Churches to Hold Special Yule Programs Sunday

Reformed Church To Have Shadow Graph Of Christmas Story; Fewsmith Church To Feature Pageant; Wesley to Have Series of Parties

Belleville Churches will observe Christmas Sunday this year with a variety of inspirational holiday programs, ranging from Sunday School parties and plays to Christmas pageants, a television panel discussion, and Yuletide film. Christmas sermons and music will highlight the services, and choirs and soloists will offer vocal renditions on holiday themes.

The Belleville Reformed Church will hold Sunday School Christmas services at 9 a.m. A shadow graph of the Christmas story will be presented, and parents are urged to attend. The morning worship will take place at 11 a.m. with a sermon by Dr. John A. Struyk, pastor, on "Predictions of Christmas Come." Everyone is invited to visit the old church, decorated in the Christmas spirit.

Fewsmith Presbyterian Church
The Christmas service at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church will feature a dramatic pageant written and arranged by the pastor, Dr. James K. Morse, at a Yuletide Service this Sunday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. It is entitled "The Word Became Flesh" and will include five episodes.

The first is a choral reading of the prophecy of the coming of the Messiah. The Junior High students of the church school will give this under the direction of David Lanius. The Primary children, assisted by Mrs. Fred Holland will dramatize six scenes of "The Promise" from the Old Testament. Those participating will be: Miss Betty Lay, Reader; Herbert Winfield, Robert Babb, Nils Martinson, Douglas Degroat, Thomas Bartlett, Carl Tietze, Walter Orth, Jane Lay and other pupils.

The Junior department, conducted by Harold Ross, Jr., will present the manger scene with Joseph, Mary, the Shepherds and the Wise Men. The Nursery group will sing "Away in a Manger." Mrs. Martinson Mallison is superintendent. The pageant will conclude with a TV panel discussion on "The Real Meaning of Christmas." Robert Morse will act as Moderator, and the following will participate: Evan Thomas, Jr., Joyce McShane, Barbara McWaters, Grace Robert and John Seasholtz. Mrs. James K. Morse will read Grace Nell Crowell's "A Christmas Eve." Ruth Lurie, soprano soloist will sing, "The Virgin's Slumber Song." Both Junior and Senior choirs will sing anthems.

A fellowship hour will be held immediately following the Vesper Service in the newly decorated Social Hall of the church. Refreshments will be served by the Primary Church School teachers. Parents and friends are invited.

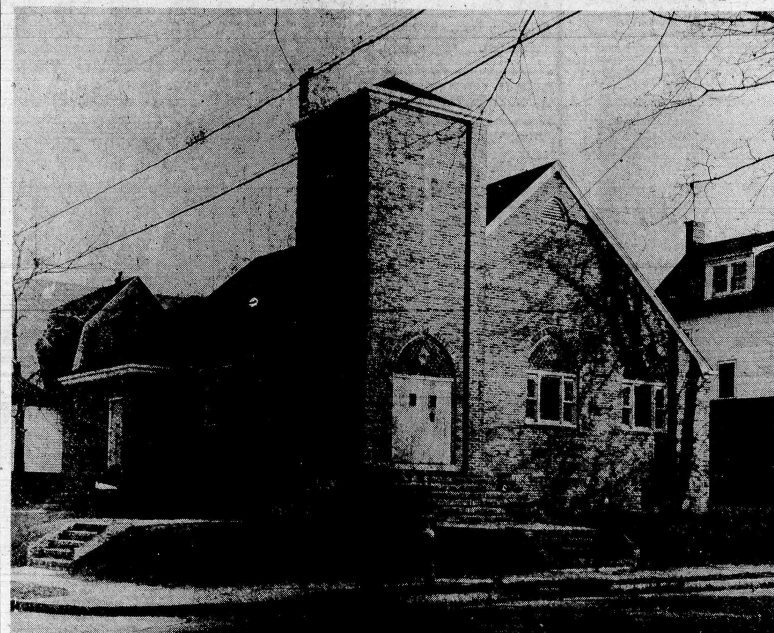

At the eleven o'clock service, Herman Walter, D.D. from Frankfurt, Germany, will play a violin solo, Mendelssohn's "On Wings of Song." In Europe he played with a number of string quartets and with a symphony orchestra. He will be accompanied on the organ by his brother, Dr. Hans Walter, a noted scientist in the field of chemistry.

Dr. Morse will preach a Christmas sermon, "Where Is He?" and Ruth Lurie will sing, "Come Unto Him" by Handel. The Junior Choir Anthem will be "Christmas Is Here" and Mrs. Richard Brann is director. Mrs. Thomas Lebecke of Union Seminary School of Sacred Music, New York City, will be guest conductor for both services.

Wesley Methodist Church
Christmas begins at Wesley Methodist Church with a series of Christmas Parties for the various Sunday School Departments this week-end. The Beginners Department will hold a Party for its members on Saturday at 2 P.M., the Primary Department Party will be at 2 P.M., and the Junior Department will meet for its Party at 4 P.M.

Assembly of God (Pentecostal) Church Plans Services on Christmas

Belleville's newest church edifice, the Assembly of God Church, (Pentecostal) at Holmes Street and Hornblower Avenue is being readied for its first service, on Christmas morning. The service and a children's party will be held in the basement, because the upper section of the church is still in rough shape. The building erected by the hands of members of the church congregation is all but completed on the outside.

Small Congregation Will Open Church on Christmas

Assembly of God (Pentecostal) Church Far From Completed, But Basement Being Made Ready

The realization of a dream of about 30 Belleville families will take place on Christmas morning when the first service will be held in the new Assembly of God Church (Pentecostal) at Holmes Street and Hornblower Avenue. The building has been more than two years in the building, but many more years in the planning. All work and most of the money which has gone into the new edifice has been supplied by the church members themselves, many of whom are building craftsmen by trade.

About 27 years ago a group of people joined the Pentecostal Church and began their worship services in the homes of members. About 15 years ago a mission room was opened at 70 William Street. The families of the congregation planned the present structure before the outbreak of World War II, but restrictions of one form or another, set them back time after time. In the meantime material costs have increased, and what was ample a dozen years ago, is hardly adequate today.

Actually the church has been on a mission basis all these years and its pastor, Rev. Louis Franklin, of Bloomfield, divides his time among a number of similar missions. When the Assembly of God Church is completed, the church board of trustees, plan to call a permanent pastor.

Expectations are that the upper part of the building, now bare walls, exposed beams and rough flooring, will be completed by Spring. At that time the official dedication will take place.

As soon as activities get under way, the trustees hope to inaugurate a young people's association, a Sunday School program and a Boy Scout Troop.

Frank DeMarco, of 15 Elmwood Avenue, is secretary of the Board of Trustees. Frank Cernero, of 200 Jorhamon Street, is treasurer. Other members are Angelo Cernero of 74 William Street, Emil D'Angelo of 16 Elmwood Avenue, Felix Cernero, Peter Lambo and Adam Viventi of Nutley.

Zionist Members To Discuss Proposed Merger of Districts

A meeting of the Belleville-Nutley District of the Zionist Organization of America will be held at the home of Mrs. L. Sussman, of 65 Van Rensselaer Place, this evening at 8 o'clock.

The primary issue planned for discussion at the meeting will be the proposed merger of the various Zionist Districts in this area into one Zionist District of Greater Newark, in order to formulate more efficient programs and to carry out organizational activities more effectively.

Christmas Book Display In Belleville Public Library

In observance of Christmas, the Belleville Public Library has a display of Christmas books, both fiction and non-fiction, which are available to readers in both the adult and Junior departments. This is the library staff's way of extending Season's Greetings to all its readers.

SCHOOL BOARD TO CLEAR DECKS FOR BUDGET ADOPTION

Seven Special Meetings Are Planned Before Year's End; Will Discuss Guide

Faced with the necessity of holding at least seven special meetings and conferences before the first of the year, members of the Board of Education, Monday night, cleared the deck of some routine business, in preparation for important matters still to be decided upon. Among the problems is the preparation of the 1953 school budget in time for public advertising by January 6 and public hearing on January 13. One of the factors to be decided upon in arriving at these figures, is the disposition of the request of the Belleville Teacher's Association for the adoption of a new salary guide, increments and a Christmas bonus out of current funds.

Walter Loosener, chairman of the Teacher's Committee, promised a delegation of teachers that the matter would be discussed at a special conference and meeting on Friday night.

Also on the books for action in the near future is the ratification of a contract with the new school architect, Emil Schmiedel of East Orange. Attorney Max N. Schwartz has been working on terms of the contract with the architect. Permission was granted the Police Athletic League to use the girl's gym of the High School from 7 to 9:30 p.m. each Tuesday night, from January to April.

George D. Martin and Gerald Rhodes, of the custodial staff, were given tenure status through the in-

Air Force Nurse's Visit To Italy Climaxed By Audience With Pope

Tour of Rome Takes Lt. Ruth Shannon Through Catacombs, Colosseum and Night Spots

Serving as a U.S. Air Force nurse in England is not all hard work. In fact, there are times when life becomes truly exhilarating, a belief that is heartily confirmed by Lt. Ruth E. Shannon, whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Shannon, reside at 28 Bremond Street.

"This young lady, together with several other nurses and a few male officers, took off on a flying jaunt to the continent on December 5, landing in Rome, Italy, after 7 1/2 actual flying hours. Ruth's stay in that historical city consisted of a series of dynamic experiences, climaxed by her audience with the pope.

This occurred in conjunction with a Holy Name Society that was touring Rome at the time. She and another nurse joined the audience held in a huge hall in the Vatican. The pope was carried down a center aisle in a sedan chair, shaking hands and touching religious articles. His speech in Italian was followed by talks in all the languages native to the people present. Ruth describes the entire ceremony as a most stimulating experience.

Tour of City
On a tour of that time-honored city, Ruth visited all the basilicas, the Catacombs, Colosseum and other locales of worldwide interest. One spot that particularly fascinated her was the building that held 28 of the steps upon which Christ walked carrying the cross. The Catholic ritual is comprised of special prayers to be said on each step. The group also took in the Rube Tartar, a place for which Rome is also famous, such as the Rube Tartar, a place for which Rome is also famous, such as the Rube Tartar, a place for which Rome is also famous.

The party took off in the

plane Comet, the pilot obligingly circling the city three times, so as to afford them a bird's eye view of Rome and allow them to take aerial pictures. The trip back proved as eventful as the stay in Rome, but this included some troublesome happenings.

Troubles Begin
Their eventual landing, cold and exhausted, at their own airfield base was finally accomplished with no mishaps. Thus, their return trip took exactly 48 hours of spasmodic operations!

Canine Souvenir
Despite the troubles, however, Ruth is extremely happy girl with many pleasant memories of a wondrous trip on the continent. She recently sent home a souvenir which they flew over the Leaning

Clee Comes Here May Be Candidate For Governorship

One of Founders of Clean Government, He Will Become Candidate If Gov. Driscoll Decides Not To Run

In an exclusive interview with The Times-News, in Belleville yesterday, Dr. Lester H. Clee, president of the New Jersey Civil Service Commission, defining program and made a statement of policy which was tantamount to posing his candidacy for the governorship of New Jersey in the November, 1953 elections. His formal announcement of candidacy, however, will only follow any announcement by Governor Alfred E. Driscoll of his own intentions.

If Governor Driscoll announces that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself, Dr. Clee will enter the field and will seek the support of Clean Government. If Governor Driscoll decides to run for another term, with the support of the State Republican organization, Dr. Clee will not be a candidate. If he is a candidate, Dr. Clee will take a positive stand against either a state income tax or a sales tax and against any widening of the base of taxation in any way.

"If I do decide to become a gubernatorial candidate, it will be as a Republican but I will invite the support of all those Democrats and Independents who are interested in clean and economical government," Dr. Clee said in his interview with The Times-News.

"I would accept the support of all citizens who are interested in good government and I hope that the leadership of Clean Government here in Essex County would find it possible to support me."

Still vigorous despite a lifetime devoted to an active church career of a quarter of a century and to a 16-year political career inspired chiefly by a desire to break up the political machine of former Republican Governor Salmon, Dr. Clee came to Belleville yesterday during a series of visits to editors and political leaders throughout New Jersey, sounding them on possibilities of their support.

His talks are extended also to labor leaders and manufacturers with whom he has maintained close personal relations during and since the year, until last February, that he spent as chairman of the N.J. State Mediation Board. It is an unusual tribute to his difficult chairmanship that he enjoys a relationship of warm confidence with both sides, whose industrial disputes he mediated.

Dr. Clee's opposition to a sales tax "not a new position for him to take. As a member of the State Senate, in 1951, the Essex legislator fought the sales tax bill introduced by Governor Harold Hoffman. Although he lost that battle, temporarily, when the legislature passed it, Dr. Clee continued his fight and won the repeal of the law four months after its passage.

Stand On School Aid
"I am opposed to any new form of taxation until its need has been proven because we are still far from the maximum possible under the present tax structure," Dr. Clee said.

There is an increasingly loud cry for more state aid for local public schools, but I must oppose that. There has been a complete and sane survey by a qualified commission. The survey may show up needy areas where

- SHIFT TO FORDOMATIC—and you'll never shift again. It's the first, most versatile automatic drive ever. And remember, Ford also offers the smooth and thrifty Overdrive.
- POWER-PIVOT PEDALS—are suspended from above to eliminate dusty, dirty floor holes. They give you unobstructed floor space and provide easier pedal operation.

- FULL-CIRCLE VISIBILITY—with huge, curved, one-piece windshield, a corvide, one-piece rear window and big picture windows all around—gives you visibility unlimited.

CHOICE OF V-8 OR SIX

Ford's famous 110-h.p. high-compression Stratostar V-8 has a partner for thrifty "Go" in the 101-h.p. low-friction, high-compression Mileage Maker Six. Ford Automatic Power Pilot gives high-compression "Go" with regular gas.

How to Become Unpopular

The quickest way to become unpopular is to become a sports writer with guts enough to tell the truth instead of always painting the lily white. We have learned that we were exceedingly unpopular, first, with the team, secondly with the student body and thirdly with a few adult fans who can see things from only one perspective, over our truthful account of how Belleville played its opening game. This column would not be worth the space it occupies if we never compare the play of Bellboy teams with the kind of ball they are capable of playing.

Tuesday night the Bellboys took the floor and proved everything we said about them the week before. It was a different team, a driving team, a passing team and a shooting team. It looked like the team Belleville expected to have before the season started.

Actually, we doubt that there is a team in the state that could have beaten the Bellboys on Tuesday night. Whereas, Passaic the opening foe lacked all semblance to a good team, Garfield was a top notch quintet. We doubt that Belleville will face many better teams during the course of the campaign. The visitors had height, shotmaking ability, a fighting spirit and were cleverly coached.

Right down the line the Bellboys showed great improvement in one week's effort, especially in the starting ranks. As the box score indicates, Paul Weinstein and Tom Mack were terrific, but the box score does not indicate how well they played the rebounds, and how the whole pattern of offense was built around making it easy for both Weinstein and Mack to get in position for their baskets. Working off the bucket, Mack drove in repeatedly on the give and take, to either Weinstein or Maguire. The team also maneuvered to keep Weinstein free and when he was in position gave him good passes.

Whether or not Belleville's Jiffy Wische will incorporate the play Garfield came up with a maneuver on those 1 and 1 fouls, whereby four men went down court, leaving only one to take the ball out of bounds, should the first shot be made. For a while Belleville had the shooter, and two other players at the keyhole, and Garfield had a 4 to 2 advantage down court, but later, Belleville moved a defensive man back and had the shooter drop off the foul line to pick up one of the men near the center line. As a surprise, the play might work once or twice in a ball game. The important thing is, the season is brand new under the 1 and 1 rule, yet everyone has the angles figured out already.

Short Deer Season

Peter Shellhamer, Jr., of 144 Fairway Avenue shot a four point buck at Stokes State Forest, a half hour after the hunting season opened on Monday morning. The season opened at 7 o'clock, the deer was bagged at 7:30 and by 11, the hunter had driven home and was all done hunting for the year.

Alfred Arena of 283 Chestnut Street, Nutley, formerly of Belleville, was another hunter who reported an early kill on Monday. By 10 o'clock Mr. Arena was on his way home from Roxbury Township, where he shot a five point buck weighing about 250 pounds.

Bellboys Live Up To Advance Raves With 81 to 63 Win

Team Effort Overshadows 32 Points By Weinstein and 22 for Tom Mack; Boilermakers Played Good Game

Belleville High's basketball team lived up to advance notices, on Tuesday, when it completely squashed a very good Garfield High team 81 to 63. Garfield bids well to be one of the best teams the Bellboys will be called upon to face this season, and the victory was pleasing to all concerned. The Boilermakers had four tall men, and the fifth, Kraft, at guard, was such an excellent player and competitor that he got a rousing round of applause as he left the floor on five personal fouls, with about four minutes of the game remaining.

The Bellboys played the kind of game that Belleville teams are noted for. It was a complete team effort and a remarkable percentage of shots dropped because the shots taken were percentage shots. In the first 16 shots thrown, Belleville made good on 13 and piled up a 29 to 16 lead in the first few long shots were thrown, and they broke up the high percentage pattern.

As the box score indicates, Coach Wische had his best and biggest five men in the game in the first and third periods. In those two frames, Belleville scored a cool 50 points. Leading by 30 points with about three minutes to go, Wische cleared the bench and Garfield closed the gap rather quickly, so that the final margin was a more respectable 18.

The victory was a team triumph, and not even a five man team effort. Garfield's play was good for later in the campaign, when five men cannot carry the pressure of a rugged tournament slate. Particularly impressive in the victory were Paul Weinstein with 32 points, with an exceedingly good percentage on his tries; Tom Mack, who was everything the playmaker should be, with 22 points; and Gordon Gaffney, for his rebound work under the defensive basket. It goes without saying that Butch Kittle, Pat Caruso, Chuck Maguire, Nick Pettit, and others who saw considerable action, also did their jobs well. Gaffney's tap to score will be along any day now.

While excitement was not at a fever pitch, each good play, by either side, was applauded, but the biggest roar came when Weinstein sank his 32nd point to make the Belleville score 80. Both the 32 for "Berg" and the 80 for the team are pleasant figures to contemplate.

Ray Smith's Javay crew won their game in even more convincing fashion and had a 25 point spread at the end of the contest. Taylor was the big man in the Javay scoring effort.

The Garfield cheerleaders took a page out of Yale's book, when they ran through a pep chant and one of the girls with the game ball, whipped around and threw it in a perfect goal, from the break of the foul circle. At that time there was no better shot than at least four of the varsity performers.

Belleville travels to Orange for its first contest against an Essex County rival tomorrow. The Tornados have won one and lost one to inter-Orange rivals, but their scores have not indicated that they will be particularly tough. After Friday's game the team enters the Christmas vacation period with a prospect of long and intensive drills, in preparation for the tough part of the season which begins after the first of the year, and leads to the Essex County and State basketball tournaments.

SPECIAL TROPHIES TO APICELLA AND TEAM AT GRID FETE

Varsity Club Banquet Honors State's Third Best Eleven; Miller, Cafone Are Honored

A victorious squad of 99 Belleville High football players and their coaches, Ed Berinski, Herman Wische, Ray Smith and Wilho Winkla, were feted at the Varsity Club's Eighth Annual Football Banquet, Thursday, at Donohue's Mountain View.

Approximately 250 fans braved the wintry blasts to honor the State's No. 3 grid team and to listen to several fine talks, one by the Principal, Speaker, Bill Palazzo, backfield coach of the University of Pennsylvania, and the other by Guest Coach, Al Weiner of Hillside High School.

A special team trophy and an individual trophy were awarded in recognition of this year's fine record. Art Bloesnek, Varsity Club President, made the team trophy award to Head Coach, Eddie Berinski, while Tom Apicella, great Bell-boy line backer-up, received the individual award from Banquet Chairman Harold Palmer, in recognition of his placing a close second for All-State honors.

Individual awards were also made to all Senior members of the team. Coach Berinski represented the school and Harold Palmer and Al Andersen, the Varsity Club, in this ceremony.

Co-Captain Don Miller, All-State selection, and Rocco Cafone, the fine quarterback, were given trophies as the "Most Improved Players." Bude and Vic Pomponio handled the presentation for the Club.

The Nutley-Belleville Trophy, sponsored jointly by the Third-Half Club of Nutley and the Varsity Club, was turned over by the Third-Half's President, Bill Donaldson, in recognition of this year's victory, which places Belleville ahead in the series, four games to three.

Bill Chapman, Co-ordinator of the entire program and one of the founders of the Varsity Club, was Toastmaster for Norman Lauterette, Athletic Council Chairman, who was ill.

Busers and Old Timers Score Fewsmith Sweep

The Busters and Old Timers share the lead this week in the Fewsmith Men's Club Bowling League. They scored clean sweeps over the Cops and Farmers respectively with the Busters hitting a new team high three game series with games of 829, 823 and 878.

Other games during the week saw the Hilltoppers take two from the Spoilers and the Aces take two from the Muffins. Varsity Club, in recognition of this year's victory, which places Belleville ahead in the series, four games to three.

lor, Jr. had 204 and Cox 200 for the only big game during the week.

Hormon increased his average to 180 in the individual average followed by Ochsner with 172.

REC. SENIORS IN HIGH SCORING TILTS

Intermediate Games Are Close And Exciting; Many Double Figure Individual Efforts

The Recreation Department Basketball Leagues continue to produce hot contests as they go into their fourth week of play. In the Senior League all fourteen teams saw real action last week. The Strats dropped their first game to the still unbeaten Cavaliers, 32 to 28. The Strats drew first blood they never again got close to the Cavaliers who, marked by Lorenzo, won 43 to 32. The Tortorella A. C. swept over the Petrean Club 32 to 28. Another one-sided victory was scored by Aircraft Supply over A Battery 98 with a final tally of 55 to 19. Daly and Dalanegra chalked up 14 and 13 points respectively for Aircraft Supply.

It was another easy victory for Bude's All Stars as they trampled the Shamrocks by a score of 53 to 21. McConnell led the scoring, with 16 points and Thompson three in 12 minutes for Bude's. Pads and the Groaners played a close game all the way with North and Ryan contributing mightily to the Groaners victory. In spite of fine efforts on the parts of Denimston and Vangeri, the Fadas bowed 24 to 28. The Belle Maids won an easy victory over the Continentals by a 49 to 35 score. Big reasons were 16 points by Vaisak, 15 points and Distasio 13 points. The Bengals homped home with 38 to 21 victory over the Belleville 5.

In the Recreation Department Intermediate League the contests were, without exception, very close. The Bruins came through in the closing seconds to beat the Resters 37 to 35. The Cardinals pulled a close one out in the closing minutes, winning from the Silver Lakers by 49 to 47. Lyble with 18 points and G. Calenda with 14 points sparked the Cardinals. Al though the Continentals trailed the Condors in the first half they pulled out, sparked by 21 points poured in by Veth to win 53 to 48. Cafone, Gione and Donofrio led Roy's Sport Shop to a 48 to 42 win over the Barons, and the Sugar Bowls, riding through on Ambrosius 12 points slipped past the Hilltops 32 to 28.

George Waters Lifts Double His Own Weight in Full Press

Sixteen year old George Waters has just mastered one of the rare feats of strength in weightlifting. George, who weighs a scant one hundred and six pounds, pressed to arm's length, while lying prone, a weight of two hundred and sixteen pounds! This is in excess of double his own weight. The quality of this performance is more apparent when we realize that statistics have shown that only one athlete in 107,000 can lift his own body weight to arm's length.

George is a member of the Belleville Baseball Club, a Recreation Department activity, under the instruction of Bob Cook, Superintendent of Recreation. This popular Club has increased greatly since its inception last March, outgrowing three different meeting places and necessitating the addition of another instructor. Starting in January there will be lifting under instruction four nights a week from 7:00 P.M. until 9:30. Those wishing to take part in lifting may come to a session at the Municipal Stadium.

Eagles and Cardinals Win P.A.L. Soccer Loop Games

The P.A.L. Soccer League opened its second half play on Sunday at Belleville Park with the Eagles beating the Rangers 2 to 0 and the Cardinals nipping the Blackhawks by an identical score. Ed Darroch scored on a penalty shot and Bob Yudin brought in from the field for the Eagles. Jerry DiPiano scored both Cardinal goals. Sunday the Rangers take on the Blackhawks while the Cardinals stack up against the Eagles in the windup.

FAMILY SERVICE REVIEWS WORK OF NOVEMBER

Reports At Meeting That 40 Families Received Services;
Referrals From Many Sources

The regular meeting of the Board of Trustees of Family Service was held at the agency offices on Tuesday evening. Miss Abelson, Executive Secretary, reported that 40 families received services during the month of November. The problems included marital counseling, parent-child relationships, behavior difficulties of children and school problems, etc. It was gratifying to learn that referrals came from a number of different sources in the community such as schools, churches, physicians, Health Department and other social agencies. A total of 106 interviews were held by the professional staff.

The Board was informed that Thanksgiving baskets were given by Girl Scout Troops No. 9, 25, 14; Brownie Troop No. 18, Boy Scout Troop No. 375 and the kindergarten class of School No. 8. Mrs. Albert Sage was appointed Chairman of a committee to study mental health needs of the children of Belleville. This committee will be part of a larger group sponsored by the Essex County Mental Health Committee.

The Annual Meeting of the Board of Trustees will be held in January. Plans for an open meeting at a later date are being formulated. Mr. Norbert Bertl was appointed Chairman.

On motion of Charles Youm $48,466.02 in unexpended funds from the $300,000 bond issue of two years ago, was transferred to the repairs and replacement account.

Edward Moro was given permission to work with Ruel E. Daniels in obtaining fill for the playground at No. 2 School in Mill Street, preliminary to the grading and resurfacing of the school grounds.

Mr. Moro reported that a child had been hurt on the playgrounds. He also offered to get contractors working in the neighborhood to furnish the fill free.

Superintendent of Schools Evan H. Thomas reported that a survey of anticipated enrollment, as of September 1953, indicates that extra class rooms will have to be provided at Schools 8, 3, 5, and 7.

"In each case it looks like we will have to go into the basement. At School 3 we will have to convert the old coal bin. What we will do in 1954, I don't know," he declared.

Mr. Thomas estimated an increase of 165 pupils, with each 25 children representing another teacher and another classroom needed.

Teachers Plan Publication Of Education Information

First Issue of Professional Periodical To Appear on December 22; Will Cover Teachers' Workshop Problems and Academic Projects

The staff of "Shop Talk" a professional publication for Belleville teachers, met recently in the office of the General Supervisor, Dr. Frank M. Durkee, to discuss plans for the first issue. The staff agreed that "Shop Talk" should present up-to-date information from each of the twelve teachers' workshops now studying such problems as remedial reading, guidance, the operation of the new report cards, audio-visual aids, use of community resources in teaching, the music curriculum, the art program in grades 1-4, assemblies, extra-curricular activities, kindergarten problems, and the planning of faculty meetings.

Take Part in Xmas Luncheon Events At Hotel Suburban

Four local young women will attend a Christmas luncheon today in the Crystal Room of the Hotel Suburban, East Orange, sponsored by the Junior League of the Berkeley School of Secretarial Training in East Orange. They are: the Misses Madeline Kuhn, of 18 Otten Road; Claire A. Nes of 20 Elena Place; Wilma A. Cuntwell of 114 Adelaide Street; and Mary Ann V. Wysocki of 386 Stephens Street.

Highlight of the affair will be the appearance of Santa Claus to the delight of the 20 nursery-aged children whom the Berkeley students will have as guests. Gifts will be distributed by St. Nick, and the students will perform.

Pupils Take Guided Tour Of Railroad; Visit Museum

The fourth, fifth and sixth grades of School No. 1 went on a field trip recently under the sponsorship of the Lackawanna Railroad. The trip included a guided tour of the yards as well as the new luxury train, the "Phoebe Snow." Later the group visited the Newark Museum for a guided tour of recent exhibits.

Under the leadership of Augusta M. Kuhn, the seventh graders of the school presented a program for the upper grade assembly in celebration of Thanksgiving Day. The program featured songs, recitations and a play, "Father Talks Turkey."

Taking part in the play were Joseph Lento, Doris Anne Estelle, Robert Brenner, Veronica Sudziarski, Aylene Bolog, Roy Burden, Carol Kinsey, Ralph Stetler, Bertman Revell, David Brown, Ronald Mellillo, John DeLaurentis, and Marlene Delaney.

Student Editors Attend Press Parley At Rutgers University

Two Belleville students, editors of their respective college newspapers, attended the newly-organized New Jersey Collegiate Press Association meeting held at Rutgers University recently. They are James Campbell of 33 Dawson Street, representing Belleville, and Jack Cronin of 49 Crescent Avenue, a delegate from St. Peter's College.

They were among a group of delegates from 13 New Jersey colleges whose objective is the furnishing of inter-collegiate relations and promotion of higher standards of journalism.

RCA Victor! Did UCA Victor? If you were watching channel 13 at 9:30 Thursday night, you did. As you all must be aware by now, the school has been blessed with a new television set, one of our favorite columnists. The problem at present is where it will be placed.

On last Thursday night with Evelyn Hannon, the victor, were Neite, Garland, Donald Clark, Marilyn Everett, and Fred Kraft. The favorite of the evening was "I'm Dancing with Tears in My Eyes."

In spite of what other journalists winds may whisper, we are of the opinion that we have one of the finest basketball teams in the county. They are graced with the finesse which all Belleville High basketball teams have. And, of course, we all know that they are going to retire the County Cup, no matter what anyone says.

Merry Christmas to you too, freshmen, from the sophomores, and seniors. The freshmen have done their best with the annual Christmas Dance. Although it wasn't overly crowded, the dance was a success and all who attended enjoyed themselves.

Thirty-five dollars for an assembly is a gyp after seeing Belleville High's Talent Show. Why tempt the fate? Our two MC's, "Nails" Maguire and Shep Zuckerman, opened the show with a bang. The individual act followed and we can truly say they didn't let us down. It was terrific, kids!

Mr. Kittle ended up the show with a few good words for our basketball team. We agree with Mr. Kittle, it's tops in our books, too.

Guides Open Vistas On Bird And Reptile Life; Habitats, Protective Devices Studied

Grades 3, 4 and 5 of School No. 2 visited the Newark Museum recently under the direction of their teachers, Miss Dorothy Ferrara, Miss Mary Tasselli, and Miss Maude Miller. The children were divided into three groups for more expeditious viewing.

The first group visited the science center of the Junior Museum, examining turtles, snakes, baby alligators, and other animals. They handled several turtles and watched a black constrictor snake wind itself around the arm of the guide.

This group was composed of: Diane Benziano, Barbara and Margaret Giordano, Frances Gonello, Carolyn Kapinus, Mary Mahoney, Lucille Pica, Violet Pica, Anita Ramo, Grace Rapp, Roseann Valse, Paul Adams, John Gappo, David De Fabbio, and Thomas Kross.

In this section were: Thomas Browne, John Grande, Raymond Anderson, Malachuk, Isadora Magnotti, Beth Mahoney, John DeFabbio, Freddy Valse, Carol Groves, Alex Iacullo, Jo Ann Zenna, Michael Gappo, Anthony Moro, Anna Pours, Victor Dava, Tony AlRimo, Christine Brown, Tommy Gurdziel and Joan Veneziano.

The groups were later rotated, acquainting all with the various exhibits, after which a general tour of the museum took place.

Another year of flowers has flown;
Goldenrod and asters brown;
Clipped meadows, all their colors lost,
Play pale hostess to the frost.

Yet in many a withered field
The fringed gentian is revealed:
A deep dark blue, Nature's last flower, Vouchsafed in this eleventh hour.

Strange this slow seed resists warm loam
When other flowers rush to bloom!
But surely part of Nature's knack Lies in her holding something back.

We Believe In Dr. Clee
Eleven months from now, in November, 1953, New Jersey must elect a governor.
As political strategy goes and as serious study requires, eleven months is barely enough. It behooves Governor Driscoll to make clear, as soon as possible, whether or not he will be a candidate for reelection.
The Assembly, in Trenton, on the occasion of his annual message to the legislators, on January 13, would provide an ideal sounding-board. He undoubtedly knows by now his own intentions; he should state his position unequivocally no later than mid-January.

If Governor Driscoll decides to run again it would surprise us, but it is a possibility.
There are state problems which concern him greatly. One is the clearance in court of the state's backing of $286,000,000 of credits for the Turnpike authority. Another is the assignment to the various state universities and colleges of the $28,000,000 of building credits approved by the voters last November 4. Then there are corrections to be made to the new state statutes. Plenty, therefore, to keep him busy in office for the next few years.

If he does not choose to run, there are plenty of others who will. Despite the low prestige of Bergen County, politically, there are Paul Troast and State Treasurer Walter Margaretts. There always is Senator Malcolm Forbes, with all of his three months of legislative experience behind him. There is Charles H. Erdman, Jr., Commissioner of the N.J. State Department of Conservation and Economic Development, three times Mayor of Princeton who wrote to The Times-News yesterday to announce that he is available if the voters want him.

The Times-News has a preference for the Driscoll succession. It is Essex County's own Dr. Lester Harrison Clee, whose accomplishments in the field of morals, of labor relations, of legislative government and of church action are many and excellent. The Times-News calls upon Dr. Clee to announce, the soonest he can after Governor Driscoll states his decision, that he is a candidate for the nomination to the Governorship.

Dr. Clee was a successful church man, endowed with a rich record of accomplishments, when, in 1934, he joined a small group of influential men who set out to destroy the wicked political machine of Jesse Salmon. Judge Arthur T. Vanderbilt was another actor, at Dr. Clee's side, in that melodrama on the stage of Essex County politics. That they won their point in electing their own slate of 12 Assemblymen over the Salmon ticket is a matter of history of which today's Clean Government is proud.

After that introduction to practical politics, Dr. Clee went on to the Assembly and as a freshman legislator, for the first time in the State's history, he was elected Speaker of the House. The next year he was elected to the State Senate.

In 1937, he was his party's candidate for Governor, after having won the Primary nomination from Major General Clifford Powell, whose million-dollar profits in the sale of the Palmyra bridge is now the subject of court action. In that 1937 election, Dr. Clee carried 19 of the 21 counties in the state. He carried an 80,000 plurality into Hudson County, but lost there by 120,000 votes. It is a matter of record that it took all night to count the Hudson County votes and it was only at 8 a.m. the next day that the election judges announce their figures. By the time a court action had begun, the ballots had been burned. Harry Moore was elected to Trenton on that maneuver.

Governor Hoffman proceeded to create a sales tax, the state's first. Dr. Clee fought it in the Senate. The tax was adopted but Dr. Clee refused to give up. Four months later he won the repeal of the unpopular sales tax. Yesterday in the offices of The Times-News, Dr. Clee reiterated his opposition to a sales tax, to a state income tax or to any other widening of the present tax base. He speaks the language we all want to hear. He is a no-no-tax man. He is our preferred choice for the Republican nomination for Governor and The Times-News invites Clean Government to get behind Dr.

Clee and make of him Clean Government's choice—all in the interests of a continuation of honor and integrity, economy and good government in the Governor's office.

Petulance and Frustration
What a sorry object lesson it is when the job is too big for the man.

As a farewell to the White House, President Truman is apparently trying to prove that all the things his enemies have said about him are true. If that is his goal, the President in the past week has made big strides toward its achievement.

As that very able Washington news analyst, Marquis Childs, who writes for the United Features Syndicate of my old United Press, summarized in a very interesting article this week, the Truman story is a fascinating study of power and what it does to those who exercise it. There was a time just eight years ago, on the eve of his hasty elevation from the Vice Presidency, and how far it now seems, when Harry Truman, the plain man from Independence, used to say that at least a million other Americans were better equipped to be President than he.

He gave every sign of believing just that.
His humility was a real part of the unassuming citizen on whose shoulders had fallen the awful burden of the Presidency in a time of world upheaval.

Truman's present bitterness is a consequence of the Eisenhower victory. During a brief pause in his furious whistle-stopping toward the end of the campaign, the President and Mrs. Truman dined with old friends in the White House. Like a small boy just before Christmas, Truman was supremely confident of what was to be bestowed upon the Democratic party once again. "Why, the crowds are bigger than ever," he said.
"And they go for it more than they did four years ago. Every place I've been they want me to come back."

Any suggestion that caution might be in order the President brushed aside. This was it. He was going to do it again. Nothing could prevent the vindication of the Truman policies.

In hindsight, the wrongness of the President's approach to the campaign is glaringly apparent. There was a clear choice at that first meeting between Truman and Governor Adlai Stevenson before the campaigning had actually begun. The President could have said that in view of the gravity of the world situation he would not himself go campaigning.

It is now clear that this would have been from Stevenson's viewpoint a distinctly more desirable choice. The Democratic nominee would then have been free to carve out his own course without the continual distraction of the Truman performance. He would have been more nearly able to stand free from the dead weight of the immediate past.

Truman's bitterness after November 4 startled his more objective friends. They had never seen him in such a mood. He was ready to blame every one and any one for the outcome. There were those who feared that in his private session with President-elect Eisenhower the President would let loose the kind of blast he had been delivering in private to most visitors. Like, who had his own strong feelings about certain aspects of the Democratic campaign, would never have sat through such a lecture, and the attempt to present an appearance of unity to the world would have failed at the outset.

In his nearly eight years in the White House, Truman has made decisions of paramount importance to the security of the free world and he has made them with courage and honesty. Aid to Greece and Turkey, the Marshall Plan, the NATO system, Korea — one has only to name them to realize their tremendous significance for history.

One Man's Opinion
Diplomacy Is In The Blood of Our New Secretary
Of State Who Since 1907 Has Been Eye- Witness of War and Peace in the Making
BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

What manner of man is this John Foster Dulles who, on January 20, will take over the desk of Dean Acheson as Secretary of State? Is he half the genius that he is supposed to be? Was his peace treaty for Japan the model of perfection that it was supposed to be, or is nationalism rampant again in Japan within the framework of the treaty he wrote and we imposed?

Of one thing we are sure—he is as different as day from night from his immediate predecessor, Acheson, or from that long line of Secretaries of State since the last Republican, Henry L. Simpson, twenty long years ago—Cordell Hull, E.
R. Stettinius, James F. Byrnes, General George C. Marshall and Sumner Welles. Unlike them, he was born and raised to become a Secretary of State.

Dulles comes to the job with perhaps more experience and capacity for diplomacy than any man who ever has held the post and that goes for John Jay, Thomas Jefferson, James Monroe, Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, John Calhoun, Lewis Cass, William Seward, Elihu Root, Charles Evans Hughes and Robert Lansing, among the procession of great heads of our foreign relations.

Family Background
His family background, his training, his professional work, and his actual experience in diplomacy all seem to have been preparing him for this new, exacting, but responsible assignment. It is no exaggeration to say that for nearly half a century, Mr. Dulles has been preparing for this position.

There have been two Secretaries of State in his family, both of whom knew him and helped him on the path toward his present post he held. John Watson Foster, Secretary of State in President Harrison's cabinet was his grandfather; Robert Lansing, Secretary of State under President Wilson, was his uncle.

Guided by Grandfather Mr. Foster, his grandfather, was particularly helpful to the young Mr. Dulles in directing his path toward international affairs and his actual experience in diplomacy. He spent much time in Washington, soaking up the flavor of the capital and its actual experience in diplomacy and its actual experience in diplomacy. He spent much time in Washington,
soaking up the flavor of the capital and its actual experience in diplomacy and its actual experience in diplomacy.

Mr. Lansing, his uncle, also helped the Princeton graduate and young Washington law student on his diplomatic career. His first direct association with the Department of State dates back to 1917, when, with his uncle's approval he took a job as special agent for the department in General America. It was also his approval and support of his uncle that Mr. Dulles went to the Paris Peace Conference in 1919 as counsel to the American delegation.

It was there that our path first crossed. As a foreign correspondent, I had been assigned to Europe, covering The Versailles Peace Conference, I knew Mr. Dulles as a member of President Woodrow Wilson's delegation.

Succeeded in Law Firm
Mr. Dulles, however, had trained and studied for the law, and shortly after graduating from Princeton, with the backing of his grandfather, he joined the well-known international law firm of Sullivan & Cromwell. Mr. Dulles, who is thorough and industrious, not only made a fortune in his candidate for the presidency in 1944 chose to head down to Washington to arrange a campaign tour over the issue of the United Nations.

After talks with the then Secretary of State Cordell Hull it was agreed that the anti-Communist issue in the campaign became an issue in the campaign.
Mr. Dulles, himself a post-World War I supporter of the League of Nations, was persuaded that a new effort must be made to set up an international organization, and his views had a lot to do with influencing the GOP candidate on that issue.

In the same campaign it was said that Mr. Dulles, who is credited with keeping his political cap-leagues from making election campaigns out of the fact that the United States had broken the Japanese code before Pearl Harbor and still had not been able to prevent that debacle. After leaving from the then Chief of Staff Gen. Marshall that the Japanese still were using the code, Mr. Dulles won Mr. Dewey over to silence on the issue.

Linked With Vandenberg
From that time on Mr. Dulles became more and more involved in diplomatic work. At San Francisco as a member of the United States delegation, he joined a coalition in creating and moulding the UN in America's views. It was also at San Francisco that Mr. Dulles began that close and growing friendship with Republican Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan. The two of them eventually became the symbols of biparti-sanism in foreign policy and Republican cooperation in international affairs.

It was when I spent the 13 weeks of the charter conference in San Francisco, two years before taking over this paper, that Mr. Dulles and my paths crossed for the third time. He was an excellent source of news during that conference which I reported for United Press.

Since World War II Mr. Dulles has been as much, in as out, of the State Department—serving on various United States delegations to the UN, participating in numerous councils of foreign ministers as an American representative, and more lately acting as chief United States negotiator for a Japanese Peace Treaty.

Diplomatic Skill
It was in this last field that Mr. Dulles has perhaps most shown his strength, his imagination, and diplomatic skill.

The San Francisco Treaty Conference was a success, a triumph due to his abilities as negotiator, diplomat, and statesman.
In facing his new task, Mr.
Dulles possesses two assets which were not at the disposal of any of his long line of predecessors.
The first of these is that he neither looks like an Englishman nor has a reputation of being one. British, French, German, Italian, Russian, all look like what he is, an upstate New Yorker, indifferent to satirical perfection. In terms of nationality, he has at times been called pro-German, pro-French and pro-Japanese. But no one ever called him pro-British. Further, it is a fact that London regarded his elevation to Secretary of State with a mixture of greeting and a profound lack of enthusiasm.

It may take the British some time to realize it but this is an advantage to them as well as to Mr. Dulles. Mr. Dulles, in fact, is not anti-British. And the lack of the slightest hint of Row overtones in his style of dress and reputation makes it possible for him to deal more favorably with London, if it suits his purposes, than would have been possible for Mr. Acheson.

Attitude Toward Russia
Mr. Dulles's second great asset is that in 1946 he was the first person prominent in American public life to call for a "stiff attitude toward Russia." Mr.
Dulles and Senator Vandenberg both made strong public speakings in that direction before Winston Churchill made the famous speech at Fulton, Mo., which marked the official turn in American policy from wartime partnership to acceptance of the fact of existence of a power struggle with Russia.

Mr. Acheson was not so fortunate. At the time of the turn in American policy, the Secretary of State to James F. Byrnes, Mr.
Byrnes made his own turn only after Fulton, and therefore the effects of his department were not free, had they wished, to join in the Dulles-Vandenberg movement. They had, therefore, to wait on the decision of their chief, who withheld his own turn until after President Truman had personally invited Mr. Churchill to Fulton and had publicly associated himself with the Fulton speech. Then, too, there has been Acheson's announced refusal to turn his back on Alger Hiss.

Thus Mr. Dulles ranks in history as one of the originators of what was known at the time as the "stiff attitude toward Russia." Thus in turn he is protected by the past from the charge of appeasement. And thus finally he possesses room for maneuver with Russia which was denied to Mr. Acheson. Mr.
Acheson has been so frequently accused of inclination toward softness to Russia that in the end he had no room left for maneuver. The only policy he could nurse was one of belligerency.
Mr. Acheson was bowed by the past from ever presiding over an attempt to negotiate with any Communist area country.

Mr. Dulles, if he chose, could negotiate with anyone, even with the Communists, without being open to the immediate suspicion of appeasement.

What's New in New Jersey

We have just discovered that this jolly old executive—even though he wasn't formally invited to New Jersey—has located dozens and dozens of his assembly plants in the territory we serve.

Don't misunderstand—we're delighted to have this gay and glamorous group of Yuletide artisans here at the Crossroads of the East. They're busier than bunnies, these sub-contractors for the Christmas specialist of the frozen North. They're turning out all the favorite presents of the season—costume jewelry, electric trains, candies and confectionaries, linens and laces, all sorts of toys, leather luggage and glittering garlands of Christmas lights.

These Christmastime specialists operate here at the Crossroads of the East because New Jersey offers so much to all types of industry, large or small. Whether you manufacture a trinket or a turlettank, a bauble or a bulldozer, you should investigate the reasons why industry succeeds in New Jersey.

The Meeting Place

Edgar Jean Bracco

Almost two thousand years ago, in a land and time far removed from this one, there could have been another world, a map was born. In all the centuries that have changed into history since, the controversy regarding him has never been settled. Was he man, or was he God?

Some historians claim to have proven him a man, with a man's fears, pains, and humanity. "He died," they say. "Gods do not die." Others claim he was part man, part God. That he came on earth to fuse the little molecules into an entity of nobility. He died, these men claim, that the generations to follow could live, and having learned from him, could live with him. What he is not important. Each man believes of him as he chooses. The important fact is that such a life lived, and that in all the years that have gone by, he still lives, and his passing has left a mark on the face of history and on the hearts of men. He said many things, and taught those around him certain codes, in a theory, are still alive today. But what of the practice of these theories? At Christmas time a new spirit comes upon the people. They jostle each other and instead of knowing, they exchange smiling greetings. They toss money, and give buckets asperimented by tired, stereotyped Santa Clauses. They smile at each other, and let bygones be where bygones should. They stand in their many churches and feel the presence of a kindness they know rarely. They listen to voices singing and their hearts swell with goodness and happiness. Some of them shed tears of which they are not ashamed.

The theories preached by this Being almost twenty centuries ago are practical at Christmas. But Christmas passes, and the world and its people return to the ways of normality. Along with the times and wrapping paper, man put away the kindness for another year.

One pauses occasionally to think about this, and in the path of ideas, is flooded by reasons for such behavior. But then, upon further reflection, one is forced to the conclusion that the acts of men are the major inexplicable of our time. And one, if he thinks upon such things, judgment upon his fellows, for he knows that, not being perfect himself, he has little right to more than extend on the faults of those around him.

At first glance, there seem to be several reasons for the transitory nature of kindness. One is probably that this world of ours is for the most part, a world of rocks and brambles, of obstacles and pain and disappointment. It is a world of struggle and men, being forced to struggle, often lack the time and inclination that compels them to kindness. This is a time of uncertainty, and in such times men are involved in themselves. They have been forced to become egotists. The problems of the man next door do not concern anyone except the man next door. The speed and rush and dog-eat-dog-ness of our era has made of us a race of spiritualists, which is not a compliment. Another reason, which hinges on the first—is that in an era in which the emphasis is placed on destruction, men are not easily touched by the pain of others. They find themselves amidst the wreckage of a future. Does any future exist, they ask. With atomic bombs made obsolete by hydrogen bombs—while they ask, not only for themselves, but for the entire race?

These thoughts are alien to the happy spirit of Christmas. Gloom has no place in the scheme of the holidays. But from this gloom, a glimmer can come. Perhaps the very uncertainty of our time will serve to draw us together, to bind us as neighbors rather than simply as people who live next door to each other.

An old Chinese proverb once said: "I'm paraphrasing, for I don't recall the exact wording: 'Live each day as if it were your last.' How much wisdom those ancient Orientals possessed! We were to begin the practice of this wisdom, perhaps the spirit of Christmas would prevail throughout the year. Perhaps we would come to regard each other as human beings with all the dreams and pains and shortcomings that we ourselves are heir to. We would live in a way that the phrase "live each day as if it were your last" would be others as you would have others do unto you" would become part of our way of life instead of an antiquated and quaintly out-of-style axiom.

Perhaps then we would live in ways suggested to us almost two thousand years ago by the greatest philosopher in history. And if the mighty achievements of science, the cultural advancements such as the atomic and hydrogen bombs, do not destroy the race, we will have learned to live by kindness, and whatever years are ahead, for both ourselves as individuals and for the race as a whole, will be good years.

Goodness is like an orchard—its value increases as it spreads. And like an orchard, it will return much for little. One seed of goodness will give back a bountiful harvest. It remains for us to sow that seed.

Error in Residence in Last Week's Albert Brown Story

In last week's issue of the Times-News, an in-depth story was made in the story of Albert Brown, found dead on his premises. This man had been a boarder in the home of Mrs. R. Trommel of 563 Washington Avenue. He occupied the first floor apartment. His address, whereas Mrs. Trommel resides on another floor. We are sorry about the error.

COMPLETE PLANS FOR SYNAGOGUE BUILDING DRIVE

Congregation A.A.A. Building Committee Slates Dinner For March; Architect Plans Soon

The Building Committee of Belleville's Congregation A.A.A. has today announced completion of preliminary plans for its drive toward erection of a new building for the Synagogue. At a meeting held last Thursday, a number of sub-committees were appointed to handle various phases of the drive.

The Building Committee stated that sketches will be available from the architect in a few days. Plans were announced for "D. Day" or Dream Day, on March 22, 1953, at which time a Dinner-Dance will be held at the Essex House in Newark.

Numerous visits have been made to neighboring towns to examine new buildings erected by their congregations for the purpose of learning the best features of other buildings to incorporate in the building of the new.

Kidde Co. Declares Christmas Bonus For All Its Employees

A pre-Christmas bonus ranging from $50 to a maximum of one and one-half week's salary will be paid by Walter Kidde & Company, Inc., to all employees with more than nine months' service, according to John F. Kidde, company president. Employees with less than nine months' service will receive a bonus proportionate with their length of service.

"This is one of the pleasures I have to perform during the management year," Mr. Kidde declared. "It is one way of showing our appreciation for the loyal support of our personnel. I hope every employee gets as much pleasure from receiving this bonus as it gives the company to present it."

Own Room at Town Stadium Bicycle Club Moves Into

Plan New Years Point Race For Month of January; Schedule Bicycle Tour Guided By Experienced Cyclists on January 10; Goulet Gives Pointers

The Belleville Bicycle Club's activities at the Municipal Stadium finally moved into the room, which the club will share with the rollers, on Saturday, and the enthusiasm of the youthful riders more than made up for the fact that there were fewer boys on hand than the first week of riding on the rollers.

As was the case the first week the real thrills were given by the midday lightweights, where Martin Gaspinski of 15 Wilber Street showed that he had the real sportsman's heart. In the first competition Martin lost a runoff of a tie to Mark Caputo. But Martin came roaring back to sweep his class last week with an average speed for the fifth-mile of nearly 28 miles per hour.

Every boy had an opportunity to take several turns at riding the rollers, and all exceeded their best mark of the previous week. All were given careful guidance by Alf Goulet, including tips on increasing their speed.

Saturday there will be an informal program which will give all the boys an opportunity to get more instruction. Every youth in Belleville, interested in cycling, should take advantage of this excellent opportunity. It isn't necessary for a boy to even own a bike, because the club now has an Olympic racing bike at its disposal.

During the month of January the club will hold a New Year Point race. In the point race the contestants will ride the Little Rollers one-fifth mile on each of four Saturdays. The boys making the best times each week will receive points on a basis of four for first, two for second and one for third. The entries accumulating the greatest number of points for the four Saturdays will be declared the winners. There will be prizes for three places in each of the age-bike classifications. The age groups will be 9-11 years (Midsets), 12-14 years (Juniors) and 15-18 years (Intermediates) with each age group being further divided as to bike type, balloon tire in one and light-weights in the other. Rules require at least three entries in each class to make a contest. Alf Goulet will be on hand to give his valuable guidance. Mr. Goulet is giving generously of his time to further the Belleville Bicycle Club.

If the weather is favorable the club will conduct a bicycle tour on Saturday, January 10, starting from the Stadium at 1:30 o'clock. The tour will be well supervised with experienced road riders working up and down the column, advising and helping the less experienced riders. A truck will bring up in the rear of the tour, in case of emergency. This first tour will be over a modest distance. If weather prevents the tour on the scheduled date, it will be postponed until the same time the following week.

William Murphy, president of the Belleville Bicycle Club, points out to parents that their children should be encouraged to join this group, not so much for the Saturday activities, but for the opportunity for the youngsters to

TEACHER VISITS SCHOOLS OF AREA

Herman Knuppel Examines Various Activity Programs; To Give Report to Committee

Representatives from the twelve teachers' workshops, which involve 177 teachers, and other members of the Workshop Council, met last Friday with Dr. Marcella Lawler from the Columbia University Teachers College Curriculum Service.

Charles F. Schultz, chairman of the Council and the Business Education Department, presided at the meeting and asked each workshop chairman to report on the activity of his group and to state what service his group would like to have from the Columbia Curriculum Service.

Dr. Lawler stressed the fact that each of the ten schools should consider the teachers from the workshops as resource persons for their faculty meetings and utilize them fully for the promotion of better teaching.

Dr. Lawler expressed great satisfaction with the understanding Belleville teachers are giving to their own professional development and educational program.

Dr. Lawler indicated that some of the twenty days of consultant service secured from Columbia University by Superintendent of Schools Evan H. Thomas and the Board of Education could be used in the high school in a study of the activity program guidance functions, and preparation for evaluation in May, 1954 by the Middle Atlantic State Association of Secondary Schools.

She also indicated that the Columbia service could be used in developing techniques of parent-teacher conferences, teacher-pupil planning, and use of community resources in the educational program.

Attending this meeting were Charles F. Schultz, Frank Spates, Mrs. Bernadette Colaneri, Carl F. Hensinger, P. Webster Diehl, Herman Knuppel, Louis Zuckerman, Samuel Fack, Frances Williamson, Maud S. Miller, Carolyn Pohl, Cliff W. Jones, Mrs. Viola Spray, Clifford W. Jones, Mrs. Mildred Clarke, Mrs. Anne Burns, Mrs. Ann Forrester, Mrs. Phyllis Chapman, Kathryn Conklin, Mrs. Louise Franklin, Mrs. Leona Reed, Henry Minasian, Walter Wainwright, Superintendent Thomas, Dr. Frank M. Durkee, and Dr. Lawler.

STUDENT WINS TV SET FOR SCHOOL ON WATV PROGRAM

Evelyn Hannon Also Receives $50 Worth of Records On "Rate The Record" Finals

Evelyn Hannon, senior at Belleville High School and one of the writers of the Times-News School column, participated in the finals of the "Rate the Record" program on WATV, Channel 18, last Thursday, after winning the preliminary round.

Evelyn received a photograph and records for winning in the preliminaries about a month ago, and on Thursday, in the finals she was awarded records valued at $50, and a 21" television set which will be presented to Belleville High School.

The television program is conducted by Paul Brenner, and uses a panel of four high school students from various parts of New Jersey. They listen to new record releases and rate the record numerically according to appeal to the public. The student who rates the record closest to the professional expert's rating is declared the winner.

Evelyn Hannon originally entered the contest at the suggestion of Raymond O. Smith, head of the Social Studies Department of Belleville High School. She was accompanied on the program by four Belleville High students who danced to the new records as the panel made their ratings. The four students were: Bill Dunlavy, Marie De Falco, Warren Kimble and Carol Hurley.

Ceramics Classes Will Start 2nd Week of Jan.

All those who are interested in the new Recreation Department Ceramics Class are urged to contact the Recreation House by phone, letter or in person as soon as possible, so that arrangements can be made in advance. The time and day will be determined by the requests of applicants so as to be convenient to the majority. Mrs. Cecile Gallis, who will be the instructor, will have some very interesting samples of her art on hand at the first session, so that all may see some of the things that they can make as they progress in their studies. It is planned to have materials on hand, so that the class will start right in making articles at the first meeting. Members of this class, under Mrs. Gallis' coaching, should rapidly become capable of making attractive articles which will, in addition to affording a medium of self-expression, make decorative household pieces or superb gifts.
