

Rodino To Run; GOP Favors Either Maturri Or Scott

Clean Government Plans Big Effort In Presidential Year To Win Back 10th and 11th District Seats

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., will be a candidate for re-election to a third term in the November, 1952, election. The Times-News is able to announce, Rep. Rodino, for reasons of political strategy, will not make his formal announcement for several months but The Times-News has confirmed that the new Democratic County Chairman William Egan has approved the candidacies for re-election of the two Democratic incumbent Congressmen for the 10th and 11th Districts, Rodino and Hugh Addonizio.

Clean Government, on its side, took its first step towards the designation of a Congressional candidate capable of making a fight to regain the traditionally Republican seats in the two districts at a steering committee caucus in East Orange. Three names came out of the huddle, with no preference thus far expressed—Alex J. Maturri, a Newark lawyer, and Donald Scott, mayor of Bloomfield, rivals for the Republican spot here in the 10th District, and ex-Congressman Sunstrom to oppose Rep. Addonizio in the 11th District. Clean Government has given its approval to the candidacy of Congressman Keen, the incumbent in the 12th District.

Clean Government makes no secret of its intentions to wage major war in the 10th and 11th Districts to win back the seats lost in 1948 to the Democrats. County Chairman George Becker is said to believe that a Presidential year, which is certain to bring out a huge anti-Truman vote in this district, will win back the two lost seats. He is months ahead of schedule in his planning and the meeting at the Hotel Suburban last weekend is indicative of Becker's desire to choose the Clean Government candidates as soon as possible and start to work for their election eleven months hence.

Italian Voters' Influence

Bloomfield is making a determined fight for its favorite son, Mayor Scott, with Sargate Hucks commanding the battle as he did two years ago in winning the nomination for another favorite son, William Rawson, but Maturri, chairman of the Newark Housing Authority, is in a very strong position.

Practical politicians make no pretense of hiding the value of Italian blood in any candidate in the two disputed districts. Maturri and Rodino both have strong followings among voters of Italian extraction. There is a basis of comparison in recent testimonial dinners. There were 2,200 in attendance at a Rodino dinner after his last victory, but 1,800 attended a dinner honoring Maturri, filling all the dining rooms on two floors of a Newark hotel.

In picking ex-Congressman Sunstrom in the 11th District, Clean Government may give him a chance to upset the man who overthrew him. Sunstrom was the incumbent in 1948 when Rep. Addonizio won his first election. In his second victory, in 1950, Addonizio beat Clean Government's Vreeland.

Ex-Assemblyman Elwood Russell had Congressional ambitions but the Belleville politico is to be used in another direction and may go to Trenton as liaison agent between Clean Government and the legislature, holding down an observation post in the capitol.

PRUDENTIAL MEN NOW IN 4TH WEEK OF PICKETING CO.

Federal Mediator Fails To Bring Union And Company Nearer Agreement On Terms

Participating in the nationwide strike of Prudential agents, now in its fourth week, the members of Kearny Local 59, Insurance Agents' International Union, A. F. L., continue to picket the Newark I and Kearny offices, as well as the Home Office in Newark.

According to Joseph Smith, union spokesman, the agents are asking a minimum pay of $55 per week, plus car expenses. They would also have the company equalize the collection commission of weekly premiums so that all the agents would receive 15 per cent. Most now only receive 12 per cent.

The officials of the company met with union heads last week in New York City, at the request of the Federal Mediator, Thomas G. Dougherty, but the company would not change their previous offer of $3.11 per week and a non-contributory pension plan.

The agents are asking the co-operation of the policyholders, in helping them to win this strike.

Free Public Library Will Mark Fiftieth Anniversary With Open House on Jan. 7

Original Library In Store In William Street; Andrew Carnegie Gave $20,000

The fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the Belleville Free Public Library will be marked by an open house at the Library on Monday January 7th, although the actual anniversary is January 4. At the open house members of the Board of Trustees and members of the staff will be on hand to show visitors through the building.

Members of the Board of Trustees are Lindley A. Graves, President; George Newman, vice-president; William Chapman, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Frank A. Spotts and G. Lawton Cox. Ex-officio members are Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, director of the Department of Parks and Public Property and Evan H. Thomas, Superintendent of Schools.

In Small Store

Belleville's first library opened in a small store at 28 William street on Saturday January 4, as a project of the Tuesday Afternoon Reading Club, which donated 432 books to the project. A. Howard Osborne was elected president of the board of trustees, comprising Robert Minion, Peter D. Ackerman, Frank Osborne, John J. Breen and Percy Jackson. Miss Clara Lambrecht of the Passaic Public Library had charge of arranging the books. Mrs. Cornelius Conlin was librarian. In April Mrs. Elizabeth A. Shattuck was appointed librarian, and she held that position until her retirement on April 15, 1946, after 43 years of service.

Others Who Served

In addition to the men and women who comprise the present and comprised the first Board of Trustees, the following people have served terms on the board and worked toward the growth and progress of the library service: R. P. Scaine, Dr. E. O. Cyphers, A. Newton Streeter, Norman Peters, Charles L. Denison, Oliver H. Perry, J. C. LaFaurie, John W. Waters, John T. Burke, Samuel Cathcart, John P. Maher, William G. Hacker, Percy H. Long, David A. Clearman, Edward C. Kennedy, Harvey B. Thompson, James K. Alexander, Mrs. F. E. Dodd, John H. Banta, Mrs. C. W. Morgan, Mrs. Laura G. Stem, Miss Gertrude Kinnealy, George Stewart, William G. Hunt, Michael A. Capaneer and Anthony Pico.

Two years after the library was opened it was necessary to seek larger quarters and the library was moved to a store at 131 Washington avenue. In 1909 the town had grown to such an extent and the Library had become so popular that various groups began to work with Mrs. Shattuck to secure a permanent building.

This store at 28 William street housed the first Belleville Free Public Library for two years. Another store at 131 Washington avenue served for nine years.

Granville Jones at the corner of Academy street and Washington avenue. The late Andrew Carnegie, about this time, was establishing libraries with the fortune he made in steel and a committee of representative citizens visited Mr. Carnegie at his New York office and outlined their plans to establish a library here.

After preliminary details had been worked out Mr. Carnegie appropriated $20,000 for the construction of the building here. Plans were drawn, and the front portion of the present building was erected. In October 1911, the trustees held a meeting in the new building.

The building was enlarged eighteen years later. The addition was started in the summer of 1928 and completed by January of 1929. This addition afforded additional space for a reference department, a non-fiction department and a separate room for the juvenile department.

Scholarly Aid To Town

Belleville's Free Public Library offers many attractive and scholarly aids to the town. The trustees are constantly building up the reference department. The latest of fiction is secured for the seven-day and rental collections.

The Junior department which is housed in the basement is a very attractive room, and every thought is given to buying the best in reference and recreational reading for the children. A Story hour is held every Saturday morning, and during the summer reading clubs are formed for the enjoyment of the young readers. All grades from first through eighth are provided for in this department.

Two Display Cabinets

In the main room of the library there are two display cases in which period exhibits are held. Such things as collections of Mexican ware; dolls, old valentines; shell, old albums, fans, pitchers, miniature shoes, clay modelling, minerals, old china, stamp collection, autographs of opera stars, glassware, silverware, glass painting and other hobbies of Belleville people have been shown.

The non-fiction department has a special shelf for books given in honor of the Past Presidents of the Woman's Club of Belleville. The books are selected by the Literature Group of the club. So far the books honor Mrs. A. Newton Streeter, Mrs. Frederick Dodd, Mrs. William P. Adams, Mrs. R. Clifford Whitfield, Mrs. Charles Smith and Mrs. W. F. Entekrin.

16 Current Magazines, 27,000 Books

The library has 165 different magazines, weekly and monthly, arriving every month. Some of these are paid for out of library funds, while others are gifts.

Altogether there are now 26,014 books on the shelves of the library, classified as follows: reference, 1,719; non-fiction, 11,728; fiction, 5,853 and junior department 6,720.

Fifty years ago, library rules allowed only Belleville residents over 10 years of age to take a book from the Library, and only one book could be borrowed at a time. Today the Library is available to children as soon as they enter the first grade of school, all residents and all those employed in Belleville. Five books of fiction may be taken out at one time, and a non-fiction card, if needed, allows five additional books for borrowing. Under the vacation plan during the summer months, ten books may be kept out until September.

Besides the nearly 27,000 books holding Belleville Library cards on the library shelves, persons may get an inter-library loan slip and borrow books from the Newark Library. Specially requested books may be borrowed through the Librarian from the State Library at Trenton.

Original Budget $1,058

A comparison of budgets gives an idea of how the Library has grown in the years since it was founded. In 1902 the total budget was $1,058. By 1912 it had increased to $3,455; by 1922 to $5,500; in 1932 to $14,000 and in 1951 to $24,679.

A small brochure including a brief history of the library and pictures of the staff and interior, has been printed and will be distributed the night of the open house. Others will go out in the mail and the balance will be kept on hand for distribution to borrowers as they come into the library.

Win Prizes In Letters To Santa Claus Contest

Santa Claus is happy to announce the names of the winners in the Christmas letter writing contest sponsored by Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde's Recreation Department. Cecilia Fitzpatrick of 11 Howard Place and Carol Kinsey of 135 Cortlandt Street received their prizes on Christmas Eve from Santa, himself. Santa received many letters from the town's little tots, many of whom forgot to include their address. Also pupils of Grade 3 of School No. 1 sent in a very interesting letter but forgot to sign their names.

Will Set New Date For Opening New Post Office

Plans for the opening of the new post office at Washington Avenue and Essex Street have been changed since last week when it was announced that the Post Office would move on Sunday. The new building has not been completed sufficiently for such an early occupancy, although workmen are rushing the finishing in an effort to be done before the New Year. Another investigation by postal inspectors will precede any announcement of the opening of the new building. The building has been leased by the government for 20 years. It is owned by Benjamin R. Leinhardt of Brooklyn and Max Postnoff of Newark is the general contractor. The building has exterior dimensions of 69 by 83 with an 18 by 30 foot loading platform large enough to accommodate about three trucks at one time. The inside work room has about three times the area of the present Post Office.

Commission Votes Liquor License Increase Of $150

Petitions and Appeals by Attorneys Fails to Sway Board; Water Rates Upped 20% Without Objection. Agree Vacation Pay Is Due McGreevy.

Over the objections of almost all the licensees, most of whom were present at the meeting, the Board of Commissioners passed on final reading the ordinance raising the license fees for 43 tavern and 11 package stores from $350 to $500 and the club licenses from $50 to $100 yesterday afternoon at a postponed meeting. They also passed on final reading the ordinance boosting the water rates 20 per cent, effective January 1.

Th licensees didn't go down without a determined effort. Through their attorney Sidney Simandl of Newark they presented petitions signed by more than 500 citizens of the town.

The petitions stated that if the increase was for revenue purposes, then all retail establishments should be taxed proportionately; that an increase of 43 per cent of the present license fee is unfair and unreasonable, in view of the present recession in the business; that taxes on liquor have been steadily increased by the State and Federal Governments and that licensees have absorbed several of these increases without raising prices; that under the ruling of the Office of Price Stabilization prices cannot be increased because of any increase in operation costs, wages, rent, license fee and cost of living expenses; and fifth that the existing licensees have conducted their establishments in a lawful and businesslike manner and are a credit to the community.

Suggested Super Market Tax

In elaborating on each of these points Mr. Simandl also pointed out that the license fee in Lyndhurst is $400, in North Arlington $350, Kearny and Nutley $400 and Essex Fells $200. He also suggested that if the town was seeking additional revenue it might do well to review the personal property assessments on the seven supermarkets in Belleville. He said that such a reexamination would reveal that the $8,100 could be found there.

James R. Juliano, another Newark Attorney, said that there is a question as to whether the industry can stand an increase in license fees at this time.

Mayor Refutes Argument

Mayor Patrick A. Waters refuted Mr. Simandl's argument on comparative license fees by quoting the fees charged in other Essex County towns. Out of 20 municipalities, only three had fees the same or lower than Belleville. The Mayor pointed out that when the ordinance was first discussed it had been more or less agreed to make the 1951 license fee $800 which would be nearer in line with the average for the county and nearer to the $1000 charged in Bloomfield. But at that time the Commissioners agreed to give the licensees a break and made the fee $500 which is still low in comparison with other towns in the county.

"As for passing on the taxes," Mayor Waters said, "I have been buying a shot of whiskey every day for years. I used to pay 50 cents for it but since November 1st have been paying 55 cents and that extra nickel is a lot more than the increased tax on one shot."

"As for being sorry for the Tavern owners, we all know that that piece of paper which goes up on the wall is worth more than the furnishing and stock of almost every place in town. A recent tavern sale brought $7,500 although the tavern didn't have a barrel of beer or a bottle of liquor on the shelves," he declared.

Fifty Cents A Day

Commissioner Joseph King commented that a lot had been said about 43 per cent, but no one had mentioned that the increase in the license fee amounts to less than 50 cents per day.

When the ordinance was put to a vote it received unanimous approval on second and third readings. No one objected to the raise in water rates. A third ordinance on zoning a section of Belleville Avenue adjacent to the Bloomfield line was tabled at the request of Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan.

McGreevy Will Be Paid

At a conference preceding the formal meeting it was agreed that Joseph McGreevy, a former employee was entitled to vacation pay, but just how much was left for Town Attorney Keenan to determine after consultation with Mr. McGreevy's lawyer. The amount will have to be placed in next year's budget and action was promised Mr. McGreevy at the next meeting.

Because proposal forms and specifications were sent to eight firms asking for bids for gasoline for the Public Safety department, calling for bids to be accepted at 8 p. m. while the legal advertising and the resolution set the time of the meeting called at 4 p. m., it was decided to delay Commissioner Sullivan Mr. Keenan to accept bids and open all bids at 8 o'clock, last night, prior to the session of the Magistrate's Court. Bids will be tabulated and the contract awarded at the next meeting of the commission.

MARCH OF DIMES DRIVE PERIOD IS EXTENDED 3 WEEKS

Job For Everyone In 1952 Campaign Is Advice Of Chairman W. F. Tully

The March of Dimes will try to catch up with the "March of Polio", Deputy Mayor William H. Tully, chairman of the 1952 local appeal, stated yesterday, explaining that that is why the polio drive period has been doubled and will extend over the full month of January instead of the last two weeks only.

"There are tens of thousands of new patients each year," Mr. Tully declared. "More than 45,000 patients from past years still were receiving financial help in 1951. As a result, the March of Dimes has gone into debt assisting all who needed help."

Job For Everyone

"There's a job for everyone in Belleville in the 1952 March of Dimes, which is the layman's weapon in the fight against infantile paralysis," he said, in an appeal for volunteer workers to assist in the month-long campaign. "Don't wait to be asked," he stated. "Offer to help now."

Throughout the county, efforts will be redoubled in this year's March of Dimes in an attempt to end the "deficit financing" for patient care which has been required in the past. About $50,000,000 of 1950 costs had to be

30 DAY LICENSE SUSPENSIONS FOR TWO SPORTS STARS

Benfield And Tatz Lose Initial Drivers Cards For Reckless Driving

Two High School sports stars, Charles I. Benfield of the cross country team and William R. Tatz of the golf team had their initial driver's licenses suspended for 30 days last week by Magistrate Edward J. Abramson. Both boys 17, were arrested on November 27 for playing tag with their cars in Holmes Street, and were charged with reckless driving by Sergeant Thomas Brice. Benfield lives at 481 Greylock Parkway and Tatz at 11 Scheiber Terrace, Cedar Grove. Benfield got off with a fine of $5 but Tatz was assessed $23.

Another motorist also suffered a 30-day suspension and a $23 fine for reckless driving. He was Lewis Fleming of 51 Passaic Avenue, Nutley, who was arrested by Patrolman John Dean on December 2. Dean started out to flag Fleming down for speeding, but the driver turned sharply into Holmes, again at Hornblower and Joralemon in an effort to dodge arrest. All it brought him was additional trouble.

Pays $38 Fine

James F. Herr of 15-12 Chandler Avenue, Fairlawn, paid $28 for doing 40 miles per hour on Main Street. He was ticketed by Patrolman Ken Place on December 4.

Others fined included Eugene Paul of 814 85th Street, North Bergen, charged with passing a red light, $10; Harold Belgard of 20 Mapes Avenue, Newark, charged with disregarding a stop sign, $6, and six persons charged with improper or overtime parking paid a total of $28.

Skating Rink Opening Awaiting Cold Weather

The Recreation Department, under the direction of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde has flooded the skating rink at the Stadium, and just as soon as the weather is cold enough there will be skating. The rink will be open from morning until 10:30 each night. Music will be supplied at night to make skating more enjoyable. There has been some skating but recent rain and warm weather halted it over the week end. Both the Police and Fire Departments will be informed and they or the Recreation House, Belleville 2-3142. The Recreation Department is also planning to have skating at the Recreation House and a rink there is now being put in shape for an opening to be announced.

Town Served With Notice Of $25,000 Suit By Woman

Town Attorney Lawrence A. Keenan was served with notice of a suit against the Town of Belleville for $25,000, yesterday afternoon for attorney for Helen Casselberry and Louis Casselberry. The suit against the town and against David Iiziman claims that Mrs. Casselberry fell on a defective sidewalk on Washington Avenue on January 19, 1951 and suffered grave injuries to her head, body, arms, limbs, skull, face, and spine and injured her muscular system and suffered other external and internal injuries. Mrs. Casselberry joined in the suit because he was deprived of his wife's services as a housewife, because he had considerable hospital bills and because he had to hire domestic help to do the work ordinarily performed by his wife.

Board Split on Resolution To Bar Gifts For Employees

Raymond McCann and Walter Loesner Vote for Measure But Eugene Kelly and Charles H. Yocum Disagree On Wording, Request Time for Study.

At a special meeting of the Board of Education Wednesday night of last week, a majority of the board refused to go along with a plan proposed by Raymond McCann to order all employees to decline or return any gift or favor from vendors or contractors, as too vague. The proposal, in the form of an amendment to the board rules and regulations, received only two votes with the other two members present abstaining.

In presenting his resolution Mr. McCann said the proposed resolution was along the lines of rules adopted by many industrial firms. The resolution received the support of Walter Loesner and Mr. McCann, while Eugene Kelly and Charles H. Yocum, abstained and Mrs. Homer Zink was absent. Mr. McCann indicated that he would re-submit his proposal at a future meeting.

Require Return of Gifts

Mr. McCann's amendment to the rules would make it mandatory for all employees of the board to decline or return gifts of more than nominal value, or which might tend to influence their conduct, and to report such offers to their immediate superiors. Failure to comply would subject an employee to disciplinary action and repeated offenses would be interpreted as an act of insubordination.

The matter was introduced by Mr. McCann on Monday of last week, but he said he was unprepared to discuss it at that time and asked Board President Kelly to call the special meeting. The Board will be closed for budget studies several nights this week, at the convenience of the members.

"The acceptance of gifts or favors from vendors or subcontractors," the resolution declared, "may tend to obligate an employee and thus interfere with the performance of his fundamental obligations to act solely in the interest of the board of education at all times." "Favors" would include offers of discounts on the price of goods.

Agree on Spirit

Although all present were agreed on the spirit of the proposal, they split on wording, details and interpretation. The problem of drawing the line between unacceptable gifts and gifts of "nominal" value was a principal stumbling block. McCann's original definition of "nominal" as less than a dollar or two was eliminated when it was pointed out that it would bar dinner invitations, "a bottle of liquor at Christmas, etc.

Kelly and Yocum also disapproved of the application of the proposed rule to teachers. McCann and Loesner argued that the rule should apply to faculty members to the extent that they come in contact with vendors of school supplies. Some teachers in the business and music departments specify the vendor in their requisition forms, according to District Clerk Daniels.

Discipline Difficult

Yocum also contended that disciplinary action against violators of the rule would be difficult.

Leaders Deliver Girl Scout Gifts to Hospital

Miss Kathleen Moore, supervisor of nurses at Isolation Hospital welcomed three Girl Scout leaders bearing gifts, at the hospital on Friday. Mrs. Louis Rosan, Mrs. Madeline Belasco and Mrs. Ann Powers, leaders of troops at St. Peter's Church, delivered baskets for the Christmas Dinner Trays, made by girls of Troops 1, 4 and 16. On Monday evening Girl Scouts from the Reformed Church made their sixth annual tour of the hospital singing Christmas Carols. They also brought along a number of stuffed toys made by the girls of the senior troop. At a recent meeting of the Girl Scout Leaders Association, Mrs. John Luisi of New Street was elected president to succeed Mrs. A. H. Verhagen.

FTR EQUIPMENT FOR BONNEVILLE

Local Concern To Make Material For 128-Mile Microwave Link In Oregon

The Bonneville Power Administration, which is already operating the world's largest microwave communication system for a power utility, has contracted for an additional PTM (pulse-time-modulation) microwave link to connect its John D. Ross substation in Washington with a similar station in Goshen, Ore., a distance of 128 miles.

As in the initial installation, which was placed in operation during October, 1950, equipment for the new link will be manufactured by Federal Telephone and Radio Corporation.

Fault-Location Device
Employing 14 channels of the 23 for which the installation may be equipped, the new Federal PTM system will provide facilities for telemetering, supervisory control, VHF mobile radio, and telephone communication. Provision is also made for the installation of a later date of a unique fault-location device that not only detects power-line faults automatically but records the date, time and location of each fault to within 500 feet.

The new Federal PTM system, operating at 2,000 megacycles, will provide high-quality communication facilities, utilizing simple, small, high-powered RF equipment and simple multiplex equipment. Other features include common channeling units, independently operated repeater sections, and simplified repeater drop and insert equipment. The link will have 3 terminals and 4 repeaters.

The Bonneville Power Administration, an integral part of the U. S. Department of the Interior, furnishes electric power to the utilities and certain industries of the great Pacific Northwest.

Permission was granted subject to the requirement that the army furnish a caretaker at the fieldhouse and that it be responsible for any damage to it. The Army must vacate the fieldhouse on April 1.

Sports Reflections

By AL OUTCALT

The possibility of professional baseball returning to Newark has not aroused much excitement in Belleville, and even if final arrangements are made to convert Ruppert Stadium from an automobile race track back into a ball field, it's doubtful if local sports fans will go wild over the idea. There are several reasons why.

First, and possibly most important, is television. As long as the average man can sit in his living room and watch the Yankees or Giants or Dodgers on TV, it will take a lot to shake him loose and shuffle him off to the House That Brew Built. If the proposed ban on televising major league ball in minor league areas goes into effect, this may help solve the problem partially. But there is still another possible prohibition to a successful International League baseball team in Newark.

It's Ruppert Stadium itself. The park is located in an inconvenient area, more accessible by car than by bus. To reach the stadium by bus from Belleville, it takes two changes and quite some time. Attending a night game at Ruppert Stadium that ended at midnight and returning to Belleville by bus would mean arriving home sometime around 2 a.m. You can do better than that from any of the three New York City ball parks.

By car it isn't too bad, providing you have the steel nerves required to drive through the quagmire called Newark traffic. Parking is abundant in the empty lots around the stadium and the rates have been running between 35c and 50c an evening. You still have no guarantee, however, that you won't return to find your car up on blocks and the wheels rolling away in somebody's trunk.

The final fundamental requirement for successful minor league ball in Newark is a winning team, a colorful one that will draw consistently and that will build up a following. When Bill Meyer was managing the old Newark Bears and the club was decked with many of the players who later became greats with the Yankees, Ruppert Stadium was filled to its 23,000 capacity on a good many occasions. That, of course, was pre-TV.

The two International League teams that moved recently—Newark was shifted to Springfield and Jersey City switched to Ottawa—have not been doing well. They both finished close to the cellar and neither drew crowds to any great degree. Major league baseball, instead of writing off minor league losses as investments in the future of the game, is still trying to find a way to make them pay off and stand on their own feet.

Whether Newark will support a baseball team again is a moot question. Stock car racing drew well for the first year, but attendance tapered off considerably and the weather didn't help any. Perhaps local fans are less anxious to spend their money, or perhaps they prefer Milton Berle to nine innings.

The ideal solution would be to find a baseball park just outside Newark on a main line some-

Television or no television, there are still thousands of fans who would be willing to take the kids out to a good Sunday doubleheader, complete with hot dogs and home runs.

FTR EQUIPMENT FOR BONNEVILLE

Local Concern To Make Material For 128-Mile Microwave Link In Oregon

The Bonneville Power Administration, which is already operating the world's largest microwave communication system for a power utility, has contracted for an additional PTM (pulse-time-modulation) microwave link to connect its John D. Ross substation in Washington with a similar station in Cooson, Ore., a distance of 128 miles.

As in the initial installation, which was placed in operation during October, 1950, equipment for the new link will be manufactured by Federal Telephone and Radio Corporation.

Fault-Location Device
Employing 14 channels of the 23 for which the installation may be equipped, the new Federal PTM system will provide facilities for telemetering, supervisory control, VHF mobile radio, and telephone communication. Provision is also made for the installation of a later date of a unique fault-location device that not only detects power-line faults automatically but records the date, time and location of each fault to within 500 feet.

The new Federal PTM system, operating at 2,000 megacycles, will provide high-quality communication facilities, utilizing simple, small, high-powered RF equipment and simple multiplex equipment. Other features include common channeling units, independently operated repeater sections, and simplified repeater drop and insert equipment. The link will have 3 terminals and 4 repeat vers.

The Bonneville Power Administration, an integral part of the U. S. Department of the Interior, furnishes electric power to the utilities and certain industries of the great Pacific Northwest.

Park Commission Allows Army To Use Field House

The Essex County Park Commission at a meeting last week voted to permit the 36th Anti-Aircraft Artillery, encamped in Belleville Park to use the park's field house for bathing purposes during the winter months. Permission was granted subject to the requirement that the army furnish a caretaker at the field-house and that it be responsible for any damage to it. The Army must vacate the fieldhouse on April 1.

struction at the U. S. Naval Supply Corps School, Bayonne. A graduate of Belleville High School, he entered the service in June, 1947.

DATE IS SET FOR CYO'S SNOW BALL

Fifth Annual Social Event
January 18 At Seton Hall
Features Crowning Of Queen

The fifth annual Essex County CYO Snow Ball will be held at Seton Hall University on January 18, according to Rev. John J. Kiley, Essex County CYO director. Highlight of the dance, the top social event on the CYO calendar, will be the crowning of a Snow Queen. Contestants for the honor will be picked from parishes throughout the county. Two bands will provide continuous music for the 2,000 CYO members expected to attend the affair.

The Snow Queen will receive gifts valued at $100, including an evening gown, accessories, flowers, and a trophy. She will also reign over all CYO activities during 1952. After the coronation a Snow Queen Waltz will be played in her honor. Last year's winner of the coveted crown was Dineen Bradley of St. Rose of Lima Parish, Newark. Unsuccessful competitors will serve as the Queen's hand maidens.

The two bands providing the music at the Snow Ball are both well known locally. Larry Tobias's 12-piece combination will alternate with Don Stirling's 11-man orchestra. Both have played frequently at the weekly dances sponsored by the Senior Youth Council. Stirling, in addition, has appeared at the last two Snow Balls.

14 Teachers Attending Meetings on Curriculum

Those Attending Columbia University Curriculum Service Center May Guide Similar Discussions in Schools Here

Fourteen teachers of the Belleville School System have been attending meetings at the Curriculum Service Center of Columbia University. The Belleville teachers have been led in their discussion groups by Mrs. Marcella Lawlor, curriculum consultants for the center. One of the most important points brought out at these meetings was that the basis of the teacher's philosophy should be teaching pupils to think and what to think.

The need for educators to be seriously concerned about the development of critical and independent thinking in their students is evident. Modern education has shown that in order to develop a basis for sound judgment the pupil must increasingly be allowed to formulate and to act upon his own judgment. As he meets his problem, he chooses the one that appears most appropriate and put it into action, and finally evaluating the results. If our democratic way of life is to survive, it will have to adjust to a definite framework of life's conditions.

As a matter of fact, no school program really manifests genuine respect for the child if its procedures involve a disrespect for knowledge and the subject matter of human experience. If education is to do its part, it must become consciously concerned with the social ends as well as the means and methods of education, with the culture as well as the child, as in the high school, as well as in the elementary schools, it is proposed professional staff meetings at least once per month to consider problems which teachers experience in their teaching.

Teaching problems are not confined to subject matter areas — English, history, typing. It must be recognized that there are problems of even greater importance beyond the subject matter area. Many educators have condemned what they have called "compartmentalization." There is a danger in focusing so much attention on subject matter that we neglect to study students.

The first step in curriculum improvement will be to take a problem census. There are many problems in any program. After all the lists of problems have been submitted, they will be tabulated. Then at another staff meeting in mid-January they will be discussed. It will then be determined which problems should be studied. The teachers will make that decision after carefully considering the items mentioned in the problem census.

The constant concern of every teacher throughout this program should be to develop the best human relationships possible in the classroom under any and all circumstances. This development requires attention to the personality growth of the pupils plus frequent self-examination of his own ability to adjust to changing situations. It demands an awareness of the type of change which can be brought about in personality.

LETTERS

Appreciative Director

To the Editor, The Times-News: I would like to thank you for the valuable service which your organization rendered to the Belleville Community Chest in connection with the recent campaign. The Chest has never had better newspaper publicity than that which it received during the 1952 campaign in the Belleville Times.

Please accept my sincere personal thanks for your help in publicizing this worthwhile endeavor and the large part you played in helping us to raise the funds so necessary to maintain those health and welfare services so vital to the community.

With all good wishes for the New Year.

Sincerely,
John L. Dorrethy,
Campaign Director.

Urges "March of Dimes" Support To the Editor, The Times-News: Dear Sir:

I am not a man who spends his time writing letters to the newspapers. There are a lot of other people who do it all the time and, I guess, do it better. But there is one thing on which I would like to sound off, and that is the fight against polio.

As you probably know, I am the father of six children. Every one of them means more to me than anything else in the world, including all the world championships rolled into one. I am writing you as another father and not as the world's heavyweight boxing champion. As a father I would like to get over the idea that I believe we should all get behind this fight against polio. The only way I know to do it is to give all the support we can to the 1952 March of Dimes this January. Maybe you can help with a piece in the paper about it.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis is putting up a terrific scrap against this disease which cripples and sometimes kills our children and the fight seems to be getting tougher all the time. I think the March of Dimes should have all the help we can give it. Just a suggestion, but I had to say it.

Sincerely yours,
Jersey Joe Walcott
Camden, N. J.,
Dec. 21, 1951.

To Editor, Belleville Times-News

Objects to Ridicule

Dear Sir: I am deeply concerned about the manner in which the sentencing of an individual to the County Penitentiary was reported in this week's paper.

All of us who are interested in the welfare of human beings are aware of the dignity of the individual regardless of his state in life. To ridicule those who are less fortunate is a negative approach to the democratic principles in which we are striving to live.

I hope this type of article was an error on the part of the Times, the caliber of which has always been one to respect.

Sincerely,
Miss Marie F. Gunn
Executive Secretary
Family Service of Belleville
December 21, 1951

1952, The Road Ahead.

Ahead of us lies a Year of Decision.

As events are now shaping up, there are four issues which preeminently will dominate the lives of mankind and the relations of the nations of the world in 1952. The road ahead is beset with obstacles, greater than any we ever have encountered, but, this being a Year of Decision, the fate of the world may be established for our time on the basis of the four transcendent decisions the world must make in 1952.

All that has happened since the collapse of our enemies of World War II has been but skirmishes—guerrilla war in Greece, the rape of liberty in the fringe states of the Iron Curtain, the blockade of Berlin, Korea. The supreme test lies ahead. That is why, in this Year of Decision, our fate and the fate of the free world is within our own hands. The decisions we make will shape history.

Unexpected happenings may lie ahead to alter the picture, but at the start of the road of 1952, it is patent that the four major issues of the immediate future will affect very greatly our status in this world.

1. The issue of the American presidency, because leadership of the world must lie in Washington;

2. The issue of purging our own national administration of greed and corruption so as to give back to the nation a high standard of moral decency without which the decline of democracy is as inevitable as was the fall of the Roman Empire;

3. The issue of European union under the immediate command of General Eisenhower which can stand or fall upon a decision which lies with Winston Churchill, whether Britain will align as a partner or stand aloof with only detached interest;

4. The issue of restoring the full prestige of the United Nations as the single human and moral centralized force to compel a respect for an international code of decency, a restoration which depends upon crushing aggression wherever it arises but specifically in Korea.

Those four issues are interdependent. There is no doubt that if our national structure is riddled with the wormholes of moral corruption, we will have lost our usefulness as world leaders. The restoration of national integrity, therefore, is of first importance. Political capital can and doubtless will be made of the tragic spread of corruption in our Federal administration, but the victim is not yet so far gone that deep surgery cannot cure. The cure must be total, and nothing would be served by sweeping out a few dirty corners and ignoring the filth and corruption that exists right up to the very doors of the White House.

Linked closely is the issue of the American presidency. There can be no doubt that twenty years of continuous political control of national affairs by one party has established a Fifth Estate, the politicians and the functionaries who are entrenched. It always is harder to sweep clean with an old broom than with a new one. Administrative department heads cannot be expected to perform the surgery upon their own budgets which are no longer an option but an obligation.

Economy in government is the only solution. There are but three ways of meeting our immediate problem—raising more taxes, going deeper into national debt or drastically cutting our expenses. In industry or in business, bankruptcy alone would be the outcome of greater debt. It is, too, on a national governmental level. Our choice, therefore, lies wholly between another tax raise or slashing our national budget by one-third or one-fourth. Economists know that chaos alone would lie ahead of more taxes. Our national government today costs 1,298 per cent more than it did twelve years ago. One dollar in every three of national income is withheld or paid over in taxes. The 1951 dollar will buy only 44 cents worth of food. Decreasing the value of the dollar, rather than slashing, not merely trimming, the national budget would only bring down our standard of life.

The issue of European Union is one which, alas, depends upon others, chiefly on Winston Churchill and on Britain. Churchill, in his first statement of policy, seems to have relied on the formal pledges of the Atlantic government. Britain, he said, will help European Union, but there can be no question of participation.

Without British participation, the whole project upon which Eisenhower has worked so hard can be but a shell. A European army without the British land, sea and air forces could not survive the first shock. Eisenhower warned Churchill, when the two met in Paris last week, that his whole military project can collapse without British participation.

Already the Benelux group—Holland, Belgium and Luxembourg—are showing signs of resistance to both the Plevan plan for a European army and for the Schuman plan of an economic and political union to include West Germany. If Churchill is to insist upon British neutrality, the Benelux nations want, also, neutrality.

Finally, the issue of the United Nations' prestige is of vital importance. It is hard to distinguish between United States and United Nations action in Korea, but, theoretically, there is a distinction. In a few hours the deadline will be reached. If there is no truce, there can only be a resumption of war. In the last hours, the Chinese Communists heaped stinging abuse upon us. They dictated conditions which we would have had to accept without debate. They made it clear that they do not fear the power of a coalition of fifty free nations. If we and the United Nations take the Chinese insults sitting down, if we cede or make concessions under such conditions, the prestige of the UN will sink to the low level of that of the defunct League of Nations in the black hours of the aggressions of dictators in Ethiopia and in Finland.

We can keep peace unbroken in 1952. War is not inevitable. Our stockpile of atomic weapons and the ever-increasing military strength of the Western nations are a pair of powerful deterrents. The danger of a third World War is less now than in the dramatic hours of the Berlin airlift.

But, the decision of peace depends upon ourselves and upon how we solve or force the solution of the four major issues. Any weakness on our part would, fatally and inevitably, lead us into a war of the enemy's doing. If we want peace, we must show strength. If we want peace, we must show decision. 1952 is the Year of Decision.

Blackmail As Foreign Policy

The Hungarians have us over a barrel and there is not much else we can do, under the circumstances, but pay. Either way you look at it, the United States stands to lose face: if we pay $120,000 to buy the freedom of our four airmen or if we choose to refuse to pay and compel the American fliers to spend three months in a Budapest jail.

When Robert Voegler, a businessman with direct Nutley connections as foreign representative for the I. T. & T. parent corporation of the Federal companies, was arrested, held for 18 months in a Hungarian jail and then tried and found guilty of "espionage", the United States government was only indirectly responsible under the tradition that Americans have the protection of their government.

In the case of the four fliers, however, our government is directly concerned. They were flying an official mission in American uniforms. Some may question why we trust million dollar planes in the hands of fliers who prove their ineptness at reading their maps or their instruments and get lost. Some may question whether they really were "lost" or whether their assigned mission took them behind the Iron Curtain for a quick look. Whatever their motive or their mission, they flew in the uniforms of our Air Force.

Obviously, $120,000 is not expensive for the freedom of four airmen. I spent 18 months in wartime internment in Germany while our own State Department haggled and bargained with Hitler, through the intermediary of the Swiss Government, for the freedom of 123 Americans in the Gestapo camp. It was a mean process, like buying or selling potatoes, but in the end our government bought our freedom. The price it paid was 11½ German prisoners for my freedom and that of the 122 other Americans. Thus, the Hungarian government's blackmail is not without its precedent.

There was a time when America's temper was of the hair trigger variety. The Barbary Coast pirates plucked several American sailors off their Clipper ships along the Arab coasts of the Mediterranean, and held them for ransom under a threat to sell them into slavery as 20,000 others had disappeared in those early days of the Nineteenth Century. The United States were still in their teens at the time but the President sent several frigates over to blow the Mohammedan ports off the map of Mediterranean Africa and the blackmailers soon handed over the American sailors.

We could give way to our tempers and we could threaten the Hungarians to smash Budapest off the map with an Atom-bomb—which they full well know we could do. But the plane which forced the American bomber down in Hungary was a Soviet plane. If we bombed Buda Pest we would, inevitably, find ourselves in a major war with Russia—the unwanted World War III.

So we have little choice. We know it's blackmail and the Communists know it. Pay, we say, but write the little debt down in our black book and some day when, inevitably, there comes a day of reckoning, make them pay—with interest, compounded and compounded.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

Ratification of Japanese Peace Treaty, Which Cannot Be Long Delayed, May Upset Delicate Balance in Far East

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Unarmed in a world that is spending far more than it can afford on rearming, Japan, on the threshold of restored freedom, feels like a shorn lamb—and apparently likes it.

Early in the New Year, Congress must vote for or against the ratification of the Japanese peace treaty which was signed in San Francisco last August. Ninety days after that final ratification, our military occupation of Japan will end. Technically, our protection of Japan will end also and, thus far, there is no attempt to give Japan even stopgap protection of her own. In fact, the overwhelming majority of the Japanese parliament is opposed to rearmament.

Senator J. Alexander Smith, New Jersey's senior member of the upper house is back from Japan as a member of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee's Far Eastern subgroup, studying the prospects of our withdrawal from Japan, and indicated to The Times-News that unless certain guarantees of non-deviation from our well-established anti-Communist line are forthcoming, there might be "formidable obstacles" to the Senate ratification of the treaty.

Senator Smith and Senator John J. Sparkman, of Alabama, the senior Republican and Democratic party members on the vital Foreign Affairs Committee, made it clear in Tokyo that one such "formidable obstacle" would be Sino-Japanese relations if Japan, once its full freedom is established, recognizes the Chinese Communist regime of Mao-Tse-tung or establishes increased trade relations with Red China or other Communist nations in Asia. Even though Japan would enjoy full freedom to define her own political and trade policies, she will not be allowed to weaken our defensive position in the Far East.

That decision was taken at a time when Japan was smarting from the first defeat of her history. It was taken when Russia was not the menace she is today. It was taken when Chiang-Kai-Shek was still in Chungking and Mao was an annoying opponent nibbling around the edges of Nationalist China.

Times have changed, but not the Japanese mentality. Japan still hates her military caste which got her into a war and lost it. Having renounced war constitutionally, Japan may be hard to convince to scrap that clause and to build up another army and help us defend the anti-Communist defense line we drew from the Aleutians to Indonesia through Korea, around Formosa and engulfing Indochina and the Malayan peninsula.

Police With Bazookas
Right now Japan has no army but has a 75,000-man National Police Reserve, which looks and trains like an army but cannot be used, constitutionally, to help us defend our Pacific perimeter. The NPR is pledged only to "maintain domestic peace and order." Yet most of its men served in the Imperial army during the war and it is fully equipped and trained in the use of such non-police weapons as bazookas, anti-aircraft artillery and mortars.

The NPR is being imposed upon the whole of Japan despite Japanese Socialist opposition to any form of Japanese rearmament. About a thousand local autonomous police units are being absorbed into the NPR thus giving Japan a centralized police administration which is in the budget for $200,000,000 in 1952. It is a sorry way to turn the constitutional clause banning war forevermore, but Japan, unprotected, would be a prize plum.

Dulles Urges Rearmarmg
John Foster Dulles, who spent a year commuting between Washington and Tokyo, London, Paris and other capitals composing fears and patiently drafting the treaty which was signed in San Francisco, has told the Japanese it is not only their right but their duty to rearm.

Now in Japan on a fact-finding mission for the Senate, before it takes up treaty ratification and the Japanese-American security pact in January, Dulles told the Japanese that "Japan as a sovereign nation has a duty not merely to herself but to her neighbors to participate in the collective security planning of the free world."

Dulles said perhaps the Japanese did not realize that neutrality and disarmament were no longer manifestations of high respectable sovereignty.

"No nation has a right to refuse to make a contribution to collective security," he said. "Nor had any nation a right to expose itself so that it can be exploited against its neighbors," he said.

Switzerland was about the only country in the world which could afford to be neutral, he continued. If Japan were controlled by communism, Mr. Dulles said, its manpower and industrial resources would be used for new aggression in the Pacific.

MacArthur's Role
The discharge of General MacArthur obviously is making difficult the integration of Japan in our Pacific defense system. If MacArthur had remained in Tokyo, there would have been no problem. Japan would have gone in any direction he pointed. It is no secret that MacArthur had conceived for Japan in the Far East the role of a policeman on the corner.

We must never forget that it was MacArthur who succeeded in twisting the Japanese Constitution's anti-army restrictions to enable the creation of National Police which is destined to play such a major role in our defense scheme. It was MacArthur, also, who laid the foundation for the grant, by Japan, of land, air and sea bases for American forces in the Japanese archipelago.

No inkling yet has come out as to which of the present bases in Japan will be maintained; this will not become clear until considerably after hostilities are concluded in Korea. It safely can be presumed, however, that the future pattern of bases in Japan will place primary emphasis upon air and naval facilities.

Loss Big Bases
The United States eventually will give up its air establishment in Hokkaido, northernmost of the four Japanese islands, and concentrate on Misawa—a huge base in northern Honshu which was constructed in 1949 with runways capable of handling B-36's.

Two other main air centers probably would be maintained. One of these is in the Tokyo region, where a triangle of massive bomber-fighter bases is located just outside the city limits, at Tachikawa.

The air-base network would then jump over southern Honshu bases now being used and concentrate on the aerial grid on northern Kyushu—Itazuke, Brady, and Ashiya fields—from which air cargo and operational attack flights are daily being mounted into Korea.

While prepared to recognize the almost inevitable Japanese request that American troops be maintained outside urban centers of Japan after a peace treaty, the United States Army and Air Force are expected to press hard for maintenance of these three air centers.

Vital Naval Bases

The United States naval command in Japan is expected to confine its operation to the area in and around Yokosuka—former Japanese naval base on Tokyo Bay just south of Tokyo and Yokohama. This base has been largely dismantled, although its former commander, Rear Admiral Benton W. Decker, managed to win his battle to save large sections of the ship-repair facilities.

Today Yokosuka has been pared down to minimum requirements for major ship overhaul and repair, including sheds of machine tools which were brought from Guam for the project. Naval ships operating in the western Pacific, therefore, would need go only to Yokosuka for major repairs rather than make the long haul back to Honolulu or Bremerton.

A secondary naval station probably would be maintained at Sasebo, on Kyushu Island. This former Japanese naval base was used as the major naval staging base for the invasion of Inchon, Korea, but possesses only secondary facilities.

The permanent inclusion of Japanese bases in the American western Pacific defense chain, meanwhile, also would necessitate the stationing of infantry units not only to guard the installations but to help preserve general internal order inside Japan. Under terms of the final security pact between the United States and Japan, these troops presumably would not be called out unless specifically requested by the Japanese Government to support action taken by its own National Police Reserve.

It is obvious, however, that as a force in being—a policeman on the corner—they would act as a serious deterrent to any aggressive moves against Japan from outside. Any potential aggressor, in other words, would have to reckon with the fact that an attack on Japan would constitute in effect an attack upon United States forces.

With Atlantic Fleet Champions

John Kaldy, star of Belleville High's basketball team of 1949-50, now seaman apprentice with the United States Navy, on duty with the Amphibious Force at Little Creek, Va., is now playing center as a member of the Amphib basketball squad. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Kaldy of 72 Charles street. He is home on a leave until tomorrow and scrimmaged against the High School varsity several days this week. The Amphib squad last year sported a 40 won and 17 lost record and won the Atlantic Fleet Championship honors. After winning that title the "Gators" entered the All-Navy tournament. They won two out of three from the Pensacola Air Station in the quarter-finals, but were eliminated by the Norfolk Naval Air Station in the semi-finals. Norfolk later went on to win the tourney.

The Gators seemingly are on their way to another Atlantic fleet crown this year with a 6 and 3 record and Kaldy in the starting lineup as center is bidding for high scoring honors. In each of the last five games he has hit for more than 14 points.

While at Belleville High, Kaldy won letters in basketball, tennis and baseball, and was Second Team All-County and honorable mention for All-State in basketball. He enrolled at the Potomac State College where he again played varsity basketball. He reported to the Amphibious Base from the USS Donner, a landing ship, dock, a unit of the Amphibious Force, U. S. Atlantic Fleet.

Recreation Basketball

Just to keep the record straight a word of praise for the efforts for the Recreation Department and its basketball leagues is due. This activity of the Recreation Department provides the world's most popular sport for anyone who cares to play, from youngsters of the Grammar School and Junior Leagues, up to former varsity stars who perform for the Senior Circuit.

The Junior League plays on Saturday mornings in the boys gym of the High School under the direction of Ed Berlinski and Ray Smith. Games start at 8:30. At the same time the Grammar School League operates in the Girl's Gym with Jitty Wische in charge. There are about eighty boys representing eight schools in this circuit. The recreation commission has supplied the teams with blue and gold jerseys. Ray Ward, Superintendent of Recreation suggests that parents and friends of these boys would help encourage them by their attendance for a few minutes on Saturday mornings.

The Intermediate League for boys of High School age has 14 teams and plays two games each Wednesday night at the High school. The Senior League has a dozen teams and plays Monday nights at the High School. In addition to these circuits there is basketball at the Friendly House in Silver Lake each Tuesday and Thursday.

Altogether there are 500 men and boys involved in the activity. Friday and Sunday are the only days of the week when the Recreation Department does not have a game on tap. The public is invited to attend these games. One has to take pot luck as far as quality of the ball is concerned, for in some instances the competition is not exactly even, but when leading teams in any one of the league are matched, a good and exciting game can be witnessed.

More for Varsity Shell Fund

The Belleville Varsity Club which undertook to order an eight-oared shell for the Belleville High School Crew, at a cost of $2,000, must still raise $384.69 before March 1st to meet the cost of the boat. This week the club through its Shell chairman, Mac Lamb, reports the collection of $35. The Democratic Club of Silver Lake donated $5; Seymour Symond of Belleville-Nutley Buick; Mr. Robbins of the Boston Store and Smith's Esso Service station each gave $10. This column recommends that if Mr. Lamb calls on you that you give serious and generous consideration to his plea. The shell will be a big help to the crew efforts of Bill Bennett who put Belleville on the sports map through his coaching efforts.

Postponed Tilt With Garfield On Tap Tomorrow

Coach Jitty Wische Scrimmages His Twelve Man Varsity Against Power Laden A9lumni Gridders In Vacation

The Belleville-Garfield basketball game, originally scheduled for Tuesday night and then Friday night of last week, was postponed at the last minute on Friday and is now scheduled to be played Friday night of this week. Originally the game was postponed because of a storm, but the postponed date had to be cancelled because of a date conflict on the use of the gym. In the meantime Coach Jitty Wische has been drilling his cagers every day of the vacation in an effort to whip them into shape for the season which begins in earnest after the start of the new year.

The Bellboys ran up against some rugged competition in the drills this week, for they scrimmaged against an alumni combination made up of the stars of last year's great team, plus the members of the Essex County Championship team of 1949-50.

Coach Wische, notorious for his seven man combinations, has been using all twelve members of his varsity squad in games and drills in an effort to get the strongest possible combination for the tough games coming up.

The team resumes its schedule on Wednesday, playing West Side High at Newark and then meets Orange High here on Friday. The first big game comes up on Tuesday, January 8, when a better than usual Bloomfield club invades the Belleville gym. So far Coach Wische has managed to hold the Indian sign over George Cella, the Bengal mentor and it would be a nice plum if the Bellboys could knock the Bengals off their all-winning perch.

Hillside High who gave Seton Hall's Essex Champs a big scare on the Setonia floor, will be the visitors here on Friday, January 11. Nutley, with a very good team under John Garnevious in his freshman year as coach, will be the January 15 foe at Nutley and the attraction here ten days later.

Zebra Kid Faces DeSouza In Last 1951 Mat Card

A finish match between The Zebra Kid, newest hooded grappling sensation, and Mario De Souza, scientific Spanish wrestler, will close out the 1951 wrestling season at Laurel Garden, Newark, Friday night, December 28. The Zebra has never been beaten here highly heralded five weeks ago and has headlined every card that he has appeared in. He combines clever with villainous work and has his share of supporters as well as those who are disincensed in his rough stuff. De Souza has shown impressively many times before the Newark folks. They like him for his ability to wriggle out of a seemingly foolproof hold. Also he can get rough if the occasion arises and it is a cinch to think that he will be forced into the situation because The Zebra has to employ illegal tactics to make a victory complete.

Granted Scholarship

President Edwin S. Burdell of The Cooper Union announced today that Stanley L. Walling of 141 Beech Street, is one of 32 Essex County residents who have been granted the equivalent of full tuition scholarships for study in engineering and art during the institutions' 92nd year which began this fall.

Bob Porterfield Will Ride In Style of "Senator"

"They still pay when you produce the goods" is the attitude of Bob Porterfield of 268 Forest street, a pitcher with the Washington Senators, as he accepts a bill of sale from Tex White of the Belleville Motors, for a brand new Oldsmobile. Also pictured is Robert Vander Hoff, sales manager of the automobile concern. Bob Porterfield moved to Belleville while playing with the Newark Bears and bought his home here when he joined the New York Yankees. His contract was sold to the Washington Senators last year.

Miss Carolyn Pohl of School Number Three and Mrs. Adeline Bennett of School Number Seven's faculty reported at the December teachers' meeting on the work done by members of Belleville's Curriculum Study Group at Teachers College, Columbia University.

Pupils of grade 6B, under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Ann Robinson, presented a play, Uncle William's Secret, as part of the Thursday morning assembly program. Members of the cast included: William Bartell, Catherine Chieffo, Marie Volk, Nancy Burnley and Joseph Palmieri.

DAV OFFERS HELP WITH VET CLAIMS

Service Officers Will Be At Recreation House On January 2 To Give Aid

Because a reduction in the force of the Veterans Administration, the free service of the Disabled American Veterans for disabled veterans, their widows and dependents, is more vital than ever, John Densler, Commander of the Belleville Chapter said today in announcing that a DAV service officer will be at the Recreation House in Joralemon Street on January 2 to assist veterans in their claims, hospitalization, insurance, employment and other problems.

Commander Densler says the DAV is striving to extend its services through the state to make sure that all veterans are aware of their rights under present law.

"We are especially concerned with returning Korean disabled," he said, "who are being discharged from service hospitals without knowledge as to benefits and rehabilitation assistance they are justly entitled to under government sponsorship.

"The reduction in force of Veterans Administration employees and facilities makes the job of the DAV even more important, and we will do everything in our power to disseminate this information."

TEACHERS IMPROVE
STANDING THROUGH COLLEGE COURSES

Seventy-Seven Teachers
And Administrators Have
Their Master Degrees

Belleville teachers are improving in professional growth by attending colleges or universities for a continuation of their education. Practically every teacher of the Belleville Public Schools is attending classes increasing their educational attainments; also for advanced degrees in their present subject field, in administration and supervision, or in guidance and personnel.

Registration and attendance at these courses is an excellent means of widening the scope of a teacher's educational background. It also keeps the teacher aware of the latest developments in various problems of the modern school, develops new methods of motivation for the presentation of material to the students, and gives the opportunity for the exchange of ideas among the teachers from different school systems registered in the courses.

Seventy-seven of the teachers and administrators in the Belleville school system have secured their master's degrees, and eleven of them have at least thirty-two credits beyond the masters degree. Many of the teachers are members of the Belleville Workshop, which is a laboratory of educational thoughts and ideas, that has an important function in solving problems.

Teachers and administrators have secured masters' degrees from the following colleges and universities: Columbia University, Seton Hall University, New York University, Montclair State Teachers College, Rutgers University, Syracuse University, and Cornell University.

FACULTY DISPLAYS
AMAZING TALENT
AT YULE PROGRAM

Teachers Dance, Sing
Render Instrumental Solos And Act Parts

At the Christmas assembly program in Belleville High School, the teachers of the school astounded the students with their amazing repertoire of talent. The teachers chorus sang "Here Comes Santa Claus," and then the dance team of Mrs. Eileen Brown, James Chiara, Miss Dorothy Maffeo, Mrs. Harriet Dorrell, Hector Gialanella, Robert Bartlett, and Austin Mac Arthur gave a snappy dance routine entitled "Rudolph." On the final chorus the entire audience joined in the "Rudolph" song.

Phillip Perkins played a violin solo of "Ave Maria," and that was followed by everyone singing "White Christmas." The newly formed square dance team of teachers showed their skill at old fashioned country dancing, and then Mr. Perkins demonstrated his skill playing the dry mop, which is a very reasonable facsimile of a bass violin in tone, but not in appearance. Michael Rosamilia sang a parody on "Because of You," and everyone joined together in singing "Jingle Bells." Robert Bartlett played all the parts of an excellent act filled with comedy and pathos. Herbert Matlick played several trombone solos, and then the show was topped off by a visit from Santa Claus portrayed by Harold Dufford.

Three Men Are Injured
In Early Morning Crash

Three men were injured early Friday morning when a New Jersey Bell Telephone truck made a U-turn in Washington Avenue in front of the new exchange building and was hit by a car going north on the avenue. Both the car and the truck were badly damaged.

Ivan Burtis of 18 Harper Terrace, Cedar Grove, was driving the telephone truck. He was most seriously hurt and was held at St. Mary's Hospital, Passaic, for possible rib and leg fractures. Russell Hodun of 2037 Balmoral Avenue, Union, a helper on the truck, was slightly injured but refused treatment.

The other car was driven by Albert Cooper of 60 Beech Street. He had as his passenger Walter Shanks of 51 Oraton Street, Newark. Cooper had two stitches taken in his forehead and Shanks had stitches taken in the bridge of his nose.

Walked Into Moving Car

Joseph LaValle, 58, of 192 Heckel Street, was held at Columbus Hospital on Thursday after he walked into the side of a car driven by Henry J. Weeks, of 61 Van Reyper Place, who was driving east on Franklin Street. The accident occurred in front of 99 Franklin Street. LaValle was taken to the hospital in the Municipal Ambulance by Fireman Spillane and Cafone.
