

One Killed, Four Injured When Auto Hits Tree

Three Belleville residents still were confined to Mountaintop Hospital this week with injuries they suffered in an automobile crash in which a fourth was killed, and a fifth person injured. All were passengers in a station wagon, owned by the Belleville Chapter of the Red Cross, which left the road and hit a tree in Glen Ridge Friday. Four of the five were multiple sclerosis victims who were returning from a meeting of the New Jersey Multiple Sclerosis Club in Orange.

Fatally hurt was Theodore Leo, Mr. L. A. Flannery, 64, of 212 Overlook Avenue, who was the driver of the car, was critically injured. She is in a serious condition with a fractured jaw and multiple rib fractures.

Others injured were Miss Alice Willy, of 357 Belleville Avenue, who suffered compound fractures of both arms and legs; Mrs. Josephine, 34, of 13 Linden Avenue, whose leg was also broken; Thomas McWhorter, 45, of 530 Little Street, suffered cuts about his legs, but returned home after treatment.

Police said Mrs. Flannery apparently lost control of the car. Services for Mr. Leo were held Wednesday from a Bloomfield funeral home. A requiem mass was offered in the morning at St. Peter's Church here. Burial was in St. Olivet Cemetery, Bloomfield.

Mr. Leo, who was stricken with multiple sclerosis several years ago, came to the United States from Calabria, Italy, when he was 16. He returned last summer from a visit to Calabria, where a brother, Dr. Domenico Leo, consulted him concerning his condition.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary Calio Leo, two daughters, Josephine, 12, and Jean, 7, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Domenico Leo, and three other brothers, Eugene, Anthony, and Francisco, all living in Italy.

GRAND JURY TOLD OF ALLEGATIONS ABOUT TOWN DEPT.

The Essex County grand jury yesterday heard first details of allegations that one or more of Belleville's municipal operating departments purchased materials costing more than $1,000 without asking for bids, as required by law.

The case was submitted by Sanford Friedman, assistant county prosecutor, but witnesses drawn from the town's department of public works, around which the investigation centers, were not expected to be heard until next Tuesday.

If the usual procedure is followed, employees of the department will be questioned first, and then the department heads. Commissioner Patrick Waters, who has been ill for the past few weeks, was expected either to testify or to make a deposition.

The term of the present jury expired February 15 but was extended upon order of the Superior Court.

Charge Worker Carried Weapons

Charged with carrying concealed weapons while he allegedly made a secret while he was employed at the Bell Laboratories, 227 Main Street, William James Rambo, 30, of Newark was bound over to the grand jury, though he pleaded not guilty when he was arraigned before Magistrate Edward J. Abramson. Bail was fixed at $1,000.

Rambo was arrested when Detective Harry Winfield, of the Newark police department, accompanied a Newark detective to the factory to assist in the questioning of a suspect wanted on a Newark charge.

Graphic Teaching Methods Bring Notice to Principal

A pictorial method of teaching bookkeeping while he was an instructor at the Belleville High School has won wide attention for Paul A. Brennan, now principal of School No. 1.

Approaches to his instruction technique have found their way into some text books, and he has been in demand as a speaker before various groups. Last year he lectured before the Eastern States Business Convention in New York, and before the same organization at the annual convention of the National Association of Business Education in Atlantic City.

Brennan, who taught bookkeeping and business courses at the high school for 22 years before he became a school principal in 1951, decided to create a graphic symbol for the six sections of a bookkeeping ledger so that his pupils might be understood quickly and accurately.

He called the symbol "Alphee," with each successive letter being the first letter of a term spelling out the component parts of a business record. Those components are assets, liabilities, proprietorship, income, and expense—in short, "Alphee."

LOUIS NOLL IS URGED TO RUN AS COMMISSIONER

Studying Proposal That He Permit The Circulation Of Petitions To His Behalf

Louis Noll, of 120 Rutgers Street, who was defeated in the 1950 Town Commission election after having served twelve years, the last four as director of public safety, has been invited to allow the circulation of petitions for his candidacy in the May municipal elections. Noll told The Times-News in an exclusive interview last night that he is studying the proposal and has not yet reached any decision.

The deadline for filing petitions has been set for April 1 and Noll was assured this week by a delegation which visited him at his home that the required fifty signatures could be obtained overnight.

It is understood that Noll would run as an independent on the same program of "Honest, courteous and efficient government" which was his slogan in previous town elections. He is said to have refused several proposals to join with other candidates in combination slates.

Following his defeat in 1950, Noll turned to business and has built up a successful career as a manufacturers' broker, handling sales and advertising negotiations on a commission basis.

In his twelve years on the Town Commission, Noll spent a great deal of time with parks and public property, between 1938 and 1946, then spent four years, from 1946 to 1950, as director of public safety.

Waters, who first entered office when he was appointed in 1926 to fill the unexpired term of Commissioner John Hedray in the parks and public property, and the following year was named Commissioner of Public Works. He has held that post ever since, and has run either first or second in the field of candidates for most of the years that he has been in office.

He has been employed by the Eastwood Nealey Corporation for more than 60 years, and is superintendent of the company's wire-weaving division.

Announcing his candidacy, Waters said:

"I do this with the full knowledge that the people of Belleville during the next few months will be handed all kinds of platitudes, promises and recommendations for political consumption, and I therefore pledge myself to a record based solely on my own past, avoiding any controversial issues which might serve only to confuse, blind and divide the citizens of our town."

Belleville will be linked with more than 8000 other cities and towns in 88 countries of the world as the Rotary Club of Belleville commemorates the 49th anniversary of the founding of Rotary organization next week. The birthday of this worldwide fellowship of business and professional men, the betterment of communities, leading boys and girls into good citizenship, the promotion of high standards in business and professions, and the advancement of international understanding, goodwill and peace.

One of the major projects of the Belleville Rotary Club, together with the Lions Club of Belleville, is the sponsorship of Camp Boy-L. This camp for the young boys and girls of Belleville is located at Glenwild Lake, Bloomfield, N. J. The camp will open its ninth season on June 26th. Applications for the coming camping season will be available within the next week. Brochures will be mailed to anyone who writes the secretary of the camp committee, William Smith, at 334 Washington Avenue.

SULLIVAN AWAITS REPLY AS SMITH STAYS IN RUNNING

Public Safety Commissioner Says Next Move Depends On Letter From Deputy Chief

Public Safety Director Sullivan last night said that until he receives a letter from Deputy Chief Kenneth D. Smith in reply to his recent communication, he will not be able to make a statement on the circulation of petitions in Smith's behalf for the May election.

The petitions are in the hands of volunteer workers organized as a political body to further Smith's candidacy.

Commissioner Sullivan had advised Smith that under present regulations he was not eligible to be a candidate for political office, but he was not sure that no regulation could legitimately bar any citizen from seeking an elective office.

FOOD FAIR FIRE HEAVILY DAMAGES SUPERMARKET

Blaze Breaks Out In Roof And Ceilings Brought Under Control In 40 Minutes

Fire which broke out in the ceiling and roof of the Food Fair market at 554 Washington Avenue did heavy damage, but no one was injured, and the blaze was brought under control by the Belleville fire department in 40 minutes. No official estimate of the damage was available, but the cost will exceed several thousand dollars.

Irving Worman, manager of the store, told firemen he was in the food market with a dozen customers when he suddenly saw a flash of light reach down from the ceiling near the front of the store. Then he saw flames.

Firemen said that apparently the fire had started in a 12 foot high loft between the roof and the ceiling, but had taken some time to burn down through the fire-insulated ceiling. At the same time the blaze flared up through the roof at the front of the store.

Three engines and an aerial ladder from firehouse No. 2, located a few blocks from the supermarket, responded to the alarm. Firemen climbed to the roof to fight the blaze and put out the fire on the street to traffic.

The firemen attempted to protect store fixtures and merchandise with covering mats, but there was considerable water damage. The area between the roof and ceiling was gutted by flames for a length of about 50 feet.

Store officials said last night that every effort would be made to re-open the store for business this morning.

Steal Motor Out Of Cement Mixer, 3 Wheels From Auto

Charles De Furiis, a contractor, of 242 Washington Avenue, reported to police that someone stole the motor out of his cement mixer. The mixer was parked at Union Street and Lloyd Place, where it was being used on a construction job. De Furiis estimated the loss at $100.

In another report, John Courtney of Peterson Corporation, said that while his car was parked on Main Street, the right front wheel and two spare wheels and tires were stolen from the auto. He said they cost $400.

Mayor Says Cuts Would Reduce Taxes Below '53

$6.23 Rate Recommended By Tully's Citizens' Budget Committee To Be Submitted To Commission Tuesday

If the town commission approves budget reductions recommended by Mayor Tully's Citizens' Budget Committee, the 1954 tax rate would be cut to $6.23, or three points less than last year's rate, the mayor announced late yesterday.

The Board of Education budget stands at $1,555,000. The committee, appointed by Tully to pare down the original budgets submitted to him by the commissioners, trimmed the figures by $140,000 after meeting with the commissioners and the board of education. The mayor said that if the original budgets had been approved, the tax rate would have soared more than 10 points over the $6.35 rate of 1953.

"I am going to submit the budget to the commission at next Tuesday's meeting, and I hope that the commissioners will cooperate," he said. "I hope that this effort to keep our rate within reasonable limits will be supported by the citizens of Belleville at forthcoming elections."

A battle on the budget seemed certain, with Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde of the department of public works and property, already taken the stand that he is strongly opposed to the recommended cuts in expenditures. The other commissioners, however, were understood to have agreed to cuts in their departments. Those: Public safety, $83,400; public works, $16,400; public affairs, $10,400. No cuts were suggested by the committee to the mayor's own revenue and finance department because "except for memory items, there has been no increase in the budget of this department for the past two years." The Board of Education agreed to a reduction of $14,000 after one of its budget items, which the committee had publicized, was dropped.

"We have been commended at the polls in last week's school election."

Belleville taxpayers with a substantial savings in their tax bills, and it was the Citizens' Committee has paved the way for these savings, and it deserves our full support.

"We will continue to have provided soundly and safely for the town's financial welfare."

Belleville Plans Program For Brotherhood Week

Belleville will observe Brotherhood Week, beginning this Sunday, in its schools and churches in a dedication to America's traditional freedom and tolerance.

Members of its churches will be guests at houses of worship representing other faiths than their own, and assemblies will point up the democratic way of life for school students.

In a proclamation commending its observance, Mayor Tully said: "It is well, at a time when the principles upon which our democracy is founded are gravely threatened, that we should re-assess ourselves to their daily practice. Brotherhood Week presents an opportunity to affirm our acceptance of the obligations implicit in the brotherhood of man under the Fatherhood of God."

A statement from the public school system declared that the observance would "give people an opportunity to re-dedicate themselves as individuals to the basic ideals of respect for people and human rights which are essential to our way of life. It dramatizes the practical things that people can do to promote an understanding and realization of these ideals."

Plans for Brotherhood Week, to be observed February 21 to 28, were outlined by a representative group of Belleville minister in a meeting with Mayor Tully. They are pictured here as the mayor signed a proclamation in behalf of the observance. Left to right are: Rev. H. E. Goldston, pastor of the Second Baptist Church; Rev. James K. Morse, First Presbyterian Church; Rev. John P. Hourihan, representing St. Peter's Church; and Rabbi Albert Raab, Ahavath Achim Synagogue.

Thomas Maglione, real estate and insurance dealer, has been named to succeed William Abramson as Belleville's motor vehicle licensing agent, and will begin the issuance of license tab renewals this morning at his new office at 86 Washington Avenue, it was announced last night.

Maglione, whose business office is at 74 Washington Avenue, said he had opened the additional quarters at the No. 86 address for the licensing agency so that he could better provide adequate service.

Maglione said renewals of auto registrations and driver's licenses would be accepted immediately, but that first applications would be accepted in a few hours, he said, would be from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. week days, and from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. on Saturdays. Those hours, he declared, would be strictly enforced.

It was expected that his office could handle about 100 applications a day.

Local Girl Edits College Paper

Then, so that it might better stick in the memory of his students, he projected the photo of a mountain onto a screen by means of an opaque projector. The base of the mountain he had marked "A.P." representing the word "Alp," representing the word "Alpine." The ice-covered top of the mountain he had labeled "Ice," representing a profit and loss statement, which the ice, increase or decrease according to the business weather.
By means of other simple, dynamic charts and photographs, Brennan taught the inter-relationship of figures as they reflect a precise picture of a business organization. Because students have difficulty in understanding statistics, he devised a method to show visually the fundamental bookkeeping equation—that assets equals liabilities plus proprietorship. He did this by having a seesaw built. Starting with a student seated on each end of the board to represent a business whose books are in balance, he would shift weights to illustrate the changes that take place in the assets and liabilities of a business.

To show bookkeeping procedure in following a changing inventory to ascertain the gross profit, Brennan set up in the classroom a shelf of canned goods representing a store's merchandise. Then by having the students withdraw and add to the stock, and changing the price of the merchandise as they proceeded, he made the principal clear.
To illustrate another point, he mounted a card on an easel on one side of a piece of cardboard. On the other side he had one of the girl students press her lips against the paper to leave a lipstick impression.
The letters in "face" represented assets, costs, and expenses, or the equivalent of debt (with other explanations to clear up any confusion that might be a seeming inconsistency here). The letters in "lipstick" represented liabilities, income, and proprietorship.
Such dramatic projections seemed to make an impression. By the end of the first semester, Brennan said, it was possible to teach a balance sheet and profit and loss statement in the time it takes to do actual practice work with sets of books. Miss Rita Knoll

For the first time in its 18-year history, a girl—and she's from Belleville, too—has been chosen to head the "Observer," student publication at the Newark unit of Rutgers University.
She is Miss Rita Knoll, a junior at the State University's College of Arts and Sciences, who lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Knoll, at 580 Washington Avenue. Miss Knoll was employed last summer as a member of the Belleville Times-News editorial staff.
She moves up to the top editorial position from the job of feature editor. The work of the feature department under her direction was credited with being an important factor in winning a top "All-American" designation for the publication from the Associated Collegiate Press, college newspaper rating organization. The "Observer" was one of three newspapers in its class honored in the entire nation.

The student newspaper could scarcely control its excitement in announcing the Belleville girl's selection as editor.
Miss Knoll was a little miffed at the display of verbal rockets. "I don't see why the selection of a woman is so unusual," she said. Women are just as good newspapermen as men. Being responsible for a newspaper and its editorial, business, and technical matters, she said, is no longer, but I am sure that I can meet it. My hobby is people, and that fits right into newspaper work.

Does she anticipate any trouble in running a paper with so many men on the staff?
"No," she smiles. "I'm not anti-male. As I said, my hobby is people, and men are part of the category."
Miss Knoll was first inspired to think of newspaper work as a career by a cousin who is a staff member on a printing trade journal. She said her writing is her specialty. To acquire the standard equipment of a good feature writer, which includes knowledge of a wide variety of subjects, she is taking courses in such diverse areas as American diplomacy and psychology, as well as in her major, English.

In addition to maintaining a successful schedule, she is a member of Pi Sigma Phi, Rutgers sorority, to be an active member of and serves as secretary of her class.
Born in Austria, she has done considerable traveling in her 20 years. She and her family left Austria in 1939 after Hitler had come into power, finding refuge in England. She still carries memories of sleepless nights in subways there during the blitz attacks of World War II.

It was in Cheltenham, known to printers as the home of a commonly used type face, that Knoll came to the United States in 1949, and Rita completed her high school classes at Belleville the following year.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gorlin

Seniors In Finale

Wearing the Blue and Gold basketball togs for the last time Thursday night in the opening round of the Eighth Annual Essex County Tournament that saw third seeded Belleville upset by unseeded Orange, 54-52 in overtime, were four seniors. Winding up their Belleville career under Coach Jitty Wische were Pat Grosso, Rocco Cafone, Gary Burman and Bob Taylor.

Honors for the outstanding senior must go of course to Patsy. A constant high scorer, Grosso's absence will be the greatest gap that Wische will have to fill next Fall. He was a constant thorn to the opposition all season. When not tossing the ball through the net with his slick dribbling set shot, Grosso unnered his rivals with his slick dribbling tactics as he would drive like lightning straight for the basket and lay the ball softly against the backboard.

Probably the most improved member of the senior array is Rocco Cafone. Quarterback and field general of the 1953 Belleville football team, Cafone took over a similar job with the cage squad. An excellent foul shooter, Cafone was never one to ever think about how many points he scored in a game. He remained back court and guided the attack and always managed to stay calm in the clutch. When the going was roughest, Rocco was the one who pulled the team together by scoring a vital basket.

Graduating in June will be the two tall players of the squad in the persons of Gary Burman and Bob Taylor. Both are listed as six-feet, two-inches, but in this modern age of basketball that is only average height. Burman was always a scoring threat from around the keyhole. Taylor in mid-season suffered an ankle injury and saw only limited action thereafter, however, when in the lineup he outscorped big boys several inches taller.

Height To Still Be A Problem

For the 1954-55 hoop season Belleville will again be plagued by the lack of good tall players. Although Wische will lose four seniors through graduation, prospects for next year indicate a very promising season if a tall ballplayer comes into the picture. With Andy Leyble and Richie Veith returning, Wische has a good scoring nucleus that could pull several major surprises if the basketball candidates add a few inches in height between now and next November.

Both Leyble and Veith came along fast in the second half of the campaign and with the valuable varsity experience gained in the fast brand of competition that Belleville plays big things are being planned for the pair of juniors.

Varsity Club To Fete Hoopsters Next Month

Remember the date, Saturday, March 20! That's the time the Belleville Varsity Club will honor the 1953-54 Blue and Gold basketball team. The sports minded organization has decided to hold this year's affair, which will be the eighth annual, at O'Hara's Riverside Grill in North Arlington, exactly a month from tomorrow. At that time Coach Jitty Wische's entire basketball squad will be feted with the graduating seniors coming in for special recognition.

Art Bloemke, long an active member of the Varsity Club, has been selected to serve as general chairman of the Eighth Annual Basketball Banquet. With time rapidly closing in, Bloemke has chosen a Varsity Club member, Art Leadbeater to serve as toastmaster of the entire program devoted to the success of the Bellboy dribbling squad. Aiding Bloemke on the dinner committee are Jim Apple, Marty O'Connell, Ralph Casale, Bill Chapman, Bob Harvey and Ernie Stesanello.

Conservation Group Elects Ted Buck

The Essex County Conservation Officers Association, practically lifeless for two years, showed startling signs of a rebirth recently when the group met at the home of Dr. J. Warren Young in Nutley. Young was elected president. Theodore Buck, of 477 Franklin Avenue, was picked as secretary. Future meetings of the group are slated for the Robert Treat Hotel, Newark.

Clean Sweep In Masonic Pin League

Entrenched in fourth place in the eight-team Masonic Bowling League, Belleville Lodge recently won all three games from Pythagoras, squeezing through the last game by eight pins. Charles Gebhardt rolled 202 in the first game and August Molt, 214 in the second. Molt, with a 175 average, is currently holding down eighth place in the race for individual honors. Gebhardt is close behind with a 170.

Bob Bartholomew, bowling for the seventh place Belleville Craftsmen, shattered the pins for a 222 game, but it was all in a losing cause as the Belleville keggers dropped all three games to St. Albans.

Dolan Looks Forward To Little League Season

Dick Dolan, of Union Avenue, a paraplegic victim of World War II, has been home from East Orange Veterans Hospital for the first time since last August after undergoing a series of operations and tests.

A charter officer of the Belleville Little League program, Dolan hopes to be able to present when the baseball enthusiasts between nine and 12 years of age inaugurate the diamond season at Clearman Field in May. The popular Belleville Little League supporter has been loop secretary and statistician ever since the youth movement was instituted four years ago.

Bellboys Lose In Tourney, But Had Good Season

Eugene Serpentelli

An under-par performance by Belleville High and an excellent performance by Orange High's Tornadoes combined to provide the first major upset of the Essex County Tournament, with Belleville losing out, 54-52 in an overtime game.

The Bellboys netted only two field goals through the first period as they trailed at the end of the quarter, 13-11. In the second stanza the Blue and Gold began to hit a little better and at halftime they held a 23-22 advantage. Orange had the highest scoring quarter in the third, ringing up 17 points to gain a 39 to 35 lead at the end of the period.

In the fourth quarter with 24 minutes remaining and the score tied at 43 all, the Bellboys started to freeze the ball. At the 14 second mark the Bellboys called time out. Their strategy was that Pat Grosso would drive in for a lay up with the hope of sinking the shot or getting fouled but unfortunately Patsy found no opening. Before Belleville could get a shot off, the buzzer sounded. The overtime was a very frustrating one for Belleville fans as the Blue and Gold missed 10 out of 10 foul shots to literally hand Orange the game on a silver platter. With 10 minutes remaining, the score at 54 to 52 in Orange's favor, Gary Burman had a chance of tying the game up with two foul shots, but Gary missed both markers.

11 Wins, Four Losses
Naturally the loss was a very hard one to take for Belleville but I'm sure nobody has any right to gripe as you must remember that this ball club was completely green in the beginning of the season and yet managed to win 11 regular season games while only losing 4.

High scores for Belleville was Patsy Grosso with 17 points. He was followed closely by Richie Veith with 14 and Andy Leyble with 13. Bob Taylor added 10 points and Burman and Rocco Cafone collected 2 apiece. Wood was high man for Orange with 23 points. Bond was second man with 18 points.

The statistics for the year including the tournament game, are something like this: Patsy Grosso collected the most total points with 240 markers. Leyble followed him with 235 points. Veith collected 164 points. Burman 123, Cafone 51, and Bob Taylor 43. Grosso also had the highest average, 17.5 points per game. Veith was second with a 14 point average. Veith averaged 10 a game, Burman 8, Cafone 9, and Taylor 3.

Leyble was high scorer most times as he led the way in eight games. Grosso was high man in six games. Veith in one and in a game with Clifton Burman and Leyble shared high scoring honors.

The most points in one game went to Grosso when he scored 27 points in what was perhaps the most brilliant performance of the year. In Belleville played Belleville scored a total of 888 points while their opponents scored 787. The Blue and Gold averaged 55 points a game and their opponents, 49. Belleville's high game was 69 points against South Side in the final game of the regular season. I'm sure you'll agree the Bellboys piled up a very impressive record. As usual this fine record probably would have been impossible without one of the finest coaches in the state, Jitty Wische. And for those who are still mourning over the tournament I'll just join the famous phrase, "Wait till next year."

ALFRED PITRELLI WINS CITATION
Alfred P. Pitrelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pitrelli, of 16 Rosore Place, won high commendation from his commanding officer for his work in administering first aid to a sailor aboard Landing Craft 654, on which both serve, at the Navy base at Norfolk, Va.

Pitrelli, who is a quartermaster 2nd class, went to the aid of a sailor who had fallen overboard and had been unconscious condition. His swift and skilled treatment helped to save the sailor's life.

Lieut. Commander Max Wells wrote in his citation: "I am proud to have you serving aboard LCU Squadron Two, you are a credit to the Navy and to your country."

Pitrelli is a graduate of Belleville High School, and attended St. Peter's College in Jersey City. Before he entered the service he was an assistant manager for the Acme Super-Markets in Belleville and Bloomfield.

Life at BHS As We See It

Well, basketball season is finally over, and finds Belleville High emerging with a fine record of 11 and 4. We're proud of our seniors Andy Leyble and Richie Veith, and we'll be looking forward to seeing them next year. As for our four seniors, Patsy Grosso, Rocco Cafone, Gary Burman, and Bob Taylor, who were nothing short of terrific, we wish them the best of luck after graduation and look forward to seeing them playing college ball.

Have you noticed some new students walking the B.H.S. corridors? Opa! Pardon us, they must be the new practice teachers come to "learn" us Belleville High students. Representing three colleges, Upson, Montclair State Teachers College, and Caldwell College, a security force. Forte, a rifleman in Company B, joined the team last October. Before entering the Army in July, 1952, he was employed by Forte Home Decorations.

Lt. John R. Russell, whose parents reside at 253 Greylock Parkway, was graduated from the Associated G.M. Company Officer Course offered by the Quartermaster School at Fort Lee, Va. The lieutenant's father, Edward P. Russell, is a Freeholder of Essex County.

A graduate of Cornell University, Lieut. Russell entered the service last October. He has been attending the Quartermaster School for the past 16 weeks.

Henry W. Petrin, son of Miss Mary Petrie, of Osborne Road, Bloomfield, and a former Belleville resident, has been promoted to the rank of Private First Class.

He was graduated from Belleville High School in 1948 and prior to induction into the Army he worked for the Erie Railroad and attended Tusculum College in Greenville, Tenn.

He took his basic training with the famed 11th Airborne Division here at Fort Campbell, Ky., and now is a member of Company A, 188th Airborne Infantry Regiment. He plays regimental football and basketball and works with the Athletic and Recreation Department.

They are Carolyn Abrams, Thomas Biglin, Lyman Hopper, Christine Caruso, Inez Tosato, and Carmela Grasso.

Last Friday night, unaware of the plotting going on during the week, Harry Valette found himself surrounded by his many friends at a surprise birthday party given by his sister, Joy. Lots of luck, Harry, and may you have many more birthdays as happy as this one in the years to come.

Speaking of birthdays, Carol Travers celebrated hers Monday. Instead of the conventional cake, Carol had the unique idea of serving cupcakes with a candle in each. (Seems there's a rumor that she works in a bakery.)

The annual Junior Red Cross dance was a huge success. The proceeds from this benefit will go toward filling a chest to be sent overseas. The chest will contain books, games, and cleaning articles.

The girls' intra-mural basketball tournament, which is nearing its final stages, finds four teams tied for first place in the freshman-sophomore league. Boasting three wins with no setbacks are the "Stripes" Ends, "Victory Queens", "Super Sophs", and "Melisimes". Only one junior-senior team has emerged with three wins thus far due to the late start of this league. The chart shows the "Alberts" with three wins and no losses.

GYM JOTS: Wonder why the gym mats are so neat? Ask Gail Folbert. Last night she saw of her she was elbow-deep in sands washing them off.

Missing: One white gym suit with a rusted button on the top, left-hand side. A considerable reward for this garment, living or dead, or for any evidence leading to its recapture, is being offered. Miss Joan Elaine Lenaz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Lenaz, of Raab Avenue, Bloomfield, was married on Saturday at Saint Thomas the Apostle Church, Bloomfield, to Arthur West Hyde, son of Commissioner and Mrs. Elmer Hyde of Rossmore Place. The ceremony was performed by Reverend Joseph Doyle. A reception followed at the Hotel Suburban, in East Orange.

Miss Joy Perry, of Bloomfield, attended her cousin as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Richard Holmberg, of Little Falls, Misses Beth Hyde, of Belleville, the bridegroom's sister, and Misses Mary, of Belleville, and Mrs. Thomas Ward, of Rossmore, Pa.

James Hyde, of Montclair, served as best man for his brother, whose ushers included Elmer Gibbs, of Cedar Grove, the bridegroom's brother-in-law, Richard Holmberg, of Little Falls, Joseph Savanah, of Livingston, cousin of the bride, William Smith, of Bloomfield, and Paul Thompson, of Verona, also a brother-in-law of the bridegroom.

The bride's gown was of imported French Chantilly lace on tulle over silk satin. The party neckline was embellished with canteric scallops and delicately embroidered in seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The fitted bodice gently flared into a bouffant skirt which ended in a train. The imported French illusion veil fell from a cap of Chantilly lace over satin. She carried a cascade bouquet of orchids, lilies of the valley and stephanotis.

The bridesmaids were all dressed in red velvet and carried cascade bouquets of white gladioli and red roses. In their hair they wore a band of white feathers.

The bride was graduated from Bloomfield High School, Century Junior College, Hackensack, and Upsala College, East Orange. She was a member of Theta Beta Gamma Sorority. Mr. Hyde is a graduate of Montclair Academy and Upsala College, where he was a member of Kappa Beta Phi Fraternity. He will be graduated this month from New York Law School.

LETTERS To The Editor

To the Editor, Belleville-Times:

When Deputy Chief Kenneth D. Smith announced his candidacy for town commissioner, and asked Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan for a three-months leave of absence to conduct his campaign, what specific reason did Commissioner Sullivan give for refusing to grant this leave of absence? The press said that Sullivan would not grant the leave of absence because he believed Smith is forbidden by departmental rule from running for political office.

The case of Patrolman Edward J. Ward versus Safety Director Keenan of Newark was cited by Sullivan as an example. Ward was a candidate for the Newark Commission. After he lost in the election Ward was suspended.

ed for six months for charges of corruption and laxity he made against the department. The State Supreme Court also ruled that Ward, though on leave, was subject to the rules of the department while running for the commission.

By citing Ward's case, what Commissioner Sullivan was leading up to? The fact remains, however, that Patrolman Ward did run for office — no law said he couldn't run. There was no departmental rule instituted in Ward's case.

What rule could be more important than to give the people of Belleville a stronger and more capable candidate for commissioner — one whose honesty, sportsmanship and courage is beyond question — whose practical experience extends as far back as 1928.

Four years ago, when Harry J. Sullivan was first elected Commissioner of Belleville, I listened to some of his speeches during his campaign, and believed in his eloquence, sincerity, sportsmanship and courage.

To me he represented the personification of fair-play. But, how far can we go? We are not animals; we are not all equal; either! Animals are led by instinct, but we human beings are gifted also with intuition and a sense of reasoning.

What are we to believe by this departmental rule? Shouldn't Commissioner Sullivan, being the director of that department, lead the example by publicly resigning his office to conduct his campaign? But no, certainly not! Remember the king can do no wrong. Commissioner Sullivan doesn't even have to take leave of absence, he can conduct his campaign while still in office. The king can also introduce a departmental rule compelling his subjects to resign from the force after many years of service and lose their pension rights. Would that be fair?

In Russia, maybe, but here in the United States of America we believe in sportsmanship and fair play. Personally, I do not think that Commissioner Sullivan will go to that extreme to win his chances of re-election. If he should decide to use such unfair tactics, he must realize that public sentiment would certainly turn against him. We would then be forced to believe that Commissioner Sullivan is trying to scare, or force out of the running, a candidate most of whose votes, if Kenneth D. Smith didn't run, would go to him.

Common decency and public sentiment should permit Kenneth D. Smith to run.

Sincerely yours,
John R. Alessio

To The Editor, Times-News: Your local items are excellent, especially the school coverage and local items from Town Hall. We often see items about friends and neighbors.

Your recent items about the battles toward setting a new tax rate (town budget), are very illuminating and impartial, in our opinion.

We find Ralph Heinzen's article's very informative, but disagree with him on the Arab question. We don't think the Arabs can be trusted, etc.

Keep up the good work.

School Happenings

The Curriculum Council Workshop of the Belleville Public Schools held its meeting in the faculty room of School One recently. A teacher committee consisting of Frances Williamson, Claire Bohlen, Anna Gleason and Irene Dufford, under the direction of Paul Brennan, principal, provided coffee and cookies for the council members. Traffic committee and welcoming committee members, composed of students,
were Marlene Delaney, Barbara Jeffers, Carol Kinley, Veronica
Sudziński, Joseph Stahl, Roy
Burden, Joseph Lento and Leland
Quinn.

Charles F. Schultz, president of the Curriculum Council, opened the meeting by discussing magazine articles about education in the January issues of Colliers
and Coronet. This was followed by reports from the following chairmen of the various committees:

Kindergarten education, Lenora Panzer; core curriculum,
Frances Williamson; Binney
Smith Art Workshop, Lucie
Smith; co-curricular activities,
Michael Rossmitt; community resources, Olga Nelson; assembly committee, Louis Zuckerman; citizenship education project, Michael Ros-smitt; child study workshop,
Ethel Williamson; music, Dr.
Seth Peck; physical education,
Margaret Leary; art experience
workshop, Miss Naomi Ganley reported for Nora DeLew, and Austin MacArthur reported for the visual arts workshop.

Other members of the Curri-council Workshop are: P.
Webster, Dieth, Helen Simpson,
Emma Miller, Pauline Lochner,
Claire Carney, Viola Spray, Myra
Kemp, Kathryn Conklin, Marjorie
Adams, Carmela Venezia, John Hefferman, Mario DiMaggio.

Shirley Bode, Mrs. A. Forrester,
Kathryn Linger, Evelyn Pozzo,
Carolyn Pohn, Raymond Ward,
and Adeline Bennett.

Mrs. William Tucker, PTA representative, and Dr. E. C. M.
Durkee, General Supervisor, also attended the meeting.

The Newark Museum supplied
an interesting assembly program for all the students at the James Shawyer School. The program included a lecture by Miss Beatrice Olson on Tibet. Miss Olson showed some of the everyday items used by the people of Tibet.
The visual aids included a prayer
roll, ceremonial scarf, horn, cup, bells and colorful slides
taken from the Museum collection of Tibet.

The students of James Shawyer
School also had the opportunity of seeing Miss Annemarie Stefanelli's third grade present a play entitled, "Make Our City Safe Today." It was a safety play in six scenes with the following students taking part:
Michael Della Terza, Patricia
Buttaciavola, Louis Di Pasquale,
Robert Frusteri, Joseph Primay-
ore, Joseph Selari, Billy Lang, Rafael Di Martino, Joy Syvies-
ta, Frances Tucci, Donald Marra, JoAnn D'Alesio, and Joan Bonfante.

This year's Belleville High School is again using the Personality Rating Sheet recommended by the National Association of Secondary School Principals.
Most colleges require this form on their transcripts and many employers are familiar with the form.

Each senior home room teacher received a rating sheet, for every student in his home room, and will fill out the form and the student's schedule. Then he will

Analyze School Workshop Program For Teachers

of the 15 areas, the entire staff
met at 2 p.m., Thursday, October 22. After talks by a consultant from Columbia University, the superintendent, and the general supervisor, the teachers went to the 15 workshops. Although teachers were free not to take part in the workshop program, 85 per cent did.

Some of the results
First, in cooperative study and action, teachers have developed more insight to do better work in the classroom. What happens to the teacher in a workshop is even more significant than working on tangible things as publications.
In addition, teachers have come to see their own ideas in relation to the whole school system, other teachers, and the community. They understand better the factors that determine what happens in a classroom.

Second, because of an administration that stresses the importance of growth in education,
teachers through their workshops
are able to see their ideas translated into action. New report
forms were developed by teachers.
Development record for grade
K-12 was produced by teachers.
Study and revision of these new
forms has continued in the workshop on reporting pupil progress.
Third, teachers developed new skills. For example, the teachers
are able to see their ideas translated into action. New report
forms were developed by teachers.
Development record for grade
K-12 was produced by teachers.
Study and revision of these new
forms has continued in the workshop on reporting pupil progress.

Conversations such as this are almost universal in education, and even now many school systems are groping for curriculum improvement. At this time, they know how to get everything but a better curriculum for boys and girls.

The schools of Belleville appear, however, to be on the way
in a program to improve curriculum and to improve teaching in the process. Growing each year, the Belleville Teachers Workshop program is now in its seventh year. Of a staff of 232, during the school year of 1953-1954, 86 per cent are working in 15 different workshops on problems of their own choice.
These workshops meet on the second or fourth Monday of each month, more often if the members feel the need. The program is under the direction of the general supervisor, who provides bibliographies, counsel, and outside consultants to the various workshops.

While each principal must necessarily carry forward the curriculum work in his school, the workshop program is city-wide.
Each workshop is vertical in organization, cutting across grade lines and subject-matter lines.
Grade level workshops are, however, entirely possible where teachers want them.

This type of workshop organization provides for integration of ideas and personnel. Teachers from all schools and all grades meet each other and consider together a problem area. In their individual schools they become Lyman Hopper, Upsala College;
Carmela Grasso, Montclair State
Teachers College; Carolyn Ab-
bama, Caldwell College; Thomas
Biglin, Montclair State; Chris-
tine Caputo, Tosta, Montclair
State; Inez Tosato, Montclair
State Teachers College; and John
A. Milani, Seton Hall University.

The new teacher trainees are:
Lyman Hopper, Upsala College;
Carmela Grasso, Montclair State
Teachers College; Carolyn Ab-
bama, Caldwell College; Thomas
Biglin, Montclair State; Chris-
tine Caputo, Tosta, Montclair
State; Inez Tosato, Montclair
State Teachers College; and John
A. Milani, Seton Hall University.

Further, 85 per cent of the teachers have praised this opportunity to bring more realism to their lives and their classrooms.

Other Gains
With this workshop program
have developed a number of important adjuncts to good education.

First, a staff representing the ten schools has developed an inter-school publication, Shop Talk.
This medium provides for a system-wide exchange of ideas and gives all teachers an opportunity to learn the thoughts and activities of staff members, increasing interaction necessary in the democratic process.

Second, curriculum content is coming more and more to be based on the principle of readiness of pupils to learn and recognition of the ways children grow and develop. In first grade, for example, administration of the Lee-Clark Reading Readiness Test and evaluation of results by a reading specialist with individual teachers helped them to work with greater satisfaction and better results in reading.
One first grade teacher remarked,
"In my 30 years of teaching, this is the best. Now I am able to work with my children without pressure or tension, and they are happy."

Third, parents and teachers are sharing more and more in the educational program. This year parents have joined workshops and worked with their children
planning activities for the children. Three second grade teachers, for example, worked with parents in developing a unit on transportation. They met with parents and pupils to see a film on ferry boats. Together they planned two trips. On the day of the trip to the Statue of Liberty and Central Park, 200-40
parents accompanied the children.
Following the trip the parents went to the classrooms to see how the experiences of the children were used for learning.

4,047 Conferences
Parents and teachers have had 4,047 conferences by December
15. To promote these conferences, the guidance workshop
prepared a guide for teachers and parents, and the administration provided for fall and spring conference sessions. The fall period included two afternoon sessions, beginning at 2:15, and an evening session beginning at 7 p.m.

In brief, curriculum improvement can only be made if teachers when they are given the opportunity and the leadership democratic administration can provide.
When the democratic process functions in improving curriculum, it also functions more effectively in the classroom—all to the benefit of the growth and development of boys and girls.
