THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1953

No issue to be decided at the polls is of more critical importance to Essex County than the quality of its own government. ... On one side is the unwavering leadership that Clean Government has given, for decency in politics and government.

On the Democratic side is the leadership of County Chairman William J. Egan. ... The Democratic candidates in Essex are Egan candidates. If they win, it means Mr. Egan in the State House and Court House. And that is exactly the risk that must be faced if untested voters remain away from the polls on November 3.

BE SURE TO VOTE TUESDAY FOR MARK ANTON FOR STATE SENATOR AND THE ENTIRE CLEAN GOVERNMENT REPUBLICAN TICKET

MAYOR TULLY AND COMMISSIONERS AT WALDORF ASTORIA

Meet Marc Anton After Luncheon Meeting Honoring Football's Steve Owen

The gleeful echoes of a well represented Belleville group merged with the laughter of a throng of governmental officials and prominent business men who were caajoled through a dinner meeting of the Saints and Sinners Club, Friday, at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York City.

Mayor James J. Tully, Commissioners Joseph King and Elmer Hyde, Horace Goodenough, Brad McCoy, Arthur Meyer and public officials from surrounding areas were diners at a luncheon honoring Steve Owen, coach of the New York Professional Football Giants.

New Jersey's ex-governor, Ed Hoffman, enacted a program of entertainment that satisfied Owen and the losing streak of the Giants. Quips were passed back and forth, parodying the old "mirth and finally Tully O'Rourke," well known after dinner speaker, vindicated the role of Owen.

After the dinner and entertainment the Mayor and his group retired to a reserved suite to meet Marc Anton, candidate for New Jersey State Senator. He arrived after the dinner, being delayed by a snarl in traffic.

LETTERS To The Editor

To the Editor, Times-News: I have been a resident of Belleville for over 30 years, and feel that I enjoy the reputation of being one of the most loyal citizens at all times conducting myself above reproach, both in my personal and business life, as well as with a deep sense of humility.

For three years I have served as a member of the Belleville Board of Education. At that regular meeting I was criticized by a local citizen for the purchase by me of a 1946 car from a local dealer, which car had formerly been owned by the Board of Education. This criticism prompted a fellow board member to ask for my resignation.

I believe the citizens of Belleville are entitled to know whether or not action of mine, either as a board member or as a citizen, in the past, has caused them an apology to them or any board member.

The duties performed may duties to the community, at all times when called upon, at any hour of the day or night, have been my duty as a citizen and teacher. In my three years of service I have never missed a board meeting and have acted as a conscientious member until the expiration of my term.

The Pattern Shows

When our friend, and when we say that we include the members of the Belleville High coaching staff and others from town, learned last year that Earl "Ace" Hoagland, President of the N. J. Coaches Association, had resigned from coaching after many successful years at Rahway High, we knew that Earl was not finished with the game but had something else in mind.

Recently that something else has begun to show. Earl is now the chief scout and one of the assistant coaches at Upsala College. Whether the head coach job is next, or the college connection is but a stepping stone to another collegiate job, we don't know. But we do know that while the fans in Rahway appreciate Hoagland, the appreciation doesn't do much to put bread and butter on his table.

We remember when Earl Hoagland played his first football as a freshman at Bloomfield High. The day he walked out on the field he let everyone from the waterboy to Coach Bill Foley know that he intended to make the team immediately. And in the ensuing days went about proving that he would make good his words. He was a great kicker in those days and could take it as well as dish it out.

In his last year at Bloomfield he led the state in scoring, but went on to Fiddie as a P-G, and because he was the only back on the team who knew how to block was assigned that job and his running ability wasted. Although he played at Purdue, he was one of those 165 pound backs who were a dime-a-dozen out where you had to be at least 200 to attract the coach's eye.

Ever since he started coaching, first as an assistant under Bill Foley and later on his own, at North Plainfield, Hoagland has done well. His first North Plainfield team was the first which beat their biggest rival, Plainfield, and his teams did it for two straight years. Rahway had gone through about 40 games without winning a single contest before they hired Hoagland. In his first year he won half his games and in his second he won them all and the state championship in Group II. For the last 15 years he has been winning his share of titles, and finishing in the money in his off years. The current Rahway team, still winning, is the team he left behind for the new coach.

We know "Ace" Hoagland can do as well in college as in High School. If he gets a college job he will automatically get about 300 New Jersey Coaches as his scouts for material.

Crystal Gazing

Schoolboy football grid wackier with each passing Saturday. The scholastic grid picture was really turned inside out as two of the longest streaks in the state came to an end. Montclair had its winning streak abruptly stopped by East Orange, 27-14 and Nutley turned around and captured its first victory after dropping 17 in succession. To top off the weekend of upsets, Bloomfield, which was going no place two weeks ago, recorded a one-sided 21-6 score against heavily favored Kearny. Reports have it that Frank Trippuck, All-American quarterback from Notre Dame, is now the guiding force behind the Bengals as he helps his friend Joe Moore.

With five weeks of the season already history, our star gazing average is at .696. Thirty-two out of 46 have been correctly tagged. This time with the aid of a flip of a coin and once again up in the air we're off and running...

Belleville to ease past Hillside. Ed. Berlinski, with the aid of the famous "sleeper play" pulled another one out Saturday against Irvington. The Bellboys may be able to give the pay-off play a rest in the Hillside tussle.

East Orange to trim Nutley. The Maroon Raiders' streak is now at one in a row. If you can coin such a phrase. With East Orange being the opposition the chance of making it two in a row will be a steep up-hill climb. Coach Bob Redmond and his Panthers, however, may have some anxious moments if the Maroon can duplicate its passing performance and the forward wall can repeat its brilliant defensive play. East Orange, with Junie Walker and Don Mumford, after defeating Montclair have their eyes on the Group 4 crown and the mythical state title.

Central to down Weequahic. Each team is battling for third place in the City League. Central to take the decision, but only after a close squeeze.

Clifford Scott to rout Millburn. The high scoring Scotties will have this one in its win column without too much trouble.

Orange to drub East Side. The way the Tornados have been playing it is going to take a much tougher outfit than East Side to stop them. Keep your eye on Orange. East Orange still has to take the Tornados over before there is any thinking of a state crown. That fray, when it comes off next month, has all the ear-markings of a real donkey-brook.

Montclair to flatten Columbia. A Clary Anderson coached football team isn't used to being on the losing side of the ledger. The Mounties will be itching to start another win streak and Columbia will be its first victim.

West Side to turn back South Side. The South Siders will still be seeking its initial City League victory.

Barringer to defeat Morristown. The Big Blue has an unblemished record. It will stay that way for another Saturday if past records hold any water.

Clifton to hurdle East Rutherford. Another test in the Passaic Valley Conference will be cleared by the undefeated, but once tied Mustangs.

Bellboys Squeeze Out 12 to 7 Victory Over Camptowners

Hopes Dimmed When Extra Point Missed On First Score; Sleeper Pass Tallies In Final Minutes

Showing little in the way of offensive punch in the first three quarters, Belleville's Blue and Gold suddenly came alive to score two fast touchdowns in the final eight minutes of the game, to beat Irvington 12 to 7, at Belleville's Municipal Stadium, Saturday.

Through most of the first half the two teams battled to a stand-still but with a few minutes remaining in the second quarter, what appeared to be an apparent interception turned out to a 70-yard touchdown pass-play from Roger Monroe to Roger Morin. The extra point was made on a pass from Monroe to Ralph Currie, and at the half, Irvington led 7 to 0.

The third period was scoreless as both teams' punters got plenty of work but with five minutes left in the fourth stanza, a 30 yard pass play from Roger Cafone to Joe Mignon accounted for Belleville's first touchdown. The extra point seemed to mean everything. Either the Bellboys tied or Irvington had its first win. Cafone, attempting to rush for the point, was stopped.

It looked like the Camptowners had their win but after holding Irvington on four straight downs, Belleville took over on their own 45. On the first play from scrimmage, Joe Mignon, outrunning the Irvington defense, ran 55 yards for what appeared to be a touchdown. To the dismay of the Belleville fans, the play was called back. Two plays later, Belleville tied a sleeper. The Irvington defenders spotted D'Onofrio but it didn't do them any good. Larry caught Cafone's pass on the 5, threw off two defenders and ran over for the touchdown. Pomponi's kick for the extra point was missed and the final score was 12 to 7.

The win for Belleville was its fourth, against one loss. This record puts Belleville high in the Collier standing, which annually gives awards to the outstanding teams in the state. Only East Orange and Barringer are undefeated. The Camptowners, under their new coach, Milton Weiner,

To Play In Polo Grounds

Nutley's two grid representatives at the University of Miami, end Frank McDonald and halfback Art Knust, will be playing before a host of Nutley rooters for the first time since joining the Hurricanes when Miami takes on Fordham University, Saturday, at the Polo Grounds in New York City. Both will be in the starting lineup against the Rams. Bob Taro, Nutley's third representative quit the squad due to a leg injury.

Yale End Starred Here

Roger Hansen, Yale End

With Yale's football season five games old, Roger Hansen, Eli end, formerly a member of the Belleville High School grid squad, will be starting his third game Saturday, when the New Haven eleven plays host to Dartmouth at the Yale Bowl.

In the season's opener against have yet to win a game while absorbing five defeats.

A subject this column has been skipping over too lightly is the fine playing of Joe Mignon. The little seahawk, because of his great speed, is used primarily for end runs and as a pass receiver. Joe, instead of trying to smash through the defenders, attempts to out-run them. He is becoming more successful in his efforts as the weeks roll on. It looks like next year, Joe will be the main cog in the Belleville offensive machine.

Next week the Bellboys travel to Hillside in quest of their fifth win. From all indications it looks like they'll get it. Hillside is in the class of West Side, the team that Belleville best 38 to 0.

Services Conducted By Dr. Albert L. Raab Tonight; Choir Will Chant Hymns

"The Sabbath" will be the theme of the entire service conducted by Dr. Albert L. Raab, rabbi of Congregation Anshas Achim, at services tonight at the Synagogue at 8:30.

After the service a Sabbath Forum will be held in the study room of the Synagogue. It will be based on the National Sabbath Observance Effort of the United Synagogue of America. Following the procedure of last year, the initial phase of the Sabbath effort is synchronized with the program of the interdenominational Religion in American Life Movement (RIAL), a jointly sponsored by 23 religious bodies, including the United Synagogue of America (the Conservative Movement in Judaism).

The month of November has been selected by RIAL as a month of emphasis on values of religious living, and we shall strive for the revitalization of Sabbath Observance in the home and at public worship.

Dr. Raab will begin the discussion using the theme of Lewis Mumford who said, "The first public acknowledgment of the creative pause was, of course, the Jewish institution of the Sabbath: a social invention of the first magnitude." A period of questions by the congregants and answered by the Rector will follow.

A special table arranged in the Sabbath mood will feature the "Over Sabbath" hour. It will be set by the Synagogue Sisterhood, of which Mrs. Morris Glassman is president. The hostesses of the evening will be: Mrs. Edward J. Abramson, Mrs. B. A. Jacobson and Mrs. Jack Steinhauer.

When! It's all over but the shouting, as Room 113 begins their celebration of V.G. Day. That was a fine fight you put up, Mr. Grossman, but I guess Miss Weidman's homeroom had a little more spirit. You should be ashamed of yourselves, 110. Yes, the excitement is over and we are proud to say that this year's magazine campaign sales topped all records for previous drives, as the total wound up at a big $8,872.50. Monday climaxed a hectic week of fun and intensive competition as the various homerooms fought tooth and nail to win. Here are all the vital statistics.

High homerooms per capita: 112, Miss Weidman; 114, Mr. Gabry; Cafe B, Miss Pinelli; 206, Miss Nelson; and 110, Mr. Grossman. The 100% homerooms were 110, Mr. Grossman; Cafe B, Miss Pinelli; 114, Mr. Gabry; 113, Miss Weidman; 206, Miss Nelson; and 206, Miss Nelson. High class: Freshman. Needless to say, the sum of 10% of our net profits will go into the Freshman Class treasury, and to all 100% homeroom teachers will go a beautiful leather traveling clock. The net profits will go into the Student Body treasury and will probably be spent in buying cheerleading uniforms, subsidizing the school newspaper and paying for various assemblies during the year.

A tip of the old football helmet to the members of the magazine committee who spent their valuable time counting up all the loot that flowed in. Um! What fun! (By the way, did you find any lucky dollar bills?)

Special note: Joan, Eleanor, Rita, and Eleanor all want to thank Bill for the coffee and buns. Tricks or treats, money or eggs. That can only mean Halloween. Don't forget the annual Halloween Sock Dance to-night. You check your shoes at the door. Also for you little jassies who have not yet grabbed a mighty maid, there's still time to ask him to the Twirl Dance.

How'd you like Belleville's singing celebration? Seems that he was just too busy to give a statement or interview to a "Spotlight" reporter. Sorry, Bob, but you're disappointed.

Three yay Joe Mignon!!! That catch and run you made Saturday was terrific. And we can say "You wuz robbed!" Wasn't Pat Fitzsimmons sensational, too? Well, she'll be back tomorrow for a repeat performance by those of you who missed the first showing.

Three girls get out on a trip to New Brunswick to tour the N.J.C. campus and watch a Rutgers football game. All went well until it began to pour. Then troubles began. The car wouldn't move. But the three musketeers never had to fear for along came several cute Rutgers men to the rescue. (Joan, are you sure the car wouldn't start or did Eleanor and Wanda pump the air out of the tires?) Incidentally, did you get their phone numbers?

Sh! Got to stop now. Juifs is on T.V. Um! C'est magnifique! (Italian)

LETTERS
To The Editor

Labels Letter False Reasoning
To The Editor, Times-News:

Mr. Bucco indicated in last week's issue that he was expressing his final views on the subject of the Decent Literature Committee. I am sure that he will have no objection to a summation by the defense.

He states: "Educated persons know that when you match from a man his God-given freedom to choose between good and evil you turn him into something less than a man." When you list the books that he must read... you are de-humanizing him... you commit a sin against God.

First, I should like to point out that education is not synonymous with intelligence nor with correct reasoning. An examination of the quoted statement will show that it is neither good logic nor good philosophy.

Apparently Mr. Bucco is referring to the Free-Will of man to choose between good and evil and he calls it a God-given freedom. He accuses the Decent Literature Committee of trying to deprive man of the right to choose between good and evil.

The ability to choose between good and evil is not in any way a right, natural or otherwise. There is obviously no right to choose or do wrong, although there is power and ability to do so. If it is not a right, then there is no wrong in suppressing the ability to make an evil choice. Ability to choose evil is not blessed by God, by Natural Law, or by the State. In a word there is no right to insist that evil or temptation be made available merely because man has the ability to make an evil choice.

Let us examine Mr. Bucco's proposition that the committee is de-humanizing man by preventing him from choosing between good and evil by denying access to obscene literature. If he has a right to a choice, then he should have a right to an equal choice between good and evil, otherwise we are partially restricting his ability to choose. This means, of course, that at least 50% of the books on the shelves should be evil and 50% good, 50% of films should be obscene and 50% good, television channels 2 to 6 should show clean shows and 2 to 6 should show obscene. If the premise leads to an illogical conclusion, all I can say is that there must be something wrong with the premise.

Developing the thought a little further, there should be no objection to the existence of the village of gambling dens, houses of prostitution, places where dope and narcotics can be obtained, etc. If you have such institutions, you are certainly placing restrictions on a man's ability to choose good and evil. If a contributor's words are making him "less than a man," let's face the ugly words.

What the Decent Literature Committee proposes is censorship and if necessary a boycott. Let these objections to the ugly words when he gave the Ten "Thou shalt nots" to Moses on Mount Sinai.

Very truly yours,
Paul J. McGeady,

Answer To Mr. Bucco

To The Editor, Times-News:

We read Mr. Bucco's "Last Letter" with great interest. We are glad that the issue has been brought into the open because we feel that others may be concerned about the issue of liberty and freedom of the press in connection with our campaign. This argument would seem, superficially, to be a valid one. However, a serious consideration of it would reveal several flaws in it.

1. Freedom of the press. That is perhaps, one of our most cherished possessions and should not be encroached upon lightly. However, freedom must be distinguished from license and must bear a certain responsibility. Certainly Mr. Bucco would not seriously maintain that there should be no restrictions whatsoever on the freedom to print and distribute any type of writing without regard to some standard of decency or morality. Since we seek to ban only such publications as have been determined by responsible authorities to be harmful to the morals of our youth, this argument would seem to fail.

Work Starts On Third Tube For Lincoln Tunnel

Above is an architect's sketch of the Weehawken entrance to the Lincoln Tunnel, showing the third tube, to the right, now being constructed under a $17,260,370 contract recently awarded by the Port of New York Authority which calls for cutting through 720 feet of solid rock under the Palisades to reach the silt under the Hudson river through which the tunnel will be pushed. The new tube will be used on a switch basis to double the tunnel's peak hour capacity in the preponderant direction of traffic.

2. The freedom to choose what we will or will not read. We do not permit the indiscriminate sale and display of poison or drugs. Neither do we permit our young the free access to our medicine cabinets to make a "free choice" of the contents thereof. Should there be a distinction between poisoning the body and poisoning the mind? We think not. Young minds should not be subjected to the poisonous influence of certain of the publications on display and sale at our neighborhood stores.

In conclusion, we would like to extend our thanks and commendation to the dealers in our parish who have almost unanimously, given their enthusiastic cooperation and support. We wish again to invite the cooperation of all organizations, civic or religious, to join the campaign. We wish in particular to extend this invitation to the various P.T.A.s groups. Any one wishing to cooperate may contact the writer or Father Wightman at the St. Peter's Rectory.

Suggests Elective Board

To The Editor, Times-News:

The intermixture reaction within the Belleville Board of Education, as characterized by the incriminations and reincriminations of school board members, accompanied by the reported County Prosecutor's probe into the practices of its business office shatters, and undermines the confidence of the people of Belleville in the administrative efficiency and integrity of those entrusted with the transcendent responsibility of formulating and directing the policies of that great fundamental American institution, our free public educational system.

It is especially untimely and disheartening that this controversy should now manifest itself, for today as few periods in American history, our nation finds itself at a climactic juncture in its proud destiny, where sinister forces furtively endeavor to weave their perverted skein into the fabric of the people's education processes. Knowing the counter-acting salutary influence of our school system which serves as a valuable matrix which molds an early appreciation in the impressionable minds of our youth for the cherished advantages of democracy and the traditional American heritages which make us God-fearing men of freedom, we must not permit the inviolable charges and counter charges leveled by Board of Education members upon each other to exert an adverse effect or influence upon the training of Belleville's school children.

One must in fairness endeavor to evaluate the contributing factors responsible for this education imbroglio. Casual observation based upon the public statements of the members involved leads to the ultimate conclusion, in my opinion, that questionable and representative practices may have been engaged in which were not in the best interest of the citizens and taxpayers of the Town of Belleville. It is unfortunate that under existing statutes the composition of the Board of Education in the Town of Belleville, N. J., is appointed by the Mayor who is solely responsible for their designation, thus leaving the public with little latitude for action to correct a situation which I am sure is not to their liking.

With a view to coping with just such a circumstance, and in an effort to make more amenable and responsive to the will of the people the activities of the Board of Education, I have persistently endeavored to prevail upon the Belleville Board of Commissioners, the local governing body of this Town, to adopt a resolution which would make possible the conducting of a public referendum at which the electorate might determine in the prescribed traditional democratic manner if they preferred to adopt the institution of an elective Board of Education for this community. The composition of which would be chosen exclusively by the will of the people through the exercise of their franchise. Feeling many concur with my sentiments in favor of an elective Board of Education I call upon the Commissioners to act to make possible the earliest possible referendum date at which this matter may be resolved by the people of Belleville.

Respectfully submitted,

James R. Golden,
62 Tappan Avenue,
Belleville, N. J.

No Excuse For Wanton Destruction

There is nothing hallowed these days about Halloween, alas, and, more and more, senseless depredations have taken the place of tolerable mischievousness.

Unless the juvenile desperadoes bent on destruction are curbed, all Halloween activity will, some day, be repressed and that would be a shame because to the small boy or girl there is a great deal of fun in masquerading and in mischievous tricks.

Only the police can curb those bent upon destruction. Parents, schools, churches are helpless to intervene. Arrests for wanton and deliberate destruction might teach the callous to limit their fun. At least, positive action of some sort to protect the merchants is far better than the negativism of reaction in recent Halloweens.

At Stake In This Election

We have reached the point-of-no-return in the gubernatorial election beyond which neither opponent, nor the elector, dares turn back.

It has been a sorry campaign; a stupid campaign, based not upon election policies or administrative principles, but upon a letter written not to Joey Fay but about Joey Fay, to the Governor of New York State. If an election campaign can be decided upon such flimsy causes, God protect our Democracy.

Alas, it was tried and it almost worked in the case of Vice President Nixon when the issue at stake was not his fitness to be runner-up to the Presidency of these United States but the origin of a slush fund for election purposes. As we have seen, Nixon, in less than a year, has proved himself.

Having come close to character-assassination in the Nixon affair, the political bosses set out to assassinate Paul Troast by questioning a letter which was written and sent, openly, within the structure of our parole system. The voters were not fooled last November; it is to be expected that they will not be fooled this November.

At stake in this election is not a letter but the continuation or interruption of Clean Government in Essex County and of clean government in Trenton.

Nothing else should influence the electorate's opinion.

We know as a fact that the ousting of Clean Government, here in Essex County would bring in Bill Egan and the Democratic machine. Has the county administration in Essex been good or bad? If, as we believe, it has been almost perfect, honest, economical and efficient, then there is no reason for a change. Especially, and perhaps more so, since Bill Egan would be the county "boss", through whose fingers the political pap would flow and in whose hands would lie the court appointments which could make a travesty of justice.

We know as a fact, too, that a continuation of Republican administration in Trenton would bring a continuation of Republican policy—as it concerns our taxes, particularly. We know that Troast is pledged to refuse a state income tax and a state sales tax. He has promised increased school aid, but he has refused to create any new tax to underwrite such a largesse.

It is our contention that taxes are the real crux of this election. Taxes and the record. The sorry spectacle of the spiraling taxes of the Roosevelt and the Truman regimes is, alas, too fresh in memory. In stunning contrast is the spectacle of a well-governed state which has, thus far, escaped sales tax, corporation tax or state income tax.

We see no reason to change all that and all the subterfuge and camouflage of a campaign which was not confined to a debate of party policies cannot hide that record of accomplishment.

R. E. H.

Remember Egan Around The Corner

In the hurling of stink-bombs in this campaign, on a state level, sight may be lost of the important phase of the county elections in next Tuesday's voting. Since the Democratic county chairman, the purveyor of patronage, in the event of a Democratic victory with patronage to purvey, is William J. Egan, that negligence might be costly. Bill Egan is no man to be given the privilege of spending our hard-earned money as political pap on a county level.

No county in the whole United States is better governed than is Essex County, and it has been that way for 37 years since the present forces of Clean Government took over. In a day when the headlines tell of graft and scandal in far too many urban counties, centers of great masses of population, it is a welcome relief to know that Essex County, for a third of a century, has been governed without graft and without waste?

When you go to the polls on Tuesday, bear in mind the mental picture of Bill Egan. We know, too well, his type and we know, too well, what boss rule has meant to many of our neighboring counties — on both sides of the political fence. We have known decency in county government and now is no time to turn to boss rule.

One Man's Opinion

Sudden Halt In American Aid To Israel With Irrigation And Power Projects Barely Begun Reflects New Eisenhower Policy

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

Older than Christianity itself is the basic conflict between Jew and Arab which has presented the United Nations with a dispute as explosive as is the problem of Korea, or of Indochina or any of the tautly-drawn conflicts between East and West. The setting of this newest dispute is in the Biblical land and on Biblical waters, but the cause of the conflict was born even before Christ.

The immediate suspension of the United States' grant-in-aid to Israel following the raid by Israeli forces on the Hashemite Arab border village of Kibya, in which between 42 and 66 Arabs were killed, and the American move to haul both Arabs and Jews before the UN Security Council show that with the Eisenhower administration now in power the United States is returning to a neutral position between the Arabs and the Jews.

Except for the great religious overtones, the physical values of the Israel dispute are minor. At stake, however, is the racial prestige of centuries.

Subjugated for many decades by the Turks, as vassals of the Ottoman Empire, the Arabs came into their own with the collapse of the Turkish bloc in World War I. After a period of French and British tutelage, the Arab lands won their independence of action, at the very same time that the British, with American approval, carved out of Palestine a Jewish state of Israel and apportioned out to the neighboring Arab states the rest of the land.

Flow of Dollars

Under Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, American policy was definitely pro-Israel and anti-Arab, and with Iran being extended to Israel was beneficial to Israel which kept the young Republic from bankruptcy.

In the meantime, however, the Arab states asserted themselves in the United Nations where, in times, Arab statesmen from Syria, Lebanon, Egypt, and Iran have, successfully, on the Security Council. With Egypt challenging Britain in the Suez Canal Zone and with Iran holding out against Britain in the bitter oil dispute, President Eisenhower reassessed the situation and decided to return, as swiftly as possible, to a position of neutrality.

Reopening Secret Zone

The border raid by Israeli troops provided the occasion, Dulles moved swiftly to cut off American dollar aid and the young Republic of Israel finds itself today a victim of Washington's irritation. The grant-in-aid will be returned to Israel when the UN has made a thorough check of conditions along the demilitarized zone along the border between Jews and Arabs. Tel Aviv has steadfastly refused to allow UN observers in that demilitarized zone.

This year, however, in the flow of West German reparations decreased the share of United States help in Israel's economic life, which although hard hit by Mr. Dulles' decision, is not threatened with immediate disaster.

The current Israel budget was based on the assumption that United States grant-in-aid would begin to flow into Israel last May. As that did not happen, Israel already has been compelled to take a number of short-term loans, a stopgap costing the country last year, $15,000,000 for expenses and commissions alone. Further deferment of United States aid would make this burden even heavier.

In the past, United States aid made a vital contribution to the absorption of immigrants and to the expansion of the country's natural resources. Two years ago, when Israel was staggering under the burden of resettling some 750,000 immigrants, most of that year's $65,000,000 in American economic assistance was used for relief.

The bread eaten by Israeli citizens, the fuel to bake it and the trucks to deliver it were paid for mostly by American aid two years ago. Milk powder to supplement Israel's scanty milk production, sugar, and most of the oil used by Israeli households could not have been imported without the American grant-then.

However, last year when immigration came to a virtual halt, the $70,000,000 of United States aid allowed for a sharp increase in spending on development from less than $8,000,000 in the fiscal year of 1951-52 to three times as much in the fiscal year 1952-53.

In Israel's current development budget the share of United States grant-in-aid had been planned to be even greater. More than $55,000,000 dollars out of a total of $175,000,000 in aid was intended to be spent by Israel on development expected to come from American aid. This project is seriously imperiled now.

Dependence of Israel's diet on American aid has been greatly reduced in the past two years. Food and fodder imports used up $42,000,000 of United States aid in 1951-52; this sum was reduced to $28,000,000 in the following budget period and a further reduction to $12,000,000 was planned for 1953-54.

German Reparations

This expenditure now will have to be covered from other sources, probably German reparations.

Decrease of dependence of basic food and fodder on American aid was due mainly to successful agricultural development carried out during recent years. Irrigation which drained off less than 4 per cent of the American grant two years ago, increased to 10 per cent of the total grant last year.

During the current year 12 per cent of the aid's total has been earmarked for irrigation of the thirsty soil.

Expansion of power and industry linked with the United States grant. Some $5,000,000 were earmarked for these items — now it is doubtful whether there will be any more funds available for power development, since the Jordan power plan is one of the major sources of Arab aid.

An immediate repercussion of the discontinuation of development works would be major unemployment in Israel.

By now this money already has been spent and unemployment is back at 20,000. Following Mr. Dulles' decision, it is expected to rocket considerably higher.

Although the prospects present are not bright, the Israelis are confident that the United States government soon will "cease" harming Israel in order to win Arab sympathies and will revert to its traditional policy of supporting the democratic state.

LETTERS To The Editor

Wene Writes On Kenny

To The Editor, Times-News:

Many friends have asked why I do not participate in this campaign and I believe I owe it to those friends in Bellevue who supported me, to state my position frankly. In these serious times as a citizen, and as a man and a former Democratic member of Congress I am compelled to speak up candidly about the most important gubernatorial election in the history of New Jersey.

Far more important than the success of any individual, or any political party in the present time of confusion and uncertainty is the welfare of every man, woman and child in New Jersey. Throughout my lifetime, I have been a Democrat. Three times this party has given me high honor by election to Congress from the 2nd District. The party also has honored me with election to the New Jersey State Senate. Four years ago, I was nominated for Governor. I will never betray as great a public trust.

I have always adhered rigidly to a standard of integrity in government. Measured against such a standard, I have found it impossible to secure my conscience and deep conviction to support the candidate sponsored by, and beholden for his nomination to, Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City.

I have personally urged our candidate to sincerely repudiate Mayor Kenny. I am now reluctantly forced to believe that he has no intention of doing so. The such an alliance in charge of the State government would be detrimental to New Jersey. Furthermore, it is my unshakable conviction that the election of the Democratic candidate, in sum and substance, would in truth be the election of Mayor Kenny as the next Governor of New Jersey and destruction of the integrity of our State Government.

To Bellevue Democrats, I submit for their consideration what the consequence of such an alliance means to the preservation of honest, decent government, during the next four years in Trenton. Such an alliance would throw the doors wide open to the same type of government which has marred the municipal administration of Mayor Kenny in Jersey City.

Twice in recent years I have learned the costly penalty of refusing to become a tool for Mayor Kenny. In 1949, when I was nominated for Governor by the Democratic Party by acclamation in all of New Jersey's 21 counties, I had an ultimatum delivered to me of being elected or being defeated in the general election by Mayor Kenny.

His agents, reportedly the very same people who now support the Democratic candidate, approached my public relations representative, James Bishop, with a shocking offer of $300,000 for my campaign. I refused. Mayor Kenny dictated the next Attorney General of New Jersey. Such an offer was exposed and documented on Pages 818 to 819, of the Times-News on August 16, 1951, in an official U.S. government publication of sworn testimony at a hearing conducted by Chairman Estes Kefauver of the special U.S. Senate Committee to investigate Organized Crime in Interstate Commerce. This offer was immediately rejected. I have never regretted making that decision, although it cost me the election.

Again, this year, I became a candidate for Governor in the Democratic primary. I was opposed by Mayor Kenny, for he knew that I would not submit to his dictation. But once more I was counted out by a questionable 1,400 votes because Kenny betrayed the rank and file of my party. Seventeen out of twenty-one counties indicated me as their choice to carry the Democratic banner.

I think too much of the State of New Jersey and my obligations to good government to participate in such a deal. It is my sincere belief that the principles of democracy as exemplified by many great Democrats are more important than any one man's ambition to be Governor at the expense of our party's integrity.

Elmer H. Wene, Vineland, N. J.

Says Books Are In Order

To the Editor, Times-News: I take public notice of an article which appeared in the Bellevue Times on Friday, October 23. In quotation marks in this article Mr. McCann states that the records of the Board of Education were "doctored up" to substantiate this transaction. This statement is definitely untrue and, in my opinion, slanderous per se.

The records of the business office of the Board of Education have never been altered in any respect whatsoever to fit any particular situation. They are audited twice a year by the auditor and periodically by the State Department of Public Instruction. On page 818 of the annual audit for the school year 1952-1953 it states, "The financial records, books and accounts and minutes maintained by the District Clerk were in excellent condition."

Each Board member has received a copy of a letter written by Mr. Frank Stover, County Superintendent of Schools, and Mr. Henry Huston, State Inspector of School Accounts, reporting on their survey of the practices in the business office which was made during the year 1951 and which was made at my request of the Board of Education.

During the past two months there have been a great many statements made. I have not answered these statements and do not intend to answer them until the matter is closed.

I have no apologies to any member of the Board of Education in its entirety, or to the taxpayers of Bellevue for my stewardship of the business of the Board of Education for the past twenty-one years.

Very truly yours,
Ruel H. Daniel,
Secretary.

RADIO BROADCASTS MORNING SERVICE

Rev. Clifford A. Hewitt
Heard Over Station WVNJ
Each Week Day Morning

Rev. Clifford A. Hewitt, pastor of Wesley Methodist Church, were heard this week in a series of radio broadcasts over Station WVNJ in Newark. He conducted the daily program of morning devotionals which initiates the broadcasting from WVNJ at 7:00 a.m. each week day morning. The program, which includes recorded hymns as well as the message by the minister, has a duration of ten minutes.

The religious broadcasts are sponsored jointly by Station WVNJ and the Essex Division of the New Jersey Council of Churches. Each week a different minister from one of the Essex County Churches is selected to conduct them. The program is actually a transcribed presentation. About one week in advance of the scheduled date for the program, the assigned minister transcribes all five of his messages on records which are later played in conjunction with the recorded hymns for the day.

The Rev. Mr. Hewitt's topics for the messages were "Sowing Seed," "The Storm and the Calm," "The Tares and the Wheat," "Getting Personal with God," and "A Pillar of Salt or the Salt of the Earth."
