So What?

Although it's not exactly fun, at least from an adult's point of view, the youngsters of the community are getting ahead of themselves. Halloween. For instance Joseph Paul of 380 Belleville Avenue told the Belleville Police on Sunday that someone entered his garden at the corner of Belleville Avenue and Garden Street and stole 24 pumpkins which he had been growing there.

Another complaint investigated by the police was that boys in Franklin Avenue, near Arthur Street, were throwing a dummy dressed in a man's clothing in front of cars proceeding along busy Franklin Avenue. Sergeant Lilore and Patrolman McEnery responded to the call but failed to find the dummy or the boys.

Stone throwing is not exactly a prank, but Sunday there were two complaints of stones breaking windows here. One was thrown through the second floor bedroom window of F. J. Churnetski of 72 Sanford Avenue. Later that day J. Schnaffe of Upper Montclair said a stone was thrown through the left rear window of his station wagon as his wife was driving it in Mill Street.

Civil Defense leaders would aid their cause by gathering up copies of last week's Collier's Magazine for distribution in Belleville homes. It was an unusual issue of a national magazine with its entire contents built around the theme story of "World War II" as written in the year 1960. All the stories in the issue are closely tied in with the theme story and even the cartoons are pitched along the same lines.

Speaking of magazines, we wonder how many noticed the sequence of advertisements on packages and bacon with maple syrup and coffee, which ran in four colors in the Saturday Evening Post this week. The ads were on succeeding right-hand pages, with similar illustrations, but with a different sponsor for each of the pages. It was a terrific advertising idea.

A sandlot football scrimmage among a group of teenage boys in the Branch Brook Park Extension on Sunday resulted in a broken ankle for Philip DeMeo, 14, of 90 Dow Street. Sandlot games and just fooling around are a great deal more dangerous to the participants than are the supervised high school play.

DEVELOPER PLANS 100 HOMES FOR GARDEN VILLAGE

One New Dwelling; Factory, Home Additions and Garages Comprise Week's Activities

Albert W. Neuscheler of Newark, owner of a tract of land between Passaic and Franklin Avenues, north of Joralemon Street has informed Building Inspector Thomas Greco that he intends to take out permits for 100 homes in a development known as Jefferson Village.

In the spring, 32 homes were built under the cooperation of Mr. Neuscheler and Joseph Zimmerer, but in the new development, Mr. Neuscheler will be on his own. The property involves about 12 acres. Each house will be 1½ stories high with four to six rooms. The six-room houses will have two baths.

One New Dwelling
There was only one dwelling permit issued this week by Building Inspector Greco and that went to Sam LaMara who will build a $14,500 house at 432 Franklin Avenue. Industrial alterations and garages made up the bulk of the other permits issued.

National Yeast Co., of 800 Mill Street, received a permit for a $5,500 addition to its plant. The

Teachers Assn. President Urges Bond Issue Support

Elizabeth Thompson Claims Bond Issue Will Not Require New Taxes

The Belleville Teachers Association, through its president Miss Elizabeth Thompson, strongly advocates the complete support of the $15,000,000 Bond Issue for the improvement and renovation of the New Jersey State Teachers Colleges. Since 95% of the teachers of New Jersey

CHURCHES JOIN IN REFORMATION DAY SERVICE AT WESLEY

Dr. Harry M. Taylor Of Calvary Methodist Church E. O. To Be Guest Speaker

Dr. Harry M. Taylor

The Churches of Belleville which have united in a Council to work together for their common Faith will celebrate Reformation Day with a mass meeting to be held at the Wesley Methodist Church on October 28th at 8 P. M. All Christian people of all Churches are cordially invited to attend.

The ministers of the co-operating churches will all take part. Rev. Fred G. Hubach will be in general charge as host pastor. Rev. Peter Deckenbach, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, will give the call to confession which has been taken from a service of worship used by John and Charles Wesley. Rev. T. P. Hanson, pastor of Bethany Lutheran Church, will give the prayer for pardon which has been taken from the same service.

The Scripture Lesson will be read by the Rev. James Morse, pastor of Fawcett Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Thomas Ellis, pastor of Grace Baptist Church, will offer the evening prayer. A Prayer of Dedication originally offered by Ulrich Zwingli in 1524 will be read by the Rev. Oliver Chapin, pastor of Montgomery Presbyterian Church. The Benediction will be offered by the Rev. H. E. Goldston, pastor of the Second Baptist Church. Special music will be sung by the choir of Bethany Lutheran Church. Beside choral responses to prayer, taken from the reformation period of church worship they will sing "Praise the Lord" by Randerger.

The guest speaker of the evening will be Dr. Harry Milton Taylor, pastor of Calvary Methodist Church in East Orange. Dr. Taylor until 1943 was associate professor of theology at Drew University. From that office he was called to the pulpit of Calvary Church and for the past eight years has been one of the foremost preachers in our country. The Belleville Council counts it a very high privilege to present him to the people of Belleville. Those who have heard him will want to hear him again. Those who have not heard him now have the opportunity of hearing one of the prophetic voices of our day.

Air Force Recruiting Officer At Town Hall

Master Sergeant A. M. Allen, recruiting for the Army Air Force, will be in the Council Chamber of the Town Hall on Mondays and Fridays from 9 to 12 a. m. until further notice. Volunteers who visit the Town Hall at other times can leave their names and addresses and he will make personal calls to their homes to provide all the information necessary to help young men make their decision as to branch of service. Aviation Cadets, according to recent rulings are taken only from the ranks of enlisted personnel and from membership in the Air Force Reserve. Young men who would become pilots should see Sergeant Allen immediately.

are graduates of the six teachers colleges, it is of vital importance to every parent in the state to support this bill. "The cost of the bond issue will be defrayed by the revenue from the present inheritance tax. No new taxes will be necessary," she says. "In order to insure a good education for your child, vote 'Yes,' so that the antiquated, over-crowded, and inadequate facilities for training teachers will be improved and further facilities be provided for the training of greater numbers of teachers in the coming decade."

Police Will Ticket Cars For All-Night Parking

Police Chief George R. Spatz announced today that police will enforce the state law which prohibits the parking of cars on public streets without parking lights. The enforcement will take place only between 2 a. m. and sunrise, and is designed to keep all-night parking of cars off the streets. It is particularly important at this time of the year when leaves must be gathered, and later when the snow plows must get around.

MAYOR SAYS NO TO PLEAS FOR SPECIAL RIGHTS

Knocks Out Ordinance On Christmas Tree Sales; Favors New Toy Store

Petitioners seeking special consideration of the Board of Commissioners to exclude others from Christmas business, were informed by Mayor Patrick A. Waters on Tuesday night that they had applied to the wrong place.

Several months ago a petition was received from 15 businessmen asking that an ordinance be drawn, setting a $25 license fee for selling Christmas trees, that further each licensee post a $50 bond to insure the cleaning up of the premises after Christmas, that the number of licenses be limited to 15 and that they be limited to residents of Belleville.

An ordinance drawn along these lines was offered for consideration by Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan, but when Mayor Waters voiced his objections to depriving men from an opportunity to earn money for presents for their children, and objecting to the creation of any kind of monopoly the ordinance was filed with the town attorney.

George Buchanan, who has operated a toy store on Washington Avenue for four years, objected to a license issued to Clara Entin for premises at 138 Washington Avenue, saying that she had rented the store for two months and would take the cream off his business.

Mayor Waters asked Mr. Buchanan where he lived. The answer was "Nutley." The mayor pointed out that Mr. and Mrs. Entin had purchased a $15,000 house in Belleville and were planning to spend $1,000 in altering the store. "That does not sound like fly-by-night merchandising to me," he declared. "We have no right to prohibit anyone from going into legitimate business."

OK's Parking Lot

One applicant represented by Attorney Paul Venadia was more successful. He sought the board's approval of a 100 by 100 foot parking lot at the Belleville-Newark line where the No. 7 trolley and the No. 82 bus line have their terminals. A driveway over property in Newark to No. 6th Street, now Franklin Avenue, will lead to the parking lot.

The town's responsibility for damages done to the oil burner and refrigeration equipment of the Hitching Post Tavern, by water which seeped into the cellar from a broken water main, was referred to the town attorney for study. The tavern suffered about $150 worth of damage, through no fault of its own. If the board has a legal or moral responsibility members are of the opinion that the tavern owners should be reimbursed.

WINE BOTTLE TOSS FROM TRUCK COSTS HARLEM MAN $103

Nearly Hit Motorcycle Cop; Six Other Motorists Pay $107 In Magistrate's Court

A careless helper on a steel truck was fined $103 by Magistrate Everett B. Smith, Wednesday night of last week on a charge of "throwing a substance from a vehicle." The man was Leabette Richmond of 505 West 164th Street, New York City, who was arrested by Patrolman Harry Teppe who narrowly missed by the "substance" in the form of a wine bottle. The truck was proceeding north on Franklin Avenue, followed by Patrolman Teppe on his motorcycle, when an ambulance came up behind them. Patrolman Teppe pulled up on the right of the truck to advise the occupants to pull it over to the side and let the ambulance pass, when whammo — out came the bottle, right past his nose, and shattered in the gutter.

Other Complaints
Fines amounting to another $107 were levied against six other

Hospital Players Will Entertain at GOP Rally

Harry F. Tice and his Belleville Hospital Players will make their debut under that title Monday night at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auditorium, at the rally of the Belleville Republican County Committee. Pictured above are left to right, rear: Rudolph P. Zoeller, Republican town chairman; Harry F. Tice, Jimmy Lee, Bob Kraft, Gaspar Siciliano and Buddy Rion; Front: Mrs. Ruth Fredericks, vice-chairman of the Republican County Committee; the Shoeshine girls—Donna Walsh, Pat Lay and in front Audrey Arnolds; Smokey Armen, Cy Carter, Gloria Miele, Alison Pitman and Florence E. Tice.

Operated Since 1942 As Essex County VFW Shows; All But One From Town

The Belleville Hospital Players, after operating for six years under the name of the Essex County VFW Shows, have taken a new name but will continue the same work of presenting shows at veterans' hospitals and other institutions for the ill, following their debut Monday night at the Belleville Republican County Committee rally in the Veterans of Foreign Wars auditorium in Belleville Avenue.

While many of the members of the hospital players group are or were professionals, their only reason for hospital appearances, are the smiles which light the faces of the patients.

The group was organized in 1942 to play before veterans of World War II in hospitals in this area. Most of the original group is still intact, and all but one of them are from Belleville.

The acts include Mr. and Mrs. Tice as "Zeke and Elvira," refined rural comedy, as they played it in vaudeville and before the microphones of radio station WJZ when it was the first station in the east more than 20 years ago. Another

Harry Sullivan Association Will Hold Democratic Rally

The Harry J. Sullivan Association will stage a rally at the Veterans Hall, in Belleville Avenue, Tuesday night, when a number of Democratic candidates for public office will be presented. There will be refreshments and entertainment. The public is invited. Ralph Vara, Democratic town chairman, will preside.

Elks Give Radio to Blinded Korean War Hero

The male members of Heimrich family of 10 Fairview Place, are very much in evidence in this picture snapped at the Belleville Elks Club, Monday night, when Paul Brennan, past exalted ruler, presented Edward Heimrich, blinded Korean war veteran with a portable radio. Left to right, in the front row, are: Mr. Brennan, Harry Heimrich, Sr., Edward Heimrich and Walter Heimrich. The radio was furnished at less than cost by the Acme Appliance Co. A bouquet for Mrs. Heimrich was also presented to Ed. The occasion was the official visitation of District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler Bill Evans of Madison and Joseph Bigano of Montclair, vice-president of the State Association.

Will Negotiate For Four Lots at Site Of Proposed School

Owners Seek Court Order to Force Building Inspector to Issue a House Permit; Need 5.8 Acres for School Site

The Belleville Board of Education at a conference following the regular meeting at School No. 8 on Monday night, instructed its attorney, Max N. Schwartz, to negotiate for the purchase of the initial tract of land at the site of a new school, which was proposed more than a year ago in the Columbia University Survey. The four lots measuring 201 feet by 150 feet are only a small part of the 5.8-acre section required for the new building, but are the only lots upon which there are no buildings.

Community Chest Off To Good Start — Glover

William H. Glover Jr., campaign chairman for the 1952 Community Chest Campaign, announced that to date the returns in the Community Chest Drive were encouraging. Several increases, one of 100 per cent over last year, have been reported in the Industrial division, and in Advance, Gifts, Purveyors, Churches and Civic Organizations. "It looks as though we may anticipate a successful campaign," said Glover, "since people are making a strong effort to support this year's bigger Red Feather."

Halloween Windows Will Be Judged by Artists Sunday

Afternoon Party For 4 To 9 Year Olds; Pumpkin Parade For 10-18 Year Youths

The committee headed by F. Douglas Wadsworth, preparing for the Halloween celebration for 3,000 Belleville children on October 31, announced this week that windows in the window painting contest will be judged on Sunday by a committee composed of P. W. Diehl of the Art Department of Belleville High School, Robert Valentine, portrait painter; Phyllis Wall, costume designer; Betty Schumtz, art teacher, and Charles Weber, an executive in an advertising agency.

The contestants are asked to have their paintings finished on Saturday. The announcement of the winners will be made at the evening party on October 13. Identical prizes of $50 in defense bonds for first; $25 in defense bonds for second and $10 in defense stamps for third will be awarded in both the high school and the elementary school division.

PLEADS GUILTY TO EMBEZZLEMENT OF NEWARK BANK

Douglas V. Kirk Had Been In Charge Of Small Loans, Used Money On Sick Wife

Douglas V. Kirk, 44, of 127 Heckel Street, Belleville, accused in January of embezzlement of $9,141.96 from the Union National Bank of Newark, pleaded guilty to the charge Monday before Federal Judge Meaney. Kirk was assistant cashier at the bank when the money was taken, between March 10, 1949, and December 27, 1950.

Kirk was represented by James L. McKenna. Bail of $2,500 was continued until he is sentenced on a date to be fixed.

Paid Medical Bills

When arrested last January, Kirk confessed the embezzlement to newspaper reporters, explaining that he used the money to pay for medical and hospital bills for his wife. He said Mrs. Kirk had been crippled with arthritis. The Kirks have six children.

Kirk was dismissed by the bank, where he had charge of granting small loans. S. K. McKee, Newark FBI chief, said that Kirk had covered the embezzlement by entering false loans on the bank's books. After his dismissal Kirk got a job as a car washer in a Newark parking lot.

Ghosts Out of Past Stalk Sargeant One Week Early

Communication From Iowa To Rythmodik Music Corp. Directed To Ex-Employee

Ghosts out of the past stalked the desk of Town Treasurer Russell Sargeant, one week early, yesterday, when he came across a letter addressed to the Rythmodik Music Corporation. The Rythmodik Music Corporation occupied one of the buildings now part of the Wallace & Tiernan group in Mill Street, 30 or more years ago and Mr. Sargeant worked at the plant.

Another former employee is with the post office department and is a sorter in mail cars. Working on a New York to Pittsburgh train recently, the sorter came across a letter from Sigourney, Iowa, addressed to Rythmodik Music Company. He knew that the firm had been out of business for years, but also remembered that Mr. Sargeant was still around. Thus the mail reached the town treasurer. "Can you please send me the latest price list and catalogue of your player-piano rolls" was the gist of the communication.

Younger-Alden Post Plans Social Evening

The Younger-Alden Jr. VFW Post 275 will throw one of its buck-fifty nights Saturday at its home, 17 Belleville Avenue. There will be dancing, community singing and refreshments, all for one admission price.

School Board Proposes Shawger Branch Library

Plan New Boiler Room For School No. 3; Substitutes Named; Other Business

The utilization of the library at the James G. Shawger School as a branch of the Belleville Free Public Library is a service to the adults of the Silver Lake section, was recommended by the building and grounds committee of the Board of Education on Monday night. As a result, Superintendent Evan H. Thomas was designated by the board to confer with the trustees of the library to work out plans for the joint operation of such a project. Fundamentally the Board of Education would furnish the place, the light and heat and the library a librarian and additional books.

Plans New Boiler Room
A resolution offered by Charles Yocum provided for the retention of the firm of Runyon and Carey to prepare plans and specifications for a new boiler room at School No. 3, where complaints of a cold classroom above the boiler room are an annual occurrence.

The purchase of a Ford truck to replace a 1938 vehicle, at $1,823.60 was authorized by resolution. Another resolution granted the Police Athletic League the use of the old gymnasium in the High School for basketball on Tuesday evenings starting the first week in December for the balance of the school year.

Teacher Changes
Miss Dorothy Huber was appointed a teacher for the second grade at School No. 3 for the balance of the school year to fill in for the leave of absence period granted to Mrs. Shirley Blank. Mrs. Viola Pointer was named substitute for librarian, Mrs. Helen Lauer of the High School, who starts a leave of absence on November 1.

Mrs. Esther Baldwin of 180 Malone Avenue was appointed part time clerk at School No. 9, to replace Mrs. Helen Diehl, who resigned as of October 4.

Upon the recommendation of Mr. Thomas the board voted to pay substitutes $10 per day, starting November 1, instead of the present $8 scale.

Instrumental Classes
Action on making Saturday morning instrumental music classes a part of the regular curriculum, was tabled while Max N. Schwartz, board attorney gives an opinion on the board's liability in the event someone is hurt attending classes for which they pay a small fee. Mr. Thomas was also instructed to determine the annual cost of these musical classes so the board can study the advisability of paying the entire cost and making the lessons free for the children. Samuel Peck is director of the courses offered.

Mr. McCann filed with the secretary of the district clerk a number of typewritten statements, reiterating his charges of incompetency in the office of the district clerk and asked that they be made a part of the minutes of the meeting. While no objections were raised at the time, several board members later stated that they objected to the inclusion of such statements and might ask for a special meeting to vote to exclude them.

Promotions Bring New Phone Manager To Town

Louis J. Logan, manager of the Belleville office of the N. J. Bell Telephone Company, received word yesterday that he has been promoted to a position in the general commercial engineering staff office at 540 Broad Street, Newark. C. R. Horsefield, assistant manager in the special accounts office, will succeed Mr. Logan as the local manager.

FAMILY SERVICE HAS PANEL FORUM AT GREYLOCK PTA

Work Of Agency Board and Staff Explained; One Community Chest Agency

The members of the Board of Trustees and staff of Family Service discussed the work of the agency at Greylock PTA Monday night.

Lester A. Skinner, Board President stated the purpose of the agency is to promote family and social well-being by offering skilled case work service, giving support to community projects for social betterment and serving as a medium for the advancement of all phases of family social work. The responsibility of the Board of Trustees is to formulate the policies under which the work of the agency is conducted.

Miss Marie Gunn, executive secretary, stated that family case work is a preventive measure in developing a stronger community by having healthier family living. She stressed that the services of the agency are available to any Belleville resident and urged people to seek help with their personal problems before they become too complicated. Miss Gunn said that a recent survey of unmet resources in the community indicated that a day nursery and homemaker service to be the most important needs. She hoped some positive action would soon be taken about these.

Cites Examples
Salvatore Ambrosino, case worker, described the case work process and offered examples of services given by the agency in regard to problems of adolescence, marital difficulties and the unmarried mother.

The panel was chaired by Nicholas Colaninno, past President of both organizations. He explained that Family Service, a member agency of the Belleville Community Chest, is entirely dependent on the Chest for its support and urged all residents to cooperate in the coming Chest Drive so that the agency can continue its vital work in Belleville.

State Rabies Law Out, Town's Still In Effect

Notice has been received by the Belleville Board of Health that the state rabies quarantine of dogs imposed on April 8, 1946 will be lifted as of November 1. However, this does not mean that dogs can be allowed to run at large in the town. An ordinance adopted in 1939 prohibits dogs from the streets of Belleville unless muzzled or securely controlled by an adequate leash. The ordinance provides for a penalty of $20 for conviction on charges of violation of the ordinance. A subsequent ordinance provides for dogs found running at large to be picked up by the dog warden.

Silver Dollars In Change Are Chest Drive Reminder

In an effort to get citizens to give more generously to the Community Chest house-to-house campaign, many Washington Avenue merchants will give silver dollars as change next week. Each coin will be wrapped and it will be suggested that this dollar be added to the regular contribution to the Community Chest.

BLOOMER SETS NOV. 5 DEADLINE FOR STUDENTS

Forms Must Be Filled By That Date For December 13 Qualification Tests

Nutley college students were reminded yesterday by Colonel E. N. Bloomer, New Jersey Director of Selective Service, that a deadline for filing application blanks for the new series of Selective Service College Qualification Tests has been set for November 5 and he stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test if they intend to apply for deferment as students.

Test Dates Set
The test dates in the second series are December 13, 1951, and April 24, 1952. The tests are conducted by the Educational Testing Service of Princeton. Blanks may be obtained by a Nutley registrant from the office of Local Board 15 in Newark. Colonel Bloomer said that students whose academic year will end in January, 1952, are urged to apply for the December 13 test; so they will have scores in their files when the local boards consider their cases in January.

One in Three Failed
Colonel Bloomer indicated that those who do not have test score results in their cover sheets may have "a very difficult time indeed" in convincing their local boards that they should be deferred as students. A total of 339,000 students took the first series of tests given last spring and summer. Colonel Bloomer said, and 63 per cent received scores of 70 or better.

Application blanks for the December 13 test must be postmarked not later than midnight, Monday, November 5. Applications for the April 24, 1952, test must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 10, 1952.

The criteria for deferment as a student is either a satisfactory score (70) on the Selective Service College Qualification Test or satisfactory rank in class (upper half of the freshman class, upper two-thirds of the sophomore class, upper three-fourths of the junior class). Seniors accepted for admission to a graduate school satisfy the criteria if they stand in the upper half of their classes, or make a score of 75 or better on the test. Students already enrolled in graduate schools may be deferred so long as they remain in good standing.

Twenty-one testing centers have been designated in New Jersey of which the closest to Nutley are the following: East Orange, Upsala College; Newark, Newark College of Engineering, New Jersey State Teachers College and Newark branch of Rutgers University; New Brunswick, Rutgers University; Paterson, State Teachers College; Princeton University; Rutherford, Fairleigh Dickinson College; South Orange, Seton Hall University, and Montclair, State Teachers College.

Essex VFW to Have Dance

Says Police Will Join Union If Defeated In Referendum

Delegate Declares That Union Is Already Raising Ranks Of Police Association

Members of Belleville Local No. 28, Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, said today that the November 6 referendum on police pay increase of $390 will largely determine whether New Jersey law enforcement officers become members of a union. New Jersey's new constitution permits unionization of police and a new union of state, county and municipal workers is attempting to raid the ranks of P.B.A. through the state, according to Bernard J. Tinsdale, State delegate of Local 28.

Delegate Bernard J. Tinsdale said the P.B.A. is opposing the union organization move, which he described as "quillism," but admits the threat is genuine because in most communities policemen are unable to live adequately under salaries and working conditions which have not kept pace with living costs.

The Patrolmen's Benevolent Association is a fraternal group which seeks to promote police welfare through appeals to the intelligence of fellow citizens. He pointed out, "But if the public doesn't back the P.B.A. in its moves to increase the standards of public safety, I'm afraid many policemen are going to feel that joining a union is the only alternative," he declared.

"There is another alternative," he added, "and this is causing concern throughout New Jersey. Hundreds of skilled, veteran policemen, finding they can't cope with living costs, have resigned to take employment in private business. And industry, 'A' yes vote on the referendum," the delegate says, "can be interpreted to mean the citizens here don't want their police in a union."

Josephine Gerino Becomes Bride Of Albert J. Nadzan

Local Couple On Wedding Trip To Virginia Following Ceremony In Holy Family Church

C. D. of A. Group Plans Bridge

At a recent meeting, members of the Catholic Daughters of America State Court completed plans for their annual dessert bridge and fashion show, to be held Saturday, November 17, at 1:30 p. m. in the Essex House, Newark. Miss Florence V. Gorman, state monitor, was named general chairman.

Miss Josephine Ann Gerino, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gerino of 101 Liberty Avenue, became the bride Saturday of Albert John Nadzan, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Nadzan of Ralph Street. Rev. Anthony Benti performed the ceremony in Holy Family Church, Nutley. A reception followed in the Flagship, Union.

Miss Dorothy Gerino was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were the Misses Mary Sanfilippo of Bloomfield, cousin of the bride; Ann Carbone of Nutley and Joan Marzessa of Belleville. Peter Spera of Belleville, the bride's brother-in-law, served as best man. George Testa of Orange, Andrew Nadzan of Union, cousin of the bridegroom, and Daniel Spera of Belleville, ushered.

A blush colored nylon tulle gown was worn by the bride. The fitted bodice was styled with long sleeves, an illusion neckline and a shirred tulle and lace bertha trimmed with iridescent embroidery. The bouffant skirt had a court train. Her French illusion fingertip veil fell from a sequin trimmed lace cap. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums and baby mums, with ribbon streamers.

The honor attendant was attired in a bengaline gown of deep rose with a full skirt, strapless bodice and matching capelet. She carried pink chrysanthemums and baby mums and wore a matching headpiece. The bridesmaids wore similar ensembles in yellow with yellow mum headpieces and bouquets.

After their return from a two-week motor trip to Virginia, the couple will reside at 128 William Street. The bride is employed by RCA in Harrison. Mr. Nadzan is with Turco Products, Newark.

WITHHOLDING TAX
TO BE INCREASED
STARTING NOV. 1

Collector John Manning Issues Order To Employers To Apply New Law

Belleville employers were instructed yesterday by John E. Manning, Collector of Internal Revenue at Newark, to withhold income tax from wages paid on and after November 1, at the higher rates provided by the Revenue Act of 1951, voted last week by Congress.

Circulate New Tables

Revised withholding tax rate tables for employers are already being printed in Washington and Manning stated that the pamphlets containing the revised tables will be mailed to all employers on his list within a few days. Employers who do not receive the pamphlet may obtain copies at the collector's office.

Manning said that employers are expected to make "every reasonable effort" to comply with the provisions respecting the new tables. In view of the short time lapsing between the enactment of the law and the first payroll period affected, many employers may not be able to adjust the new rates on the first pay day affected.
While no adjustments will be made in the audit of the withholding returns in such cases, he made it clear that this does not in any manner affect the responsibility of employers to meet their full tax liability as required by law when making their returns for the year 1951.

Manning also called attention to the fact that the new law relieves individuals from penalties for failure to comply with the requirements relative to declarations of estimated tax for 1951 due to the increased rates in the act. Revised estimates will not be required on account of the rate increase, although the higher rate for 1951 provided in the law will have to be paid when taxpayers file their income tax returns for the year.

OPS Lifts Ceiling Control
Over Christmas Trees Here

There will be an open market in Christmas trees this year.

The Office of Price Stabilization in Newark amended the general ceiling price regulation, specifically exempting Christmas trees from price control, according to Thomas J. McGarry, Deputy Director of the Newark district.

The GPCR exempts "cut greens
when used for decorative purposes" from price control, but to clarify this language, the amendment was issued inserting the words "Christmas trees" among the items specifically exempt.

In issuing the exemption, OPS noted that Christmas trees have certain characteristics which make the application of ceiling prices practical at base period levels inequitable or impractical.

Butchers Given Freedom
To Sell Pre-Ground Beef

Nutley butchers heard Everett Sauter, chief of the food division of the Newark district Office of Price Stabilization, explain a new beef "relaxing" regulation in Newark this week.

Sauter pointed out that the regulation fixes prices for beef cuts and by-products and allows several trade practices which previously were prohibited. The specific changes allow the pre-cubing of all grades of beef and the display of two types of chopped meat. The new rules also eliminate the necessity for the butcher having to grind lean beef in the presence of the customer, and provide for a separate set of prices for prime grade beef. The previous regulation provided for none of these practices.

Sauter pointed out that the new

She also took courses in stock

After her marriage to the Ital-regulation was to the butchers' advantage in that it permits quicker service to the public and allows the display and sale of ad-

which were previously not pro-

Weeds

Though cattle grazed this pasture summer-long, After fall rains the grass is bright again, And stark against the turf a scarecrow leans— Ready to ripen nests of tawny grains. A rusty sour-dock shaking brown seeds down. Blackened thistles along the wall set free Squadrans of white silk sails—seed ballasted. Fat milkweed pods with seeds in silver floss Split in the hot fall sun. Here by the fence Waving white parasols, wild carrot stands— Ready to ripen nests of tawny grains. Most plants seek perpetuity by sowing seeds— Triumphantly successful are the weeds.

Mary Billings

Six Years of the U.N.

Six years ago, yesterday, the United Nations was born.

With its birth, while the thunder of battle still roared over the world, a war-weary humanity gave birth, too, to a new hope for lasting peace.

I had witnessed the birth of the League of Nations at Versailles and its death from inaction and moral stagnation at Geneva, and at San Francisco I watched the birth pains of the United Nations. The parallel was patent. The UN like the defunct League was dependent, wholly, upon the good will of men, even though a clause had been written into the San Francisco charter providing for the creation of an international armed force to be at the service of the Security Council to enforce peace.

Like the League of Nations, the United Nations ran athwart of the jealous ambitions of a dictator whose aggressive designs outweighed his true desire for a world at peace. Hitler and Mussolini between them massacred the League of Nations, with assistance from Stalin who was ejected from the Geneva body for his attack on Finland and from the Emperor of Japan who was ejected for his war-making in China.

None can deny that the world has found no peace. None can deny that the United Nations has failed to achieve its fundamental purpose of keeping the peace of the world by the force, not only of world opinion but of world power. But none can deny either that the United Nations has been kept alive despite the bluster and blunder of the Gromykos, the stalling and strategy of the Kremlin. It has survived a dozen wars in six years. It has kept alive the hope of all decent humans that eventually right will win out over might.

Regardless of its short-comings, the U.N. is, today, our only hope for peace. So long as 50 nations, which want peace, as we do, continue to make the U.N. an instrument of their foreign policy, then there is hope. God help this world the day the U.N. dies, for then there will be no common meeting ground with the aggressors, no restraint on aggression, no recourse but war. R.E.H.

Plebiscites To Examine

On the voting machines, in the November 6 general elections, there will be two plebiscites which are particularly worthy of examination before you enter the voting booth. One is a State Teachers' Colleges bond referendum, in the amount of $15,000,000 to be amortized without any new form of taxes. The other, the Essex County Parks referendum, merely makes operative in Essex County Chapter 191, P.L. 1951, increasing the ceiling of monies to be assigned annually by the Board of Chosen Freeholders for the upkeep and policing of county parks from three-fourths of one mill on the dollar to one mill.

Since neither plebiscite involves any widening of the tax base, they come within the category of necessity. The law governing the ceiling on park appropriations was set in 1904 at three-quarters of a mill. In 47 years, that ceiling was untouched and the Essex County Park system was a model for the nation, but in the past several years rising costs have pinched the park administration. There would be an alternative: to spend less on the upkeep of our parks and on their policing but as our towns grow crowded and empty acres are swiftly covered with housing developments, we need more than ever our parks and playgrounds. The cost to you will be one-quarter of a mill per dollar of your assessed valuation, and a whole mill is one-twentieth of a cent.

There are six State teachers colleges, in Montclair, Newark, Paterson, Trenton, Jersey City and Glassboro. We are dependent upon them for most of the teachers recruited for our public schools. They are overcrowded but even their full production of teachers falls short of our needs by nearly fifteen per cent. If our schools are to keep their present standard, teachers are needed and if we are to have teachers we must provide the teachers' colleges with more and improved buildings. The entire appropriation received by the six colleges now goes into their administration. Unless the $15,000,000 15-year bond issue is approved, there will be no new buildings, no end to the congestion—and, alas, no teachers to fill that 12 per cent gap.

A Socialist State Goes Bankrupt

The British electorate today goes to the polls to condemn or to consecrate the bankruptcy of State Socialism.

Apart from the brilliant battle which 74-year-old Winston Churchill has waged for a return to power, the British election was dominated by a catastrophic balance sheet. In the last hours of the campaign, the British Government was obliged to publish its periodic report on its trade balance. The report revealed that not only did Britain have a net deficit of $204,800,000 in its September trade with nations of the European Payments Union, but throughout the whole dollar area Britain had a trade deficit of $638,000,000 in the first three quarters of 1951. That presupposes a trade deficit for the year of one billion dollars.

The bankruptcy of the British Socialist state is evident from its own balance sheet. The Attlee government has had full opportunity to prove the viability of its planned economy for a Socialist state and it has failed. The issue is clear to an unbiased world, but when the votes are counted it will be evident whether, once again, the hard core of 12,000,000 British Labour voters have gone to the polls to register an opinion based on realism or whether class dogma will blind them to the disastrous evidence of failure.

A Conservative victory which returns Churchill will not solve the dilemma alone. Britain, to survive the third great economic crisis since the end of World War II, must punish herself with even greater restraints. Public confidence may help to curb the drain of trade dollars, but it will take other curbs of a wartime severity to turn such a deficit into a balance.

A Labour victory which returns Prime Minister Attlee can only prolong the agony. To correct the billion dollar deficit would require Parliamentary action which the Attlee government has not been able to recruit in recent months. To correct it, too, would require scuttling many Socialistic principles. If Attlee wins, it is safe to predict another British General Election before Spring.

Time For Action

The predicament of the Belleville Board of Education in connection with the only vacant property on the site proposed for a new high school, as recommended by the Columbia University Survey last year, highlights the necessity for some real action instead of procrastination. The Board should decide immediately whether or not it is going to build there, and if that action is favorable, efforts to acquire all of the land should be made.

In today's spiraling real estate market an offer made today may be unfavorable tomorrow. Money will be saved for the taxpayers by action. If property is to be bought—buy it! If there is a better site—buy that!

The smallest portion of the proposed 5.8 acre plot is involved in the lawsuit for a writ of mandamus to compel the Building Inspector to issue permits for dwellings on four lots on Division Avenue. They join the present playground of School No. 7, and even if never built on will be no waste of taxpayers' money at $6,500.

Investigation shows that in this instance the Board did not take positive action but left the property owner's offer of $6,400 dangling in thin air. Investigation also shows that less than 15 months ago the town disposed of its last large tract of land to the Ke-Dee Associates of Passaic, who have erected dwellings on about 3.5 acres fronting on Princeton and Yale Terrace, and adjoining the proposed school site. This property, then owned by the town, could have been had by the Board of Education for the asking.

A decision as to whether the new building will eventually be a Senior or Junior High School is not the important one now. Members of the Board seem to be in agreement that a 6-3-3 system should be put into effect as soon as possible. The building itself may be two or three years in the future.

The time for action is now, not at the next regular meeting of the board or the one thereafter.

ONE MAN'S OPINION...

Egypt's Attempt To Grab Suez Canal and Sudan Is Merely Another Move in Pan-Islam's Holy War To Drive British From Middle-East

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

There is a Suez of Kipling's romantic stories, a sort of hyphen between the East and the West, where burnoused Arabs in their coffee houses look out on Tommies in shorts and where, twice a day, long files of ships race east or west at a signal hoisted on the Canal Company's tower in the one-way traffic which the ditch allows. And there is another Suez, the lifeline of Democracy, not merely British but our own Democracy and that of Australia and New Zealand and all the other free peoples East of Suez.

Alas, in an era of rampant Pan-Islamic nationalism, the 104-mile canal used by a thousand ships every month is merely the shortest distance between two points, but it is a political symbol. Islam is determined to shake off its British shackles, after more than a century of subservience to an empire wholly foreign in its concepts. The disintegration of the British Empire, begun by the grant of independence to India, speeded up by the nationalization of Iranian oil is now receiving an impetus in Iraq where an Islamic land is seeking to recover military bases granted to the British and in Egypt where Pan-Islam has broken with Britain and the West, rejecting a role in the common defense against Communism, and seeking to grab the canal and the Sudan.

Suez being the lifeline of the West, the defense of the Middle East becomes increasingly difficult as this compound of Islamic nationalism and religious hatred of Christianity dictate a policy in Cairo, as in Tehran and in Baghdad, which are not based on today's political realism but on the fetiches of a religious crusade of the Middle Ages. The Islamic world is engaged today in its Crusades, just as the Christian West sought to free the Holy Land from the Infidels eight centuries ago. The difference is that this time the world is menaced by an atheist force which would destroy both Islam and Christianity and which alone would benefit from the unrest that this spurt of Islamic fervor can generate.

Trip Through Canal

I passed through the Suez Canal in 1936 aboard a French Messageries Maritimes liner on my way to Djibouti to cover the fighting in Ethiopia as a war correspondent with the Negus' armies in Addis Abeba. Unlike the Panama Canal, with its series of locks and dams, the Suez Canal is a sea-level trace, more like an oversize irrigation ditch than a canal and its route through the scorched and barren sands of the Arabian desert would seem to bear out that comparison. Back 15 years ago, Britain feared Italian imperialist expansion in East Africa, next door to Britain's own colonial grab of Somaliland. The League of Nations in Geneva, after long debate, had declared Italy an aggressor and had ordered oil sanctions against the Duce of Rome. It would have been the easiest thing in the world to have closed the canal to Italian shipping. Without the lifeline to Rome open, the Italian armies in Erytrea and Ethiopia would have been starved into submission. There would have been a logical excuse for shutting down on Italian transports—the League's verdict.

Credit for Mussolini

Britain made no effort, however, to close the canal. Instead, Italian transports loaded to the rails with tanks and troops were allowed through the canal after each one paid its transit fee of about $8,000, calculated on gross tonnage and on the number of "passengers." When Italy ran short of ready cash to pay the tolls, Britain even allowed the Duce to write it "on the cuff."

I realized at that time that some day the canal might be used against Britain. I must admit that I did not expect the action to come from the Egyptians. Rather, I feared that when they had found their full strength, Mussolini and Hitler would drive down through the Balkans and Turkey, across the Levantine lands, to the canal. By checking the British lifeline, they could force British shipping to take the 12,133-mile route via Capetown to Bombay instead of the canal route's 7,004-mile haul.

Later, when Rommel, the "desert fox," took his Afrika Korps to Tripolitania and headed east, driving almost to the suburbs of Cairo, I was sure that the canal was Hitler's goal. Possession of the canal would have cut off troop transport as well as vital supplies of oil, and Britain would have found the going much harder.

Reason for Treaty

From time to time, during World War II, Italian and German planes made the long flight to Suez and Port Said and did interrupt shipping spasmodically by direct hits on the canal. It was from experience during the Italian affair in Ethiopia that Britain negotiated in 1936 a new agreement with Egypt for the canal's protection. That treaty was for 20 years, and his five years to run.

Under the Anglo-Egyptian treaty, Britain withdrew her troops from the Nile valley and was charged with the defense of the canal itself. Egypt agreed that to protect the canal, Britain could maintain there 10,000 troops, 400 airmen and the necessary airfields, naval bases and land installations, including a British training area extending about 40 miles west of the canal towards Cairo.

Under that 1936 agreement, Britain alone is holding the canal. Troops are being rushed in by air and by sea to reinforce the established positions. Egypt has a very poor army, a very poor air force and almost no naval establishment to back up its rampant Islamic nationalism. Egypt is incapable of driving the British out of the canal zone by force.

It Could Happen to Us

Examine, for an instant, a possible parallel. We built the Panama Canal on land which we still rent from the Republic of Panama for $430,000 a year—on top of a down payment of $10,000,000. The cities of Panama and Colon are in our Canal Zone but remain the possessions of the Republic of Panama. It is vital that we keep the Panama Canal open so that our fleets may move in the two oceans. What would be our reaction if, some day, the Republic of Panama would denounce the 1904 treaty by unilateral action and order us out of the Canal Zone?

There is not much danger to the canal itself in this new impasse between Britain and one of her angry Islamic ex-subjects. As long as Russia or some other major power does not arm Egypt, the Egyptians cannot penetrate the British military positions to reach the canal and any "fifth column" sabotage could be only incidental.

The West, and that means France and ourselves, charged Britain with maintaining the defense of the Suez Canal. That is part of Britain's meagre contribution to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military setup. Britain, therefore, must resist any Egyptian attacks on the canal.

It is there that the danger lies. The whole of the Middle East is in ferment. The Arab states resent the partition of the Holy Land and the creation of the protected Republic of Israel. Happily, however, there is no concerted Arab front.

Murder as Strategy

Syria, in the north, aspires to grab a part of Palestine for herself. Trans-Jordan long ago might have struck a bargain with Israel had King Abdullah not been murdered last spring. Without hesitation, Abdullah was prepared to bargain with Tel Aviv for the vast Gaza area when, under the partition plan, went to Egypt. If Israel had agreed, he would have taken it from Egypt and would have spread his empire down to the canal zone. His murder, as we suspected at the time, was definitely linked up with his ambitions and was Islamic in origin. Political murder is, alas, a convenient Islamic tool and since March, until the assassination of Pakistan's Prime Minister, Liaquat Ali Khan, by an Afghan tribesman last week, there had been three such murders—Iranian Premier Ali Razmara's murder on March 7, former Lebanese Premier Riad es-Solh murdered in Beirut on July 16, King Abdullah of Jordan murdered on July 20.

In an Islam in ferment, murder is symbolic. Paying absolutely no heed of the Communist menace to the north, Islam is prepared to destroy itself if need be in this Holy War, a moslem mysticism which is based on nothing political or economic but on religious fanaticism which is more in keeping with the Middle Ages than with the mid-20th Century.

Meet Frank Csaszar

If you have been following our sports page you have read of how Frank Csaszar, freshman member of the Belleville High School soccer team had scored four of Belleville's six goals in its first three games of the season. If so you might like to know a little more about a future star of minor sports at Belleville High, who will go far in at least two fields against school competition.

Frank Csaszar, is junior, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Csaszar, originally from Budapest, Hungary, where Mr. Csaszar was proprietor of a hotel. Then came the Russians into Hungary, and rather than live under their rule the Csaszars moved on to the Western Zone of Germany, where they joined other political exiles in a long wait to get to another land.

Young Frank had played some soccer as a seven year old youth in Hungary, but in the next five years, played very little, but that was in fast company, for soccer is everyone's game in Europe. He also played a game which resembled soccer but which was played with a large ball and batted around by hand instead of by feet. While it was called handball, it was not of the American variety where a small rubber ball is banged against a wall. Many of the techniques of soccer are involved in the European hand-ball game.

But Frank really excelled in tennis and in ping-pong (politely referred to as table-tennis). In tennis at the age of eleven years he was playing as a regular member of a men's tennis team in Essen. In 1949 as a 12 year old he won the junior championship of the State of Essen and advanced to the play for the championship of Western Germany, where he was runnerup in the 12 to 16 year junior division.

While Frank is the smallest, lightest and youngest member of the soccer team, Ray Smith, coach of Belleville's tennis team will have no objections to him coming out for that sport in the spring. Frank's ambition is to make the Belleville High varsity football team but his parents frown on his participation. Perhaps he can be coached into making those extra points and as a specialist won't run too much risk of being hurt in body contact.

Just to bring things up to date, the Csaszar family arrived in the United States in December of 1949 and with an affidavit that they had relatives in the person of Mrs. Ida Heider of 19 Essex Street, Belleville, were admitted. Mr. Csaszar is now managing an Hungarian Eating Club in New York City.

Frank entered School No. 3 in February, 1950, in the seventh grade. Last fall he was advanced to the eighth grade and this year is a freshman at the high school. Last fall he played soccer with the Belleville PAL team but his coach, Mr. Hughes, knew he could compete in better company so arranged for him to play with the Harrison Gardens in a stronger league. He is a center forward. He is 14 years old, five feet six inches tall and weighs about 132 pounds. This past summer he won the ping-pong championship on the local playgrounds, but says he had on real opposition.

What a Picker!
We were practically alone last week when we picked the Belleville High gridders to triumph over Irvington, by at least one touchdown. Irvington was one of the toughest teams the Bellboys were called upon to play this year, and they rose to the occasion. Had they played this kind of ball all season their record would be impressive.

This week when the boys go to Hillside they are apt to take the Comets too lightly, because Red Weiner's forces have a 2 and 3 record. But there is no game easier to lose than an "easy one." The Bellboys know that they can win, yes they can duplicate last year's achievement and win the rest. But they must play ball every week. They have to get ready for Hillside this week, just as if that was the only game left on the schedule. On Monday they can start thinking ahead to Kearny, the following Monday to Passaic and the next week to Orange.

Last week Coach Eddie Berlinski got a ribbing from his friends as a result of an incident in practice. Mr. B. tells the boys that in 20 years of football he has never been caught from behind. In practice last week he was demonstrating to his backs how to get around an end. As he approached the line of scrimmage he reached behind to bring a blocker in front of him. At that moment a jayvee tackle hit him from behind, but hard. Mr. B's reaction was, "What's Jitty trying to do?" But it wasn't Jitty and the coach will now have to change his tune to "Only once in 20 years."

Ronnie Thompson, who scored one of the touchdowns against Irvington on Saturday, took a ribbing early in the season when his teammates sang "All I Want For Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth." He lost them in the Bloomfield game. Finders need not return them, for Ronnie has made other arrangements.

Coach Jitty Wische started basketball practice on a "when I have time" basis last week, but the real thing begins next week when practice sessions will be held every night. After long and patient hours, Jitty expects that he will have at least seven men ready for the opening game in December. And we betide any seniors who fails to make the first five. Coach Wische, a perfectionist, cannot put the time and effort into anyone who may not play.

He tells us that he looks to the boys who are on the present freshman team to form his next great team. This is a good break for the frosh, for it means that they will get the coach's personal attention in special practice sessions, which ordinarily does not come the way of underclassmen.

Pre-Olympic bike trials for New Jersey were held at the Wall Stadium in Belmar on Sunday but Belleville riders were not among the winners. John Hanst of West Orange, state champ, took first in the 1,000 meter match race with Homer Johnson of Orange. The time was 2 minutes and 27 seconds. In the 1,000 meter race against the clock Homer Johnson had the best time with one minute, 18 seconds. Jack Bronal of Bloomfield finished second, six seconds slower.

Good Blocking Paves Way for Cafone

A new photographer was on the football field when Belleville High beat Irvington 12 to 6 on Saturday in the person of John Kondreck, Jr., who snapped this picture of Rocco Cafone dashing off for a gain behind the splendid blocking of Ronold Worthington, who is laying it into one of the Camptown linemen. Cafone, sophomore signal shouter of the Bellboy team, is starting to clock and should be a very good ground gainer by the end of the season.

Bellboys Register Impressive Victory Over Camptowners

Sustained Drives Produce Two TD's; Passes Just Miss Two More; Hillside Next Opponent

By AL OUTCALT
Belleville High School played its best game of the season at Municipal Stadium last Saturday and defeated a stubborn Irvington eleven by a 12 to 6 score. Coach Ed Berlinski's charges proved themselves capable of better football than their present record indicates; two victories, two losses and a tie.

The Bellboys, although they maintained their fumbling average with two gifts of the pigskin to the Camptowners, displayed some sustained drives, a rarity for the Blue and Gold this year. Two Belleville passes were dropped in the clear which would have meant at least a 24-6 score, but the visitors also contributed a little fumbling and inept ball handling that kept the game close as well as exciting.

It looked like another fumbling fiasco when the Bellboys erred on their very first play from scrimmage in the opening period as Bill Rock — usually the most reliable man on the club — fumbled on the Belleville 22. Irvington could not take advantage of the break, however, as John Carpel intercepted Joe Gilleece's pass on the 10 and ran it back to the 19.

Again on their first play, Belleville lost the ball. Rocco Cafone's pass was intercepted by Charlie Henderson on the midfield stripe. But again the Camptowners' offense fell apart as three passes went incomplete and the visitors were forced to kick. The first quarter ended scoreless as both teams ran a series of plays and exchanged punts.

Belleville marched downfield 70 yards to rack up their first TD. Rock returned Henderson's kick to the 30 and Cafone displayed one of his best runs of the day, a 42-yard jaunt around his right end to the Irvington 28. Ron Worthington hit left guard for 2 and Bill Dunleavy trotted around left end for 5 more.

Worthington fumbled on the 21-yard line but Cafone recovered to keep the attack alive. Making up for the fumble, Worthington made a first down with a 3-yard buck and Rock added 2 more on a charge over right tackle. Cafone carried to the 14 on an end run and Rock carted over right tackle for 6 yards and another first down. He hit the same spot for 3 more and Worthington bucked over center for 2 yards to the Irvington 3. The big fullback piled over right guard for the touchdown.

Bob Haight's try for the extra point was no good but the Camptowners were offside. Worthington tried to buck for the extra point but was stopped to make it 6-0.

Irvington wasted no time in evening the score. Taking Allen Riggins' kickoff on their 5, they moved it back to their 28. Mixing up a ground attack with a series of passes they pushed the ball to Belleville's 23 where George Hopkins drove off his right end, cut over the center and went all the way for the only Irvington score of the day. Joe Gallagher's kick was wide and the half ended soon after with the count knotted at 6-6.

The third period was scoreless like the first, but the latter half of that quarter contained three fumbles that ultimately led to the winning touchdown. Belleville took over as Worthington recovered Hopkins' fumble but the Bellboys lost it after gaining a first down as Worthington fumbled on the 33. Two plays later Tom Apicella fell on Hopkins' fumble.

Shearmakers Sweep Into Tie With Insurance Men

J. Wiss & Son rolled into a tie with the Prudential A. A. in the Belleville Mfg. "A" League the last time out by taking three games from Wallace & Tiernan while the Prudential dropped one game to Dodge Inc. The Shearmakers from Wiss topped by John Cervinka with a 584 series easily took three games from Watco who were paced by Augie Molt with 528. Anchorman Bill Klemz from Wallace & Tiernan had one of those nights rolling only a 385 series. In the Prudential A. A. match with Dodge Inc. Ray Canfield rolled a sparkling 647 series topped by a game of 244. Bill Curran anchored the trophy-makers with a 592 set. Federal Leather led by Angelo Capezzano with a big 634 series topped by a game of 222 swept the series from Premier Tool. Ed Romans was best for the toolmakers with a 543 set. In the other match of the night Hanlon & Goodman scored a sweep over the wireless Standard Arturus team. Charley White with 551 was best for the brushmen while Bill Sandler anchored the tubemakers with 506.

SPORTS Reflections

By AL OUTCALT

A reporter for a Newark newspaper, writing about Columbia's quarterback Mitch Price a short time ago, claimed that it was only after the Lion star arrived on campus that Coach Lou Little discovered the boy played football.

That Newark reporter is either naive or he doesn't know college football. Since he has been writing about it for years, we can only charge him with naivete — still a major fault in this age of unlimited substitution and unlimited subsidization.

Like any other college in the Ivy League and in spite of any league regulations about procuring players, Columbia recruits high school graduates who major in Football, A1 and A2. Lou Little's staff of assistants roam the country all during the fall, watching high school games and following tips from alumni on some future Light Blue stars.

It's neither legal nor kosher, but everyone does it so Columbia doesn't feel any qualms about athletic sin. We talked to most of the players who trod the turf of Baker Field for the last four years, covered Columbia football games over three seasons, and even worked out with the team for three months. The experience was enlightening, to say the least.

Football players are no dummies. They know which side of their football is buttered and they realize the value of an education. But if the problem of studying ever came up as opposed to an afternoon of practice, the average

Columbia football player had no hesitation. One boy expressed it this way:

"If I go to practice and cut my studies, I can always get a tutor (supplied gratis to football players only) and catch up enough to pass after the season is over. But if I cut practice, too often, they're liable to take away my scholarship and I'd have to quit college entirely."

Getting back to Mitch Price, he is a fine football player and a gentleman besides. Most of the Columbia squad are gentlemen, but most of them are still at Morningside on athletic scholarships that are listed at Columbia as "scholastic" scholarships. It's just a question of interpretation.

Price is a three sport man. Besides pitching a pigskin, he plays shortstop for the baseball nine and is a prospective varsity basketball player. His grades have always been good — perhaps good enough to merit a truly academic scholarship. But by a strange coincidence, the Columbia "professors" who travel around the country passing out "National Scholarships" always seem to be members of the Columbia Department of Physical Education. And most students who get them play either football, baseball or basketball.

While we're on the subject of Lou Little, it's always been a question as to how Little manages to stay head coach at Columbia so long. The main reason, of course, is that he is in with the alumni and, with traditional Ivy League conservatism, they want to keep the old boy there until he is too weak to hold skull practice.

The undergraduates, however, feel differently. They don't think much of him as a coach nor his record. He loses far too many games and in most other schools would have been tossed out on his ear long ago. The men who play under him usually either hate his guts or just abide his gruffness and inconsistency until they can get their educations and get out. He has a staff of assistants that — with a very few exceptions — is one of the poorest in the East. The most you can say for them is that they're loyal to Little.

The coach himself has had an exceptionally good press in past

Here's why Fordomatic puts them all in the past!
For the past 10 months, automotive writers and engineers have been raving about a new kind of automatic driving... and here's why you get it only in Ford Cars:
All the power you need when you need it!
Some automatics have this... It gives you instant "GO!"
It practically drives itself!
The automatic drive some cars offer you is a torque converter which multiplies torque without the use of gears. Its disadvantage is a slower flow of power. Its disadvantage is a smaller range of torque multiplication which requires more power from the engine and an uneconomical size ratio which increases costs.
Some automatics have this... But Fordomatic has both.
Other cars offer an automatic drive that uses automatic gears (as illustrated in simplified form at right) instead of a torque converter. The advantage here is more "go," more control and greater economy. The disadvantage is that this system is not as smooth, nor as jerk-free as a torque converter.
A gas saving powerhouse!
Easier rocking, too!

PAL SOCCER TEAMS IN TIE AND LOSS IN OPENING GAMES

Juveniles Tie Taft Association; Juniors Lose 3-1 To Colts; At Harrison Next

The Belleville PAL Juvenile and Junior soccer teams opened their league play Sunday afternoon before a large crowd at Belleville Park. In the first game the PAL Juveniles tied the Taft Association of Harrison, 3 to 3. It was a thrilling game, the lead changing hands three times. All Belleville scoring was done by Costa who also played a brilliant defensive game.

The Belleville PAL Juniors played the Clifton Colts at the same field after the juvenile game and lost to the Clifton Colts by a score of 3 to 1. Clifton showed a good passing game and this teamwork proved to be the difference. The Colts drew first blood halfway through the first half and though the play was in Belleville territory for almost the whole half they could not score again. After five minutes of play in the second half Belleville knotted the count on a boot through the up-rights by Carpenter on a pass from Csaszar. Belleville dominated play in the second half, but on the few occasions that the Colts went into Belleville territory they scored twice. Play was very hard in the second half, resulting in injuries to Hughes, Steinbrick and Conato, who had to leave the game. The line-up for Belleville included G. Anderson, A. Anderson, R. Conato, L. Westlake, J. Carpenter, M. Odejeski, C. Steinbrick, J. Hughes, P. Kalyndjian, F. Csaszar, G. Gough, F. Williams, J. Schlosser, R. Curvin and C. Denzler.

League play will continue next Sunday afternoon when both Belleville teams play at Reynold's field in Harrison. The Juniors meet our Lady of Chenoweth Holy Name and the Belleville Juniors tangle with the Harkey B. C. of Kearny.

Stage Wally Campbell Day At Newark Track

Wally Campbell, the auto racing great from Trenton, will be honored when a fifty lap feature stock car race will be staged at Ruppert Stadium, Newark, Sunday afternoon, 2:30 p.m. For his courage, confidence and ability to win more feature events than any other National Association for Stock Car Auto Racing (NAS-CAR) competitor in this area this year promoter Ed Otto has decided to call it "Wally Campbell Day."

Survivor of three of the worst accidents among NASCAR pilots this year, Wally, at 25 and already a stock car great, will be around racing in a strange vehicle. His famous number 1 maroon and white car was completely destroyed when it went ablazing at the Langhorne, Pa. running of the 100-mile national sports men championship a week ago last Sunday.

Early in the season Campbell had been in an accident at Daytona Beach, Fla., which required sixteen stitches to close cuts about his nose and face and again a car he was operating was completely demolished midway through a 200-mile race at the Heidelberg Pa. track in July. He was hospitalized for a week in Pittsburgh.

Morgan and Jonathan Are Rematched At Laurel Garden

Big Ben Morgan, bewhiskered brawler, and Don Leo Jonathan, Rocky Mountain champ, who had a tough time settling the question of supremacy between them when they battled to a draw last week will try again when the pair face the weekly bill at Laurel Garden tomorrow night.

There will be a slight difference in the repeat rumput since the bout will be one-fall-to-a-finish as against the 30 minute time limit that ended hostilities last week. They put on a riotous affair for the fans and when it was all over both demanded another meeting. It wasn't too difficult for the second meeting to be arranged since Promoter Babe Culnan enjoyed the bout as much as the spectators.

Two Are One Point Away In Score Guessing Game

Margaret Squitaker and Rocco Cafone, quarterback of the Belleville High football team, came within a point of the final outcome of the Belleville-Irvington game 12-to-6 score last week in the score guessing contest conducted each week of the season by Vic Pomplio of the Belleville Rosary. Each Belleville game, Vic gives a corsage to those Belleville High students who come closest to the actual score. Each guessed Belleville to win 13 to 6.

Belleville Frosh Bow

Belleville High's Freshman team, which has been raided for material for the varsity squad, lost its first game in two seasons, on Monday, when defeated by Lyndhurst by a 13 to 6 count.

Cana Conference Held At St. Peter's Church

The first Cana Conference at St. Peter's Church was held Sunday in the Canna Room of the new school. Those serving on the reception committee were Eleanor and Bill Benedict, Dolores and Bob Muench, Theresa and Joe McGuire. Also attending the conference were Marie and Frank Bigley, Muriel and Frank Rehels, Lucille and Bob Duffy, Mary and Arnold Lehnhorffs, Ruth and Jake Dolton, Kathleen and Allan Norell, Betty and Jerry Canavari. Father Ignaciuos and Father Hourihan spoke to the group in the Canna Room and later Monsignor Kelly spoke in church. The committee thanks Helen and Don O'Brien for their help in detailing the duties to the committee and their many helpful suggestions.

The next Cana Conference will be held December 2.

On State Auditing Committee

Hugh D. Kittle of Belleville High School has been appointed to a state auditing committee on activities accounts in school systems. He is the only high school principal so honored.

OUTSTANDING CAST FOR PAPER MILL'S 'FINIAN'S RAINBOW'

Frank Carrington Strives To Outdo Broadway With His Version Of Fantasy

A production that will top the original Broadway edition is always Frank Carrington's goal when he undertakes to recreate a recent Broadway musical hit and he is making that very effort with his new production of "Finian's Rainbow" which begins a Millburn engagement at the Paper Mill Playhouse on Monday.

Set with four outstanding stars in Mary O'Fallon, Edward Chappel, Clarence Nordstrom and David Thimar, Carrington and his co-director, Agnes Morgan, have selected an outstanding cast of supporting players familiar to Paper Mill audiences. Robert Eckles and Janice Cioff, currently in "Song of Norway" will play Senator Billboard Rawkins and Susan Mahoney, the dancing mute, respectively.

Daniel O'Brien and Hal McCurrin, who have contributed key supporting performances all season, have been assigned the roles of Buzz Collins and the sheriff. The trio of passion pilgrim go-spiers will be played by Fred Thomas, Kenneth Hibbert and Redester Timmons. Thomas was one of the 1950 winners of the Metropolitan Opera Auditions of the Air.

CYO CONTEST FOR YOUTH TALENT HAS TED MACK HOOK-UP

Contestants Must Register Before November 17; Essex Winner Will Get $50

The Essex County CYO will sponsor its fourth annual March of Talent contest in November it was announced today by Robert F. Johnston of Montclair, director of the CYO's dramatics program. According to Johnston, contestants must be registered CYO members and must file their entries by November 17.

The contest will be held on an archdiocesan basis for the first time this year. Essex County winners, who will be aiming at $50 in prize money, will meet winners from Hudson, Bergen and Union in December. The top three in the inter-county competition will split $100 and will appear on Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour. This year is the first the CYO has made a hook-up with Mack's famous TV show.

Before the county finals are held contestants will have to survive eliminations scheduled for several parish halls. Prizes for the preliminary winners will be left to the discretion of the parish units. Competitors must be between 12 and 26 years of age and will be given seven minutes to present their act. Talent is being restricted to vocalists, instrumentalists and group folk dancers. Judges will take into consideration the selection, talent and presentation.

K OF C FETES ITS EX-GRAND KNIGHT

John Kennedy Is Presented With Bowling Ball At VFW Affair, Saturday Night

Past Grand Knight John Kennedy of Belleville Council 835, Knights of Columbus, was honored Saturday night at a social function in the VFW Hall. District Deputy William Mahon was the speaker and he praised Mr. Kennedy for his fine leadership in promoting Columbianism in Belleville. He pointed out that during his term the membership committee met the quotas set by the Supreme Council. He also pointed out the council's co-operation in civic affairs, such as their efforts in behalf of the Essex County Blood Bank and their participation in the Armistice Day celebration.

Gottfried Johnson, present Grand Knight, also congratulated Mr. Kennedy and urged members to give the present officers the same co-operation.

Michael Dacey, in charge of arrangements, presented Mr. Kennedy with a bowling ball on behalf of the council and his friends in attendance. Mr. Kennedy accepted with thanks and reminded all that there could be no success without the full co-operation of his fellow officers.

Wrote About Seals

In 1907, Jacob A. Riis, Danish-born American philanthropist, wrote an article about the Christmas Seal, started three years prior in Denmark, and suggested a similar project for fund raising to fight tuberculosis in this country.

Will Explain Protestant Attitude To Vatican Envoy

Dr. James K. Morse, pastor of the Pewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church will preach next Sunday at the Reformation Day morning worship service. His topic will be, "Be Glad You're a Protestant!", using as his text, "For freedom Christ has set us free: stand fast therefore, and do not submit again to a yoke of slavery" from the New Testament Book of Galatians. Dr. Morse will explain the Protestant attitude toward the recent nomination by President Truman of an ambassador to the Vatican City. The choir will sing the anthem, "To Thee, O Jesus Christ, We Cry" by Brahms, and Miss Ruth Lurie, soprano soloist, will sing, "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked," by O'Hara.

Holy Family CYO To Hold Halloween Dance Friday

The Catholic Youth Organization of Holy Family Church, Nutley, has planned a Halloween dance for tomorrow night in the Youth Center, Franklin Avenue. Dancing will be from 8 to 11. Prizes will be awarded for costumes and games.

The dance is part of the local CYO's observance of National CYO Week, which is being observed from October 21 to 28. The committee in charge includes Charlotte Trignano, publicity, and Dolores Pellegrino, Connie Moreno, Lucille San Giacomo, Gabriel La Bruzza, Bob Pastore and Joseph Veeza.

Currently Holy Family CYO has a display of its trophies in the store window of the Peerless Stationery in Franklin Avenue, Nutley. The committee for the display included Anne Stolz, Shirley Larratta and Grace Casale.

Bossism at Home
REPUBLICAN campaign speakers in Essex County are driving home the point that their candidates, particularly those of the Clean Government Assembly ticket, are unbossed and prepared to go to Trenton to render some real public service. Generally in such declarations they attack Mayor Hague of Jersey City, Democratic overlord. They might apply their anti-boss whips nearer home.
William J. Egan, erstwhile Newark Democratic boss, deposed after the ballot scandal, is using this campaign in an effort to come back. He is one of the principal supporters of the Democratic Assembly ticket and hopes to see it elected so he can wield influence at Trenton. Because of the split in the Democratic party in the county, the Assembly ticket, in turn, is placing much reliance on the help Egan can provide in Newark.
A victory for these candidates would mean much to Egan. That fact alone constitutes a powerful reason for the election of the Clean Government nominees. The time for the voters to serve notice that Mr. Egan's return is not wanted is November 6. Defeat then should block his efforts to regain control.

As Our Teen-Agers

See It

by

Rita Carissimo-Audrey Maisie

Last year we inaugurated the magazine drive in order to raise funds primarily for the establishment of our school newspaper. The entire student body canvassed the town and sold enough subscriptions to net a profit of $1,500. Prizes were awarded to individuals who sold the most and also to the class which came out highest.

Plans for this year's campaign are being made by Mr. Correll and an appointed committee consisting of co-captains Dave Gruman and Arthur Denzler, with assistants George Plosa, Audrey Arnold, Pam Niles, Joan Jirak and Frank Troina. Michael Maffia and James Morse are in charge of the bulletins. Joan Napolitano will keep the school bulletins up to date. John Paggi and Charles Kintzing are the advertising managers. There are hopes of surmounting the sum of last year's drive. There will be renewals available as well as new subscriptions. However, this drive will be conducted by a different publishing company, but it will feature similar magazines. The feature magazines will be Woman's Home Companion, Colliers, and The American. The school will obtain 50 per cent profit for the sale of these subscriptions and 30 per cent on all of the others.

Line up your prospects now and practice your sales talks so that we can push this drive over the top.

Future Teachers Meet
Barbara Hart presided over the first meeting last week of those students who want to become teachers. Through the influence of the activities of this club, the members get a better idea of what the teaching profession involves. This year the club plans to visit various teachers' colleges as well as F.T.A. chapters of other high schools. This club is assisted by Mr. Slifkin who is well acquainted with the goals which these people hope to attain.

Banners for Home Rooms
It is interesting to witness the way in which the junior senators attempt to make sales of pennants with the high school seal on them. They enter various home rooms with the shrewd sales talk that goes something like this: "We aren't asking each of you to buy a pennant, we are only asking you all to buy a single pennant." Consequently, each student in the home room contributes one penny and the pennant is tacked above the front board. Now they are trying to persuade each home room to buy a second one to balance the first one. Pretty clever, aren't they?

Monads for Sale
Those who want Monads have been signing up when the Monad salesman approach their assigned home rooms. A Monad can be obtained by the installment plan in Belleville High School. All you have to do is pay 50 cents a month and 25 cents the last month. The total amounts to $3.25. We have advanced information from the Monad staff that this year's will be the best yet. You'll regret it if you don't order one.

Senior Assembly
An assembly for the seniors was called and they were warned that if they don't want to be assessed at the end of the year, they had better get busy and sell more Christmas cards and wrappings. They are to give their support to the senior dances, for if they don't, how can the lower-classmen be expected to? In order to help pay for the Monad, there are ads to be sold also.

To show that this assembly meant something, the seniors can begin by going to the Halloween dance being held in the boys' gym at the high school on Saturday, October 27. The music will be provided by Mike Phillip's band. The gym will take on the aspect of "Farmer Gray's cornfield" if the decoration committee is successful in their attempts to raid the farmers' fields. So round up all of the witches, hob-goblins, and ghosts you know and bring them along for an evening of "tripping the light fantastic." Wear either dungarees or come in masquerade. Whichever it may be, just be sure not to miss this dance.

Girls' Gym Needs New Board
Was that trip necessary, Stef? We hear you had a rather abrupt introduction to the gym floor last week.

That Green-Eyed Monster
It seems that Belleville's football victories are costly lately. Carmine Earl and Ronnie Thompson have decided to keep Pete Spera company. Both are suffering from a possible concussion. We hope that we'll soon be seeing them on the football field fully recovered.

Surprise!
It is often said that knowledge is gained through experience. Have you ever noticed the astonished expression on the faces of thirty lower-classmen who aren't very well acquainted with the third floor drinking fountain, when they lean expectantly over the fountain, open their mouths, turn the knob—and nothing comes out! (Note to victims: That fountain hasn't been working for years.)

Open-House
If anyone was wondering why a group of senior girls had on their best "bib and tucker" last week, the reason was that they attended open-house at Katherine Gibbs. After their tour of the school, the girls were served refreshments. They returned fully convinced that K. G. is the school for them.

On Saturday another group of girls, planning on full college preparation, visited N.J.C. They toured the campus in the morning and spent the afternoon at the Rutgers-Lehigh football game. There will also be other opportunities for both boys and girls to visit various colleges in this area during the year. Those interested should contact either Miss Condor or Mr. Slifkin in the guidance office.

Grand Knight Resigns
Belleville Council No. 835, Knights of Columbus, will hold a special election at its meeting on Monday, November 5, to elect a new Grand Knight, to succeed Gottfried Johnson, who submitted his resignation last week on orders of his physician.
