Eighty-Seven Out For Crew Vie For Seating in Shells

Long Hours Put in By Coach Bennett And Assistant Smith to See That All Get Chance on River, Every Day

Those fans who made the dinner for the basketball team given by the Varsity Club at the Elks Club on Saturday night, heard a different kind of speech than is the usual fare at a dinner of this kind. Big Ed Sadowski, of Seton Hall and professional fame, told the boys, quite frankly, what basketball had done for him, and to illustrate technical points about the game, took a piece of chalk, and using the floor of the Elks Club auditorium as a blackboard, drew circles and boxes all over the place. Unfortunately the affair was rather poorly attended, from the sponsoring group's point of view. Senior members of the varsity squad each received a trophy from the club.

With eighty-seven candidates from Belleville and 56 from Nutley, each promised a chance to take to the water every day of practice, Crew Coach Bill Bennett and Assistant Coach Raymond Smith have now finished in preparing for the crew season which opens next Saturday with the Columbia Lightweights offering the opposition. Practice sessions this week ended at 6:45 for some of the youngsters, and for the coaches. In this sport the boys who get out on the river early in the afternoon, also are finished early and can go home.

Four eight oared and two four oared shells are on the river from about 9:45 until the last group of youngsters have had their chance to pull an oar or call the beat from the coxswain's seat.

This year for the first time Bill Bennett is concentrating on the two varsity boats and has given up on the singles and doubles events. These events are not practical, inasmuch as they take too much individual attention of the coaches, and there is enough competition during the season to make the effort worthwhile.

Eighty-five candidates are upperclassmen and therefore candidates for the two varsity boats. Thirty-two candidates are freshmen whose chief hope is to be picked to man the Belleville boat in the annual Belleville-Nutley freshman race, which traditionally closes the season. If enough Nutley freshmen can be coached to man two boats for that school, Nutley hopes to make it a four shell race this season.

Candidates for varsity boats are: Ronnie Worthington, Harold Sutphen, Freddie Cox, Ken King, Joe Sorrentino, Bill Hall, Don Clark, Ed Gray, Bill Dunleavy, Nick Supthen, Johnny Kant, Bob and Zipf, Jimmy Demarg, Gerald Gilroy, Phil Meika, Jack Connolly, Harry Valente, Ralph Bartlett and John Buccarelli.

In Honor Society

John M. Combs of 191 Branch Brook Drive is among 31 Rutgers evening students to win election to the University College Honor Society for excellent academic achievement, it was announced this week by the college.

We never had the pleasure of seeing the late Jim Thorpe perform, but we are convinced that there is no athlete alive today who could possibly be in his class, regardless of what they say about Bob Mathias and Milt Campbell. For in the 1912 Olympics, Thorpe won the Pentathlon and Decathlon events in four days time. That's the equivalent of a record breaking performance in 15 events in four days. As we say, we did not see Thorpe, but we did see a Decathlon winner, who after getting a national magazine writer as the possible successor to Thorpe, entered the Pentathlon at Ellsboth on one week-end and won it, but the next week-end was completely bushed at the end of three events that he had to drop out of the competition.

State Tournament
Reports have it that Essex County Coaches and as schools are so disgruntled with the operation of the State Tournament for the next year, only Bloomfield and some Newark Schools will enter teams from this section. West Orange and Orange are the most recent schools to announce that they are no longer interested in extending their season a full month in order to compete under existing conditions. There are many things which must be done to improve the situation. One is that it should be an invitation affair, open only to the best teams in the state, and then be conducted on a basis fair to everyone. This year South Jersey collected just one title in five classes, and that because the two teams from North Jersey killed each other in the semi-final. Year after year the story is the same. Seldom has South Jersey been able to take a title, and occasionally central has grabbed one, but the predominance of success from the Catholic divisions through the four public school groups has been from the Essex, Hudson, Bergen area.

This year our neighbors from North Arlington, took Group I honors easily. Westwooden romped to the Group II title. Group III, which traditionally has been held by the Bergen County schools, went to Riverside of South Jersey; Bloomfield won Group four with comparative ease by beating Bayonne and Jefferson; St. Mary's of Elizabeth won the Catholic B and St. Peter's of Jersey City won the Catholic A.

On their records, these and a few other first class teams could have played a much better tournament. Union Hill twice beat Bayonne, before bowing in the state tournament. Hackensack and Linden, semi-finalists in Group III, each had good teams and good records. Essex County had at least five Group IV better than the South-Central representatives.

We have felt that the group which controls the State Association will make no move as long as Walter E. Short is the secretary. Once he is out of the picture by retirement or death, a thorough revision to cut the length of the tournament, to put it on a paying basis, and to make it more attractive to the member schools, must be made, or the tournament should be given up entirely in favor of higher assessments against member schools. The tournament's shortcomings reflect with disfavor upon the state association itself, and weakens its influence of the association upon member schools.

The Sportswriters Association came up with a resolution asking the Association to conduct a tournament of champions, pitting all the champs to determine the one best team in the state. This too is wrong. It would prolong the season further. The real solution to this is to cut out the groups, hold an invitation tournament and bring in the very best teams in the state in a field of no more than 16, to fight it out, no holds barred, and no divisions except the championship group. Under this setup, even Montclair, which for our money deserves the championship, this year, might even be prevailed upon to compete.

No More Tennis
Belleville High has given up its Tennis team for the lack of interest, a situation which is prevalent throughout the East. Once a thriving sport in this locality, the game has dwindled to such an extent that most of the Tennis Clubs have folded up and left the continuance of the sport up to the County Park Commission and a few recreation departments. California and Florida, today are the last strongholds for the sport.

ST. PETER'S BOWLS IN TITLE BOWLING TILT
Defeat St. Charles For Sectional Crown Then Lose To Valentines In County Championship Tilt

St. Peter's, Belleville, failed in its bid to capture the Essex County CYO Intermediate Boys bowling league championship last Sunday, losing both games in the semi-final to St. Valentine's, Bloomfield. Jack Lynch anchored the local legions with a 210 game while Ted Zawacki's 202 paced the winners to victories of 735-709 and 764-728.

Belleville Masons Lose
St. Albans pulled a real surprise in the Newark Masonic Bowling League at the Branch Brook Lane on Friday when they took a 2 to 1 210 game.

Track Coach Has Two Vets Twenty - Seven Canidates

Joe Mignon and Gil Stout Will Carry Team In Sprints and High Jump; Plenty of Opportunity For Every Candidate to Find Place on Team

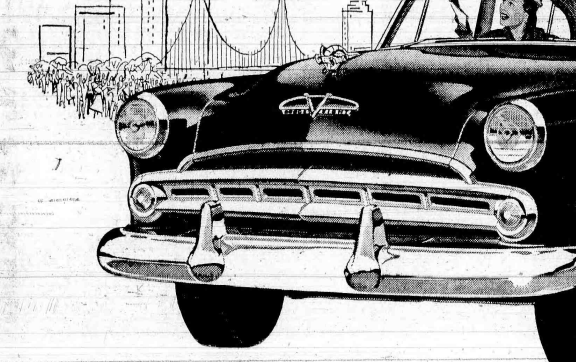

Coach Wilho Winika had his Belleville High track team out-of-doors for the first time on Tuesday when he took about 27 candidates up to Clearman field for a little exercise. This will be Belleville's second year in track and Coach Winika has a tough job ahead. With most of the footballers reporting for crew, he has very little in the way of candidates for the field events, and will have to build his team around his runners and jumpers. The team has only two veterans, Joe Mignon, sprinter and Gil Stout, high jumper. Others who showed promise last year are Arthur Peterson, miler; Alan Besemer in the 220 and 440, Joe Thomas and Bob Crowning in the half mile, Clint Indewies in the shot, and Anthony Pratola, Frank Cautsar and Robert Catenacci in the quarter.

Other candidates for the team are: Steve Cohen, Pat Lilio, Jim Hitchner, Philip DiMeo, Dick Ricciopio, John Walz, Dan Kelly, Robert Schalline, Bill Goione, John Grmelich, John Lynch, Harry Jacini, Robert Greene, Fred Reid, Nick LaPina, Robert Mason and Joseph Brown.

REPUBLICAN COMMITTEE Endorses Paul Troast

Members of the Belleville Republican County Committee acting as independent voters, at a meeting on Tuesday night at the Veterans Hall in Belleville Avenue, unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Paul L. Troast of Passaic for the Republican nomination for Governor on April 21. The meeting was presided over by Rudolph P. Zoeller, town chairman. Mrs. Ruth Fredericks, vice-chairman of the county committee and president of the Women's Republican Club, presided at a pre-election meeting of that organization at the American Legion Hall on April 13, and will introduce Mr. Troast to the people of Belleville.

REDS WIN PAL TITLE IN OVERTIME GAME

Convert 22 Fouls In 31 Trips Including Eight-In-Extra Period; Tom Candura Is High

The Reds won the championship of the Belleville P.A.L. Junior Basketball League, Tuesday at the Belleville High gym, when they defeated the Golds in an overtime game 53 to 48. The Reds won the game from the foul line, converting 22 out of 31 tries, including eight in the overtime. At the end of the regulation time the score was 45 to 45. In the extra period the Reds scored four successive fouls and then while freezing the ball, converted 10 Golds to commit four more persons. Tommy Candura had five field goals and 12 conversions for 22 points. Joe Caputo was high for the losers with 19.

The champs will be feted at a dinner to be held for the teams in the P.A.L. league, in the near future. The officers of the P.A.L. are indebted to Frank Cautsar, Stanley Zachal, Frank Verian and Dave Connolly for their coaching efforts, and to all the players in the league who played a fine spirit and good sportsmanship throughout the league play.

Belleville Cops Come Within Four Points of Topping Foe

About a month ago the Belleville Police Pistol team thought it did well when it lost a match to the Bloomfield Police Pistol team. Sunday the schedule of the Essex County Police Revolver League brought the same two teams together again, and this time Bloomfield won again, but this time by three pins, 1145 to 1162. Captain Cowan, the league's best shot finished the leader in the match with 296 points. He had perfect targets for both slow and rapid shooting, a feat matched by Jim Pindar of the Belleville team.

"Get Yourself A Program, You'll Be Lost Without One"

Deprived of Party Backing, All The Candidates Try To Make You Believe They're 'Regular'

You'll need a program to identify the candidates when you go to the Primary polls on April 21.

Since neither state party machine has backed a candidate in the Primary, each one has tried, in picking his banner and his slogan, to make you believe that he is the bearer of the party blessing. There are "Republican Regulars" and "Regular Republicans," just as there are "Regular Democrats" and "Regular Organization Democrats."

In such an open Primary, there is nothing in the law to prevent a candidate naming any label he wants on himself, so long as he does not say in so many words that he is the candidate of one party or the other.

In the Democratic column, there is a real play on words. Former State Senator Robert B. Meyer of Phillipsburg will be known on the ballot as "Regular Democratic Organization," while Elmer H. Wene, Vineland chick raiser, will be designated as "Regular Democrat." Alexander F. Ormsby, Jersey City lawyer, will run as "Regular Organization Democrat."

John J. Winbury, of Passaic and of Rutherford, will be listed as Democratic Organization Candidate.

In the Republican camp, Paul L. Troast, of Clifton, chairman of the New Jersey Turnpike Authority, is slated as a "Regular Republican" while Senator Malcolm S. Forbes, of Fair Hills, is listed merely as "Republican." From this point on, the slogans differ in the Republican column.

State Senator Kenneth C. Hand, of Elizabeth, will run under the slogan of "Good Honest Republican Government," but his campaign cards read "Let's Give New Jersey a Hand." Assemblyman Fred E. Shepard of Elizabeth is seeking "Better State Government." Charles R. Klein, of Woodbridge, is running under the banner of "Efficiency and Honesty in Government."

HOSPITAL DRIVE TO BE LAUNCHED

Jackie Gleason, TV Star, To Help Get Clara Mass Hospital Drive Under Way

Jackie Gleason, CBS Television Star, will visit Newark on Wednesday, to attend a dinner which will launch the Clara Mass Memorial Hospital Special Gifts Campaign to hasten the construction of a new $4,000,000 hospital on a 14-acre site on the Belleville-Newark line, across from Branch Brook Park. The affair will be held at the Elizabethan Room of the Essex House Hotel.

A gala parade led by the mounted troops of the Newark Police, an army band from Camp Kilmer and an honor guard will escort Gleason up Raymond Boulevard from the Plaza in front of Pennsylvania Station to Broad Street, then along Broad Street to the steps of the City Hall where Mayor Ralph A. Villani, at 4 p.m., will present Gleason with a key to the city.

Gleason will then visit the 80-year old hospital, at Newton Street and 12th Avenue, and will appear at the campaign dinner that evening.

April

Something so meek about April,
Gentle where March has been wild;
No moods from a lamb to a lion,
April is earth's crying child.
She sohs with misty heart longing,
Weeps with a smile-breaking frown;
Sunshine coaxes out laughter
Chasing the rain-drops down.

Dorothy de St. Clement

Cancer, Our Greatest Killer

The Essex County Chapter, American Cancer Society, is conducting its annual campaign for funds here during April. At the same time, the Society announced progress in its fight against cancer, stressing that the long hard road of research can turn at any moment. A look at the record of American scientific achievement will demonstrate this better than anything.

The death rate from rheumatic fever declined 23 per cent between 1944 and 1950. Deaths from pneumonia and influenza declined 47 per cent in the same period. From 1944 to 1949 appendicitis deaths were cut 53.7 per cent, and the scarlet fever death rate dropped 70 per cent.

The over-all death rate in the United States was reduced 15 per cent from 1937 to 1950. This represents a saving of 1,768,847 lives. This tremendous improvement is directly due to the development of the sulfa drugs, penicillin and other antibiotics. But these wondrous jailers of infection did not leap full bloom from the minds of their creators. They were the results of many patient years of plodding investigations.

And so, too, can it be done with cancer.

What Price a Communist Peace?

The tendency, in dealing with a Communist, is to beware of gift-bearing Greeks. The very principles of Communism are built on deceit and deception; the record of Communism is a long, sorry story of intrigues, assassinations, revolution and sedition.

And yet the willingness of the Soviet Union to discuss the unification of Germany and the offer of the Chinese and North Korean Communists to negotiate an exchange of sick and wounded prisoners of war must be considered a good omen.

It would be folly to take this peace offensive, with its many facets, at its face value. We have been deceived too often in the past. The gate was opened, long ago, in the tents of Panmunjon. We opened it. The Communists have waited two years to make this offer. In the meantime, Stalin has died, but Molotov, Vishinski, and other Communists who were responsible for the tension in Europe and the wars in Korea and Indo-China, are still in power. Surely the death of one man has not changed the entire concept of Communism.

The world needs an era of peace. If it was wholly within our powers, we Americans would give it or impose it. The United Nations has a role of peacemaker and peace-imposer defined in its charter. At San Francisco, where Molotov helped to write the set of rules, it was set down that the 52 member nations recognized that the prime aim of the United Nations was to preserve peace, if possible, or to restore peace, by force if necessary. Any negotiations with Communism over Korea can have but one setting, the UN peace tent at Panmunjon.

To temper undue optimism it is necessary, only, to recall a few facts, a few dates. The Communist invasion of South Korea began in June, 1950, some three years ago. The first UN peace offer dates to that same month. In December, 1950, when our troops were retreating, the UN renewed its peace offer but the Communists scorned the five basic principles. In February, 1951, the UN called on Communist China to cease hostilities, and then condemned Peiping as an aggressor.

Only when the war turned against the Communist armies in June, 1951, did Moscow intervene and the peace tent at Panmunjon was put up. It is now evident that the Communists, until now, did not want peace. They wanted time to build up the Chinese Red armies. In the meantime, they accused us of "germ warfare." They sought, in the UN, to condemn the United States as the "real aggressors." They stalled, within the tent, and they incited riots in the prison camps. They did everything to impede real peace.

Is it any wonder, then, that now we ask ourselves: What price a Communist peace? R.E.H.

One Man's Opinion

France is Engaged too Deeply in Her Fight With Communism in Indochina to Pull Out, but Cannot go it Alone

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

France, once again, is in difficulties and we find a French Premier in Washington trying to set things right. The difficulties stem, this time, from a war in Indochina in which France, comparatively small and poor alongside the United States, is compelled to fight a war against Communism on a scale even greater than our war in Korea — and she is fighting it without allies or the fictitious material support of the UN.

The sorry truth is that France has the culture, the tradition and the ambitions of a first class power but her resources in men, materials and money are definitely those of a second-class power. Her tradition prevents France from stepping down to a lesser role on the world stage, but the necessities of the present day struggle between Communism and Capitalism are slowly bleeding her. Premier Rene Mayer has come to tell his old friend of the early days in Algiers, General Dwight D. Eisenhower, that France cannot continue to fight her war in the Far East alone. That was no secret to President Eisenhower; in a first conference last weekend, the United States agreed to increase its contribution towards the French war effort but insisted in return that France should map out a new military plan calling for an all-out effort to wind up the war victoriously the soonest possible.

France is still paying its debt to Napoleon. So many young Frenchmen died in the far-flung battlefields of Bonaparte that France was left white when the Emperor, finally, was chased into exile in St. Helena. The first of three major modern wars with Germany, in 1871, pitting Napoleon III against Bismarck, bled France again. Her losses in World War I passed one and a half million casualties. France never again rose from that blood-letting and even though her part of World War II, in 1939-40, was short France was too weak to fight a major war in Indochina alone, and produce at home everything she needs for her peace and her war effort.

New In Politics

Mayer is an excellent emissary for France, especially when the White House is the goal. I knew Mayer in Paris and I saw him in Vichy when, on his way through, he successfully reached North Africa to join up with General Henri Giraud and the Free French. To escape no part in politics until the collapse of the old regime called for a whole new set of men. He was an exile in London, but he was "The Gaulist." In fact in negotiating to form his Cabinet, M. Mayer told the followers of General Charles de Gaulle they would have to "go through purgatory (support the government) to get to paradise (a Cabinet portfolio)." They're still in purgatory as far as he is concerned.

Mayer made his postwar mark in French politics as Finance Minister, with brief turns in the Justice and Defense Ministries. At the end of 1947, he caught the nation's black marketers flat-footed by a sudden devaluation of the franc, coupled with the mandatory recall of all 5,000-franc notes, then the largest denomination. People who turned them in were subject to questions about how they got them and whether income taxes had been paid.

A year ago, Mayer had virtually decided to quit active politics. He agreed to take the French seat on the international court of the Schuman steel-coal pool plan but changed his mind at the last minute when he learned Italy would get the presiding judgeship. In the long history of France's four republics, there have been but two Jewish Premiers. Leon Blum, who rose to power in 1936 at the head of the Socialists with the "Popular Front," was the first. Mayer is the second. One of his grandfathers was the grand rabbi of a Parisian synagogue. On his mother's side he is related to the French branch of the Rothschild banking family.

Graying and heavy-set, with a large and strongly lined face and baggy eyes, he exudes a ponderous dignity but can rise to rapier sharp repartee. No joiner or back-slapper, he has a somewhat cold manner and probably would be ill at ease at a Bohemian luncheon.

A native of Paris, he was studying for the bar when World War I took him into uniform with an artillery unit.

At the age of 30, he was named administrator of the Port Authority of Strasbourg, one of the largest river ports in the world. This experience fanned an interest in all sorts of transport which he still retains.

Before World War II he was a director of the Chemin de Fer du Nord, then a private company. Mayer took the lead in nationalizing the French railroads and helped form the French National Railroad Corporation. While still with the Nord railroad, he fathered the train-ferry idea of transport between Paris and London. Whole trains are now ferried across the channel.

When France collapsed in 1940, he was in London with an armistice mission. He returned to France and slipped across the line at Moulins into the unoccupied zone. It was from that zone that he walked and climbed across the Pyrenees into Spain, bound for North Africa.

Eventually he reached Algiers where General Giraud put him in charge of Free French communications.

Mayer retained this post and was Commissioner of Transport, Communications and Merchant Marine when General de Gaulle brought the provisional government into a liberated Paris.

The joint communique published in Washington these weeks to round up the economic, political and military agreements reached by the French delegation, during this visit, bore that Mayer is an able bargainer. Contained in the communique was a warning to Red China, and to Red Russia, indirectly, that if an armistice is agreed in Korea it must be interpreted to cover the entire Far East and that China's hands will not be freed by an armistice in Korea to increase her pressure in Indochina or elsewhere.

Thus, in the Washington communique, the Western powers make the wars in Korea and in Indochina and the political fomentation elsewhere in the Far East parts of a general pattern, interdependent. If China and Russia want peace in Korea, they must agree to peace in Indochina and on all other Asiatic fronts.

In laying France's problem of serving as members of the French Union forces.

The plans for 1953, which the French came to Washington to discuss, envisage the expansion of the regular Vietnamese forces to seven complete divisions, each with logistic support, totaling 150,000 men. In addition, the Vietnamese, with United States support, plan to organize fifty-four additional battalions, each comprising 640 men, fourteen heavy support companies, and three maintenance battalions, a total of 40,000 men. These commando-like units would be utilized in guerrilla-infested areas to live there and safeguard the populace against Communist terrorism.

Thus the ambitious plans for utilizing Vietnamese manpower contemplate an expansion of the regular army to 250,000 men. It is expected that many of the present auxiliaries and irregulars will be integrated into the regular forces. Some of the 60,000 Vietnamese natives now serving in the French expeditionary force may shift if they wish to the regular Vietnamese Army, but some are expected to continue to serve out their enlistments with the French.

Thus, the Vietnamese have assumed sole responsibility for the defense and security of five provinces, Bentre, Gocong and Mytho in South Vietnam; Phrang in Central Vietnam; and Hing-Yen in North Vietnam, are scheduled to extend their responsibilities over much additional territory in the next year, if American aid is available.

Beck's Television Column

Senator Taft (Republican from New Hampshire (be correct) is at it again. This time the committee is investigating the conditions on the waterfront. Parts of the hearings are televised. Those of our readers who wish to see the committee hearings will find a great similarity, even some of the familiar names come up again and again.

If you can spare a little time in the morning—the hearings usually start around 10 a.m.—we advise you to tune in. Be prepared to sit and look until the noon recess, and better prepare the lunch for the children coming from school, before. The hearings are fascinating and you simply can not get away from it. You are going to get a look at another world, where bribery, coercion, beatings and even murder are rampant. You will shake your head and refuse to believe that such conditions exist and have existed for long years. One can not help but get fighting mad at the so-called "officials" of our law enforcing agencies. Those gangsters seem to be immune from the laws of the country which you and I respect. They are in a class by themselves.

Television performs a service as never before was possible by any other means of communication. The looks, the language and the actions of the persons can not be conveyed by photographs, the spoken or printed word, you just have to see it.

EASTER HAM

A Food Fair Consumer Service

Here's How to Get Four

Extra Meals from Your

Easter Ham . . .

HAM 'N' EGG PIE: Combine 3 c. medium white sauce, 1 1/2 c. rolled cooked FOOD FAIR Pkg. Quality Ham, 2 hard-boiled eggs cut in halves. Cook pie in shallow baking dish or pie pan. Top with buttered strips made from pastry dough. Bake 30 minutes but cover with foil till crust is golden brown and filling is hot.

HAM 'N' SPAGHETTI: Heat 1 1/2 c. FOOD FAIR Pkg. Quality Ham. Place in saucepan and add 2 cups of prepared spaghetti sauce. Heat until contents are thoroughly warmed. Heat 1 package of spaghetti, place on platter and cover with contents of saucepan. For extra flavor and appeal, top with grated cheese.

HAM NOODLE MOLD: Heat 1 1/2 c. milk. Stir in 2 tsp. butter or margarine. 1 c. cold noodles should be 35 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 3 beaten eggs. Add 1 1/2 c. spaghetti sauce. 1 c. dried cooked FOOD FAIR Pkg. Quality Ham, 1 c. cooked peas, pitted. Turn into ham in 8 x 4 x 7 buttered pan. Bake 1 hr. at 325° F. Serves 4-6 people.

HAM 'N' BEANS: To 2 medium-size cans of baked beans, add 2 tbsp. of brown sugar and 1/4 c. catsup. Stir. Cover bottom of casserole with 1/2 of beans. Alternate layers of FOOD FAIR Pkg. Quality Ham and beans, ending with ham on top. Bake for 20-25 min. at 375° F. Serves 4-6 people.

Baked Ham Timetable

(Set oven at 325°)

UNCOOKED HAM (cook-before-eating type)	TIME (per lb.)	TIME (total)
8-lb. for example	25 min.	3 hrs.
10-lb. for example	18-20 min.	3 1/2 hrs.
COOKED HAM (ready-to-eat type)
8-lb. for example	15-17 min.	2 hrs.
10-lb. for example	12-15 min.	3 hrs.

*Cooking times are approximate only. If you use a meat thermometer, uncooked hams should be cooked to an internal temp. of 160°; cooked hams should be cooked to an internal temp. of 135°.

To Carve and Serve . . .

Place ham on platter fat side up, shank to carver's right. Make a flat base on fat side. From the low meat side or smaller meaty section cut 7 or 8 slices the length of the ham. Turn ham over onto fat base.

Cut a small, wedge-shaped slice from the shank end. Slice will be easier to cut and release from bone. Slip wedge under butt end to steady ham. Get good grip on ham with fork.

Cut thin slices down to the bone with long, firm, sawing strokes. When you have a piece for everyone, or reach the air-bone at your left, run knife along the leg bone as shown. Then lift slices to one side of platter or onto an extra plate and serve each guest.

Slide meat servings by turning ham back to position shown in the first drawing. Cut down to the bone. Then cut along it once. These slices taste just tender and juicy. When you are done, make good second helpings.

ORGANIZE CITIZEN'S COMMITTEE, STATE AID TO EDUCATION

Harold Alpern Is Chairman Of Group Which Plans To Carry Message To Public

Harold Alpern of 9 Carpenter Terrace was elected chairman of the Belleville Citizen's Committee for State Aid to Education, at a meeting in the Board of Education Offices in School No. 8, Monday night. Mr. Alpern is a part owner of the National Earphone Company of Newark. Other officers chosen are: Mrs. Lawrence Willette, of 137 Stephens Street, vice-chairman; William Chapman, principal of School No. 5, vice-chairman and Charles Schultz of the High School Commercial Department, secretary. About 150 people, including teachers, PTA representatives and business men attended the meeting and heard reports on State Aid and how to get the message to the general public. The group plans to appoint a publicity bureau which will supply speakers for meetings, to tell how state aid will help Belleville at the same time it equalizes the tax base for all the people of the state.

Passaic Ave. School Purchases Recorder For Classroom Use

The Passaic Avenue School, with the help of John Amato of 4 Arthur Street, has purchased a Pentron Recorder with money earned by the children. Both pupils and teachers will gain much from "hearing what they sound like" as they do their jobs in the classroom, for recordings are to the ear what pictures are to the eye. Both media represent direct reality as faithfully as possible. Primary children who were unable to attend the rehearsal of the operetta "Tom Sawyer" enjoyed hearing a recording of it in their classrooms.

Song Recital

A song recital by Lois Ketcham, coloratura soprano, will feature the celebration of Membership Day by the Contemporary of Newark on Tuesday, at 1:30 o'clock in the club's auditorium, 605 Broad Street. New members who have joined during the year will be welcomed at a reception by Mrs. William A. Weir, the club's president.

Missionary To Speak

Mrs. Helen Hauffer Downey, Methodist missionary home on furlough from Africa, will speak at the W.C.S. meeting at Wesley Methodist Church, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Her topic will be the work done in the African mission, and she will show colored slides. This will be Guest Night and all W.C.S. members, husbands and friends are invited.
