So What?

Belleville police received several calls from excited motorists on Sunday morning that a man was hanging by his throat from a rope suspended from the Erie Railroad bridge over Franklin Avenue. Several police cars rushed to the scene, cut down the body and brought it to headquarters. One of the cars even brought in a milkman, hoping that he could identify the individual. It's still at Police Headquarters, but it never was a human being. The body is in a bag, carefully stuffed into boots, trousers, shirt and jacket.

We have heard some motorists who think that hanging is too good for police who frighten "innocent motorists" into staying within the posted speed limits by announcing that speed is electrically timed in town. Because they can't understand how the speed is timed, they declare that that is a sneaky way of apprehending speeders. In a few people get angry and most people slow down just a little, the timing device will have served its purpose. Actually speed is timed on only one street at a time, sometimes to prove to neighbors that cars are not traveling in excess of the speed limit. However, whenever a person is halted after passing over the electrical controls, and when the motorist is not in argument, Verona in an extensive test has gathered a lot of figures about speeding. About nine per cent of the motorists clocked during the tests, exceeded the speed limit by at least five miles per hour. But only two per cent were listed by the police as dangerous drivers.

Some drivers never learn. One of these seems to be Claybourne Spencer, 18 years of age, of 65 Florence Avenue. Young Spencer appeared before Magistrate Edward G. Abramson last week on his second charge of careless driving, as a result of his arrest on August 2 by Officer Henry McEnery. His license was revoked for 30 days and he paid a $28 fine. On September 3 he has another date with Magistrate Abramson, this time for using illegitimate plates on his car.

Gas Station Gets Approval On Split Commission Vote

Commissioners King, Sullivan And Hyde Cast Affirmative Votes. Move For Memorial Field Purchase

On a split decision of the members of the Board of Commissioners, approval was granted for the erection of a gasoline service station at 368-374 Franklin Avenue, Tuesday night. The public hearing on the application of John H. Alcorn for a new service station, near the corner of Joralemon Street and Franklin Avenue brought forth only mild opposition from nearby property owners. When the motion for approval was made by Commissioner Joseph King and seconded by Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan it needed the affirmative vote of one other member of the board for approval. Both Mayor James J. Tully and Commissioner Patrick Waters expressed some doubt that the town could prevent the reopening of the abandoned Guarino station on the corner.

The issue was soon determined when on the roll call Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde cast his lot in favor of the resolution. Although Mayor Tully and Commissioner Waters stuck by their unfavorable attitude their negative votes represented only passive resistance under the circumstances.

T. Nicholas Palma of the Palma Realty Company presented the application for Mr. Alcorn, and pointed out that the station would be made, but expressed the belief that the old station would not be adequate to meet competition.

Michael V. Albertine of 631 Joralemon Street, who presented a petition bearing the signatures of about two dozen neighbors, at the last commission meeting, told the Commissioners he was not especially opposed to the present application as long as he had assurances about the location of lights on the property and that Franklin Avenue would not be widened.

At Police Headquarters Bannan's wallet contained cards advertising that he and radio and television repairing.

"New Faces" and "Awful-Awfuls" Are Unusual Treats

Finds Magic In Magicians' Picnic At Garret Mountain; Enjoys Hour Horseback Ride

On August 16, Mr. Lawrence Keenan invited me to a show in New York. We left Belleville at noon and had lunch in New York's Cafe Diamond Jim. I enjoyed that meal very much, for I ordered a roast beef sandwich with real meat gravy as we get it at home.

In the Royal Theatre we attended a very nice musical show: "New Faces of 1952." The show was perfect, the music was lovely and the dances were wonderful. I unfortunately could not understand all the humorous points; nevertheless, I had a good time at that show. The theatres of New York surprise a foreigner very much, as he does not find great theatre like in most European cities. For myself I expected to find one representative theatre of New York City, according to Radio City, Music Hall or other buildings. I soon came to learn, that New York has many theatres, most of which are old. The dressing is very informal, whereas in European theatres it is customary to wear a dark suit. I think people in New York would often not have time to change before the show. There is another important difference between American and European theatres. Most theatres in Europe have their steady group of actors, but not so in New York. In most Swiss cities, there is only one theatre. The shows change each day of the week and are repeated the following weeks for three or four months. You may buy your tickets some days before the performance, or even at the evening before the show starts, as the theatres are not always sold off.

The funniest thing I heard about the theatres in New York is, that you have to get the tickets some months in advance in order to have a seat. For myself I would not like to dispose ahead for such a long time, but I was glad Mr. Keenan did so, otherwise I would not have seen a show in New York at all.

After the show we walked underground to the big theatre and, waiting for the Belleville bus, we had some cocktails in one of the many bars in the terrific building. This same evening I had dinner at Mr. Keenan's house. But what spaghetti? These! I was surprised and delighted at the same time; perfect Italian food in an American home! It's hard to believe and still, it's true, as these spaghetti do not like to be cooked better anywhere.

Willy Hoerni Given Full Treatment At Meeting of Town Commissioners

Willy Hoerni, visiting Swiss youth, was the man of the hour at the meeting of the Board of Commissioners, Tuesday night. He was introduced to the Commissioners and to the public in glowing terms by Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan, was the recipient of an honorary membership in the Belleville Police Athletic League through Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan, and told that it would entitle him to take a trip with that organization if he ever has a few minutes to spare. He was invited to sit in the dias with Mayor James J. Tully and received a resolution signed by each member of the Board of Commissioners. A duplicate copy of the resolution will be translated into Swiss-German for delivery by Willy to Alfred Keener, mayor of his native village.

The resolution said in part, "Many of our townpeople have become acquainted with Willy Hoerni of Unter Stammen, Kt. Zurich, and have been very favorably impressed with his character, attitude and his interest in our town; and his reporting of the facts of his visit in the Belleville Times-News has been read with great interest by the citizens of our community. We feel that he has performed an excellent service in the cementing of friendship between his native country and ours. Although he is modest, to the extreme we believe that he can readily state, 'Veni, Vidi, Vici,' because he has won his way into the hearts of our population." For translation of the quote, get out your Latin book, or consult Larry Keenan, who prepared the resolution.

Msgr. Di Luca Returns With Pope's Blessing

Papal Benediction Extended To All Parishioners By Pope Pius XII At Audience

Pope Pius XII gave his Papal benediction to the parishioners of Holy Family church at the conclusion of a visit paid to the Pontiff in the Vatican by Msgr. Anthony Di Luca, who is now in Italy on vacation, for the first trip in 26 years to the land of his birth. From Rome, the Nutley priest has gone to Tricarico and to Stigliano, the village of his birth, in Southern Italy where he will spend the remainder of his holiday.

Pope Discusses America
Landing in Rome by plane, last June, Msgr. Di Luca traveled to Lourdes where he visited the shrine erected on the banks of the Gave de Pau where St. Bernadette, a peasant girl playing along the stream, saw the apparition of the Virgin. It was upon his return to France that he was received by the Pope, with whom he discussed Catholic action in America.

At the conclusion of the consultation, in the Pontiff's private apartments of the Vatican, the Pope asked Msgr. Di Luca, upon his return to his parish, to extend the Papal benediction. From Rome, his path to the village of his birth led to Tricarico where the Nutley priest was ordained 46 years ago. He was the guest there of Most Rev. Raffaele Delle Noche, Bishop of Tricarico, a boyhood friend, who

ROSEMARY RUDY, 1ST POLIO VICTIM HERE THIS YEAR

25-Year-Old Woman Enters Isolation Hospital Monday; Diagnosed As Spinal Polio

Mrs. Rosemary Rudy, 25, entered Essex County Isolation Hospital on Monday as a polio patient in the first case to strike Belleville this year. Her illness has been diagnosed as spinal polio and her condition is described as fair.

The young woman, who lives with her husband, Emanuel Rudy, at 10 Belleville Court, was stricken two days prior to her admission to the hospital. According to hospital reports, her case is not severe, but it is not certain as yet whether she will be able to walk again.

Mr. Rudy is in receipt of a letter from the Essex County Chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis offering him every possible type of assistance. The chapter stands ready to do its utmost to bring about Mrs. Rudy's complete recovery. If your child is not yet vaccinated, it is to be made when all other children are having similar experiences.

The School Law clearly states: "Children who shall have never attended any public or private school may be admitted to a public school during the ten days following the opening of school."

PROCLAMATION

Monday, September 1, is the day when the people of these United States honor those who have done so much to produce the prosperity with which we are blessed.

In designating the first Monday of September as Labor Day, we, of this country, reaffirm our belief that all parts of our economy are equally important and share an equal honor and duty to the whole. Our ever increasing national income is a tribute to our type of economic system in which labor ranks equal with capital.

We of Belleville, especially enjoy and celebrate Labor Day as almost all of us in some capacity contribute our just share to the national well-being.

Therefore, may all of us on this day not only recreate ourselves for continued efforts but also remember to thank Almighty God that we are fortunate enough to reside in the United States where people receive the fullness of their labors.

It seems that owning a Buick is something that a lot of folks dream about—plan for—and finally do.

We say that because, so many times, they say so in words like those above.

Those words make us happy, of course—happy to know we sell a car which means so much to those who own it.

But they make us feel just a little bit sad as well—sad to realize all the years of fun such folks have been missing for no good reason at all.

For the fact is this:

If you can afford any new car, you can afford a Buick.

You can afford the thrill of bossing around that big Fireball 8 Engine that purrs forth a mighty flow of power.

You can afford the gas bills—as any owner of a 1952 Buick will tell you—because that high-compression, valve-in-head marvel gets a lot of miles from a gallon of fuel.

You can afford the extra luxury of a real million dollar ride—the silken smoothness of Dynaflow Drive®—the extra room and comfort and style that have put Buick popularity right up at the top of the list, next to the "low-priced three."

So if you want to own a Buick—there's just one thing to do:

Come in—pick the one of your choice—

and let us show you how close the figure that goes on the bill of sale comes to what you'd pay elsewhere.

As we've said before, your first car can be a Buick. Why not take the Big Step right away—today?

Busy with oak and maple leaf
Alone in the smoky dusk he stood
Looking out at the autumn wood
Where from a drifting sky
Like a fall of dark celestial leaves
A thousand birds came and
And settled with flutter and cry.
These were not for the hands of flame
Which with the morn would be gone.
These were not to be called by name.
He peered to the north from whence they came

But only dark came on
Over the hedge and lawn
The wood accepted without a sign
This pilgrimage of flight.
He bent again, a keeper of fire,
Where leaf smoke lifted a slender spire
In blue anonymous night.

The Probe Pays Off

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, a candidate for re-election here in the 10th District, interrupted his campaign this week and took his place around the table of investigators in Washington with the Chelf Committee, the Judiciary Committee's subcommittee which has resumed public hearings in its investigation into the Justice Department.

The committee's probe, under Representative Frank L. Chelf of Kentucky, brought to light this week the Mullally affair involving Attorney James A. Mullally, whose suspension the Justice Department has announced.

In resuming, this week, its public hearings, Mr. Chelf made a public review of the record of certain lawyers who have left the government service for private practice. This has been standard operating procedure for many government officials, lawyers or not. Once they have learned the government machinery, they leave and use the government to their own or their clients' ends.

This practice involves not only members of executive agencies, but members of Congress. Here the most notable example in recent months was former Representative Joseph Casey of Massachusetts. He knew the real paths to the former United States Maritime Commission and the key men on that body personally.

The result was a bonanza at first then inspired, a Senate committee probe. After that the Federal income-tax authorities went to work. Now the Justice Department is investigating for possible criminal action.

This is the sort of thing the Chelf committee plans to go into now that its public hearings have resumed. It explains why Congressman Rodino sits in Washington instead of kissing babies, shaking hands and, generally, campaigning in the normal routine. To our way of thinking, his attentive participation in the probe of the Truman "mess" is the best campaign he can wage. It proves that there is decency, even in corrupt Washington.

R. E. H.

It's Later Than You Think, Ike!

Unless General Eisenhower opens up, speaks out on specific issues, points his finger at the mess in Washington, names names and pin-points the many faults of the corrupt Truman administration, Governor Adlai Stevenson will be the next President of the United States.

Ike's speech to the American Legion convention in New York this week was a flop. He talked about Communism, but what he said has been better said by others a dozen times. Donald Wilson, the Legion's national commander, made a far better speech than Ike's, in our contention. He pointed his finger at Truman, the State Department and the United Nations for the fiasco in Korea.

It is now six weeks since Ike was picked as his party's candidate over a real fighter, Bob Taft. We liked Bob and we liked Ike; in fact we liked almost everybody except Harry. We were willing to give Ike a chance to prove his promise to be a "fighting candidate". Alas, he has gone fishing; he has hidden in the hills of Colorado. He has come near to missing the boat. Two months from now, the nation will be waiting for the polls to open. Minds will have been won or long since. This election will be won or lost, not in November, but in September and October.

Nothing that he has said or done thus far has won Ike one more supporting vote than he had when he was picked as the candidate last month. He has held a dozen press conferences; he has made a few speeches. Nothing he said at any of them took one vote from the Democrats. Unless there is a radical change, he cannot, in our belief, win in November. It is now evident that he is not a gallant knight to the American public; he is a soldier turned politician and he is running for office. There will be no landslide to Eisenhower on a basis of this land in November.

Roy Howard, in the New York World Telegram, this week, said that "Ike is running like a dry creek". The simile is perfect.

To win this election, the Republicans will have to sell the nation a bill of goods based on the premise that a party too long in power has grown corrupt and that this nation needs most, along with a good five cent cigar, is a change in the White House which will throw all the grafters out of office.

No one can deny that there is a sorry mess in Washington. Even Governor Stevenson knows it's there. Only Harry Truman will deny it. He pretends that he doesn't see it. But then, he didn't see Alger Hiss' Communist membership card either. All he saw was a "red herring". Harry's eyesight has been none too good since he inherited a toga much too big for his puny frame.

There is a plethora of campaign issues. Washington is a gold mine of issues that can be turned against the Democratic administration. Living costs never have been higher, nor have taxes. Meddling and muddling has gotten us into a war which this administration has been too inept to win. There has been simple thievery, as well as a rich traffic in influence in the highest circles of the administration. There have been mink coats, deep freezers, five percent cut-backs.

The people want a change. If Ike would take those issues to the people, tell the facts, the unchallenged truths, he would find a receptive audience. If he is silent about the corruption and the corrupt, he will fail in his duty as the opposition candidate. If he sits back, preaching a middle-of-the-road "Me, Too", program, he will have plenty of time after November to go fishing.

Eisenhower headquarters in New York said this week that Ike has not begun to fight yet. They said he will see Taft and ask his help. It's six weeks late calling in Taft. The Republican party cannot possibly win unless Taft's supporters vote for Eisenhower. Half a party cannot win. Half a campaign cannot win. Ike has been a soldier long enough to know that the offensive is the best strategy, and the more offensive he can make his two-fisted attack on the Truman mess in Washington the better his chances of victory will be.

If he doesn't start fighting soon, he will lose. It's that simple. R. E. H.

One Man's Opinion
In Calling: The Communist Party's First National Congress in 13 Years and Imposing a New 5-Year Plan, Stalin is Whistling in the Dark

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

In a crusading speech to the American Legion this week, General Eisenhower warned that Red Russia is our only challenge but added his personal belief that Russia was not ready to wage war in a final test to decide the survival of the fittest. Among the soldiers and political personalities of this world, General Eisenhower has, certainly, the greatest direct knowledge of Russia's potential. No one knows Russia's intentions or time-table.

In this "One Man's Opinion", our margin of industrial and economic superiority over Red Russia is such that the Kremlin may never be ready to declare war on us—unless we allow ourselves to slip into another depression such as that of 1929. Steel makes the sinews of war, and it is a major concern of Russia with a present steel production of 30 million metric tons is aiming at an annual production of 45 million tons in 1955, the goal of her new 5-year plan. Our present steel production, without that of our allies, is 95 million metric tons, and without resorting to any planned economy, the normal development of our steel industry, barring crippling strikes, should put production above 100 million tons long before 1955.

Our 3 to 1 superiority in steel is matched by a 2 to 1 superiority in coal, a 4 to 1 superiority in electric power production, a 17 to 1 superiority in the construction of trucks and automobiles. Those figures are for American production alone; our West European allies exceed Russia's steel production, dig 90 per cent more coal, build four times as many autos and trucks. The combined potential of America and Western Europe is 4 to 1 greater in steel and coal production, 8 to 1 in electric power production and 21 to 1 in the production of motor transport. Could any sane leader, in the Kremlin, start a war in face of such a deficiency of potential in the basic war industries?

Russia Has Own Problems
To some observers, the fact that Stalin has convoked this party congress in present war is more reason to believe that he presages peace. Prior to the war 48 such congresses were held at intervals of three years or less. Only once, in 1929, did war follow and that was by Hitler's initiative, not Stalin's. Their resumption is accompanied by a new five-year plan, the fifth, for Soviet production. Herein, we believe, lies the important hint that Russia, too, has her problems and feels herself out-paced by our own war effort.

Stalin's fifth 5-year plan calls for increases of 40 per cent or more in the production of consumer goods such as food and clothing. This certainly will sound good to ill-housed, underfed Russians but the likelihood is that, as in previous programs, actual performance will be sacrificed to the attainment of official goals. Russia's production of industrial and military items such as iron, steel, oil, electricity, and chemicals.
