

So What?

At one time there seemed to be no dearth of picture post cards of Belleville scenes, but more recently, while there seemed to be a demand, there seemed to be no cards. Recently, Dean's and Trech's, Washington Avenue gift shops have put in a stock prepared by Pictorial Postals of South Hackensack. In the set of excellent reproductions are the Town Hall, the Post Office, the Library, the Elks Club, Isolation Hospital, the High School, and Grammar Schools No. 1, 5, 6 and 7; St. Peter's and St. Anthony's Roman Catholic Churches, St. Peter's School, Fessenden Memorial, Bethany, Reform, Christ Episcopal churches and Congregation A. A. A. We might suggest that other excellent subjects would be the cherry blossoms in Branch Brook Park, the Park, the Riverview Hotel, and a few of industrial plants, such as the Andrew Jergens plant, Wallace & Tiernan and Walter Kidde & Company, Inc. We might also suggest the Belleville Municipal Stadium and as well as the new steel structure "Camp Belleville," where the Anti-Aircraft Artillery is stationed. If placed on sale at the right places, some of these cards would have large seasonal sales.

Police Chief George R. Spatz points out that Belleville has a dog ordinance which requires two things, which many people in the town don't seem to be aware of. One is that every dog must be licensed. The second is that dogs are not allowed to run at large, whether licensed or not. The police now conducting their annual house-to-house dog census and on their rounds are reminding folks that they have two weeks in which to get a license or face a fine. Dogs found running at large are being picked up regularly by the Belleville Dog Warden's office. And it costs money and trouble to get your pet back.

Things are tough all over. This week's police blotter was almost as long as Motley's school cupboard. There was one big theft reported though, William Whitehouse, 1011 1/2 Street, was over the week end that someone was not content to steal his car. He had been reported stolen in Branch Brook Drive, where a resident reported that someone had entered his home and devoured a box of candy. Detectives determined that a kitchen knife was the weapon used and children were the culprits.

Seventy Dwelling Permits Issued To Stephen Dudiak

Fees Totalling $1,700 Are Paid To Building Inspector Greco for Forest Manor Development In Progress

The Belleville Building Department hit the jack-pot this week, coming up with a $630,000 award when representatives of Stephen Dudiak, Route 6, Clifton Road developer, were on hand to accept building permits for 70 one-family dwellings to be erected at Forest Manor, which will comprise both sides of the Forest Hill Field Club and Court, Rivendale Avenue and Overhill Road. They will be built by Timothy Jones, Inc. Fees of nearly $1,700 were paid by the developer on Monday. Eventually there will be six more dwellings in the development at a technical question as to what constitutes front and side yards on odd shaped lots has been referred to the Board of Adjustment, by Building Inspector Thomas P. Greco.

Basically each of the houses is 3 1/2 stories and there are seven different front elevations, with about 10 houses of each design scattered over the property. The houses on Celia Terrace from Joramelon Street to Continental Avenue and westward to the property of the Forest Hill Field Club and to the Glendale Cemetery. The houses are without garages but each has a driveway.

These permits plus others issued this week brings the total value of permits issued this year to nearly a million and a quarter dollars. Last year, the third best in a decade, was slightly less than two million dollars.

Four Two-Family Houses

In addition to the 70 one-family dwellings in Forest Manor, Walter Zimmerman & Sons, took the permits for three two-family dwellings, valued at $140,000 each, at 5, 9 and 13 Harvard Street, and Anthony Laingo had a permit for a two-family dwelling at 455 Union Avenue. Vittorio Squitieri was given a permit to convert a one-family house at 16 Watessing Avenue into a two-family house at a cost of $2,500. Peter Tarano was given $2,000 for a two-family house at 14 Chestnut Street. An alteration planned by Joseph Krowner at 101 1/2 Street and a sign for Walter Kidde & Co., Inc., in Main Street represented the other permits issued.

Wm. Wiersing Makes Rats A Business Serves Science in Study of Diseases

Hats, Mice, And Hamsters Live And Grow Under Expert Care; Hospitals And Labs Served

By Betty Steiner

"Most people pay money to get rid of 'em, but I pay money to feed and raise 'em." So spoke William Wiersing of 84 Cortland Street alluding to the white rats, white mice and hamsters which he raises for sale to research laboratories, hospitals, schools, and any other type of organization utilizing rodents for scientific purposes. At any one time Mr. Wiersing houses from 2,000 to 3,000 rodents.

His backyard is the locale of his activities, featuring roof approval of sheds and cages that house not only rats, but rabbits as well. Waiting into the laboratory are quires courage for the sensitive nose because of a strong ammonia-like odor. Mr. Wiersing Jocosely tells an anecdote of a man whose clogged nasal passages were successfully unblocked by one whiff in his history.

The mice and rat houses consist of shelves filled with boxes housing the rodents, each box having a baby's milk bottle perched daintly over a caged top. A glass tube releases water to a drinking bottle. Perform Important Functions

Although not especially beautiful to the human eye, these rats perform important functions for the human race. They serve in diversified types of scientific experiments to discover causes and possible cures for diseases such as polio and cancer. They also aid in determining factors for better nutrition and therefore more healthful food products. These animals, as well as rabbits, are extremely useful in pregnancy tests, too.

Mr. Wiersing speaks enthusiastically of his rats and their habits. They are constantly traveling in circles around the cage, lapping over one another to get to some unknown destination. When a rodent of another breed enters the cage, a commotion breaks loose. It seems that hamsters are a lazier lot, preferring to mediate and amuse themselves while the white rats are pacing nervously like expectant fathers.

William Wiersing cares for rodents in his micery, utilizing efficient, scientific methods in maintaining their health.

Breeding Rats Retained

For breeding purposes, a male rat is placed in a cage with his female. The resulting offspring are removed after a time to safer quarters. Mr. Wiersing does not sell breeding rats, but retains them until such time as they no longer produce. As he puts it, "When this happens, I get rid of 'em, just as you get rid of a boarder who doesn't pay his rent."

Suggests Cost Of Living Bonuses Instead of Raises

James R. Golden Criticizes The Commissioners Then Offers Praise Of Harry J. Sullivan's Action

James R. Golden of 62 Tappan Avenue who was critical of the action of the Board of Commissioners in granting pay raises to municipal employees in view of the defeat of the police referendum for a salary raise, at the budget hearing, two weeks ago, again appeared before the Commissioners, Tuesday night to object to the amendment to the salary ordinance which was due on second reading at the meeting. Mr. Golden remarked that instead of $200 for some of the higher salaried employees of the town, the ordinance provides for salary increases of up to $1,000. Town Treasurer Russell Stewart pointed out that the ordinance in itself does not grant raises, but under civil service regulations, defines the maximum salary that can be paid in each job specified. Thus if $1,000 increase is shown, that particular employee will eventually earn that much extra, but not necessarily this year.

SCHOOL BOARD GETS SURVEYOR FOR SITE OF NEW SCHOOL

Dudley R. Shephard, Nulme Engineer Engaged; Will Name Three Appraisers On Monday

Dudley R. Shephard, town engineer of Nutley, has been engaged by the Belleville Board of Education to prepare a comprehensive survey of the four parcels of land on Joramelon Street and Division Avenue, sought as a site for a new secondary school. The decision to hire Mr. Shephard was reached at a special meeting of the Board on Monday night, at School No. 8.

At the same time the board considered the names of six appraisers, but made no final decision as to the makeup of the committee. It was agreed, however, that it will be a three man committee, and that all three will be out-of-town men, to preclude any possibility that friendships might enter into the final decision. Board members more or less agreed upon two men, but not upon the third. The actual appointment of the entire group will take place at the regular meeting of the Board, Monday night.

Fred Dunbar Mase
Fred Dunbar Mase, formerly of 368 Joramelon Street, died Wednesday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. George A. Slater, of 169 Centre Street, Newark. He was 87.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. John Strick of Belleville and Mrs. Raymond Onegas of Newark, and two sons, John and Robert of Newark.
Funeral services were from the Shaw Home for Services, 188 Davis Avenue, Kearny, on March 8 at 9:15 a.m. A High Mass of Requiem was offered at Our Lady of Sorrows Church at 10 a.m. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery.

Wm. Wiersing
Among the organizational facts with which he is credited was his organization of the traffic division of the police department to such a state that there has been a marked decrease in traffic fatalities in the town since he was instrumental in equipping the public safety cars with pneumatic tires and in instituting traffic and pedestrian education, a system which has been copied extensively in most of the larger cities in the country. He was also instrumental in the organization of a traffic safety program in the Belleville schools. He also took a leading part in the planning and supervision of the construction of the Belleville Police Post Range, one of the finest in the East.

Former Civil Defense Head
During World War II he served on the Civil Defense Council in charge of police reserves. In January 1932 he was transferred from the Police Department and appointed co-ordinator of the town's Civil Defense Council by Mayor James J. Tully and served in that capacity until after Mayor Tully's departure for service in the Marine Corps, when his leave of absence expired.

Mr. Wiersing, who answers to the age of 49, but has the appearance of a man in his fifties, accounts for his youthful appearance by stating "I always keep busy and so I have no time for wrinkles and pains." Besides, he chuckles, the small of ammonia keeps me peppy!"

John E. Collins
John E. Collins of 204 Little Street died March 4 at Hackensack Hospital. He was 44. He was born in Newark and lived in Newark and North Arlington, and moved to Belleville 11 years ago. A graduate of North Carolina State College of Engineering, he had been employed by Bendix for the past 15 years. He was an accounts manager of the Institute of Radio Engineers of America and the Institute of Electrical Engineers, and served as president of Kappa Pi and Alpha Kappa Pi fraternities. Surviving are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Collins, a sister, Miss Grace M. Collins, and two brothers, Frank J. of Newark and Harold B. of Cedar Grove. A high requiem mass was offered Saturday 9 a.m. in St. Mary's Church, Nutley. Funeral was from the Frank Metcalf Home for Funerals, 125 Summer Avenue, Newark. Burial was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Upper Montclair.

The Chest is counting upon this ability to put the 1932 drive process in fine style.

Mr. Wiersing takes the animal by the tail, wraps him hard against the wall and the rat man goes to his ancestors.

Mr. Wiersing notes that a rat was sick by means of his sensitivity in the same fashion. In the case of his rabbits, he "hops into the boat" and they never know what hit them.

Started As Hobby
Mr. Wiersing, a kindly man with a wealth of humor, got into rabbit raising by means of a hobby. Some 25 years ago he began raising rabbits for his own amusement and everybody knows how fast they multiply. Shortly thereafter he was asked by a member of the staff of Mount Sinai Hospital if he would care to sell them some. He was then in business. He later added species of rats to his growing menagerie and they are now in great demand for research purposes.

Mr. Wiersing, who answers to the age of 49, but has the appearance of a man in his fifties, accounts for his youthful appearance by stating "I always keep busy and so I have no time for wrinkles and pains." Besides, he chuckles, the small of ammonia keeps me peppy!"

Abromson a full fledged member of the Belleville Police Department during his term of office, subject to all its rules and regulations except the duty to respond to roll call.

As usual a great deal of the Commission's time was taken up with the discussion of offers on town owned property and the resolutions providing for the sale of lots upon which offers have been made. Five such parcels are listed in the notice of public sale appearing elsewhere in this paper. Three ordinances were passed on second and third public reading, and another amendment to the salary maximum was adopted on first reading. This provides for a new ceiling on the job of supervisor of special activities in Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde's department. The position is held by James R. Lanman.

Marine Corps and after the war moved to Belleville in 1919. He joined the police department in 1928. Eight years later he was advanced to sergeant and the same year became a lieutenant. In 1946 he was promoted to captain, then six months later became deputy chief.

He is a member of the International Police Chief's Association; the New Jersey State Patrolmen's Association; International Signalman's Association and the New Jersey Police Officers' Association.

He is married to the former Gladys Minion. They reside at 184 DeWitt Avenue, having one daughter, Mrs. Bocco Malino, and two grandchildren.

Junior Red Cross Gift Box Program Year-Round Work

Boxes Filled by Belleville Children Are Distributed By Other Red Cross Societies To Schools, Institutions and Individuals

The Junior Red Cross Gift Box Program in Belleville is an activity that gives boys and girls in the various Junior Red Cross school groups an opportunity to prepare and send boxes filled with gifts to children in other countries. These boxes are distributed by other Red Cross Societies to individual children in schools and institutions and to child refugees in these foreign countries.

For the children of Belleville, it is a wonderful way to demonstrate their friendship and good will for boys and girls of other lands. For the teachers working with the Junior Red Cross members on this project it is an opportunity to develop in boys and girls international good will and goodwill toward others outside our own country.

The countries selected to receive the gift boxes are determined by the American Red Cross national headquarters, on the basis of recommendations of the League of Red Cross Societies and overseas Red Cross personnel.

The program is a year-round activity among our Junior Red Cross members. However, the holiday seasons, and the beginning of our Red Cross members on their various favorable occasions for emphasizing this project and the girls' box intensify their efforts for these particular occasions.

The cardboard containers are furnished by the Belleville Chapter of the American Red Cross being of a standard size and design to provide uniformity in shipping and distribution, as established by the National Red Cross. The overseas shipping charges are paid from the National Red Cross Children's Fund. The boxes are filled in the schools under the supervision of the Junior Red Cross teachers.

The following items are considered of greatest use, and are placed in these categories:

Educational: Pencils, crayons, pen holders and pen points, rulers (metric system), erasers, small paper pads, compass, protractor, small notebooks, mechanical pencils and leads.

DR. ARONDS CITES VISION IN HALTING ROAD ACCIDENTS

American Optometric Assn Lists Four Sight Skills Which Will Lower Rate

"Our citizens must be made more aware of visual shortcomings that add to highway hazards," Dr. Russell H. Aronds, optometrist, of 398 Washington Avenue said this week in pointing out the four skills which are "Save Your Vision Week" as proclaimed by the American Optometric Association.

"The appalling amount of accidents on the highways throughout the nation has made driving safely and its relation to vision the number one topic in the visual field. Most drivers who are in an accident who quizzed reply, 'I didn't see the other car until it was too late.'"

"This has led the American Optometric Association to list four essential skills for safe driving in order to eliminate or at least lower the 'visual reasons' for the terrible accident rate:

1. See that you can read signs and see objects clearly while driving.

2. Be able to judge distances accurately.

3. Be able to see over a large area without moving your head sideways.

4. Be able to see at night and also to recover quickly when blinded by the lights of an oncoming car.

"If a driver is up to par on these four points the safety factor will be improved. Naturally the only way to check these four points is to see your local vision specialist, and have him check them for you."

FEDERAL LAB MEN SHOW CHANGES IN MICROWAVE WIRING

New Technique Reported Saving Production Cost, Material And Manpower

A revolutionary method of microwave wiring that will not only result in huge savings in production costs but will greatly reduce the need for critical materials and highly skilled manpower was described last week before the second session of the National Convention of the Institute of Radio Engineers at the Grand Central Palace, New York City.

Engineers Present Papers
Details of the new technique, which is designed to replace the bulky, expensive waveguide circuits of plumbum used in present microwave systems, were outlined for the first time in a series of three papers presented by engineers of Federal Telecommunications Laboratories, Inc.

This new advance in the electron art is based on the use of a ground plane system that acts as a radio mirror for a conductor supported above it, creating, in effect, a parallel wire system in which perfect symmetry is obtained without elaborate machining or other processes.

Cheaper Than Current
Chief advantage of the new technique is that it is many times cheaper than the current method of producing microwave circuits. The "jewel-like" machining required in the production of existing components—a major factor in the present high cost of microwave systems—is virtually eliminated.

For the techniques perfected by F. T. L. engineers, the new wiring can be produced directly from diagrams simply by etching the circuits on a dielectrically coated base plate or by the employment of stamping and embossing. The resulting equipment is not only several hundred times lighter, but a great deal more compact than existing types.

JUNIOR RED CROSS HAS NEW PROGRAM

Inter-School Junior Council Organized As Clearing House For New Ideas And Methods

The Belleville Junior Red Cross in its continued forward progress in Red Cross activity, has recently organized an Inter-School Junior Red Cross Council to be administered through a clearing house for new ideas and new methods in the Junior Red Cross work.

David Haight, a senior at the High School, reported last week on the new organization. Appointed as temporary chairman, David presided at a meeting with representatives from all of the Belleville schools, to arrange for a proper organization of the group.

The first meeting was addressed by Nicholas Rouskas, student president of the Inter-School Junior Red Cross Council in the Chicago area. Nicholas told of his experiences as a war refugee in World War II, and his flight from Greece across Europe, and finally to the safety of the U.S. As a first project of the Belleville Council, the group organized a schedule for the distribution of Red Cross Fund Posters, and published material to Belleville stores.

HOLY NAME GROUP HEARS MISSIONER BACK FROM CHINA

Father Moffatt, Expelled By Communists After Imprisonment, Tells Experiences

Rev. Edward M. Moffatt, Maryknoll missioner expelled from China by the Communists last year, after being imprisoned and sentenced to death, spoke before members of the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Church and their sons at their regular monthly meeting in the church hall on Monday evening. Father Moffatt's talk followed a rare exhibition by

Sunday Afternoon Tea Dances To Be Held At Belleville Elks

The Club Christiana has announced that it is sponsoring a series of Sunday afternoon tea dances to be held at the Belleville Elks Hall, 251 Washington Street. The Spring schedule calls for dances on March 16th and 30th, April 6th, and May 18th and 25th.

The Marty Ames Orchestra will play the music for the dances. Dancing will start at 3 p.m. and continue to 6:30 p.m. In addition to invitations sent to many single residents of North Jersey, the club is also extending an open invitation to single residents of suburban Essex County to attend the dances.

Membership cards, entitling the member to attend future dances, will be given to those attending the Spring dances. When dances are resumed in the Fall after a summer recess, it is expected that the Spring schedule will be by membership card only.

To cover the expense of running the dances the club is charging an admission price of $1.50 per person, tax included.

Speaking of his experiences in Red China, Father Moffatt said that "the story of the loyalty and devotion of the people of our faith in China should make us all proud that we are related through the sacred Body and Blood of the Eucharist."

"Ever since the so-called liberation by the Red forces in 1949, anyone who openly professes his faith is, in effect, signing his own death warrant. Under the Communist regime, everyone suffers, and conditions, instead of becoming better, are increasingly worse each day."

"The heroism of the native Chinese priests and nuns is one of the most thrilling chapters in the story of Communist dominated China. Despite the overwhelming odds, the simple country people look forward to the day when their priests can return."

Forewarning

The sun shines dimly through chilling air
And swings across the sky, withholding warmth
The rooftops still are white with winter's frost
And hedge and scrub are crouched awaiting spring—
Not daring yet to leave their dormant bed.
Only the orange trees are confident:
Beneath their heavy leaves they shield from cold
Expectant buds preparing for the bloom.
One eager, rebel bud blooms out of season,
Announcing—prematurely—spring is here!

The Lessons of A First Primary Vote.

One swallow doesn't make a Spring, and, obviously, one Primary, especially a Primary in a rock-ribbed Republican stronghold like the Granite State, does not make an election. But the Yankee lumberjacks and farmers of New Hampshire are a sensible strata of the national composite electorate. They have the hard-headedness of the New Englander; they are little swayed by sentiment or emotion and they are seldom given to hero worship. For that reason Wednesday's Primary in New Hampshire can be dissected usefully for its lessons.

There are two very evident lessons: President Truman can be beaten for nomination as the Democratic candidate if he chooses to run again, because Democrats in New Hampshire have been as deeply impressed as has the rest of the nation with the need for ending the moral decline in government. The second lesson is that an absent General Eisenhower cannot win the Republican nomination but an "Ike," appearing before the voters in person and telling them exactly where he stands on all the major issues, can be nominated despite the running start which the Taft machine took for itself.

There are many lesser lessons, too. One is that the Taft machine is not as all-powerful as it had thought itself to be. Another is that the voters are sorely lacking in a sense of their responsibility to Democracy, since only one voter in three, in all New Hampshire, even with the eyes of the nation upon them, bothered to vote at all. And no little importance should be attached to the fact that Senator Taft ran very strongly in the industrial towns, the mill towns of south New Hampshire where he voted just a majority among electors who elected just the opposite to the way organized labor had been expected to vote. The lesson in that is that the Taft-Hartley law is no handicap to Taft's election, if he gets the nomination. We already had a hint of that in last year's Ohio election.

The New Hampshire vote was inconclusive when it came to establishing the voters' preference for either Bob or Ike. Senator Taft had the big advantage of having been able to stump the state. He was present and he certainly left no one in doubt where he stood on any and all issues. It can be concluded that since he personally led his own campaign, he polled as many votes as he ever could have polled in New Hampshire. The same is not true of the Eisenhower vote. Those Republicans who voted for Ike, really bought a pig in a poke. They voted despite the fact that there is no positive proof that he is running for the Presidency. They voted blindly in total ignorance of where Eisenhower stands on major national and international issues. It could be concluded that if Eisenhower had appeared in person, if he had spoken as clearly as did Taft and if he took a positive stand on every issue, his vote would have been much greater.

It is true that President Truman said in Washington recently that the New Hampshire Primary was "so much eyewash", another of his not-so-happy quips. For that reason, he may not take public record of his very poor showing against Senator Kefauver. It still is true, as Harry says—and he should know—that the people do not nominate; nominations are made in the middle of the night in some smoke-filled hotel bedroom in Chicago during the national convention. It is the unflattering truth, even though it does not speak well for the workings of Democracy.

To all of us who believe that it is time to throw out the sneak thieves wherever they may be in the offices of national government, however, the Kefauver poll in New Hampshire was an expression of popular disgust with the Truman administration. That, in our opinion, is the over-all lesson of the New Hampshire Primary. R. E. H.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

If The Truce Talks in Korea Fail; What Then? Unless Chinese Reds Slash Out in Another Direction, Bombing of China Unlikely.

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

From Korea to Berlin, the Communist propaganda mills were busy this week. All China seethed in a fierce wave of anti-Americanism, convinced by the Communist broadcasts that we are waging germ warfare against her. With his tongue in his cheek, Stalin, who has torn up more treaties than he has signed, invited us to sit down with him, and with France, Britain and "other interested nations", and write a peace treaty with a unified Germany. It is obvious that our rejection of his bid will permit Stalin to heap blame on us, once again, for "warmongering" by preventing the union of the two halves of Germany.

Far more serious, in this One Man's Opinion, is the question: If the truce talks fail in Korea, what then? Shall it be peace or war? Shall we be content to hold our line along the 38th Parallel, or shall we bomb Chinese bases in Manchuria and, perhaps, China itself? The answer must concern us all, in every home, in every hamlet of America.

A phone call to us by well-informed and most reliable sources in Washington this week brought no answer but did disclose considerable confusion in the thinking of the Pentagon, the State Department and the White House.

Our official policy, the call discloses, still is to avoid entanglements or an all-out war in the Far East so long as possible. That may mean that if the 9-months-truce talks finally peter out and fighting is resumed we may return to the exact same holding tactics we employed the day before the truce talks began.

There does not appear to be any desire to blockade or to bomb Red China, but if Communist air power is found to have been stepped up enough, during the truce talks, to endanger General Ridgway's forces in Korea, the Manchurian bases of that air power might be attacked by retaliatory bombardments. It would seem, today, that that is as far as we would go.

Russia First Target

It is Pentagon military doctrine that while we do maintain enough air strength in Korea to neutralize the Communists striking power, the chief mission of our command must not be distracted from its chief mission—to maintain a state of constant readiness to bomb the Soviet Union in the event the Kremlin tries a Pearl Harbor. The readiness to bomb the Soviet Union is not intended to jeopardize our ability to bomb the key targets of Red Russia within a few hours for the emotional satisfaction of bombing Manchuria or Red China. Our potential enemy is Russia; our strength cannot be frittered away in side shows.

New Jersey's senior Senator H. Alexander Smith is one of those in Washington most vigorously demanding a blockade of Communist Russia. To bomb China is to supply China with what it is his contention that what is going to be determined not by the presence or absence of a Korean truce, but by what use—or misuse—the Communists make of whatever happens or does not happen in Korea.

If one assertion about the future can be made with relative certainty, it is that a breakdown in the truce will not automatically decide the next steps. It is quite conceivable that failure to agree on a truce would change nothing in itself. But it is certain that a new act of attempted Communist expansion would touch off a chain of decision and actions. What happens in Germany is more likely to precipitate a new situation than may not happen in Korea. But as of today, no one in Washington is sure of precisely what the reaction would be to any given act of Communist actions.

On the other hand, Russia's newest maneuver, seeking a peace treaty for Germany, is obviously just that—a maneuver for its propaganda value. Before we would sit down with Russia and her satellites, Poland and Czechoslovakia, to discuss a German peace there are the prior problems of Hungarian peace, the violation of the Potsdam agreement for the widest possible democracy in Poland and in the Balkans, and the Communist aggressions against Turkey and Greece.

Ladies at Christmas time, and were interested in learning more of the Gray Lady activities of our Belleville group at Isolation Hospital.

With the help of dresses, pictures, samples of the favors, gifts and project items, Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Frisch were able to tell the girls of the Gray Lady program for the benefit of the hospital patients. A short skit was also presented as a further illustration of the work at the hospital. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Frisch was amply rewarded for her efforts when she heard several of the Girl Scouts say: "When I'm old enough I want to enroll as a Gray Lady and do my part to help others."

As Mrs. Frisch explained, through the cooperation of Mrs. Kamen last December, this group of Girl Scouts had organized a project to obtain toys for the children at Isolation Hospital. At the conclusion of their canvass, several boxes of toys were collected. In this group were six similar dolls, with very complete wardrobes—from bathing suits to pajamas. Mrs. Frisch had asked particularly for these dolls, since they were to be used to teach the girl patients at the hospital how to sew, making additional items for the wardrobes of these dolls. Such training comes in handy when these girls grow up and contribute to the welfare of their families.

As Mrs. Frisch points out, sewing instruction is just one of several handicraft projects taught by the Gray Ladies—keeping the patients busy and contented and, at the same time, teaching a skill which will be helpful later on.

Blitz Signature Drive Finds Enthusiasm High for "Ike"

Mrs. Evan Thomas Says "More People Are For Eisenhower Than For Any Other Candidate"

In an interview with Mrs. Evan Thomas, chairman of the women's division of the Belleville "Eisenhower for President Club", yesterday we found her report on recent activities to sound very much like a TV commercial for cigarettes. "More people are for 'Ike' than for any other candidate!"

"Last Wednesday night several members of the women's division 'blitzed' a cross-section of Belleville in order to secure signatures to a petition to put Eisenhower's name on the ballot in the N. J. primary," Mrs. Thomas said.

"We rang door bells in town from the White Oak section to Silver Lake, and the response was most satisfying. We had some setbacks, as was to be expected, but the majority of the people were exceptionally eager to sign the petition," for example, said "Let me at it, I wish I could sign it several times. General Eisenhower is a great man. I'm a Democrat, but I'd surely like to see him in the White House!" That was the general attitude of practically everyone.

"We didn't have to seek the praise of Eisenhower or offer any ourselves in order to get the signatures. The praise and the signatures both were willingly given. The citizens, for example, said 'Let me at it, I wish I could sign it several times. General Eisenhower is a great man. I'm a Democrat, but I'd surely like to see him in the White House!' That was the general attitude of practically everyone."

RED CROSS NEEDS PEOPLE TO RUN SEWING MACHINES

Overbrook Hospital Project Needs Nubile Fingers And Kind Hearts

Calling all women of Belleville who are proficient in the operation of a sewing machine! Mrs. Earl Jensen, Chairman of Production and Supply, is recruiting more volunteers to help in a special sewing project for Overbrook Hospital.

Aprons, pillow cases, nightgown slips and dish towels are items on present production schedule for the hospital. The local Stages Sewing Center is co-operating in making their equipment available. The materials are provided pre-cut by the Red Cross. All Mrs. Jensen needs now is about twenty skilled seamstresses. Are you a skilled seamstress? Can you even thread a needle?

Call Mrs. Jensen Belleville 2-6423 or Red Cross Headquarters, Belleville 2-6194. When the project is done, the Red Cross will find you another. The hands have to be ready for a special program in Belleville—only nimble fingers, a kind heart and an urge to help others. This is the ingredients necessary to a volunteer on the Production and Supply Service Unit.

WILL DEMONSTRATE NEW ARTIFICIAL RESPIRATION USE

Red Cross Safety Service Staff To Give Everyone Chance To Participate

William J. Ross, Chairman, Safety Services, Belleville Chapter, American Red Cross, announced today that a town-wide demonstration of the new method of artificial respiration will be given at the New Gym, Belleville High School, Friday, March 14th, at 8 P. M. The school facilities, made available through the courtesy of the Board of Education, will permit this mass demonstration being witnessed by everyone. It has taken first aid in Belleville.

The new method, known as the "Back Pressure and Arm Lift Technique" has been developed through studies conducted by the National Red Cross. The University of Illinois, and many medical groups across the country. A very simple method of artificial respiration, it is considered superior to the old method and every effort is being made by First Aid groups throughout the country to learn the new method.

COMMITTEE GIVES REPORT ON SURVEY

Subjects Of H.S. Meetings Are Curriculum Improvements And Teacher Problem Areas

The professional planning committee, under the chairmanship of Carl Hensinger, presented a report on the analysis of the problem survey entitled, "Curriculum Improvement Program," on March 3 in the Belleville High School library.

John Adams, secretary of the planning committee, gave a summary of the analysis of the problems submitted by the teachers. He also explained that the problems would be divided into two specific areas which would be given to teacher committees for discussion and possible recommendations and suggestions.

Three of the most important areas, citizenship, marking system, and absenteeism, were discussed. At the conclusion of the meeting, all the faculty members were given meeting evaluation forms which are to be completed and returned to Carl Hensinger. The faculty members also received a form which will be used for a choice of problem areas in order of preference.

Passaic Ave. Kindergarten Learn Of American Heritage

The kindergarten class of the Passaic Avenue School is becoming familiar with the American heritage. They have been learning folk songs and folk dances, and have been hearing some of the many legends connected with the growth of this country. Of course, the children are too young for formalized social studies, but through the teacher's explanations and word definitions, they are obtaining some idea of the color, the richness and the history of this great nation.

Examples of what they have learned will be the Kindergarten Class contribution to the Spring concert, in which all classes of the school will participate. As an outgrowth of these activities, the children are being led into acquaintance with the lives of children in other countries and territories.

Education Committee Gives Full Report On Citizenship

A report of the comprehensive study of techniques being used to develop character and citizenship in the Belleville public school was submitted to the county superintendent, Frank Stover.

The committee on character and citizenship education which conducted the two-month survey was composed of one representative from each elementary school and headed by Michael Rosamalia of the High School. Other committee members were: Mary Gilroy, School No. 1; Mary Tasielli, School No. 2; Mabel Marburger, School No. 3; Clifford Kreismer, School No. 4; Al Gahwiler, School No. 5; Mary Abbott, School No. 7; Edith Hides, School No. 8; Louise Franklin, School No. 9; and Ellen Angus, School No. 10. The full committee report will be made available to the other teachers in the Belleville school system.

Belleville High School Dance Band In Rehearsal

The Belleville High School dance band under the direction of Mr. Herbert Mattick assisted by Mrs. Charles Wertman, is shown in an informal rehearsal of their musical numbers. The band has played at the Shell Fund Dance, at the Vernon L. Davey Junior High School in East Orange, and at various grammar schools during the first semester.

The band members intend to make another tour of the elementary schools and to play at future high school dances. Students are selected for the band on the basis of an audition given by the directors. The boys presently playing in the band are the most proficient in the school on their particular musical instruments. The band is open for suggestions as to an appropriate name for the group.

Admissions Head Of College Speaks On Higher Education

James F. Campbell Jr. Named Associate Editor Of Paper

James F. Campbell, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. James F. Campbell of 33 Danison Street, will assume the position of associate editor of the Newark College of Engineering's monthly student paper, "Technician," it was announced by Frank A. Pre-School P.T.A. Meets

The next Pre-School P.T.A. meeting will be held Monday at 8 p.m. at the Junior Department of the Public Library. Interesting questions will be answered, such as: What books should the preschool child look at? Should the books follow a definite plan for proper development? At what age should a child start to look at a book?

Miss Mary C. Signar, librarian, will direct the meeting; that is expected to elicit some stimulating thought. All are invited.

Parents Attend Assembly At Passaic Avenue School

The eighth grade students of the Passaic Avenue School had their parents as guests at an assembly program March 10 during which the film "Youth Prepares" was shown. It portrayed the various opportunities offered at the Essex County Vocational and Technical High Schools. Mr. Edward Goughin, guidance representative of the schools and a former Belleville teacher, discussed the film and answered questions after the showing.

Parents who attended were: Mrs. Fred Giordano, Mrs. Ralph Machia, Mrs. Daniel Tobia, Mrs. Robert Christian, Mrs. Victor Albelli, Mrs. Ralph Cafone, Mrs. Philip Kowalski, Mrs. William Melville and Mrs. Anthony Bruno.

Committee Seeks Pictures-And Articles From Abroad

The Community Resources Committee of the Belleville Teachers' Workshop would like to contact all people of Belleville who have films, pictures, or articles from places or countries they have visited on their trips or their collections.

The committee hopes people will offer to come to the schools and talk to the children about their trips or their collections.

The committee thinks that this will be a splendid way to enrich the children's experiences and the entire school program. Any person who would be able to cooperate in this plan should contact the principal of the nearest school convenient to him.

LIFE at BHS
As Our Teen-Agers See It
by Rita Carisano-Audrey Maier

The mystery has finally been solved. What mystery? Well, you know perfectly well that you were wondering about those bright red question marks which suddenly sprouted up around school. Everyone was speculating as to what they were for, and those with guilty consciences as they were going up and down the stairway, thought perhaps they were placed there to remind them of it. But Monday, when they were replaced by "Stage-door" posters everyone agreed it was a good publicity stunt. Of course the object of all this publicity is the senior class production of the play, "Stage-Door," to be given Friday and Saturday nights. The all-star cast directed by Mr. Otis Brown, has been working after school, at night, and Saturday mornings, rehearsing to assure the success of the production.

We mustn't forget, however, that the agent's agent on the stage, but give up much of their time also. This applies to the various student committees, such as make-up, costumes, umbrellas, stage hands, properties and publicity.

Big Night
Start saving your money, boys! Surely you've heard the news around school that the famous Junior from France is approaching. The exact date is April 16, the place is Frank Dailey's Meadowbrook, with music by Ralph Flanagan's popular band. The tickets are only $2 apiece, but don't forget to bring your spending money along!

Parents' Night
Belleville High will have a new look on Friday, March 21. That's the night designated for our parents to have a chance to become acquainted with school routine as they follow our schedules. As Mr. China pointed out, the purpose of this is not to discuss "Junior's Progress," but to familiarize the adults with the school's facilities and the teachers who have so much to do with our training.

B.H.S. Band
The B.H.S. Band has begun a tour to all of the grammar schools. Besides offering good entertainment, they hope to arouse an interest in the younger students in the High School Band, and the opportunities it offers for those interested in musical instruments.

Sound System
We hope that as you've been rushing from room to room, you haven't been so engrossed in cramming for that next test that you stumbled yourself on the various unattached wires that announce the arrival of our long-awaited sound system.
