So What?

Did you get a load of the cartoon in the Saturday Evening Post this week with a building sign reading "Belleville Meeting Hall." And how about that story on the fireworks which ran the week before. Read somewhat like that of Belleville's Zhirillo family.

Imagine finding a full grown horse eating grass in your back yard. That's what Mrs. Grace Sammarco of 71 Newark Avenue found in her yard Sunday. The horse belongs to Joe Montana of Brighton Avenue.

William Saarloos of 73 Cortlandt Street brought a young woman to police headquarters on Friday, saying he had found her on the Rutgers Street bridge and suspected that she intended to jump into the Passaic River. Police learned that the young woman recently had suffered a nervous breakdown, and returned her to the care of her family and physician.

Several times each year police or firemen can expect to be called to rescue some child from a locked room, and as a result have developed a technique. Such a call was received last week from Mrs. Joseph Criscuolo, who reported her baby locked in the bathroom. Patrolmen Vresland and Roach responded and forced open the door.

One thing about kids, they sure like to rush the sports seasons. In March they are two months ahead of the big leaguers playing baseball. In July they start playing football and apparently October is just about the right time to play basketball in the street. Police were called on Monday by Anthony Bosco of 105 Liberty Avenue who objected to the neighborhood boys erecting a basket on a pole in front of his house. Ain't that somethin'?

TWO DRIVERS OF SAME CAR PAY FINES IN COURT

Defective Muffler and Speeding Charge Cost $40; 60 Day License Suspension

Two drivers in the same car (one day apart) were fined a total of $40 by Magistrate Everett B. Smith last week. Peter S. VamJourellis of 130 Forest Street, Montclair was given a ticket by Deputy Chief Kenneth Smith on October 1 for speeding on Franklin Avenue and operating a car with a defective muffler. The next day Deputy Chief Smith was riding along Joralemon Street and there was the same car banging its way down the street. This time it was operated by Thomas Norton of 118 Myrtle Street, Bloomfield. VamJourellis was fined $25 and Norton $15.

Daniel M. Knoepfel of 200 Franklin Street, Bloomfield, a new driver, had his license suspended for 60 days for reckless driving, speeding at 65 miles per hour on Washington Avenue and passing three red lights. He was arrested on October 5 by Patrolman Henry McEnery. After his 60-day suspension Knoepfel will have to take out special insurance at about double normal rates before he can get his license renewed.

Robert Steen of Staten Island, N. Y., arrested for speeding on Main Street, paid $22. William A. Poyner of 260 Centre Street, Nutley, paid $15 for careless driving in Washington Avenue. Eugene P. Matchok of 120 East Passaic Avenue, Bloomfield, paid $7 for passing a red light.

High School Students Join Staff of Solicitors for Community Chest

Belleville High School boys and girls who have volunteered to help adults canvass the town for Community Chest Contributions during the period October 17 to November 14. The volunteers were signed up by the Student Council. Each student has been given five to ten homes to call on and will work directly under district captains in their own neighborhoods.

400 Workers Begin House-To-House Chest Campaign

Adult Volunteers Joined by 150 High School Students; Not Part of Newark Combined Campaign; Goal $33,108

The Belleville Community Chest drive to raise a budget of $33,108 for six agencies got underway yesterday with 400 canvassers stepping out on the house-to-house canvass. The Industrial, School, and Professional divisions also got their drives started yesterday. The other divisions, advanced gifts, civic and churches are well underway. The drive continues until November 14.

The house-to-house campaign force was augmented when 150 students of Belleville High School volunteered their services as solicitors. The public relations section of the campaign was aided by another youth group on Saturday when members of Belleville Boy Scout troops distributed Red Feathers, symbol of the Community Chest in stores throughout the town.

Newark's Drive Separate

There has been some confusion about the Belleville Community Chest drive because of its close association with the Newark Community Chest. There the name has been changed to the Combined Co-operative Campaign—Red Cross. That applies only to Newark and West Hudson.

Belleville's chest is governed by Belleville people, but has worked with Newark so that the town might profit from the many facilities offered by Newark, which Belleville could not afford on its own.

This year, the Newark Community Chest has entered into a larger and more inclusive health and welfare drive, which includes besides the Community Chest agencies, the Red Cross, the USO, Boys' Club, Cerebral Palsy League, Heart Association and the Sister Kenny Foundation.

Six Agencies in Appeal

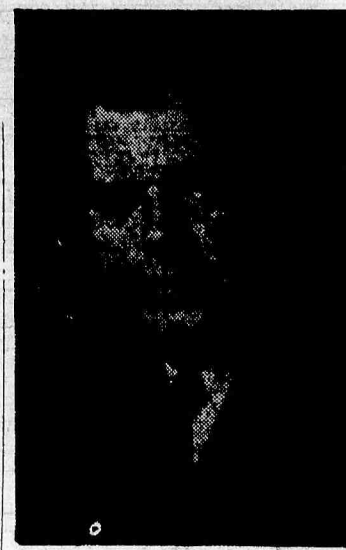

Belleville's chest trustees decided not to attempt a combined drive this year, but the Community Chest campaign will include the Visiting Nurse Association, Family Service, Boy Scouts, Essex County Service for Chronically Ill and the Girl Scouts. This year, because of the need created by defense mobilization, the reactivated USO has been included as a Chest Agency.

Townpeople are reminded that when called upon this year, the gift will go to support six agencies. Be neighborly! Give generously!

In addition to the division chairmen pictured above, Evan H. Thomas and Ruel E. Daniels are co-chairmen of Schools, Russell Sargent is chairman of the Municipal Employees and Louis J. Logan is chairman of the Merchants.

ROTARY EXECUTIVE PAYS OFFICIAL VISIT TO CLUB

Daniel A. Hooper, Jr., Meets With Local Officers and Gets Written Committee Reports

Daniel A. Hooper, Jr.

The Belleville Rotary Club was visited by Daniel A. Hooper, Jr., Governor of the 269th District of Rotary International, yesterday. It was his official visit to the local club, one of the 36 under his jurisdiction. He conferred with President Raymond B. Yerg and Secretary Evan H. Thomas and received written reports of committee activities from each of the committee chairmen.

Irrington Architect

Mr. Hooper is an architect in Irvington, and is a member of the Rotary Club of Irvington. He is one of 203 Rotary District Governors supervising the activities of some 7,300 Rotary clubs which have a membership of 350,000 business and professional executives in 85 countries and geographical regions throughout the world.

Wherever Rotary clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the Rotary Club of Belleville because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, understanding—and peace among all the peoples of the world.

257 New Clubs

Each year, this world-wide service organization continues to grow in numbers and in strength. During the last fiscal year, for example, 257 new Rotary clubs were organized in 35 countries of North, South and Central America, Europe, Asia, Africa, and the islands of the Pacific.

REV. JOHN F. DAVIS WILL LEAD THREE DAY RETREAT

Belleville and Nutley High School Youths Will Attend Services At Two Churches

On Wednesday, Rev. John F. Davis, S.T.L., will open a three day retreat for public high school students at St. Mary's Church, Nutley. The second night the services will be conducted at St. Peter's Church in Belleville. Then on the third night the services will be held at St. Mary's Nutley. All of these services will begin at 8:00 P. M.

The retreat is an opportunity for the youth of Belleville High School and of Nutley High School to take time out for some spiritual thought and reflection. Father Davis, a member of the faculty of Seton Hall University, has had experience dealing with high school students. Prior to his appointment to Seton Hall University, he was on the faculty of Holy Trinity High School at Westfield. He is a familiar preacher to the congregation of St. Mary's Church for he is there on weekends. Father Davis was the principal speaker at the Holy Name Rally for the Passaic-Clifton area on last Sunday.

The retreat is open to the students of Belleville High School and of Nutley High School. It has been planned by the Rev. John Golding of St. Mary's, and the Rev. Francis Ignaciuos of St. Peter's.

Plan Banquet For Little Leagues

A banquet at which all 72 players and coaches in the Belleville Little League will be guests has been planned for next Thursday night at the Veterans' Hall, Belleville Avenue and Stephens Street. The affair will be sponsored by the Recreation Department, which sponsored the Little League. Parents and friends of the boys are invited to attend. Tickets may be purchased at the Recreation House or at the Veterans' Hall the night of the event.

IS SPONSOR FOR BOND REFERENDUM

Named To Help State Teachers College Issue On General Election Public Question

Assemblyman Elwood P. Russell of 253 Greylock Parkway, Belleville, has been named a member of the Citizens Sponsoring Committee for the State Teachers College Bond Issue, according to an announcement by Walter G. Speer, chairman.

In accepting the new assignment, Mr. Russell stated, "In the long history of New Jersey no sadder spectacle has been presented than that of the overcrowded, dilapidated conditions existing at the six State Teachers Colleges. The needs were recognized 20 years ago by the State Board of Education and by the Legislature. Yet nothing has been done to correct the situation—until now. At the general election on Nov. 6 the people of the State will have an opportunity to play an important role in bettering teacher-education and thereby bettering the education of each and every child. Those who vote 'yes' on the Bond Issue to provide funds for the repair and construction of new buildings for the Teachers Colleges will not only aid the future of education in New Jersey, but will prove they're the best friends of progress."

Hospital Entertainers To Perform At GOP Rally

The Republican County Committee of Belleville has completed plans for a rally to be held at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Hall at Belleville Avenue and Stephens Street on October 29 at 8 p. m. The Harry F. Tice Hospital Entertainers will put on a show and there will be guest speakers.

Committee Plans Armistice Day Parade For November

Prizes Offered To Drum and Bugle Corps and To Civic Organization With Largest Group of Marchers; Mike Risciniti, Grand Marshall

The Belleville Armistice Day Committee under the chairmanship of Gaspar A. Siciliano has announced that there will be a parade commemorating the holiday, on the night of Saturday, November 10. The parade will begin at Greylock Parkway at 8 P. M. and will proceed southward along Washington Avenue to William Street. In the event of rain on the 10th the parade will be held on the 11th.

Mike Risciniti, commander of VFW Post 275 will be grand marshal and will be assisted by Henry Flagge as aide and William Meslar as adjutant.

On Committee

The Memorial Day and Armistice Day committee is composed of representatives of veteran and patriotic organizations from the town. Besides Mr. Siciliano the committee is composed of Henry Flagge, treasurer; Mrs. Harry C. Fredericks, secretary; Warren Johnson, Michael Risciniti, George Mitchell, William Meslar, Walter Taylor, Norbert Bertl, Mrs. Ernest Daw, Mrs. Catherine North and Mrs. P. Johnson.

Flores and Marchers

All Civic organizations are urged to take part by entering marching units or floats in the parade. Invitations to drum corps and bands have been issued, and the committee hopes that each marching unit will have its own music. As an inducement to drum corps a contest for appearance, marching and music will be held for these units with prizes of $125, $75 and $50 offered. A prize will also be given to the largest local marching unit.

Vets' Social Night

The Younginger - Alden Jr. V. F. W. Post No. 275 will hold another of its gala events on Saturday, October 27, at the Vets' Home, located at 17 Belleville Avenue, Belleville. As usual there will be dancing, community singing and refreshments, both solid and liquid. Fun starts at 8:30 o'clock.

Will Lead Hallowe'en Parade

Forman W. "Tex" White

"Tex" White and his pet horse "Stranger" will lead Belleville's Halloween Parade, on October 31. "Tex," otherwise known as Forman W. White, is proprietor of Belleville Motors and resides in Nutley. Although he and other riders will be in full regalia, they will not compete with the children in the costume competition.

Mr. White, who is a friend of Gene Autry, and a member of a committee which helps plan the Rodeo in Madison Square Garden each year, took up horses and cowboy dress as a hobby in 1943. He wears cowboy clothes at all times and his mode and nickname have become a trademark in Belleville as well as in automobile sales circles.

He and Mrs. White own three saddle horses, stabled at the Pearl Brook Riding Academy in Bloomfield, and a harness horse, "Princess Eria," which they will race next season.

Mr. White plans to have three Palominos leading the parade with the riders carrying flags. Besides these there will be a Mexican rider upon a Morgan stallion, and there is a possibility of an Indian rider riding bareback on a cow pony.

Route Changed

The parade has been named the "Pumpkin Parade" by the committee working under Elmer

FAMILY SERVICE TRUSTEES BACK CHEST CAMPAIGN

Report Progress On Reopening Of Remedial Reading Clinic; Disapprove Of Bill HR 3341

The participation of members of the Board of Trustees of the Family Service, in the Community Chest Drive, was discussed at the meeting of Family Service, Tuesday evening at the agency offices at 334 Washington Avenue. Since Family Service is the largest member agency in the Community Chest, all of its trustees will extend every effort to the drive in meeting its quota, so that the services of the agency can continue to be afforded to Belleville residents. Lester A. Skinner, president of the agency, is serving as chairman of the Remedial division of the Community Chest campaign.

Clinic May Reopen

It was reported that definite plans have been made for the reopening of remedial reading classes in Newark or Belleville under the sponsorship of Rutgers University. The Rutgers Remedial Reading Clinic was closed last year and Family Service has taken the initiative toward its re-establishment.

It was decided that letters be sent to the legislators disapproving of Bill HR 3341 which would permit states to make public the names of the public assistance recipients, without risking the loss of federal aid. The board members strongly urge that good administration and skilled service by qualified public welfare workers is a better solution to the public assistance abuses which the bill seeks to remedy.

Will Lead

S. Hyde's recreation department, and at the request of local merchants will traverse Washington Avenue from Greylock Avenue to William Street, thence to Bridge Street, to Belleville Avenue, to Hornblower Avenue to Van Houten Place and thence to the Elks Club where a party will be held.

Costumes will be judged along the line of march for originality, best dressed and funniest. Awards will be made at the Elks Club. The parade, which will be for children from 9 to 15 years of age, will be preceded by an afternoon party for those from 4 to 9 years old, also at the Elks Club. At that time there will be a Punch and Judy show, doughnuts, cider, apples, candy, peanuts and prizes for costumes.

Defense Bonds Offered

The committee has been busy arranging with merchants for the assignment of store windows for the window painting contest. Prizes of a $50 Defense Bond for second and $10 in Defense Stamps for third, are offered by the committee.

Forty Artists Enter

That Belleville High School artists are enthusiastic about the Halloween window painting contest was evident today when it was announced by P. Webster Diehl, chairman of the Department of Fine and Industrial Arts in the high school, that more than 40 students have signed up for the project.

This project was initiated by Mr. Diehl in co-operation with the merchants of Belleville, several years ago as a step toward providing a desirable outlet for the interests and energies of Belleville youth, and as a substitute for less desirable activities at Halloween time.

This year the project is most appropriately being sponsored by the Recreation Department of the town with the full co-operation of Mr. Diehl and the art students of the high school.

Many of our neighboring towns, especially Kearny, North Arlington, Irvington and Bloomfield, have made this feature along with the town sponsored Halloween party an outstanding success.

Steamboating on Passaic Was Interesting But Owners Found Business Unprofitable

Excursions To Picnic Groves In Belleville Helped Take Up Slack

The author of the "Brief History of Belleville," Hugh Holmes was a man who got around, and apparently got around quite a bit on the Passaic River, for in this last of the installments from his booklet, from the files of the Belleville Library, he tells about the efforts to provide river transportation to Newark and New York and his own part in the improvement of the river and the operation of the steamboats.

"The first steam engine built to propel a boat was built in this town by 'Rosevelt' and while some say that the first steam boat was tested and run on Collect Pond, New York, others maintain that the first paddles that turned on any steam boat in America splashed the sparkling waters of our Passaic. Be this as it may, the writer will tell of those boats coming under his own observation.

First Steamboat

"The first one was in 1838 called the Olive Branch. The proprietor was R. L. Stephens of Hoboken. She was only about 70 feet in length. Her decks covering two small hulls. Each one placed near the outside guard, thus leaving a space in the center for the wheel like the old style ferry boats. She carried both freight and passengers from Passaic to Newark. She ran for one season.

"Captains John Young and Caleb Neagles were then running a line of schooners to New York and the latter bought a side wheel boat called the Wadsworth. He tried to get others to take a share in her but in this he failed, so he commenced to run her on his own account between here and New York as a freighter with some passengers. She was perhaps 125 feet in keel and could carry a good load, her machinery was not the best but she undertook to make, got a fair as Newark. The steam was oozing out from her boiler in different places and when she struck the dock, so did her passengers without waiting for the gang plank. Her freight was re-shipped to New York.

Boat Too Small

"Then Derious and Mathias Williamson, twin brothers, who had bought property here concluded to build a small boat and be captain, pilot, engineer, deck hand and all by themselves, and thought by so doing they could make it pay. They did build, but so small that when they placed the engine and the boiler in her she sank to the gunwales in the water and there was no room for freight or passengers.

Then Abraham Zabirskie of Saddle River concluded to build a light draught boat and give her all the bearing possible and go through the bridges, placed a wheel in the stern. She was called the Proprietor, and was a nice boat for her kind. She was also for freight and passengers from Passaic, Belleville, Newark and New York and her trips to be every other day. He had store houses built on different docks for freight. We all thought she would at least be an alternate day success but from some cause she was withdrawn after running for two years.

Too Much Steam

"Then came Captain Bancroft with his boat called the Gilpin side wheel 125 feet keel to make daily trips to New York with freight and passengers. Her boiler was not large enough and had to carry such a head of steam that the engineer, Harry Clayton, one of the best would say to the writer, 'Thank God, we are safe through another day.' But she did not earn enough to satisfy the captain and owner.

"In 1856 Captain William Tupper brought to our place a beautiful little side wheel steamer called the Rotary which had been built to test a rotary engine, invention of Mr. Barrows of New York, which he thought was a success and wished the public might witness its workings. But Captain Tupper had taken that out and put in two oscillating engines and changed the name to Governor Kemball. "At that time there was no communication to New York, or yet to Newark, only by stage or by foot and as some other mode was greatly needed and as Captain Tupper had offered to sell the Governor Kemball for $5,500 a meeting was called at the office of H. K. Cadmus with the following gentlemen present: J. Eastwood, S. H. Terry, Doctor A. Ward, C. De Witt, H. K. Cadmus and the writer. At that meeting these gentlemen agreed to raise the amount by subscriptions, make a stock company and buy the steamer.

Steam Boat Company

"The next month, the Legislature being in session, the writer was appointed to obtain a charter. Thus was incorporated the Belleville Steam Boat Company. A board of directors was elected and S. H. Terry was appointed treasurer and the writer, secretary. She was called 'Belleville' and was a picture, a little floating palace. On April 13, 1857 she made an excursion trip up the river with the stock holders and invited guests. All were delighted with the trip and the steamer the next day made her first regular trip to Newark in 30 minutes.

"The writer soon found out by being secretary that it meant Captain, Pilot and deck hand, for if any were absent he had to take his place. One time acting as deck hand, a beautiful gold pencil which was presented to him by the Legislature, slipped from his pocket and sank under the blue waters.

When these drawings of the Passaic River were made by Charles E. Brower many years ago the Passaic enjoyed a reputation for its beauty. Excursion boats from New York and Newark made week end trips to picnic groves in town, and there were plenty of fish in the stream. The top picture is a view from the bridge looking north. The bottom picture is a drawing made from the Arlington banks of the river with the bridge in the right foreground.

Fifty Dollar Salary

"If the boat was not on time, he had to drive along the river to know what was the cause, or if she missed a trip which she sometimes did on account of the tide, he must have some good reason to give in his report to the directors who met monthly. And, why not? He was getting a salary of fifty dollars per year.

"The boat was run successfully for two seasons, and over 60,000 passengers carried and a good route established for some one, which was the desired object. Captain Martin, who was then running the steamer Tamenend from Newark to New York made a proposition to buy the Belleville, with the understanding that the next season he would put on a boat more commodious. With this understanding the company sold her to him in 1859 for the small sum of $2,600, $575 in cash and 45 shares of the Morris and Essex Railroad stock at ninety cents.

"Captain Martin continued to run the boat that season, but like many others became financially embarrassed.

Highland Chief

"The first of the next season we were without any boat when Captain Charles Field brought on the river a side wheel steamer called the Highland Chief and on June 8th made her first trip. He continued to run her through the excursion season and then concluded to sell her away, but proposed to sell and tried to get different parties interested but failed. Finally the writer, not wishing to see her taken from the river, bought her and gave a large two hundred ton schooner as part payment.

"This was the fall of the great political campaign of 1860, and mass meetings of both parties were held in our place, when she brought a full cargo of 600, first of 'Wide Awakes' and then again as many more of the 'Hickory Boys.' It was a dark night when they came up the river with their torches burning, looking as if they might be a delegation from the lower regions.

Free Excursion

"In the spring the first trip was made on the evening of March 28th, an excursion to Newark free to all parties who would buy a ticket to hear P. T. Barnum lecture in the Opera House, for the benefit of the M. E. Church, of this place. He called the boat Confidence, hired a grove up the river, trimmed it up nicely, put up tables, swings, laid dancing floors and had all conveniences for parties, had as nice a pass as could be printed and presented one to each minister of our place, as well as Newark, of all denominations, as a free sail for all their families for the whole season. The boat started on her first regular trip on April 8th under the careful management of Captain John Young.

Took Soldiers to Camp

"This year was the commencement of the War and most of our military company under the command of Captain Aaron Young offered them selves in their country's service to help put down the Southern rebellion. The boat took them daily and the owner was told to keep an account and it would be paid. It amounted to over $100 and the amount is yet unpaid and out on interest. It is a just debt against the government and does not see why it should not be paid.

"On May 25, the soldiers made their last trip, bid their friends farewell and with many it was forever, for their bones have bleached or have been buried in Southern soil. That season while the Confidence was running Captain W. Simpson brought a freight boat called the Laura Keen and wanted the writer to buy it for him, which to help the former did so, and she was run as a freight boat to New York the whole season without paying one dollar and the writer sold her and pocketed a heavy loss.

Never Reached South

"The Confidence ran the season through and carried over 30,000 paying passengers besides hundreds of others. The writer was offered by the Government $75 per day for six months on the Burnside expeditions and only furnished one man. He offered to one competent person $500 per month, but he would not accept. Thus he had to let the offer slip, but he afterwards sold her and she was fitted up and manned for the South, but she never got there.

"Then sometime after the Confidence was taken off the river, she having also carried freight in connection with the Stephens and Condit's line to New York, some parties from Passaic put on a stern wheel boat to run from that point to New York as a freight boat, called the Lodi. She ran in one day and returned the next but it did not prove a success.

"Then after that there were other parties put on a large stern wheel boat called the Hugh Bolton for freight to run from Passaic to New York. She also was an alternate boat, but after running part of the season without proving very profitable, she was also withdrawn.

Horse Railroad Chartered

"At the time the Confidence was sold, there was a charter granted for a horse-railroad and all eyes were turned to it thinking that would supply our need, but they were to run to the north end of our town. Instead they had only brought it to the south side of the Second River, to what was then called Flanagan's station and for six years through mud, snow, slush, rain, heat and dust, all had to foot it and then pay ten cents for a ride the balance of the way.

"All felt indignant that the company did not live up to its charter and finally one man said it should not continue longer. He started for Newark, got hand bills printed, called a steambot meeting in Dow's Hall on the evening of April 18th and the hall was packed, all bitterly opposed to the non-performance of the railroad company and enthusiastic over a steambot on the river.

Offered Boatman Bonus

"Most of them said if that was done, they would never put their foot in the cars. The writer said if that was accomplished it would bring the railroad company immediately to terms. He knew a boat would not pay the owner from passengers alone, but was in favor of offering a bonus, to anyone that would put a boat on the river that it would not only be a convenience, but an advantage to property owners. He announced that he would give $100 per annum to anyone who would put on and continue to run a suitable boat and hoped others would do the same. But there was no second to the proposition. Instead they wanted him to put it on the river.

Needed 100 Shares

Mr. Holmes finally made a proposition that if 100 commuters would pay $5 each for the season for two years he would undertake another boat. He specified two years because he felt that the Railroad Company would come to terms after that time. The meeting acclaimed this most satisfactory. Fifty signatures were obtained at the meeting and a committee appointed to get the rest. On the strength of this showing Mr. Holmes took an option on Rockaway, the one best adapted to the river. However at the meeting when the 100 signatures were to be in only 85 were brought forth, along with the assurance that the other 15 would be forthcoming.

"With this assurance the bargain was closed and on May 6th brought the 'Rockaway' to Belleville. On the 20th she was inspected and took a sail with invited guests. The next day she started on her first trip with Charles Couse as engineer and C. W. Lee as captain.

Hired Picnic Groves

"In order to help make the boat pay, he did as he did with the Confidence, hired two groves, drove wells, put down dancing floors, put up tables, swings and all conveniences for parties, catering for excursions.

"There was but two feet of water on the reef at low tide and the boat drew two feet six inches, and he was compelled to do as he had told them he should, make time tables to suit. Even so parties would catch him and he had to convey his passengers from the reef in carriages. The boat made her run from Passaic, two from North Belleville and six from Belleville to Newark daily.

"After all was working satisfactorily he called on the chairman of the committee for his 100 notes of $5 each. There was to be some single ones at $25. What was his astonishment and disappointment, when he was told they had but 42.

Obstruction to Navigation

"Because the reef was a great obstruction to all navigation and particularly so to steamboats, and some had told him they would help him if he would get it deepened, he made an agreement with Morris and Cummings to give him five feet of water at low tide, fifty feet over the whole reef for the sum of $1,200. They worked on it for 24 days without any benefit, for some parts were as shallow as before. Then they threw it into day's work at $100 per day and demanded $2400. Those who promise dim and when there was money to pay were not there. He was alone and when they threatened suit he told them to go ahead. They never pressed the claim.

"Then he went to the Honorable G. A. Halsey, who was in Congress to try and get an appropriation to clear the reef. General Newton was instructed to make a survey and estimate. He came to Newark. The writer in a steamer took him over both reefs. His report was that it would cost $80,000. Mr. Halsey got that year an appropriation of $25,000 to start and afterward the balance. The work was done and today any vessel that can get to Newark can reach the docks at Belleville.

Trouble With Railroad

"The Rockaway ran the season through by the careful management of James Black, who was pilot and Charles W. Lee, captain and carried nearly 50,000 people, averaging three excursions per week without any serious accident. One day she came home minus a smokestack. The draw on the Delaware, Lackawanna Railroad bridge did not get off in time, and it was carried away and although the company talked big and would not pay for a new one, the writer did not leave their office without a check for $125.

"The next spring the new boat was not quite finished and the Rockaway was again put on the route, until the new one was ready. The draw in the Centre street bridge of the Pennsylvania Railroad ran diagonally across the tide and was only 36 feet, not sufficient width for his new boat, so the company was notified that it would be liable for all detention. They paid no attention. He then called on Mr. Dennis at his office in New York telling him the company had given no heed to former notices and that his boat would be launched on May 25th and he would put a tug ahead of her and run into the draw.

"Mr. Dennis was much surprised that he would do that, but he told him he must get her at the dock of Hewes & Phillips to put in her machinery. Then Mr. Dennis asked if they would take the plank off both sides of the draw so she could squeeze through and they had the draw finished by the time he got ready to run, if that would be satisfactory. He replied that was all he asked. The company put men at work and this was done, and on the 25th the boat was launched and towed up through the draw and to the dock.

New Boat

"She was a model, sat like a ing 15 inches on an even keel. Her machinery was placed and the joiner work executed. The boat was finished, equipped and tested and she was a picture, 150 feet in length and with boiler and machinery drew only two feet of water, would carry 1000 passengers and run to Newark in twenty minutes.

"On the very last day of the season the new boat was to run one of her cranks broke and the next day she was engaged for an excursion from Passaic to Staten Island. The writer was fearful he would have to get another boat or disappoint the party, but Captain Charles Couse, who was the engineer said, 'Never fear, there shall be no disappointment.' Neither was there, for he ran her with one wheel and returned home well pleased with the trip.

"There have been quite a number of steam tugs on the river for towing vessels and very many small pleasure and family steam yachts, and for the last four years the small propeller Passaic Queen for the summer months has been making two trips a day with passengers from Newark to Passaic. But one of the great objects for which the last two boats were started was accomplished.

"The horse railroad company was brought to terms. They commenced almost immediately to extend their road and soon finished it and notwithstanding all the protestations against it before the boats were placed on the river, scores and scores daily were forgetful of their promises and took to the cars.

LIKE NERO, TOWN FIDDED WHILE RIVALS GOT ERIE

Local Citizens Hit Snags In Struggle for Conveyance Over The Hill In 1853

Even as today, transportation to New York and Newark were important factors in the growth of the town. That the struggle for adequate transportation for the people of Belleville often hit snags is evident from the writings of Hugh Holmes, former mayor and unique historian of a 70-year period from 1825 to 1895 as covered in a "Brief History of Belleville," from the shelves of the Public Library.

"The town had a charter for a steam railroad as far back as 1836," Mr. Holmes wrote. "This was for a direct route across the hill to New York. The road was surveyed and the writer remembers well when Mr. Ralph Pomroy, a man of great enterprise, sent his team to plow and work on the proposed road to save the charter."

Committee of Conference
Then again before the road was built to Bloomfield in 1853 they agreed to join with Belleville and build a road direct to New York. A committee of conference was appointed from each place. They wanted to run down on the south side of the Second River, to which our committee did not assent, but wanted it on this side. The difference was only about 100 yards. They could not agree and Bloomfield made a contract with the Morris and Essex Railroad and left us on the hook.

"In 1858 there was a charter for our present Paterson and Newark Railroad. Books were open for subscription and on July 10, 1859, were closed. There was no idea at that time it would be controlled by the Erie Railroad. There was about $60,000 of stock on the line of the road, and the Erie allowed it to be sold under what the writer contended was a fictitious judgment of $500, which wiped out all the stock, the writer's part being $4,000. There was one thing this railroad did, whether to its credit or otherwise. They paid for the biggest supper the writer ever witnessed in Trenton or any other place."

Some Party
After the charter was granted, some of the members who had helped to pass it, wanted the privilege of giving a little blow-out, which was granted. It was a tremendous gathering. The next week the writer, being a director, called on Katzenback, the landlord of the Trenton House, where the supper was held for the bill, and to his surprise it was $1,865. When he said, "My gracious, Peter, here is $1,800, do receipt the bill," he did.

"But now we have as good railroad facilities as we need, only little too high a fare from the Essex depot. It should be the same as from the lower one. Seventeen trains per day each way, with nicely cushioned seats and ventilated cars and manned by a corps of polite and gentlemanly conductors, with the brakemen also included."

No Conveyance to Newark
As said before, in the early days and for many years there was no conveyance to Newark. Different parties tried stages as one gave it up another would start. Some of these were Frank Little, John A. Snyder, James G. Alexander, Hugh Hay, James Riddle and Thomas Nuttle, but none could make it pay, until finally with the latter there was an arrangement made with 20 subscribers at $10 each, to run the stage for one year. So things continued along for years until a charter was obtained for a horse railroad.

"When Gasherie DeWitt, who many years ago was laid to rest, with the writer applied to the Common Council of Newark for the privilege of laying a track through Broad Street, but was most bitterly opposed by citizens. Every few days there would be first one and then another notice in the papers, cautioning the Common Council not to grant any such privilege; that it would spoil Broad Street; and for boys cracking their whips over the horses while passing the cemetery would be a desecration to the spot where the dead were buried."

Two-a-Day Horse Car
"At that time there was but one public conveyance to accommodate the people of Newark. That was a two-horse omnibus of Mr. Morgan, which ran every two hours from the lower part of Broad Street to Mount Pleasant Cemetery; fare 10 cents each way, and you must either wait for that or paddle on foot."

"Only think of the change. Now all the stables are kept there and several beer saloons within pistol shot of the gateway. They could not keep out of their minds the old track from the Morris and Essex Railroad to Centre Street. This was before that road had any opening to New York. When they arrived at Broad Street, with perhaps three or four cars, four horses were put to each and run down Broad Street on a switch at Centre Street and waited until the New Jersey Railroad train came and were coupled thereto and taken to Jersey City."

Broad Street a Canal
"No wonder they did not like that track. It was a nuisance. It was four inches above the pavement, but not such a track was proposed, but one like that now in use, flush with the pavement. How people's mind changed with the times. The writer remembers when it was first proposed to pave Broad Street with cobble stone. What a howl went up from some. Newark would be taxed to death. Broad Street at that time was but a canal. In the spring from 24 to 30 inches of water stood in the street. When a wagon struck it from the country they were compelled to take the same gait that funerals did."

Here Mr. Holmes reverted to rhyme to tell his story:
"The wagon in the mud,
Went down to the hub,
And no horses knee,
Could you scarcely see."

Eeling Expedition
"A party one day started on an eeling expedition and thought Broad Street might abound with them. Mr. Charles Tucker, proprietor of the North Ward Hotel, was the driver of four horses before a large scow with the party. They fished as they came along and at the corner of Broad and Market Street they again threw out the anchor and the fishing crew began to spear for eels. And they would now and then hold up the spear with one of the slimy fish dangling to it. This is my fishy. The writer saw it with his own eyes."

"But this little book was intended for Belleville, and the writer did not expect to get as far south as Newark, but was switched off on the horse car track, and could not stop."

"The town did not get horse railroad communication with Newark at that time, but did after that for six years as far as Plannigan's station. Then the steamboat compelled the company to comply with its charter and finish it. So how there are made 50 trips each day both ways, provided the 'jiggers' make connections, but we are looking with great expectation for the nicely cushioned and comfortable electric cars, when we can reach Market street in 15 minutes."

Dial 10 Digits and, Presto! You Can Have California

Test Service Across Nation Starts November 10 At Englewood

Coast-to-coast dialing on an experimental basis by 10,000 telephone customers in Englewood will start next month, the New Jersey Bell Telephone company announced yesterday. The company said that installation of additional equipment required to handle the 10-digit calls used in long distance dialing had been completed and that the service would be opened Saturday, November 10. The tests will bring nearer coast-to-coast direct dialing service for Belleville.

Eleven Million Bells
This trial of long distance dialing climaxes years of research. In its initial phase, customers in the Englewood exchange area will be able to dial direct to any of 11,000,000 telephones in New York, San Francisco, Chicago, Cleveland, Detroit and Boston.

"Telephone operators have been dialing calls across the country for several years," the company explained.

"Long distance calls which averaged 14 minutes to connect 30 years ago and which average two minutes today, may be completed in a matter of seconds under long distance dialing."

Dial Ten Digits
A country-wide numbering plan, which includes parts of Canada, plays a key roll in the nationwide dialing system. In all, there are more than 80 numbering plan areas, each of which is assigned a special three digit code.

For example on a call from Englewood to San Francisco, the user will first dial the California city's code of "3-1-8" and follow with the number of the telephone being called. On a call to San Francisco for the number Garfield 1-9950, for example, the calling party will dial the 10-digit combination of 318-GA1-9950.

The equipment installed in the Englewood central office stores up the digits dialed and as soon as the tenth digit is recorded, the call is automatically switched over telephone highways to the called telephone in San Francisco. Calls to party line telephones may require 11 digits before the call can be completed.

Automatic Billing
At the start of the Englewood trial, 13 codes will be in use covering areas served by 800 central offices.

The trial of long distance dialing is limited to Englewood, and telephone users in the 13 areas will not at this time be able to dial Englewood direct even though they can receive direct dial calls from Englewood.

Keeping track of the charges when the customer dials calls will also be done automatically. Automatic accounting equipment will register each step of a call, including the number of the calling telephone, the exchange and number of the called telephone, date and time of day and length of call.

The information is recorded on paper type which is later run through a decoding machine, which assembles, translates, sorts, summarizes and prints the information in a form that can be used in preparing customers' bills. Busy and don't answer calls are automatically eliminated by the accounting machinery.

PROCLAMATION

The Essex County Catholic Youth Organization has, for eleven years, been providing an excellent and well coordinated program of activities for the youth of this area. The problems facing today's young people are great and complex. A successful solution requires wise counsel and sound direction which will insure youth's better citizenship to God, country and community.

In this great nation it is the responsibility of every citizen to help the youth to become better Americans. Physical strength is not enough. Rather, the discipline and cultivation of the mind has always been one of the greatest contributions a man may make for the betterment of the human race and the betterment of conditions on this earth.

Through its five-fold program of spiritual, social action, cultural, social and athletic activities, the Catholic Youth Organization has better prepared its members to assume their place as Followers of God and Leaders in the World. In so doing, the priests and laity who guide the program have made a tremendous contribution to this community. Members of the Catholic Youth Organization have proved that one is never too young to be a good citizen.

THEREFORE, DO I, Patrick A. Waters, Mayor of the town of Belleville, proclaim the week of OCTOBER 21 to 28, 1951 as CATHOLIC YOUTH ORGANIZATION WEEK.

Dated: October 17, 1951

(Signed) PATRICK A. WATERS,

Mayor, Town of Belleville.

Executive Committee

The results of the election for the Executive Committee of the Student Council are as follows:

Representing the senior class are Gail Campbell, Joan Napoliello, Josephine Serriello, Peter Benz, James Bloom and Barry Muller.

The selection from the junior class include Judy Adams, Carol Hurley, Jean McNish, Vera Miller, James Kant and Roland Worthington.

Elsie Bergeson, Jean Dufford, Norma Napoliello, Robert Austen, Rocco Cafone and William Chapman have been elected to represent the sophomore class.

The majority of these students previously participated in school activities and will continue to do their best in representing the other students in B. H. S.

Sophomore Senate

I'm sure everyone remembers the great success of the sophomore dance last year called the "Hornpipe Hop." This success was brought about through the hard work of Mr. Chiara and the sophomore senators.

This year the class officers, including Larry D'Onofrio, president; Harry Valante, vice president; Pat Bollman, secretary, and Jackie Jenkins, treasurer; plus the senators from each home room will endeavor to give another memorable dance.

Leaders' Club

Just as the title implies, the Leaders' Club is a group of girls who show leadership. In order to be a member, it is essential to acquire a certain amount of points. The number of points necessary is determined by how many girls are in it. If too many girls obtain the set amount of points, then the required goal is increased. However, even if a student happens to meet these requirements in the middle of the year, she is not admitted into the club until the following year. At the termination of the school year, the two senior girls who have achieved the most points, are chosen as the most outstanding athletes and are presented with trophies.

Now, as to how these points may be accumulated. Each time a girl participates in after-school activities such as basketball and volleyball, she gets five points. Then if a student becomes captain or co-captain of the team, she gets an additional five points. Anyone getting straight A's in gym for the entire year, however, gets 40 points. When made a member, the student is allowed to wear a white gym suit.

This club is advised by Miss Thompson and Mrs. Durrell and the president is Barbara Hart, a senior who has been a very active member of the Leaders' Club for two years.

The club was originated only three years ago. I think it is something with a good purpose behind it. It helps to bring the attention of everyone that there are also outstanding girl athletes in Belleville High School.

Laugh While You Learn

Anyone interested in increasing his mental capacity and at the same time enjoying himself by bursting his sides with laughter should enroll in one of Mr. Correll's chemistry classes. Preferably his 5-2 class. If you were in if you would witness very funny events every day. You would conflict with yourself who is more comical, Joan Napoliello with her questioning mind and unearthy guesses, or Mr. Correll in his vivid descriptions and sounds. When describing and explosion in a flour mill, it is accompanied by the "poofs" and "vrooms" that take place.

Community Chest

Students to collect for the Community Chest are being sought by Mr. Correll. It is hard to get enough students interested in this type of work.

The Keelons

Another of those enjoyable dances by the Keelons and made up by Carol Ions will be displayed in the talent show this year.

Band and Twirlers

We certainly were proud of our band and twirlers and the fine before-game and half-time exhibitions they put on at Nutley last week. The twirlers' new routine, worked out to Sousa's snappy Stars and Stripes Forever, drew complimentary comments from everyone. A new addition to the show was Sally Carpel, whose fancy demonstration of skill with the baton in a solo number indicated that she may be a second Mitzie Mayers. This entire outfit and their popular director, Mr. Mattick, deserve all the credit that we can give them, not only for their excellent performance, but also for their spunk and loyalty. Eight o'clock every morning (while most of us are catching those extra forty winks) finds this ambitious group up at the field determinedly pacing out their formations, to say nothing of the hours spent in after-school practice as well. Speaking of the band, isn't that drum section TERRIFIC?

Junior Red Cross

Starting out full speed ahead for a year of hard work is the Junior Red Cross, piloted by faculty advisor Miss Andree; president, Audrey Maisie; vice president, Frank Troina; secretary, Penny Crowhurst; and treasurer, Joan McMurray. At a meeting last week of the council (officers plus representatives from each homeroom) plans for the year were outlined and class chairmen to supplement the officers were elected. First on the agenda is the Annual Roll Call, headed by Gail Campbell. During the year the home-ec classes, under the direction of Miss Sietz, will make cookies to be sent to veterans' hospitals once a month. A handicraft committee with Penny Crowhurst as chairman has started work on leather goods, soft toys and other articles to be distributed in children's hospitals. Instructing this group is Mrs. Frisch. The four elected to serve as class chairmen are Janice Greenwood, seniors; Stella Longi, juniors; Arlene Zaleski, sophomore; Violet Smith, freshman.

Spotlight on Spotlight

That proud gleam to be seen in the eyes of a certain group of journalists-to-be these days means that the first issue of this year's Spotlight, Belleville High's own newspaper, is taking shape. This enthusiastic, hard-working staff is headed by co-editors Helen Horowitz and Marilyn Hubach. Created last year through the campaigning and magazine drive carried on by the entire school, the Spotlight and its staff with advisor Mr. Grossman needs and deserves our whole-hearted support. Remember, it's YOUR paper. Watch for the first issue of Volume II to roll off the presses the last of this month.

S. O. S.

WANTED! Nicknames for some of the members of Mr. Correll's looney 5-2 chemistry class. As if having that bunch all together in one class weren't bad enough, there are two Gails, two Mikes, two Audreys, and three Joans! If Mr. Correll survives a whole year of the class he can survive anything.

If Gail Howe and Bob Freitag were a bit hoarse last Saturday (even before the game) or are heard singing and humming under their teeth while roaming around school, it's only because these two future aspirants to the Met have been rehearsing for the All State Chorus. Gail and Bob were among the lucky and talented three hundred picked for their vocal ability from among fifteen hundred students all over the state who tried out for the chorus. They will journey to Atlantic City in a few weeks for a weekend of fun and gruelling rehearsals climaxed by a

Campus Corner

President Forrest A. Irwin has announced that Euanmie Pullie of 24 Lake Street, has qualified for mention on the President's List for exceptional achievement in scholarship at Jersey City State Teachers' College. To receive this honor, a student must have grades in academic subjects that rank her among the top ten percent in her class.

Miss Pullie was graduated from the college in September, 1951, under the health education and nursing curriculum, a five-year course conducted in cooperation with Jersey City Medical Center. She holds that Bachelor of Science in Education degree and may teach health education in the public schools of New Jersey.

Amanda M. Cheney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Cheney of 134 Bremond Street, has been named chairman of the poster committee for the "Fall Premiere" sponsored by the Tau Beta Sigma and Chi Delta sororities of Upsala College.

Miss Cheney, a sophomore, is majoring in political science. She is a member of the Tau Beta Sigma sorority and a graduate of Belleville High School.

Miss Josephine Rinaldi, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Rinaldi of 21 Jefferson Street, has been elected to the cheerleaders squad at Montclair State Teachers College for the 1951-52 year. A sophomore majoring in social studies, Miss Rinaldi is a member of the Women's Athletic Association, the Commuters, Newman and Geography clubs.

Cadet-Midshipman George Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brown of 5 Overlook Avenue, was among one hundred and fifty men who recently returned to the United States Merchant Marine Academy, Kings Point, New York. The men have completed their sea year (sophomore) aboard vessels of the United States Merchant Marine. Valuable practical experience and knowledge was gained by Cadet-Midshipman Brown while serving with qualified officers of the Merchant Marine and Naval Reserve. Using the ship's engine-room as a classroom, he was required to complete an intensive sea project on technical and academic subjects associated with this instruction. In addition, he completed an extensive Thesis on "Ports and Terminals" visited during his sea year. Together, the Thesis and sea project comprised the equivalent of a year's college work.

During his sea year, he visited Canada, Japan, Philippines, British Malaya, Ceylon and Hong-Kong aboard vessels of the American Mail Line Ltd.

Back at the academy as a Second Classman (junior), Cadet Brown will continue his studies for two more years in preparation for his final license examinations. He will graduate in August, 1953, receiving a Bachelor of Science degree, a license as Third Assistant Engineer, and concurrent commissions as Ensign, United States Naval Reserve and Ensign, United States Maritime Reserve.

Mary E. Gerard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil W. Gerard of 149 Cedar Hill Avenue, recently pledged Chi Omega social fraternity at Marietta (Ohio) College.

Five Belleville students entering Fairleigh Dickinson College, Rutherford, as freshmen are: Robert L. Freeman of 84 Carner Avenue, who will major in business management; William Molloy of 62 Ninth Street, hotel and restaurant management; Flavio Morroco of 60 Fairway Avenue, pre-medical; John Nicastro of 31 Hecker Street, business management, and Gordon Remes of 9 Lloyd Place, advertising.

Girl Students Meet With College Representative

A group of Belleville High School senior girls had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. William Rock, an alumna of Cedar Crest College, discuss college life at Cedar Crest, on Thursday. Mrs. Rock described in detail the college campus and the courses available at Cedar Crest.

At the conclusion of Mrs. Rock's talk a question period was held. The girls who attended the conference were: Audrey Arnold, Joan Bauer, Dolores Bucco, Gail Campbell, Judith Daniels, Gail Howe, Dianne Nelson, Janet Rudin and Katherine Vivona.

The conference was arranged by Miss Gregoria Condon, senior guidance counselor in Belleville High School.

Child Gets Bump On Head When Struck By Automobile

Michael McMahon, 4, of 72 Belmont Avenue received a bump on the head on Friday when struck by a car driven by Dennis Chandler of 302 Halsted Street, East Orange, in front of 68 Belmont Avenue. Mr. Chandler said the youngster darted into the street into the path of his car. He took the boy to Columbus Hospital where after examination he was turned over to his parents.

Announcing THE OPENING OF OUR NEW FRANKLIN OFFICE

On Monday, October 22, the new Franklin Office of the Bank of Nutley will be open. The result of many months of planning, building and equipping, this spacious, modern banking house is a vast improvement over our old and crowded Franklin Office. It incorporates every advancement in bank design that promotes comfort and efficiency. Front and rear entrances permit easy access from the street or the large parking lot. The interior is beautifully designed, scientifically lighted and air-conditioned. This new building is another example of how the Bank of Nutley strives to provide the businesses and residents of Nutley and surrounding communities with the best possible banking services.

DRIVE-IN BANKING COMES TO NUTLEY

If you are a business man in a hurry or a housewife with children to care for, you will especially appreciate the convenience of the new Franklin Office's Drive-in Banking feature. Just enter the driveway to the right of the building, drive around the back and pull up at a Drive-in window. You cash checks, make deposits and do other routine transactions without leaving your car.

MISS JUNE BOYD IS HONOR STUDENT AT N.J.C. FOR WOMEN

Principal Hugh D. Kittle Gets Complimentary Letter From Dean Donald Dorian

Hugh D. Kittle, principal of Belleville High School, has received a letter from Dean Donald Dorian, of New Jersey College for Women, informing him that Miss June Boyd, a Belleville High School graduate of 1955, was included on the dean's list for the work of her freshman year. The letter states:

"My dear Mr. Kittle: I know you will be gratified to learn that one of the graduates of your school who entered New Jersey College for Women in September 1950 has won the academic honor of inclusion in the dean's list for the work of her freshman year. Only those students who have attained an average of 3.8 or better throughout the freshman year receive this recognition. In the grading system of the college, '1' stands for work of distinction, '2' for work of high quality, '3' for fair work, '4' for passable work, and '5' for failure. In other words, a freshman's record as a whole must show very high quality or even distinction, in comparison with the work of all her college classmates, to qualify for this honor. From last year's freshman class of 401, only fifty-two students are included in the dean's list.

"The student from your school whose excellent record has been recognized is Miss June Boyd. I am happy to offer my congratulations for the honor she has thus brought to your school."

Junior Women To Be Hostesses At Eighth District Conference

WALTER GARVEY WED AT MASS

Miss Dorothy Marie Wilde Of Irvington Becomes Bride Of Upsala College Graduate

Mrs. Walter T. Garvey

The marriage of Miss Dorothy Marie Wilde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Leslie Wilde of 140 Florence Avenue, Irvington, to Walter Thomas Garvey, son of Mrs. Walter A. Garvey of 39 Prospect Place, and the late Mr. Garvey, took place Saturday in St. Peter's Church. Rev. John Wightman performed the ceremony at a nuptial mass. A reception followed in the Home-stead, East Orange.

Miss Elenore H. Wilde was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Dolores I. Wilde, another sister, and Mrs. William O'Neill of Belleville, sister of the bridegroom. John Rourke of Connecticut served as best man and William O'Neill and Nelson Taylor of Belleville, ushers.

The bride's gown was a two-piece ivory satin jumper worn over a chantilly lace blouse. A matching satin cap trimmed with seed pearls held her illusion veil. She carried stephanotis and fleur d'amour.

An American Beauty wedding gown with a portrait neckline was worn by the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were attired in matching ensembles of turquoise velvet. The bride attendants carried bouquets of pink roses.

After their return from a two-week motor trip through the South the couple will reside at 288A Branch Brook Drive.

The bride was graduated from Irvington High School and is employed by the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co., Newark. An alumnus of Belleville High School and Upsala College, Mr. Garvey is with the Seton Candy Company, Belleville.

Mrs. William H. Enders

Following their return from a wedding trip to Lake Placid, William H. Enders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo E. Enders of 126 Cedar Hill Avenue, and his bride, the former Mary Jean Humphrey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Humphrey of Woodland, Me., are residing at 204 Aspinwall Avenue, Brookline, Mass.

The couple were married in September in St. Mark's Methodist Church, Brookline. Rev. Dr. William Leslie performed the ceremony. A reception followed in the Beaconsfield Hotel.

Miss Elizabeth Humphrey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Shirley Mansean and Betty Grant. Ralph Johnson served as best man. Ushers included Charles Henderson and Herbert Woodson.

A graduate of Woodland High School and Boston University College of Practical Arts and Letters, the bride is a member of Zeta Chi Delta. Mr. Enders was graduated from Belleville High School and Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He also is an alumnus of the Institute's Graduate School, and a member of Gamma Alpha Rho, Sigma Xi and Borelan. He is employed as a research engineer at M. I. T.

Standard English Test Taken by Freshmen

Members of Miss Deininger's English I Class at Belleville High School, taking one of the English tests given to all members of the freshman class.

The scene above is one that could be observed at Belleville High School many times during the school year. Here students in Miss Deininger's English I class are shown taking the "Nelson High School English Test" on Monday, October 8.

All freshmen have been given three standardized English tests this week: the "Nelson High School English Test," the "Nelson Denny Reading Test," and "The Inglis Test of English Vocabulary." The "Nelson High School English Test" measures the student's achievement in word usage, sentence structure, "grammar," and punctuation.

The "Nelson Denny Reading Test" measures the ability to comprehend the meanings in paragraphs and also reading vocabulary. "The Inglis Test of English Vocabulary" measures the student's reading vocabulary.

The juniors were also given an advanced form of "The Inglis Test of English Vocabulary" this week. All these tests will be scored by the English teachers, and the results will be recorded in the guidance office on the student's Permanent Test Data Card.

In Belleville High School, however, the recording of the standardized test results is only one step in the process of using the tests to help the individual student progress satisfactorily in his school work. Test are not given

Help Teachers

First of all, the tests give the teachers valuable information concerning the student's background in English. The Nelson Test tells the teacher how well prepared John is in the fundamentals of English. The fact that the test is standardized makes it possible to determine how John compares to students in other schools. John's test score can be converted into a percentile rating, which shows how he stands among thousands of students in many different high schools. John's teacher gives him this information and explains to him how well or poorly he did in each part of the test and also in the test as a whole. This helps both John and the teacher to know what instruction is needed most.

"The Nelson Denny Reading Test" score is converted to either a percentile rating or a grade equivalent. If John is in the ninth grade and the test shows that he is reading at the level of the seventh grade, the teacher knows that John's reading must be given special attention—that he may have to be given special reading material designed to improve his reading ability. If John's reading ability is extremely low, John will be referred to a special class in remedial English where he will receive individualized instruction, using special reading materials. Here he will also be given the "Iowa Silent Reading Test" to help determine more exactly what may account for his retardation in reading.

Shows Vocabulary

"The Inglis Vocabulary Test" also shows the student and teachers the extent of his reading vocabulary. The test has proved valuable in locating individual weaknesses in vocabulary. It has provided an incentive for students to improve their vocabularies because it has made them aware of their deficiencies.

Valuable Experience

The Language Arts Department feels that these standardized tests give the student valuable experience in taking tests—experience that may be helpful when the student encounters similar tests in business or college. Most seniors who plan to enter college are required to take College Board Examinations, which measure scholastic aptitude and achievement in subject areas. Many seniors who apply for jobs in offices in this area are required to take tests in vocabulary and English fundamentals.

The Language Arts Department considers its testing program to be a very valuable phase of the Belleville High School English program.

Annual Bazaar To Be Held At Fewsmith Today and Tomorrow

Robert Bartholomew, Scoutmaster of Troop 388, is making elaborate plans for an Eagle Investiture Ceremony to be held November 7, when three scouts, Fred Cox, Robert Greulich and Fred Midlege will be awarded Eagle Scout Badges. With the award of these badges Troop 388 will have made 11 Eagle Scouts during Mr. Bartholomew's scout-mastership.

Camporee Saturday
Scouts and Explorers of Belleville will journey to Scout Acres in Bonton for the annual fall district camporee Saturday. The scouts will be in camp from Saturday morning to Sunday afternoon.

Challenge skill events, campfires, games, and church services will be features of the program. Citations will be awarded participating units with special seals for attendance, good camping, health and safety and participation in challenge events.

MSGR. DI LUCA TO LEAD HOLY YEAR PILGRIMAGE

Holy Family Parishioners Will Visit St. Mary's, St. Peter's and Mt. Carmel Churches

The Rt. Rev. Msgr. Anthony Di Luca, pastor of Holy Family Church, Sunday afternoon will conduct the official parish pilgrimage to gain Holy Year indulgences.

The pilgrimage will start from Holy Family Church, Brookline Avenue, at 2 p. m. Msgr. Di Luca will then lead the parishioners to St. Mary's Church, Nutley, St. Peter's Church, Belleville, and Mount Carmel Church, Nutley, in that order.

Printed leaflets with prayers for Holy Year have been made available to parishioners through the courtesy of the Catholic War Veterans, a parish organization, and the appropriate prayers will be said in each church.

Officers and members of church societies have been invited to attend the pilgrimage in a body. In order to accommodate those who were unable to visit Rome during the past year, Pope Pius XII has extended the time through this year.

Join Edison Old Timers

These Ancient Trees

Tall trees seem taller when the daylight fades

Into the hush of sunset; leaves grow still
And pools of shadow deepen in the glades,
Echoing to the lonely whippoorwill.
High branches reaching upward to the sky
Can almost touch the multitude of stars,
Where constellations brilliantly wheel by,
Attended by inscrutable, red Mars.

Here in the dimness of these ancient trees
A brooding peace is bringing to the earth
A quiet understanding that the breeze
Has quickened into hopes for a rebirth—
New hopes of faith and steadfastness that stand

Solid as trees across a waiting land.

Who's Kidding Whom?

It is regrettable that Essex' Senator Clapp chose to seek votes for his re-election by asserting, in a statement issued last weekend through the Essex County Republican Committee, that Essex County Democratic Chairman William Egan is making "a desperate bid for return to political power" and will control his "hand-picked" candidates with "an iron hand" if they win office next month.

Does Senator Clapp doubt that George Becker, our friend and a very able county leader of Clean Government's Republican forces, is making "a desperate bid" to stay in power?

Does Senator Clapp doubt that the Clean Government county chairman also controls his candidates with "an iron hand"?

Does Senator Clapp believe that any one of the Essex County Assemblymen, elected on a Clean Government ticket, could vote in Trenton on any important issue in any way other than that decided in Newark at county GOP headquarters?

Does Senator Clapp believe that he could do it? Has he ever done it, or is it simply a coincidence that his vote always followed the party line?

It is our opinion that there are many vital issues in this November's election beside the personality of Mister Egan. We are much more interested in knowing how a candidate stands on two proposals which worry us no end: the establishment of a general state sales tax and the creation of a state income tax. We are opposed to both new forms of taxation, and we want to know between now and November 6 which candidates are opposed to them, too.

If we may digress for a moment, we would like to explain that we oppose a state sales tax because we consider it unnecessary, just as we oppose a state income tax because once that door is open to a tax, it will walk greed and government extravagance. There is no alternative.

Many educators throughout the state have come out flatly for widening the base of taxation to provide funds to increase state aid to public schools. Among the proposals they make are the establishment of the sales tax and income tax. They also ask for a corporation tax.

It is our opinion that public schools are and should remain a local problem. No one knows our schools better than we do. The taxpayers now have their hands on the strings which tie the school budget and they should continue to hold them. If the State collects new taxes from all of us and then does out its aid for building new schools or operating overhead, what guarantee will we have that our sales and income taxes will not go to building schools in Pennsauken or Newark? It is obvious that South Jersey always has had more than its share of any handouts from Trenton. Politics always raises its ugly head when the distribution of funds is made.

Money raised locally, taken to Trenton, manipulated, and handed back to us, always shrinks. Too many State departments take their cut out of it.

We would prefer to finance our own schools, allowing them whatever sum for overhead or buildings we, the taxpayers of Belleville, feel they should have. We want every cent of our school taxes to go to our schools. We do not want to fatten a state kitty, nor do we want to build new schools for any other town. We have the horrible lesson of the cigarette tax to bear always in mind.

Do you remember how, four years ago, when Trenton wanted to foist the cigarette tax on us false promises were made that its income would be returned in the form of state aid to schools. First of all, that is against the law. Cigarette tax income has to go into the general treasury. Second of all, only $9,000,000 of this year's $19,000,000 of cigarette tax income was returned as school aid. The rest went down the drain of state administrative overhead. That's where our sales and income taxes would go, too, and that's why, Senator Clapp, we want to know how you and all the other candidates stand on their proposed creation. R.E.H.

Have You Had Enough?

The U. S. Treasury has come up with a dream plan to sell $1,250,000,000 worth of "bills" which may be used to pay income taxes next March.

Under the new plan, the Treasury is endeavoring to get and spend this year income tax money it normally would not receive until next March. Donald V. Lowe of Ridgefield, chairman of the Committee, explained. This is one of the cleverest ideas for spending money it hasn't got which the Administration has come up with in quite some time.

Even if the plan works, and the sought-for $1,250,000,000 is raised so that federal spending may continue unabated, the government's outgo will still be many times its income. The Treasury officially anticipates that government spending this fiscal year, ending next June 30, will be over $5 billion more than income.

By a tragic coincidence, that is almost exactly the amount which adoption of the Hoover Commission's program would save annually through elimination of waste and inefficiency in governmental operations. It has been estimated that the Hoover plan would save $5.9 billions a year, or more.

Thus it is painfully plain that the Administration's constant maneuvering to get its hands on more of our money would be entirely unnecessary, if the twenty bills covering the Hoover recommendations were to be adopted without further delay. Have you had enough?

Deserve a Welcome

Some 400 workers started the tremendous job of canvassing the homes of Belleville in the Annual Community Chest Drive, yesterday. They are your fellow townsmen, giving of their time in addition to their own contributions so that six Belleville social and welfare agencies can continue in business for another year. They and the Community Chest deserve a hearty welcome into your home.

The whole idea of one united drive is defeated when Community Chest canvassers are given a minimum donation, a donation that you would ordinarily give to any one of the six agencies in the campaign.

After years of separate drives staged by new and old organizations, our neighbors in Newark and West Hudson are trying out an almost all-inclusive campaign, adding to their regular agencies the American Red Cross, the Heart Society and the Cerebral Palsy League. This was the original intention of the Community Chest idea, when it started more than 20 years ago. And if the Community Chest is to succeed in the future it is the course that must be followed.

Belleville's Chest Trustees did not see fit to run a combined campaign this fall, because the time was too short, but the chances are that next year's drive will be for considerably more to cover at least four more agencies.

For a Safe and Sane Halloween

Plans for a safe and sane Halloween, undertaken by practically the same group of men and women who staged the very successful Fourth of July celebration, are shaping up well.

The Chamber of Commerce has endorsed the committee's plans for the store window painting contest, and in a letter to each store keeper urged co-operation. Storekeepers are being asked to post $5 per window for the purchase of the necessary supplies and toward the prizes of $85 in Defense Bonds and Stamps.

In deference to the wishes of the merchants, the line of march has been changed so that the Pumpkin Parade will proceed along Washington Avenue. Details about the parade and the Halloween parties, one for the 4 to 9 year olds and the other for the 9 to 15 year group, will be found in the news columns.

The entire program is a good one—one that has been overdue in town.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

The Lull in Korea Is Only One Phase of a Major Effort To Build a Wall Around Communism Without Touching Off World War III

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Korea, half-forgotten as we build feverishly in Europe to contain a possible westward spread of Communism, is fast becoming a forgotten war. It would not seem possible that if we really wanted to end the war in Korea either by a crushing military victory or by a negotiated cease-fire we could not do it. Are we so weak that a few divisions of hopped-up Chinese can hold us in a stale-mate?

In the past six weeks, two U. S. divisions have shipped for overseas, not to Korea but to Europe. American bombers which could blast Manchuria and China off the map are still kept below the Yalu. A third-rate enemy which has fought us to a draw through fifteen costly but fruitless months now tries to stymie us diplomatically in the conversations of Kaesong.

The explanation is simple enough: our military intelligence is convinced that the Far East is the side show and Europe is the main ring. Each day the possibility of war grows less, but if war does come our Joint Chiefs of Staff look for it in Europe. Refusing to become too deeply involved in the Far East, we are building our retaining wall in Europe and no diversion in Korea or elsewhere is going to turn us from it.

Another truth is that we are half-way on the path to a wholly new conception of war with atomic arms of such destructive potential that massed manpower is no longer vital. If war can be prevented by intelligent defense anticipation and if we can gain two or three years, we may have available atomic arms and weapons so terrible that total destruction could only await any people which attacked us. It would appear that all that we are doing now is seeking to contain the moral enemy where he now stands while we make ready the arms which may discourage aggressors forever. Europe, obviously, is, in the opinion of our Joint Chiefs of Staff, the field of containment.

Striking a Balance

On the debit side, Korea has cost us heavily in casualties and in cash. In 15 months, we have suffered more than 14,000 killed, about 6,000 wounded of whom about 90 per cent have returned to combat, and nearly 11,000 missing and presumably prisoners of war in some horrible Chinese compound.

On the credit side, we have learned all over again how to fight under the worst possible climatic conditions. When we went into Korea from Japan, we had a handful of inadequately-trained, ill-equipped occupation troops. Few of them were combat veterans; most were boys 18 to 22. We were all but wiped out in that tragic retreat to Pusan. Now, however, we have an army of battle-trained veterans, capable of holding back an enemy with five times our manpower.

Limits of Aviation

Korea also forced us to change our minds about certain tactics and weapons. When we went into the mountains, against a stubborn foe, you cannot win with aviation alone. It is true that we have handicapped our air force by forbidding it to blast to pieces the railroad yards and Chinese bases in Manchuria, north of the Yalu River. But in combat action, our aviation has been a useful adjunct and nothing more. Aviation alone did not score a single victory in the war thus far.

We learned, too, the helplessness and the vulnerability of tanks in roadless mountains. That lesson obliged us to provide our foot troops with weapons with which to replace the mobile artillery of the tanks. Out of our research came the recoilless cannon which fires a shell that can pierce a tank and yet is fired from the shoulder. We improved our mortars and we tested out a new carbine.

Guided Missiles Missing

But where is the type of fighting with which World War II ended—the rockets and guided missiles, the mass air bombardments, the swift end runs which Patton made famous in his dash across France, and the amphibious warfare which our Marines had developed to such heights of strategy?

Have we no guided missiles which were Hitler's great mystery weapon of the last phase of the war and which might have turned the tables had they been perfected six months sooner? Think of the effect on the morale of North Koreans and Chinese alike if we fired a hundred guided missiles into their camps, their dumps of supplies and their towns. Anyone who saw the "buzz-bombs" used against London and the invasion ports by the Germans knows what a frightening thing they are.

Where's Air Force?

Why are we fighting a "horse-and-buggy" war in an age of super-sonic air power? After 15 months of war, the railroads of North Korea are still running. While I was a prisoner of Hitler in a Gestapo camp in the Black Forest, we were on the receiving end of 126 American air raids. I know from personal observation that Germany's railroads up and down the Rhine valley were a shambles. Why couldn't we do the same thing in Korea? Our men are dying at an increasing rate in a war almost forgotten—and with no end in sight.

In Washington there is a great deal of talk about testing our newest atomic weapons in Korea if the war lasts through the winter there. Back of that current of thought are some basic facts. We do know that there have been meetings of the Secretary of Defense Robert A. Lovett with the Atomic Energy Commission in the Pentagon on October 10. It is understood that Lovett requested custody of our atomic stock pile along with the right for the military to take all decisions as to their use.

Looking Ahead

We do know that Senator Brian McMahon, chairman of the joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, in urging major expansion of the atomic weapons program, stated that within three years new atomic weapons could be available as cheap as tanks on a mass basis.

We do know, too, that Gordon Dean, chairman of the AEC, declared that the United States actually is in the era when atomic weapons will be available for tactical training and that the Defense Department has announced maneuvers at Frenchman Flat, Nev., involving tactical training with atomic weapons. Obviously, we are close to possessing arms which have harnessed atomic fission—if we are not already there.

NEWARK ACADEMY COMPILES ROSTER

First Directory Has Names Of 2,381 Alumni and Lists Association's Programs

Belleville and Nutley men numbered among the members of the Alumni Association of Newark Academy have received within the last week the first roster and directory ever compiled for that organization. The 64-page volume, bound in Newark Academy Red, contains the names of 2,381 alumni.

Although Newark Academy was founded in 1774, the roster covers, for practical purposes only those classes from 1878 through 1951. The director reveals that Newark Academy alumni may be found throughout the United States from Florida to Washington State. They are in Paris, Rome, Rio de Janeiro, Honolulu and other cities throughout the world.

The volume contains also the association's program for the year, ending with the annual reunion

Issue Building Permit For St. Peter's School Addition

The permit for the erection of the addition to St. Peter's school, valued at $350,000, two two-family dwellings and a new store building made up the bulk of the permits issued by Building Inspector Thomas Greco this week. Although the excavation was started two weeks ago, the building permit for the school addition was not applied for or issued until the contractor was ready for the footings.

Giselda Squitieri of 565 Joramont Street and Patsy Panaccione of 394 Joramont Street were granted the permits for the two-family houses. The first will cost $14,000 and the other $13,000. The Belleville Liquor Store, Inc., will erect a new building at 2 Bloomfield Avenue, valued at $7,000. Thompson Materials Corporation of 303 Cortlandt Street was granted a permit for a warehouse to cost $1,000.

Campers Unorthodox

Coach Bill Matthews and his Irvington Camptowners, who once loomed as the second strongest foe on Belleville's grid slate, don't look any weaker despite a two and two record as they come into Municipal Stadium on Saturday for a renewal of a rivalry which dates back at least 25 years.

Although it is impossible to compare teams on scores against a mutual foe, the fact that Belleville was at its full strength when it tied East Orange, and is far from that strength right now, indicates that Irvington should bow by a single point to East Orange, should have an edge over the Bellboys.

Coaches Eddie Berlinski and Jitty Wische, both of whom had an opportunity to scout Irvington, because of the Saturday morning experiment, are of the opinion that if both clubs play the way they have been playing, Irvington should win. However, if Belleville plays as well as it is capable of playing and does not give away touchdowns on fumbles, then Belleville can win.

Whatever way the game goes it should be interesting to watch. Coach Matthews for years has been experimenting with unique ideas in the football field. He is no conformist. He doesn't go for the T, the single wing, or the various orthodox defensive setups. As a result his teams continue to cause trouble. So far only Montclair has been able to really master the Campers, who are both big and good. The line is rugged and the backs can run. But the system is so cockeyed that not only is it impossible for the opposition to fathom it, but it is too complicated for the Campers themselves. In games to date, some of the whooper-doopers whipped up out of the agile brain of Bill Matthews seem to backfire with blockers knocking down their own men.

While Belleville's coaches, who have seen both teams play, are afraid of what Irvington might do to the Bellboys, we will stick to our early season prediction and pick Belleville to raise to the opportunity and really tuck one away.

The boys broke the ice on Saturday when they not only scored three touchdowns but held West Side scoreless. Most of the fans left the game thinking that the club had scored once more, but a penalty nullified the apparent touchdown.

Belleville is by no means over its fumbling and so far three reasons for that fumbling have been advanced. The most logical is that Rocky Cafone, fifth on the list of quarterbacks at the start of the season, is now number one. He appears to be getting the ball away late and passing in back of his carriers. This accounts for the number of recoveries by the opposition. If the ball is bobbled in front of the ball carrier he has a good chance of being in on the recovery. If the ball passes in back of him, he is out of the play, and the opposition, charging forward in the best position to be on the loose ball first. This is a matter of greenness. Rocky, a sophomore, should not let it get him down.

The youngster is in the key spot on the team and it is tough to be taken off the bench to replace the star of the ball team in the one spot which can mean so much to the success or failure of the team. Rocky does fine in practice, but seems to tighten up during the games. He will get over this but the question is "How soon?"

Really going out on a limb we will predict that Belleville will be one touchdown better than Irvington. We say so because we figure the Bellboys have a lot more on the ball than they have shown so far. Saturday's game will test their initiative. The team may have lost its spark when Pete Spera was hurt, but it never was a one-man ball club. It is a team and can go. This is the game to prove it.

As for future opponents, Hillside, Kearny and Orange have not improved their status in recent games, but Passaic has either improved or Memorial isn't as good as it has been cracked up to be. After the first 14 minutes of last week's game the Passaic Indians were the complete masters of the West New York club. Unfortunately for Passaic, Memorial scored two quick touchdowns and a safety in those first 14 minutes, then staved off two Passaic drives on the five before the Indians scored twice in the last four minutes of play. If Passaic has improved that much since the start of the campaign it can be a tough ball club for Belleville to handle.

Passaic, we have been told, used a five-four-two defensive alignment to stall the ground and passing attack of the Mem. Although Passaic didn't win, it took some of the shine off Memorial's record.

Keeping Up With the Roller Riders

Ed Littig and his roller riders will give an exhibition at the Essex County Hospital at Overbrook tonight and as an added attraction will have Reggie McNamara, old-time six-day rider in the troupe. Ed Littig, Charlie Logan, Clark Albey, Ray Frate and the DeBacco Brothers will also appear.

Things Looking Up! Bellboys Ride Over Rough Riders 18-0

History May Repeat Itself; Last Year's Team Found Winning Touch in Fourth Game of Season; Irvington Is Next

By GEORGE PLOSA

Well, things are looking up! This week, only four Belleville fumbles were witnessed, and by taking advantage of three bobbles by the visiting Newark West Side team at Belleville Municipal Stadium, the home charges amassed a deceiving but promising 18 to 0 victory, their first of the year. A scant 3,000 fans were on hand. The Bellboys' try for number two on Saturday afternoon, at 2:30, when they meet an improving Irvington eleven at the Stadium.

I say, it was promising, inasmuch as last year at this time the team's record was one victory and three defeats. It was at this point that the local boys caught fire and finished up in fine style with the exception of the lacing at Passaic. This year things have started off pretty much in the same way with three straight bad ones, (one a tie) and a decisive victory on the fourth try. It will be that history will repeat itself, and possibly do even better, because Passaic is far from last year's powerhouse. On paper at least the Bellboys outclass their remaining opponents.

West Siders Harmless I say, deceiving, only because I'm a die-hard. Actually, other than the fumbles (which are becoming a matter of course) the Bellboys rendered the West Siders harmless. In fact they were so ineffective that they never advanced further than their own 46 yard line. They were forced to kick six times, and two of the kicks were blocked by Ronnie Thompson, a quiet but menacing Bellboy end.

The West Siders found the Bellboy line almost impregnable, as they mustered only 53 yards from scrimmage. Their passing attack was even less productive as they completed but one of eleven aerial attempts for a total of eight yards. They came up with two first downs, both in the first quarter, and they lost the ball three times as a result of fumbles. And to make matters even worse they came out on the short end of the penalties, losing 60 yards to 30 for Belleville.

Carpel Starts Things John Carpel started proceedings with a 20 yard return of the opening kickoff up to the 28 yard line. Then, with Bill Dunleavy paving the way, our heroes flexed their muscles and looked completely reformed as they ground out four straight first downs and put the oval on the West Side 12. There, apparently overcome by such consistency, things returned to normal and that nasty slippery thing rigged out of Dunleavy's hands and was gobbled up by Sal DeAngelis of the Routh Riders.

On the Green Waves second play, Art Linhoff skirted right end for 13 yards and one of the two first downs made by West Side. Then, not to be outdone by Belleville, he fumbled and Roland Worthington grabbed it on the 28. With the Bellboys again in possession Rocky Cafone threw a pass to Bill Rock, who hauled it in on the 15 and raced down the sideline for the score. The attempt for the extra point never got off.

Vara Recovers Fumble Late in the second period, Monk Vara recovered a West Side fumble on the Green's 12 yard line. Capitalizing on the break, Bill Dunleavy tore through left tackle

BELLBOY HARRIERS NOSE OUT NUTLEY

Benfield Wins Sixth Race But Tie For Third Is Deciding Factor Of Day

By KEITH McELIGOT

After reporting how poorly Belleville's "placers" were doing in cross-country, we happily contradict ourselves. The Bellboy team, shy Lou Tyska and Hank Guttler outraced and outclimbed Nutley on the two and one-half mile course laid out in Yantacav Park, Tuesday afternoon. Belleville on the exciting but not particularly fast race by a slim margin of 26 to 29.

The winner was Charlie Benfield, in 14.28. A former Nutley boy, Charlie seemed to enjoy running against his old classmates. His nearest contender, almost a quarter mile back was Tom Spatz of the Maroon Riders. Right on his tail were George Muller and Vic Vagarro of Belleville, whose points for the third place tie was the deciding factor in the race.

Don Downes, Carl Schulerud and Bill Vautin of Nutley were bunched in fifth, sixth and seventh place, followed by Jim Morse of Belleville, Vic Longo of Nutley and Gus Formato of Belleville in that order.

A better than average crowd was on hand for the race.

PAL SOCCER TEAMS WILL OPEN SEASONS

Juniors Meet Taft A. C.; Senior Team Tackles The Clifton Colt Eleven

The Belleville PAL soccer teams starts their league play this Sunday afternoon at Belleville Park. The first game starts at 1 p. m., featuring the Belleville PAL Juniors against the Taft A. C. of Harrison. Immediately following this game the senior Belleville PALS meet the Clifton Colts.

The Belleville PAL Junior team is entered in the Hudson County Juvenile League. Teams are entered from Harrison, Kearny, East Newark, Newark and Belleville. The senior team is entered in the New Jersey State Junior Soccer League, which is composed of the Newark Portuguese, Erie A. A., East Newark B. C., Harkey E. C., Clifton Colts and Belleville PAL. Most of the veterans of last year's team that went to the semi-finals in the Hudson County Cup tournament are back with the senior team.

Because of the large turnout of boys from the ages of 12 to 15 at the practice sessions in Belleville Park, a PAL soccer league here in town will be formed. Boys desiring to play on these teams can do so by leaving their names and addresses at Police Headquarters.

Bibber McCoy Earns Shot At Rocca On Laurel Mat

His sensational finish against Gene (Mr. America) Stanlee in last week's main attraction earned Bibber McCoy, the ex-Holy Cross football and baseball star, a crack at Antonino (Argentina) Rocca in this week's top go of the weekly wrestling bill at Laurel Garden, Newark, Friday night.

McCoy did everything but get the official decision over the matinee idol. Though the finish was one that left doubt in the minds of many, McCoy personally said, "I'm the winner. He can't beat me the best day he ever saw."

Rocca, the wonder of wrestling, has more tricks than any other pachyderm ever dream about. He does more work with his shoelace feet than some grapplers do with their hands. The great thing about the amazing Rocca is that he can come up with a new hold no matter how many times a fan looks at him.

Latter In First Year Of Riding Is Second In Club Points, Sprint Champion

The Alpine Wheelmen of Belleville wound up their cycling year by holding a one hour team race at the Branch Brook track Sunday afternoon. The team of Ray Frate of Belleville and Jim Hoffman of Middlesex placed first with 42 points and covered 26 miles; second was Joe DeBacco and Jim Riordan with 29 points; third was Herb Hoffman and his son with 26 points; fourth was Bill and Ed Holle with 12 points, and fifth, one lap behind, was the team of Matt Giordano and Joe Ganteaume.

The final tally of points in the club's all-round competition found Ray Frate the club champion with 80 points. He also finished highest in outside competition with 58 points.

Joe Ganteaume, a junior who started riding this year, was second in the club competition, with 49 points, was first in the junior all-round competition with 46 points and picked up four points in outside competition. Besides that, Joe cleaned up in the junior sprint championship at Johnson Park with 20 points. Quite a year for a youngster.

Following the leaders in the club competition were Herb Hoffman Jr., 30; Joe DeBacco, 28; Angelo DeBacco, 23; Bill Holle, 20; Ed Holle, 16; Jim Hoffman, 14; Herb Hoffman, 12, and Jim Riordan, 5.

Stocks In Daylight Show At Ruppert Stadium

Newark auto racing competition switches to daylight when the stock cars return to Ruppert Stadium Sunday afternoon at 2:30 p. m. While the smashing sedans were away two programs of mid-get auto racing, first such four-wheeled competition, was held in Newark.

The doodlebugs proved mighty interesting and Promoter Ed Otto expects to come back with another program on October 28. However, there were many who got homesick for the stocks, thus their return. There is a vast difference in the competition with the stocks furnishing plenty of thrills and chills and the midgets mostly speed.

Dates Set or Court Loop Organizations

The organization of the Belleville Recreation Basketball League is now in progress. Anyone interested in entering a team please contact Mr. Ward at the Recreation House, 407 Joramemon Street. The Senior League will have its first meeting on Thursday night, November 1, at 8 o'clock. The Intermediate League will meet on Friday night, November 2, at 8 o'clock.

Hoffman Jr. had 25 points and Bill Holle 12. Jim Hoffman picked up 8 points, Herb Hoffman 6 and Matt Giordano 2 in outside competition.

In the junior sprint championship Ganteaume was followed by Jim Giordano with 11, Herb Hoffman Jr. with 9 and Jim Hoffman with 4.

Pru and Dodge Sweep Into Pin League Tie

The Prudential A. A. and Dodge, Inc., rolled into a tie for first place in the Belleville Manufacturing "A" League by scoring sweeps while J. Wiss, the previous leader, dropped two games. The Prudential A. A. led by Ray Canfield with a 601 series and Harold Meyer shooting a 242 game easily took three games from Standard Areturus while Dodge, Inc., anchored by Bill Curran with a 604 set and Frank Spear with a 230 game hit a 2732 series to win three games from Hanlon & Goodman. Jim MacDonald was best for the brushmakers with 531. Federal Leather, after dropping the first game to J. Wiss & Son by three pins came back to take the next two games. Rudy Kocis with 585 and Angelo Cappezano with 573 were best for Federal while Hugh McAteer with a 234 game and 597 series led the shearmakers. In the other match of the night Wallace & Tiernan led by Herman Schwarzel with a 601 series topped by a game of 232 took two games from Premier Tool. Clyde Armstrong with a 545 series topped the toolmakers.

Hit In Stomach By Plank In Woodworking Plant

Frank Zvaluskas of 34 James Street, Newark, was injured while working at the Belleville Lumber & Millwork plant, 523 Cortlandt Street, on Saturday. Zvaluskas was operating a planer when a plank being fed through the machine by an automatic feed hit him in the stomach and knocked him down and out. Dr. Leslie Miller and the Belleville ambulance responded to a call. The injured man was taken to the American Legion Hospital in North Newark and held for X-rays and observation.

Bitten by Dog

Leonard Basile, 64, of 118 Belmont Avenue was bitten on the right leg by a dog owned by C. Rossi of 172 Heckel Street, Sunday. He was treated by Dr. Scalera at the Columbus Hospital, Newark. Mr. Rossi was ordered to keep his dog tied up.

Bank of Nutley's New Franklin Office Building Opens Monday

The new Franklin Office building of the Bank of Nutley located in Centre Street, about 400 feet east of Franklin Avenue is nearing completion and will be open for business Monday, October 22; it was announced yesterday by Albert E. Howe, president. Opening ceremonies, which depositors and others are invited to attend, will be held the preceding Saturday, October 20. At that time the bank's staff will be present to show visitors around and demonstrate many innovations, including drive-in banking. Ground for the new building was broken in July, 1950, but difficulty in obtaining materials caused several delays in completion. The bank's present Franklin Office is in the office building at the southeast corner of Franklin Avenue and Centre Street.

When Ward's Gazette Was Essex Only Newspaper

Hundreds Of Publications Have Come and Gone In Years Since Hugh Gaine's Sheet

In the very beginning, the first Stone Age newspaper editor took a stone hammer and flint and with it carved his chronicle on the walls of caves, the archeological stone writings of today.

With the birth of printing, "news letters" gave reports of happenings in countries as distant as couriers could reach. One of them, "The Weekly News from Italy, Germany, etc." became, in May 1622, the first English-language printed newspaper with Nicholas Bourne and Thomas Archer as its publishers. Prior to that by a few years, in 1609, the first printed newspaper came off the presses in Germany, the land of the birth of printing, — "Avisa Relation oder Zeitung".

Newspapers had been established in England more than 40 years before the New Haven colonists, seceding from the Puritan colony, sailed into Newark Bay and up the Passaic to found their colony out of which Nutley, among other Essex towns, was born.

It took a century, however, for the first newspaper, a weekly, to come off its own presses in this Jersey colony. The first publication of any sort printed in Essex was Hugh Gaine's "New York Gazette and Weekly Mercury", a refugee from New York during the Autumn of 1776 when the red coats smashed the presses of those courageous editors who spoke up for the revolution.

Gaine was a "revolutionary", so as the British soldiers closed in on him, he packed his loose type and fled to Newark where he, printed a half dozen issues and then, realizing that the cause was a lost cause, returned to his printing paraphernalia back to New York and resumed his newspaper — as an organ of the British. He turned his coat completely from the last Newark issue to the next New York publication.

His short stay awoke an interest in a local newspaper but it took 15 years for one to be born. On May 13, 1791, the first issue of John Wood's "Newark Gazette and Paterson Advertiser" came off the press and it was the chronicle of Belleville, then the "northeast section" of Newark, as it was of the whole valley up to the newly founded Paterson.

First Essex Paper
That first paper, published from a print shop at the corner of New and Broad street in Newark, was ably edited. A "Federalist" sheet, by political conviction, it supported George Washington and his policies. After a time, the "Gazette" dropped the "Paterson Advertiser" from its cast-head and, in October, 1797, became the "Newark Gazette and New Jersey Advertiser".

When John Wood sold out, Jacob Halsey, who ran a book shop and printing office, took over with John H. Williams as its editor, but in 1800 Halsey disposed of the entire business to John Wallis, who had been raised as an apprentice in his business. In time, the present-day Democratic party was born under the appellation of Republican Party with Thomas Jefferson as its founder. Essex shifted from the Federalists to the Democrats and the "Gazette" steadily lost ground and in 1804 it ceased publication.

Editorial Battles
Meanwhile, the "Centinel of Freedom", Essex's second newspaper, had been established in 1796 and when the "Gazette" passed away, the "Centinel" gloated: "The Newark 'Gazette' expired on Tuesday of a decline which it bore with Christian fortitude. A legitimate child of Federalism, it was generated by corruption, it progressed in infamy and, finally, it died in disgrace".

Like Phoenix, out of the ashes of Ward's "Gazette" was born the "Republican Herald", edited by David Baldwin, which was diametrically opposed to it in national policy. Short-lived, from January to March, 1805, its passing brought another gloat from the "Centinel" which carried on, alone in the field which covered today's Essex, Union and Passaic counties.

The "Centinel", like all Newark newspapers of that time was a weekly. It kept the archaic spelling of its name until September, 1828, when, reluctantly, it became the "Centinel of Freedom". Almost within reach of the century of its existence, it passed away in 1895.

The "Gazette" and the "Sentinel" were stalwart pioneers. The rival editors, Wallis and Aaron Pennington, slapped each other down every week in print and if the files of the "Centinel" are to be believed, they went at each other, too, with horsewhips.

Rough On Editors
The files report that Wallis, angered at an unusually cruel editorial, grabbed a horsewhip and went after Pennington, a victim of tuberculosis. Pennington's brother interceded, grabbed the whip, and, according to the "Centinel" laid it on Wallis' own back. Another time, meeting at the town pump at the corner of Broad and Market, the rivals insulted each other until fists flew. Later, graduating from journalism, one became the greatest criminal lawyer of his times and the other mounted to the bench as judge of the High Court.

While the two rivals played each other, a number of lesser weeklies came and went. "The Rural Magazine" picked up circulation in this outlying farm district by promising essays "on Religion, Morality, Agriculture and miscellaneous subjects in prose and verse" for 12 shillings per annum but it lasted one year and folded. So did "The Modern Spectator", sired by E. B. Gould in 1808; died 1809.

Partisan Battles
Then there was the "Telescope", born as a Federalist newspaper after the death of the "Gazette".

the Native American or Know Nothing party and swiftly went down in ruin.

As the "Eagle" died, the "Jacksonian" was born and upon its swift demise the "Newark Daily Mercury" came into being. "Mercury" lasted from 1848 to 1862, a Republican organ in a Democratic community. Opposed to it for brief periods of publication were the "Temperance Advocate" and the "Tariff Advocate" whose names fix their policies; the "Morning Post", vigorously Democratic, and the "Newark Independent", a warm supporter of Jackson and Calhoun. A powerful weekly, the "Newark Monitor" was strenuously anti-Masonic.

Great Editors

Amzi Armstrong was the first editor of the "Daily Advertiser" which was ardently pro-Whig and which backed Henry Clay, the Whig candidate, in the 1832 Presidential election. Throughout the life of the paper, it was one of the great papers, editorially, in the nation and among its great editors were William B. Kinney, his son Thomas Kinney who put steam to work to run his presses and Dr. Sanford B. Hunt who took over when he was demobilized from the Union Armies in 1866. Six sales of the property in six years brought a swift end to the "Advertiser" in 1906. In that year the morning and evening editions of the "Star" were established.

Another great competitor of the times was the "Newark Evening Journal" which rose from the ashes of the "Eagle" and the "Jacksonian", both of which were bought by Senator William Wright. From their fusion, the "Journal" stepped out as a violent anti-Lincoln sheet during the Newark draft riots in the Civil War, bringing about the arrest of the editor, Edward N. Fuller, who was fired for inciting the draft riots. Fuller then resigned and within a few weeks, when Lincoln was assassinated, the "Journal" turned its rules and had the blackest mourning borders of them all.

Scudders Move In

The "Morning Register" was the first post-bellum newspaper born in Newark in 1869, and three years later the "Sunday Call" began publication. A second Sunday morning paper, the "Newark Free Press" came out in 1883. Eventually, the "Press" and the "Register" were fused into the "Press-Register". In swift succession rose and fell the weekly "New Jersey Unionist", the "Times-Standard" and in 1883 the Newark "Evening News" began publication with Wallace M. Scudder as one of its founders. It is still in the hands of the Scudder family 68 years later.

For two centuries after the "Newark Gazette and Paterson Advertiser" was born, Newark newspapers had a virtual monopoly throughout the whole of Essex. Gradually as the population moved into the undeveloped green pastures, the influence of Newark was lessened. In 1812, Bloomfield Township was set up, sliced off of Newark. It then contained Nutley, Belleville, Montclair, which then was called Cranetown, and Glen Ridge within the borders of Bloomfield.

named to honor a general of the Revolutionary War.

Nutley Secedes

The next step of decentralization occurred in 1839 when a separate township of Belleville was created, to include Nutley and Belleville. The final step occurred in 1874 when the township of Franklin, or Nutley, seceded from Belleville, the Third River divorcing from the Second.

Belleville Newspapers

The history of newspapers in Belleville is no where complete. The earliest paper to come to our attention was the Belleville Record and Franklin Advertiser which started publication about 1874, under the ownership of Albert Newsschwander and edited by J. A. Beecher, who was also editor of the Newark Daily Press of that time.

In 1874 the Belleville Gazette, a four page 6 1/2 x 4 1/2 inch paper was issued. The first issue stated that it would be issued every Saturday and that a limited number would be given away.

How long either of these papers lasted we have no idea. There may have been papers before either of these, and certainly others before the first issue of The Belleville Times came out on December 3, 1909, with F. K. Phillips as editor and publisher.

The Belleville News made its appearance on August 28, 1925, with W. H. Masten as editor. On February 19, 1942, The Belleville Times and The Belleville News were combined under the masthead with the Belleville News Corporation as owner, Russell D. Hay, publisher of The Nutley Sun, was the owner of The Belleville News at the time of the merger. He took over the ownership several years previous from Wallace & Tiernan Company. Just four

CYO Units In Competition For Participation Honors

Because of the success of the parish participation contest sponsored by the Essex County CYO last year the contest will be held again, according to Rev. John J. Kiley, county CYO director. Purpose of the contest is to spur parish participation in county-sponsored events.
Three divisions, based on parish population, have been set up and a winner will be chosen in each. Banners bearing the name of the winning parish and the CYO emblem in the parish's colors will be presented to the victors at the annual June Assembly—an awards night.
Points will be awarded the parish groups for each basketball, baseball, bowling, track, oratorical and one-act play entry they place in competition. Groups which publish their own newspaper, give one of the weekly CYO radio programs or sponsor Scout Troops will also receive points towards the award. Additional points will be awarded for organization.
Last year the banners were won by Our Lady of Lourdes, West Orange, and Blessed Sacrament and St. Stanislaus, both of Newark.

High School Seniors Get Set for College, Business

Practice On Composite Applications For Jobs and College Entrance

Belleville High School seniors are busily engaged these days in preparing themselves for the business world or for college.

Last spring the present seniors studied a unit in their English classes entitled, "Planning Your Future." The unit included the Kuder-Vocational Interest Test and a study of the occupations of their interest. This year the seniors who plan to enter the business world will study the unit, "Finding a Job."

Working In Offices

At the present time several seniors are receiving valuable experience working in the high school principal's office and in the guidance office. Many others are working on a part-time basis in local offices or in Newark.

As part of their work in fourth year English, the students who expect to enter the business world upon graduation will receive composite application blanks. They will practice filling-out applications, following the instructions and advice of their English teachers.

Seniors who plan to enter college have received sample college application blanks from their English teachers. The "Rutgers University Application for Admission" form was used as a typical application blank. The English department's form contained the following introduction:

College Application

"Many of you have already made inquiries concerning the entrance requirements of colleges which you are interested in attending after graduation from high school. If you have not already made such inquiries, you should do so as promptly as possible."

"This spring or next fall at the latest you will be taking the next step to enter the college of your choice — making formal application for admission to the college. First impressions are extremely important and in this application the first impression is especially important. An application which has been neatly and accurately completed will make a good impression and thereby help you to gain admission to the college of your choice. Most colleges send you only one blank and if this one is bungled, it will spoil the first impression you make on the director of admissions."

"The filling in of information on the application for admission must be done neatly and accurately."

"Naturally, your counselor will assist you in making application, but if you have already bungled the job before seeing the counselor, there isn't much he can do to correct your errors. That is the reason why your English teacher is now giving you the opportunity to complete a sample application blank."

Adoption Of Rutgers Blank

"This blank is an adaptation of Part I of the Rutgers University Application for Admission, 1950. It is typical of the admission blanks used by many colleges and is presented here for that reason. This Part I is filled in by the student; Parts II and III are completed by the high school office. (Your teachers will show you copies of your 'Rating as to Ability and Scholarly Interest,' 'Statement as to Moral Character,' and 'Personal Characteristic.' Even though you do not plan to attend Rutgers, it will be worth your while to examine this Rutgers application blank carefully. A careful study of this blank may save you from bungling the job of preparing an application for college admission."

Students who plan to attend college have also received bulletins "Preparing for College," and "Scholarship Information" from the high school guidance department.
