

So What?

While their husbands are still in the Southland, wives of members of the New York Yankees have been coming to Belleville in search of furnished apartments for the duration of the baseball season. One of the first to get her apartment was Mrs. Hank Bauer. Several others have followed. If you are planning to leave town for about five months contact Mr. Farmer. Bob Porterfield, now with Washington, after renting here bought a home in Belleville and Gil MacDougal, who rented here last summer, has bought a home in Italy.

Patrolman Thomas Dunn, chairman of the Belleville Police Athletic League's drive for funds to build a new youth center, activities, says response to the 9,000 letters and brochures mailed throughout the town has been encouraging. The PAL hopes to double last year's contributions of $4,400, and returns so far indicate that the goal will be reached. If funds permit the PAL hopes to expand its program this year to provide for softball and basketball teams and leagues for girls, in addition to the baseball, basketball, boxing, and soccer activities for the boys.

A solid chocolate Easter bunny 33 inches tall, weighing 67 pounds, chocolate bunnies, and chocolate eggs adorn the show window of the Quality Bakery at the corner of Washington Avenue and Second Street. To announce that Ye Pro, E. Goeckler, specializes in Easter goods. Through the unusual lens will be an Easter Basket cake made with egg-nogg—buttercream filling and complete with chocolate hands.

Police Chief George R. Spatz, Lieutenant Harry R. Scott, Sergeant John J. Monaghan and Patrolman James Anderson, of whom have completed 25 years on the Belleville Police force, will be honored at a dinner at Parillo's Restaurant, Monday night, by the Belleville Police Benevolent Association.

It is spring or can't Belleville boys resist the urge to throw stones through windows. There was an epidemic of broken windows over the weekend. Eighteen panes of glass were broken by stones at School No. 19. In Mill Creek, every window in the steam shovel working on the development of Forest Manor for the Edson family was broken when the shovel operator Joseph Maio reported for work on Monday morning. They represent a cost of $100 to repair. Mr. Maio had occasion to call the police on Monday afternoon because children were destroying other property on the development. The Belleville Wire Cloth Company of 135 Little Street reported that several windows had been broken over the weekend and Maio said that 243 Holmes Street reported that someone had thrown a stone through a front window of her home on Sunday.

Harry Winfield, records clerk at the Belleville Police Headquarters, completed a course in police photography given at the Essex County Vocational School. The course was taken by about 20 men from Essex police departments and from the prosecutor's staff. A certificate to attest that he completed the course now hangs in Winfield's office.

Town's Busy Life Will Halt For State-wide Defense Tests

Factories Ordered To Interrupt Operations Except Where Process Would Be Harmed

Belleville Civil Defense volunteer forces will be partially mobilized, town streets will be cleared, factory production lines will be halted and the community will be given a taste of what a real sneak attack would be like in "Operation New Jersey," a state-wide air raid test scheduled for an unannounced hour and a sometime during the week of April 27 to May 3.

No "Bombing" The purpose of "Operation New Jersey" is to test public participation only. The full CD volunteer defense forces will not be mobilized. Fire Warden and Auxiliary Police will be called up to support the town police. There will be no simulated bombing or other incidents which will be the motive of subsequent tests.

Local industries have been notified of the test and have been asked to "stop everything," to enable workers to learn to take shelter designed places. The state authorities, who ordered "Operation New Jersey," have given permission for operations to continue in factories such as chemical plants, where any interruption of production might spoil the process and cause unnecessary financial losses.

Leonard Drendfs, state director of Civil Defense, sent the following instructions, yesterday, to town CD authorities: A confidential "yellow" alert will be given by the radio network at about 20 minutes before the "red" warning. This will be a confidential alert for key personnel only, and no forces will be mobilized. No sirens will be sounded on the "yellow" alert. The "red" alert will be the first public warning. This signal will be three minutes of siren blasts or

Outsiders In, Insiders Out At Telephone Exchange

A staff of 13 management representatives working night and day attempt to maintain at least parts of the service provided by 35 experienced operators inside the Belleville Telephone exchange while striking operators pause while circling in front of the office to pose on the front steps for Photographer-Ad Man Ernie Whynall.

Belleville Business Firms Suffer Inconveniences And Loss Of Business In Strike

Belleville is suffering a great deal more as a result of the strike of New Jersey Bell Telephone operators than is any neighboring municipality as Nutley, Kearny and Newark, all of whom have the dial system. The strike began here officially at 6:59 on Monday morning when Robert Horsfield, manager of the Belleville office of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company called the police department and informed the desk sergeant that pickets were on duty in front of the exchange, at the time approached for the change of shifts.

Ever since one policeman has been detailed to duty in the vicinity of the telephone exchange, and facing of the William Street and at one time were accompanied by the pickets of the operators.

But there is nothing amusing about the strike for the 13 supervisory personnel manning the switchboards originally manned by 35 experienced operators. The emergency force is trying to limit calls to those of emergency nature only, and the change of calls is still far below normal.

Bad For Business

To business firms and industrial plants depending upon the telephone for the operation of normal business, the strike is not only annoying but in some cases disastrous. Business is being off. Daniel Merali, who operates the Joralemon Food Market, which is a delivery business, was off that Monday his business was off about $60. Freddie Palmer, who operates a liquor store at 139 Washington Avenue, declares that it has just about lost the business. Most of it is delivery trade. His normal Monday business was off about $80. Joseph Karapich, pharmacist at Reed's Drug Store at 183 Washington Avenue reports that even though calls from doctors were getting through, the store's delivery business fell off about 50 per cent on Monday and Tuesday.

Service Businesses Hit Similar reports have come from such service businesses as the hair and dyers and florists whose normal business is up at this season of the year. In the restaurant business, which might result in slowdowns for lack of parts or supplies are common.

Radio Amateur Club To Dedicate Call Letters Formal dedication of the call letters of the Radio Amateur Club operated by the Radio Amateur Club of Belleville will be made at the next meeting of the group on April 29 at 10 a.m. The call letters were recently assigned by the Federal Communications Commission.

The Voice Shall Be Heard program by the General Electric Company and dealing with radio communications and the development of electronics will be shown. The club was formed to stimulate interest in radio among the citizens of Belleville and to aid in the Civilian Defense and Red Cross Campaign.

The cooperation of industry is most important to the success of the test. All persons in public buildings, in rural and suburban areas should pull to the side of the road and remain there for the duration of the test. During a real raid passengers in private or public vehicles would get out and take cover. In the case of a stone wall or enter the closest private home with the owners permission. This is not an attempt to enter private residences.

Silver Lakers Get Some Satisfaction From Commission

Delegation Successful In Blocking Zoning Variance; West End Group Presses For Memorial Field

The Silver Lake section was well represented at the meeting of the Board of Commissioners on Thursday night, and while about half of those present were satisfied when the Commissioners vetoed a zoning exception for property on the corner of Franklin Street and Salter Place, the other half, representing the West End Civic League left with their complaint completed up in the air.

On March 6, the Board of Zoning Adjustment granted a variance to Mrs. Fred Palmo to allow the erection of a 25 foot high building, one story high, to be used as a garage, storage building and workshop for a tile contracting business. There were only three objectors at the zoning meeting and the board voted 6-3 variance by unanimous vote.

Two weeks ago Attorney Anthony Dietri of Monclair, representing the Silver Lake residents, appeared at the Commission meeting to object to the zoning variance. The Silver Lake residents cause Commissioner Joseph King was absent from the meeting.

He was patently cut on Tuesday night when Mayor Patrick A. Waters cut him off when he wanted to reach the law. Mayor Waters said, "Let it know how many and who the objectors are and what your complaint is." That Mr. Dietri turned over a list of 25 names of the residents of them in Bloomfield, and said that the proposed business building would ruin the residential character of the neighborhood.

Character John A. Erico, of Bloomfield, representing Mrs. Palmo, said that he thought he had convinced the three objectors at the Zoning Adjustment Board meeting that the building and the paving of the adjacent yard would improve property values instead of depreciating them. He said that the Silver Lake business has been operated from there since 1929 or 1930 and the ground is already being used for storage.

Acting Mayor Waters said "You have to tell that story to the neighboring property owners. Apparently you didn't do a very good job at the Zoning Board meeting." Commissioner King said that the Commissioners rec'd the action of the Zoning Adjustment Board and that the Commissioners voted for his resolution.

Want Memorial Field

Salvatore Risoli, president of the West End Civic League, pointed out that in January, 1951, he addressed a letter to Mayor Waters and to each of the Commissioners, asking them to acquire the property for industrial use. He said that he had a copy of the letter in his file.

He was followed by Ralph Raimo, who pointed out that there is a rumor that Edison has already acquired the property for industrial use. He said that he had a copy of the letter in his file.

FULL HEARING ON FUEL OIL TANK IS SET FOR APRIL 22

Robert C. Grubbin Says Matter Should Go To Zoning Board; Isadore Padula Disagrees

A full dress hearing on whether or not a matter of 400 gallons capacity in a fuel oil tank requires action of the Board of Zoning Adjustment, or whether the Town Commissioners can vote a permit to install such a tank without zoning action will be held at the April 22 meeting of the Board of Commissioners, after a preliminary hearing on the part of attorneys Tuesday night.

The matter concerns the application of Joseph R. Minione to install a fuel oil tank of 19,600 gallons capacity on property in Valley Street. The matter had been before the Board last month, but the Board had no time to hear it because of the absence of Commissioner King who was laid over.

In the meantime the Commissioners received a letter from Robert C. Grubbin objecting to the issuance of the permit to install the tank, citing the zoning law which says that fuel oil tanks of 20,000 gallons capacity must be installed within 200 feet of a theatre or library. The site on Valley Street is 100 feet to the rear of the Capitol Theatre.

He also argued that the application was made before the Zoning Board more than a year ago but was withdrawn.

Isadore Padula, representing Mr. Minione, pointed out that the zoning law specifically exempts fuel oil tanks of less than 20,000 gallons capacity. His client's tank would be under that size, so therefore would not be a zoning matter, but purely a licensing one on the part of the Board of Commissioners.

He argued that the Commissioners should not be bothered for another meeting. In the meantime, Town Attorney Lawrence Brennan suggested that Mr. Padula submit a statement of how the business will be conducted and the method of distribution of the fuel oil.

Acting Mayor Waters tipped his hand a bit by declaring that he does not care when the zoning ordinance says, he is not in favor of disturbing the peace of neighbors. He has been there for many years.

Offer Eight Ordinances For Capital Improvements

New Furnace for Town Hall, Purchase of Erie Railroad Property, Resurfacing of Streets And Purchase of New Amulance Contemplated

Eight ordinances providing for capital expenditures of $80,000 were introduced to first reading at the meeting of the Board of Commissioners on Tuesday night. Among the items covered by the ordinances is a traffic light to be installed at the entrance of the Walter Kidde & Co., Inc., plant on Main Street, costing $1,500; repaving of plumbing in the firehouses and the installation of a new furnace in the Town Hall, costing $35,000; the repaving of a number of streets including Lassic Avenue, costing $12,000; the paving of the streets on the corner of the William Street playground and the construction of sidewalks in Noltan Street from the Stadium to Greylock Parkway, v5,900 the purchase of a Burroughs Tax Accounting Machine at $4,300; the purchase of a new ambulance for the Town Hall, costing $8,000; the installation of a water line in Austin Street from Greylock Parkway to the Municipal Stadium, $1,250; and the purchase of a new Ambulance and truck for the traffic department at $12,000.

The property to be acquired from the Erie Railroad is near the present Municipal Garage and will cost the Town $1,825. The present Ambulance which has traveled 78,000 miles will be retained as an auxiliary ambulance and will be used at a garage in the Town Hall. It will be used on emergency runs and will be operated by policemen, and will be destroyed when the new ambulance is received.

The decision to keep the ambulance was partly due to the fact that it has a trade-in value of only $1,200.

A ninth ordinance which changes the zoning on a plot of town owned property on Washington Avenue between Garner and King streets was also passed on first reading. The ordinance is abandoning a special investigation of corruption but would call in the P.B.I. if, in looking around, he did discover any evidence of wrongdoing.

The investigation was countered by Rep. Rodino's insistence that the Congressional investigation was not on regarding C. White House's intentions.

The fact that Mr. Morris has been relieved of his duties and that Attorney General McGrath has resigned was not to interfere with the Congressional Subcommittee's work. Rep. Rodino told the Times-News.

"The Subcommittee plans 'full investigation' of the matter for another meeting. In the meantime, Town Attorney Lawrence Brennan suggested that Mr. Padula submit a statement of how the business will be conducted and the method of distribution of the fuel oil."

Acting Mayor Waters tipped his hand a bit by declaring that he does not care when the zoning ordinance says, he is not in favor of disturbing the peace of neighbors. He has been there for many years.

Essex Freeholders Consent To Toll Gates On Parkway

Intra-County Traffic Will Not Pay Tolls However, Mark Anton Announces

The Board of Freeholders has consented to the principle of establishing two toll wickets within Essex County on the proposed Garden State Parkway, one to be located at Belleville Avenue in Springfield and the other at Bloomfield Avenue in Irvington. Intra-county traffic, however, will be toll-free and only through traffic which travels between the county line will pay tolls at the gates.

Below Essex Line
At the same time, State Highway Commissioner Randolph Abbott informed The Times-News last night that to speed up the Parkway, he will take bids next Thursday for paying 2.7 miles of the highway from Gallatin Hill road in Kenilworth to the Rahway river bridge at Centennial Avenue in Cranford. He was unable to say, however, when work would begin on the Parkway in Essex County.

The Cranford project is intended to complete the Parkway from Route 29 in Union to the Woodbridge interchange on the New Jersey Turnpike. There will be two main roadways of 24 feet each, divided by a 60-foot center safety island. A woodland picnic area of two acres is planned adjacent to the southbound lane near Michigan Avenue.

The U. S. Bureau of Public Roads has approved the plans and will share in the cost. Abbott said the timetable for completing the Cranford to Route 29 link has been revised several times due to delays in obtaining material steel for six bridges on this section and the Cranford viaduct. Recently Governor Driscoll and Commissioner Abbott made a trip to Washington in an effort to expedite steel delivery. As a result of the trip, assurance has been received that steel for these structures will be rolled in the first and second quarters of the current year. Paving plans are now being coordinated on the basis of this information so that bridges will be completed at the same time.

Explaining why the Essex Freeholders had consented to the principle of collecting tolls on the Northern part of the Parkway, Freeholder Mark Anton, chairman of the highway and bridges committee of the county board, made the following statement:

"In order that all residents of the county may have adequate toll free facilities within the limits of the county, with full use of the Garden State Parkway, studies are being made for future extensions, connections and other development of existing facilities. "In determining that the construction of the Garden State Parkway through Essex County with toll wickets established north of Belleville Avenue and south of Springfield Avenue would be a major contribution to the traffic solution in Essex County and a big contribution to our citizens who might use this highway we were guided largely by the origin and destination studies made in the County Engineer's Office and the existing highway system that would lead our citizens to the several points of ingress and egress.

"A cross section of traffic taken near Nutley in the Watchung Avenue area of the Parkway route indicates about 9,000 vehicles coming from outside the county and going entirely through the County; 20,000 vehicles coming from outside the County with a destination within the County, or vice versa, and 3,000 vehicles with origin and destination within the County. This latter group is the group in which we are interested in securing access to the Belleville Avenue interchange for toll free rides.

At the Belleville Avenue interchange, we determined there were 9,000 vehicles riding through the County with origin and destination outside of the County; 23,000 vehicles coming from outside the County and a destination within the County, or vice versa, and 11,000 vehicles with origin and destination within the County. Note that there is a difference of 8,000 vehicles between Watchung Avenue and Belleville Avenue in the purely intra-county group which would indicate certainly that 8,000 residents would probably use the Belleville Avenue interchange whether the parkway was a toll road or entirely free use highway.

For the 3,000 vehicles in the northern section of the County, we have several highways readily accessible to the Belleville Avenue interchange, such as Broad Street and Boughton Avenue in Bloomfield, East Passaic Avenue, Bloomfield Avenue and Franklin Avenue in Nutley, and the new street proposed to be built by Bloomfield in a section of the old canal bed.

"Furthermore, east-west highways such as Bloomfield Avenue and Belleville Avenue will serve as admirable distribution highways leading to and from the Belleville Avenue interchange and

VOTE FOR A GREAT AMERICAN! Give the Nation Constructive Leadership!

Excerpts from Eisenhower's Speech, Labor Day, 1949, at St. Louis

The Philosophy of a Great Leader:—

1. That individual freedom is our most precious possession. It is to be guarded as the chief heritage of our people, the well-spring of our spiritual and material greatness and the central target of all enemies—internal and external—who seek to weaken and destroy the American Republic.
2. That all our freedom—personal, economic, social, political—freedom to buy, to work, to hire, to bargain, to save, to vote, to gather in a convention or join in mutual association; all these freedoms are a single bundle. Each is an indispensable part of a single whole. Destruction of any inevitably leads to the destruction of all.
3. That freedom to compete vigorously among ourselves, accompanied by a readiness to cooperate wholeheartedly for the performance of community and national functions, together make our system the most productive on earth.

BELL PEALS

Two good reasons why Rollins College of Winter Park, Florida, is being favored to cop the Dad Vail Regatta, the big rowing prize for smaller colleges, which will be held at Boston, May 10, are Don Weber and Norman Gross, both of Belleville and both former students of Rutgers University.

city. Weber, stroked the Rutgers Freshman crew last year, and Gross, although experienced at Belleville High did not row while a student at Rutgers-Newark. Since the season opened, another Belleville oarsman, Frank Thompson, also formerly of Rutgers-Newark, has joined the Rollins crew. Weber and Gross have been pledged to the Sigma Nu Fraternity there.

Word From Little Creek
John Kaldy, a tall sailor from Belleville, got his share of points for the Atlantic Amphibious Force basketball team which recently completed its season by winning its third consecutive Atlantic Fleet championship. The six-foot five-inch center broke into the varsity lineup after the season was well underway, and is expected to be one of the stars of the team next year. Of course he was a star at Belleville High School three seasons ago.

Outstanding Player Award
Dave Smalley of Seton Hall was named winner of the Essex County CYO Outstanding Player award this week with a total of 61 points in the balloting by sportswriters and high school coaches. Dean Hatcher and Pete Benz of Belleville High were included among those who received votes in the contest. The trophy will be given to Smalley at the annual June Assembly of the CYO.

Little League Farm Teams
The Recreation Department has completed arrangements for the formation of the Little League farm circuit for boys who failed to make the grade in the Little League tryouts being held. Youngsters from 9 to 11 will play afternoon games and will gain the experience and knowledge of the game to enable them to make the grade in the Little League next season. The organization meeting of all candidates for this Farm League will be Saturday morning, April 19 at 9:30 at the Municipal Stadium. Originally it was planned to provide these teams with T-shirts but now efforts are being made to provide more of a uniform for these boys.

For Free
The New York Yankees have sent us a bundle of American League schedules, featuring, of course, the games of the New York team. Anyone interested can pick up one at the Belleville Times-News office.

PAL Guests At Auto Races

Will Honor Dean Hatcher
Friends of Dean Hatcher, co-captain of the Belleville High Basketball team and one of the greatest players competing in the state basketball tournament, plan a social affair in his honor in the near future.

Baseball And Track Berths Plenty Of Competition For

Sam Graziano is Baseball Team's Only Veteran Performer; First Game Next Friday; Forty Are Out For Track Squad

By CHARLIE MAGUIRE

Both Baseball Coach Ed Berlingi and Track Coach Wilho Winkla are pleased with the progress of their squads in practice sessions to date. Coach Berlingi had 42 candidates in the early stages of the practice, but has made his first cut. All 40 of the boys out for Coach Winkla's track squad.

Mr. Berlingi tells us that the squad shows plenty of pep and hustle and well it is because there are eight positions wide open. The team's only veteran is Sam Graziano, who will be at shortstop, one of the best places to have a veteran player. Sammie is an excellent fielder and a good hitter. Nick Pettit is making a strong bid for the third base post while Paul Ott and Fred Kraft are fighting it out for second base honors. It can be either Vin Nardiello or Paul Weinstein on first.

Weinstein also pitches and plays the outfield. Other infielders are Larry Domofrio, Bill Gibbler, Gary Barman, Al Johnston, Ernie Materazzi, Joe Litore, Mike Swinski and Tom Mack.

The outfield positions are wide open with Bill Madara, Doug Pusey, Pete Spere, Bob Extram and Pete Palmeri the leading candidates. Others bidding for fielding berths are Pat Iannelli, Harry Cough, and Warren Pavelli. Pusey, only a sophomore, has looked very good in practice and should develop into a fine ball player. Madara is a switch-hitter, but probably will do all his batting from the left side, once the season gets underway.

Jersey Skidmore and Richie Raymond, both are good catchers and Mr. B. will have a tough job deciding between them.

But it is in the pitching department that Belleville lacks anything that resembles experience. Charlie Terenzi, a converted infielder looks like the best pitching prospect. Jack McKann has speed and a good hook, but lacks consistent control. Howard Smith has the greatest variety of pitches. Howard Barnett has a good curve and control and Paul Weinstein is faster than anyone else, but is as wild as a "March Hare." Terry Gahr should be sensational a few years from now, since he is only a freshman, but he will have to gain more control on his "three-foot hook."

The Belleville baseballers open their season at home against West Side on April 18. Until then, the boys will be battling for starting berths in all day drills next week.

Want a lot of mileage for your money?

WE'll admit that the price tags of automobiles—all automobiles—are not what they used to be. But it's just as true today as ever before that some price tags are lower than others, and some cars cost less to own than others. So let's see how a Buick SPECIAL fits into the picture. Take first cost. If you put the price tag of this Buick against price tags of cars that have always been tagged as belonging in "the low-priced field"—you'll find that, in actual dollars, a Buick's surprisingly close to these cars of lesser size and horsepower. But that's just the beginning. What you're getting here is Buick quality—this SPECIAL comes down the same assembly line as SUPERS and ROADMASTERS. Its hefty tells you it has extra sturdiness in frame and structure. Its Fireball Engine delivers extra power. It is an eight, a valve-in-head, with high compression, and the miles you can get from a gallon of gas make it a thrifty performer. You get Buick's Million Dollar Ride, which protects you—and the car—from jars and jolts. Even the tires are bigger—which, any tire man will tell you, lengthens their wear. And if you pay a bit extra for Dynaflo Drive® you're easing the strain on the engine, the rear end, the tires—and eliminating clutch repair bills. So when we talk about "mileage for your money" we're talking about the miles you'll get from your car—including the unused miles that are what you have to sell when you trade it in. Maybe that's why Buick's doing so well in the present market. Why not for me and see what a great car this is for you? Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice. Wheel covers and hubcaps on 1952 models optional at extra cost on other Series. White sidevalve optional at extra cost when available. *Standard on ROADMASTERS, optional at extra cost on other Series.

PLAY CONTEST TO BE HELD APRIL 18

Four One-Act Plays Will Be Presented At Holy Family In County CYO Competition

Four one-act plays two in the senior division and two in the junior division will be presented in competition for the Essex County CYO championships at Holy Family Auditorium, Brookline Avenue and Harrison Street, Nutley, on Friday evening, April 18th, beginning at 7:45. Previous to this year the competition was held at Seton Hall University's Little Theatre in South Orange on the campus. This year it has been moved to the larger auditorium at Holy Family because of the fine facilities available.

The four plays in the competition have all survived preliminary elimination rounds of the tournament. Seen in the senior division will be "The Bishop's Catechists," presented by St. Aloysius of Caldwell, and "Moonshine," which will be the presentation of St. John's of Orange. These two entries will vie for the senior title.

In the junior field the entries will be "Sister Sue," given by St. Aloysius of Caldwell, and "Dress Rehearsal," the offering of St. Mary's of Nutley. St. Aloysius thus has entries in both sectors of the tournament. The county champion last year was St. Rose of Lima's of Newark, who this year were eliminated in the semifinals.

Competition rules require that each play be no less than 15 minutes and no more than 40 minutes in duration. Acting participants in the junior division are 16 or younger, while those in the senior group go up to the age of 26. Each entry is allowed but five minutes to arrange the stage for its play. No admission fee will be charged. The tournament is the property of the D.A.R. to be held in Washington, D.C. the week of April 13, 1952.

D.A.R. Congress. To Meet
Mrs. Winifred H. Stone of Belleville and Mrs. Rudolph Steinko of Elizabeth will represent the Newark Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution as delegates to the 61st Congress of the D.A.R. to be held in Washington, D.C. the week of April 13, 1952.

Pf. Spadafino, a graduate of New York schools, was formerly employed by General Motors. He is now serving with the United States Marine Corps, stationed at Camp Lejeune, North Carolina.

Of sweet, innocent April

Of April winds and April gales

Vote, Despite Driscoll, Vote!

The staggering fact is that only half the voting population of the nation actually cares enough about the government and the duties of citizenship to spend just one hour out of the whole year to vote. The U. S. census bureau estimates that close to 95,000,000 adults were eligible to vote in the 1948 presidential election. Yet, only 48,886,579, about half, cast ballots.

It seems almost incredible that a democratic government can survive with such a narrow base of public support!

In New Jersey, the voting turnout was only slightly better in 1948. Of 3,279,000 persons over 21 years of age living in this state, only 1,949,555 went to the polls. In other words, more than 1,300,000 of our neighbors failed to vote. They and others like them who stayed away from the balloting places helped to brand this nation as being only half-hearted about civic affairs and half-hearted about the conduct of government. They also helped maintain the belief held in many foreign nations that we in America preach democracy abroad but don't practice it at home.

We urge you to vote Tuesday. Even though you may disagree with the Driscoll-type of political machinations we urge you to vote within the score afforded by the nominations. We believe that, in going in force to the polls on Tuesday we can show the world that there still is strength and vitality in democracy.

It is your privilege to vote for the candidate of your choice, despite Governor Driscoll's maneuver. Despite Senator Taft's withdrawal from the campaign, his name remains on the voting machine under lever 6-A. There are no delegates pledged to the Ohio Senator, and that has led to a maneuver which is of Driscoll's own unwitting making. Many Republicans who have a preference for Senator Taft as their Presidential candidate, and many other Republicans who merely resent the Governor's attempt to distort the true meaning of a Primary for his own ulterior motives, intend to "bullet vote" for Taft. They will pull down lever 6-A and will then refrain from voting for any convention delegates. In that manner, they hope, by piling up a bigger vote for Taft than the delegates obtain, to show New Jersey's true sentiments.

A Prejudiced President

No one who watched over TV and listened to President Truman, Tuesday evening, felt what he termed the "facts" about the steel strike could help but be struck by his clear-cut partisanship and prejudice. Truman told a one-sided story better than Philip Murray could have told it. It was, alas, unfortunate that it was the President of the United States and not the President of the CIO who was orating.

It is our contention that the President should tell both sides of a story or he should shut up. The great steel companies may, as he said, be making $19 a ton profit on steel. There should be no trouble checking up on that. But it is not the role of the President of the United States — unless we have become a Socialist state — to tell the steel producers that they must absorb a new wage increase without a price raise. No matter how much profit the steel companies make, the President has no power to compel them to distribute any part of their profit to the workers. Nothing in our code of laws allows that.

And incidentally, he reached the height of futility in trying, unsuccessfully, to explain why he did not involve the Taft-Hartley law which he has opposed from its conception and has never once used since it became a law of the land. Partisan politics, as played by the Fendergast politician, are pathetic.

It was a sorry spectacle, and Truman, very evidently, was playing party politics, appealing for mass support and trying to tie up for November the full support of the CIO and its unions to the Democratic party. It is good that Truman is going out of office. He has taken more and longer strides towards Socialism than any President in our history.

Common Sense And Cancer

It is perfectly natural to be afraid of a disease like cancer, but not to the point where fear brings a state of paralyzed do-nothingness. Blind, unreasoning fear is one of cancer's strongest allies. And shame only compounds the fear. However difficult it may be to be level-headed about cancer, it is essential that we make every effort in that direction. And the first step in that direction is to learn some basic truths about the disease.

The first of these truths is that many cancers can be cured provided the proper treatment is started early enough. For example, with today's knowledge and techniques, up to 98 percent of skin cancers are curable. The curable percentages are lower but relatively good in other types, such as breast, stomach and rectal cancers.

The difference between the number of cases that can be cured and the number that are cured is almost unbelievable. Many people suffer and die needlessly every year because of false notions about cancer. Fear and shame prevent them from taking the common sense course—early medical examination and prompt treatment through surgery, X-ray or radium.

The basic weapon in the campaign to eradicate fear and shame and to develop a common sense attitude toward cancer is education. Two other weapons are research and service. This three-pronged assault against cancer is one of all of us here in Essex County can join. And we can do it in a simple, direct way by giving generously during the annual fund-raising campaign being conducted this month by the Essex County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

Knives Are Out in Washington Where Sun Editor Found Even More Confusion Than Ever

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Back from a week spent in the anterooms of Washington and across Virginia, I brought an impression of Democratic futility. The capital, these days, is depressed and depressing. The knives are out and what happened to Newbold Morris and to Attorney General McGrath in a matter of hours is indicative of the state of mind in most of the government officials.

From a week spent listening along the Mason-Dixon Line, on its sunny side, I returned with the positive impression that only Eisenhower can hope to break the Solid South. He has a chance; Taft, alas, has none. Against anyone but "like," the South, from the impression I gained, would once again support the Democratic party candidate, no matter who he is—now that Harry Truman is out of the way. Had Truman been the candidate, a split South would have been inevitable. Truman's self-removal took much of the fire out of the Byrd and the Dixiecrat opposition, and with Truman out of the race there is little incentive for Democratic conservatives to continue their "bully-party" threat.

The Truman withdrawal had an unalloyed effect in Virginia where the name of party loyalty has now been drawn against Senator Harry Byrd who led the Dixiecrat revolt against the Truman administration. There is now a strong anti-Byrd movement, aimed at upsetting him from the Senate, and he is certain of strong primary opposition—either Martin A. Hutchinson, who piled up 82,000 votes against Byrd in 1946 or Francis Pickens Miller, runner-up to Governor Battle in the 1949 election.

Peck Hinkle, it is more amusing than significant, perhaps, that the Richmond Times-Dispatch, one of the great dailies of the South, should say editorially: "Truman quit because he knew that he couldn't win this time, even if the Republicans ran Howard Duddy against him." The same paper, disposed of the recent human speech in which he announced that he would not be a candidate as "spiritually supercilious."

People who live in glass houses should never throw stones. The Virginia editor wrote: "The President should have remembered that when he pooled the idea that his administration ever had been friendly towards communism and when he delivered himself at having been a foreigner in the light against corruption in government."

The smug of his dismissal of the Hiss affair with the words "let's get it over" and the misuse of the word "assine" with which he tried to dismiss the damning details of the Hiss scandal are still remembered. The impression I gained from conversations with Virginians was that the South would have turned against Truman this time. The same sources were insistent that the Democratic convention picked Governor Adlai E. Stevenson or any other Northern candidate there could be no Eisenhower landslide.

OLD ST. MARY'S TO BE CONVERTED INTO SCHOOL GYM

Contract To Be Let Soon For Changes In Former Church To Provide For Auditorium

With the dedication last Saturday of the new half-million dollar St. Mary's Roman Catholic church by Archbishop of New York, a contract will be let shortly for the conversion of the former church into a combined auditorium and gymnasium for the use of the parish school. Work on the conversion will progress with the completion of the 10,000 square foot addition to the school so that both will be ready for the opening of class in September.

Future of Old Church
No decision has been taken regarding the future use of the first brownstone church, across St. Mary's Place from the new building, but there are tentative plans either to offer it again to the Knights of Columbus for conversion into a club or to propose its use to the C. V. O. of the parish.

In the meantime, the old church will be used for storage of school and church surplus. When it was first offered to the Knights of Columbus several years ago, the estimated cost of conversion led the Knights to reject the offer and to buy town land in Chestnut Street as a site for the new club.

Mrs. James J. Owens is also considering the purchase of the land behind the school and its paving for the combined purposes of parking during Sunday services—and playgrounds on school days. The widening and paving of St. Mary's Place from the Walnut Street station to the Erie Railroad to Park Avenue has been completed.

Archbishop Walsh laid the cornerstone, into which went a copy of the history of the parish; a copy of The Nutley Sun, which has in it the story of the dedication ceremonies; and also a copy of The Advocate, Catholic newspaper.

MARINE CORPS HAS NEW ARMOR

Vest-Like Garment Credited With Saving 18 Lives On Korean Battlefield

The Marine Corps' new body armor already has been credited with saving 18 lives in Korea, Marine Corps Headquarters said recently.

Reports from the Korean front, proved the worth of the armor, which is a vest-like garment weighing less than eight pounds. Production line models arrived in the Far East last January and combat and medical personnel have been high in their praise of the protective vest.

Marine Private First Class Ralph W. Barlow Jr., of Redford, Beach, Calif., was wearing the vest when a four-inch square piece of steel from an enemy 82mm mortar shell hit him in the chest. "It was knocked to the ground with great force and had the wind knocked out of me," Barlow said. "The vest saved my life. I'll swear by it."

In addition to the Nelsons the committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kennedy, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Mooney, and Father John Hourigan of St. Peter's Church.

This Sword REPRESENTS CANCER Research

The American Cancer Society supports research in many institutions in many states, but the lack of funds retards the work. Yet the triumph over cancer can come only through continuing research. Scientists must go on experimenting. Expensive laboratory equipment must be maintained. Educational programs must be enlarged. Money is essential to carry on this work. Edgar Jean Bracco

The Armchair Traveler.

The world is full of frustrated travelers. Therefore, when you feel a tug somewhere inside you at the sound of a train whistle or a boat horn, you can rest in the knowledge that you are part of a large company.

How often have you walked alone at night, when the streets of the town are still, and heard a train go by? Have you ever wondered where it was going? What connections it would make? And have you ever lounged down near the docks after dark, with the black hulls of waiting ships hovering above you? You smell the cargoes of many lands on these docks—bananas from the warm plantations of the Caribbean, bags full of coffee beans, of tea, the sharp, almost medicinal pungency of newly-refined sugar.

To many people, pausing on a dock like this, the experience might be a slightly unpleasant one. The smells are not romantic, if you yourself are not romantic. The river—there's no other way of describing it—stinks. Underfoot you feel the slippery ooze of mashed bananas, old cigars, tannin, the dark of other continents. Up on the decks of the darkened freighters you hear an occasional rattle, punctuated by an oath. Sometimes the oath is a foreign tongue, but the sound of an obscenity, in any language, has the same effect. It makes it easy to recognize.

But if in your being there stirs any chords of romanticism, all of this around you will make the blood tingle in your veins and your feet itch with an almost uncontrollable desire to board one of these ships and stay with her forever.

Through your head swim visions of pictures you've seen and names you've heard—London, lying like a patient martyr beneath the blanket of eternal fog; Algiers, rising in retreating tiers from the sea, shining clearly in the sun, the sight being the fifth that lies beneath the surface; Hong Kong, a nightmare of sounds—languages from all over the world, the cries of boatmen, the shriller cries of waterfront hawkers, the rustle of a busy international port; Japan, steaming, seemingly nothing but a small jungle town, and then suddenly materializing into a modern metropolis; Tahiti, glowing like a jewel in a phosphorescent southern sea; Marseilles, polyglot, rough, dangerous, looking across the Mediterranean at Africa.

And you might recall pictures of your own land—the Mississippi, muddier creek below the heights of St. Louis, yet possessing an element of power and eternity; the forests of upper Michigan; the swamplands of central Florida, with the most fantastically lovely flowers you have ever imagined, and the most fantastically frightening animals stirring in the shadows; the incredible wildness of certain areas in the Rockies; the roads from Idaho to Washington State, so steep going down from the Continental Divide that drivers tie young trees to their rear bumpers to supplement their brakes; the smell of pine in Maine; the sleepy old world charm of Charleston; the white beaches along Florida's ocean coast; the architecture in southern California, both structural and feminine.

And you sigh as you look up again at the black hull, rising and falling on the swell of the river. There is a little regret in that sigh, for you realize that the chances are slim that you will ever see all of those places.

How often have you thought back to the days of your childhood, remembering your errand dreams? Were you going to see the world, some day when you "grew up"? You were going to visit every spot on earth, were going to talk to all the people, absorb all the knowledge, do all the things there were to be done.

How often have you looked back to those dreams? Perhaps often than you'd care to admit. As soon as you throw off the shackles of school, you were going to set out for the distant horizons. With the blissful ignorance of youth you didn't concern yourself with the mundane irritations of money, passports, visas, laundry.

You were simply going to take off one bright morning, romantically toting a small bundle holding your worldly possessions, face the sun, and start walking. And somehow, illogically, but with the magic granted only to the young you would make your way into the fabled lands of your imagination. You would meet men of robility and women of loveliness. You would perform deeds of valor and your name would become a symbol that would carry like the winds across the continent.

Yes, you might say to yourself, those were the days. As you turn away you might sigh again and cast a final longing glance at the great ship riding easily at anchor. And your throat might be tight with a poignant sort of regret, for you know that with the dawn she will up anchor and pull out, and you will not be on her.

YOUR DOLLARS WILL AID 3052 FAMILIES IN TORNADO STATES

B. Thomas Aitken Cites Many Statistics in Recent Big Wind; Chance For Donors

B. Thomas Aitken, Chapter Chairman of the American Red Cross in Belleville, released today the latest statistics on the recent tornado disaster in Tennessee, Mississippi, Arkansas and three adjoining states. The dead now number 231, with 1202 injured, 732 hospitalized. A total of 3052 families were affected with 1170 homes destroyed and another 1600 damaged.

At Judsonia, where 95% of the town's buildings were raised, Red Cross headquarters were set up in the Methodist Church. Five miles west at Bold Knob, the Red Cross began first aid activities in the town hall.

Five bloodmobile technicians returning to Little Rock from a blood collection which were stopped by the tornado at Bold Knob, the local Red Cross staff and helped with the relief work. In Little Rock, citizens stood in line at the local blood center Saturday to donate more than 150 pints of blood. The Red Cross shipped more than 450 pints of blood to the stricken area and Little Rock hospitals reported the supply of whole blood and plasma was sufficient to meet all expected needs.

Several Red Cross chapters in untouched communities in Arkansas sent volunteer workers, food and medical supplies. While Judsonia and Bold Knob and Dyersburg and Byholia seem far away, and the suffering of the victims of the tornado seems rather remote, too, too, could be involved in a disaster of like proportions—not a tornado, perhaps, but a hurricane, a flood, a serious fire, a plane disaster, a train accident—all could happen here in Belleville. Stop and think of what your reaction would be under those circumstances. You would welcome the help of others—the financial assistance to repair the

Six Belleville Men Fly To Boston Meeting

Four members of the Belleville Police force and two Belleville friends were in the party of 13 representing the New Jersey Police Square Club, which joined the Westchester County Police Square Club in the chartering of a plane for a trip to Boston to attend a meeting there Thursday night. The New Jersey delegation left Teterboro Airport at 6 o'clock. The plane stopped to pick up 30 representatives of the Westchester club and the entire delegation reached the Boston Yacht Club in time for the meeting at 8 o'clock. The return trip got the Belleville men back to their homes by 3 o'clock Friday morning. In the group at the extreme left are Detective Harry Winfield and Patrolman Fred DeGrosso. Fifth from the left is Deputy Chief Kenneth Smith with his friends Joseph Paul and Frank DeBoris. At the extreme right is Patrolman Louis Anderson. damage to your property, to replace necessary clothing and furnishings.

Those people in the tornado area have the same feeling now. Your dollars contributed for their relief will return them to their normal way of life quickly; help them re-establish their homes, their farm buildings, their businesses.

Let's dig down and make sure the Belleville Red Cross reaches its Relief Fund Goal of $1,200. This is a wonderful opportunity for all those Belleville residents who are employed outside the town and made their 1952 Red Cross Fund contribution through their place of business, to give here in Belleville to the Tornado Relief Fund. 5,000 STERILAMPS SENT TO BELGIUM

Bases For Germ-Killing Lamps Were Manufactured In Plant Of Westinghouse In Town

A shipment of 5,000 Westinghouse Sterilamps, largest of its kind in the company's history, has been sent to Belgium for installation in that country's schools, hospitals, offices, homes, factories and laboratories; it was announced today by the Westinghouse Electric International Company. The germicidal lamps were ordered by the Belgian firm, Ateliers de Constructions Electriques de Charleroi. The shipment consisted of both high and low ozone units for controlling odors as well as for destruction of bacteria.

The lamps are thin 36-inch mercury-vapor units that emit ultraviolet rays of a wave length deadly to airborne organisms. When installed, they will be mounted in specially designed fixtures which the Belgian firm manufactures.

Bases for the new Sterilamps were manufactured by the Westinghouse Lamp Division here.

Gets Four Months Sentence As Parole Violator Here

Marvin Woodard of 31 Walsingham avenue, was sentenced to four months in the county jail by Magistrate Edward J. Abramson, Thursday morning, as a parole violator. Woodard was placed on probation in January for the theft of a neighbor's watch. Last week he was arrested in Newark on a charge of atrocious assault and battery. When he applied for a bond an officer of the bonding company recalled that he had been in a scrap in Belleville, and turned him over to the Belleville police. Thomas Coyle, probation officer, made the charge against Woodard. He told Magistrate Abramson that Woodard had never reported to him, although instructed to do so by the judge.

Miss Nguyen of Indo-China Vacations at Daniels' Home

A Transfer Student at Wellesley, She Majors In Economics The Better To Assist Her People In Bringing About Greater Economic Security For All

By Betty Steiner

Simone Nguyen, a conscientious young lady of 22 who hails from Saigon, Indo-China, finds the contrast between life in these United States and that of her native land extremely marked. And as a transfer student at Wellesley majoring in economics, she finds herself becoming equipped to evaluate the differences and thus to aid her country in whatever way possible in raising its standard of living and providing a democratic life for all the inhabitants.

Miss Nguyen is presently spending her spring vacation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell E. Daniels of 29 Prospect Street with their daughter, who also attends Wellesley.

Speaks English Well
A resident of our country for eighteen months, Miss Nguyen speaks English well enough to give one the impression that she has resided here for many years. Modestly, she herself underestimates her linguistic facility, remarking that for quite a while nobody was able to understand her here.

Before coming to the U. S., Miss Nguyen had lived in France

since 1947 where she attended a French University called Victor

Brother at M.I.T.
Miss Nguyen speaks in glowing terms of college campuses in America as compared to those of schools in France, and declares that the educational systems and methods of the two countries vary widely. We emphasize the liberal arts to a greater extent than is done in France. However, French high schools include what we consider two years of college, so that when one enters a university there one is prepared for much greater academic specialization than in the U. S.

The rest of Miss Nguyen's family, her mother and a brother employed by the Indo-Chinese government, continue to reside in Indo-China. She herself intends to return home next year after graduation.

Bursting Buds In Branch Brook Park Herald Warmer Weather

The Belleville Police Department and the Essex County Park Commission are all prepared for the cavalcade of motorists expected to jam the drive through Branch Brook Park for the annual show of the Japanese Cherry Blossoms and Forsythia growing along the banks of the Second River. Mild weather recently has brought the buds out on the trees and plants. The peak of the rush when hundreds of thousands of people will visit the display is expected a week after Easter. Four patrolmen have been assigned to duty at traffic lights at the park entrances by Deputy Chief Emerson Bush, and as the crowd grows members of the auxiliary police force will be pressed into duty to assist.

Shawger School's Red Cross Council Prepares Circulars For Blood Donation Pledges

Members of the Junior Red Cross Council of the James G. Shawger School have been very busy preparing circulars for Blood Donor Pledges which are being distributed by the Boy Scouts of Belleville.

The Junior Red Cross members stamped, folded, counted and packed 9000 circulars. Divided into shifts, with six children working on each shift, the boys and girls worked with machine-like speed, and completed the assignment in seven hours.

Many children expressed regret that they were not old enough to help in this worthy cause by donating blood, but found satisfaction in the fact that they were doing their part by preparing the circulars for the people of Belleville.
