

So What?

Charles Travis of 120 Belmont Street, former newspaperman and now an advertising account executive for Radio Station WNJR, will be on the "We the People" television program Friday night on Channel 4 from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. Mr. Travis will interview Matty Ray, who delivers bundles of newspapers to Belleville newsmen, and introduce Matty's dog, "Tricks." "Tricks" is an eight-year-old combination of Eskimo, Spitz, Collie and Belgian dog, and, according to the paper, barking and knows 500 words which he identifies by barking out the number of letters. One thing is necessary on such a program, the interviewer must be smarter than the dog.

Mr. Travis, who bought his house in Belleville in August, was with the Newark Evening News for 24 years as police reporter, sports desk assistant editor and later was national advertising representative, moved on to the radio station when that was opened by the Call's successor. He and Mrs. Travis have two sons, Frank and George, who attend Seton Hall High School and Charles P. Jr., a student at St. Vincent's Academy, Newark.

John J. Kant, of 249 Washington Avenue, Superintendent of the Belleville Post Office, has completed 10 years in the service of the Post Office Department on Saturday.

Michael Capanera of 34 Franklin Street recently donated his 12th book to the shelves of the James G. Shawyer School Library. Mr. Capanera has set goal of 200 books and appears well on his way. He is a past president of the "Belleville Book Club," a member of the Guard of Honor Society of St. Anthony's Church, director of trustees of the Silver Lake Building and Loan Association for 22 years, and president and secretary of the Belleville Book Board. Mr. Capanera is an ardent collector of books and of commemorative stamps in mint blocks.

Anthony Maffia, 4, of 54 Smith Street, was hit by a taxicab in the city of Newark Saturday. He was taken to Columbus Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Vaccaro for cuts and bruises on the head. He was held for X-ray examination.

Frank Zillgen of 328 Cortland Street reported to the police on Friday that his son Bruce, 4, had been bitten by a stray dog. The child was taken to the office of Dr. Meenan for treatment.

Mary Cervasi, 34, of 247 Bastogne Square, Newark, stumbled over a step in an alley alongside the city hall Saturday afternoon, fell and injured her back. The Belleville ambulance responded to a call from a neighbor. Mrs. Cervasi refused assistance, claiming that she would consult her own doctor upon arriving home.

BLOOD BANKS NEED MORE DONORS

Essex Bank Needs 20 Today; Defense Blood Bank Requires Ninety More For Tomorrow

Mrs. John Walsh chairman of Staff Aides, Belleville Chapter, American Red Cross, has taken over the task of recruiting donors for the two blood donor assemblies sponsored by the Red Cross in Belleville this week. She stepped into the breach when General Fund Chairman for the Red Cross Drive, Mrs. Walsh reported as of Monday evening that she had registered forty eight donors for the Essex County Blood Bank, scheduled at the High School, this afternoon, from 2:30 to 6:30. She says that at least 20 more donors should register to insure reaching the quota of 60 points, protecting against possible rejections.

For the Defense Blood Bank, scheduled for tomorrow afternoon, at the Elks Club from 1 P.M. to 5 P.M., Mrs. Walsh has signed up 90 donors. This includes members of the Elks who are sponsoring this assembly as a part of the National Blood Program of the R.T.O.E. Since the quota is 125 points for the Defense Bank, Mrs. Walsh and the Elks Recruitment Committee are redoubting their efforts to add at least 20 more donors to the present list.

Liquid Carbonic Gets Its Permit For Water Tower

Peace Reigns For About An Hour; Late Objectors Blow Up Again; Reiterate Objections To Foundry

Just when it looked like the Board of Commissioners had finally settled things in regard to the Liquid Carbonic Corporation of 666 Washington Avenue, and its neighbors during a pre-meeting public caucus, Tuesday night, the roof nearly blew off the town hall when late citizens, who had missed the caucus thought something was being put over on them and started the complaints about the firm all over again. By that time the Commission had given the company its approval of the building permit for its water cooling tower. In the caucus Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan read a letter from Lum, Fairlie and Foster, signed by Assemblyman William F. Tompkins in which it was stated that with in two months the Liquid Carbonic Corporation would eliminate the two causes of complaint as to noise, first by the closing of the windows and the elimination of the steam exhaust pipes. The work may be completed before that time depending upon the arrival of the silencing equipment.

Withdrawal Resistance A second letter from Harland D. Box, chairman of a special committee to work out a compromise and a spokesman for the neighbors said, "After the promises of Lum, Fairlie and Foster for the Liquid Carbonic and the personal assurance of Mr. John Struckmeyer, we feel that we should withdraw any resistance. We desire to give them a chance to make good their promise."

On the strength of these letters, Commissioner King later offered a resolution directing the Building Inspector to issue the permit for the erection of the water cooling tower in the rear of the plant.

More Objections As the Commission was about to adjourn a number of people including Mrs. Alexander Munro of 138 Bremont Street, objected. Mrs. Munro was among those who missed the caucus and for her benefit the letters were read over. Mrs. Munro still was not satisfied, and asked what assurance the people have that the fan in the cooling tower would not be speeded up and that there would not be new noises. She also complained about odor and accused the Health Department's inspector of having a convenient nose which can never smell what other people smell.

Town Attorney Keenan told Mrs. Munro that the questionnaires distributed in the neighborhood some time ago have not been collected, questioned the advisability of the promises, these can be collected and given to the local magistrate's court.

Object to Foundry The group was also up in arms over the granting of a license to the firm of the Malcolm Brothers for their premises in Railroad Place. Mr. Box said he was not going to discuss the more than 100 workers in Belleville who did so much in making the tower. The company is going over the top by the $600.

Son to George Snow Mr. and Mrs. George Snow of 29 Rossmore Place announce the birth of a son, Guy Alan, Sunday, February 24, at Lutheran Memorial Hospital, Newark. The couple have three other children.

RODINO ANSWERS SOLDIER'S PLEA

His Inquiries Uncover Error Made In Army Induction Of Frank Petito Of Belleville

Congressman Rodino, representative of the 10th District, has announced that he has been advised of an early Army discharge for Frank Petito, 24, of 53 Nolton Street, Belleville, who was inducted erroneously.

Drafted last December 5, Petito has already served in the Army from December 5, 1945, to January 1, 1947. Feeling that a mistake had been made, he went to his commanding officers at Fort Lee, Va., and wrote to Rodino for assistance. Inquiries were made by the Congressman and the mistake was discovered.

According to Petito's wife, Nancy, he had presented a photograph of his discharge papers when he went for his physical examination. He had been deferred by his draft board the year before, but was reclassified a short time before his induction.

He is commander of Belleville Post No. 1 American Legion, past president of the Belleville Political and Social Club, past executive board member of the Belleville High School Alumni Association; past president of the Hilltop Athletic League; member of the board of the Newark Deafening Society and a member of the Board of Trustees of the Belleville Family Service Bureau.

During the public hearing on the Municipal Budget, at the Board of Commissioners meeting, Tuesday night, woman rose to her feet and asked Acting Mayor Patrick A. Tully's Salary Is Target During Budget Hearing

Robert C. Gruhin and James R. Golden Argue That He Should Be On Military Leave Without Municipal Salary

The Board of Commissioners were raked over the coals on Tuesday night by several speakers at the annual public hearing on the Municipal Budget for the inclusion of the annual salary of $2,750 of Mayor James J. Tully, a first lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve, now serving a tour of duty on the Pacific Coast. Attorney Robert C. Gruhin and James R. Golden of Tappan Avenue, particularly, took the stand that Mayor Tully is on a military leave of absence and should not receive a salary for a job he cannot perform because of his physical absence from town. Mr. Golden went even further and suggested that the Commission could abolish the job of Deputy Mayor, at $5,100 per year, held by Mayor Tully's brother William.

COMMISSIONERS GIVE VERSIONS OF "AGREEMENT"

James R. Golden's Objections To Secret Agreements Gets Two Different Answers

The newspaper feud between Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde and Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan was dragged in to the business of the Board of Commissioners on Tuesday night through the efforts of James R. Golden, who told the Commissioners that it is not in the interest of the public for members of the commission to make secret agreements in the interest of meeting harmony. Commissioner Sullivan, who in his statement printed in the Times-News last week declared that Commissioner Hyde had violated a gentlemen's agreement not to argue commission business in the public press, declared that when he came on the Board he became a member of the Belleville Corporation. In private corporations, differences of opinion are ironed out at board meetings between the members and accusations are not aired in the newspapers.

Objects to Abuse "One of the reasons for poor government in this town is the high ideals step aside when subjected to remarks such as were heard here tonight and their place is taken by persons with low ideals but more hardened hearts," he declared. Commissioner Hyde declared that he knows of no such agreement and if there was one he was not bound to it. "I have high respect for Mr. Sullivan and my complaint was against the principal of the over-zealous effort to reduce the personal nature. If any gentlemen's agreement, such as referred to by Commissioner Hyde, was made, I do not recall it."

Defends Tully

Acting Mayor Waters pointed out that this is the second time that Mayor Tully has lowered his country's call to service, that he has a family of a wife and four children, that he has pulled up stakes and leave town and that Mr. Tully had to give up his business to become one of the many men offering themselves for the defense of our homes. "I for one would not want to be responsible for depriving the town of a small salary he gets from the Town of Belleville."

Cut Four More Points

While no changes were made in the budget as a result of the discussion, a number of technical changes were made by resolution at the recommendation of Commissioner of Local Affairs, Walter R. Darby. The resolution also called for the appropriation of an extra $20,000 for the revenue, to reduce the tax rate by four points in addition to the $1.00 per $100 of the original version of the budget. This will bring the rate down from 6.55 to 6.42.

Gruhin's Objections

Mr. Gruhin raised a number of objections to the budget, charging that it was not in enough detail, that it lacked a structure of detail, and that the explanation and that industry apparently was not affected by the budget. Mr. Gruhin pointed out that at a recent meeting he had urged that the department of revenue and finance be put under the jurisdiction of Mr. Tully, because he is the best burdened with the responsibility of administering a major committee.

He searched the record and can find no record of a public meeting at which the department was allocated to Acting Mayor Waters. He also pointed out that he found no record of a public meeting at which Mr. Tully was being granted a military leave. He maintained that the law specifies that a portion of an employee's salary which is more than $100 a year is in military pay.

Opposes Salary Raises

Mr. Golden took up where Mr. Gruhin left off and said the town is paying a salary for an officer that is not being properly filled. Mr. Golden also declared that the people of Belleville, at the general election had issued a mandate to the Commissioners against any salary raises whatever, when they unopposedly put township commissioners in office.

Tullys

the police salary raises. Mr. Golden said that according to that no right to vote anyone $200 extra.
Acting Mayor Waters declared up he declared that he was in that when the police raise came favor of every full time municipal employee being treated exactly the same, "and they are."
Mr. Golden argued that had the raises been withheld the Commissioners could give the people a 35 point reduction in the tax rate instead of the 34 promised.

Pays Under Protest
Getting off the subject of the budget, Mr. Golden said that he had paid his water bill under protest, since it covered water between July 31 and January 3, while the ordinance raising the rates was not passed until December. He maintained that that was retroactive legislation and against the law.
Collector William Friel was present and replied that he had anticipated such a complaint and had secured an opinion that any bills rendered after the final passage of the ordinance on December 26, 1931 should be at the new rate.

Urges Higher Industry Taxes
Another objector, Lawrence Hornum, argued that industry in Belleville should bear a greater proportion of the tax levy through increased rates. He also criticized Belleville's schools, and on this point was advised that he had his opportunity to object to the school budget both at a public hearing and at the school election. As for the increased assessments against industry, Acting Mayor Waters said the town has just been reversed by the County Board of Taxation on an assessment increase of $30,000 against a Belleville firm. The county board had declared that anything over $15,000 is excessive. Mr. Waters declared that this assessment is going to be carried to a higher court.

common bond of "people helping people" that drew the members of the Lions and the Red Cross together.
In this Leap Year, with February 29th as an extra day in the calendar, Mr. Hollander suggested that it might well be dedicated to giving "your loved and your money," both vital ingredients in the maintenance of these essential services to humanity.
Predicts Success
Paying tribute to the whole-hearted devotion by both industry and Labor, the speaker felt that lasting good to the community, as well as the individual would be the outcome of a successful Red Cross Drive, such as he was sure this 1932 effort was going to be for Belleville.
Miss Dorothy Nell Darby and Phyllis G. Barnett of the Belleville Chapter, American Red Cross, also told what the local chapter was doing in the community.

More Boat Fund Donations

Mac Lamb, chairman of the Varsity Club's boat fund reports that although enough money had been raised last week to purchase the 60-foot long eight-oared shell for the Belleville High crew, and there is enough to purchase an "over the river over the road" insurance policy besides. Anything over and above the actual expenses will be returned to the Athletic Club, which underwrote the drive to the extent of $800. Since last week Mr. Lamb has had seven substantial gifts totaling $260. One a check for $100 is from a person who wishes to remain anonymous. National Youth donated $50 and $25 gifts were forwarded by Hanlon & Goodman, Federal Leather, Hoffman Rigging and Crane Company and George Worthington. Savino's Sport Shop of Nutley added $10 to the cause.

Keeping Up with Ed Littig Dept.

Ed Littig and his roller riders with the help of Reggie McNamara, former six-day great, now in his 65th year but in prime condition, put on their show at the Essex County Sanitarium, Thursday night for most of the patients, show took a lively interest in the races. As usual Littig did his strip act and then he rode a pursuit race with Charlie Logan, who finally passed Littig after going the equivalent of four miles. Clark Alby and Ray Frate rode a three mile point race with a sprint at the end of each mile. Alby took the first and Frate the second. Alby rode the rubber by a margin so close that it looked like a dead heat on the dial. Reggie McNamara rode a mile and one half against Leonard Ward, another veteran, and won on the last lap. A race between Charlie Logan and Ray Frate on one mile, was won by Logan. The final event was a one-mile sprint between Clark Alby and Jack Brohal, a young lad who is coming along nicely on the rollers. This race was won by Alby, who managed to kick in the last fast sprint at the finish. McNamara the old sea dog of the bike game rode more than 150 six-day races during his prime and one of the greatest legends of all time. Harvey Black, another track veteran acted as Master of Ceremonies.

Olympic Year Brings Memories

It is a singular achievement for anyone to be able to say that he was once a member of the U. S. Olympic team, and each four years when the Olympic year rolls around, those who have been fortunate enough to have taken part in the games is justly proud of the honor bestowed. Such is the case of Chris Dotterweich of 57 Prospect Place, who was a member of the four man Olympic bike team which competed in the 1920 games at Antwerp, Belgium. Dotterweich, although not a resident of Belleville at the time was keeping company with a Belleville girl, who later became his wife, and has resided here for 30 of the 32 intervening years.

But a Belleville youth was on that Olympic team as the person of Mike Delaney from Brighton Avenue, who placed second in the steeplechase that year. Mike, now with Wammaker's store in New York, no longer resides in Belleville.

And there have been others over the years who have had connections in Belleville, whether Bellevilles or not. One such is Frank DeGenero, who was on the boxing team for the 1924 games, and who operated a gas station at Franklin Avenue and Joralemon Street for many years. Joe Kopski, who raced a bike in the 1912 games, in Stockholm, Sweden, ran a bike shop on Washington Avenue for many years. William Logan, formerly of North Arlington, but with relatives in town was on the American bike team for the 1906 games at Berlin.

Dotterweich, who was winner-up for the all-around championship of the American Bicycle League in 1917, 1920 and 1921, recalls that his own Olympic endeavors were short, sweet and disastrous. The American team took a slow boat to Europe, arrived one day before the bicycle competition began, and with legs better fitted for the rolling gait of a sailor than for bike peddling, were left far out of the prize picture. With about a month's training on the championship course, the Americans might have stood a chance. After competing himself, Dotterweich stayed in Antwerp to watch the rest of the games. His collections of programs from the various events, and pictures of the various ceremonies and parades, is a treasure worth acquiring by the Library or some historical organization.

Brought up in an orphanage in Newark, after his father died, leaving his mother with six small children, Mr. Dotterweich learned the die making trade, but he gave it up to accept an appointment to the Belleville police force on which he served for about 17 years before retiring on disability pension in 1944. His disability arose from an accident on a motorcycle in 1932, in which he suffered a broken leg, which still bothers him from time to time. For ten of his years in the police department he was in charge of fingerprinting.

Following his retirement from the police force, Mr. Dotterweich resumed his old trade of die making and is presently working a night shift at the Wallace & Tiernan plant. Mr. Dotterweich recently called up Ed Littig and gave him his Olympic bicycle, to be turned over to some deserving youngster who is taking an interest in riding. It is a foreign made bike, with gun metal frame, and 35 years ago cost more than $100 for the frame alone. Mr. Littig hopes to find time between his work and his roller riding to fit the frame with new wheels and tires. He knows several promising local youngsters who would relish such a valuable and venerable frame.

Bellboys Eliminated

Belleville High's basketball team which did such a creditable job during the regular season, never got going in the Essex County Tournament. They squeaked into the quarter-final round by edging Our Lady of the Valley and were out-throated, especially on the foul line by the West Orange Cowboys, the Cinderella team of the competition. How the selecting committee ever figured that West Orange didn't deserve a seeding is beyond us, but they weren't seeded and beat three seeded teams, West Side, Belleville and Montclair on their way to last night's final with Seton Hall. Against our better judgment we hope they won. As far as teams go, Seton Hall seemed to be far and above anything offered by the public high schools.

Belleville Dripped by West Orange In County Play

Bellboys Fail To Gain Semi-Finals For First Time In Six Years Of Competition; Hatcher, Engel Foul Out

A large crowd, predominantly from Belleville, was taken by surprise, Saturday night at Seton Hall gymnasium, when the Belleville High passers fell before a spirited West Orange club 44 to 33. That fact that Belleville lost was not as much of a surprise as the manner in which it was accomplished, for the Bell Boys in four defeats suffered this year lost two by two points and two by one point. In fact at half time in Saturday's tilt the Blue and Gold led 13 to 33. Belleville had miserable luck with its shooting in the second half, and in the final quarter lost both Dean Hatcher and Biddy Engel to lose its chances of catching up.

Both teams used a zone defense and the score at the end of the first quarter was near even, a football or baseball score than that of basketball. West Orange had one basket and three fouls and Belleville had three field goals. In fact West Orange hit for only three shots in the first half and Belleville had seven. It was in the foul department that West Orange showed its superiority, fouling the 15 foot line to Belleville's five, told the whole story of the 11 point difference.

The confident Belleville crowd was jolted at the very beginning of the third quarter by the quick shooting of the Cowboys, and by the time the period was over, so were Belleville's hopes of entering the semi-finals for the sixth time in six years.

A series of mistakes on Belleville's part was as much to blame for the defeat as West Orange's sudden return to accuracy with its shots. West Orange outscored Belleville 18 to 12 in the second half. Belleville threw the ball away on countless occasions and a result of this was that the basket, Belleville's only basket was dunked by Pete Benz, while Dave Hall and Walt Vanderbusch kept most of the Cowboys out.

Belleville gave up its zone in favor of a pressing man to man defense in the final quarter, and early in the period both Hatcher and Engel fouled out. In the meantime Belleville matched West Orange point for point, but that was not good enough. When the Bell boys went in for the game Bob Kittle was put on Vanderbusch and quickly got four personal charges against him.

Belleville fans saw what Coach Jitty Wishe has been talking about all season, the almost impossibility of Seton Hall team suffering defeat on their home court. Dave Smalley, who helped beat Belleville in the final last year, scored on 90 per cent of his shots, from all points on the floor. His only misses were when he was fouled. So far Seton Hall has been the most impressive team in the tournament.

SPORTS Reflections

By AL OUTCALT

When the first boat hits the Passaic River about the middle of March, another year of rowing will be under way. Coach Bill Bennett and his two squads of oarsmen will be out to win, but with loss or draw, 1952 promises to be the most successful rowing season since the sport began locally in 1946.

Since the two high schools are more concerned with the physical and mental development of their students rather than the number of victories they rack up, there is no pressure on Bill to turn out superior clubs each year. Yet the friendly coach has managed to do it every year—Nuttley finished third in the National Schoology Championships last year and Belleville had a strong balanced crew too—and the signs are that Bennett and the boys are in for another fine year.

There are two ways to gauge the 62 crews. One is to watch them in fall practice, the other to calculate whether they gained or lost strength in relation to last season's records.

By these standards, Belleville should show about the same strength with improvement depending on what new boys Bennett can recruit from the Washington Avenue education emporium. Some of the boys who will battle for honors in the shells are George Ploza, Ronnie Worth-

4 PROJECTS KEEP PASSAIC AVENUE CHILDREN BUSY

Netherlands Unit; Picture Frames, Measuring Tools And Time Records Are Kept

The 4B class of Mrs. Adeline Bennett, has been studying a unit on the Netherlands. An exhibit in the classroom includes several Dutch dolls contributed by Theresa Del Preto, Judy Paul, Maureen Neura, Patricia Botsford, and Janice Reynolds. Wooden shoes of all sizes and descriptions were brought in by Rose Marie Zucca, Phyllis Restaino, Patricia Botsford, Edward Ench, Bobby Bottelli, Maureen Neura, and Carl Logan. Rose Marie Zucca contributed windmills. Patricia Botsford, Marion Gatta, Maureen Neura, Carol Jacobsen, and Evelyn Wilson donated pictures of Dutch scenes. Mary Ann Vitello made clay models of several Dutch articles to add to the display.

The art department of the Passaic Avenue School has purchased sixteen picture frames, ten large ones which will contain regalia work done in copper foil. The frames are in natural color and will require several coats of wax to bring out the beauty of the wood. This work will be done by the children.

Would you like to weigh a letter, or an egg, or a baby, or a g sized boy? Would you like to measure the thickness of a water pipe, or a hair? Would you like to measure a teaspoon of medicine or a bushel of apples? You will find instruments for all these and many more in a collection of 48 different tools collected by the seventh and eighth grade pupils in Mrs. Bruce's art class.

The children in the first and second grades of the Passaic Avenue School have been participating in science activities suggested on the F.M. school radio science program. They have collected rain water and kept a calendar record of the weather. Some of the experiments have been very successful. The seeds are now blooming.

In connection with the study of the seasons, they are learning how to keep a record of the time the sun comes up in the morning and how long it goes down in the afternoon. The children drew their own clocks to show the time.

Brotherhood Theme Of Birthday Celebrations

A program, celebrating Washington's and Lincoln's birthdays, with an emphasis on brotherhood, was presented at School No. 5 by the two third graders under the direction of Miss Roxanne De War and Mrs. June Watson.

The program included musical selections by the chorus concerning brotherhood; a play entitled, "How Tony Learns to Love the Flag," choral speaking, group and individual, and the minuet. With a classroom for a background the teacher told the children a story and, as she talked, the children closed their eyes and saw the people of long ago.

Silhouetting the backdrop were large profiles of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. Extensive stage lighting was used.

LIFE at BHS

As Our Teen-Agers See It

by Rita Carissimo-Audrey Maisie

With the closing of Brotherhood Week, we students of BHS were left with a clear meaning of the word. This was the result of Friday's assembly, when we saw a film called "One God." This film elaborates on the four main faiths in our country. It was interesting to see how each religion has its individual way of worshipping God. It also brought out that brotherhood should be carried out throughout the year.

Preceding this program, a chalk talk was given by Cookie Kimble, who showed that his talent isn't all in his feet, (everyone knows of his terrific dancing ability).

Friday, the 29th
Girls, here's the chance we've all been waiting for. Tomorrow is the one day in four years in which a girl can legally propose to the man of her choice. Of course, we don't expect many girls to take advantage of such extremes, but we wouldn't be surprised to see them take advantage of this special day by asking the boys to dance at Mr. Simon.

Advance Notice
Don't make any dates for the evening of March 6, because we're expecting to see everyone present

The Meeting Place

Edgar Jean Bracco

I finished a book last night which I think you might like to hear about. It's in the library, in case you want to read it. I was up until late getting it, until Rose began to make ominous noises at me. "Drums of Destiny" it's called, and it's by Peter Bourne. A man-sized book it is, not only in pages, which number almost six hundred, but in its subject. At the tail end of the 18th century, on an island in the Caribbean, a negro performed his tasks as a slave without knowing that the pen of history was poised waiting to record his actions.

Henri Christophe was only a waiter, not far removed in time from Africa, his ancestral homeland. But as he went quietly and obediently about his work, he dreamed a dream that would not be still the dream of a country for his people, in which they could breathe the air of freedom and walk in dignity.

The island was then a French colony, known as Saint Domingue. Today you know it as Haiti - the island of mountains. It is a quiet, peaceful and rich land - rich in the ropes of the tropics Duncan Stewart comes to it from England, after a hurried departure occasioned by his accidental killing of the man who has been trifling with his future wife.

The book's story is carried through from there by Duncan. On the island it becomes known that he is a medical student. One might be asked to operate on a young negro, he does, finding nothing in a white doctor helping a negro patient. He has the self belief - questioned in some quarters, even today - that a man's skin has nothing to do with the man himself.

He saves the negro's life, and thereby the path of his destiny is changed. Outraged by most of the whites, sneered at as a friend of the blacks, he finds himself accepted in black society. His patient is the man with the dream - Henri Christophe.

From then on, Duncan is inextricably involved in the turbulence that seethes as a current beneath the deceiving peace of the island. The drums throb in the hot nights, their messages speeding through that seething as a current beneath the deceiving peace of the island. The drums throb in the hot nights, their messages speeding through that seething as a current beneath the deceiving peace of the island.
