Federal Develops Device To Pinpoint Planes In Air

Civil Aeronautics Administration Lifts Secrecy Veil to Announce Equipment Now Installed on Airliners

A corner of the veil of secrecy covering the electronics research now going on in the Nutley tower of Federal Telecommunication Laboratories was lifted this week to disclose that a development of the I. T. & T. engineers here, distance measuring equipment, used to pinpoint the exact location of an airplane in flight, is being installed on the country's major airlines. Acquired by the Civil Aeronautics Administration, at a commercial cost of about $4,000 per unit, the DME installations are being lent to the airlines.

The lifting of the secrecy ban answers the question many Nutley residents have been asking for more than a year: flew in circles over Nutley and with a twin-engine aircraft the Federal tower, with "FTL" markings often. It now has been disclosed that the plane, a combination flying laboratory and executive transport, has been spending its time a large part "shooting landings" with no human being at its controls. It is based here at Westchester County Airport at Purchase, N. Y.

The multi-purpose plane is a special version of the familiar Douglas C-53 airplane, or Air Force C-47 transport, that has been seen in many parts of the world for fifteen years or more.

The distance-measuring unit, which it has been testing, sends out electronic impulses to specially equipped ground stations and a dial in the cockpit tells the pilot how far the plane is in tenths of a mile from the station on the ground.

Big Gen. Peter C. Sandretto, Air Force Reserve, assistant technical director of electronic special projects for the Federal Telecommunication Laboratories, explained yesterday the time wasted by the commercial airlines in "stacks" over airports in poor flying weather, or could be reduced by the use of D. M. E. to give accurate position reports and thus enable controllers to plan and facilitate instrument landings at regular intervals.

Noting that fuel consumption is critical in the operation of transports and jet military planes, he said the British Overseas Airways Corporation employed a type of D. M. E. in its de Havilland Comet flights.

Federal's "flying lab" has been used often to make completely automatic landings in June, 1949, it flew from California to New York, making three stops on the way, with no human hands at the controls at any time.

AIRCRAFT SUPPLY WINS IN TOURNAMENT

Nutley Quintet Downs Pfaff and Kendall, 88-46 In Iron-bound Tournament

Aircraft Supply, entered in the industrial division of the seventh annual Ironbound Basketball Tournament, won the opening round game, trouncing Pfaff and Kendall, of Newark, 88-46. The game was played under the auspices of the Ironbound oldtimers at the Red Shield Boys' Club.

In the first-round game Aircraft Supply got off to a whirlwind start and were never headed. The Nutley quintet took an early lead and built up a comfortable, 18-4 lead at the end of the first quarter.

P. & K. outscored Aircraft Supply, 18-16 in the second period, but a big 25-point burst in the third quarter iced the contest.

WASHINGTON TRIP FOR 200 PUPILS

Eighth Graders And Teachers Visit White House, FBI Bldg., Supreme Court, Capitol, Etc.

The eighth grade children of Schools One, Four, Nine and Ten, totaling 200 in number, journeyed to the nation's capital on Tuesday. They were met by Rev. Peter Reda who will spend a portion of the day with them.

The group from Belleville left Pennsylvania Station at 6:44 a.m. on the morning Congressional train under the direction of Miss Francis Williamson from Number One; Mrs. Ellen Angus, Number 10; Mrs. Emma Miller and Mr. Clifford Kreimer, Number Four; Mrs. Louise Franklin, Mrs. Louise Trachtenberg and Henry Bernhardt of Number Nine, Thomas Gryzka, principal of Number Nine, who had charge of the detail work necessary for the trip, also accompanied the students.

While in Washington, D. C., the students visited the White House, Supreme Court, Capitol Building, FBI Building, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Smithsonian Institution, Lincoln Memorial, and Washington Monument.

School trips of this type are taken with the intent and purpose of bringing reality to the subject matter studied in the classroom. For the first time C. R. Kreimer, Director of Visual Education, went on the trip. Theoretically, the whole project is a very valuable visual aid.

A student teacher, Henry Bernhardt of Jersey City State Teachers College, doing his practice teaching at Number Nine School, had no other choice but to go along with the eighth grade class on March 24, if he wished to be considered "on the job" by his Teachers College.

Will you be able to save when you are making more money?

The size of the income is not the primary factor in this problem. One depositor who never made more than two hundred dollars a month left, at a ripe old age, an estate of over twenty thousand dollars. On the other hand a vice-president of a large corporation, making in excess of $25,000 a year, except for the Government bonds which the company had held out and the insurance it provided, left more current bills than assets.

Don't wait until your "ship comes in" to begin to save. If you can't save now, you never can. Heave to and steer for the port of success by determining to save 5%, 10% or come certain fraction of your salary, beginning the very next pay day.

By PIERSON
A Busy Guy
In the 16 years that Ed Littig has made Belleville his home, he has managed to keep his name before the public quite consistently. He needs another write up like we need another hole in our head. But he is getting it anyway.

Ed, who besides his bike riding owns a woodcraft plant at Schuyler and Cortland Streets, is secretary of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, Road Captain of the newly formed Belleville Bicycle Club, a member of the Century Road Club, the Newark Memory Club, a group which takes pride in developing memories, an auxiliary policeman and most recently has joined Belleville's new Ambulance Corps. Just to fill in a few moments of vacant time he is training on Sundays to enter the famous "Tour of Somerville," a 50 mile bicycle race, which will run on Memorial Day with a new car as first prize. Besides these activities, he heads a group of roller riders, which gives exhibitions at all kinds of events, at his expense. As a member of this troupe, he developed a strip-tease act, while riding a bike, in which he discards his street clothing one piece at a time, until he is down to his racing shirt and trunks.

It's a hard job to find a place to begin about this busy gentleman. The logical place, of course, is his birth, in Newark, 45 years ago. He attended East Side High School, where he was a member of the track team. It was in Newark that he became interested in bike riding and he likes to tell how the bike game saved him from a life of crime. The Downneck Section of Newark is still no place for pantsywaists, and Ed was hanging around with a gang, which just couldn't keep out of mischief. At first, the gang got involved in some petty stealing, just for the thrill of it. It was about this time that Ed became interested in bike riding and the hobby started to take all of his spare time. While he was riding, his friends moved into bigger things, such as stealing from freight cars and robbing homes. Several spent time in jail, and one, a confirmed criminal, is serving a life term as a fourth offender.

As an amateur cyclist, Ed Littig rode regularly at the old Villaville and the Nutley Velodromes and at the Weequahic Park dirt track. His trainer and coach, Andy Watts, who has had considerable success as both a baseball and basketball coach, until a bum ticker caused him to resign from the job at Our Lady of the Valley High School, last year.

With the end of bike racing at Nutley, in favor of the motorcycles and later the midge cars, Ed Littig organized his first roller group, about the time he married a Belleville girl and settled in the town. In the intervening years he has built four sets of rollers for his own use, now loaned to the Belleville Bicycle Club, for the training of young riders in the town. He has also built similar rollers and speed dials for various bike clubs throughout the country at the rate of about one a year. Last year he built two, and is now working on a set for the Bayview Wheelmen.

During the World War II years, Ed Littig's gang was out roller riding at camps, hospitals and other patriotic affairs about two nights a week. He ran into a little difficulty with the Amateur Bicycle League, which had a ruling that if riders from more than one club rode, the event would require sanction of the national association. To overcome this, Ed Littig organized the Olympic Bicycle Roller Club, and arranged each bike rider as a member before he appeared on a show. Before the war was over, most of the better riders in the country were members of the Olympic Club.

Littig has always operated his roller organization, so that if admissions are charged to an event he asks expenses, but if he deems it a worthy cause, the show is for free. Last year his gang made about 20 appearances, 19 free and one paid. On each trip Littig himself loaded the rollers into his company's truck and drove them many miles to the point of appearance.

A short while back, he was invited to appear on Arthur Godfrey's TV program, which Alfred LaTourneur, billed as the town's fastest bike rider, was peddling at an idle pace, while being interviewed by Godfrey. Littig was peddling like mad on another set of rollers, with his speed being registered on a speedometer shown on the T-V screen. After all that work, Littig appeared on the screen for only a fleeting second while Godfrey asked him his name. Where Littig's name appears on the speed dial, a sign was made identifying the rollers as belonging to a famous cigarette. Someone else would have blown a gut at this treatment, but Littig took it in stride.

In 1945, Littig was national road champion and in 1948 barely missed out on making the United States Olympic Team. He also set a record for a single bike on a trip from the New York City Hall to the Philadelphia City Hall, a trip of 4 hours and 22 minutes, including the time it took to cross the Hudson on a ferry boat. With Charlie Schneider, also of Belleville, he holds the record for the same run in a tandem bike, three hours and 54 minutes. Port Authority regulations prohibited the bike riders from using its tunnels. With Schneider he held the National Tandem Championship for one year. Schneider has switched to roller skates and is now "making like Dick Button" on them.

One day Ed Littig saw a Nutley guy riding a bicycle, stopped and offered to help him become a real bike rider.

Little Leaguers May Be Deprived of Play By Shortage of Men

Nearly 3,000 Applications Received From Boys Between 8 and 12: First Drills At Clearman Field On April 11

With the greatest number of applications on hand in the history of Belleville's Little League, the first practice session has been scheduled for 9 o'clock on April 11 at Clearman Field. Originally slated for this Saturday, the tryouts were postponed to permit the Board of Education and the Town Recreation Department to work on the field and whip it into shape.

Close to 3,000 applications have been received from local boys between the ages of 8 and 12, more than double the number of a year ago. Two, four-team leagues will operate again this year, with local organizations and industrial firms sponsoring the program in conjunction with the Recreation Department under the jurisdiction of Commissioner Hyde.

Only the lack of additional adult supervision and assistance has prevented the Little League from expanding further. According to Warren Knight, president of the League, at least forty men would be required to carry out the functions of an additional league and the two already in existence.

"It is almost too fantastic to believe that a town the size of Belleville is unable to furnish 35 or 40 men who would volunteer to help this wonderful program," declared Knight. "We have been working with 12 to 15 faithful men who make a lot of personal sacrifices in keeping the league going. The enthusiasm of the Little Leaguers is terrific, as witnessed by the number of applications. We would like at least three men affiliated with each team, thus lightening the work involved. In the meantime, a lot of the youngsters who would like to play are kept on the sidelines due to a scarcity of adult volunteers. It is not a question of sponsors, for we have a waiting list."

LOCAL COACH TO SERVE ON FOOTBALL PANEL TOMORROW

Edward Berlinski And Other Coaches To Take Part In Athletic Assn. Convention

Edward Berlinski, coach of football and baseball at Belleville High School, has been invited to be on the panel for the football section of the New Jersey State Interscholastic Athletic Association convention tomorrow in the ballroom of the Hotel McAlpin at 19 Ave.

Mr. Berlinski will serve on the panel under the chairmanship of Harvey Harman, football coach at Rutgers University. Vincent C. Rutgers, assistant coach at the United States Military Academy, and Steve Owen, head coach of the New York Giants, will also be on the panel.

All the coaches of major sports at Belleville High School have been invited to attend the convention. This is the Fourteenth Annual Spring Conference for high school athletic coaches, and will be in progress today and tomorrow.

St. Peter's CYO Bowlers Vie For County Championships

St. Peter's, Belleville, gained a double verdict over St. Joseph's Newark, last Sunday, and finished its schedule in second place in the Essex County CYO Intermediate Boys I bowling league. The Petreaux were the winners of round one, and will enter the finals this week-end. John Lynch made 511 in last Sunday's effort, aiding the team to a 2076 series. The local club meets second round winner St. Charles, Newark, this Saturday at the Star Alley in Newark for the Division A playoff. The winner faces St. Valentine's, Bloomfield, tops in Division II, the Essex County CYO championship on Sunday.

Augie Molt Hits 230

For the third straight week a member of the Belleville team in the Newark Masonic League won the Augie Molt hit prize, when Augie Molt hit 230 in the match against Pythagoras. Belleville won three games and advanced on the idle Vehlague. Belleville, second in the league, has a record of 55 victories and 23 defeats, with a score of 843.5 and a high score of 937.

That youth, Don Sheldon went on to win state titles and last year was a member of the U. S. Olympic team.

In his business Ed Littig employs about seven workmen as full time employees, but when he is busy, which is most of the time, his bike riding friends come in on Saturday and pitch in to help him out of a hole. Last year his auditor had to make out W-2 withholding statements for about 120 men who came in for two to a dozen Saturdays to help out.

Belleville's Chamber of Commerce is not very active, but as secretary Ed takes care of the many complaints referred to it by the Better Business Bureau, and individual complaints of people, who call they have gripes against local merchants. It is a job thinking for lots of enthusiasm and tact but which is often paid off with unkind remarks.

Five Belleville Boys Are In Rollins Varsity Eight Shell

Five former members of Bill Bennett's crews at Belleville High School are now in the varsity boat at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida. The Florida college is making Rowing a big time sport with an extensive schedule. For five boys from one school to be among the nine in one boat is quite an honor. In their first regatta, last week, Rollins won from Brown University by two lengths. In the varsity-shell for Rollins were Norman O'Neil, Frank Thompson, Gerald Belinski, Donald Weber, stroke and Louis Fusaro, coxswain. Joe A. Negro, Junior Bennett, product from Nutley High, was coxswain of the Junior Varsity boat, which also won its race.

PAL BASKETBALL LOOP ENDS TIED

Reds and Blues Playoff On Tuesday Night; Senior Team Defeats Nicos 35 to 34

Regular season play ended for the Belleville PAL Junior basketball league Tuesday evening at Belleville High School, with top honors divided between the Reds and the Blues, as the result of a victory of the Whites over the Reds. The Reds could have clinched the title by a win but in suffering a 19 to 15 loss fell into a tie with the Whites who won over the Maroons 26 to 6. In the third game of the evening the Blacks defeated the Greens 32 to 24. The Senior PAL, quietest of the league, played in the final game of the night in a thriller 35 to 34. Frank Post was top scorer for the victors with 15 points while Bill Nicholls was outstanding for the Nicos. By virtue of the tie in the Junior basketball league, a single playoff game between the Reds and the Blues will be played at Belleville High School next Tuesday evening starting at 7:30 a.m.

The Belleville Minor Soccer team traveled to Harrison last Sunday where they lost to the Gary AC of Harrison 4 to 0 in a well played game at Rogers Stadium. The game was scoreless at the end of the half while a good defensive game was displayed by both teams. In the second half both teams threatened to score and the Harrison boys scored the winning marker with four minutes to play.

East Orange Cops Nip Belleville By 6 Points

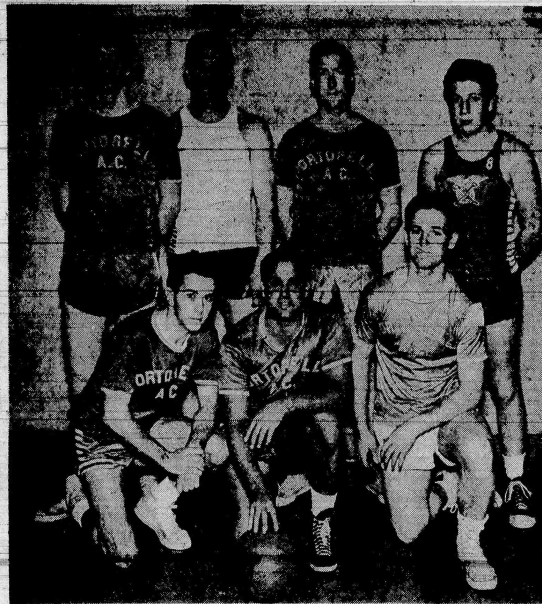

The Belleville Police pistol team dropped a six-point decision to East Orange in the Essex County Police Revolver League, County CYO Intermediate Boys I bowling league. The final score was 1164 to 1158. Sergeant Fred Singer was high man in the match with a 405. Pick up 6 point.

LOCAL STUDENTS ON TV PROGRAM

Sheila Orlinsky And Panel Of Students Appear On The Jr. Town Meeting Last Week

Last week Sheila Orlinsky, as a student representative of Belleville High School, appeared on the Junior Town Meeting of the Air on WATV, Channel 13. Jean Lewis was alternate and the panel of students from Belleville High School were: JoAnn Mohler, Renee Lempert, Pat Thaler, Esther Denton, Suzanne O'Brien, Austin Roberts, and Kenneth King.

The hour-long program was divided into speeches by the four students who represented four different high schools from northern New Jersey. The four representatives were then subjected to questions asked by the panel of students.

The appearance of the students on the television program was arranged by Raymond O. Smith, head of the Social Studies Department.

At Sampson Air Force Base Harold Mason Ford 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ford of Newark, formerly of Belleville, has been inducted into the Air Force and is presently stationed at Sampson Air Force Base.

Concern Visited by Seniors Stock Exchange, Brokerage

Witness Mad Scramble At Exchange and Learn Procedures for Buying Securities; Tour Large Brokerage Firm, Watch Quotations, Transactions

Thirty-seven seniors, under the direction of Mr. Gross and Mr. Dufford, visited the New York Stock Exchange and the New York City Building, one of the largest brokerage firms in the United States last week. They arrived at the exchange a few minutes after it opened and were able to witness the mad scramble that takes place when the opening signal sounds. The students were greatly impressed by the speed and methods used in handling orders to buy and sell securities.

Hostesses divided the students into two groups and explained the operation of the exchange. After the tour they were taken to a small theatre and saw a 12-minute cartoon explaining the steps involved in saving and purchasing securities that in turn help business expand.

The stock exchange tour ended at about 11 a.m. For the next two hours the students enjoyed eating and walking around the financial district of New York. Some visited the Fulton Fish Market and saw boats unloading and packing fish. Some visited the American Stock Exchange, formerly called the Curb Exchange, and compared its size and methods of operation with the New York Stock Exchange.

At 1 p.m. the group assembled at 70 Pine Street, the home offices of Penner & Beane. This tour began in the partner's meeting room with a lecture explaining how a brokerage firm operates. It was an interesting half-hour lecture explaining how stocks and bonds are purchased and sold by customers of Penner & Beane. Each student received a folder containing information regarding the buying and selling of securities; also some prospectus that are required by the S.E.C. in order to get permission to issue new securities.

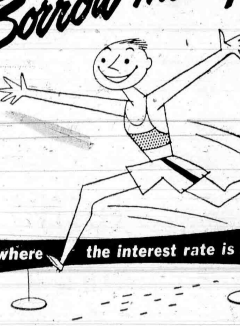

The lecture was followed by a one-hour tour of the various offices and departments. The students observed L.B.M. machines in operation, the sales office with traders watching the stock market.

John Antonik Is Appointed Commander In Charge Of Six Military Training Squadrons

The eighth grade children of Schools One, Four, Nine and Ten, totaling 200 in number, journeyed to the nation's capital on Tuesday. They were met by Rep. Peter Rodino who with them a portion of the day with them.

The group from Belleville left Pennsylvania Station at 8:44 a.m. on the morning Congressional train under the direction of Miss Francis Williamson from Number One; Mrs. Ellen Angus, Number 10; Mrs. Miller and Mr. Clifford Kewler, Number Four; Mrs. Louise Franklin, Mrs. Louise Trachtenberg and Henry Bernhardt of Number Nine, Thomas Gryczka, principal of Number Nine, who had charge of the detail work necessary for the trip, also accompanied the students.

While in Washington, D. C., the students visited the White House - Supreme Court, Capitol Building, FBI Building, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Smithsonian Institution, Lincoln Memorial, and Washington Monument.

School trips of this type are taken with the intent and purpose of bringing reality to the subject matter studied in the classroom. For the first time G. R. Kreimer of James G. Shawyer School, Director of Visual Education, went on the trip. Theoretically, the whole project is a very valuable visual aid.

A student teacher, Henry Bernhardt of Jersey City State Teachers College, doing his practice teaching at Number Nine School in the seventh and eighth grade, had no other choice but to go along with the eighth grade class on March 24, if he wished to be considered "on the job" by his Teachers College.

John Hefferman, head of the Belleville High School Mathematics Department, secured the services of Professor Frank Gryna of Rutgers University, New Brunswick, formerly of New York University, to speak last week at the Belleville High School.

PRE-SCHOOL GROUP EXAMINES JUNIOR BOOKS AT LIBRARY

Librarian Issues Pamphlet On "Growing Up With Books"; Group Inspects Junior Dept.

The Belleville Public Library was the meeting place for the School No. 3 Pre-School Group recently. Miss Florence Stanier, director of the Public Library, showed books which would prove interesting to the pre-school children. The group was divided into two groups, one to inspect the Junior Department while Miss Stanier answered the questions asked by the members.

Mrs. John Marzani acted as hostess. A new member, Mrs. Anthony DiStasio, was welcomed into the association. The next meeting of the group will be held on Wednesday, April 15, at the home of Mrs. Horace Clayton of 112 Garden Avenue. Mrs. Herman Kaupple, program chairman, announced that Mrs. Marzani, announced that Mrs. Marzani of School No. 3 will speak on "Steps to School."

Today at 1 p.m. a desert-bridge will be held at the home of Mrs. Jerry Leire, Jr., of 255 Division Avenue.

Belleville Science Teachers Attend Research Conference

George Lees and Ralph Correll, teachers at Belleville High, attended the Spring Conference of New Jersey Science Teachers Association, which was held on March 18 at Bayway Refinery of Esso Standard Oil Co., Linden.

The program featured an all-day workshop at Esso's Research Center. William L. Davidson of Thomas Jefferson High School, Elizabeth, was program chairman. A panel discussion was held after a tour of the Standard Oil Company plant.

PARENTS WITNESS ARTISTIC WORK OF SCHOOL 8 PUPILS

Demonstrations Of finger Painting, Sketching, Clay Modeling Seen By PTA

The School No. 8 P.T.A. held its first "Parents-Go-To-School" Night on Monday evening, at 8 p.m., at its regular meeting. Parents and friends visited various rooms to see demonstrations of finger painting, paper montage, sketching, clay modeling, pasted chalk drawings, and many other types of art work enjoyed by the children.

Mrs. Nora deLecoeur, art supervisor, was the general chairman, with Mrs. Thomas Ganley as chief aide. Miss Eleanor Walsh, Miss Frances Bischoff, Mrs. Marie Wall, Miss Marjorie Gross, Miss Rita Gilchrist, Miss Virginia McGilvary, Mrs. Bernadette Colaneri, Mrs. Elise Sandford, Mrs. Helen Hammen, Miss Margaret Alvino, Miss Catherine Ross, Miss Carmela Venezia, Mrs. Mildred Leuner and many of the children of each class took part in the demonstration.

After watching the children work in the various media, parents were encouraged to roll up their sleeves and get to work themselves. Who knows, perhaps there is genius in the P.T.A. On Monday evening, March 18, the Executive Committee met at the home of Mrs. Alex Gilchrist, the treasurer of the organization. Nominating Committee reports were made for the 1935-36 slate of officers.

Eighth Graders And Teachers Visit White House, FBI Bldg., Supreme Court, Capitol, Etc.

The eighth grade children of Schools One, Four, Nine and Ten, totaling 200 in number, journeyed to the nation's capital on Tuesday. They were met by Rep. Peter Rodino who with them a portion of the day with them.

The group from Belleville left Pennsylvania Station at 8:44 a.m. on the morning Congressional train under the direction of Miss Francis Williamson from Number One; Mrs. Ellen Angus, Number 10; Mrs. Miller and Mr. Clifford Kewler, Number Four; Mrs. Louise Franklin, Mrs. Louise Trachtenberg and Henry Bernhardt of Number Nine, Thomas Gryczka, principal of Number Nine, who had charge of the detail work necessary for the trip, also accompanied the students.

While in Washington, D. C., the students visited the White House - Supreme Court, Capitol Building, FBI Building, Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Smithsonian Institution, Lincoln Memorial, and Washington Monument.

School trips of this type are taken with the intent and purpose of bringing reality to the subject matter studied in the classroom. For the first time G. R. Kreimer of James G. Shawyer School, Director of Visual Education, went on the trip. Theoretically, the whole project is a very valuable visual aid.

A student teacher, Henry Bernhardt of Jersey City State Teachers College, doing his practice teaching at Number Nine School in the seventh and eighth grade, had no other choice but to go along with the eighth grade class on March 24, if he wished to be considered "on the job" by his Teachers College.

Spring Storm

March is the sly deceiver of the year, The Judas of the twelve, the lion lamb, That generously makes signs of spring appear
And disappear in puzzling diagram: Arbutus, pussy willow, mourning cloak, First robin song along the melting snow, A web of geese, a swamp frog's frozen croak, Slow snake, swift brook, deep-rutted road, sap flow.
We think we have them, but they're not to keep.

One night the vagrant wind veers to the east, and in the morning drifted snow lies deep.
This will not be the last storm, nor the least;
The last will be a storm of songs and flowers, impatiently awaited, finally ours.

Morgan Bulkeley

The New Soviet Sonata, or Song of the Sirens

Diplomats are ever eager beavers. The pattern of post-Stalinist behavior, as manifest by the Communist note "regretting" the shooting down of a British bomber in Germany, has Washington agog with hopes that there is, under Malenkov, a chance for an East-West rapprochement.

It is noticeable, however, that while the communists send a cajoling note to London, Moscow has not answered Washington's abled protests about the shooting down of an American plane on our side of the air border. This may indicate, however, a Soviet desire to split the western front—patching up differences with Churchill while continuing to harass Eisenhower.

If Moscow had any real desire for peace, it would end the war in Korea. If Malenkov wanted to prove his peaceful intentions and take one easy step towards the consolidation of world peace, he could resume negotiations or an Austrian peace treaty which would permit the withdrawal of Russian and Allied troops from the Danube valley.

On the strength of a cajoling note to the British, it is hard to read any peaceful intentions into Malenkov's maneuvers. If the present "cold war" in the West and the "hot war" in Korea exist, it is by Soviet design and action. We did not blockade Berlin; we did not invade South Korea. Those actions were taken by orders from the Kremlin.

True, Stalin is dead and Malenkov is in power, but Malenkov never has been more than Stalin's party whipping boy. His former personal secretary, he is a Stalinist tool, even from the distance of the tomb in Red square. Malenkov has yet to make his first gesture of conciliation towards the United States.

Last October, Stalin defined a policy of dividing the western powers. Malenkov, at Stalin's bier, asserted his devotion to Stalin's policies. Does it not stand to reason, therefore, that in playing up to London alone, Moscow is making an effort to do what Stalin said but was afraid, himself, to attempt.

From our editorial chair, we cannot see one single reason for optimism. We believe it would be more realistic to assume that the shooting down of three planes within a week was timed as a show of force just a few days before the West German Bundestag cast its decisive vote on signing a contract with the European Defense Commission, the anti-Communist front.

It is no secret that if an opportunity presented itself, through some defection in Poland, Czechoslovakia, Hungary or China, to break up the Russian ring of satellites, we would capitalize on it. We believe, therefore, that Malenkov is merely, clumsily, trying to turn the tables on us. He will search just as persistently any opportunity to break up the alliance of western democracies.

You Cannot Send a Boy
To do a Man's Job

President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have whittled Senator Joseph R. McCarthy down to size.

Television and front page headlines have made giants out of mediocre men. There can be no denial that there were Communists who had wormed their way into our government offices, our labor unions and our universities but their eradication is in process and has been completed. The "Spanish Inquisition," the prying into thoughts as well as acts, was but an unhappy sideshow to that self-purge.

The little men who hate to lose their headlines misinterpreted the public interest in the riddance of our national government of Communists and fellow travelers. They sought to prevent the nomination of "Chip" Bohlen as United States Ambassador to Moscow on the grounds that he had been an advisor of Franklin Delano Roosevelt at Yalta.

It became necessary for a showdown and neither Eisenhower nor Dulles care easily.
As was to have been expected, there was no stopping the little men. Intoxicated by publicity, their self-importance glorified by television, they forced the showdown. Up on Capitol Hill there may not be too many mental giants, but there are many sincere men in the Senate who have seen through the self-glorifying tactics of the little men.

Bohlen would make our best ambassador in Moscow, regardless of Yalta. He speaks Russian, he knows many Russians, he has served long and well the State Department in Russia. Too many new Ambassadors, products of our system of payoffs and political pup, have been named recently to important ambassadorships abroad. In Moscow we need a professional, not just a man who had the fortune to underwrite the Republican campaign.

To defeat the nefarious purposes of Communism, we need men who know Communism. Our State Department has no one more qualified than Bohlen. Dulles is for him, Eisenhower is for him. The fact that Senator McCarthy refuses to "clear" him makes him more than ever, in our eyes, an excellent candidate for our most difficult Embassy.

One Man's Opinion

Churchill, a Man With a One-Track Military Mind, Has Scored a Timely and Tremendous Victory Over Malenkov in the Balkans

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

As a soldier and a statesman, Winston Churchill is very set in his ways. Once agitated, his personality has been rewarded. He has rendered very vulnerable what, long ago, he chose to call in his very picturesque vernacular "the soft under-belly of Europe."

While we looked askance at Marshall Tito, hesitating to be more than civilly polite to a Communist and a Dictator, Churchill, who never has been averse to picking strange bed-fellows, called Tito to London, wine and dined him—even including luncheon with Queen Elizabeth—and struck a political-military bargain which, once again, puts him in a position to strike a telling blow at that "soft under-belly." Where once it was Kaiser Wilhelm's, then Hitler's, it now is Malenkov's.

As a war correspondent, I always have felt that World War I ended not from any tactical victories of Foch, in the West, but from the swift invasion begun by French General Sarrail up the Vardar River valley from a beachhead at Sa-lonika, in the Balkans. Churchill was the strategist who laid all the plans for that maneuver.

The net result of Tito's state visit to London is a new Balkan Entente. This time Yugoslavia is lined up with Turkey and Greece against Hungary, Rumania and Bulgaria. The advantage is infinitely on our side. In the bloody past, the Serbs, too, often were the enemies of the Greeks or the Turks. No one will deny that they are the best fighters in the Balkans, far superior to the Albanians, the Rumanians and the Bulgars. For once they are teamed up and that is the consequence, not of an accident but of very careful calculations by a shrewd old gentleman who knows every corner of Europe, its problems and its weaknesses—Churchill.

New Balkan Entente

It was by design that Tito was brought into the camp of the Western democracies. When Tito broke with Stalin and went his own Communist way, we were included in the trap. Churchill judged the break to be real. Almost as soon as he came back to power, when Labor crashed in Downing Street, Churchill began to woo Tito. We, at the same time, were building up Greece and Turkey.

The new Balkan Alliance fits perfectly the new picture created by Stalin's death, but it had no importance. Tito was invited to London as long ago as September, 1952, when Churchill sent Anthony Eden, his Foreign Secretary, to Belgrade to carry the invitation in person. Tito agreed at that time to come.

Churchill can do these things, where President Eisenhower would run into a wall of hostility from the McGoverns of Congress.
His own record proves that there is no more vigorous opponent of Communism and of Socialism than Churchill. All his modern political life he has fought the Macdonalds and the Attlees and Beveridge of the II International.

Royalty Forgets

It is hard for most Americans to conceive of a luncheon party being served in Buckingham Palace by the Queen in honor of a Communist who denounced her cousin, King Peter of Yugoslavia, but pictures showed the Marshall standing in the traditional fireplace pose with Queen Elizabeth, her consort, her mother and her sisters. They were all smiling.
Only King Peter was nowhere in sight.

British Catholics detest Tito for what he did to the Roman clergy in Catholic Croatia and in Orthodox Serbia. They cannot forget that Bishop Stepinac still imprisoned in a Tito jail. Yet, such is the flexibility of British diplomacy, that there was not a single allusion or hint to demonstrate Catholic hostility. Catholic leaders admonished the lay Catholics to treat him as the British government's guest.

It is hard to picture Tito other than what he is, a Marxist and a Communist. Coincident with his departure from London, a detachment from Belgrade this week announced that Yugoslavia was going to abandon forced industrial production in favor of incentive production with permission to pile up profits which are to be taxed progressively just as they are in this country and in Britain.

In brief, Tito is going to try capitalism without capitalists. In turning over from a Communist economy to a capitalist economy, he confesses the failure of Marx but he does not renounce, or pretends to remain, a Communist.
Then too, the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development has agreed to help him finance the shift away from economic practices which he originally copied from the Soviet Union.

Churchill's interest in Tito was military—not economic. It is miserable if Tito ever could make Yugoslavia self-supporting; he never could export enough chieft-leaves England in the Middle Eastern markets. But Yugoslavia as a military ally and as a corridor for striking a "soft underbelly" blow at Red Russia, unswayed vulnerably over the Eastern half of Europe, that was something which interested Churchill the soldier.

Two driving World War I Churchill tried to hit at the Kaiser from below. The first time he thought to open a way to Russia, Germany ally and to solve Bulgarians, reinforced by the German XI Army, barring his way on a line from Lake Ochrida across Macedonia to the Bulgarian border. It had been agreed that terrain and it would be the perfect setting for Dante's Inferno. The mountains came gray, volcanic ash hardened and arid.

Not a tree, not a blade of grass.
The Bulgarians, no mean soldiers in those days, had excellent Hungarian artillery behind them in the hills.

Sarrail, with a reinforced army of British, Greeks and Serbs, as well as French, attacked.
France was in the throes of another political upheaval and Clemenceau, who came to power, fired Joffre and brought in Foch as commander in chief. He recalled Sarrail and sent him in his place. General Guillaumet. The latter had barely taken over when he, too, was recalled by the Tiger of France and General d'Esperey took command. Franchet d'Esperey and I can only compare him to a little terrier which worries a rat to death.

He began by a series of smashing local attacks which gave the German commander, Von Scholtz, and the Bulgarian commander, General Gekoff, very confusing ideas as to his intentions and his strength. That was in April, 1918.
He stayed on the offensive all summer, neither the Germans nor the Bulgarians knowing where he might strike next.

Then in September, he massed 500 pieces of French artillery through with his cavalry and the blow was through. He drove Bulgarians and Serbs back and while Sofia sued for a separate peace, the Germans sued for a total peace. The surrender of the Kaiser's shaky structure had collapsed.

Franchet d'Esperey broke through with his cavalry and the retreat became a rout. The Kaiser was Balkan-minded. He was worried by the defeat on the Vardar, but the most terrible blow came when the British divisions succeeded in knocking the beachhead at any cost. The cost was high but Sarrail held on by his fingernails.

Early in 1917, Joffre ordered Sarrail to break out of his beachhead and to create a diversionary front in the Balkans while the French, British and newly-arrived Americans smashed at the Germans in the west.

Sarrail sent a column up the Vardar Valley and found the Balkanians who whipped the Kaiser, as it was the Russian drive back from St. Petersburg through Bessarabia, Rumania and Hungary which whipped Hitler.
The biggest final battle of the war was fought at Lake Balaton, in northern Hungary, and when the Russians defeated the Germans they opened the door into Bavaria, Hitler quail. A week later he was dead, by his own hand.

Churchill, who was a war correspondent in the Boer War more than a century ago, knows those sources of history by heart. He was one of their authors. It stands to reason, therefore, that he believes in his strategy of the "soft under-belly." Now he has set the stage, once again.

Yugoslavia is the corridor, as it was in 1918, and this time we have the Turks and the Greeks and Macedonians form a very powerful army, we now present a powerful menace to Malenkov's "soft under-belly." The typical Churchill strategy come to life again.

Beck's Television Column

It appears as if we are headed for another congressional investigation—as if there are not enough going already. One again color TV is to be scrutinized.

Probably you remember what happened just about 3 years ago. CBS with its color wheel TV system fought tooth and nail against the whole industry, prompted by one overzealous senator, who thought that color TV was deliberately withheld from the public. The Federal Communications Commission approved—under what appeared to be political pressure—the color wheel. Nobody in the industry wanted to manufacture this monstrosity and CBS was compelled to buy its own factory. A small number of sets were actually manufactured, but the public did not want any part of it. After the start of the Korean war the Defense Mobilizer did not allocate the necessary raw materials for the production of color TV sets and it appeared as if a sigh of relief was coming from CBS for being "kicked off the hook."

Anyway there was not one word of protest against this ruling, which is rather unusual after CBS had spent millions of dollars to push the matter.

The industry is working on the perfection of a tri-color tube. Admittedly, sets could be produced today, but they would be very expensive and still have numerous "bugs". In addition so far most of the experimentation has been done on so-called very high frequencies (VHF), whereas ultimately color TV will have to be brocast on ultrahigh frequencies (UHF). They are having their hands full to solve the problems of black and white TV on UHF.

The difficulties are magnified for color TV on UHF.
It is to be hoped that the industry will not be pushed prematurely into releasing color TV, in spite of the pressure being applied. It would mean a bad start for a new medium of entertainment deserving better.

The consensus of opinion of the leaders in the TV industry is that it will take from 5 to 10 years until color TV is ripe for general use. It appears to be safe to assume that you will be able to receive color transmissions on present day TV sets, black and white without any change on existing sets.

Purchase All-Steel Slides For Recreation Playgrounds

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde has just announced the receipt of three new slides from the American Playground Equipment Company. After careful study the Recreation Department decided on the American slides because of their very heavy construction. They are of all-steel construction with stainless steel chutes. This is the same type of slide as is used by the Newark Boys' Club. The new slides will be put into use on the Playgrounds for this summer's program. Good, substantial, equipment like this will serve many years without the need of constant maintenance and will guarantee the children the maximum in safety during their summer play.

gators to Eighth grade inclusive on March 6. The Book Fair started on Monday, March 2, and during the week the teachers selected about 2500 new books for their classroom libraries. Each teacher had the privilege of selecting at least fifteen books for her room.

The purpose of classroom libraries is to provide reading material for all subjects on the various levels of learning that exist in a class. A classroom library makes it possible for a student to read material on his own level and thus avoid frustration.

At the close of the Book Fair each teacher evaluated the program, and considered the following points: Do you consider the books displayed adequate from the standpoint of quantity, scope and quality? Explain whether you consider a book fair the best method of selecting supplementary books. What suggestions can you offer for improvement?

Results indicate that a large number of teachers approved the new plan. Master lists were composed from the Book Fair which the teachers will be able to use next year. Teachers are always free to order three of their fifteen books without using the master list.

Walter Watnuff, special reading teacher, helped to evaluate the books, and Mrs. Mary Gilroy, school order chairman of the Book Fair Committee. Some of the teachers who worked on the committee were: Miss Jean Bailey, Mrs. Emma B. Miller, Mrs. Bernadette Colaneri, Mrs. June Watnuff, Mrs. Mary Gilroy, and Miss Stacy Yaskol.

SOCIAL STUDIES TEACHER NAMED ACTIVITIES HEAD

Michael Rosamilia Prepares Program Of School Activity; Progress Check On Project

Hugh D. Kittle, principal of Belleville High School, has announced the appointment of Michael Rosamilia of the Social Studies and Guidance Departments as the Coordinator of Activities. Mr. Rosamilia was active in extra-curricular activities while at college, having served in student government and president of the National Student Reliance Club and Kappa Delta Phi, the national teachers honor society.

Before graduating, he was selected for Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges. The recently appointed coordinator has served on the faculty committee on Co-curricular activities which has been examining the program in Belleville High School for the past year.

A tentative program for activities during school time has been prepared by Mr. Rosamilia, with the cooperation of the Co-curricular Activities Committee, composed of students and faculty members. Concentration, at the moment, is being placed upon activities for freshmen while the upper classes are attending assembly. This will be followed by a program for upper classes to take place during lunch and assembly.

Some of the new activities being organized are: Modeling Club for Boys, Cribbage and Bridge Club, and the new Square Dancing Club. On Monday, Dr. David Austin of Teachers College, Columbia University, will visit Belleville High School to check on the progress being made with the new program.

HOLD SQUARE DANCE FESTIVAL AT HIGH SCHOOL

Over 200 Elementary Pupils Hold Affair In Gym; Awards
Prizes For Novelty Dances

Last Friday the combined eighth grades of all the elementary schools in Belleville, totaling 200 students, held a gigantic square dance festival in the boy's gym at Belleville High School. Prizes were awarded for the winners of the novelty dances which were arranged by the committee. There was also social dancing for the boys and girls who enjoy the more formal type of terpsichorean art. Refreshments were served.

The following teachers assisted Edward Berlinski and Miss Margaret Leahy in arranging the dances: Mrs. Maud Miller, Miss Frances Williamson, Miss Kathryn Conklin, Mrs. Elizabeth Rosamilia, Mrs. Louise Franklin, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Ethel Williamson and Mrs. Ellen Angus.

Music was provided by Fred Richey's professional square dance band and callers. Students from No. 5 school were in charge of decorations and the refreshment committee from School No. 9 was supervised by Miss Kathryn Conklin and Mrs. Elizabeth Rosamilia. The following students served on the committees: Mary Peterlin, Angela Ricetti, Barbara Sloan, Anthony Brindisi and Robert DiPiano.

Belleville Youth Elected To Phi Beta Kappa At Rutgers U.

Holister C. Sugo of 41 Mt. Pleasant Avenue was one of eight juniors at Rutgers University to be elected to membership in Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic society, it was announced recently by Dr. Sidney Sanderson, Rutgers professor of psychology and secretary of the Alpha Chapter of New Jersey. Juniors elected merit special distinction since their scholastic record must be even higher than that of the seniors elected.

Traffic Safety Film Shown At High School Last Week

An informative film was shown to the students of Belleville High School in the auditorium last week. The film, provided by Joseph Kieh, president of Gary Motors, Kaiser and Fraser dealers of Belleville, was an excellent example of how proper instruction, correct attitude and cooperation between parents and children can help to avoid traffic accidents. The students who are members of the cast of the senior play, "Reserve Two For Murder," presented excerpts of the plot to entertain the audience and to advertise their production. Otto Brown is the faculty director of the senior play.

Correction

An error was inadvertently made in last week's Times-News in which a statement in a story on a State Aid to Education meeting should have read that Belleville would receive approximately $574,000 under the proposed school aid program.

Life at BHS As We See It

Peggy Kelly and Evelyn Hanson

WARNING - This is your last chance. If you don't do it now, tonight, you'll be sorry. Opportunity knocks but once! Remember it's your fault if you miss up this big chance, don't blame us! Yes, you guessed it! Tonight the last performance of "Reserve Two for Murder" will be given. Gather up the whole family and bring them to Belleville High School's auditorium to enjoy a spine tingling evening. For seventy-five cents how can you go wrong? Don't miss this great drama! The whole town is talking about it! (Besides we need the money!)

NOTE - This is a message to all those who witnessed the first showing of the play. Please do not, we repeat do not, tell anyone what happens in the last five minutes of the mystery. It would surely spoil the story for all those charming people who are coming tonight. We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable Rights, that among them are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness. Mr. Sidney Hollander, president of the Ever Ready Label Company presented a full color reproduction of one of Arthur Seyd's famous illuminated paintings of the Declaration of Independence to Belleville High School in our assembly last Friday. The thing, however, which impressed us the most was the talk which Mr. Hollander gave during the presentation. Mr. Hollander is really a great guy in our opinion and we hope to see or hear from him again.

Bang! Bang! The second part of the program was devoted to the previews of the senior play. After seeing such wonderful excerpts we don't see how anyone could resist coming!

The final section of the program was devoted to those crazy-y-j-m drivers not the careful, careful women drivers, with two exceptions, of course! The film was an excellent warning to our teenagers, in fact, drivers of all ages, especially since the Prom season is coming up. We hope everyone took it to heart.

On last Friday while the upper classmen were in the assembly, the freshmen started their activity periods. The different groups offered were social dancing, square dancing, bridge and cribbage, model, camera, and science clubs. This shows a trend in Belleville High's extra-curricular activities and, we think, a good one. It offers a chance of participating to those kids who work after school or go home on the buses. Thanks go to the teachers whose hard work made this type program possible.

My friends: The politicians and electioneers of B. H. S. will be in full bloom soon. The all-important and exciting Student Council elections are coming up soon. The pre-nomination period has Sandy Smith, Harry Valante, and Larry Dondrio running for the top space of president. Remember, kids, this is part of our American heritage so let's keep it the best!

Charging in there! Personal on you! Our "ref-to-be" took their practical and written exams last week. Now, gals, you can't argue with the refs, they really know their business. Our aces are Dot Chotowski, Leona Saland, Bev Campbell, Tanya Greulich, Angie Fusaro, Peg Burke, Lil Gettler, Judy Weissman, Barbara, Grace Abbott, Joanne Haster, C. K. Kik, Joyce McShane, Grace Orth, Kay Carroll, Barbara Newschwander.

Row, row, row your boat! The beautiful Pacific is now the scene of crew practice. The fellows that will make up the nationally famous eight-shell are Jim Kant, cox; Bill Hall, stroke; and Ron Worthington, Nick Cristos, Harold Sutherland, Bob Taylor, Ed Gray, Bob Austin, and Tex Dunlop. The first scheduled race will be against Columbia, April 12. Let's repeat last year's format. Follows, by rowing away with top honors in the Nationals in Buffalo.

"Tennis, anyone!" No, volleyball! Now that the students of the 6 and 7 gym classes of Thursday and Friday have crocheted the volleyball nets, the leagues have been formed, and the teams will soon begin the battles for the championship. Don't miss these contests, they should be real thrillers.

Our congratulations, as well as those of all other students of Belleville High and fans of the B. H. S. basketball team, go out to Corky Galters who earned himself a place on the Star Ledger All-County Second Team. Nice going, Cork!

Hey, Miss Thomson, how is your finger? We hope you took out insurance on that precious little digit. Belleville High needs - - your finger! No, Miss Thomson wasn't setting a record last week during non-time dancing, just holding it in place!

We now leave you with tears in our eyes. Why? Oh, haven't you heard? The poor junior class isn't hiring a bus this year. Now, how can we go to the Junior Prom?
