

FEDERAL LEATHER WINS PLAY-OFFS

John Lazzaro's Pitching And Don Smith's Homer Into Pas-saic River Are Features

Federal Leather's softball team, which went through its entire season undefeated, completed the playoffs in the same manner. Federal showed it had real power in winning its first playoff game against a very rugged team from Squire-Schilling and Skiff.

In the final game of the playoffs, Federal locked horns with the rugged Pittsburgh Plate glass team. Pittsburgh finished second in the League after breaking a tie position with Walter Kiddie. The final game was a made-to-order thriller. Both teams played sharp ball and went all out to win.

At one point in the game Pittsburgh rallied from a 4-1 trailing position to tie the score and cause Federal manager Bill Cullen quite some worry. However, Federal's pitcher, John Lazzaro pitched his way out of this situation. Then Don Smith of Federal knocked a home run ball clean into the Pas-saic River to break the tie. The game which was packed with brilliant plays, finally wound up just as the street lights came on with Federal the victor by a 5 to 3 margin and with a perfect record of no defeats for the season.

May Ask For Bids On River Work

Town Engineer Matthew Sheehan has completed plans for Belleville's portion of the flood control project along the Third River between the town line and the Nutley line, and is prepared to recommend to Commissioner Patrick J. Waters, director of public works that bids be advertised for the Belleville project. The Belleville project is part of a larger flood control program for the Third River through the State Division of Water, Policy and Supply. In addition to Belleville, the town of Nutley, Essex County and two private land-owners are participating in the project.

In Belleville, the plans call for the town to straighten the river and increase the width to 30 feet from the Bloomfield town line to Joramelon street bridge. Between the bridge and the Nutley line the river will be widened to 40 feet and the Lobitz Dam will be removed. An appropriation of $8,000 already has been made by the Town Commission to finance the improvements.

Other parties to the program are expected to follow Belleville's lead. A spoke man for the Forest Hill Field Club, Bloomfield, where as many as nine holes sometimes are flooded by the river, said the club would begin improvement of the land needed for its property as soon as Belleville acts.

In Nutley, 500 feet of the river bed, east and west of Franklin Avenue, will be moved about 50 feet to the south. The town has acquired part of the land needed for the shift and is taking steps to obtain the remainder, Public Works Director Lory stated.

The county has agreed to construct a new bridge at Joramelon street, Belleville, to span the new width of the river.

'Twas A Hectic Day At Gil's House ... On P-Day C.Y.O. Issues 24 Page Report on Activities

Excitement Of Clinching Flag And Christine Going To School Kept McDougald Hopping

By Bob Gorlin

Gil McDougald, third baseman for the New York Yankees was in a very happy mood, but a little tired when he arrived at his Mapee Avenue home last Monday. Nutley's favorite adopted son just finished celebrating the clinching of the American League pennant. After all the excitement in the Yankee clubhouse, following the 2-0 win over Cleveland, the home confines of Mapee Avenue was just what he needed. Gil, though forgetful of his oldest daughter, Christine, was preparing for her first day of school. That was the source to a hectic day in the McDougald household as the talk of kindergarten drowned out the discussion of how to use the World Series check.

A Little Nervous
Christine, five-years-old, was enrolled in the morning session at Spring Garden school. Instead of setting a little extra sleep the next morning, Gil along with his wife, Lucille, was up with the first crack of dawn.

Christine is the oldest of four children. The others are Gil, Jr., four; Tod, three; and Dennis, one. Gil used to be the noise from the stadium as the crowd roared, but once she saw the other children she quickly got over it.

Speaking with McDougald just before he left for Yankee Stadium in his new car given by Nutley last June, we got to talking about baseball, the no. 1 topic in the McDougald one-family house. For Gil the World Series against Brooklyn in October will be the third classic he has played in.

He hasn't missed out on a cut of the World Series "million" since he joined the Yanks three years ago. Last year the "ugly duckling" that had a golden egg collected $6,026 for his share in the October classic that saw the Yankees defeat the Brooklyn Dodgers. This latest cut will go a long way in paying off the Mapee Avenue home.

"The players in the dressing room whooped it up a little following the win over Cleveland, but it was an orderly celebration. For Casey Stengel that was a big win."

Stengel set a new Major League record with the winning of the 1953 American League pennant. The Yankees have won the flag for the last five years in succession. Stengel came to the Yankees in 1949 following "Ducky" Harris.

Has 147 Hits
For McDougald the current season has been a good one. Selected for "Rookie of the Year" honors in 1951, Gil suffered from the usual sophomore slump in 1952. This season, however, he has 147 hits.

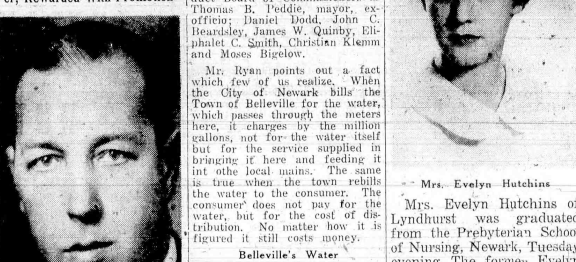

It sure was a happy day in the McDougald household earlier this week as the smiling faces of the entire McDougald family prove. Gil, a third baseman for the New York Yankees came home with the good news that the Bronx Bombers had clinched the 1953 American League pennant while his oldest daughter, Christine, was all smiles as she prepared for her first day of school. Pictured above from left to right are: Gil McDougald, Denise, one; Mrs. McDougald, Christine, 5; Gil, Jr., 4; and Tod, 3.

ing in the leadoff position, Gil is currently leading the league with a .287 average. He has 147 hits in 513 at bats. Gil leads the Bronx Bombers in the base hit department.

Following the "token" World Series against Brooklyn, Gil will go on a two-week "burn-storm" tour.

FEDERAL LAB HERE NAMES INVENTOR AS VICE PRESIDENT

Henri C. Busignies, Who Perfected Airplane Direction Finder, Rewarded With Promotion

Henri C. Busignies, technical director of the Federal Telecommunication Laboratories, has been appointed a Vice President and member of the management advisory board, it was announced today. Busignies has been associated with the I.T.&T. System for nearly a quarter of a century. He joined the Federal Laboratories in New York in 1941 and advanced from senior engineer to the post of technical director during the ensuing eight years.

A leading authority on radio and electronic aids to aerial navigation, Busignies is known chiefly as the inventor of the world's first automatic direction finder for aircraft, now standard equipment on all large commercial and military airplanes.

His contributions to the World War II effort include the development of a shore-based direction finding system, known as "Huff Duff," which proved a vital factor in their war on enemy submarines. In recognition of these activities, he was awarded the U. S. Navy Certificate of Commendation for outstanding service to the United States in 1952. He is the holder of more than a hundred other patents, predominantly in the aerial navigation field.

A fellow of the Institute of Radio Engineers, Busignies and his wife reside at 71 Helms Place, Montclair. They have a daughter, Mrs. C. Henry Honeck of East Hanford, Conn.

Reservoir

Belleville's Water
The Newark watershed at Pequanock contains five reservoirs, Echo Lake, Canister, Oak Ridge, Clinton and Macopin, the last being the intake point for the pipes leading through town. On June 1, these five reservoirs contained 88.6 million gallons. Included in that price is the pro-rated share of the cost of the Newark distribution system. So when Belleville bills its water at a considerably higher rate it adds to the cost of the water, the cost of its own distribution system and its maintenance extension, and cost of water used for fire fighting.

So when Belleville bills its water at a considerably higher rate it adds to the cost of the water, the cost of its own distribution system and its maintenance extension, and cost of water used for fire fighting.

Other Factors
But if it should not rain a great deal soon, other factors will go to work, which will change the rate. One factor is the amount of rain. If it should become necessary to come from their own supply, the approach of the danger point will be reached that much sooner.

Belleville's water users need not fear for some time, but fire hydrant turned on for an hour wastes an enormous amount of water. Added up, hundreds of faucets, hundreds of car washes and thousands of lawn sprinklers, multiplied over and over again in each community, can mean the difference in days of supply at the source.

Serves On Committee
Professor James H. Pitman, chairman of the English Department at Newark College of Engineering, of 65 Broad Street, has been chosen to serve on the executive committee of the Humanistic-Social Division of the American Society for Engineering Education.

C.Y.O. Issues 24 Page Report on Activities

The Catholic Youth Organization of Essex County issued its annual report for the year ending September 1, 1953 this week. The 24-page booklet describes the nature of the youth movement and relates the activities that have been sponsored by it during the year.

The theme of the report is "Leading Youth to Christ," and a brief introduction on that subject was written by Essex County CYO director Rev. John J. Kiley. The report is divided into several sections, each describing different phases of the CYO program. These include religious, social action, social, cultural, and athletic activities, Scouting, and the Senior Youth Council. A chart reveals the extent to which each of the 68 parish CYO units in this area have participated in the county organization's program. A special section tells of the formation of the CYO in the United States and the Newark Archdiocese in the early 1940's, and the report closes with a listing of "The CYO Champions" for the past year.

The CYO originated, according to the annual report, in the mind of Bishop Bernard J. Sheil, who in 1919 was chaplain of the Cook County Jail in Illinois, and who organized a neighborhood athletic club in an attempt to curb juvenile delinquency. In 1938, the Bishops of the United States gathered in Washington, D.C., voiced official approval of the movement, and drew up a plan for its expansion. The late Archbishop Walsh founded the CYO here shortly thereafter. Its national membership is more than six millions.

The weekend was highlighted by an officers' ball held at the base.

ST. MARY'S CADETS WIN NEW HONORS

St. Mary's Cadets, sponsored by American Legion Post 282 of Harrison, added two more accomplishments to their record when it was announced earlier this week that during the competition for the National Drum and Bugle Championships conducted in St. Louis, Mo., last month, Carmen Lemma, was judged the second best drummer in the nation, while St. Mary's color guard placed sixth. The Cadets as a unit placed fifth in the junior division. A week from Sunday, September 27, St. Mary's will be the host drill unit at the second annual "Parade of Champions" to be held at Park Oval starting at 1:30 p.m. Seven corps from New Jersey and Pennsylvania will vie for the title. St. Joseph's Cadets Public Service Post 160 of Newark are the defending champs.

Late Summer

How could we think that fall is near,
The sun yet stands so high
As summer's low and lazy clouds
Drift down the noon-day sky
The wide sweep of the heron's wings
Still a dark pattern weaves
Along the silent river's length
The silver maple leaves
Dip to the rippled quill flow,
The water thrush slips on,
Still searching through the swamp's cool
edge,
Slips on and then is gone,
But earlier now the waning day
Behind the hills is lost,
And the night wind across the marsh
Is portent of the frost.

A Pow-wow Of Wishful Thinkers

After this week's Democratic mid-term strategy caucus in Chicago, it is child's play to pick the rivals in the 1956 Presidential election. Barring an accident, Eisenhower will seek to succeed himself. Barring another accident, the Democratic party, having no other candidate with half the stature of Adlai Stevenson, is all set to back him again. In the meantime, however, come the important Senatorial elections of 1954 and if Eisenhower's prestige stays as high during the next year as it is today, the Democrats stand a chance of losing three Senatorial seats — Douglas in Illinois; Humphrey in Minnesota and Gillette in Iowa. Behind all the false-front harmony of this week's Chicago gathering of the clan is the unmistakable pessimism of a party which is still suffering from its 1952 shock.

Little can happen in this year's November state elections which can influence the 1954 national vote, gubernatorial elections are poor barometers for Senatorial polls. The fact, remains, however, that after Senator Robert A. Taft's death, the Senate is now evenly divided with 47 Republican Senators, 47 Democrats and a man without a country, Wayne Morse. The Administration can be expected to wage a terrific fight to win the control of the Senate.

On a state and county level, however, the Democratic picture is a sorry one indeed. The insistence of Colonel Bill Egan in playing whole hog or none is not going to do the party any good in Essex County. If, as was rumored this week, Egan goes through with his plan to handpick his own Democratic candidate for Congress, a young Kearny Irishman, to oppose Rep. Peter W. Rodino here in the 10th District, the party stands a good chance of losing a seat in Congress which it has held since Fred Hartley retired.

Egan is bitterly sore about the efforts of elected Democrats in high offices to bypass him. His unhappy brush with Newark Mayor Carlin, climaxed by his unoriginal but bitter denunciation of Carlin as a "bum" merely reflects his anger over the fact that Carlin refused to allow Egan to dispense Newark municipal patronage.

It was no secret, in the last Congressional election, that Egan demanded the right to name Congressman Rodino's secretary — a political job which has much to do with patronage. Rodino refused flatly Egan's demand and named his own secretary. He won his re-election without going through Egan.

It may have escaped the Democratic county chairman, but he is decidedly unpopular here. Belleville does not like ward heel-ers or back-room political bosses, of whom Egan is a very typical example. Belleville gave Congressman Rodino a majority in his campaign for re-election, but that was a Rodino vote, not a Democratic party vote. Rodino is very popular here, his prestige is high and his record unassailable. Egan is unpopular and could not swing a dozen votes in Belleville on the strength of his personal influence.

Belleville Democrats have a question to ask Egan but they despair of ever getting any answer. The question is: What ever became of Belleville's Wene petitions which are nowhere to be found in the state files in Trenton? Among the missing 4,000 Wene petitions are 15 from Belleville which were filed with Egan in Newark. There may be a clue in the fact that many Belleville Democrats who signed the Wene petitions later received personal letters from Cleidennin Ryan, the millionaire Republican who had Egan's backing for the Democratic nomination for Governor, thanking them for having given him their candid support. Not a one of them had signed a Ryan petition. They were all Wene supporters!

If Egan is stupid enough to run a candidate in opposition to Congressman Rodino, in the Democratic Primary, he would deserve the slap he surely would get here in Belleville. Rodino can stay in Congress longer without Egan than with Egan. Apparently, everybody knows that except Egan.

Call For Mr. Hartley

The Taft-Hartley law is a devious law, but only because it has become a political football. Harry Truman, more than any other, is the man responsible for the persistence of organized opposition to a law which, except for the political principles involved, could, long ago, have been rewritten to be acceptable to both labor and capital and serve the very purpose for which it was devised. Ever the Pendergast politician, Harry Truman kicked the law around only for the ground he could gain in national elections.

The resignation of Secretary of Labor Martin P. Durkin, as dramatic as it was, cannot advance in any way the necessary revision of the law. It is possible that if Senator Robert A. Taft had lived, he would have worked out a solution, rewriting certain clauses of his law. His death has removed that possibility and today's majority in Congress is just as opposed to any tampering with the law as Harry Truman was opposed to applying it.

Our interest in the Taft-Hartley law is direct, because it bears the name of Congressman Fred Hartley who represented our 10th District at the time the law was presented. We believe that Hartley could, if he would, serve a very useful purpose by taking up where Taft, at his death, left off. As co-author of a document now 12 years old, he must know its faults. Time has shown them not to be too grave to require serious rewriting. Absent from Congress, his influence would be lessened, but he could still be useful.

It is obvious that Rooseveltian Liberals and Truman Democrats, like Walter Reuther, head of the CIO, will make plenty of political capital out of the Durkin resignation but this is 1953 and the next Presidential election is only in 1956. By then most voters will have forgotten there ever was a Durkin. Harry Truman tried and failed to win Congressional elections with the Taft-Hartley law as the major issue. Reuther will try again, but his maneuver, in the Congressional elections of 1954, could be stymied if Eisenhower would, in the meantime, announce a constructive labor program and detail the revisions to the law which he favors. That is where Hartley could, once again, render service to his party, to labor, to capital and to the nation.

One Man's Opinion

Like The Little Dutch Boy, Mr. Dulles Has More Leaks To Fling Than He Has Fingers

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles finds himself today in much the same position as the little Dutch boy who tried to poke his finger into a hole in the dike and hold off the North Sea. Today's dike, alas, is worm-eaten and poor Mr. Dulles has only ten fingers.

As the General Assembly of the United Nations opened its work in New York this week, it had on its agenda four big issues — Red China, Korea, Colonialism and "McCarthyism In The UN", as our opponents call our efforts to weed out the American Communists and fellow-travelers from the personnel of the UN. Those holes in the dike will take up four fingers.

In the wider field of diplomatic policy-in-the-making, however, are enough other issues to use up all the rest of Mr. Dulles' thumbs and fingers. Topping them are the immediate problems of Indonesia and Morocco, tomorrow's problem of Trieste and the weird problem, still in the making, of a guarantee by Western powers of Russian security. Then, if Mr. Dulles has a free finger, he may try to plug the leak of India's wounded feelings.

There are indications that Mr. Dulles has, at least, won a delay on the issue of seating Red China in the UN, a hole of immediate concern that had to be plugged. The Western powers have agreed to bar debate on China during the Fall session of the Assembly even though Soviet Russia is expected to launch a move to unseat Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists. The agreement, however, is limited to the Fall session, and Mr. Dulles lost his effort to win consent to postpone discussion for one year.

Reneo Au Truce

The best argument that Mr. Dulles used in winning his brief respite was a plea to wait and see what Communist China does in the forthcoming Korean peace talks and in Indochina. If, as appears likely this week to be the case, the Chinese Reds refuse to go ahead with the truce talks in Indochina and a long string of other neutrals are invited, we may be able to delay indefinitely a showdown on the question of which China deserves the permanent seat on the Security Council.

The Secretary of State maneuvered skillfully in keeping one step ahead of Peking by warning of "grave consequences" if the Reds refused to accept the openly or by using the thin camouflage of "volunteers," pushing the Reds into a corner. The United States Department is convinced Peking intends to do this.

Setting The Stage
Red China now has a vast army well equipped and available. Idle troops deteriorate and those whose fighting has ended in Korea must be given something else to do. The monsoon season will end soon and when the rains stop, invasion will become militarily possible.

Peking has created justification for possible intervention to the South by setting up the puppet "Democratic Government of Thailand" of Yunnan. That covers parts of both Indochina and Thailand. If Peking gives an excuse for a new aggression, the Reds can pretend that the "Thai nationalities" are being oppressed by the French or by the Siamese. There would be no need to declare war. Few modern wars are "declared." As she did in Korea, Red China could send her big synthetic socialist creation in Yunnan by allowing Chinese "volunteers" to pour into Indochina and Thailand.

Dulles Dilemma
Mr. Dulles' dilemma was how to tell Peking that if it moves to the south, it will find our forces barreling in without committing the United States to guarantee the security of Indochina. Congress would have his call if he made such a pledge which is in the power of Congress, only, to give. So he wasted if it is used merely to prop up a tottering French colonialism in that area. Its prime aim must be to develop the military and moral power of the native non-Communist regimes. But here again it runs up against French unwillingness to relinquish control.

The United States has so far been unable to persuade the French to use the same methods in training Indo-Chinese troops that we employed to such splendid effect in building up the South Korean Army. As a result, the Associated States are quite unprepared militarily for the independence they claim for Indochina.

It would be a precondition of further American aid that the United States have a hand in greatly speeding up the development of a native Indo-Chinese army. No amount of money can put real life into the struggle against the Viet Minh unless nationalist-minded Indo-Chinese have something to fight with and something to fight for.

In the last analysis, Paris and Washington can save them from Communism only by helping them to stand on their own feet.

With China fairly well under control, Mr. Dulles is now attempting to dissuade Hainan and London from lending a movement to offer Russia a new "Locarno", guaranteeing the integrity of the existing frontiers of Russia in exchange for a withdrawal behind their own frontiers of the soldiers of the Red Army.

Mr. Dulles does not forget that Stalin readjusted those frontiers to suit his own ends — the war's end. He took the Minsk marshes from Poland and in exchange showed Poland towards the West, giving her part of German Prussia. A guarantee of Russian frontiers would be a guarantee of Poland's borders, too, and Washington never has recognized Stalin's sleight-of-hand which enlarged Russia at Germany's expense.

Beck's Television Column

Dealing with the public as the victim has for over 30 years, one comes across all kinds of people. It is simply amazing how many try to get something for nothing. Every time. Sometimes we feel like a charity institution.

There is the fellow who every once in a while comes to the shop and wants to look over a diagram of his set. We have a diagram for every radio and TV set. Every year there is a new crop we have to buy at $30 a book. So far there are 11 TV books, at a cost of $330, and 21 radio books costing $315. The publisher sells single diagrams for 50 cents a piece. The above mentioned character knows this, but is cheaper to go to Beck's. He bothers the mechanics with questions and keeps them from their work. Finally he buys a resistor for 15 cents and complains that he can get it through his cousin's sister-in-law who works for a wholesaler, for 10 cents and why do we charge so much.

Of course there are those people who discover all kinds of trouble "over since" their set has been repaired. Mostly it turns out that the troubles are due to location or defects in the antenna, which were there previously, but they insist that the troubles are "ever since" and they expect us to throw in an antenna repair job for nothing. As if the time of the material did not cost a penny. Not to talk about the material. Every time we hear the "ever since" we chuckle.

Some TV troubles can not be analyzed in the home. One needs instruments which can not be taken out of the shop because they are too delicate. So we pick up a set, test it and tell the customer how much the repair is going to cost. Sometimes they decide they do not want the repair done. Of course there has to be a charge for the work involved, but you should hear some of them. "You did not do anything for me!" is a most common phrase. Actually the bringing in and trouble-shooting is more than half the job. The majority of some people is really amazing. They would not think of going to any store to select a vacuum tube and take it out for nothing, but they expect us to perform work without paying, even if it means electric insurance bills, rent, etc., do not exist. Sometimes we throw up our hands in despair and wonder where we get the courage from to carry on. Nevertheless we continue.

FEDERAL LEATHER ANNOUNCES CHANGE

Plastic Upholstery Now To Be Known As FEDASTIC Formerly Called FEDISTRON

The Federal Leather Company of 681 Main Street announces that its unique and specially processed plastic upholstery will now be known as Fedastic. Mr. John F. Young, Executive Secretary of the firm, explains that the new term, Fedastic, prevents confusion with other trade names that do not have the same superior features and more nearly describes the character of the upholstery.

The prefix "Fed" in any of The Federal Leather Company's products denotes that the material is made to exacting standards and has passed rigid tests. "Lastic" connotes the stretchable nature of Fedastic which is backed with a specially knitted elastic fabric.

Fedastic is enjoying increasing popularity as an upholstery material where top quality, superior appearance, and wear are important. Furniture manufacturers find that its stretchable feature makes possible an easier, quicker, and smoother upholstery job than obtainable with other types of backing. Fedastic's beauty and durability make it an equally desirable covering for the finest furniture.

The consumer warranty issued for Fedastic will now apply to Fedastic. This warranty guarantees Fedastic against fading, cracking, peeling, and abrasion under normal conditions for a period of one year. It warrants Fedastic to be free of any harmful by-products, carbon tetrachloride, ammonia and other staining household fluids. Fedastic, in addition to the natural grains and tapestry designs, is now available in several new patterns. Mr. Young explains that the heavy demand for its products and the limited supply of the specially knitted elastic fabric backing has caused some delay in deliveries. But with arrangements just completed with the fabric mills to furnish more of the special knitted elastic backing, as well as increased facilities now being prepared in its own plant, deliveries will be considerably improved in the near future.

SERVICES TO MARK ATONEMENT DAY

Yom Kippur Holiday To Be Observed Tomorrow; Rabbi Raab To Give Two Sermons

Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, services will be conducted at the Congregation AAA tonight at 6:45 p.m. and tomorrow beginning at 8:15 a.m. The services will be conducted by Dr. Albert L. Raab, rabbi of the congregation, who will be assisted by Cantor Nathan Eisen of New York.

The Kol Nidre services tonight will be chanted by Cantor Eisen. Rabbi Raab will then speak on the subject "And Ye Shall Make Atonement." "Captains of Our Destinies" will be the topic for Rabbi Raab's sermon on the day of Yom Kippur. Youth services will be conducted at 10:30 a.m.

under the supervision of Dr. M. Roschberg.
The Day of Atonement is regarded as the most solemn day in the Jewish Religious calendar. Even those who at other times are not especially observant of religious forms, gather together to worship. Its central theme is that of repentance of wrong committed by the individual. Traditionally, the day is marked by special prayers and the abstention from food and drink from eventide to eventide. The purpose of the fast is to turn man's thoughts away from material things and to emphasize spiritual values.
