The Dogwood Knows

When dogwood blossoms flake the woods with white, It's spring. The dogwood never is fooled by sun.
Three warm winter days and the quince is bright,
But the dogwood knows when winter is really done.

The dogwood knows. The prudent buds, white-crossed,
Clutching their gray-green cloaks as tight as they should,

Wait to open behind the last hard frost And light a way for spring in the dark wood.

Time To Stop Stalling

It is unfortunate that the selection of a site for the proposed new High School has become a political football. It is true that a project calling for an investment of $2,500-000 is the largest piece of financing that the town ever has been confronted with. That is all the more reason why the opinion of impartial experts should be accepted more readily than snap judgments for political expediency by Commissioners and Board Members.

The Field Study Institute of the Teachers College of Columbia University, which is making impartial studies every day, is both competent and impartial. A casual glance at a map of the Town of Belleville will show that area near the Stadium is more in the center of the town than is the present High School on Washington Avenue. For further proof of the trend one can consult figures on school enrollment gains in the last three years, which show that Schools 3, 5 and 7 nearest the Stadium have shown the most growth. And the trend will continue as more and more developments and individual houses are erected in that section of the town.

Postal inspectors traversed the same area with mailmen on their rounds this week, with the idea of creating an additional mail route taking parts of three routes in that vicinity to form the new route. So many new homes have been built on what is known as Route 866, off Jordanon street in the vicinity of Franklin Avenue, that to cover the section the postman must work at least three and one half hours overtime. As a result, some portions of this route are without mail every day.

Besides the growth in that section there are many other factors to be considered. Regardless of who has title to the Stadium itself, the bog site and the Stadium grounds is the only piece of property in the town which measures up to the standards of the Columbia University group, which recommends that a school with 1200 students be erected on 22 acres of ground. As for Commissioner Hyde's objections that it will take his stadium, this argument is childish. First of all it is not Commissioner Hyde's, no one gave it to him. It belongs to the taxpayers of Belleville, and is dedicated to the children of Belleville for recreation purposes, and that does not mean after-school recreation.
Whether Mr. Hyde is a commissioner or not after next year's election, again is immaterial.
If the school is built it will be there long after Mr. Hyde, all members of the Board of Commissioners and all members of the Board of Education are in their graves.

Arguments about the unstable condition of the ground are refuted by the findings of the Walter Kiddie Constructors, whose complete report includes many factors in addition to the sinking of piles. The architect, recognized in his profession and the building industry as one of the most capable available, plans a building suited to the site, with two-story portions built upon the well bottomed ground in the vicinity of Nolton Street and the lighter weight, one story construction upon piles. Any service lines such as water, sewer and gas connections can be made through Nolton Street and will not need additional piling for support, as intimated by one critic of the site.

And most important of all factors is that if any other site is selected, not one referendum, but two will be required before a school could be built. One would have to be held to permit the Board of Education to purchase a specified piece of property and another on the building issue. Should the first one win and the second one lose, the Board of Education would be stuck with a large piece of land until public sentiment could be sounded out for a second time.

As for transportation, the days of the trolley car have been over for years. Buses do not have to travel over fixed routes. If the High School is built at the Stadium, the Public Service Co-ordinated Transport already has a franchise for the No. 37 bus line which winds its way to Passaic Avenue, a block from the proposed site. If and when the building is erected, Public Service will increase the number of trips, at least before and immediately after school hours, so that more rather than less transportation will be available than is now the case on Washington Avenue.

Anyone raising an objection to the proposed site has to come up with a better suggestion than to erect the new High School on an inadequate piece of property either on Washington Avenue or at Clearman Field.
Without an alternate, no argument can be advanced that will bear more weight than the proposals of the Board of Education.

The Ban On Bingo

The poor and the children will be the principal victims of a very stupid ruling by the Essex County Prosecutor's office that bingo is gambling, a ruling which obliged the chief of police in every Essex town to put a ban on bingo and books of chance, even where there is no doubt that the whole of the profits go to charity or to building funds for schools or churches.

If the Prosecutor's office has suddenly become so righteous, why not clamp down on betting on the horses? The only ones who profit from track gambling are the state, itself, and the race track touts and professional gamblers. Charity and schools get nothing from the millions that are bet and lost on horses.

The lottery statute has been on New Jersey's book of laws since 1898. There can be no doubt that it was enacted to forbid friendly games of chance for charity purposes. It was framed to knock out the slot machines, dice tables and similar big time gambling. The Essex County Prosecutor would appear to us to have become unduly alarmed by the decision in the case of the State against Winne, in which the Bergen County Prosecutor was hailed for indictment for his failure to prosecute the big-time mobsters and racketeers who, it is alleged, ran their gambling racket in our neighboring county.

Settle The Issues Of Asia
"In One Bite"

In three brief months since he assumed the Presidency, General Eisenhower has regained for the United States the full initiative in world affairs. In that he has been aided by the disappearance from the scene of Joseph Stalin but within the past ten days the world has seen a magnificent demonstration of the qualities of statesman of General Eisenhower which can leave little doubt that he more than any other man, will direct the destinies of civilization for the present.

In his speech to the American Society of Newspaper Editors, General Eisenhower was, in reality, addressing himself to Malenkov and the others in the Kremlin who are trying on Stalin's mantle for size. The speech was, basically, an appeal for peace.
In it, General Eisenhower picturesquely demonstrated what could be done for the betterment of the world if the billions spent on armaments could be used to build schools and hospitals, homes and highways. One modern heavy bomber, he pointed out, could build 30 modern schools; one destroyer could build homes for 80,000 people.

In language which the whole world can understand, General Eisenhower, using language unusual for a soldier, pointed out the folly of the cold war. That speech should end for all time the fears which a minority expressed last November that a soldier would not make a good president. Just because he is a soldier, General Eisenhower knows the hellish destruction and the cruelties of war.
But, also, because he is a soldier, he knows well the virtue of keeping his powder dry.

The Eisenhower speech makes it clear to Malenkov that if he wants to wield a new broom and sweep clean, we will not hold the long and costly cold war against him. But if he wants peace, he must prove it in ways other than talking about it.

The interview which Senator Robert A.
Taft gave at the weekend must be accepted as a complement to the Eisenhower speech.
In it, Mr. Taft made it perfectly clear that there can be no piecemeal peace. We cannot settle for peace in Korea unless there is peace in Indochina and Malaya. In his words, we must "settle all the questions of the Far East in one bite". Between them, the two statesmen have made it clear to the Kremlin that we are not a people to be led to Munich, to another shameful appeasement. Yet we are a pacific people and we are a strong people. We want peace, but we will not buy

One Man's Opinion

Unification of Germany Can Depend Only Upon Truly Free Democratic Elections With UN Or Neutrals As "Watchers"

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

Once again, alas, as has been the case so many times in the past, Germany holds the balance of power in Europe.
Since the start of the "cold war" it has been apparent that the late Joe Stalin had convinced himself that, belatedly, he could tie Russia up with Germany and rule the world, just as he had sought to do in August, 1939, when Ribbentrop and Molotov signed the ill-fated Russo-German pact in the Kremlin in the names of Stalin and Hitler.

Any day now, should the present Soviet peace offensive continue, we can expect to hear a Soviet suggestion that German peace-treaty talks be reopened. Behind the belief that it is imminent is the approaching EDC treaty which would tie in Western Germany, its manpower, its pool of trained reserves and its great armament plants, with the West and with the six-nation European army. Malenkov is lucky that it has not already happened; only France, which has an inherent distrust of the Teuton, has prevented it becoming an established fact by delaying parliamentary approval.

West Germany's alignment, military with the Western powers, will not catch the Kremlin by surprise. Despatches from Bonn this week indicated that, anticipating our success in bringing West Germany into our camp, the Soviet general staff already has a German Communist armed force of 120,000 men under Russian direction. After 400,000 young Germans are enrolled in a paramilitary training organization under the "Youth" program and 25,000 others are enrolled and armed in semi-military units as the border and transport police.

Germany Once Red

That half of Germany lives peacefully under Communist domination and even takes part in its military preparations is no surprise to me. I can look back only 20 years ago, before Hitler came to power, to remember that the Nazis, in moving towards power, had to battle and to defeat German Communists.
There was a time, 20 years ago, when the Communists in Germany were a match for Hitler's. It has been a long time since I had the book with me, one of the few books I was able to hide safely. I also had a personal Nazi guard, a six-footer named Hans Schlusell, of Hamburg, who had been a member of Ribbentrop's German Foreign Office secret police force.

Sunday Sport

Schlusell learned English from me and as a graduating present I presented him with "Out of The Night". He had been coming to me about the Communists again.
During my year and a half of internment in a Gestapo diplomatic internment camp in the Black Forest of Germany, in mid-war, I had the book with me, one of the few books I was able
to hide safely. I also had a personal Nazi guard, a six-footer
named Hans Schlusell, of Hamburg, who had been a member
Office secret police force.

Beck's Television Column

We continue to receive numerous complaints about the reception on channels 2 and 7. The trouble started with the step up of the transmitting power on channel 2. Apparently this change affected reception on the other channels also. The strange thing is that one day reception seems to be perfect and the next day pictures are distorted, the sets hum and buzz, and the commercials, Of course we can't do anything to remedy such a condition, because it is not due to anything we can do. The kit is given away free. Since it is very interesting we would suggest that you pick one up. It is given out to children only. They come Red China, for example. That is why, according to our sources of information in Washington, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles are ready—ready with approximately the same statement which President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson made more than a year ago to Moscow's 1952 proposal for German treaty talks.

Now, as then, our terms are clear.

First, a thorough, impartial, investigation of conditions in both zones of Germany to see if free democratic elections through all Germany are possible, and creation of those conditions if they do not exist.

Second, the holding of free democratic elections throughout all Germany with watchers to see that the western version of the words "free" and "democratic" are practiced.

Third, creation of an all-German government, with which Moscow and the West can deal in presenting a peace treaty.

Fourth, negotiation of a peace treaty that specifically allows a united free and democratic Germany to join the West in a defense pact if it wishes.

Last year's Moscow bid collapsed after six months of note-writing in which the Kremlin and the West could not get agreement on who, what, or how an investigation of conditions in both zones of Germany was to be conducted.

If Moscow issues another call for peace treaty talks the West will test it against these same standards to see if it is genuine, honest and workable.
Washington has some reason to believe that Moscow's present peace feelers stem as much from a desire to determine the West's attitude toward the EDC treaty as from a desire to gain time to settle internal struggles stemming from Stalin's death.

But it would greatly surprise Washington if Moscow were to accept its requirements for a German peace treaty and actually cooperate in writing an acceptable document. For what that would mean is that the Kremlin is temporarily at least, prepared to settle internal struggles stemming from Stalin's death.

It can and has been argued that Moscow would not play it quite that way; that Moscow may go down the line with the West only to the point where a united democratic Germany would be allowed to associate with the West if it wanted. Moscow might say that it would agree to unification of Germany, even along western democratic lines, but on no conditions should such a Germany be permitted to join a western defense alliance.

If Germany had to choose between unification and association with the West, there is little question that unity would come first. But Washington is not persuaded that Germany cannot have both. If a German peace treaty cannot say specifically that Germany may join the NATO powers in a defense pact, it can be insisted that the treaty not prohibit such joining. In other words, Germany could be allowed to make her own decision after a treaty became effective.

With every indication that a single all-German government would be western-oriented, such a government could then align itself with NATO without Moscow's permission or approval.

There is the assumption that a free united Germany might try to become a third force in Europe, a balance between the two powers represented by NATO and Moscow. Also there is the theory that a free independent Germany might align itself with Moscow. But the views of Chancelor Konrad Adenauer and other present leaders of western Germany, who would undoubtedly be leaders of a united Germany, are definitely slanted toward the West.

Actually the chances of a breakdown in East-West discussions on a prospective German peace treaty are slight. The very first question would seem to be as unsolvable now as a year ago. For the eastern zone of Germany has been so completely sovietized and communized that any investigation of conditions there would automatically require a reversal of the zone's three political structures.

For the Soviets to allow West German political parties to organize in the East, hold political rallies, and campaign for members, would be so contrary to Soviet justice, mastery and policy that the West finds it hard to believe the Kremlin would permit it. Yet such things would have to be allowed if free democratic elections were to be held.

What's new about
"TT" DYNAFLOW?

The TAKE-OFF'S
TERRIFIC!

It's only fair to warn you.
When you try a new Buick with the sensational Twin-Turbine Dynaflo Drive,* you'll tingle all over with thrill.

You'll sweep your speedometer needle from zero to 30 mph so quickly, you won't have time to breathe but twice. You'll move from a standing start to legal speed so quietly, you'll practically hear your heart beat. You'll experience such complete and utter smoothness every step of the way, you'll be wholly relaxed, refreshed, and ready for more.

This is not dream stuff. This is real.

This is what actually happens when you're at the wheel of a new 1953 Buick with TT Dynaflo.

Twin Turbines in the Dynaflo unit, instead of just a single one—in addition to other engineering advances—make the tremendous difference.

So you feel a firmer and more immediate "take hold"—get far faster getaway, new quiet and efficiency, plus infinite smoothness and to through every speed range.

There's a lot more to be had, of course, in these great new Buicks. Higher horsepower and compression ratios. A still finer ride.
Easier handling. Improved visibility. More comfort and richer interiors.

But start with take-off—the greatest in Buick's fifty great years—and learn the rest of the story from there. Can you drop it on us this week?

The Pre-School Group of School No. 3 held a dessert-bridge at the home of Mrs. Jerry Lepre Jr., of 345 Division Avenue last week. Mrs. F. L. Cobb Jr. and Mrs. J. Lepre Sr. were the winners of the dessert prizes.

The group also met at the home of Mrs. John Di Fazio, of 260 Hornblower Avenue recently. Mrs. Anthony Bialefo was appointed treasurer by the group's president, Mrs. Jerry Lepre Jr. The following committee was selected to make plans for a picnic: Mrs. Herman Knapp, chairman; Mrs. Raymond Metz, Jr.; Mrs. John Di Fazio and Mrs. William Irvine Jr.

The guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Marjorie Adams, kindergarten teacher of School No. 2 who discussed the first steps to school. Mrs. Adams explained the importance of developing good speech habits in the child, making it possible for the child to develop independence in caring for his personal belongings and helping the child develop his capacity to rely on himself and make simple decisions.

Mrs. Adams emphasized the importance of creating opportunities for the child to make friends, arranging interesting excursions, helping him to adjust to strangers by giving him an opportunity to be away from his mother and father.

Pamphlets entitled "Ready for School" were distributed, and it was decided that the next meeting will be held on May 20 at the home of Mrs. W. Irvine Jr., of 208 Division Avenue. Speakers from nearby nursery schools will be present. Mrs. Howard Shub, president of the PTA, attended the meeting.

At the planning meeting the following programs were decided upon: A mah-jong evening at the home of Mrs. Jack Waxman; a discussion of Parent-Child Relationships led by Jack Brauntuch, a psychiatric case worker for the Nutley Family Service which will take place at the home of Mrs. Frank Edelman, on May 5; and a picnic to take place at the end of May.

The Belleville-Nutley Chapter of Hadassah will meet next Tuesday at the Belleville A.A.A. Activity chairmen will present their annual reports after which a round table discussion will take place based on the observations of members who attended the Hadassah Regional Conference in Asbury Park.

Jewish National Fund Blue Boxes will be collected at the meeting. Mrs. Lou Chaiken is UNF chairman.

Three Belleville brawlers, from the Silver Lake section, were fined a total of $100 yesterday at Nutley Police Court, presided over by Magistrate Edwin J. C. Joerg. Pleading guilty, the trio was released two weeks earlier on $25 bail after being arrested on a disorderly conduct charge that arose out of a fight between Nutley and Belleville youths on Franklin Avenue near Chestnut Street.

Highest fine $50, was handed down to Lorenzo Veniero, 21, of 26 Sanford Avenue. He received the larger assessment because of his previous police record. In addition to the fine he received a six-month suspended sentence and put on probation for one year. Two brothers, Anthony Veniero, 19, and George Veniero, 18, of 1 Wallace Street, were fined $25 apiece and received three-month suspended sentences.

At the same session of court, Anthony Monto, 18, of 327 Washington Avenue, pleaded guilty to a disorderly person's charge arising out of an incident at the Franklin Diner, on Centre Street near Franklin Avenue. He was fined $15 and a suspended jail sentence of 30 days. George Connors, 30, of 57 Milton Avenue, and Carmen Cuvillo, 26, of 33 Hilton Street, Belleville, each were assessed $10 on a disorderly person's charge resulting last Saturday in front of 175 Bloomfield Avenue. Boards, this one and those preceding it, that the site adjacent to the present high school was never graded and developed into a suitable recreational area for the students of the present high school. With this valuable area available right next to their doorstep, the students must tramp to Clearman Field for what outdoor activities they engage in. This means that most of the period is used up in getting there and coming back. To build a new school on this property would forever eliminate a decent play and athletic area for both schools. If Commissioner Waters and Hyde are going on the premise that what was good enough for them 30 years ago is good enough for our children today, and those to come tomorrow, they will find the majority of the parents of Belleville thinking more progressively.

Pitting A Good Practice

"Commissioner Waters expressed an aversion for a school erected on piles. As a business executive with years of industrial and municipal experience, behind him, he surely must know that every modern important structure anywhere is built on piles. The Empire State Building, the pier for the George Washington Bridge, every power house, even the Y.M.C.A. Building in Newark, which is being erected from plans of the same architect engaged to design our high school, is built on piles, the most stable foundation a structure can have. "Commissioner Hyde, according to the Belleville Times indignantly stated, 'First they' (the Board of Education) asked for permission to make test borings. Now they come and ask for property adjacent to the fence and next they plan to ask for the Stadium itself.' Did Mr. Hyde think the Board was prospecting for oil when they requested permission to make test borings? Didn't he realize that it was the intention of the Board to request this land for the high school if the tests proved the land to be suitable for the purpose?

Not Hyde's Stadium
"Mr. Hyde seems to infer from his statement above that he would consider it the highest form of duplicity if the Board of Education asked for the Stadium itself. We have no information as to whether the Board intended to make such a request, but we see nothing detrimental to the town of Belleville if they did. What would be more consistent with good management than to place a property that was employed essentially by the students of Belleville under the jurisdiction of the School Board?"

The Newark Board of Education always administered their Schools Stadium on Bloomfield Avenue and when Newark recently acquired Ruppert Stadium it was purchased for their Board of Education. What is so outrageous about the idea that our Stadium be administered by the Board of Education? Mr. Hyde may have personal secrets about losing some responsibility, but the people of Belleville don't care about that. Their concern will be to see that maximum usage is obtained from the property, regardless of who administers it.

Unfairly Quoted Figures
"School Board Member, Raymond McCann, threw some figures around at the Commission meeting without too much regard to their proper analysis. He is reported to have stated, in effect, that the majority of the Board carefully withheld the best of the Kiddie report on the stadium property and that it would cost $252,986 to sink the piles necessary to support the building. Both of these statements are partially incorrect. The original Lay Administration, received full credit for the report so it was said, under the cove of $252,986 did not the cost alone of sinking the piles was the estimate of building stadium property with the cost of a comparable (Continued On Page Five) what the report terms a "normal average site". The estimate for the piles alone was $132,520. If properly labeled as the "normal average site", the estimate would be $252,986, which is the estimate given by Kiddie. But this figure must be considered in the light of all the facts itemized in the report and not quoted out of context.

Alternate Site Not Normal

In the first place, the alternate Division Avenue site mentioned by Mr. McCann is not a "normal average site". It is situated on a steep embankment that would require very expensive dirt removal to level, which was not included in the comparable costs by Kiddie. Also, the Kiddie report included an estimate for $40,000 for fill for the Stadium grounds around the proposed building to render it useful as a play area. This item, therefore, should not properly be charged against the cost of building on the Stadium site since it would have to be spent even if the school were built on the other side of Division Avenue, because both sites include the use of the Stadium grounds as recreational area.

"In the 'Long Range Recreation Plan' proposed for Belleville in 1944 by the National Recreation Association, the Stadium grounds were to be the focal point of the whole town recreational set-up. The cost of making this area useful for the enjoyment of the people of Belleville therefore should not be charged against the cost of building on the Stadium site.

Other Factors

"If the new high school were built on the privately owned site on the other side of Division

Avenue it would be necessary to build a bridge or underpass to provide safe passage over Division Avenue from the school to the proposed play area at the Stadium. This would cost at least $25,000 if it is to be in keeping with the architectural tone of the project.

"The $40,000 for fill plus $25,000 for playground access equals $65,000, which should be subtracted from the estimated figure of $252,986, leaving a net excess cost for pile construction of approximately $188,000. This takes no account of the fact that this figure is based on a comparison with a 'normal average site' which the alternate site is not, as previously explained. Mr. McCann quoted the cost of the alternate privately-owned site at $150,000 although it is known that the price today is in the neighborhood of $175,000, which makes the cost of building on the Stadium site a toss-up with the site seemingly favored on a cost basis by Mr. McCann.

Admittedly High

"All of the above-quoted figures, however, are purely academic today since they are based on estimates made by Kiddie at a time when no one knew what the building would look like. Their estimate was based on a plant suitable for 1800 pupils whereas a school for approximately 400 less than this figure is actually contemplated. Kiddie did an excellent job and a great public service, when it is recognized that they had no building plans on which to base their estimate of costs. Kiddie's primary commission was to analyze the test borings and determine whether or not the site was suitable for building a school. This they did in the finest professional manner, but since we now have an architect actively engaged in firming down the whole plan, cost estimates now become his concern and responsibility.

Cost About Equal

"The engineer members of our Group informally contacted several contracting firms that specialize in pile construction, which Kiddie admittedly does not, and they concluded from these contacts that Kiddie's estimate for the piling was high. These engineers agreed that under the circumstances, Kiddie was justified in being on the high side. The fact, however, that the estimate was high is confirmed by the report of Architect Emil A. Schmid, who informed the Board, under date of March 16, 1953, that after study of all the factors available that both the alternate Division Avenue site and the Stadium site 'costwise are on an even basis'.

"This Group hopes that future decisions regarding the new school will not be made on a basis of cost alone, important as this factor is. There are other reasons in favor of the Stadium site that would make it advisable even if it cost a little more.

"We hope at our next meeting to adopt a new name to avoid confusion in the public mind by our present reference to the 'Original Land Advisory Committee'. Many names have been suggested; it remains only to make a choice."

ROTARIANS HEAR PROPOSALS FOR TRACK MEET

Andy Stanfield And Dan Ferris Discuss U.S.-Russian Tilt At Meeting Yesterday At Hall

About 275 Rotarians from five local clubs attended a luncheon meeting at 12-noon yesterday at Westminster Church's Jarvie Hall, Bloomfield, to hear a proposal concerning a move to hold a U.S.-Russian track meet. On hand to explain how good fellowship can be promoted through the field of sports were Olympic 200-meter champion Andy Stanfield and Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU. A third speaker was John Gibson, head coach of Seton Hall's track team. Gibson was Stanfield's coach when the Jersey City sprinter ran for the South Orange Institution.

Sponsored jointly by the Rotary Clubs of Nutley, Belleville, Bloomfield, Rutherford and North Arlington, the meeting followed the regular afternoon luncheon. Then the assembled group listened to a proposed movement to get the two countries together on the cinders.

Secretary-treasurer of the AAU since 1928, Ferris is probably one of the countries leading authorities of amateur sports. He has attended every Olympic Game held since 1912 when Stockholm, Sweden, was the scene of the world's biggest athletic affair. Editor of "The American Athlete", Ferris has acted as judge, timer and referee at different amateur contests throughout the world.

Stanfield first gained prominence when competing for Lincoln High School in Jersey City. After winning the National Inter-Scholastic 440-yard championship in his senior year, the splendid sprinter went on to Seton Hall University. While attending Seton Hall, Stanfield, in three years of competition, won 14 inter-collegiate and National AAU titles.

GARDEN STATE SELLS FRANCHISE TO DECAMP LINE

New Owners Take Over April 30, Plan To Shorten Terminal, Keep Schedule Unchanged

With the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the DeCamp Bus Lines, of Livingston, bought this week the Garden State Bus Line, of the Atlantic Transportation Company, of 30 Allwood Road, Clifton, and will take over the buses and the service as of April 30. Robert DeCamp confirmed, to The Times-News, the details of the sale and announced that for the time being there will be no change in either the schedule or the fare on the Belleville-New York service.

The line will be shortened and the DeCamp Company plans to move the Nutley line terminal from its present location at Watchung Avenue and Broad Street, in Bloomfield, to the intersection of Kingsland Road and Darling Avenue, where it formerly was established. The New York terminal will continue to be the Port Authority Terminal, at 8th Avenue and 41st Street. DeCamp Line buses leave from Platform 7.

In taking over the franchise, the Livingston firm also bought the buses which are comparatively new. They will be repainted yellow and blue, the DeCamp Line colors, in the firm's bus garage at Livingston.

Service Pin Awards
The J. P. Glasby Manufacturing Company, 1 Montgomery Street, recently gave a party for three employees whom they presented with service pins. They are: Samuel Hobson, who received a ten year pin; and Edward Nowakowski and Anthony Shear, both of whom were awarded five year pins.
