

General Motors Is Cool To Memorial Fied Plan of Town

Loss of Half Million In Ratables
$25,000 Per Year in Tax Revenue
Seen if Town Condemns Acreage

The meeting of the Town Commissioners with representatives of the General Motors Corporation in Mayor James J. Tully's office on Monday morning, failed to produce a meeting of minds over the feasibility of acquisition of Memorial Field by the Town. Far from setting any price which they would take for the land, the General Motors delegation let it be known that the elimination of that portion of the nine acres obtained from the Edison Industries, last year, would mean that the company would have to abandon its plans for the extension of the Chevrolet export plant, and possibly shutting down of the Bloomfield plant as inadequate to the company's needs.

Division Head

General Motors was represented by Louis A. Bauer, manager of the production division of Chevrolet, from Detroit, Hugh Arnold and Lawrence Donahue, representatives of the Argonne Realty Company, subsidiary of General Motors which handles all its real estate matters, also from Detroit and Donald S. Ramsey, controller of the East Division, plant manager of Chevrolet-Bloomfield.

The town was represented by all its Commissioners, Deputy Mayor William Tully, Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan and Mrs. Florence Morey, town clerk. Mayor James J. Tully opened the meeting with a statement outlining the history of the town's negotiations for the property, and pointed out that the town had appropriated $30,000 to obtain the property by purchase or condemnation.

Mr. Arnold exhibited plans for construction of two large buildings and a parking lot on the entire tract. They did not say when the construction would begin.

After the meeting, Mayor Tully told the press "We will exhaust every means to provide adequate recreational facilities" in Silver Lake. He said the town is doing in a less costly manner than condemning that land industrial area. He said the town's annual revenue might mean $400,000 to a half million more in ratables and produce $25,000 per year in revenue for the town.

Until the General Motors notified the town that it intends to cancel its lease on the 90-day day, the town probably will continue to lease Memorial Field in lieu of taxes on the site.

County May Open Soho To Non-Contagious Cases

Pending the construction of any of the proposed new hospitals projected in the area, the Essex County Isolation Hospital, located on Franklin Avenue, in Belleville, will be opened to general cases this year, County Supervisor Walter S. Gray said in his annual message for 1953 made public yesterday. "Despite the fact that contagious and communicable diseases are declining, the County Isolation Hospital handled more patients in 1952 than ever in its history, 1,775," Gray reported. "The Board of Freeholders is quite cognizant, however, that Soho hospital is adequate to house the patients. The Freeholders have a plan to remedy that situation this year. It is a wise move, one which brooks no delay."

The County Supervisor stressed considerable progress within the county, last year, both in reducing the standing debt and in improving traffic conditions, but he warned that hospitalization and welfare activities are woefully behind the need. He reported that about 11,500 persons are now receiving county assistance as aged, blind, disabled or poor, and the county's welfare budget this year stands at $1,401,600.

In the twenty years since Essex County's financial straits reached its lowest level, Gray reported, its debt has been cut from $1,400,000 to $225,000. Based on the county's 1950 census of 90,000, by now practically a million—the average population of the county is $225,000. An additional $1,400,000 in bonded debt will be retired this year, he said. The County Supervisor directed attention to the isolation hospital, interviewed yesterday by The Times-News said that he had not been told that the hospital was being converted to a general hospital. He said that if he would be called by the Freeholders he would oppose the opening of the hospital to non-contagious cases. "Operating a contagious disease hospital and a general hospital are two very different problems and they cannot be combined in one institution," Dr. Smith said.

We have treated emergency cases. We never have turned anyone away from this hospital, but that is different from opening it up to all the sick and infirm of Belleville and other nearby towns. Dr. Smith said the main Soho hospital building can accommodate 140 adults and children. Separate buildings can now house another 50, but at one time the total capacity of the main and the

BELCO RECEIVES ITS CHARTER FROM JR. ACHIEVEMENT

Sidney Hollander Makes
Presentation at Luncheon;
Will Make and Market Plates

Sidney Hollander, president of Ever Ready Label Corporation, sponsors of Junior Achievement, Belleville, presented the official charter to Belco Industries at a luncheon Friday in the executive offices of Ever Ready.

The charter was accepted by Jack Heft, president of Belco Industries and in return presented Mr. Hollander with a plaque in recognition of the help given to Junior Achievement by the Ever Ready executives.

Junior Achievement is a national movement that enables American youth of high school age to initiate and operate a business enterprise, and to feel the thrill and excitement of what an individual can do working alone or in company with others of a team. It is usually sponsored on local basis and guided by a public-spirited business organization in the community.

Currently, Belleville's Junior Achievement group is manufacturing attractive paper mache plates and selling them to local housewives. The members of the group are the workers, investors and managers in their entire enterprise, and are thereby preparing themselves to take a similar position of responsibility in the business world when their schooling is over.

ONE SALE TRIP IS OFFERED TO SCOUT TROOPS

Jamboree Committee Gets An Offer From Willys Dealer
Troop 388 Will Sell At Plant

An offer of a ticket for one Boy Scout to attend the National Jamboree at the Irvine Ranch in California, for a single sale was made as a result of a visit of Harry Berger, chairman of the Jamboree Fund committee, to the luncheon meeting of the Belleville Lions Club last week. In the name of the Lions' Staff, Smith of the Belleville-Nutley Willys agency here, promised to obtain special Willys handling, and to place it at the disposal of the Boy Scouts. If a Boy Scout troop promotes its sale, the profit on the car will go to the purchase of a $333 all-expense ticket for a member of that troop.

Paul Wan, leader of the Van Nuys-Molding Molding, No. 5, Active in scouting at No. 5, Scout has put two items, which he has taken along for sale, are plastic horns, one a bike horn and the other called the "Boy Scout" horn. These children's toys retail for 25 cents each.

A number of troops have made real progress on the sale of subscriptions, and troop 388 reports that it has taken orders for at least a dozen fire extinguishers, which sell for $9.95 and return a profit of about $1 on each sale. The troop committee has purchased 100 of the A & P bottle brush, which up to now has been sold by the troop. The A & P will convert into drawing handbags, to sell for about 50 cents each. Troop 388 will conduct a blitz sale among the employees of the A & P Laundry this afternoon, using literature supplied by the various manufacturers, as sales promotion aids. A gross of necessities have also been bought outright by the troop, and scouts will offer the A & P workers a selection from the lot.

BERRY ASKS EXTRA PRECAUTIONS FROM EATING PLACES

Cautions That Many Diseases
Can Be Spread By Improper
Washing of All Utensils

Health Officer Eugene T. Berry, this week, appealed to all places of business in Belleville, serving food and drink, to take extra precautions to see that utensils, intended for a second use, such as glasses, cups, forks, spoons, knives, and plates be thoroughly washed in boiling water, or steam under pressure, and sanitized in a strong alkaline solution before being used. He made his appeal due to the increased prevalence of the common cold, the grippe and influenza.

Mr. Berry further warns the public against patronizing places which dip glasses and plates into a vat of water as a pretense of washing them. Such emersion, he says, may remove food particles, but has no effect on the germs and viruses which spread such diseases as influenza, pneumonia, common cold, mumps, measles, whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria, Vincent's angina, polio, typhoid, cerebrospinal fever, tuberculosis and others which may be contracted by indirect contact.

Mr. Berry says, "Co-operation on the part of public and our eating and drinking establishments, will help considerably in preventing the spread of the respiratory diseases which in some areas have already reached an epidemic stage."

AVERAGE INCOME HERE WAS $3,679

Census Bureau Finds That
880 Earned Less Than One
Thousand, 300 Over $10,000

The average income of families and unrelated individuals in Belleville was $3,679 according to the U. S. Census Bureau analysis of the 1950 census. The analysis, according to John-B. Lovett, N. Y. District Supervisor, showed that of the 8,835 families and unrelated individuals for whom income was reported, 22 per cent reported incomes ranging between 3 and 4 thousand dollars. About 10 percent had incomes of less than $1,000, and the other end of the income scale 300 families had incomes of more than $10,000, and another 320 families had incomes in the $7,000 to $9,999 range.

Income Range	No.	Pct.
Less than 1000	880	10.0
1000 - 1999	610	6.9
2000 - 2999	1435	16.2
3000 - 3999	1965	22.4
4000 - 4999	1090	12.3
5000 - 5999	2040	23.2
6000 - 6999	635	7.2

Survey of Records Indicates Fourth Seeding for Bellboys

Records Favor At Least Two
New Teams; Montclair Will Be No. 1, Central Second

An examination of the records of the 21 teams which have delivered themselves as candidates for the 16 places in the Essex County Tournament, which gets under way on Thursday at Seton Hall, indicated that the seeding committee should have too much trouble. The committee meets on Saturday morning to rate the teams, but we won't be too far wrong with these predictions:

SEEDING
1. Montclair	11-0
2. Central	12-1
3. West Orange	9-3
4. Belleville	8-5
5. Bloomfield	9-4
6. West Side	9-4
7. Newark Tech	8-6
8. Barringer	8-5
UNSEEDING
Lady of Valley 11-4
Immaculate 7-6
Seton Hall 7-6
Orange 17-0
Good Counsel 7-5
Polio 7-5
South Side 5-7
Clifford Scott 5-7
UNPLACED
East Orange 3-10
Nutley 3-10
Irvington Tech 4-9
Bloomfield Tech 4-9
N. Newark Tech 4-9

If Belleville is to have a chance to retire the tournament trophy this year, the four spot will be the best one for the team. In this spot the draw favors the chances of the Bellboys reaching the semi-finals. If they win, it would say in the second quarter of the seeded group. For the Bellboys to reach the semi-finals, they would have to win the competition when we pick Good Counsel and Montclair. The odds are against them. Both have pretty good records in their own leagues. If they can't make the grade with a good record there, they have no hopes of ever making it.

Silence Greets Bid By Mayor...Tully For Same Tax Rate

Estimates $6.32 Rate, Increase of 6 Points As Commissioners Hold
Their Final Budget Conference

An intensive silence greeted a proposal by Mayor James J. Tully, finance director of the Board of Commissioners on Tuesday afternoon, when he proposed that a motion be offered limiting raises for members of the police and fire departments to $400 instead of the $500 carried in the budget of Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan. The proposal was designed to help keep the town's tax rate at the $6.32 mark which was in effect last year. It would have amounted to a cut of about $11,000 in the Public Safety budget.

Mayor Tully was also unsuccessful in getting Commissioner Joseph King to take $2,500 out of his relief budget and Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde to shave more than $1700 off his preliminary budget, out of the recreation account.

Mayor Tully informed the Board that if he could cut about $36,000 from the budget it would be possible to stabilize the rate and still give reasonable salary increases. In a rundown of departments, Commissioner Patrick A. Adams revealed that the Police Department, with $9,000 out of its budget, but would be able to offer that much less raises to the town, but with the amount which Commissioner Hyde offered, brought down the amount which would have to be increased to $26,000. Beyond this point the Mayor was unsuccessful.

As a result he said the tax rate would be $6.32 and the meeting on Monday night he would vote against the budget.

Commissioner Sullivan told the Mayor that the $500 raise was needed to maintain the morale of his department. He had previously agreed to eliminate a $100 dining allowance sought by the men. When we compare their salaries, not only with the town, but with salaries received for the same work in surrounding towns, it is readily seen that the increase they seek is a modest one.

Mr. Sullivan pointed out that he had eliminated appropriations for the Police Department, but several other departments, such as the fire department, already almost exhausted because of emergency which have arisen. He pointed out that one of the items of increase, other than the salaries was for the fire alarm boxes in new residential areas, and $200 in the ambulance account for the operation of the ambulance company's ambulance.

Mayor Tully in discussing the Parks and Public Property budget said he had on Feb. 17th, the proposed Liberal budget, but was principally concerned with salaries and other expenses, and creating a budget. He said he based his observations on his own connection with that department, only, and was not in a position to expand the program, for more people in the community, costs more money.

Commissioner King pointed out that he cannot take a chance on having his budget for hospitalization on the last night of the year. He said he was spent by the welfare department, and it is only good business to anticipate a similar load this year. He said he was not in a position to expand the program, for more people in the community, costs more money.

Motorists' Responsibility Law Goes Into Effect Soon

Belleville motorists were warned by William Abromson, the town's motor vehicle registration agent, that the new Security Responsibility Law affecting all drivers in New Jersey will go into effect on April 1, 1953, and will gradually, over a three-year period, be enacted in a series of steps. The first phase effective April 1 is merely a recording act, compelling the operator of every car involved in an automobile accident resulting in death or injury, or property damage to the extent of $100 or more, to file, within 48 hours, a complete report on new official forms with the N. J. Division of Motor Vehicles in Trenton. The law also called for the suspension of both the operator's license and his registration plates.

The second step in enacting the law will be the imposition of a new state tax to be paid when licenses and registration papers are renewed in March, 1954. At that time, a fee of $1 will be charged all drivers who have had an accident within the last year, and a $3 fee will be charged drivers who do not carry insurance. The third step will become effective on April 1, 1955, when the Security Responsibility Law will become effective as far as payment from the state fund to claimants are concerned.

TEACHERS PLAN CONCERTS OF LOCAL ARTISTS

Miss Ellsworth and Mr. Akers Schedule First Concert At Woman's Club on February 25

Hazel Ellsworth and William Akers, noted local musicians and piano teachers, are preparing the first of a series of concerts featuring artists from the local area. The first concert is scheduled for Wednesday, Feb. 25, at 8 P.M. in the Women's Club, 11 Roosevelt Place. Free tickets of admission can be obtained by writing to "Music to Enjoy," 275 Little Street, Belleville, N.J. 07003, or telephoning PL 9-7239.

The aim of Miss Ellsworth and Mr. Akers is to present to the people of Belleville the best available local and guest talent in program of enjoyable music.

Miss Ellsworth's musical background has been thorough and varied. Coming from a musical family she began her studies at the age of four. Her first public performance was in Belleville High School four years later, at the age of eleven she was being heard on the radio as a soloist and accompanist.

She is constantly increasing her musical knowledge through the study of piano, voice, organ and other subjects. With many public appearances behind her as a pianist and organist, it is not surprising that the demand for Miss Ellsworth as an accompanist for recitals, church and oratorio work, is increasing.

Along with her musical studies, Miss Ellsworth is organist of two churches, Fennell's Memorial Presbyterian, and the Newark Unit Church where she is often heard as contralto soloist. These roles attend recitals at Grace Church, Newark, hear her with regularity.

Mr. Akers, known for many years as one of the leading piano teachers in Belleville, is a member of almost all the musical organizations in the High School, accompanying the choruses and as a cellist in the orchestra. For several years he was a member of the Newark Conservatory of Music in Ohio. After serving in the Infantry in Germany, he studied with some of the country's finest musicians. Since then he has continued his studies at Westminster Choir College, Princeton, the Guilford School of Music, both in New York City.

Life at BHS As We See It

about their triumphs are Pat Bolman, Rose Schindler, Phyllis Dineo, Maria Santiago, Grace Casale, Arlene Whyche, Barbara Chase, Juan Cavanagh, Pat Smith, Mary Ann Ferrigno, Mary Lou Salandra, Elaine Gorey, and some jerk who claims to be captain of the team but whose name we can't remember. It may be interesting to note that the girls are coached by an alumna, the "good old B. H. S.", Pat Howley. Congratulations! Girls! Luck in the future!

Smile! Hold it! That's it! Hey, who was that hot man on the scene? He was—really, making the metal! "Oh, they don't... pretty good. Work—or was that Harold! All the noise behind the curtain Friday afternoon was due to the awkward poses and queer poses of the team. It was so through to have a terrific Monday. Well at least it will be different—just like the class!

We've Nissed "You Since You've Been Away Deers." Maybe you have turned over a new leaf since last Wednesday and have been studying for a chance for there doesn't seem to be as much action as usual in the "old town". Well, kids, you can't escape them—death, taxes, and record cards.

One and Two and Three and Four—and you had better get practicing, girls, we are! The testing for those exercises start Friday. Hey—that's today! Oh, we're good luck!

The assembly this Friday, today, will be something out of the ordinary. The different language classes will sing, dance, and present various types of entertainment for you with the help of the students. It should prove enjoyable, interesting, and educational. We hope!

Some people forget pencils, others their books, and others their pens, but a certain female student at Belleville High can't seem to remember her slip. What is the matter Vannie—are you in love or something?

In closing we would like to thank all the students, especially Shen, Zuckerman, for making Belleville High a place to drive a success. Congratulations!

Magician Has Many Assistants

During Visit to School No. 1

School Number One was shrouded with an air of mystery and excitement recently. The cause of this enchanted atmosphere was "The Great William," a magician from Clifton. The highlight of his show was the appearance of a white rabbit which seemed to emerge from nowhere.

"The Great William's" youthful assistants selected from the student body, included the following:

Bless Roachway, Linda Tucker, Vivian Thomas, Linda Armstrong, Guy Slevack, Clifford Berkeheim, Chris Sloan, Joseph Sloan, John DeLaurentis, Roy Burden, and Ted Salter.

Pictured is the two-door, six-passenger Riviera in the Super Series, most popular hard-top in the Buick line. The engine turns up 170 horsepower with a compression of 8.5 to 1. It has a re-styled front end incorporating a sturdier grille, two-piece bumper and a futuristic headlight arrangement. A new alligator-type hood, long-flowing body lines, new moldings and ventipoints and horizontal rear fenders with bullet-shaped tail lights, give the car an ultra-modern, sleek appearance. Offered as optional equipment are wire wheel covers and power steering.

Now that it has been published for some time, and the rage and fury of initial criticism has abated, it is possible to take a calm look at Whitaker Chambers' book "Witness."

At its publication a storm whirled up which eased off only recently. Critics, both the good and the mediocre, strained themselves, some to call it one of the greatest pieces of self-revelation ever published in America, some the swan song of a man of little faith; his pallid dirge to a world that is pointed to oblivion. And some said its only value lay in its uncovering of the methods by which the American Communist underground works.

Most of the criticism of "Witness" was focussed on that part of the book dealing with Communism. That, to the critics, seemed the cardinal policy, the factor which made or broke the book. Not much more than passing attention was given to the other book within the covers of "Witness—the chronicle of the regeneration of one Whitaker Chambers and his discovery that a man needs a God.

Chambers had been a fair-sized wheel in the American Communist party. But, like most truly intelligent men who had guttily fallen for the fables of communism, he in time began to lift himself out of it—or, as he says himself, "In 1937 I began, like Lazarus, the impossible return."

There was a man who for years had given wholeheartedly of his energy, his intelligence and his pride to an alien religion. Important as are his revelations of the inner workings of the American underground, of at least equal importance is his discovery that in dressing himself of the inner cloak of communism, he found himself donning the mantle of a cleaner belief.

Chambers is a Quaker. Perhaps the quiet, reflective honesty of Quakerism appealed to him as a reaction to the dark ill-health of Communism. He gives reasons in "Witness" for his acceptance of Quakerism. But even if he hadn't, little would be lost. A man's reasons for embracing one religion instead of another are his own. What is important is that he found that as his belief in Marx and Lenin and Stalin waned, his belief grew in God.

The word "greatness" (these days very loosely used) means those who cannot grasp its full meaning. One, in view of the complexity of the word, would hesitate before bestowing it on electric typewriters for student use.

The students interviewed officials of the town and visited various industries and places of historical interest in the town. Some of the students submitted histories of the churches, and others did a project on development of our municipal government.

STRESS SENSES IN LEARNING

Teacher Appeals To Students Through Senses of Taste, Touch, Hearing and Seeing

Since learning best takes place when there is an integration in one's feeling, thinking and doing, Mrs. Elsie B. Newman, teacher at School Number Three, has taken every opportunity to appeal to the pupils through the senses of taste, touch, hearing, and seeing.

The children have tasted sunflower seeds, popped corn, felt the woolly bear caterpillar walking on their arms, watched the question-mark butterfly uncurl its proboscis and feed on a grape, watched a pet parakeet perform to music, listened to a canary trill, blew plastic bubbles for rainbow colors, watched a classmate arrange flowers, and watched the miracle of change from caterpillar to chrysalis and then to butterfly.

They have also bounced balls to rhythms, played games to melody of a toy piano, opened popkins, squashed and Ouse oranges to observe seed cradles, brought Sherlock Holmes into the classroom for the study of the G-Men and criminal insects of the environment through the magnifying glass, made peanut butter balls for the birds, made and tasted goodies for their Christmas Tree, and served hot cocoa, danced a square dance to "Frosty the Snowman" and had a "Snow Show" with jingle bells by lamp-light.

LEARN FENCING AT HIGH SCHOOL

Former Fencing Coach Gives Lessons To Sophomores And Freshmen; Aim is School Team

A group of freshmen and sophomores at Belleville High School are learning the art of fencing under the able tutelage of Andy Monteculio, teacher. It is hoped that eventually the club can be formed into a team to represent Belleville High School in competition with other North Jersey High Schools.

According to Mr. Monteculio, fencing is an excellent sport to improve coordination between mind and muscle, develop speed...

and stamina, and quicken the responses of the body.

Mr. Monteculio is a former member and coach of the State Teachers' Fencing Team of Montclair.

We All Must Pay For The Careless Drivers.

When you renew your automobile license next year, you are going to buy a practical lesson in "ownership responsibility." It will cost you $1 if you are a prudent man who keeps up his insurance and $3 if you are the reckless sort who believes that you drive so well you do not need insurance.

The new insurance tax is to go into the state's kitty to take care of the victims of any reckless uninsured motorist. According to state records only 60 per cent of New Jersey motorists carry insurance to protect the victims of any accident they may cause. It is for the victims of the other 40 per cent that the State is acting.

The income from the $1 or the $3 taxes will join, in the kitty, contributions made by insurance companies licensed to do business in New Jersey. The state will use it to settle claims against uninsured motorists who have accidents.

It hardly seems fair to tax the prudent to pay for the weaknesses of the imprudent, and it would be if the imprudent could get by with having us cover their liability and property damage. There is a rider in the new law, however, which takes care of them. Those uninsured drivers who have an accident will have their licenses automatically revoked until they take out a minimum of $5,000-$10,000 liability and property insurance.

The new law does not deprive anyone in New Jersey of the right to drive without insurance if he drives carefully. It takes care of the victims of accidents caused by uninsured drivers, and it makes sure that a careless, uninsured driver never has more than one accident. Then the law provides that when the state settles the bill for such a driver, it will charge him with all the costs and damages incurred in any settlement and will hold him liable in court.

Costly to all of us, the new law should awaken, belatedly, a sense of responsibility in all motorists who have been "economizing" on insurance.

Reading Between The Lines.

General Eisenhower's inaugural address should be made compulsory reading for every citizen, every voter, every school-child. If you listened to its delivery by radio or TV, get a copy and read it. If you have read it, read it again in the light of subsequent happenings.

The reason is that the President's inaugural message grows in meaning and in importance on rereading and on reflection. It is not notable prose. It was not delivered very skillfully. There were some whose honest and objective first reaction was that the text of the general's speech was rather pedestrian in writing and filled with obvious generalities.

Even this minority view has tended to change materially after hearing and pondering General Eisenhower's words. Brilliant writing is a worthy art, but it is the decoration and not the substance of ideas. President Eisenhower's words were laden with ideas, and his message set forth specific and basic principles which set the direction and which will concretely guide for a long time to come the actions of the new administration.

One fact emerges very sharply from the address. It is that the American people did not elect just any Republican to the presidency of the United States last November; they elected a particular Republican, Dwight D. Eisenhower, who in part received the presidential nomination because in substance and symbol he stood for America's leadership of the free world. His inaugural message, made renewedly clear that the views and concepts which helped so much to nominate him will pervade every policy of his administration.

Two of these guiding principles stand out above all others:

That it is hardly possible to exaggerate the danger from what Soviet communism is up to in the world today. The stake is nothing less than the survival of freedom itself.

That on this premise which President Eisenhower expounds with perceptive clarity, every objective of government must give place to the end of preparedness and survival. If the choice is ever at any point between security and spending, between security and economy, between security and budget balancing, between security and tax reduction—the choice of the Eisenhower administration will be unswervingly, nonpolitically on the side of security, without which other ends are academic.

"We must be ready to dare all for our country," was President Eisenhower's simple, momentous rule of conduct. There need be no doubt that he means it.

His message is an inspiration, yes; but it is a deliberate and purposeful challenge to Americans and to all the free peoples. Read it again—and see! R.E.H.

Plums And Politics.

Here it is February and the Republican State machine cannot decide upon its favored candidate for the nomination for Governor in the April Primary. It is not the fault of the candidates themselves; there is a plethora of them and they are all seeking the support of the state machine. The fault lies with Governor Driscoll and the county chairmen.

Governor Driscoll is most to blame because the county chairmen hesitate to state an opinion before he has expressed his own. There is a reason, don't you see. New Jersey has been cut in for its quota of GOP national patronage. The state has received, as its share of the plums, 164 Federal jobs paying from $10,000 to $20,000 a year, and 840 jobs paying up to $10,000 a year. Naturally, everyone wants a slice of that nice juicy plum-cake.

It stands to reason that the next Governor of New Jersey will be a Republican. It stands to reason, also, that he will be the state machine's choice for the nomination. He will expect to have his say in the distribution of those cushy jobs. Consequently, the state machine wants to be sure that he will play along, and the county chairmen all want an assurance that their fair share of the Federal jobs will come along down to them.

The Nutley Sun contends that New Jersey's welfare is worth more than a mess of plums. It is time that the Governor and the county chairmen quit playing party politics and get down to the serious business of picking the best man in New Jersey to run the state for the next four years. He must be the best man, because our state business is big business. He must be efficient and able, he must be fundamentally honest. As far as The Times-News is concerned his machine qualifications are only secondary. It is far more important that he should convince the voters of the state that he is the best man, than that he should give the necessary guarantees to the county chairmen.

The Times-News has, long ago, made up its mind. In the field filled with Troats, Forbes, Handers, Cases, etcetera, Dr. Lester H. Cleo, former president of the state assembly, chairman of the New Jersey Civil Service, stands out head and shoulders above the pack. On his record, he stands opposed to a state income tax and a state sales tax. Eighteen years ago he fought for and won the repeal of state income tax legislation. His nomination and election would guarantee us against any "broadening of the tax base" which the very active schools lobby seeks.

As The Times-News said last December 19, we believe in Dr. Cleo. He is our preferred choice for Governor. R.E.H.

A Tribute To Our Scouts.

The nation this week salutes the Bby Scouts of America, grown to full manhood and observing its 43rd birthday during Boy Scout Week, with its membership at an all-time high of 3,250,000 boys and adult leaders enrolled.

Our nation is all the richer that since 1910 more than 20,000,000 Americans have benefited by the training, fellowship, handicraft skills and high adventure of Scouting, and have been strengthened by the high ideals of the Scout oath.

The nation's need today is for more boys to have those advantages of Scout training. Scouting is the finest antidote to juvenile delinquency we possess. A good Scout cannot possibly be a bad boy or a poor citizen.

One Man's Opinion

General Eisenhower Moves Swiftly to Strengthen Free World's Defense, Proving That He Doesn't Take Seriously Harry Truman's Doubt That Reds Have A Bomb.

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

It was never more apparent that the United States needs wholly new military policies and strategic concepts than when ex-President Truman, last week, flippantly told reporters who dog his steps at Independence, Mo., that he is "not convinced that Russia has the Atom-bomb." If ex-President Truman is not convinced, then what was President Truman talking about on October 3, 1951, when he announced from the White House, in a radio talk to the American people, that the Soviet Union had just exploded "another atomic bomb." To the best of any official's knowledge in Washington, Russia has by now exploded three of them.

The purpose of Harry Truman's flippancy would be hard to define. The sense of his remarks, is saying that he does not think Russia has any atom bombs, is that the danger to the free peoples is not half as great as we thought it was—or as he said it was when he was forcing his stupendous budgets, heavily weighted with armament credits and Marshall Plan donations to our European allies, through Congress. The real danger is that by his flippancy, Harry Truman, telling the American people what too many of them wishfully want to hear, would weaken national alertness and interrupt our hard actions—which alone can secure world peace and protect us against more Communist aggression.

It is interesting, therefore, that General Eisenhower appears not to have heard the flippancy of the Sage of Independence. He took his first steps this week which the greatest living soldier in the world might be expected to take, out of the wisdom of his experience. He moved to expeditious and revitalize this country's military and political intelligence and psychological warfare activities. He set up a nine-man board to "survey and evaluate" both fields and report back to him in five months.

Awaiting Dulles' Return

In his first message to the nation delivered in Congress this week, General Eisenhower settled the status of Foranosa and slapped down the secret clauses of the treaty of Yalta, but it was evident that he avoided mixing in his administration's foreign policies until Secretary John Foster Dulles and Harold Stassen return from Europe next week.

It is to be expected, however, that Dulles will do something urgently to save NATO. There is no doubt that since General Eisenhower left Europe to campaign and win the election, NATO, his own child, has suffered. By his own strength, he had led it together. Once he left Paris, NATO foundered. It is only partly the fault of General Eisenhower, one of the responsibilities lies with the French government which has changed its mind about making friends with West Germany.

One of the best informed writers in Paris, Volney Hurd, who was a "foreign" correspondent there with him during a quarter of a century, cabled this week from Paris his impression that efforts to build a European Army have run up against one major problem—how to have one army with six foreign policies. This, more than any other factor, is animating the drive to establish an over-all European supranational authority—in federative or confederative form.

Need For Common Policy

In the Atlantic community also there is proving to be a need for a common foreign policy. Forming a 14-nation pact seemed to be pretty successful at first. But now, lack of political cooperation in a positive sense could jeopardize the whole effort.

Hurd reports that many Europeans feel that the NATO method—if it is merely agreeing negatively on certain common policies—is going to turn NATO into a danger. Although a defective pact, it is based in fact on the American policy of "creating situations of strength" on which to "negotiate peaceful co-existence with Russia."

A West so organized could demand a high price for peaceful co-existence, such as a rollback of Russia's preponderant role in Eastern Europe and ultimatum to check its infiltration in other areas.

It is a major worry in Europe today that this prospect could cause the Russians to become fearful and decide to attack now, instead of waiting.

Needs Unification

There is no common foreign policy for NATO and therefore no way to obtain for American policy in its most responsible form a solid European backing. Further, the prosecution of the present cold war, which General Eisenhower can assure success and which badly needs unification, is completely outside any NATO control. That calls for a common foreign policy. The new permanent organization of NATO under Lord Lunsby, an improvement over the past, is far from having any such authority of being able to act in this direction.

Hurd points out that NATO has been evolving through improvisation. Today there is a serious question to whether this piecemeal method can be permitted any longer.

The lowering of NATO's military sights—because of national economic limitations has weakened the SHAPE army—and weakness invites attack. This, however, could be offset by a genuine step forward in improved political cooperation. A small politically well-knit and harmoniously acting armed force can do as well as, if not better than, a larger, more loosely knit force. Since economics dictates fewer arms and smaller forces, a stronger political organization seems to be the best alternative for SHAPE.

Challenge Facing President

Once a political organization were established, the means would also be present to extend such cooperation to gaining positive economic and social ends. As the strengths and weaknesses inherent in NATO are studied against the world situation, the challenge facing President Eisenhower would seem to be to assume as dynamic a leadership in NATO as he has in the United States.

making NATO an integrated political, economic, and social body as he did in calling for European unity.

General Eisenhower's training in Europe was the perfect preparatory course, while practically all the same elements are present on an Atlantic scale, both as to needs and possible solutions. Further, his prestige is so high with the NATO countries that he could gain their ears when no one else could.

Finally, if he keeps the organization away from pure federation, even the British may be expected to support it. Anyway, Atlantic federation is not seriously considered by anyone at this stage but rather something closer to confederation.

NATO is almost dangerously weak in many ways at present. Happily, possibilities exist not only to overcome these weaknesses but to turn NATO into such a strong, unified organization that it can genuinely create a "situation of strength" for the free nations could be achieved.

It requires dynamic leadership and ideas—and after reporting with General Eisenhower's forces in Europe during the war, as well as on SHAPE which he is building, it is correspondingly more than surprising if it were not forthcoming from the new American President.

Such construction work has meant many millions of dollars invested in rights-of-way, trenching and pipe.

Look what's worrying the low-priced three!

THERE'S a big story in the price of this beauty—but an even bigger one in what you get for that price.

You get the highest horsepower and compression ratio ever engineered into this Buick Series—from the extra-thrifty F-263 Fireball 8 Engine newly designed for this Golden Anniversary SPECIAL.

You get an even wider front seat than this roomy Buick had before—plus a new tilt-away feature that means easier in-and-out.

You get real big-car comfort, from deep, soft cushions with new zigzag type springs in both the seats and the backs.

You get the steady going and the sweet handling ease that come of a still finer Million Dollar Ride. Steering ratio is increased. Front wheels have been brought to zero-caster. And here, of course, you get coil springs on each wheel, full-length torque-tube drive, rigid and massive X-braced frame—ride features you get in no other car at the price.

But—you get the idea.

And when you realize that the figure on this big, brawny, beautiful Buick SPECIAL is just a few dollars more than you'll pay for one of the so-called "low-priced three"—we're sure you'll say: "This is for me!"

Come in and try it out—then tell us if we're wrong or right.

PARTY BREAKFAST AT SCHOOL NO. 3

First Graders Enjoy Meal Of Orange Juice, Cereal, Bananas, Brought From Home

The first grade class at School No. 3 held a breakfast recently, completing a unit on breakfast foods. The unit was started by questions about the students' breakfast, and what constitutes a good breakfast. These questions led to a general discussion about breakfast foods, which in turn, brought up the idea of having breakfast in school. The children volunteered to bring in different foods and the equipment needed. The breakfast included: orange juice, dry cereal, bananas, bread, butter, jam, milk and sugar.

The children sat around two long tables and had an enjoyable time. Plane mats used were made by the children with crayon and manila paper. Those who had breakfast party, helping the

FEATS OF MAGIC PERFORMED AT SHAWGER SCHOOL

Noted Magician-Cartoonist Transforms Boy Into Rabbit; Makes Magic Chalk Figures

Edd Patterson, master cartoonist and magician, entertained the pupils of the James G. Shawger School recently, with unbelievable feats of magic.

Philip Macaluso, a fifth grader, was transformed into a rabbit before the very eyes of his amazed schoolmates. For a time his friends were worried about their Phil, as he appeared to walk with a slight hunchback as he left the stage and returned to his seat, carrying his newly acquired membership card in the Edd Patterson Stage Assistants Club.

Another newly appointed member of this exclusive club is Patricia Santandeli who assisted the magician in performing his famous record stunt.

In addition to these and other tricks, Mr. Patterson entertained with his upside-down cartoon character, Uncle Lou's face was transformed into Uncle Zeke's face with a few strokes of magic chalk.

The entire student body is looking forward to a return visit by Mr. Patterson at which time they hope to be adept at the amazing egg and scarf trick. Of course, we can't explain how it's done as we made a solemn promise to keep it a secret.

Jet Plane Mechanic

Altran Second Class William J. Blekeski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Blekeski of 29 Davidson Street, is now stationed in Japan at the Misawa Air Base with the 222nd Squadron as a jet plane mechanic.

STUDENTS HEAR GUIDANCE TALK

Representative of Paul Smith's College Describes Forestry and Hotel Courses

Last week Dr. John Hughes of Paul Smith's College, New York, visited the Belleville High School guidance office to acquaint the guidance personnel and interested seniors with the opportunities offered by Paul Smith's in forestry and hotel management.

Dr. Hughes described the courses at Paul Smith College and the physical facilities. The college, at present on a two year plan, has over 30,000 acres which are used for experimental purposes. The seniors who met and talked with Dr. Hughes and Mr. Slikin were Fred Midlake and Gordon Galtier.

This program is one of a series of programs arranged by the guidance department to enable seniors to receive additional educational and vocational information.

Third Graders Visit Newark Planetarium In Star Study

A new and wonderful experience was enthusiastically received by Mrs. Elsie Newman's third graders at the Newark Museum Planetarium recently.

The students are studying about ships and how they steer by the stars, and the trip made the facts about stars a vivid picture in their minds. They also had the distinction of being the first third grade group to visit the Planetarium.
