipment. Checkers, however, is popular for many of the small fry. The children of No. 10 playground enjoyed the July 4 celebration. Bob Sargent won a pre## liminary contest of the sack races.

Friendly House Playground

Director: Eleanor Walsh

The younger children at Friendly House Playground are enjoying the many activities, including monkey bars, swings, sand box, horseshoes and various ball games. A large number of boys and girls between the ages of 3 and 8 attend regularly and many are even learning to play games like checkers and jacks so as to beat the older group. Linda Palamara and Annette Sinapolo have been winning regularly, along with Vera D'Amola. Ping-pong tournaments have been held in an effort to oust Chirp Marone from the championship spot. Sandra Ricci shows the skill necessary to defeat the champ. Perhaps this week will tell the story. Dominick Klein, Albert Romano, Jerry Marra and Charles Vitale continue to practice daily to get in shape for the chance of meeting the champ. Ralph Sena, Bill D'Amola, Butch Klein, Anthony Palamara and Joe Morano have been ringing the peg like professionals. Dick Vazzano, of the golden trumpet with Mr. Wertman's school orchestra, has been trying his skill at ping-pong and horseshoes. A musical athlete! The playground children enjoyed a special treat one hot afternoon, when the Jack Frost Ice Cream Company treated them to free ice pops—many thanks to Patty and Joe Costa are starting to compete in the midge checkers contest—and winning, too! Art work is Carl De Vona's interest; she has completed some excellent pictures. Handwork is coming along nicely, with more becoming interested each week.

No. 9 School Playground

Directors

Mrs. L. Winfield

Mrs. R. Eibelheuser

Visitors at our playground from Rhode Island for a week are Gwendolyn and Robert Wilson. They are visiting their grandmother of this town. We welcome John Ludy back to No. 9 School Playground this week. John has just recovered from an appendix operation. He is getting back his old zip and snap. Congratulations to Ronald Brown and Angelo Rosa for entering the races at the Stadium on July 4. The two boys came in first place in the sack race for midge boys and junior boys.

Fourth Committee Sends Thanks

To the Editor:

The Fourth of July, 1951, marked the 175th Anniversary of our Declaration of Independence. Here in Belleville it was certainly "a day for celebration" with an all-day program of events from 9:30 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock in the evening, and one which should be recorded as one of the greatest in our town's history. It was a holiday which reflected the desires, the ambitions and the enthusiasm of our whole citizenry.

The members of the Belleville Independence Day Celebration Committee are more than pleased with the results of the day's occupation and we want to take this means to express publicly our sincere thanks and appreciation to the people of Belleville, and their friends, who attended the day's program. (It was estimated between 10,000 and 12,000 were in attendance), and particularly we want to extend our thanks to our many industries, merchants, organizations and individuals, that have so generously contributed financially and assisted in some measure to help us make this 1951 July Fourth the most glorious of all holidays.

We wish to thank also Arthur Sharrock, commander of the Belleville Post No. 105, American Legion, Commander Michael Resciniti of Belleville Post No. 275, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, and to Robert W. Jones, the boy bugler, who conducted the flag raising and the retreat of colors ceremony; to Rev. Frederick G. Hubach of Wesley Methodist Church and to Rev. Father John Wightman of St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, for the Invocation and the Benediction, to Mrs. Arthur Trico for the singing of our National Anthem; to our local newspaper, The Belleville Times-News, for keeping the progress of our committee's plans and activities before the eyes of our citizens; to the Belleville Police Department and the Belleville Auxiliary Police Reserves; to the Belleville Fire Department; to the Belleville Chapter American Red Cross for the assistance of the First Aid Corps and the Red Cross Ambulance; to the Crippled Children's Committee of the Belleville Elks Lodge No. 1123 and their auxiliary and to each and every one who has so ably assisted our committee.

And in retrospect, we thank our Heavenly Father for permitting us to close our day's celebration in the display of fireworks before the down-pour of rain which came perhaps after all was safe in their homes. This was, indeed, a safe and sane Fourth of July holiday. Once again we say thanks to all.

(Signed) THE COMMITTEE
IRENE P. MCCKRLE,
Secretary and Publicity Chairman,
F. DOUGLAS WADSWORTH,
General Chairman.

NEWSPAPERMAN IS NEW ELKS LEADER

Howard R. Davis, Elected Grand Exalted Ruler At Chicago Convention

Howard R. Davis

Howard R. Davis, veteran newspaper editor of Williamsport, Pa., was elected Grand Exalted Ruler of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks of the U. S. A. at its 87th Grand Lodge convention in Chicago last week. Mayor William J. Jernick of Nutley was re-elected Grand Treasurer.

Davis, who succeeds Joseph B. Kyle of Gary, Ind., is the ninth Pennsylvanian to head the Order since its founding in 1868. Active in the Elks for 41 of his 67 years, Davis was chosen to head the Order after five years of service on the Board of Grand Trustees.

Davis served as managing editor of Grit, the country's largest weekly newspaper, from 1937 until his retirement in 1949. He began his newspaper career as a copy boy in 1904.

A leader in civic and welfare activities, Davis helped to found the Lycoming County Crippled Children's Society, and was active in the establishment of a cerebral palsy clinic under the Society's sponsorship last year. As President of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association in 1939, he established a Student Aid Program, emphasizing aid to the physically handicapped, which now is one of the largest in the nation.

ST. PETER'S WINS COUNTY GRAMMAR SCHOOL BASEBALL

Johnny Bartell Pitches and Bats Team To Title Over All Souls 10 To 1

Johnny Bartell pitched and batted St. Peter's to the Essex County CVO grammar school baseball championship in a playoff game against All Souls of East Orange at Branch Brook Park Extension. Bartell limited the East Orange nine to five hits as he went all the way in a 10 to 1, seven-inning contest.

Using an easy motion, the local twirler mixed his fast ball and hook with such effectiveness that he fanned 14 and struck out the side in the fourth and seventh frames. Besides that he had three hits, drove in three runs and scored twice.

His first-inning double knocked in Tom Parkinson, who had walked, with the initial run of the contest.

The Petros took a 3-0 lead in the second when Joe Orlando's triple chased home Bob Brady and Bartell, both of whom had walked. Three more markers came across in the fourth on two singles, a stolen base, a walk, a passed ball and an error. Another was added in the fifth and three more scored in the sixth. Big blow in the latter frame was a two-run single unloaded by Bob Higgins, first-string catcher who fractured the index finger on his right hand in Sunday's junior game. He was making a pinch-hit appearance and played a half-inning in the field. He will not be available for full time duty in archdiocesan competition getting underway shortly.

Game Warden Shotguns Pigeons On Plenge Farm

Deputy Game Warden Joseph A. Kristen of Belleville was dispatched to Plenge's farm on Saturday to dispatch some of Mr. Plenge's pigeons which were eating up his radish crop. Mr. Plenge had called police headquarters, which in turn called the game warden. Although the pigeons came from nests on the barns on the farm, the state fish and game law prohibits citizens from shooting birds. So it became Mr. Kristen's job to blaze away with his shot gun. When he had killed about 23, it was decided that the flock had been thinned out enough so that the rest could not cause too much damage.

The Butterfly Bush

Days of the butterfly bush have come to flower, long green canes that reach up into the sun, whirl their slender leaves in every breeze, heavy now with great blue cones of perfume, the butterflies come like wandering stemless blossoms—big flag-flaunting monarchs and vice-roys, yellow tiger bands of the swallow-tails, the glorious browns with fringing Roman stripes—the sunlight is alive, above, below, with petal wings, and the air heavy with fragrance.

In a while a humming-bird emerges suddenly out of the sky and sips the honey, while he idles his motor, a leaf turned jewel, dematerializes and is gone.

—Allen E. Woodall.

Out Where the Tall Corn Grows

Anything can happen in the year ahead, from the back rooms where political strategy takes form the belief that General Eisenhower will be a candidate for the presidency in 1952—as a Democrat, if not as a Republican!

The flight of Governor Dewey to Japan has been interpreted by some as a symptom of a recurrent presidential hopes. To The Times-News the Dewey flight is for the purpose of storing up ammunition to elect—not Dewey but Eisenhower.

At the present moment, there is a coalition of the Dewey, Stassen and Willkie elements in the Republican party behind Eisenhower. Its immediate goal is to try to defeat Senator Robert Taft by preventing him from running up enough delegates before the 1952 Republican Convention to insure his nomination on the first ballot.

The coalition may seem artificial and of doubtful durability. There can be no denial, however, of the common stop-Taft ambition. Dewey seems to have taken the lead in the polling of forces against the Ohioan. It was the New York Governor, acting through Herbert Brownell, Dewey's 1948 campaign manager, who lined up Pennsylvania for Eisenhower by winning the support of Senator James Duff and Representative Hugh Scott. Before he flew to Japan, Dewey personally telephoned Stassen and assured the latter's support of Eisenhower.

The Middle West is all Eisenhower's. With customary suspicion of the Easterner, the prairie states are for their native son. Former Senator Harry Darby of Kansas is acknowledged Eisenhower spokesman at home in the "Eisenhower-for-President" organization which is flowering with the tall corn out there.

General "Ike" has said nothing definite, but the path to his door in Paris has been smooth by politicians on pilgrimage and since politicians are notoriously talkative, it is no secret that Eisenhower has not said "No" to the overtures.

Far from saying "No", and prevented by his functions from saying "Yes", General "Ike" apparently has let it be known that he is convinced that the cause of world peace imposed by an alliance of Atlantic nations for which he and his armies fought during World War II would be lost if Senator Taft moves into the White House.

For that reason, according to the gossip from the back rooms, Eisenhower will be a candidate in 1952—with Stassen as his running mate if the Republicans want him, or as a Democrat to beat Taft if the Ohioan, an extremely able politician, succeeds before next June in lining up all the delegates he needs to take his party's nomination.

The return of Governor Dewey will really set off the Eisenhower boom and it is likely that even though the general cannot talk right now, Darby can and that at a suitable time a formal Eisenhower headquarters will be set up out in Kansas.

Revise the Italian Peace Treaty

The Italian Government, over the bitter opposition of Italian Communists, has formally authorized the leasing of Leghorn port facilities, on the peninsula's west coast, to the United States with a grant of transit rights across Italy for American military supplies for the Central European "cold front".

The Italian Cabinet, in confirming the agreement made by Foreign Minister Carlo Forza, stressed that the accord fits in the framework of collective defense and mutual assistance as visualized by Article 3 of the North Atlantic pact.

Leghorn thus becomes an American bridgehead, an alternate route into central Germany and Austria to Bremerhaven, the northern German port. The Leghorn route to central Europe is shorter, more easily defensible. Long ago American strategists have realized that the natural gateway to Austria—the port of Trieste—would be lost in the event of war with the Communist Axis. Powerfully installed in Albania, the Communists could seal off the Adriatic in the narrow straits of Otranto both by submarines and by planes based in Albania.

The grant of the rights at Leghorn, therefore, gives Eisenhower, as supreme commander of the mutual defense forces in Europe, the alternate route he needs so badly. In weighing the action of the Italian government, we should remember that Leghorn suffered great damage at the hands of American and British bombers during the war and yet there was no scar to cause even minor hesitation. We should remember, too, that the Italian government acted in face of violent Communist opposition.

Our own Intelligence sources in Washington have reports that the Kremlin has alerted the Italian Communist "fifth column" to the strategic importance of the Straits of Taranto, the heel on the Italian boot, to counter the Leghorn grant. The Italian Communist Party is making a determined political offensive aimed at getting absolute control of the Straits.

In the recent Italian elections, the Communists captured administrative control of the major seaport of Brindisi on the Straits of Taranto, directly across the narrow waters from Albania. According to Intelligence reports, the Kremlin blueprint for war contemplates a Russian bridgehead in the Brindisi area where Soviet paratroopers would grab the port and open a pipeline from Albania for men and military supplies.

The Italian government's action in the face of all those challenges deserves practical appreciation. The best method of bringing Italy wholly into our defense orbit is to scrap our treaty with Italy and particularly the financial and restrictive military clauses. Halt the flow of reparations; let Italy use her limited funds to strengthen herself against her own "fifth column". Lift the treaty clauses restricting Italy's armed strength to 160,000; Italy can furnish three or four million war-trained soldiers to the Western cause and should be allowed, now, to mobilize them and to bring their training up to the standard of our own army.

Revise the Italian peace treaty; now more than ever.

Who Is Responsible for the Mosquito Menace?

There is no sense in suffering a mosquito invasion such as we have seen this week. Someone is responsible, someone has failed in his official functions.

There was an improvement in the past ten years. Now, suddenly, with the Turnpike and the Texas natural gas line crossing the meadows, there has been a complete reversal. All the gains that came from excellent drainage and the costly mosquito extermination fight have been lost in a few months.

Who is to blame?

If the Turnpike or gas line authorities are to blame, force them to reopen the drainage ditches that they have filled. If Hudson County officials have been negligent, point out that fact. If Essex County has any responsibility, let's know that.

But in the meantime, cannot Essex County, third richest county in the entire nation, hire airplanes to spray the meadows and these towns which suffer an invasion that may harm the health of hundreds of thousands of people? In this modern era of scientific progress, must Metropolitan New Jersey revert to the mosquito-ridden reputation it bore ignobly for too many years?

Civilian Organization Needed

The holocaust which struck Newark, without warning, on Saturday, when the Warren Petroleum Corporation plant burst into flames, convincingly demonstrates the need for unified community effort in periods of disaster. The Newark Civilian Defense Council did outstanding work in this disaster. The Red Cross, and particularly the police and fire wardens who gave valuable assistance to the police and fire departments of the city of Newark, and the short wave radio operators who contributed to the over-all control of instructions in combating the blaze, clearly points up how indispensable an organization like civilian defense is in times of disaster. The entire community was mobilized to combat this fire. The Civilian Defense Council is the core of any organized community effort in such situations.

We in Belleville may be faced with a similar problem. It should be comforting to every family in the town to know that in Belleville the Civilian Defense Council has properly mobilized its forces and is prepared to meet such a disaster if, tragically, it should happen.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

A Hasty Cease-Fire Agreement Which Would Free Russia and China for New Aggressions Would Be Worse Than No Peace in Korea

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

An early end to the hot war in Korea does not, obviously, mean an end, also, to the global cold war. The Korean affair was a phase of the cold war that boiled over. Since Russia never once stepped in directly, it can be concluded that the Korean war was an accident, as far as the Kremlin is concerned, in a Russian effort at territorial expansion at a point which the Kremlin had judged "ripe" and suitable for exploitation to its advantage. When we fought back, a hot war developed, but since Russia never intended Korea to become the opening skirmish of World War III it was fought by Red China with Russian arms for Moscow.

The fact is that for the third time Russia has been beaten back in her efforts to expand her political frontiers at little cost. There was first her frustration in Greece, then the blockade of Berlin and now Korea. The question now is whether Russia has learned her lesson or whether the abortive revolt in Thailand, the "hot oil" issue in Iran or the open frontier between Tibet and India will tempt the master minds of the Kremlin to try again where they may be stupid enough to believe, we are "soft".

That is why so much depends upon the terms of the "cease-fire" now being negotiated. A settlement which merely frees Red China's hands for a new adventure in Southeast Asia or Red Russia's hands for another in Europe or the Middle East would be no settlement at all. There is no need, on our part, to end this war in Korea at any cost. The cost might prove prohibitive in the months to come. If we have to be engaged in a "hot war" with the Communists, Korea might be better than Iran, Thailand, Indochina or any other battleground. At least, in Korea we have more than held our own and we are organized to stay. It must be a settlement without appeasement.

Why The Sudden Move?

There can be no doubt but that the Kremlin applied the brakes in Korea.

True, Red China saw its best divisions battered to pieces, but there is an almost endless pool of manpower in China and the battlefield losses alone never would have convinced Peiping to stop the Korean War. China has no peace-time economy and thrives on war—especially a war that someone else underwrites.

True, too, Russia saw one of the finest satellite armies, the Korean Communist divisions which had been in existence since the fighting in Manchuria, decimated. That was a severe blow to the Communist cause in the Far East because that Manchurian army was considered a grave menace to Japan. Now it has virtually ceased to exist.

Things Going Wrong

But in applying the brakes in Korea, the Kremlin perhaps was more influenced by the trend of matters at the UN and in Europe. One thing that is certain is that Russia did not run out of war materials. It would be foolish to blind ourselves to the fact that Russia is just as capable as we are to fight a world war.

We would not be doing ourselves a service to shut our eyes to the fact that Russia has better tanks and, perhaps, faster jet planes than we have. Russia is no longer dependent upon anybody else's technology. There was a time when Russia had to confiscate an American B-29 that landed on Russian soil and copy it in mass production. Those days are behind us.

Several days ago, Russia lifted the veil on five new types of jets in a flight demonstration over Red Square in Moscow. Unprejudiced technicians who saw it reported that they were faster than anything ever flown from the mass production line. There are faster prototypes, perhaps, but they still are single models. Russia has a good air force and we must not belittle its air strength.

Uses Germans.

Where did Russia get all this "know-how" in such a short time? It is no secret that many German technicians who had developed Hitler's V-bombs, flying missiles and jet engines had also worked on the A-bomb—without unravelling the know, although coming close to it—are in Russia. Some went voluntarily, attracted by high wages or to take revenge on America and Britain. Others were seized in their homes on the Red side of the German curtain, and taken to Russia.

And don't forget our American spies gave Russia the secrets of the A-bomb and H-bomb.

Then, too, our British allies sold 70 jet motors to Russia in 1947. There were Rolls-Royce Nenes among them. Now the Russians appear to have copied the Nenes, but to have vastly improved them in a much more powerful version. Britain, too, furnished Russia with a steel alloy with a very fine grain which the Russian technicians appear to have bettered in the newest MIG fighters shot down recently in Korea.

Raw Materials

In that connection it is interesting that to counter Russia's grab of vital raw materials in Asia and the Middle East, the United States and 10 other Western powers have reached an agreement on the allocation of two vital defense minerals, tungsten and molybdenum, both of which are available in vast quantities in China. Tungsten is a vital alloy used in making armor-piercing shells and molybdenum is a hardening alloy used in steel machine-cutting tools, jet engines, gas turbines and other high-speed, high-temperature machinery.

What, therefore, could have decided the Kremlin to apply the brakes? The answer is to see what Soviet eyes see when they look to the West, a view which must distress the Kremlin. Here is what they see:

They see the steady strengthening of West Germany under the democratic influence of America, Britain and France, who are ready now to draft a peace treaty with Germany.

They see the deep and devastating blow to Soviet Communism in the Tito-Stalin split and the gradual turning of Yugoslavia, strengthened by this break, toward association with the West.

They see the Marshall Plan completing in three years, instead of four, the foundations of Western Europe's economic recovery.

They see the Communists losing in election after election in Italy and France and other countries where Soviet force has not been able to throttle political freedom.

They see their obedient parties no longer able to carry out political strikes in France and Italy, totally failing in their efforts to tie up ports and prevent the landing of American military aid.

They see the United States and the United Nations come to the defense of Korea and another attempted Soviet aggression successfully turned back.

They see Norway joining the North Atlantic Pact despite the harshest threats which the Soviet Union could utter.

They see General Eisenhower steadily building the numbers and strength of his European army.

They see the United States and, with American help and leadership, the whole North Atlantic community gradually redressing the military balance of the world.

They see the unity of the West successfully resisting the sometimes subtle, sometimes brazen Soviet efforts to shatter it by maneuver at the UN.

They see all of these things, and from the Soviet side of the cold war, it is a very dismaying sight. It is not surprising that having pushed the button which started the Korean aggression, they have now reached for the lever to brake it down.

These are the reasons why the Economist of London asked this week: "Can anybody reasonably doubt that if similar courage had been shown in the years between 1933 and 1939, Hitler's war would never have happened?"

There are still some instruments not being used. Four French horns, three mellophones, two baritone and one tuba are waiting for some bright-eyed youngsters to start playing them. The lessons and the use of available instruments are free to any Belleville school child.

Come and get them every morning between 9 and 12.

HE STOPS TROUBLE

Before it happens!

After Joseph, switchman, who lives in Hawthorne, is one of 21,000 New Jersey telephone men and women who serve you.

Like a doctor with a stethoscope, telephone switchmen like Walter Joseph detect the cause of trouble, and correct it before you're even aware of it!

You'll find many examples of such "preventive medicine" in New Jersey Bell today. Switchboards, lines and cables are being "examined" night and day by men, or ingenious machines, or by both. On the average, your telephone is "out-of-order," even momentarily, only once in 2 years, and then it's usually back in service again in less than 2 hours!

You can count on your telephone today as never before—not only to be in perfect working order—but to be more and more useful. You can call or be called by nearly twice as many people today as in 1940 . . . yet your service takes less of your family budget than ever before.

DID YOU KNOW
... that a receiver left off the hook causes "trouble" by stopping service for everyone on the line? It's wise to make sure it's always replaced properly.

TOUGH ROAD AHEAD

Emery Thomas, professional at the Forest Hill Field Club, yesterday began the defense of his New Jersey Open championship at the Essex County Country Club. He is worn the crown for two years and if he can make it three in a row, other New Jersey pros are going to come over to the local layout for a few lessons. We haven't all the records for the 30 previous tournaments at hand, but we know only two players have done it before.

So that's strike number one against Thomas, who was honored at the Newark A. C.'s annual All-Sports dinner in January as the state's outstanding professional athlete, as a result of his bagging both the open and the PGA in 1950. In doing this Thomas became the third pro to have copped both in one season. The others were Gene Kunes and Jack Mitchell.

Thomas went for 16 years without scoring a hole-in-one then in 1947 he bagged three in three months. His first tournament at Essex County gave him a ridiculously low 10 under par. This qualified him to compete in the famous World-Telegram hole-in-one contest which has been held for 17 years by golfers at Forest Hill for about 11 years. In that contest, one month after his first ace, he won the tournament with a hole-in-one and a month later he bagged one on the hole of the Forest Hill course. He has made one other hole-in-one, last year in Florida and has bagged two in practice on the home course. Even though he didn't make out, he was the World-Telegram winner in 1949. This hole-in-one shot rimmed the hole and stopped a ball length (4 inches) in back of the hole.

NEXT THREE BIG EVENTS

This year's World-Telegram event will be held on the Forest Hill club on August 2 and 3. Then in September comes another hurdle for Emery Thomas, the Professional Golf Association Tournament which will be held at the Jumping Brook Country Club in Asbury Park. Emery got by this week's event, September 6, 7 and 8, but he is important, for then he will be shooting for a mark before equaled by a golfer in this state, the successful Metrolite Open championship, to be held here September 18, 19 and 20. Emery Thomas has qualified for the Metrolite event twice, but neither time got past the preliminary round. He hopes for much better luck this year.

The local pro was raised at Rahway, but did his first professional golfing at the Red Hook, N. Y., Golf Club. He was "discovered" there by a president of the now disbanded Young Country Club of Nutley in 1941 and took over the pro's there in 1942, the year the club sold out to the Federal Telephone & Telegraph Company. Fortunately for Thomas for Forest Hill, the local club was in the market for a pro, following the resignation of Clarence Clark, and Emery moved in.

STARTED RIGHT

That year he started off on the right foot at Forest Hill, which has a reputation for its great playing pros, by winning the PGA crown. He repeated in this event in 1947 and 1950. In 1946 he was runnerup for the PGA crown by a single shot in the closed in on Angelo Petrangelia at Forsgate Country Club with a startling finish on the last nine. He copped the crown in 1949 and again in 1950 and was runner-up in 1947 when he shot a six under par on the last nine to finish one stroke behind Gene Kunes at Canoe Brook and in 1945 when he trailed Frank Kringle at Crestmont.

Besides these achievements he holds the unofficial course record at Forest Hill with a round of 61, 10 under par. The official record, made in tournament play is held by Craig Reid, who shot a 64 during his tenure as pro at the club. Thomas hasn't been playing much this year, because of a heavy lesson schedule at his home port, but three weeks ago he won the pro-member at the Knollwood Country Club, Island, on his own ball on the par 71 course. In another member at Spring Brook he teamed with Henry J. Barlow and Joe Zalenski for a best ball mark of 62 on the par 71 course. Thomas had a 67 on his own ball. So he's not shooting bad golf, despite his heavy teaching load.

He and his wife, Sophie, and their children, Richard, now and Mary Beth, now 7, lived until recently in Belleville, are now residing at the Riverview Garden Apartments in Arlington.

CLUB IS 53 YEARS OLD

The Forest Hill Field Club is now in its 53rd year. It started as a Newark Club in the Forest Hill Section and about 13 bought out the Hendricks estate in Belleville, where it remained until building its present layout, partly in Bloomfield and partly in Belleville, in 1926. A portion of the old estate is now part of the Branch Brook Park public course, other parts of the old establishment are a part of the Branch Brook Park extension.

HERE'S HOPING IT WILL GROW

Mac Lamb, chairman of the Belleville Varsity Club's committee to raise $2,200 to purchase an eight-clubed shell for the Belleville High School crew, reports the receipt of $1,387 in donations this week. Of this, $78 came from the social auction held last week by Belleville Council No. 835, Knights Columbus, and the Youngmen's Alden Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars. The rest represents contributions of $2.50 by Mrs. Jack Strohmer and Mrs. William Remes.

Sunday a different group is out to raise the "kitty", as P. A. L. and the Old Timers combine with a double-header ball game at Municipal Stadium. There is no feature game. Both should be excellent games. The first game the P. A. L. senior team against Nutley's Junior American Legion team, Essex County champions, in a contest starting at 1:30. This will be the third of a series of five games between the clubs. At present each has won one. The second game will match the talents of the stars of Belleville's light league of 15 years ago. Every penny of the receipts goes to the "Shell Fund". Like the jackpot on one of the 6-TV programs, we hope to report as we watch the fund, grow and grow? So far there's only $1,387 to go.

PAL Evens Series With Nutley, Eve Of Benefit Contest

Belleville's P. A. L. baseballers won two important games in the last week. In one at Park Oval, Nutley, they downed the Nutley Junior American Legion team by an 8 to 7 score, to even the series at one and one. On Sunday, at the Municipal Stadium, they beat the Carteret P. A. L. nine, hitherto unbeaten, 6 to 5, in an excellent game.

Last week's victory sets the stage for the third meeting between the local PAL team and the Nutley Legionnaires who will present Essex County in the state competition. The game will be played as part of a double header at Municipal Stadium, Sunday for the benefit of the Varsity Shell Fund. The second game will be a meeting of the Old-Timers.

The Old Timers will be former players in the American Twilight League of some 15 or 20 years ago. Among those participating will be Ed Kintzinger, Jim Dunleavy, Sugar Flynn, Dick Loesner, the Dunn Brothers (Tom, Dan, Ned and Pat) Bo Rotundi, Jim Clark, Mike Hanly, John McNish, George Savino, Jim Sullivan, Herm Kappler, Fuzzy Ryder, Mac Lamb, Freddie Polisch, Dave Connolly, Ed O'Neil, Lou Beliski, Lou Long, Eddie Gasperini, Lou Solomon, Ed Adamski, Bill Kearney, Jerry Lilore, Gino Derrico, Jim McCabe, Joe Sullivan, the Malack Brothers (Jim, John and Marty), Jacky McDanielis and Hugh Clark.

The umpires will be the same two "blind men" who worked the twilight league games, Ben Derbyshire and Doc Hood. The first game will start at 1:30 and the old timers will start immediately thereafter. There will be a charge of 50 cents and all proceeds will go to the Varsity Shell Fund.

At Nutley last week the victory went to Jim McConnell, who relieved Buckley with two on in the third inning and finished the game by scattering five hits. It was Belleville's fifth straight victory.

Belleville started the scoring when it got a run in the second on two errors and a hit by Wilkerson. Nutley came back with one in its half when Claiborne walked, stole second and scored when Tillou doubled to left. Nutley went ahead with four runs in the third. Cocchiola walked, Iliff singled on a hit and run and Machiorle walked to fill the bases. Vandeven was safe on Hansen's error. Claiborne struck out. Then Tillou hit Hansen who threw to Buckley who walked and as the ball rolled away, Machiorle and Vandeven scored. At this point it was decided that Buckley was too shaken to continue and McConnell took over getting the next two batters in order.

In the fifth Hansen singled to left and Del Tufo tripled off the centerfield stands. Weinstein's double scored Del Tufo. Nutley made it 6 to 3 in the fifth on a hit by Brugler after an error and sacrifice.

Belleville tied it up in the sixth when Place walked, Westlake singled and Place scored when Tillou let Wilkerson's drive go through him. Westlake also scored when Nutley played for Wilkerson at second. Wilkerson took third on McConnell's infield out and scored on a perfect bunt by Graziano.

Belleville went ahead in the seventh when Del Tufo walked, Gashlin's sacrifice went for a hit and Place sacrificed both runners along. Westlake struck out but Wilkerson hit a long single to right center to score both runners. A perfect peg by Moreno cut off what would have been a run in the seventh. McCarron doubled and Carruta singled, but as McCarron tried to score on the blow Moreno's peg to the plate was perfect for an out. In the eighth Fredericks was safe on an error, Iliff got his third hit of the game and when Machiorle hit to Gashlin, Fredericks scored while the Belleville lads made an unsuccessful attempt at a double play.

Roger Hansen's three hits came when most needed. Place's running catch in left field and Moreno's throw home were game features.

Sunday, Bob Mallack went all the way to register his third victory. It was Belleville's sixth straight win and its fifth straight in league competition. Carteret jumped off to a 3 to 0 lead in the first inning but Mallack settled down and held Carteret scoreless until the eighth. Belleville tied the score with two runs in the second and one in the third and wrapped the game up with three more runs in the seventh.

JOHNNIE BARTELL PITCHES NO-HITTER

Hurls PAL Juniors To 2-1 Victory Over Kearny Team To Even Series At One All

Johnnie Bartell pitched a no-hit game for the Belleville PAL Junior team against Kearny, Friday, and won 2 to 1 to even the series between the two teams of 14-year-olds. Johnnie pitched a very good game, giving up three bases on balls and striking out 15 batters.

Other than in the first inning when Kearny scored its run, Bartell had only one other bad moment. In the first Benson walked, stole second and third and scored on a passed ball. In the ninth Mourthey walked, Cattafai struck out and Augley hit over second base, but Jack McCabe made a beautiful catch and threw to Orlando at first for a double play.

Belleville got its tying run in the third when Costello was safe on an error, stole second and scored on a pair of infield outs. In the fourth McCabe walked, stole second, moved to third on an infield out and scored on a squeeze play as Costenbader laid down a bunt.

ST. ANTHONY'S WIN IN CYO JR. LEAGUE

Bobby Doyle Tosses Two Hitter; St. Peter's Bow To Blessed Sacrament

St. Anthony's junior CYO baseball team pulled its way into third place in the first round standings last Sunday as Bobby Doyle subdued St. Stanislaus, Newark, 10-1 on two hits at Brookdale Park. In another game on the same field St. Peter's CYO team lost its first game of the season when it was belted 12-10 by Blessed Sacrament, Newark.

St. Anthony's, which now has won two of four outings, wasted little time in getting started and jumped on Tom Natalewicz for four runs in the initial frame. His relief, Joe Bunalski, couldn't stop the tide and the Silver Lakers pushed across a single counter in the second, two in the third and three in the sixth. The Newark nine, which made five errors, spoiled Doyle's shutout in the top of the seventh.

St. Peter's was involved in a real donnybrook but had no one to blame for the loss but itself. The Petreans teed off on Bernie Gibbs for seven runs in the first but Charlie Costenbader gave four back in the second and three in the fourth. In the fifth the locals scored once to take a 9-7 lead, but then the roof caved in as the Bees garnered five runs to sew up the curtailed contest.

Golf Ball Breaks Plate Glass Window In House

Young men driving golf balls in Clearman Field, on the Fourth of July, when the playground there was closed, drove one of the balls through a thick plate glass window in the door of the Fred Eberhard home, 284 Union Avenue. Mr. Eberhard called the broken glass to the attention of the playground director on Thursday morning and he advised Mr. Eberhard to take the matter up with the police. Police are trying to determine the identity of those responsible.

St. Louis Cardinals Seek Talent At Trout Camp

"Are there any potent major league ball players here?" is the question that veteran Red Bird scouts Frank Crespi and Bennie Borgmann will be asking themselves when the St. Louis Cardinals conduct their trout camp at Hawthorne High School Field in Hawthorne on July 18 and 19. In the trout camp at Hawthorne, which is one of many such camps conducted throughout the country by the Cardinals, Crespi and Borgmann will be looking for the natural ability which can be developed into the smooth perfection which is required in the majors. They will watch each aspirant go through his paces, noting particularly his fielding, throwing, hitting and base-running.
