Teacher Publication Lauded By Education Commissioner

"Shop Talk" Acclaimed Student Instruction and Exchange of Ideas; 2nd
Issue Out Feb. 25

Shop Talk, a mimeographed professional publication of the Belleville Teachers' Workshop, issued in December, is receiving wide acclaim from educators as an outstanding instrument for discussing and exchanging ideas within a school system. Such communication, educators maintain, promotes better and better instruction for boys and girls, for it has the special virtue of being prepared by the teachers themselves and being a report of some of the best work that teachers on the Belleville staff are doing.

Assistant Commissioner of Education for the State of New Jersey, Dr. Thomas J. Durell, in a recent letter to Dr. Frank M. Purkey, General Supervisor, and Superintendent Evan H. Thomas commented: "Thank you for sending me a copy of the December issue of Shop Talk. I read it with great interest and profit. It has cocktail and buffet party Saturday evening. Guests were: Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Cipriano, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Stemple of Scotch Plains, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Fero of Flushing, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. Lefoy Dring and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worsel, both of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. William Miners of Cranford.

Attend Conference of Red Cross Home Service Workers

All members are requested to attend. A social hour will follow the initiation ceremony.

School No. 1 Parents Will Meet to Organize Cub Pack

A meeting of parent of boys between the ages of 8 and 11, attending School No. 1, will be held on Monday night at 8 o'clock, in the school to meet with officials of the Belleville District of Boy Scouts, to organize a Cub Pack. Cubing, the first step in the Boy Scout program, is at the highest point of its history, principally because there are more boys of Cubbing age now than ever before. The program is designed to provide the boy with closer contacts with his home and with his parents.

Red Cross Seeks Performers For Hospital Entertainment

The Belleville Red Cross is presently making plans for the expansion of its entertainment program, so as to include the patients of the new East Orange Veterans Hospital, as well as the Essex County Isolation Hospital. This means there is an increased need for volunteer performers. Persons who have talent or have knowledge of talented entertainers who might be interested in serving the community, are urged to contact Lawrence Keenan, chairman of the Entertainment Committee, at 394 Washington Avenue, so as to insure the recruitment of a large staff.

To Talk On Menus
The American Home Department of the Belleville Women's Club will have Guest Day on Monday, Mrs. Floyd M. Haring, chairman of the department, will present for her guest Miss Bernice Garrigus of the Public Service, whose topic will be "Menus in Party Dress." A film will be shown and door prizes will be awarded.

A BROKER'S ADVICE

A young man who just had a raise in salary went to a well-known broker and asked what he should buy first.

The broker, after a few preliminary questions, is reported to have said, "Your first security should be SECURITY. As the best buy for your first $1,000, I would recommend a savings account in a bank that is a member of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation."

This is an actual case, and good investment advice.

Hillside Tough; Four Belboy Five Nutley is Easy

Defeat Comets 51 to 47 With Efforts From Foul Line: Nutley's Man-for-Man Presents No Problem; JV's Win

Tough on Belboys
We learned this that Tom Mack, who bid fair to be the play maker for this year's basketball team, has for all intents and purposes been lost to the club for the season. Tom was taken ill with a virus infection after Belleville's second game and while the team struggled along without him, and without a playmaker, Tom's trouble turned into a glandular infection which put him in the hospital. Tom came out this week, but it will be at least three weeks before he will be able to play again, and in that time the rest of the team will be so far ahead of him in development that instead of being a keyman in the starting five he will have to be one on a replacement, during the later part of the season and the tournament.

Because the team had no one to drive in from the backfield spot, the opposition has been able to bottle up Paul Weinstein so effectively that the team has lost its most prolific scorer. When the game is played properly, Weinstein will get his points and so will the playmaker.

The Belboys are approaching that part of its schedule when it can get some real preparation for the rough road ahead. Coach Wische, who likes a winner as well as the next one, and as well as any Belleville fan, is not disappointed with the showing of his boys. A team can hurdle just so many obstacles in the season, and if it had to come to it, it is much better that Tom is lost at this stage than when the season is so far advanced that there is no time to work on a replacement.

So far the season is going just about as Coach Wische expected it to go. He knew that he had one real veteran in Weinstein and that the rest of the letterman, actually saw little service last year. He knows that the team would start slowly and would develop. Right now the development stage has set in, and come February 1, Belleville will hold its own with any team in the county.

On Rollins Court Squad
Don Weber of Belleville, now a junior at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida, is a candidate for the varsity basketball team. Don, who stroked the crew to second place in the Dad Vail Regatta last year, is six feet, four inches tall and weighs 210 pounds. Don has a difficult task ahead since the squad includes five lettermen, one of whom is also a four.

Rare Fish
Karl Hiltnerhaus of 219 Holmes Street, recently picked up a plaque and a $25 Defense Bond, passed out by Governor Driscoll, for his entry in the state fishing contest sponsored by the Department of Economic Development and the Elizabeth Journal. Mr. Hiltnerhaus had a party of customers out on Captain Jackson's "North Wind" out of Brielle on July 12, fishing for blues, when he hooked a 68 pound white marlin, usually found in tropic waters only. It was the only white marlin caught off the Jersey shore this summer, and its taking with light tackle was a big event in Mr. Hiltnerhaus' life.

New Court Team
The DeBacco Brothers Belleville Sports Club, which will field a top-notch basketball team, will meet college freshmen, junior varsity and club teams in the Metropolitan Area, held a meeting at the Municipal Stadium, Saturday. The team will be coached by Bill Murphy with Gene Westlake as captain. It is composed entirely of Belleville boys, most of whom were stars for Belleville High and who have played in the various Recreation leagues for many years.

Harry Rowbotham

Funeral services for Harry Rowbotham of 21 Belleville Avenue were conducted yesterday at the Porter Funeral Home, 348 Franklin Street, Bloomfield, with Rev. Oliver W. Chapin of the Presbyterian Church officiating. Interment was in Glendale Cemetery.

Mr. Rowbotham died Sunday at the Lutheran Memorial Hospital, Newark, after a short illness. He was born in Belleville 42 years ago, and was a resident of his life, except for a short time in Bloomfield.

Belleville High's court combine won two games in the last week, but not exactly because they overpowered strong foes. On Friday they polished off Hillside 51 to 47 and on Tuesday night trounced Nutley 74 to 50. The Belleville Jayvees won their games against the same opponents 62 to 51 and 80 to 46.

Hillside managed to jam things up around the foul circle and with no one in the back court able to give and go, Hillside made a game of it all day.

In fact it was Belleville's better performance from the foul line which eventually spelled victory, for from the field Hillside had 18 goals to 16 for Belleville. The Belleville 19 to 11 margin from the foul line more than made up for this deficit.

At the end of the first quarter the count was 12 to 12 and Belleville's second quarter was a second stanza to lead 26 to 21 at the half. Hillside did its best in the third and closed the 16 point sprint by Belleville that stanza staved off the threat.

Caruso with 16 points followed by Galters with 11, seven of them from the foul line, led the Belleville scorers. Because of the traffic jam under the basket the Belleville team had 15 goals. With five completed the Belleville scoring. Adams had 15 and Davidson 12 for Hillside.

Nutley was outclassed from the start. The Belleville team was away repeatedly from Nutley's man-for-man coverage. Caruso was high again with 16, Weinstein came through with 12, and 10 Gross with 8, Galters with 6, Kittle and McGuire 6 each, Galters with 4, and Davidson 3 scored for Belleville. Lurie had 17 and Palmsano 12 for Nutley. Other scorers were Brugler, Barthemy, Ford, Cirino and Kingston.

Belleville was one point off an even 18 points for each period, while Nutley did almost half its scoring in the third stanza, when it got 21 points with the sub victory offering the opposition.

Coach Ray Smith was able to clear the bench of his Jayvees in both contests. Dick Veith, a sophomore, came up with two games with a 20 point performance. Subversary players, Burman, George, Effinger, and Grasso all scored profusely in the two games. Smith was able to use Gross, Donofrio, Effinger, Galters, Burman, Calahan, Veith, Taylor, Leyble, Schroeder, Ceramik, Caszar, Bartel, Berger, Galters, Calahan, and Zalewski in the fray.

The Belboys had a game with Clifton last night, too late for us to get the results. Tuesday is an open date. While the team will not have games until next Friday, it will have several practice scrimmages during the period.

To meet our fund goals in 1950, 1951, and 1952, and we have missed our blood donor quotas several times in the past year:

In view of this situation, it is gratifying to know that the Belleville Chapter volunteer group, under the capable direction of Miss Dorothy Nell Darby, Executive Director, has been able to maintain the established programs in first aid, swimming, welfare aides, staff aides, Gray Ladies, motor service, disaster relief, canteen, nurses' aides, and other contingent services in cooperation with other agencies in the area.

Some of our services can be readily obtained and through their personal contacts, have become generally known in Belleville. The "To Archibald Boland" Lady program at Jackson Hospital, the Junior Red Cross activities in our schools, and work being done at the new A. Hospital in East Orange fall in this category. However, we should not forget those volunteer workers who staff the Blood Bank, serve on the Canteen, work on Production and Supply, and on Entertainment and Instruction and on Home Service. These same workers are "behind the scenes" and are not getting the credit they deserve. Just the same, a remarkable job, just the same.

In looking ahead in 1952 we are optimistic in spite of the problems ahead. Our biggest job will be the successful attainment of our fund goal of $27,062. Only by obtaining the full amount of our fund goal can we insure a full program of Red Cross service and assistance.

Our second biggest problem will be an expanded blood recruitment program to meet the increasing needs of the Belleville community. Our military quotas in blood for service, and the new goal of 1,000,000 additional pints of blood to be obtained throughout the nation to help fight polio.

Gamma globulin, a blood derivative, has been found very helpful in reducing the number of cases of paralysis from polio. The Office of Defense Mobilization has requested the Red Cross to serve as the blood collecting agency on a national scale to provide this "G.G." Naturally, we in Belleville will be asked to provide our share in this national health program.

All this will mean a bit more sacrifice on the part of the citizens of Belleville—a larger fund effort—more frequent blood donation, but at the end of 1952, those who have done their part can look back and say "A job well done!" Make a New Year's resolution. Drive that you are going to do your bit.

Postponed Bicycle Tour Will Be Run Tomorrow

In its regular meeting last Saturday, at the Municipal Stadium, the Belleville Bicycle Club had an enjoyable series of impromptu races. A group of about twenty riders showed up in spite of bad weather.

The boys exhibited a fine display of sportsmanship last Saturday. The day was set up as a point-to-point event in the month-long New Year Point-to-Point. The understanding was that, should weather prevent the tour, there would be inside races. Instead, and the tour would be postponed for one week. Because of the sudden weather last week, there were several of the boys entered in the tournament who had a different idea. They and therefore were unable to attend. The boys who were present, however, were able to proceed unanimously to postpone the entire tournament so that those who had been unable to attend would have a chance to earn points. It was more remarkable to note that those voting in favor of postponement were Frank Dand, Martin Gassner, Edward Hoagland, and Robert Woodman, all of whom were first place winners in last week's races and who were practically assured of winning again in the tournament. These lads brought to life "The Promotion of Sportsmanship" which the Belleville Bicycle Club has dedicated itself.

In last Saturday's impromptu races the boys clocked some of the best times yet produced. Ed Jett, Charlie Logan and Bob Cook were on hand to help the boys with coaching.

The bicycle tour, scheduled for last Saturday, will be run off tomorrow, weather permitting. The tour will leave the Municipal Stadium at 1:30 P.M. tomorrow, Saturday January 17th. If the weather is bad, there will be indoor races on the rollers and the tour will be postponed for one week.

AIRCRAFT SUPPLY LEADS SENIOR LOOP

Roy's Sport Shop and Bruins Unbeaten in Intermediate; School Four Has Clean Slate

In the Recreation Senior League only the Aircraft Supply remains undefeated. Howie game of the Bengals and Budd's All Stars each have dropped only one game. The final stages of this tournament should be one of the best yet seen in the League. Champions will not have won their way to the top by an easy route.

In the Intermediate League, the battle seems to have resolved itself into a war between the Bruins and Roy's Sport Shop, both undefeated. There will be some spirited play should the play between these teams.

Undefeated School No. 4 followed closely by Schools One, Two and Three, and the upper hand in the Recreation Department Elementary League. Team Standings: Pick up 6 p.m.

Tables Turned As Fewsmith Bowlers Begin New Year

After a two weeks lay-off from the holidays the bowlers of Fewsmith Men's Club got back into the swing of things last night. The New Year looks like it will bring many changes for it was the turn of the bowlers to turn the standings to turn on their tormentors. Taylor, Jr., also set a new individual high score of 212, 224 and 200 to lead his team to a sweep over the Mufsons.

The Softball and Cubs swept their series with the Mufsons and the Mufsons swept the Hilltoppers and Busters took the lead in their respective divisions.

SPEECH AIDS AT MONTCLAIR FOR LOCAL CHILDREN

Teachers College Students Work With Children Having Speech Defects Bi-Weekly

Nineteen boys and girls of Belleville's schools and various grade levels are making weekly trips to the Montclair State Teachers College Speech Laboratory for help in overcoming speech defects.

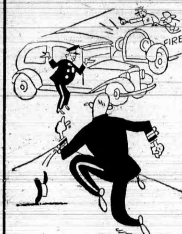

Miss Ellen Kaufman of the speech laboratory, and school students majoring in speech work with the girls and boys from Belleville and other communities. Students from ten years up attend the speech laboratory on Mondays, and those from five to nine, on Wednesdays at 2:30 p.m.

As teachers discover students who need special help with a speech problem they report such cases to their principals. Principals then contact the parents, and if they give their consent, fill in an application form to accompany student on the first trip to the speech laboratory.

PUPILS GIVE TO ERECT PINOCCHIO MONUMENT ABROAD

Thanked For Gift By Mayor Of Pescia, Italy, Elected On Pinocchio Platform There

A letter of appreciation has been received by the pupils of Passaic Avenue School from Dr. Rolando Anzillotti, Mayor of Pescia, Italy, for their donation toward the erection of a monument to Pinocchio, the little fib-telling wooden boy.

It was in Pescia, that a penniless newspaperman, Carlo Lorenzini, seventy years ago first wrote the story of the puppet which children have been enjoying ever since. Christian Democrat Rolando Anzillotti, a college professor with a liking for children ran for Mayor of Pescia against strong Communist opposition. His big campaign promise was that if he were elected, he would see that Pescia would get a big monument to Pinocchio.

After his election, he appealed for contributions from the Italian Government, but received only about fifty dollars. It was then he turned to the children, asking that each give five lire—less than one cent. The responses began pouring in, not only from Italy but from school children as far away as Belleville, New Jersey, to whom Pinocchio was very dear.

After reading the story of the Mayor's drive for funds, the children of Passaic Avenue School decided that they would like to add their contribution to Miss Marie Forgiome, teacher of 4B, wrote a letter in Italian and enclosed the gift. In conjunction with the letter of appreciation Mayor Anzillotti also sent the children an Italian publication on Pinocchio and a musical ballad on the same subject.

SECOND TALENT SHOW STAGED AT BELLEVILLE HIGH

Program Comprised Of Songs, A Skit, Tumbling Act, and Instrumental Renditions

An excellently planned Talent Show was staged at Belleville High School on Friday, under the direction of Otis Brown of the English Department.

Carol Harley sang, "It Had To Be You," as the first number on the program. The Rolling Rockets presented a tumbling act and Harold Hollister, Steve Ward, Robert Grisham and Thomas Nuso were the rockets. Gray Glass gave the next rendition, which was followed by Austin Roberts, Keith McElroy, Carol Crisp and Billy Lane in an entertaining skit.

Lorena Ross sang, "You Can't Make a Lady Out of Me," Shep Zuckerman and Harry Valante played their harmonicas in a duet arrangement of "China Town and Melange." The last number on the program was the Valante Musical Combo composed of Harry Valante, Jerry Marra, Ralph Yanes, and Jack Haft.

Fifth Graders Exchange Letters With English Kids

An exchange of letters is being carried on between fifth grade students of School No. 10 and the boys and girls of a school in the small village of Coraton, England. The correspondence is only in its initial stage, but a genuine desire is being shown for establishing personal friendships with children across the sea. Books, pictures, and films are being explored to get a better idea of their country and ways of living.

A real concern is being felt for children who, living in a land of many scarcities, cannot enjoy many of the commonplace things which we take for granted. To help make their Christmas more merry, two generous boxes of candy have been sent to help overcome their shortage of "sweets."

It's Time For Drastic Economies

The $78,600,000,000 budget, in the red by $9,000,000,000, which Harry Truman presented to Congress last week is a fit memorial to an unhappy era—an era of tax and tax, spend and spend. If it was to be enacted in law, without cutting, it would cost the taxpayers of Essex County $496,272,000 as their share. And on top of that, the Essex County budget, the state of New Jersey's spendings and the town and school costs on the local level are, alas, on the rise.

New Jersey taxpayers presently bear 3.40 per cent of the total Federal tax burden. Since Federal expenditures are met wholly by taxation, New Jersey's share of the Federal Government's spending burden for the Federal fiscal year 1953-54 will be 3.40 per cent of $78.6 billion or $2,671,988,000.

Today's reports from Trenton predict that Governor Driscoll will shortly submit a budget totaling between $220,000,000 and $225,000,000 to run the State government for the year beginning July 1, 1953, and to provide substantial assistance to New Jersey's local governments, including public schools.

A rise in our Federal income taxes is inevitable. A rise in our local tax rate is, also, most certain. The increase in ratables will add about $75,000 to the town's tax income in 1953. The added costs of school operation will absorb $65,000 of that $75,000, leaving only $10,000 to cover the increased costs of municipal and county operation. The Town Commission is striving to hold down its budget, but it faces many intangibles. One of them is the increase in pay for police and firemen which the voters approved last November. Those raises are now in force. They provide a standard for other town employees. The cost of government is on the rise, on a town and county, as well as state and national level.

It's time for drastic economies. R.E.H.

We're In For A Change

When 33,938,285 Americans went to the polls last November—more Americans than ever before elected a President—they voted both for General Dwight D. Eisenhower and for a change. They are going to get both.

In his choices of men for his Cabinet, the President-elect has taken a first great step towards that change. A great military leader without any previous political experience, he has turned to big business for most of his Cabinet, picking men who have had no more political background than himself. Hence, the first change will be in the formation of a non-political Cabinet.

In his choices of policies, the President-elect has opted for moderation. That will be the second great change. Our national policies will be fundamentally conservative. Gone will be the blue eagles, the alphabet soup of liberalism. Halted will be the dangerous slide towards state socialism. By contrast with the past 20 years, the most distinguishing characteristic of the Eisenhower administration will be its conservative moderation.

In setting his financial policies, the President-elect has decided on a cut in federal spending and on a balanced budget. Afterwards, but only afterwards, he intends to reduce taxes, and only so far as is compatible with sound financing. This is the antithesis of the New Deal and the Fair Deal, and twenty years of "tax and tax, spend and spend." Eisenhower comes from a family of very modest income; to him a big national debt is not an inherent asset; it is something to sit up nights and worry about.

In the field of world relations, Eisenhower is far from being an isolationist but if he is an internationalist, he is an American internationalist and not an internationalist American. Although, from experience, he knows better than any other American that our best defense is in our foreign frontiers. While he, above all men, knows the need of strengthening the other free peoples, he is practical enough to know that we cannot burn our candle at both ends. He is for encouraging our friends and allies to do as much as they can for themselves before they call upon us. And no one in Europe can lead Eisenhower down false alleys. There will be a change from the present wasteful spread of American tax income abroad.

By his very personal life, the President-elect will bring a fresh atmosphere and a new moral climate to Washington and to national affairs. It is impossible, perhaps, to change the ways of Congress in a short time. There will be peddling of influence, and there will be partisan patronage under the Republicans as there was under the Democrats, but there will be no tolerance of known corruption and influence-peddling. In other words, there will be no keeping of a General Vaughan in the White House after his corruption has been exposed. The men he has chosen to sit with him in the councils of government are men with whom anyone can feel at home in an atmosphere of decency and high moral values.

It has been a long time since any of our Presidents have come to office riding the crest of such a decisive, monumental, popular vote. It has been a long time since we have had a President with fewer partisan binding ties. We can expect him to be a man of action, not inaction. We can look for a moral cleansing, and we can expect him to bring a change in pace, in mood and in direction.

The Times-News expects a conservative administration, conservative by instinct. We voted for a change and in every aspect of our national government we are going to get it. R.E.H.

One Man's Opinion

Behind Churchill's Theatrical Exterior There's A Whale Of A Lot Of Good Old Political Savvy And Broad Vision

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

The time was June 11, 1940, a hot afternoon in the most tragic summer in French history. The French army, shattered by one blow from Von Reichenau's tanks, was in retreat. The French government, having abandoned Paris for Tours, was in retreat. It had come into the war a few hours before, as Mussolini stabbed France in the back.

I had followed the French government in the retreat, escaping from Paris the day before, by a southern gate, as the German army entered from the north. At Tours, I had watched as Paul Reynaud, the unhappy Premier, tried to salvage something out of the wreckage. With no army of his own and no planes left, with the Germans drawn up just across the Loire river, Reynaud sent a final, plaintive appeal to Winston Churchill and to Franklin D. Roosevelt: "What can you do immediately for us?"

Learning that a plane was arriving from London with a mysterious visitor, I drove to the airport of Tours. The plane came in through a German barrage. It roiled to the far side of the field and a solitary traveler got out. In his flying suit, a well-rounded figure, cigar and all, he was easily recognized: Winston Churchill, who had braved the whole German Air Force to bring his personal message of hope to a broken ally.

Churchill refused to drive into town to meet with the French cabinet because there was no telling how soon the Germans would throw a temporary bridge across the Loire and move into Tours. Instead, Reynaud, Herriot, Jeanneney and a few other French leaders conferred with Churchill at the airport.

A few minutes later, Reynaud came back to town and relayed Churchill's ultimate message to a French Cabinet that had been sitting, anxiously awaiting the Premier's return.

"Let us pool our French and British Empires and fight on as one, and some day France will get back her empire intact because we have no intention of surrendering, and I am sure that America will not abandon us in the lurch," was the gist of Churchill's dramatic message and offer.

French didn't understand. The screams of anguish that went up from the French Cabinet were great. They had expected Churchill to come through with a few British divisions or a few hundred planes and, instead, all he could offer in the emergency was the aid of the two Empires. The cabinet did not even give the proposal the decency of study and an answer. The government decided to move on the next day to Bordeaux where capitulation was arranged by Marshal Petain.

Yet, Churchill's idea of Union was not so bad! The French Cabinet was looking at the present, France was looking ahead. In the two or three years that followed, France did save her empire through British and American effort. At the end of the war, it was handed back to her virtually intact except for a few segments in the Middle East which were lost by French intrigue.

Association of Ideas. I recall that incident only because, somehow, I associate union with Churchill. So, also, does a wing of our State Department planning staff. It is no secret that Churchill, who never did get along too well with Harry Truman, may desire to make use of his old friendship with "like" to revive the wartime Anglo-American "alliance."

The French, who, since that day since. The British believe to this day that at Moscow in December, 1945, Byrnes came very close to trying to buy an agreement with Russia at British expense.

Add to this record that the course of the Truman seven years has been plagued with sharp differences with the British over the Palestine issue, the Korean war, and over China policy.

The remarkable thing really is not that Truman sometimes speaks unkindly of the British, but that so much cooperation with Britain has survived in spite of the record of the differences of policy and temperament.

They Met Before

Now, plainly, Churchill hopes he will be able to work more closely with the Eisenhower government than his predecessor in London.

Clement R. Attlee was able to work with Truman, Churchill does believe in an Anglo-American alliance. It is the cornerstone of his political policies and purposes. To him it represents the essential answer to the problem of dealing with Soviet Russia. He is far more interested in rebuilding the old structure than he is in any thing so mundane as dollars. He will happily leave to his subordinates any case they care to make to Washington later for more dollar aid in some new form.

The case he undoubtedly made this trip to Eisenhower has had its advocates in Washington, where

George F. Kennan was chairman of the State Department's policy and planning group in 1949 and early 1950 that group made long range studies of Britain and America's relationship to Britain. It came up with a recommendation for a policy of gradual progress toward an ultimate merger of the two commonwealths. Secretary of State Dean Acheson vetoed adoption of the project as a fixed policy. However, the idea has been dropped entirely as a time for future thinking.

Reasons Against Union

The hardest part of such a merger would be in the area of economics. An Anglo-American union could be achieved only at cost overruns adjustments in both countries. But a revival of the military partnership would be relatively easy provided the desire to revert to it existed on both sides and provided there could be a reconciliation of policies toward

China.

It is no secret that reports to London of Eisenhower-Dulles projects involving the use of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist Chinese troops contributed one reason why Churchill decided upon custom and protocol and visit the American President before he reached the White House.

"We are fortunate that for the next four years our government will be led by a man who, from experience, knows Churchill well and should be able to coordinate our effort with that of Britain."

General Eisenhower's own book, "Crusade in Europe," is filled with little stories of the relations and his differences with Churchill none of which is more expressive, in my opinion, than the story of how Eisenhower found Churchill to go along on the Channel crossing in the "Overlord" invasion of France.

Eisenhower recites that scores of big-wigs asked for permission to skip aboard the supporting craft in order to witness the attack. The Prime Minister was one of them. His bid was inspired by his natural instincts as a warrior and his early training as a war correspondent in the Boer War of the Transvaal.

Beating Churchill. Flouting that Churchill's death to set in a pinch, he simply wait over the head of the Prime Minister to the King and the latter called in Churchill and told him that if the Prime Minister felt it was imperative for him to go on the invasion trip, the King felt it was his duty, and his privileges, too, to participate at the head of his troops.
