So What?

The weather on Sunday was inclement to say the least, but in addition to the rain there was some wind and several electric wires were downed and a number of trees damaged. One wire down at 98 Greycliff Avenue shorted out the Police Game-wire alarm system and all policemen were notified to refrain from making their scheduled box-pulls until the situation was rectified. The Public Service was also notified by the police to repair a live wire which was down in Stephens Street between Little Street and Bellevue Street.

Joseph Wilczynski of Lyndhurst, the bridegroom at a wedding reception at the restaurant, Saturday night left the party about 9 o'clock and when he got to his home in Lyndhurst, he found it stripped of the fender skirts, a side view mirror and a hood ornament.

A small girl's bicycle found by the police in Nolton Street near the Stadium on Sunday is in the hands of Property Clerk Harry Winfield and can be recovered if properly identified by the child's parents or parent.

Max Esurin of 54 Raymond Street was arrested Saturday by Detectives Haight and Mallack for violation of the town's ordinance on the possession and sale of fireworks, for having toy pistol caps in his store. Reports that he was shooting off fireworks led to the arrest. He was released in $20 bail for appearance before Magistrate Edward J. Abramson, Thursday morning.

THREE LARGE GIFTS SWELL HEIMRICH FUND TO $4,000

Expect To Reach $5,000 When Returns From Card Party And Old Timers Night Are In

Highlighting the contributions to the Eddie Heimrich Fund received by Edward J. O'Connor chairman, was the receipt of $114 from the employees of the Federal Telecommunications Laboratories, Belleville, collected through the efforts of Nathan Gould, engineer of the company; a check for $100 from the Belleville Firemen's Mutual Benevolent Association and a check for $500 from the Belleville Women's Club. These contributions have brought the total to over $4,000.

It is expected that within a week the total will be swelled to well over $5,000, from the proceeds of the women's card party to be held at the Elks Auditorium on Thursday evening, June 5, as well as the proceeds from the Oldtimers' Night at the Veterans' Hall on Thursday evening of this week, of the ticket committee of the card party. Mrs. Ruth Fredericks, chairman party, has asked that returns for the card party be made of the meeting of the women's committee at the town hall on Monday evening. In this way it will be known how many to provide for and whether the upper hall of the Elks will be necessary, as well as the auditorium.

Closed Friday and Saturday
The Belleville Public Library, Washington Avenue, will be closed Friday, Memorial Day, and Saturday.

Fourth Of July Group Has Many Family Pass Requests

According to preliminary response to the announcement by the Recreation Department that family passes could be sold for the annual Fourth of July circus and fireworks, the stadium will be completely sold out weeks before the Fourth of July Celebration. The Independence Day Committee also appreciates the generous donations and prompt response of many industrial plants, civic and merchant groups.

The committee is completing plans for an all day affair, starting in the morning with a Flag Raising Ceremony, participated in by Belleville veteran organizations and continuing throughout the day with track and field events for children and ending with an elaborate fireworks display.

Workmen Speed Opening of Plymouth 9 Exchange

Scenes as "Plymouth 9", Belleville's new dial telephone system, begins to take shape. System is now in the stage where "making order out of chaos" is the job of Western Electric Company installers in the new telephone building at Washington Avenue and Holmes Street. The massive automatic switching frames already are in place, and installation forces are now at work linking thousands of miles of wire and cable by hundreds of thousands of hand-made soldered connections. The end result will be a smooth-functioning wide-range dial system which New Jersey Bell Telephone Company manager C. Robert Horsfield says is expected to be ready for operation before the year's end "unless unforeseen shortages of equipment and materials upset our plans."

The system will go into operation with the new "Plymouth 9" designation, replacing the Belleville name in local telephone service. Horsfield explains that the shift comes as part of a long-range state and nation-wide Bell System program of unifying the central office name and telephone number system to meet requirements of the rapidly extending method of direct-dialing of telephone calls over steadily greater distances. Elimination of "conflicts" between exchanges names within broad regions is needed to make this possible. Users of individual and two-party "Plymouth 9" service will be able to reach virtually any telephone in the northern New Jersey metropolitan area merely by dialing the number, and also telephones in all five boroughs of New York City in the same way after first dialing a special "11" code. This will bring about 4,500,000 telephones within their direct dialing reach.

Pictured here, in large scene, is Western Electric installer at work on assembly of the master control center, the "medical center" of the new dial system. From this panel, maintenance men will be able to observe blinking signal lamps and follow progress of calls through the intricate switching apparatus. A defect anywhere in the system is spelled out by blinking lights, showing both the nature and location of the defect for quick remedy. The inset shows Robert L. Monaghan, son of Belleville Police Sergeant J. J. Monaghan, of 51 Linden Avenue, on the business side of the massive power control panel of the new dial exchange. Here electrical power is fed from commercial power lines, generators and large storage batteries into various parts of the exchange to keep the system operating, bells ringing, and voices talking.

War Bride's Mother Here From Land Of Shortages

Mrs. Vine Is Amazed At U.S. Abundance; Potatoes Are The Mainstay Of British Diet

It was indeed a thrill for Mrs. Edith Vine of Hitchin, England, to visit the United States and see her daughter, Mrs. Leon Interwald of 529 Joralemon Street, who arrived here six years ago as a war bride. Mrs. Vine's trip was sponsored by the War Brides' Parents' Association of which she is a member. Under its auspices, she was not only given transportation to the United States, but also a small allowance of $10 for incidental expenses.

Mrs. Vine, who arrived here May 17, speaks glowingly of the United States, although her view is that the British are better off in so short a period of time. Her most amazing experience was in visiting the various food markets with their huge displays of luscious fruits, vegetables, meats, and canned goods, all of which are items of extreme scarcity in England.

Undernourishment exists in the rationing system. Mrs. Vine is allowed portions of meat each week, but not more than a good mouthful. Each individual is allowed one egg per week and half a pound of sugar for a household of two. The result, according to Mrs. Vine, is a population of undernourished people who are retuned as a result of the piecemeal rationing system. Starches eaten to compensate for the lack of more nutritive foods.

Mrs. Edith Vines

temporarily that conditions were worsened as a result of Churchill's policies. After his extravagant promises of larger rations, he used up the supplies of food stored by Clement Attlee's government without replacing them. Thus, there is now a greater scarcity than ever before.

She emphasized quite vociferously that all Churchill was interested in accomplishing, as far as the food situation is concerned, is turning back to the large landowners all estates which they had lost during the Labor Government's war-time policy. She is a member of the aristocracy, she said with bitterness, whose aims are in the maintenance of that class at the expense of the working people.

Attlee a Man of the People
Changing her mood considerably, Mrs. Vine told Mr. Attlee whose standard of living is like that of any of the common people. She even rides the train to work every day on a par with less distinguished individuals. Unquestionably she hopes for a general election in the very near future to oust Mr. Churchill and bring back the Labor government.

Attlee and his Government lost power because of the dissatisfaction engendered by Churchill's tightening program and the hope that Churchill would raise the standard of living for the masses as he had promised. Particularly were the young people, just coming of age to vote, taken in by Churchill's propaganda, she explained. Now, however, attitudes were changing drastically in favor of a return to the Labor party.

Extravagance of Queen
To questions regarding the attitude of the populace toward Queen Elizabeth and the royal family, her remarks were a contradiction to all the news she received regarding the profound love of the people for their Queen. Mrs. Vine said that, with the exception of London where the people love the pomp and ceremony that goes with royalty, most of the people are resentful of the

The Big Wimp

The three-day weekend is a big one for racing hereabouts. Friday and Saturday 32 boys representing Belleville and Nutley High School Crews will be in Washington, D. C. for the Schooboy Nationals. On Sunday the Nereid Boat Club will be host to club rowers from all over the east on the Passaic. But these two events are too separate things.

The weekend begins at midnight on Thursday when Coach Bill Bennett and crewman Charlie Culari of Nutley head out of the Nereid Boat Club yard with a truck loaded with the two schools' boats. At six o'clock Friday morning the members of the crews will gather in front of Nutley High School where they will be met by Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Pope, Iver Watts, Wayne K. Johnson, Everett Zabriske, Alan Kannerer, William Walker, all of Nutley, Harold Crane and Alan Riegin of Belleville, each with a car. The motor caravan will travel the New Jersey Turnpike to Delaware and thence on to Washington. There the group will put up at the Shoreham Hotel.

That afternoon on the Potomac, Nutley's varsity eight will take the water in the first heat for Junior eights, crews under 18 years of age, against Buffalo and Washington and Lee High Schools, at 3:30 o'clock. Belleville's varsity eight will be in the second heat for Senior eights, against Washington and Lee and George Washington of Arlington, Va., at 4 o'clock. Belleville's four-shell will be in the second heat for "fours" against Haverford, Pa., and St. Andrews of Delaware at 4:30 o'clock.

Bill Pfahler, of Nutley High, will go directly into the finals in his event, Saturday, when he will race against representatives of St. Andrews, Grosse Point, LaSalle and Lincoln Prep. Nutley's senior doubles shell, Ed Malanowski and Walter Mieski, will also sail right into the finals and will represent Washington and Lee, which has such a fine doubles combination that it has scared off all opposition except that of Nutley.

The Belleville-Nutley oarsmen will be guests Friday night at a rowing banquet at Washington and Lee High School, in Washington. Coach Bill Bennett will require all who will be rowing in the Saturday events to observe an early curfew.

So many factors enter into a shell's success or failure at such a meet that a comparison of seasons' performances cannot be used as a yardstick to measure any team's chances, but we all have our fingers crossed that the local contingent will bring home at least one national title this year.

Twenty-Two Events on the Passaic

The club rowing on the Passaic, Sunday, under the auspices of the New York Rowing Association with the Nereid Boat Club of Belleville as the host club, is planned on a basis of running 22 events with starting times ten minutes apart, starting at about 1:00 p.m. Except for the quarter-mile dashes the events will be one mile in length and will get underway at a point near where the high tension lines hang over the river, and will end about 100 yards above the Rutgers Street Bridge.

Entries were not scheduled to close until last night, so a full report on events which will have enough entries to make a race cannot be reported at this time. It is also possible that some heats may have to be rowed in the morning. This is brought about by the fact that when a racing date is fixed the hours of the high and low tide are not of prime importance. But on Sunday during the height of the racing the tide will be out and competition will be limited to two or at the most three shells at one time.

Al Walker of the Nereid Club is on the committee accepting the entries and he reports that Alan Wal, former coach of the Yale University Crews, and Francis H. Ludwig of the Undine Club of Philadelphia and secretary of the National Rowing Association will be the referees.

Nereid's entries will depend upon the condition of the Belleville and Nutley boys upon their return from the Schooboy Nationals, but the club has filed entries for seven events; the Junior four shell with cox, the Junior Quadruple Sculls, Junior eight, Intermediate Single Sculls, (Bill Pfahler) Junior Single Sculls; Junior Double Shell and Senior Double Shell.

The New York A. C. has entered a number of rather famous oarsmen. One is Rudy Jek, Canadian Single sculler; another single sculler, Gene Leveson, and another containing Joe Angley, twice National and Canadian singles champion, and Ed Lynch. They will have two two-pair oar shell crews; one manned by Robert Perey and Gregory Gates who represented the United States in the 1948 Olympics in London. A pair oared shell with cox will be manned by the Callahan Brothers, 1921 National Champs. The club will enter a four shell with cox and Joe Argyle and Everett Phillips are entered in the quarter-mile dash. A junior four, a junior eight and a senior eight will complete the NYAC entry. The junior eight will be the shell from Blessed Sacrament High School of New Rochelle.

Clubs from Philadelphia, Virginia, and other Eastern cities are expected to have their entries into the New York A. C. by tonight.

This race held just 51 years ago on the Passaic, comes back to the river for the same reason that it left at the turn of the century. Then the Passaic was an open sewer. In the intervening years debris floating in the Harlem has made racing there dangerous and unattractive. It is too bad that the return to the Passaic cannot be marked by the most favorable of racing conditions.

Consistent Shooting By Irvington Halts Belleville

The Belleville Police Revolver Team members hope they have seen the last of Red Markie and the Irvington marksmen for a long time. In a match in the county league last week the Irvington cops won their second straight match over Belleville, 4-1, 1-2, 3-2. Markie, who heads the PAL in Irvington had a 296, four points off perfect, a score almost matched by Sergeant Singer of the local force, but it was the consistent marksmanship of the Irvington boys which licked Belleville. Following Markie were Hughes at 296 and

Junior Varsity Crew Wins, Senior & 40 Pound 4 Defeated

Belleville High's Junior Varsity eight crew remained undefeated but the Varsity four and the 140 pound four, each suffered defeats in the invitation races on the Hudson River at Poughkeepsie, on Saturday.

The Junior Varsity eight took the lead from the start and pulled away from the pack to win easily by three lengths over the Poughkeepsie Roosevelt and Arlington High School shells. Belleville's time was 6:27 against the tide. In the eight were Don Clark, Bob Taylor, Joe Womelort, Walt Shroeder, Ken King, Bob Auten, Alan Wickham, Bill Hall and Bob Bartlett the coxswain.

The Varsity four rowed without the services of Ray Abiola, the stroke, George Plosa, who normally strokes the Varsity eight, filled in for Ray, who was taking a college event behind most of the race and true examination of Belleville although several lengths back at the three-quarter mark, put on a powerful sprint and finished even with Roosevelt at the finish line. Roosevelt finished five feet in front. Behind the Poughkeepsie and Arlington High Schools, Joe Sorrentin, Len Bonifacio, Richie Zipf, George Plosa and Fred Cox, coxswain were in the shell.

The Belleville 140 pound crew lost by two lengths in their debut race. The crew consisted of Sam Steffonak, Steffonak, Haft, Steffonak and Steffonak.

The varsity eight and varsity four will sail in the final stages of preparation for the Schooboy Nationals at Washington, D. C. on Saturday.

RECREATION BALL GAMES ARE PLAYED BEFORE THE RAIN

Squire-Shilling & Skiff Toss Restiflex in Tight Tilt; Ten Farm Teams Are Ready

Fortunately for the baseball and softball activities of the Recreation Department, the rain over the week end and a full schedule of contests prevented the last week of the Industrial Softball League.

There were three games played last Wednesday and Thursday. Of the three the only close one was between Squire-Shilling & Skiff Toss and Restiflex in a tight tilt.

Extensive Program For Bike Fans Scheduled For Weekend

Tour Of Somerville; Alpine Meet And Century 50 Mile Race At Brookdale Planned

The holiday week end is a big one for amateur bicycle racers. On Memorial Day the famous Tour of Somerville, with more than $8,000 in cash prizes at stake, will be held in that town. This race would attract the best riders from all over the East, if not the entire country. On Saturday the Alpine Wheelmen of Belleville will hold their racing program at Johnson Park, New Brunswick, featuring a 25-mile race. On Sunday the Century Road Club holds its annual 50-mile race in Brookdale Park, Bloomfield. Besides the 50 mile event there will be the dashes and other events to take up most of the afternoon.

The Alpine Wheelmen held forth with weekly races in the old reservoir in Branch Brook Park last year, have switched to a five lap grass track at Cameron Field, South Orange, and hold their competitions each Saturday night.

On the first Friday Ray Frate of Belleville dominated the show, but on the last time out it was Clark Abney, now of Lincoln Park, who won four out of five.

Abney took the three-fifths mile sprint handicap, followed by Harold Duma of Paterson, who won the 1000 yard race. Angelo DeBacco second, Harold Duma third and Ray Frate fourth. A three mile point to point race was also won by Abney with a sprint at the end of each mile also went to Abney with DeBacco second, Frate third, and Duma fourth.

A one lap race for boys with stock bicycles saw Bryant Abey, (Clark's 10-year old son) take first place followed by Ricky Johnston and Dick Fenton. Another one lap event was won by Abey followed by Bryant Abey, Ricky Johnston and Iven-Ed Bomillon.

The referee of these events was Coach Terren, former grand rider, who takes a great interest in promoting races of this kind. The first race was at Cameron Field, will be on June 6th and the Alpine Wheelmen invite any boys of 10 to 12 years of age.

The first annual dinner of the faculty and special lectures of the Rutgers Extension Center will be held this Wednesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Military Park Hotel.

The addresses will be made by Dr. Lewis Webster Jones, president of the State University and Dean Ernest E. McMahon of the University, Extension Division.

The occasion will mark the first opportunity for the one hundred or more part-time lecturers at the Newark Center to meet one another and become acquainted with the Rutgers officials who are closely identified with the Extension Division.

Thrift tends to stability of employment

A personnel manager will take under serious consideration the credit standing of an applicant. If the applicant lives from pay-day to pay-day, he is worried over finances; he is never satisfied with his pay, for he spends all he has and never has enough. The employer senses his dissatisfaction.

On the other hand, if he has a savings account to which he adds regularly, he can concentrate on his work and become happy in it.

The Peoples National Bank and Trust Company is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, which insures your account up to $10,000.

LETTERS

Appreciation Deeply Appreciated
To The Editor, The Times-News:
This is a letter of commendation for your informative articles printed every Thursday in "One Man's Opinion." I definitely think the people of Belleville would join me in proclaiming you top in your class.

You are giving the people here, in Belleville, a closer look into the history developments of Western Europe and Russia. Since you were once a part of its great past history, I personally feel you have rather good judgment and background in forecasting events; events soon proving to be Modern History.

This note of praise may be but 'one man's opinion' but at least I thought I would express it, to show you how much I appreciate yours.

Camp Ro-Li Show Success
To The Editor Times-News:
On behalf of the Camp Ro-Li committee I wish to thank you for the publicity your paper has given the camp during Camp Ro-Li month.

On Saturday evening the Camp Ro-Li Star Show, was a great success and registration for the boys' camp has been completed. And there are only a few openings for the girls camp.

Yours very truly,
Norman H. Thompson
Faculty Committee

Cites PTA Progress
To The Editor Times-News:
May I through your columns take this opportunity of publicly thanking all of the members of the local PTA Associations who during the past few years have shown such cooperation, while I was district chairman.

It was a privilege to have served in this capacity. I have enjoyed every minute of it. Particularly to be remembered is the splendid cooperation of the presidents who worked with me so closely.

During my regime the last two remaining elementary schools which were unorganized decided to start PTAs. They were James G. Shaw and School No. 8.

May I stress the fact that it was the parents and citizens of Belleville themselves, who urged the founding of such groups in their schools and not the county organization, for that is not the county's procedure.

Every PTA in Belleville is doing a splendid job in its respective location. The PTAs of Belleville deserve a large portion of the credit for the interest citizens are showing in our educational system. It is with much pride that I note that many of the members of the Lady Advisory Committee to the Board of Education are former PTA presidents.

In relinquishing this post I have great regret and that is that I have been unable to complete a project upon which I have been working for two years. That is the PTA Scholarship for a boy or girl who wishes to enter the teaching field. I am sorry that it failed to materialize, because some of the PTAs felt that it was impossible for them to contribute to such a fund.

My successor believes, as I do, that such a project would be most worthwhile and she will continue to work along these lines.

In carrying on in PTA work as the Recording Secretary of Essex County Council of P. T. A. s, I shall desire it an honor to represent Belleville to the best of my ability.

Again my sincere thanks to all those whose splendid work has given Belleville an outstanding position in the county in Parent-Teacher work.

Virginia Streeter
District Chairman

A Theory

Brooks are gossipers; they talk too much. About things seen and heard in sun and shade.

What ferns have whispered by a lonely pool Where tall, laconic herons wade.

Fields repeat no gossip, being wise, But chat too much with idle winds that pass Like vagrants bearing stories told In hidden byways of the grass.

The hills alone keep secrets, being old, Knowing how the evening silence hushes All old tongues; but what they keep from men

They tell the thrushes!

The Mayor Lifts The Lid

Mayor Villani spoke up in Newark City Commission meeting last weekend and accused Finance Director Ellenstein of depriving Newark of more than $30,000,000 in tax revenue in three years because of favoritism and lopsided tax assessments. Since the Mayor has lifted the lid, let the Essex County Board of Taxation hold its nose and look inside.

When, four months ago, Ellenstein bluffed his way past the County Tax Board with an accusation that the 21 Essex suburban towns were not paying their share of county taxes because they did not base their property assessments on the same high ratio as Newark, the County Tax Board did not take time to investigate, it gave him what he wanted. It ordered a re-examination of suburban assessments and that added $5,000,000 to the tax bills here.

Finance Director Anderson of Nutley put his finger on the true state of affairs and told the County Tax Board that Newark's assessments were lopsided. One specific case was that of the Anheuser-Busch brewery which was assessed at barely one-fifth of the value of its building permits. Now Mayor Villani has confessed publicly the truth of what the Nutley Commissioner has been saying all along.

Villani accused Ellenstein of making lopsided tax assessments and failing to protect the interests of taxpayers "while performing his duty to his wealthy and powerful clients."

The Mayor asserted: "During the last three years since Ellenstein has been in charge of the Department of Revenue and Finance, the city has been deprived of more than $30,000,000 in tax revenue because of his failure to effect a proper and adequate revaluation program."

Villani charged that, "in the face of rent increases permitted by the Federal Administration, Ellenstein has lost the opportunity to compel certain favored property owners, particularly in the slum and blighted area, to carry their just load of the tax burden by making adjustments in assessed values in keeping with rent increases."

The Mayor must know what he is talking about. It is evident now to all that Anderson knew, too, when he began his campaign to change the base of county taxation from the present property assessments to a percentage of the municipal spending budgets of Newark and the suburban towns. The Anderson plan is now before the State Assembly. It, obviously, is being fought by Ellenstein.

TWO FAMILY HOUSE, NEW GAS STATION AMONG PERMITS

Group Of Dwelling Permits Pending Will Push Total Beyond 1951 Mark

After a rash of permits at the turn of the month, building permit activity last week slackened off, but Building Inspector Thomas P. Graco says there will be another group of dwelling permits soon, which will push the 1952 valuations beyond the entire total for 1951. Other than a two-family house to be erected by Scott and Patricia at 50 Sanford Avenue, valued at $10,000, the permits last week were of minor importance.

Frank Grillo of 1 No. 11th Street, gave a permit to install brick veneer on his dwelling. Rose Napoli of 76 Washington Avenue, the Belleville Radio Store at 131 Washington Avenue, Helen Gorman of 203 Washington Avenue, and Carmine Fornarotto of 90 Franklin Avenue were given permits to erect signs. Dick DeGorse of 15 Liberty Avenue received a

It should be obvious now to the County Board of Taxes that it acted too hastily and inefficiently, in increasing the assessments by arbitrary action, here and in the other suburban towns. The County Board should, long ago, have priced off the same lid which Villani has now lifted. It is the Tax Board's duty now to make up for its inefficiency and its lost time.

Tax assessments in Newark are shaded by favoritism, inadequate value and are subject to improper pressure. The Mayor of Newark has said so. How can the County Tax Board ignore the mess? More than ever, the Anderson Plan is of the order of the day.

Looking Towards The Conventions

So far as the Republicans are concerned, the ending of the primary season finds the situation about as the forecasters expected. In pledged delegates, Eisenhower and Taft are, to all practical purposes, on an equal footing. Taft has a few more than his chief rival but the lead is too small to be significant. Neither man has anywhere near enough to assure nomination. Only one other active candidate can now be taken seriously. That is Governor Warren, who would have a good chance in the unlikely event that Taft and Eisenhower cancel each other out. Stassen is far weaker than he was four years ago.

The Democratic situation is extremely interesting. The only candidate who has shown any ability to attract a national following is Kefauver. He has appeared the odd-line professional, who were certain that his balloon would collapse ignominiously. Instead, he has had only one minor setback, in Florida, and even there he made a better showing against the popular Russell than was anticipated. If proven public sentiment meant a thing, he would be a check for the nomination. But the top Administration brass wants no part of him and the chances are that they'll be able to stop him at the convention... something they couldn't do in the primaries.

Potent powers within the party are behind Averill Harriman. But, politically speaking, he is a question mark. He has never run for office. He is a quiet, unassuming figure who has, so far as anyone can now see, no public following of any size. There is a very real possibility that the Democratic convention will be deadlocked, and will finally choose someone who is rarely if ever mentioned now, such as Speaker of the House Rayburn.

Many Republicans still seem to feel that it's all over but the shouting, that their man, whoever he is, is practically a cinch to defeat any available Democrat. This, of course, was also felt in 1948, and the more objective political observers think that those who still hold it may be due for a painful awakening. The Democratic candidate will run on the Truman platform. The President, regardless of how badly his prestige may have slipped, will be the biggest force at the convention. All of the possible candidates have endorsed Truman's so-called "Fair Deal." That is true of Kefauver, who has leaned over backward to avoid criticizing the President and his program. It is true, to slightly varying degrees, of Russell, Kerr, Harriman and Stevenson. The Administration is making its strongest bid yet for labor backing—as witness the President's action in the steel crisis. And it has been given the unequivocal endorsement of Philip Murray and other labor leaders.

People who want to unsettle the Democrats often make the dangerous mistake of considering only the Administration's political liabilities and disregarding its political assets. The Democratic platform of 1952 will be, so far as basic principles are concerned, much the same platform with which Truman ran to victory in 1948 when almost no one gave him a chance. From the Republican viewpoint, overconfidence could be politically suicidal.

ONE MAN'S OPINION . . .

By Protocols Signed This Week in Berlin, We Move 'Cold War' Battlefront From Far-Off Korea To More-Handy Berlin.

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

The battleground of the "cold war" has been set by our own Whittaker Chambers—Russia's previous attempt to establish that battlefront on the Asiatic mainland in Korea is thus neutralized by the series of protocols being signed in Europe this week which have for their specific purpose the alignment of Western Germany with the Atlantic powers in their common front against Communism.

In picking faraway Korea as the "cold war" battlefield, Russia acted on the assumption that with the Chinese army just across the border in Manchuria and our bases 12,000 miles across the Pacific, she would have the tremendous advantage of shortball vs. longball.

In picking our own battleground in Europe, specifically in Germany, the advantage is ours because our Western European allies already front on the Iron Curtain. Since transports in the West are better than those in the East of Europe, the advantage, this time, is ours.

In this "One Man's Opinion," the most important clause of all the protocols being signed this week is that which pledges the defense of Berlin by the Big Three. In Berlin, the physical advantage is all with Russia. Yet we, the French and the British, in a joint declaration of intent, make it clear that any threat to Berlin is a threat to the Atlantic Pact and to the European defense community. It would be a very great surprise, indeed, if Russia took that without backing.

What Will Result?

The immediate question is how the Kremlin is going to react to the protocols with Bonn. Our action certainly will be agonized, and very soon, because the Russians place a tremendous value on "face." They may react with a tight blockade of Berlin as an immediate measure, or they may be content with long term action and slowly build up an East German army. They already have the nucleus of the East German "people's police."

Our State Department has in the foreground that Communism. The East German Government eagerly said any name for $50,000 troops by fall appears in the making. The Soviet zone's Communists have pushed up a broad defense bill leading to full armament, ostensibly to counter our own plans for West Germany to line up defensively with the West.

Usually reliable sources in both East and West Berlin said the bill in effect is a draft clause which would permit the Communist government to make any service compulsory. The East zone has already launched a recruiting campaign among its Communist Youth (FDJ) and apparently is making ready to tap East German reluctant to rush to the colors. The defense bill will be presented later to the Volkskammer (People's Chamber) for rubber stamping.

Minister-President Otto Grotewohl and President Pieck have trumpeted from East German speaking platforms that recruitment is necessary as a defense against West German plans to provide 400,000 soldiers for the projected united European Army. Policemen Called Back

The Communists already have a substantial trained reserve pool to draw on, and there are signs they are using it. East German sources said the former people's policemen who have already completed regular two-year terms are to be called back to duty.

This force, added to the 60,000 or more in uniformed alert units, would give East Germany 160,000 trained men to start with. The alert units are a frankly paramilitary force. Two-thirds of their men already have qualified for officer commissions. New Berlin Blockade

Plainly Moscow intends now to subject this to the immediate test of another tightening of the noose around Berlin. If the new community failed in its first test to protect any of the peoples who are encircling their security to the new order, it would be not a source of new strength and unity but just another collection of pious hopes written on paper.

The decision to defend Berlin has been taken in the awareness that it may well mean a second cold-war battle for Berlin during the first and relegating Korea to the status of an inactive and almost forgotten front.

The methods for defending, if the test comes, are of course subject. Resumption of the airlift is the most obvious possibility. How ever, it should be remembered that

According to these sources, the Communist Wehrmacht would number 25 divisions, with about 15,000 men in a division. Divisions would be made up of three infantry regiments and supporting artillery, one armored and one scout battalion, with integrated anti-tank, engineering, and grenade companies assigned throughout.

There is no East German air force, although some former German pilots are taking part in Russian training planes in Mecklenburg.

There have also been reports that a defense minister will be picked in a Kremlin-ordered expansion of the East German Cabinet.

East German sources mention three possibilities: Wilhelm Zaisser, the former "General Gama" in the Spanish war, who is now East German Security Minister; former Field Marshal Friedrich Fromm, captured at Stalingrad, and Paul Markgraf, a former top head of the People's Police in Berlin.

We Weighed Cost

Obviously we, the British and the French, discounted all that when we took our decision to defend Berlin which was reached only after long and careful consideration of the implications.

The more the governments concerned weighed the possible costs of submitting to new Soviet pressures on Berlin the more they concluded that the new European unity would swiftly become empty and meaningless if the first result of unity should prove to be the surrender of Berlin.

The whole idea of the complicated pattern of contracts, treaties, agreements, and protocols to be concluded this next is a strong-

The Meeting Place

Edgar Jean Braeco

The Armchair Traveller: Bermuda. The thought of the tropics comes, among other things, a lengthy trip covering thousands of miles. While this may be true in most cases, there is one exception—the coral islands of Bermuda.

In this case the phrase "The Tropics on Your Doorstep" is not merely the result of an advertising copywriter's throbbing eagerness. Lying less than 800 miles from New York, these islands are warmed by the Gulf Stream, giving them a semi-tropical climate in a northern zone.

On your trip to Bermuda you have a choice of method — air or sea. By steamer you leave, say, on a Saturday afternoon from a drizzly, cold New York harbor, and on Monday morning you step off into the tropics. By air, you breakfast in your favorite New York restaurant and have a not-too-late lunch in Hamilton about four hours after take-off time at La Guardia.

Your first impression of this island group is one of color. You are dazzled by the many shades glittering in the brilliant sun. Bermuda, having been imported by sea, is a land already well endowed by nature.

Had you been in the city of Hamilton just before the second world war, you would have been surprised to find no automobiles on the streets. Transportation was by three methods — horse and buggy, bicycle, and infantry march or G.I. horse, more commonly known as the human foot. By law, to preserve the old-time atmosphere, motor cars were prohibited, with the exception of fire trucks, ambulances and other emergency vehicles.

This proved no real hardship, for, since the total land area of the entire island group is somewhat under nineteen square miles, it doesn't take long to bike across any one island. So important a part of Bermuda life is the bicycle that the railroad, for an additional fee, will transport your wheel in special coach compartments.

Bermuda is rich in history. The islands were discovered by the Spaniard Juan Hernandez in the early 1500's, when he was shipwrecked in the middle Atlantic. They were settled in 1612 by a group of colonists from the Virginia Company, and in 1684 became a Crown Colony of Great Britain.

During the American Revolution Bermuda's people were undecided in their loyalty. They could not choose between aiding the King or the rebellious colonists. In 1775 a shipload of Americans landed at the town of St. George, then the capital, and raised the British flag on Government Hill. The gunpowder and such pieces of ordnance as they found were taken back to the mainland and used in the battles on the outskirts of Boston.

In the Civil War Bermuda played a role similar to that of Lisbon and Casablanca in this past war — it was a den of spies, blockade-runners, refugees, and of pirates who didn't know their days of marauding on the high seas were over.

On the island of St. George's, which is the largest, the ruins of old Fort St. Catherine. This was built by the island's first governor, Sir Richard Moore, as one of several forts guarding the approaches to the capital. Its guns pointed to the sea, and keen-eyed artillerymen kept a sharp look for pirates and other unwanted visitors.

Today the fort is only a specter of the past. You stumble over loose stones; the walls are battered by the winds and the buffeting of time. Only the memories remain. Swimming is one of the main reasons for going to Bermuda. Although it lies in open ocean, the surf has a certain gentility which seems to be trying to match the old world quietness of the islands. The water is warm and clear. You can see the smooth sandy bottom with ease. And if you keep your eyes open, you will see many strange forms of sea-life waving beneath their delicate fronds, chunks of bright red sponge, and an occasional fish appearing mysterious to your unaccustomed eyes.

On Hamilton Harbor, facing the imposing structure of the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club, you can watch the boats sail by. Many of the islanders own their own craft, with which they explore the bays and inlets that thread in and out among the rarely-visited islands that lie seemingly almost within rock-throwing distance of each other.

An interesting feature of Bermuda is the material from which many of the houses are made — coral limestone, which is quarried right in the islands. It is soft and white and can be cut like butter. When it has been cut in the form of some time it hardens and makes excellent building stone. Many of the oldest and most beautiful houses are made of it.

A camera, with color film, is probably the most indispensable piece of equipment on a trip to Bermuda. You can take back with you undying reminders of some of the most glorious sunsets in the world, the chromatic pageantry of flower gardens, the majestic bones, government buildings, grinning children leading what seems to be the most carefree existence imaginable.

These pictures will be priceless. When the winter wind howls outside the window back home, you can fetch them and relive your days in what has been aptly called the Island Paradise.

Park, Haddonfield, Sunday

Colonel Russell A. Snook, Trenton, Superintendent of the New Jersey State Police who organized the Military Government Detachments for the occupation of Austria during World War II, will be the principal speaker at the 17th Annual American Legion statewide memorial services for deceased Legionnaires to be held at Locustwood Memorial Park, Route 40, near Haddonfield, Sunday, at 2:30 p.m.

Edmund C. Lyons, Clifton, State Legion Commander, and world, the chromatic pageantry of flower gardens, the majestic bones, government buildings, grinning children leading what seems to be the most carefree existence imaginable.

These pictures will be priceless. When the winter wind howls outside the window back home, you can fetch them and relive your days in what has been aptly called the Island Paradise.
