Mrs. Gabriel Micchelli

Reception At Essex House Follows Her Marriage To Gabriel Micchelli Here

St. Peter's Church was the scene of the wedding of Miss Louise Lucciola, daughter of Mrs. Eliseo Lucciola, of 120 Washington Avenue, and Gabriel Micchelli, son of Mrs. Gabriel Micchelli of 157 Second Street, Newark, and the late Mr. Micchelli, on Sunday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. John Hourihan. A reception followed in the Starlight Terrace of the Essex House.

The bride was attired in a gown of nylon tulle and rosepoint lace fashioned with a portrait neckline and bouffant skirt with panels of lace and tulle. Her French illusion veil was held by a rosepoint lace crown trimmed with seed pearls and palettes. She carried a white pearl prayer book with white orchids and lily of the valley streamers.

Two Honor Attendants
Miss Joyce Johnston of Belleville served as maid of honor, while Mrs. Dolores Chiaravalle of West Orange was matron of honor. Miss Virginia Micchelli, niece bride, and another niece of the bridegroom, Miss Anne Micchelli, was flower girl.

Best man was Nick Micchelli, brother of the bridegroom, and those ushering were Angelo Chiaravalle of Newark, and Alfred Donato, USSN.

The bride was graduated from Belleville High School and is employed by the Prudential Insurance Co., Newark. A graduate of Barringer High School, Mr. Micchelli served with the U.S. Army in Germany for three years. He is now with the Micchelli Beauty Salon of Newark.

After a three-week motor trip to West Palm Beach and Miami, Florida, the newlyweds will reside at 26 Beaumont Place, Newark.

Harry J. Sullivan Urges Support of Peter Rodino

Public Safety Director Invites Republicans and Independents to Join Democrats in Returning Congressman to Washington at General Election

"To my many friends, be they Republicans, Democrats or independent voters interested in good government, I sincerely urge the re-election of Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., declared Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan, today.

"It is my sincere belief that when a man in public office performs an outstanding job of public service the citizenry should recognize that service and reward the faithful public servant with a vote of confidence. This action on the part of understanding citizens will prove an incentive to other men in public life and will ultimately result in better government for all.

"Congressman Rodino certainly qualifies for the support of all who are in favor of the splendid record he has compiled during his four years in office. He was a leader in the fight against Communism long before most Americans were aware of its menace.

"His appointment to the very important Judiciary Committee is an indication of the high esteem in which he and his talents are held by his colleagues. The fact that he has interrupted his campaign for re-election in order to aid in the assistance of the Committee investigating the Justice Department of our government nearly shows his unselfish devotion to duty.

"But it is his kindly human approach to the problems of the people of his Congressional District, regardless of their political affiliation that has won my heart and support. People confronted with a problem relating to the United States Government are completely at a loss until they solicit the assistance of Congressman Rodino. Their problem becomes his problem and he does not rest until he has found the proper solution.

"Such a man is truly our representative, the representative of all the people, and has every right to use his slogan 'Service above Self.' I earnestly solicit the support of all the voters of Belleville for Congressman Rodino whose service knows no political party lines."

Rodino Guest Congressman Peter W. Rodino was guest of honor at a gathering Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Magli-one of 436 Greylock Parkway, attended by about 42 people.

Congressman Rodino addressed the group on the Democratic platform and policies. Refreshments were served.

Political Convention at High School Favors Eisenhower

Speakers for Each Candidate Appear Before Assembly; Voters Give Republican National Candidates Slight Edge; Rodino Wide Margin

Political convention days were revived at Belleville High School as Democratic and Republican student representatives presented their favorite candidates to the school populace.

Excitement ran at fever pitch as the students expressed their desire for the person of their choice, the signs and pictures of the Republicans and Democratic office seekers have decorated the school, impassioned pleas by gifted orators like Evelyn Hansen and Keith Mc Elroy had the audience transfixed to their seats, and a fervent prayer by Billy Lane as chaplain of the convention was received with reverence and attention.

The convention, which was held in the high school auditorium, is the preliminary to the actual voting done by the students. The convocation was opened by the Mistress of Ceremonies, Constance Manno, leading the salute to the flag and the Star Spangled Banner. Billy Lane gave the Invocation, which was followed by Republican speakers Paula Thaler for Alexander Matturi for Congress; Robert Doyle for H. Alexander Smith as Senator; Sheila Orlinksi for Richard Nixon, Vice President; Keith McElroy for Eisenhower as President and Evelyn Hansen for Eisenhower, Vice President.

OUR FRANKLIN OFFICE HAS AN ANNIVERSARY

A year ago we opened our new Franklin Office. All the years of planning, the many months of construction have proved their worth. The improved and added services have drawn many new depositors, not only from Nutley but from Belleville and other communities as well. One good reason, of course, is Drive-in-Banking. Are you using it?

Gold

So many golden things are a part of autumn
That those who reckon gold as wealth would say
The season has pillaged the year of all its treasure—
Trying to hold to riches that will not stay.
We think of another gold mine so vainly.
To heap about them in a hollow show;
And we can smile at transitory splendors.
Viewing this gold that must vanish beneath the snow.

Except For The Imponderables, Eisenhower Looks Like A Sure Winner

This election is in the lap of the imponderables. The pollsters admit that ten electoral votes either way could swing the election. In the opinion of The Times-News, nothing has developed this week to sway us from our choice of General Dwight D. Eisenhower as the better qualified by military training and political experience in the international field. But there is no denying the effect of the Truman "smear" campaign and those ten deciding electoral votes may ride on the President's train as it whistles its way across the Middle West this weekend.

Never before has a Presidential election had more imponderables. Chief among them are the facts that 7,000,000 new voters will be going to the polls for the first time and that for the first time in our history, the women's vote will exceed the male vote by at least 2,000,000. The women's vote is more likely to be an emotional action than is the male vote. How much will the staggering casualties of the Korean War and the pinch on the pocketbook from the cost of living influence that emotional vote?

Never before, since the days of General Grant, has there been a non-political candidate with personal prestige as great as Ike's. The impact of his personality and his prestige on the voting is another of the imponderables. There is no secret that locally, Republican leaders base their predictions on that Eisenhower prestige. If it is so great that the General scores a virtual landslide, then they see Republicans sliding into Congress and the Senate on his coattails.

There are indications that we will have the largest presidential vote in history. Since the Truman-Dewey campaign four years ago, the country's population has increased only 3 1/2 per cent, but the national registration has increased by 12 per cent. Only 48,833,000 voted in 1948; there is evidence that Tuesday's vote may reach 55,000,000 to 58,000,000 or it may even go as high as 60,000,000. That increase throws out of gear all the usual criteria for estimating elections. It is another of the imponderables.

Television has, certainly, changed this campaign. In most previous elections, the electors went to the polls without having seen or heard the candidates. This time very few voters will not have seen the two principals. They will have seen, too, a side-show of clowns yelping into microphones in the name of some pressure group or another, such as the CIO's Walter Reuther, and they will have seen some very constructive campaigners, such as Governor Dewey. Some such TV "orators" have cost the candidates votes, others have added support. How much TV will influence the election is an imponderable.

Without benefit of a crystal ball, we foresee an undecided "Solid South," despite the strength of Senator Harry Byrd, in Virginia, who has thrown his full weight to Eisenhower; Governor Jimmy Byrnes in South Carolina or the state Democratic machine in Texas which has plumped for the General and predicts his victory by a majority as big as 125,000. There is, in our opinion, a strong vote of hide-bound Democrats, and then, in the South as in the North, labor and the negro vote will be predominantly pro-Stevenson. For that reason, the Southern vote will be another imponderable.

With a total of 531 electoral votes, 266 are required to win. James Hagerty, the New York Times' veteran analyst, published his latest survey this week, based on direct reports from The Times own regional and state correspondents. He gives Eisenhower ten states "certain" with a total of 69 electoral votes, and sees Eisenhower leading in 16 states with an additional 195 votes. Six states, with 73 electoral votes, are listed as "doubtful." Stevenson would have 9 states "certain" with 92 electoral votes and seven states with 102 votes in which the survey sees him leading.

On the basis of Mr. Hagerty's survey which gives Eisenhower 264 votes as "certain" or "leading"—only two short of victory—The Times-News reiterates its choice of General Eisenhower as its preferred candidate and believes in his election. R.E.H.

Don't Overlook The Bond Issues

When you go to the polls next Tuesday, don't overlook the bond issues. It is our contention that both are deserving of the voters' support. As taxpayers, we should find particularly interesting the referendum providing for an issue of $225,000,000 in New Jersey Highway Authority bonds for the construction of the Garden State Highway. If the referendum succeeds, the highway will be built from Bergen County to Cape May, running by the edge of town, without cost to the taxpayer.

The referendum is really a vote of confidence, pledging the credit of the state for the Authority's bonds. The Authority will finance the Parkway solely from the tolls to be collected, not from the taxpayers but from the motorists who will pay by the mile for the use of the Parkway. With the state's credit behind them, the bonds can be sold at 2 per cent instead of the normal rate of interest of three and a quarter per cent. That means the Authority can save $80,000,000 in financing the construction.

If the referendum loses, the Parkway will not be built in one operation. It will be built in twenty years, one strip at a time as it can be financed from the state highway department's annual budget. Instead of having a Parkway in two or three years, we have it in twenty. And we the taxpayers, not the out-of-state motorists who use it along with New Jersey drivers, will pay for it.

The other state bond issue is in the amount of $25,000,000 for the construction of new state institutions. New Jersey's mental hospitals have a rated capacity of 9,790 patients. They now house more than 13,500 and there is a waiting list of nearly 8,000 afflicted people in imperative need of care.

Vote "Yes" on these two essential bond issues. R.E.H.

No Time To Waste.

We do not want to bear the risks and the dangers which a very hostile public opinion has removed from the rooftops of Elizabeth.

Belleville should be represented at the meeting in Elizabeth next Thursday of representatives of a score of municipalities who are going to pool their interests in the reopening, during November, of the revamped Newark Airport.

A new runway has been built which will carry air traffic away from Elizabeth, the setting of three terrible air tragedies last year. It is easy to draw a straight line on a map and ascertain that the new North-South runway, prolonged by a few miles, cuts right across Belleville and Nutley, in the residential sections along Franklin Avenue.

We are told that planes will take off and land from the direction of Newark Bay. Until man has conquered Nature, the planes will take off into the wind. When the wind is from the North, as it often is, the planes cannot take off over the Bay. They will take off over Belleville and Nutley. In a few years, jet-propelled passenger planes will replace all others. Think of the terrible inconvenience for thousands of our people.

The Town Commission owes it to the population to be well-represented at the Elizabeth meeting next Thursday. Our town deserves just as much protection as Elizabeth has won. We don't want an overhead traffic that is too dangerous for Elizabeth to bear longer. We do not want death to travel our skies, nor, for that matter, the thundering noise and the trepidations from jet engines. R.E.H.

Action At Last

The Belleville Board of Education, on Monday night, took action on two measures to inaugurate the long overdue building program in the school system. First, it eliminated the speculation over whether the proposed secondary school should be a junior or senior high school, by announcing that it would go along with the recommendations of the Columbia Survey and erect a new senior high school. The board in citing the reasons for its decision pointed out that the proposed site adjacent to the Municipal Stadium better lends itself to the senior high program. It also pointed out that the present building can be renovated for junior high requirements more readily than it can be altered for continued use as a first class senior high.

Secondly, the selection of Emil A. Schmidlin of East Orange also clears the air to a certain extent, in that it indicates definite progress after a long period of talk. Mr. Schmidlin appears to be well qualified in his profession, having been successful in a nationwide contest for the selection of the architect for the new Newark Y.M.C.A. building.

One Man's Opinion

France Is Annoyed, but There Is Plenty of Reason For a Debate on Morocco and Tunisia

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

Hell knows no fury like a woman scorned. And France is a beautiful woman, a proud Marianne.

At this present writing, France is bitterly outraged. She feels that by our vote in the Political and Security Committee of the United Nations last week to place the problems of Tunisia and Morocco second and third on the agenda of the UN Assembly, following the quandary of Korea, we betrayed her. Whether we betrayed her or not, we were clumsy and it never pays off to be clumsy with a pretty woman.

In this "One Man's Opinion," both the Tunisian and the Moroccan questions could stand a little debate. Since a public debate of her colonial methods, in a forum as imposing as that of the UN, is distasteful to France, she feels frustrated and there is a bitter anger in her present attitude towards ourselves.

What, we might ask, about the Tunisians and the Moroccans? Perhaps they have a case. The sensitivity of the Paris government may stem from a realization that France might not have everything to gain from a debate on those issues.

In my quarter of a century as United Press chief correspondent and war correspondent in Paris, I had occasion many times to go to Morocco and to Tunisia. I have met with the chiefs of the Neo-Destourian party in Tunis and I have talked with the Arab leaders of the Pan-Islamic independence movement in Fez and Rabat. As a war correspondent with the French Armies, I covered the way in the Rif, 25 years ago, when the French government mobilized a quarter of a million troops under Marshal Pétain to defeat and capture Abdel-Krim and his band of a few hundred Riffians in their mountain stronghold. That punitive war, or as Harry Truman would call it, that "police action," was symbolic of the extremes to which France has been prepared to go to keep her hold on those North African "protectorates."

Our Troubles With Tunis

Tunisia is French only by a 70-year-old "protectorate." It was once one of the Barbary Coast states whose pirates annoyed us when our republic was young. The Tunisians used to prey on our shipping and we finally had to send a few frigates over and knock the ministers off their mosques before they dismantled the American sailors they were holding for ransom.

France moved in ahead of Italy, by a surprise operation, in 1881. Italy had her eyes on Tunisia and had sent many settlers across the Mediterranean. France sent her army, not settlers. There was a pretext that the Bedouins, a native wandering tribe, had crossed the frontier and annoyed the population of Algeria.

Countered Red Strategy

It is hard to understand where there was a slip in an American diplomacy which allowed our agent at the UN to vote in favor of putting the debate on the agenda. By so doing, however, we have pleased the Pan-Arab bloc and we have taken such wind out of Mr. Vukitch's sails because Red Russia was wooing the Arab states by supporting their demand for a debate, convinced as he was that we and Britain would not turn our backs on France.

The interest of the Middle East Arabs in the status of Tunisia and Morocco is traditional. The populations, even after a

Pattern of Conquest

Morocco came under French protection in the same manner in 1912, that apparent being the pattern of aggressive diplomacy in that day and age. Just as Tunisia, on the eastern boundaries of Algeria, fell because of alleged border raids, Morocco, on Algeria's western boundaries, "menaced the peace of Algeria" in 1910 when there was a general rising of the Moors and Berbers against a French military post in the holy and cultural city of Fez.

I have seen in Fez the stronghold where Lyautey, that great soldier who carved out an empire for France in the African sands, stood off the muzzled Moors until a relief column could arrive from Algeria. It was a daring venture on his part, but from its setting, I have no doubt that it was all part of a very carefully calculated plan. In Fez, France lost 12 men but won an Empire.

Lyautey, who rose to the rank of Marshal at the same time that France conferred the baton on Joffre, Foch and Pétain, remained on in Morocco when World War I broke out three years later. The Germans tried to take Morocco away from France, but Lyautey was a remarkable colonial administrator. He won all the key positions, among the Arabs, to himself, so dominant was his strength that France was able to put all her colonial troops and the Foreign Legion out of North Africa and throw them into the fighting on the Western Front.

Dividing The Loot

At the end of World War I, however, France's troubles in the first place, the country was split up. Spain took the northern part, along the Mediterranean, under her own protection. Tangier was set on as an international zone with all the interested foreign powers sharing in its administration.

As long as Sultan Moulay Youssef reigned, he carried out his pact with France. He died in 1927, and immediately trouble began. The first manifestation was the defection of Abdel-Krim and the Rif War. Then there were tribal defections in the Atlas mountains in the South. France decided upon a War of Pacification and Pétain again took command.

I covered that war which was a bitter battle against a fanatic foe who had far too little in a material way but had the courage of a Crusader. I went with the French army as it fought its way from one mountain village to another in the Atlas until, finally, after almost two years of such fighting, Pétain was able to announce to Paris that Morocco was "pacified."

We Reserved Our Rights

That military victory won for France control of most of Morocco, except for Tangiers and the Spanish zone, but the United States, unlike Britain, did not consent to France, taking over economically. Our government had negotiated her own treaty with the reigning Sultan and maintained her rights to an equality of treatment, commercially, with France or any other power.

France tried many times to throw us out of Morocco, commercially. Each time we countered with a threat to carry out to the World Court at The Hague and, each time, France backed down. She wanted to close the Moroccan markets so she gave us the benefit to her own exporters and importers, forcing us to go through a system of tariffs and trade controls. As things stand today, we continue to enjoy an "open door" policy in Morocco.

Politically, there is a great deal of unrest in both Tunisia and Morocco. The "independent" parties have the full backing of Egypt, Syria, Iraq, Iran, Jordan and all the Arabs of the Islamic lands in the Levantine coastal area.

It is possible that if the "colonization" issue comes before the UN, France may be hard-pressed to preserve her protectorates without granting some extent of self-determination. That is what France fears, for she knows that she can lose face around the world if a charge is proven against her that she is a reactionary, holding back the tide of nationalism and freedom. Nationalism has become an irresistible force in world opinion and by its stand last week the United States would seem to have taken the same stand we did when we gave their political independence to the Cubans and the Filipinos.

ALUMNI TAKE PART IN PROMOTION OF HEIMRICH SHOW

Eddie Heimrich's Former Classmates Put Efforts
Behind Variety Show-Dance

Members of the Belleville High School graduating class of 1917, including Eddie Heimrich, gathered last week in the Belleville Elks' Auditorium to meet with the Elks' Heimrich Committee in planning an all-out drive for the successful promotion of the Variety Show and Dance to be held the night of December 6. The function is to include an elaborate vaudeville show at the Belleville High School. Dancing will follow immediately after the performance at the Elks' Auditorium.

Paul Brennan, past, exalted ruler and principal of School No. 1, welcomed the group, stating that the efforts of the Heimrich Fund, great though they may be, could never compensate for the sacrifice made in Korea by the Belleville soldier, who lost the sight of both eyes.

Details of the variety show and dance were outlined, including an extensive array of floor prizes. Rehearsals under the supervision of dancing instructor, Bob Kimble, have already begun. The professional acts will be interspersed with comedy acts drawn from local amateur talent. A "can can" routine by the Ladies Auxiliary of the Belleville Elks promise much in way of laughs.

Tickets have been made available at the Town Hall through Edward J. O'Connor, at the Belleville Elks Club, and the Kimble School of Dancing at 543 Washington Avenue. Alfred Del Browne is chairman of the committee, with Kenneth Miller and Stephen Raleigh as coordinators.

Parents Of Retarded Children To Hear Talk By Nutley Teacher

Mrs. Natalie Yette, teacher of the special class for trainable retarded children in the Washington School, Nutley, will speak before the Essex Unit of the New Jersey Parents Group for Retarded Children next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in the auditorium of West Side High School, South Orange Avenue at 14th Street, Newark. Mrs. Yette will describe the activities of this class and the children's reaction to the program. Opening last winter, this was the first public school class in Essex County for children of this mental level.

Colonel To Be Personnel Officer With Army In Germany

1st Lt. Col. Mario J. Zecca has been assigned to Seventh Army Headquarters in Stuttgart, Germany, where he will serve as assistant personnel officer. This is his second tour of duty in Europe, having served during World War II with the 117th Cavalry Reconnaissance Battalion. Among the colonel's decorations are the Bronze Star Medal, the French Military Service Cross and the Croix de Guerre with palm. A graduate of Rutgers University, he received his commission in 1936. He comes to the Seventh Army after the completion of his course at the Command and General Staff College in Fort Leavenworth, Kas. His wife, who will join him in Stuttgart at a later date, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Duvy of 76 Harrison Street.

Angelo Cardullo Is With 4th Infantry Division In Germany

Private Angelo A. Cardullo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Trabucco of 30 Sutter Place, is now serving in Germany with the 4th Infantry Division as a member of Headquarters and Headquarters Battery of the 20th Field Artillery Battalion. Prior to entering the Army in February, Cardullo was employed as a machine operator by Kenue Paper Box Company of Newark.

Two Local Marines Serve In Korea; Combat Pay For One

Marine Private First Class Daniel E. Mendi and Marine Corporal Richard A. Henry are currently serving in Korea with the 1st Marine Division. The son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Henry of 213 Garden Avenue, Cpl. Henry attended Bloomfield Technical High School prior to his enlistment in the Marine. Pfc. Mendi is the first Marine of this division to receive the new combat pay for front line action in Korea. He is a graduate of Belleville High School, and, before entering the Marine Corps, was a semi-professional football player with the Iron Dukes of Belleville. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Vuono of 186 Passaic Avenue.

In Masonic Celebration
Francis J. McCrory, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McCrory, of 37 Wilson Place, is presently serving aboard the destroyer USS Charles S. Sperry which recently returned to Pensacola, Florida, after participating in the Knights Templar Conclave in New Orleans, La. This was the Grand Encampment of the 355,000 member Masonic Order.

Variety Show

Singers, dancers, and instrumentalists presented a variety show in the auditorium of Belleville High School on October 17. The entire student body joined in the singing of "Funiculi Funicula", and the tango "Jealousy". The accordionists gave a specialty performance with the song "Mama". The students expressed enthusiastic approval of the gala assembly program.

RE-ELECT

the People's Champion

PETER W.

RODINO

Your Congressman has fought for a liberal social security, a higher minimum wage, slum clearance, low-cost and middle-income housing, more Federal bank protection for small investors, Veterans' rights, civil rights and economical and efficient Government reforms.

On the International front, he has supported the Marshall Plan, ECA, the Four-Point Program, aid to Korea, a strong United Nations Police Force and all other measures pointed toward halting the spread of communistic aggression.

Congressman Rodino is no absentee representative. During his four years in Congress he has compiled an amazing 96 PER CENT VOTING RECORD—which means an almost constant vigil in Congress—plus being active in congressional committee work and serving the requests of his people in the 10th District.

As a member of the Judiciary sub-committee investigating the Department of Justice he has devoted months to an inquiry which, he hopes, will bring a new code to establish principles for all government departments. Often attendance at this sub-committee's hearings meant remaining in Washington instead of conducting a political campaign for re-election.

In all his effort in Congress Your Congressman has been guided by one principle:

The Football Situation

Before the season started, we pointed out that because of Irvington's hocus-pocus, one could not figure them out as to whether they could beat Belleville or not. But Saturday it was not so much the hocus-pocus on Irvington's part but errors of thinking and commission on the part of Belleville which gave the Blue and White the 14 to 7 victory. Irvington in fact made only one first down in the game, but they still pay off in the number of times you cross the goal line. The first touchdown was a gift when Irvington intercepted a flat pass on the 5 yard line, a case of gambling for a few yards, backfiring. After the next kickoff Belleville fumbled deep in its own territory and Irvington converted on a quarterback sneak. Belleville put on one sustained march for its touchdown, and started another, only to lose the ball by inches on a fourth down attempt to pick up a yard.

Although the Bellboys lost the game, they did not give up and fought all the way to get back two key touchdowns. Saturday the Bellboys encounter Hillside, a team which has been having its ups and downs this season. This should be a close one, with Belleville winning by a touchdown, or by points.

Ruining a Good Thing

The Bloomfield Eagles, amateur football team, which played its home games just across the line at Wright Field in Bloomfield, and which numbered in its ranks a number of Belleville and Nutley boys, disbanded Sunday, following a riot during its game with the Cedar Grove. A group of malcontents, armed with clubs and sticks descended out of the stands during a discussion over an official's call, and beat up a Cedar Grove boy so badly that he had to be taken to the Hospital. Bill Young, coach of the Eagles, who organized the team to provide some fun and recreation for boys too old to play High School ball, announced that his team was through, immediately after the field was cleared. He said, "When a gang comes to the game, armed, it shows that the attack was premeditated, and under those circumstances there is no more fun in the game."

A Mighty Mile

Bill Luke, son of Mrs. Joseph Mooney of 357 Main Street, now a sergeant in the Marine was the star centerfielder of the 8th Marine Tank Force softball team this summer. He belted out six home runs and batted at a .412 clip. Sergeant Luke never participated in high school sports. He was too small. But softball came naturally to him. When he went to work at the Eastwood Nealey Corporation he became the team's third baseman. In his last season before joining the Marine Corps, Bill walloped the pitchers in the Belleville Industrial League at a .426 clip.

Dinner for the Team

The Belleville Varsity Club has announced that its annual banquet for the football team will be held Thursday, December 11th at Donahue's at 7 p.m. Harold Dufford is chairman of the committee. Norman Lauterette will be toastmaster. Norman Leach and Marty O'Connell are in charge of tickets; Ralph Casale, and Dutch King, publicity; and Bill Chapman, and Vince Vaccarella advertising for program. The name of the speaker will be announced at a later date. Plans include dancing after the dinner.

Dufford is Elected

Harold Dufford, faculty manager of athletics at Belleville High School was elected secretary of the Essex County Coaches Association at a meeting at Frank Dailey's Ivanhoe, last week. Phil Milner of East Orange was elected president; Tony Naparano of Barringer, vice-president and Jack Dalton of St. James, treasurer. Andy Stanfield, now with the physical education department of Jersey City Schools, was the guest speaker. Belleville was represented at the meeting by Jitty Wischo, basketball coach; Eddie Berlin, football and baseball coach; Harold Dufford, faculty manager; Bill Bennett, rowing coach; Ray Smith, tennis coach and Herman Knapp, assistant basketball coach.

Freshmen Gridders Split Five Games Played To Date

Defeat Lyndhurst and Garfield, Tie Kearny; Lose to Irvington Sophomores and Then Bow To Nutley Freshmen; Blanked Only Once

The Belleville Freshmen football team opened its season by defeating Lyndhurst 20 to 0. The touchdowns were scored when Harry Glass threw a 40 yard pass to Joe Brown, in the end zone in the last 30 seconds of play. In the second game, the Belleville Freshmen were defeated by Irvington Sophomores 20 to 0.

The team defeated Garfield 25 to 0. Two touchdowns were made by Jim Apple. The other touchdowns were made by Bill Dambola and Bob Costelli.

In the fourth game Belleville tied Kearny 7 to 7 at Clearman field. In the last quarter, over Kearny led Belleville 7 to 0. Belleville took possession of the ball on its own 4 yard line and marched 96 yards for a T.D. Bob Costelli scored. The extra point was run by Bob Pagnelli.

In the fifth game Belleville was defeated by Nutley 20 to 13. In the third quarter Nutley led 20 to 0. Bob Mason ran 60 yards for a touchdown and brought the score to 20-0. In the last minute of play, Bob Costelli carried the ball across.

STUDENTS CLEAN POLITICAL INFO BEFORE ELECTION

Name Speakers For Various Candidates And Chairmen Of Research For Campaign

The Student Democratic Committee of Belleville High School recently completed plans for its forthcoming campaign assembly and student election. Sandy Smith, the Democratic Chairman, appointed committee chairmen to work with the speakers selected to speak for the various candidates.

Judy Cohen and Lionel Shargel will head the research team for information on Adlai Stevenson. Mike Graham leads the John Sparkman group; Eleanor Long is ferreting out the information on Archibald Alexander; and Lucille Domenick is the research leader for Peter Rodino.

Jay Levine was appointed to head registration. John Stein serves as liaison with the Republican Committee, and Sam Renna is head of the Public Committee. Many of the committee members have attended Democratic and Republican rallies all over the state. Posters and buttons are making their appearance around the school in anticipation of the all-out campaign.

Irvington Puts Belleville Out Of Unbeaten Ranks

Two Quick Touchdowns Enable The Campdowners to Concentrate On Stopping Bellboy Offensive Effort

By Charlie Maguire

The first quarter touchdowns plus some fine defensive play by Irvington dumped the Bellboys from the unbeaten ranks at Morrell Field, Irvington, Saturday by a 14 to 7 score. Had the Bellboys won they would have been one of six undefeated teams in the Group 4 division which includes Montclair, unscathed upon Memorial, Clifton, Plainfield, and Snyder.

The first touchdown was the biggest gift the Campers have ever received. After an Irvington punt angled out of bounds on the Belleville two, yardline, ineptbacked Jesse Lopez intercepted Ron Worthington's pass on the three and slid over for the score. Jack Crawford, who has missed only one extra point this season, made the conversion which put the Campers ahead 7 to 0.

Belleville's Score

Just after the kickoff Joe Sorrentino fumbled on the Belleville 23. Irvington lost no time in taking advantage of the make. Four plays later they scored again on a quarterback sneak from the 14 on fourth down. Crawford again added the point to make the score 14 to 0.

After the half time entertainment by the Belleville and Irvington bands and twirlers, the Bell boys rallied to score their only touchdown of the afternoon. Late in the third quarter, Irvington fumbled on the 36 yard line. Six plays later, Worthington cracked through the middle from the 1 yard line for his sixth TD of the year. Worthington backed over for the extra point to make the score 14 to 7 and to register his 38th point of the season.

Coach Berlinski, although disappointed that his boys did not win, had high praise for the manner in which the team performed after getting off to its bad start. "I think the boys kept trying," Coach Berlinski was willing to concede the victory to Bill Matthews. Irvington's coach shifted defensive alignment on every play to confuse the opposition on offense. Matthews was a tough opposition for any ball club. Belleville made six first downs and the Irvington forest picked up only one during the struggle, although they did have one touchdown run of 14 yards and a pass interception by Irvington in the end of the game. Matthews threatened to break the contest wide open.

Belleville's Jayvee footballers scored a 13 to 0 victory over Irvington Jayvees, Monday at Clearman field. Both Belleville touchdowns were on forward passes thrown by quarterback Garry Glass. The first one to Larry O'Donnell covered 35 yards and the second to Joe Mignone was good for 40 yards.

Belleville plays host to Hillside Saturday which should be a breeze for the home side. After figuring each team's potential powerhouse rating it looks like Belleville 26 to 6 over the lads from Hillside.

HEAR ADDRESS ON JR. ACHIEVEMENT GROUPS AT SCHOOL

Program Director Explains Business Activities Of Groups On National Scale

Belleville High School students heard a talk by Edward G. Waldor, Program Director for Junior Achievement of Essex and West Hudson communities, on October 14. He explained that the Junior Achievement groups run their own businesses, and that this experience is very helpful for students to complete their formal education.

On a national scale, the junior achievement company that does the best business, receives a free educational trip for its president and secretary. Scholarships are also offered to students. The outstanding individual achiever is given a free trip to some area in the United States to attend a Junior Achievement Convention. Edward Danielecz of East Side High School who won last year's spoke to the students.

A motion picture, "We're In Business" showed how a group of students in Detroit organized and went into the business of making and selling plastic calendars.

The local achievement group has 5000 square feet of floor space available at Broad and Orange Streets for the use of boys and girls interested in a business project. The area can be used Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday evenings of every week from seven to nine o'clock.

Broadway Automotive Wins Game From Herdman Piners

Herdman Chevrolet suffered its first defeat in the Automobile Mixed Bowling League on Friday night when it lost a game to Broadway Automotive. However, Herdman took the odd game and now stand with 17 victories against one defeat. Herdman's series of 1401 is tops for the league, followed by Belleville Motor's Office team with 976.

Utrachi of Herdman packed in a 209 game. The league standing follows:

Automotive League

Team	W	L
Herdman Chevrolet	17	1
Belleville Motors Mechanics	13	1
Belleville Motors Office	12	6
Sussex Motors	8	16
Utrachi	4	20
Foley Chevrolet	3	9

Broadway Automotive	1	17

Mono Has One Game Edge

Mono, with a record of 15 and 3, now leads Pittsburgh Plate Glass by a single game in the Manufacturer's B League. Resisto Hat and Wallace and Tienan with 13 and 5 are tied for third, followed by Squier, Schilling, Skiff, Fischer Baking, Navader, Agene and Eastwood in that order. Daneski of Eastern Tool lead the league in individual marks. Daneski has 194 and Branch 191.

Life at BHS As We See It

Twenty-five of the home-rooms had one hundred percent; we hope it will be thirty-five next time.

We hear that Hammo's next pretty hot television set. It burnt up when Harry Truman started to speak.

Is your seat too hard? If so, see any junior. They will gladly soften it for you. They are selling pillows, you know. Only $1.00. Not very much to pay for such comfort.

The tropical fish club has two new members, compliments of the Rainbow Girls. The two who have been nothing but tiny members of marine life are couple of girls named Nestle and Marivie. Remember, girls there is nothing like a change of water!!!

Have you been filibustering lately? Then you must have rotten some good hints from Mr. Smith Goes to Washington. All kidding aside, it was swell.

P. S. Don't forget the senior dance!!!!

The Republicans having won the toss were the first speakers. With a speech on Alex Matturi, Paula Thaler opened for the party. She was answered from the Democratic side by Sandy Smith who noted the W. R. R.

Next were the speeches on Senator Smith and his opponent Archibald Alexander. Robert Doyle and Doris Dasbach were the speakers respectively. Those were followed by a speech on Richard Nixon by Sheila Drinsky and a speech on John Sparkman by Harry Valante.

Mattie filled the gap between the preliminaries and the main go. Then it began.

Keith McElroy ripped into the administration with his stirring speech and was answered by Jack Haft who attempted to rebuild his reputation on the forward.

Followed up with a speech on Eisenhower and Lionel Shargel closed the program with a talk on Stevenson.

Everyone got a taste of democracy in action. It was slightly bitter, but it was a good taste.

Student Council held its first open meeting last week. It was a meeting of the guidance assembly which includes the class officers, the Executive Committee, representatives of the Spotlight and the Honor Society, and members from each homeroom.

All present were urged to get their homeroom out and sell magazines because the sum of $1,500 had to be collected by Monday.

It is a good thing Mr. Correll teaches Chemistry or the school would not have had any magazine drive.

The new, has gotten around that a certain teacher is vacationing. We hope she has a pleasant trip. Bon Voyage!!!

Man your broomsticks, artists, the contest is over. The best flyers were those who did their flying on brushes. These misters were first place, Warren Kimble; second place, Jean Denmark; and third place, June Phillips and Joan Zawadzki.

News has gotten around that two seniors are planning an elopement. We do not want to disclose too many facts at this time, but if they go off as planned we will just say: find out!!!

Several of the senior boys attended a meeting in the guidance office where they heard a representative from the Coast Guard Academy. After seeing the representative, the girls were sorry they could not pass the physical for the Academy.

You better watch out, Jim Kant! You are going to wear "that letter" out yet!!!

The Twilight hours were lighted on Friday, October 24, when the first paper of this year hit the news-

Final Meeting For CYO Court Managers, Tonight

The second and last basketball coaches' meeting for the Essex County CYO cage loops will be held at the Mount Carmel Guild Social Service Center in Newark tonight at eight o'clock. All rosters are due then. The season is scheduled to get under way during the week of November 19, with suburban teams joining the annual title chases on November 16.

All team managers are required to attend tonight's meeting if they missed the conference held last Monday, October 27. Rules will be explained, schedules distributed, and responsibilities and duties made clear before the season starts. Well over 100 quinquits in seven different classifications for both boys and girls are expected to see action on Essex courts, according to Joe Smith, CYO basketball director.

Farrar Sets High Game, Series In Men's League

In the hottest game of the season thus far, Farrar topped last week's efforts in the Fawmish Men's Club Bowling League by banking out a 245 and 3 game series of 562. This is the high in both departments to date.

Over 200 game were rolled by Taylor, Jr., 200, October 24, Richards, 208 and Harmon, 212. Sharkey and Taylor Jr., are tied for individual honors with averages of 175. Harmon, October 24 and Farrar are right on their heels with 173.

In games during the week, Teams No. 3, 7, 8 and 1 took two games from No. 2, 5, 6 and 4 while dropping one.

Alumna Assists With Program Of N. J. C. For High School Girls

Miss Barbara Armstrong of 357 Main Street, an alumna of New Jersey College for Women, assisted with arrangements and programming of an event held in the Bloomfield Free Public Library Auditorium Tuesday evening for Essex County high school girls. The program, sponsored by the Essex County Alumnae Club of New Jersey College for Women, Rutgers University, served to introduce the girls to college life.

Highlights of the evening were a film "Listen, the Pine", depicting student life at the college, and an address by Dr. Nello K. Smith, associate professor of English at N.J.C.

SPORTS Reflections

By AL OUTCALT

This year, which marks the 50th anniversary of the founding of the American Automobile Association, marks the organization of yet another automobile club—the Four Cylinder Club of New Jersey.

In part of the state, four or five car clubs are currently active. Most of them are sport clubs, with members driving Jaguars, Bentleys, Allards, and other big sport car powerhouses.

Alongside one of these monsters, the owner of a little four-cylinder job feels out-of-place.

This desire to stand against cars of their own size has prompted fifty four-cylinder car owners in the Garden State to form this new club. It will give them a chance to polish up their little buggies, match them against their equivalents in shows, picket races, time trials, and rallies.

It also provides an opportunity for outings, social affairs, and the inevitable bull sessions that no diehard small-car driver can resist.

The Four Cylinder Club is still in its formative and charter membership is currently open. If you own anything with four cylinders—Renault, Crosley, MG, Jeep, Henry 4 (4), Singer, Austin, Hillman, Hummer, Morris, Volkswagen, Anglia, etc.—you can join up. There'll be as much of a social aspect to the club as a competitive aspect, in case you don't care to race.

The aims of the club are simple. First, to promote safe driving and adherence to all New Jersey motor vehicle laws. Second, to unite four-cylinder automobile owners into a group for the activities previously mentioned. Third, to participate in the rapid growth of organized auto-tomotive interest throughout the United States.

Acting Motor Vehicle Director William Darden has promised the cooperation of the New Jersey Motor Vehicle Division to the club and in a letter to your writer, who has been helping lay the groundwork for the new club, Mr. Darden wished our organization and its members every success.

After the first organization meeting, scheduled for a Saturday afternoon late in November, plans will be made for the first affair of the season—an automobile show and dance in mid-December. All the members will shine up their cars and drive them to a central meeting place.

In spring, when the weather improves, the first outdoor event will be scheduled. A rally is planned for Stokes State Forest, with perhaps an outing or two at the shore. Some competitive events are also on the slate, but these will not be arranged before the Motor Vehicle Commission is consulted and before arrangements are made with the state.

We are interested in preventing accidents, not creating them. If you own a four-cylinder car and would like to join, write to the Four Cylinder Club of New Jersey, Apartment 103, Nutley, N. J.

Undergo Basic Training

Two Belleville men recently commenced eight weeks of basic training with the 9th Infantry Division at Fort Dix. They are Private Anthony Della Valle of 132 Greylock Avenue and William F. Hunt Jr. of 370 Lake Street. Both attended Belleville High School.

WELL be the first to admit that you can buy a car for less than the price of a Buick.

But not so much less as most people think. And just to save those few extra dollars, you'll miss a fortune in fun.

For the few extra dollars you pay for a Buick, you get the ginger and thrill of a lot more power than you'll get in any other car of its price and pounds—plus the big miles-per-gallon figures of Buick's famed high-compression Fireball 8 Engine.

You get size and room and looks to do you proud—comfort you'll hardly believe—and that good sense of security that only ample weight can impart.

You get the all-coil-spring ride that a million dollars couldn't duplicate. You get handling, steering, braking, turning—all with an ease that women especially appreciate.

We could go on at length about a lot of other things, including a fair-sized list of items you get in every Buick but which cost extra on lesser cars.

But why go on? The fun and fine feeling and wondrous comfort you enjoy in a Buick are things you shouldn't be missing for just a few extra dollars. And the value—you just can't pass that up.

Got a little time to drop in and let us prove our points? Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

Look what a FEW EXTRA DOLLARS will buy

The Meeting Place

Edgar Jean Bracco

I had a letter recently from a young person that caused me to look again at a problem I had not examined in a long time. The writer is concerned with self-consciousness, that social wet-blanket that has probably prevented more people from enjoying themselves than all other factors combined.

He gave no specifics—he simply is young, likes to go out as much as anyone else, but when he is with others, his speech changes him into a tormented mass of inhumanity that doesn't leave him until he is home again.

Financial worries can be set aside by the application of escapism, pains and aches can be temporarily forgotten in the presence of a good laugh, a gripping story, or a pill. But this—this constant looking in upon oneself—is far harder to submerge. There are people at every gathering who sit through an entire evening saying nothing, stammering when addressed, who blush furiously when nothing is said to them.

These people, it seems, would rather be anywhere but at that gathering. Yet there is something in their psychological makeup which craves the company of others. They cannot be happy alone and therefore seek the crowd, no matter how painful the contact becomes.

Self-consciousness, unfortunately, is not a small affliction that can conveniently be removed by diet or exercise, it is a product entirely of the mind, and it becomes the job of the mind to remove it. Only by remaining in the company of others, by his self-consciousness can the shy person overcome it.

Classified, this means simply that those who are shy are subconsciously aware of their shyness. Their lucid thoughts are concerned only with the results of it. "If I speak, they may think I'm dumb. When I dance they'll all think I have two left feet. This story I have to tell—it may not be funny and fall flat, or they may have heard it through an entire evening saying nothing, stammering when addressed, who blush furiously when nothing is said to them.

These people, it seems, would rather be anywhere but at that gathering. Yet there is something in their psychological makeup which craves the company of others. They cannot be happy alone and therefore seek the crowd, no matter how painful the contact becomes.

that, if approached calmly, can be controlled.

Bear these facts in mind: during a discussion, if you have an opinion, give it. The chances are it will probably be as good, and possibly better, than the opinion of many others in the room. If you have no opinion, keep quiet. You won't be alone in not knowing the intricacies of the subject at hand. No one was ever considered stupid for admitting his ignorance of a topic. It is only when he knows nothing and fails, that it becomes obvious he knows nothing.

When you walk into a crowded room, don't dash to the first empty chair you see, and sit there sweating. Look around you. You are at least as personable and as well-dressed as most people there. Your social attributes and your intelligence are at least equal to the average of those present, and perhaps above it. Don't make a case of this—you aren't out to stun anyone. Merely remember it for your own use. Instead of cringing and wondering how many people are looking at you, look at them. It's a fascinating pastime, looking at people, and at the same time one that will help you to attract your attention away from yourself.

When you are with a person of the opposite sex, and you don't know each other very well, it is easy to feel strained and ill at ease. But if you remember that the other is just as ill at ease as you, you will at least be on equal ground.

Instead of searching for topics of schilling interest, choose the commonplace as a conversational ice-breaker. Talk of the place in which you happen to be, its service, the times you've been there. Compare it with other places you know, talk of that person to your companion. There's nothing wrong with gossip, so long as it's kept within the bounds of good taste and truthfulness.

Be natural. Don't try to find the nicest words or the cleverest phrases. You're not to impress. Use words with which you are familiar. In that way you can concentrate on the subject of your story and not the fancy embellishment. The other person will like you more for it, because seeing you at ease will make him or her relax.

Remember, whenever you feel that the entire room or dance floor is looking at you, that people aren't particularly interested in you unless you give them reason. On a dance floor they are occupied with their own movements. Feet and in a crowded room they have their own thoughts or stories, their own shyness to contend with. They won't analyze you until you invite it.

If you act naturally, and project your personality outward on others instead of inward on yourself, you will find that at the end of the evening you will have conquered your most formidable opponent—yourself.

PAST PRESIDENTS CLUB ORGANIZED

Group To Include Past Presidents Of Woman's Clubs In New Jersey 8th District

On Wednesday, October 22, a Past President's Club was organized at the Nutley Woman's Club. Mrs. F. C. James, Federation chairman of the group and past president of the Nutley Woman's Club, organized the club, which will consist of all the Past Presidents of the Federation of Women's Clubs in the 8th district of the State.

The project and slate for this new organization have not been decided upon as yet. The 8th district consists of the eleven districts in N. J. was the last to organize its Past President's Club.

During the meeting, Mrs. Claude Powers, of the Woman's Club of Belleville, was nominated Chairman of the Constitution and By-Laws committee and Mrs. August Winters, of the Woman's Club of Valsburg, was nominated Hospitality Chairman.

A tea followed the meeting at which Mrs. Ernest C. Reock, 8th district vice-president and Mrs. William Vail, of the Woman's Club of Nutley and west district vice-president, presided.

The next meeting is scheduled to be held in Belleville during the month of November.

Eight Bellevillites Among Freshmen Studying at NCE

Eight young men of Belleville are members of the freshmen class enrolled at Newark College of Engineering. It was announced recently by Frank A. Grammam, dean of students of the 71-year-old institution.

They are: Robert M. Forte of 41 King Street; Paul A. Jaworski of 29 Broad Street; Victor Macchi of 129 Swallowwood Avenue; Robert W. Murphy of 424 Union Avenue; Paul Palmeri of 16 Arthur Street; Frank H. Thaler of 224 Greylock Parkway; James T. Wasdyke of 8 Trent Avenue; and John L. Willis Jr. of 66 Willing Street.

These soldiers, members of Battery B, 71st A.A.A. Gun Battalion, under Lieutenant Robert D. McConquada, were formerly stationed in Branch Brook Park and attended the Soldier's Lounge which has been set up and staffed by volunteer Belleville Red Cross workers.

Mrs. J. S. White and Mrs. Carter, who are very active in the operation of the Lounge, felt sure the boys from Belleville would help out, and they sure did, adding fifteen pints of much needed blood for shipment to our service men in Korea.

The example these soldiers from Washington have set should give our ex-servicemen in Belleville cause to think. It's no picnic in South Pacific. Those North Korean bullets are just as fatal and that magic drug, "blood" is just as important. But blood which you do not give cannot help those wounded men in Korea. Your reluctance mean death to some soldier. A life can hang by a narrow thread—can depend for its continued existence on that pint of blood you gave or didn't give.

Miss Doris L. Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen of 14 Malone Avenue, is a recipient of the Meta Thorne Waters Music Scholarship at New Jersey College for Women, New Brunswick, it was announced recently by Miss Fredericks Beknap, secretary of the Scholarship Committee at the college. A gift of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, the scholarship was awarded to her upon the recommendation of A. Konrad Kvan, chairman of an anti-aircraft unit stationed in Wallington, volunteered as Blood Donors at the recent Defense Blood Donor Assembly held at the Belleville Elks Club.

New Responsibilities For Former Plant Manager

James E. Woodall, former manager of the plant at Belleville, has been named to the staff of Ralph C. Stuart, vice-president in charge of the Westinghouse Lamp Division. Mr. Woodall left Belleville to become manager of the division's plant at Fairmont, W. Va. As staff assistant, in addition to assuming the duties of the late Robert E. Tucker as quality control officer, Mr. Woodall will be responsible for the division's overall cost reduction and expense control programs.

Mrs. J. S. White and Mrs. Carter, who are very active in the operation of the Lounge, felt sure the boys from Belleville would help out, and they sure did, adding fifteen pints of much needed blood for shipment to our service men in Korea.

The example these soldiers from Washington have set should give our ex-servicemen in Belleville cause to think. It's no picnic in South Pacific. Those North Korean bullets are just as fatal and that magic drug, "blood" is just as important. But blood which you do not give cannot help those wounded men in Korea. Your reluctance mean death to some soldier. A life can hang by a narrow thread—can depend for its continued existence on that pint of blood you gave or didn't give.

Miss Doris L. Cohen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Cohen of 14 Malone Avenue, is a recipient of the Meta Thorne Waters Music Scholarship at New Jersey College for Women, New Brunswick, it was announced recently by Miss Fredericks Beknap, secretary of the Scholarship Committee at the college. A gift of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs, the scholarship was awarded to her upon the recommendation of A. Konrad Kvan, chairman of an anti-aircraft unit stationed in Wallington, volunteered as Blood Donors at the recent Defense Blood Donor Assembly held at the Belleville Elks Club.

These soldiers, members of Battery B, 71st A.A.A. Gun Battalion, under Lieutenant Robert D. McConquada, were formerly stationed in Branch Brook Park and attended the Soldier's Lounge which has been set up and staffed by volunteer Belleville Red Cross workers.

Brownies Stage Masquerade Party And Mark Scout Week

St. Peter's Brownie Troop 24 staged a Halloween costume masquerade party on Tuesday. Honored guests were: Rev. John Hourihan, scout moderator; Sister Rita Magdeline, principal; Sister Rose, Sister Catherine, Sister Margaret, Miss Alice Thaler and Mrs. Florence Luisi; Brownie Mothers; and scout leaders, Mrs. Louis Rosania and Miss Jean Kersan.

In observance of Girl Scout week, the troop has a window display at the Jack and Jill Shop. The troop and leaders are grateful to L. Lannen of Jack and Durkin's advice.

St. Peter's Brownie troop 24, under the guidance of its leaders, Mrs. Irene Becker and Mrs. Lilian Short, is making leatherette book marks and comb cases.

Comptroller To Speak
John L. Durkin, Comptroller of Johns-Manville, Building Products Division, New York, will address a dinner meeting of the Newark Chapter of the National Association of Cost Accountants on Thursday, October 30th, at the Hotel Robert Treat in Newark. "Should We Spend the Money?" will be the subject of Mr. Durkin's address.

MAYOR TULLY WILL GIVE MARDI GRAS ROYALTY THE KEY

Ceremony, On November 7, is Part Of Buildup For Petrean Annual Show, "Mardi Gras"

Mayor James J. Tully will receive the key of the Mardi Gras and his Queen of Belle-ville on Friday evening, November 7, and will present them with a key to the town at the Town Hall.

A gaily decorated float will carry the King and Queen south along Washington avenue to the Town Hall where the presentation will be made. Leading the float will be St. Mary's fire and drum corps of Nutley. A cavalcade of cars are expected to accompany the royal dignitaries.

The King and Queen, traditional rulers of the famous Mardi Gras celebration in New Orleans each year, are members of the cast of the Petrean Club's presentation, "Mardi Gras." The show has its setting in New Orleans during the height of the pre-lenten celebrations for which the city is so well known. It depicts some of the festivities which have made the Mardi Gras such a colorful occasion.

The show will be presented in St. Peter's new auditorium on November 16, a matinee, 20 and 22. All proceeds go to help defray the cost of the new building.

Wireman Completes Seven Months Of Korean Service

Private First Class Frank Fortunato, son of Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Fortunato of 38 Cedar Hill Avenue, recently completed seven months of active service in Korea with the 7th Infantry Division. Since making the amphibious landing at Inchon in the fall of 1950, this division has fought in every section of the Korean peninsula, including the dash to the Yalu River.

A wireman in Battery A, 21st Field Artillery Battalion, Pfc. Fortunato entered the Army in September, 1951. He was formerly employed by the Modern Millwork and Supply Co. of Belleville.

Frank X. Long Delivers Talk To Rutgers Psychology Club

Frank X. Long, of 351 Branch Brook Drive, addressed a meeting yesterday of the Psychology Club of Rutgers University's Newark Colleges. Mr. Long, who does public relations work with Franklin Fader Co., the Newark advertising firm, spoke on "Psychology in Advertising." He said that good advertising is effective only if it proves to the potential user that he will derive concrete benefit from the product.

He also discussed the psychology of advertising color, headlines, layout and copy approach. Before joining Franklin Fader Co., Mr. Long was assistant editor of Rutgers News Service, the public relations outlet of Rutgers University.
