TULLY SAYS TOWN PLANNING BOARD VITAL NECESSITY

Declaring that a town planning board was "a vital necessity," Mayor Tully yesterday asked all town commission candidates to face the issue, saying that political opposition had prevented the board from becoming a reality.

"I have been a continual and consistent advocate of a modern town planning board since my first term in office, and I shall continue to work for the creation of one because I know it is necessary for the proper growth of our community."

"Belleville is now the only municipality in Essex County without a planning board and this is principally because of political opposition both from within and without the town commission."

"A planning board, composed of representatives from all segments of our town, would be an invaluable aid in guiding the development of our community in accordance with the wishes and welfare of the entire citizenry."

"It would function in an advisory capacity, as did the Citizens Budget Committee, which I appointed recently, and which functioned so successfully in effecting a reduction in our tax. Such a

Pleas On Indictments Postponed Until May

Four town officials and three contractors indicted by the Essex County grand jury April 6, will deny the charges when they enter pleas before Superior Court Judge G. Dixon Speakman on May 3. It was indicated this week after County Prosecutor Webb had been served with notice of motions to dismiss indictments of both of those involved.

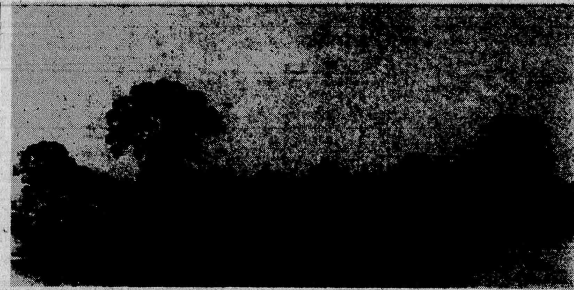

PADULA EXPRESSES OPINION ON GRAND JURY INDICTMENTS

"Conditions described in the grand jury indictments and presentment represent the net results of accumulated small omissions rather than acts of calculation for conspiracy," Isadore J. Padula, candidate for Essex Town Commissioner, declared yesterday.

He said: "In the past week so many people have expressed their opinion regarding the current trend of events relative to the department of public works, and the board of education because I am a candidate for the commission, that I find it impossible to do anything but refrain from comments until the machinery of the courts has had time to clarify the situation. However, I would rather speak as a citizen than as a candidate."

"In my opinion, the conditions described in the grand jury's indictments and presentments represent the net results of accumulated small omissions rather than acts of calculation for conspiracy. There is a vast difference between the two situations."

NEW PAROCHIAL SCHOOL — Here is the architect's sketch of the parochial school to be built by parishioners of the Church of St. Anthony. A fund-raising campaign will begin next Monday. More than 700 students are expected to enroll in the school. St. Anthony's has one of the largest congregations in this area.

Parochial School Planned By Church of St. Anthony

Plans for the construction of a parochial school, and a campaign by the parishioners to raise a minimum of $150,000 to implement the project, was announced last night by the Rev. Tifan P. Menegus, pastor of the Church of St. Anthony. The drive will open next Monday.

The school will be built on a 3 1/2 acre plot on North 7th Street near Montclair Street, and will house 700 children. However, the first ward, Joseph Natale, the incumbent Regular Democratic, lost by a 45 to 50 vote to Frank S. Stone, who ran without party support. Stone lives at 113 1/2 North 7th Street. Among those re-elected was Ralph Vara, committee chairman, who was recently indicted by a grand jury. There was no opposition in the Clean Government Republican ranks.

SHORT WORK WEEK FOR 300 WORKERS AT WESTINGHOUSE

Approximately 300 workers in the Belleville plant of the Westinghouse Electric Corporation will begin a temporary four-day week, beginning today, in order to avoid a general lay-off. The plan was agreed upon by the management and Local 410, CIO International Union. About 2,500 other workers will follow a similar schedule in the Bloomfield plant.

The men will also stay away from work next Friday, and union officials said the same plan will be followed for the first two weeks of next month, but the management mentioned only this month in its statement.

The statement said: "Although the sales through the first quarter were good, we are approaching a normal seasonal decline, and in addition, inventory adjustments in customer industries have directly affected our business. However, we are still optimistic about the remainder of the year. The four-day week, the last

BEGIN MOSQUITO CONTROL FIGHT IN SWAMP AREA

A crew of Essex County workers has begun construction of a 1,000 foot channel through the center of a 20 acre swamp area adjoining the Riverside Avenue district in a long-delayed project to drain the land, is expected not only to and the area, it is a breeding place for mosquitoes. At the same time the work will eliminate an ever-present danger to small children who might wander into the swamp. The plan is being evolved with the co-operation of Eugene Berry, town public health officer.

The channel, together with lateral ditches which will pick up the flow from storm sewers draining into the land, is expected to be completed by the end of the summer to remove the standing water which breeds mosquitoes, but to check the sites it is feared that children will not be in danger of drowning in its treacherous bottoms.

The project became feasible after the Third River had been lowered two feet last fall as part of a flood control project, thus permitting the proposed channel to empty into the river.

County Plans Suit To Force Building Permit For 'Home'

Essex County officials intend to file a law suit seeking to force the town of Belleville to grant a building permit for construction of a $1,300,000 parental home on the north grounds of the County Isolation Hospital.

But the County Parental School Board of Trustees will still be "happy" to consider any suggestions for a "better" site from a committee of local citizens, even though the suit may be in the courts by that time.

These facts were gained in a Times-News interview with William C. Golden, Robert C. Gruhin, and a member of the board of trustees, following a mass meeting Wednesday night of the Belleville Home Owners Association and other citizens. Orchard addressed the gathering, which was held at Franklin C. Golden's home.

The industrialist had suggested appointment of the committee during the course of his talk to a hostile crowd. He asked the home owners to appoint a committee of eight which would study the site. He considered should be more acceptable to the parental school, then bring in its report. He declared they would later, in his interview, he noted that not only must any suggested site be acceptable to the trustees, but the municipality or area selected must be willing to cooperate.

SMITH ASKS CITY ORGANIZE FIGHT ON DELINQUENCY

A city-wide organization to help fight juvenile delinquency was proposed yesterday by Deputy Police Chief Kenneth D. Smith, candidate for the Town Commission. The proposal was prompted by the news that Belleville had ranked fourth in the list of Essex County's 22 municipalities so far as juvenile offenders were concerned. Newark juveniles were responsible for most of the incidents occurring in the county, with Orange, Orange and Belleville following in that order, according to a report filed by Juvenile and Domestic Relations Judge Harry W. Dindeman with the County Board of Freeholders. Belleville accounted for approximately 10 per cent of the total.

Calling for an "intensified" study of juvenile problems, the deputy chief declared that "a Belleville in cooperation with the county and the state must improve the whole situation."

He suggested that churches, Parent-Teachers Associations, and civic, business, fraternal, political, and industrial groups create a representative committee to take action. He urged that the county's "united drive combining an educational and recreation campaign for both children and parents," and declared diversified efforts by various groups would not be as effective as an overall program by all.

He included setting up "hearing committees" which would help to prevent Belleville boys and girls from going to Juvenile Court, and a rehabilitation program to save those who had already been punished for their offenses. He pointed out that manufacturers might be prevailed upon to take into their plants some of the older boys who had gotten into difficulties at one time or another.

No stone or dirt will be picked up, but everything else will be included, including discarded furniture. Rubbish must be deposited in containers on the curbstone. If persons or invalids, however, can leave such trash outside the door in their back yards, and the materials will be picked up by Plymouth 9-2832 is called.

The collection is meant to help prevent the community's health, and make it a cleaner town to live in.

Montgomery Church Raises $86,000 For New Building

A fund-raising campaign for $80,000 to build a new Sunday school building for the Montgomery Presbyterian Church has been over-subscribed by $6,000 in a two weeks' drive. It was announced today by George Meagher, chairman of the board of trustees and finance committee, and D. E. Demarest, chairman of the building fund committee. The present school building will continue to be used for classes.

The record-breaking campaign will enable the church to purchase some furnishings for the new building with the extra $6,000, but more funds are still required to complete equipment for the building, and the donations are needed for that purpose, Meagher and Demarest said. Bids for construction of the school on the Mill Street site will be given early this summer. The architectural design by James H. Bailey of Nutley provides for any possible future expansion.

They have lived in Belleville for more than 60 years and have two children, Captain Gilbert Chinarc, USAF, stationed in San Antonio, Tex., and Lawrence Chinarc of 30 Crescent Terrace, Mr. Chinarc, who loves to reminisce about the "good old days," recalls when it was only two cents to ride from North Newark to Big Tree. We hope the Chinarcas have many more years of wedded bliss.

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Morrow of 80 Watessing Avenue, celebrated their 46th wedding anniversary yesterday. The family was filled with Easter baskets and their four children—Edward, Anthony, Robert and Peggy, and drove to Rochester, N. After church on Sunday the young Morrows and their cousins had a merry time hunting Easter eggs and discovering the good things the Easter bunny had left in their baskets.

Fifteen guests gathered at the home of Officer and Mrs. Nicholas de Hagra of 79 New Street last Sunday to celebrate Mrs. de Hagra's birthday. A festive birthday cake had the place of honor on the buffet table.

The American Legion Post 105 wishes to thank Miss Vanderhoff of 79 Perry Street and Joe Rasser for the part they both played in the Legion's recent acquisition of a fine piano.

Mayor Tully during his entire administration has advocated municipal off-the-street parking lots, the establishment of a Planning Board to control the future growth of the town, and the creation of a central purchasing bureau. He was opposed on all three recommendations. It was only after a hard fight that a central purchasing bureau was established. Recent developments have indicated the wisdom of his proposals. We need progressive leadership in our town. Mayor Tully should be returned to office.

Blue and Gold Crew Dunks Lower Merion; Dartmouth Tomorrow

By Harry Gilbert

They say good things tend to repeat themselves, and that's the way it was last week when the Belleville High School varsity crew beat Lower Merion High of Ardmore, Pa., by four lengths in a pouring rain flung hard at the backs of the oarsmen by a strong wind. The locals won by the same distance last year. The time for Belleville was 5:27, and 5:52 for Lower Merion in the mile event.

This Saturday Belleville travels to Haverhill, New Hampshire, to race the Dartmouth frosh. The Nutley varsity will also match strokes with the Darts.

Last week's showing against Lower Merion, after the loss of the season's opener to Columbia, left Coach Bill Bennett and Assistant Coach Raymond O. Smith pleased with the showing of the Blue and Gold oarsmen.

Belleville's varsity paced Verona side by side until half way to the finish, then pulled ahead and kept its lead for the balance of the distance. Our crew: Coxswain, Carroll; stroke, Ruff; 7, Gray; 6, Raylor; 5, Tauhin; 4, Glass; 3, Connolly; 2, Reynolds; 1, Chapman. Lower Merion's crew: Coxswain, Chubbuck; stroke, Bolger; 7, Brown; 6, Lowman; 5, Stevens; 4, Schulte; 3, Strecher; 2, Johnson; 1, Chapman.

Belleville's varsity four lost by three lengths. The crew: Coxswain, Koller; stroke, Buffenmyer; 7, Womelsdorf; 6, Dolan; 5, Schuder; 3, Weeks; 2, Eiting; 1, Irving.

Lower Merion beat out Belleville's junior varsity by exactly two feet. The crew: Coxswain, Koller; stroke, Buffenmyer; 7, Womelsdorf; 6, Dolan; 5, Schuder; 3, Weeks; 2, Eiting; 1, Irving.

Belleville's third four lost by three lengths. Crew: Coxswain, Rowe; stroke, Gilroy; 3, Pastore; 2, Kieran; 1, Fournier.

BECAUSE -

Belleville at the present time operates under the Walsh Act and has a commission form of government. Under this law all administrative and supervisory powers are vested in the heads of the various departments. The law places the responsibility of personnel and acts with the head of each department. All bills are paid by the Board of Commissioners as a whole, upon recommendation by the various department heads. Mayor Tully, as director of revenue and finance, merely signs the vouchers for payments after the Board of Commissioners has directed payment of the same. To say that Mayor Tully is responsible for the payment of such bills is a fraud upon the people of Belleville and an attempt by those who stand charged with indictable offenses to escape punishment. Let us be thankful for men like Jim Tully. He should be returned to public office.

POLICE PISTOLEERS HOLD FOURTH SPOT IN LEAGUE RACE

Belleville police department's pistol team now occupies fourth position in the Essex County Police Revolver League as the result of victories over Verona and the team in two matches at the Belleville range.

The local team won the first, 1-173 to 1-155, and the second, 1-156 to 1-148. The teams now leading Belleville in the 12-team league are Newark, Irvington, and the county sheriff's department. With the league race at the half-way mark, the police team has won 12 matches and lost four.

Belleville will meet the Essex County Park Police in another match at 2 p.m. this Saturday at the local range, Jerusalem Street and Hoover Avenue.

As a result of the shoots against Verona, Patrolman Nick DeLaGara, who was the individual scorer for the Belleville team until now, slipped a fraction of a point behind Sgt. Fred Singer. Just by what fraction neither the team nor he has yet figured out. The sergeant has averaged 293 points in all of this year's matches.

Individual scores in the first Belleville-Verona match: Belleville: Singer, 293; De LaGara, 296; Pindar, 292; O'Toole, 292; Verona: Tucci, 287; Booker, 288; Rock, 287; Coffin, 283; Second match, Belleville—Pindar, 293; Singer, 289; O'Toole, 288; DeLaGara, 287; Verona—Tucci, 293; Coffin, 288; Booker, 287; Rock, 280.

Scores are figured on the basis of 30 shots. Ten of the shots must be fired in five minutes in the slow shoot. In the time shoot, five shots are fired in 15 seconds, and then, another five shots in the same time. The rapid shoot requires five shots in 10 seconds, and then the same number of shots. Distance is 75 feet for the slow and time shots, and 45 feet for the rapid fire.

COLONELS PLAY PRACTICE TILTS

The Nutley Colonels, in preparation for its 46-game schedule which will begin officially May 2, will play a pair of practice games Saturday and Sunday. Manager Ernie Lantz's Colonels will meet the Seton Hall freshmen Saturday afternoon at South Orange and will come back the following day with a game against the Jersey City OJ's at the Kean Stadium, Secaucus.

To Divide Chores

Against the Pirate yealings Jim Jesky, a member of the defunct Caldwell entry in the Essex County League, will divide the mound chores with Sam Terrell, of Belleville. In the Sunday clash Bob Chapparo, Duke and Lou Bachelmy will see service on the hill.

Until Lantz receives aid from several players still attending college he will choose a battling order made up of Willie Horvay, first base; Junie San Giacomo, second base; Joe Graziano, shortstop; Jack Barinas, third base; Jack Spary, catcher, and Dave Romano, Mike Del Tafo and Rod Coccetti in the outfield.

The Colonels will play Montclair May 2 in the Essex County curtain raiser at Nishuane Field.

A meeting for the drawing up of the North Jersey League schedule will be held Monday night with Lantz representing Nutley.

A Living Page Of History:

The Last Time I Saw Paris . . . In Its Saddest Days

Deleatism Was Rampant In May, 1940, When Germans First Broke Through

By Ralph Heinzen

The last time I saw Paris was the blackest day in its two thousand years of history—that June 10, 1940, when the French Government fled out of a south gate towards Tours and Bordeaux as German patrols entered the city of their dreams, with extreme caution, by the St. Cloud gate.

I watched the Germans move in, ever fearful of an ambush, which rose out of the courtyard and unguarded, I packed my staff and the records of my staff Press in a fleet of cars and started south in pursuit of the fleeing French government. As I looked back, a column of smoke arose out of the Seine valley to mark the martyrdom of Rouen and other cities rich in the history of the Romans and the Gauls, the Normans and the Huns.

"Cherchez La Femme"

That "last time I saw Paris" is a story replete with intrigue, wit, stirring bravery and with rank cowardice, with court mistresses whose influence was both nefarious and costly and with enough human foibles and weaknesses to insure an easy victory and submission for Hitler where Bismarck and the Kaiser and a hundred other enemies of twenty centuries ago would have failed.

The capitulation of Paris without a fight was not easy to accept. In a quarter of a century I had seen its courage in the many political struggles which beset it, such, for example, as the February 6 riots fomented by the "Croix de Feu", the veterans of World War I who had fought at Verdun and the Marne bravely under fire.

Escape By Balloon

From Clemenceau, in the many talks I had with him at his Paris home in the rue Franklin and at his fishermen's cottage on the dunes of Vendee, I had learned of the bravery of Paris in 1870-71 when, even though the Germans of Bismarck had overrun all of France, Paris held out.

The besieged city foiled the Prussians by organizing the first "air force." Women sewed up balloons out of fine silks and linens. They were filled with smoke and sent aloft from the highest hill in Montmartre. Paris emissaries thus escaped from the capital to organize the resistance of the provinces.

The first "air mail" ever carried was part of the cargo of those balloons. Those envelopes, stamped "Carried by balloon," are collectors' rarities today. The balloons could leave, but none could land, so Paris slowly starved after its stocks were exhausted and all the horses, dogs, cats and birds had been eaten. Yet Paris held out and never surrendered.

Prussians Parade

It was one of Bismarck's disgraceful peace terms that Paris had to cede to a German parade, and the German army, which had been camped at Versailles and in a ring around the besieged city, without having been able to fight its way in, now was able to enter Paris and march down the Champs Elysee with its battle flags floating high.

Not a Frenchman watched that parade and so frightened where the Prussians of reprisals that as soon as they reached the bottom of the hill at the Place de la Concorde, they turned and hurried out of town as fast as their goose-step would allow.

That was the city which, as late as the Romans stood off the assaults of the Barbarians. It was the Paris of the 5th Century which opened its gates to the Franks as they drove the Romans out. Converted to Christianity, under Clovis, it was the Paris which drove off the infidel Visigoths. Never before had Paris surrendered.

Burning The Past

My astonishment was great, therefore, when in the smoke which rose out of the courtyard of the palace in the Quai d'Orsay which housed the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs, I smelled, as early as mid-May, the intrigues and defections which were to bring about the infamous surrender of Paris after it had been declared an "open city."

I had just returned to Paris from the front, following the breakthrough and the race for Dunkirk, and had gone to the Foreign Office to talk with Pierre Comert, the head of the press division, whose wife was an American and who had been brought back to Paris from the League of Nations where he headed the press section.

As I entered the courtyard of the palace along the Seine, I saw a huge bonfire. Functionaries carried armful of documents from the building and dumped them on the bonfire. The French government was burning its records, as improbable as that may seem today. In mid-May, the government was preparing for the end, even though the Germans were still only a thin column of tanks in the Somme valley.

Two Sides of Mouth

That rank folly became the talk of the town. All Paris was agast when the news spread like wildfire. Paul Reynaud, then Premier, had just boasted "Paris will defend itself, from street to street, from house to house. The Germans will pay dearly to take it." But the tall tale column of smoke was visible from any place in the center of Paris and Hitler's "Fifth Column" must have carried the tale to him. Paris was not to be defended, "from street to street, from house to house."

As I walked through the courtyard to stand and watch as files and bundles of papers were tossed on the pyre, I was curious to know whether the contents of the famous treaty strongbox were also being tossed in the flames. In that strongbox, a huge pile built into one wing at the rear of the palace, were locked all of the treaties and pacts of centuries.

The prize document, in my estimation, was France's copy of the Treaty of Paris which was signed by Franklin and Deane in Count Vergennes' office to end the American Revolutionary war.

A Ribbentrop Fraud

It was told that only the current files were being burned, among them the reports from abroad of French diplomats which might incriminate informers. The treaties were intact and were to remain so. There was one treaty in that strongbox, I felt, which might well have been burned. It was the treaty which Ribbentrop and George Bonnet signed five days before Christmas, in 1938, in which France and Germany pledged to refrain from war for 10 months later the war was on.

They might have burned, also, another treaty in that famous strongbox, the historic but useless Kellogg-Briand pact which had been signed in the Hall of Mirrors in that very same palace and whose purpose was to end all wars. I had been there to watch the signature, that August 27, 1928, of the Paris Anti-War Pact by Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, French Foreign Minister Aristide Briand and the delegates of 15 other nations. It was the deadest of the many cadet agreements in that strongbox.

Women Mix In

As I watched the burning, I heard a woman cry from an upper window adjoining the suite

Two Women Played Notorious Role In Confusion Which Preceded Surrender

used by Paul Reynaud. "Who the hell told you to do that?" she demanded in coarse language. "Why, the Minister himself, Mr. Reynaud," replied the officials.

Promissory Note Of Spring

Under this turbulence of chilling winds
How quiet and enduring is the earth, and how unexercised!

Not greedy for summer nor avid of quick good,

Not panicked to be other than itself,
Desiring to flaunt no comet's fiery-feathered tail,

Spawn no new moons, nor be another sun,
But all-receiving of the snow and rain,
The warmth of light vouchsafed, the seed provided,

In silence and in confidence she waits
And so brings forth inevitable spring.

And though to some the challenge may seem pitched too low,

Too difficult to hear in early spring,
Too spiritless, too vague, too meager,
'Twas to those gentle ones, the blessed meek,

That promise of earth's heritage was given;
That heritage the quiet mind, the expectant heart.

The certain hope.

The single eye that looks up day and night,
Gazing untroubled at heaven.

The Shoe Pinches The Kremlin Foot

It has long been a Communist hope that the capitalist nations, most particularly the United States, should be ravaged from within by economic upheavals and the resulting social unrest. That would be grist for the Kremlin's mill. Now there is evidence that the shoe may be on the other foot and that the Soviet Union and her satellites are facing very serious internal problems of an economic and social nature.

Harold E. Stassen, director of the Foreign Operations Administration said this week: "There are increasing reports indicating real economic trouble inside the Iron Curtain. . . . They have taken millions of their people and placed them at sub-standard conditions under veritable slave labor. . . . They have pulled down these groups while they

One Man's Opinion

Sun Editor Finds National Capital
Disturbed By Extent Of Communist Conspiracy

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Wednesday — The major topic of conversation in Washington this week continues to be the suspension by President Eisenhower and the Atomic Energy Commission, of J. Robert Oppenheimer as a science advisor to the government. The tragedy of General de Gaulle's position in Indochina and the Army-McCarthy struggle have become secondary subjects. Anywhere and everywhere, here in the capital, the Oppenheimer affair dominates not only the conversation, but also the planning. It has suddenly become apparent that the Communist conspiracy inside the United States is real. In its planning, the Eisenhower administration assumes that it is a dangerous conspiracy.

It must be borne in mind that Oppenheimer has merely stifled the suspension of his security clearance pending a new investigation. The government, instead of pretending to see a red herring — as was Harry Truman's first reaction to the Alger Hiss affair — intends to act with safe prudence. Further investigation may result in Oppenheimer receiving a new clearance. Generally, there is a grave doubt that he will because Washington is convinced that President Eisenhower would not have intervened personally without substantial reason.

Definitely, the major consequence of the Oppenheimer affair is a public realization of the reality of the Communist conspiracy.

I was told here today that there are 25,000 Communist agents at work in the United States — in the interests of Red Russia, naturally. These are, for the most part, Americans, by birth or by naturalization. They form the hard core of Communist espionage and propaganda here in America. They have, alas, recruited ten times their number of glib assistants, co-goods, bleeding hearts, pseudo-liberals, who may not know it but are playing the Communist cards.

Lessons Of A Survey

Among my many old friends in the camp of capital opponents, none has had a more continuous knowledge of the Communist conspiracy than David Lawrence, whom I first knew as a correspondent when we both covered the negotiations at the Hotel Chillon in Paris, of the Versailles peace treaty in 1919.

At that time, the Russian revolution was only one and a half years old.

Lawrence has just completed a survey of the activities, on a make a tremendous effort to make some improvement in living conditions of a minority. That process is starting to show very real strains and cracks and stresses.

Now it is possible to sum up the available evidence:

People throughout the Communist empire are ill-nourished, ill-clad, ill-housed. In the satellites, they are obviously restless. Prosperity is not to be found anywhere within the Communist realm. This is largely the consequence of a breakdown in planning. Communism has gone all-out to develop heavy industry for war purposes and has neglected consumer industry. And the upshot is ruined fields, short crops, shortages of food, clothing and housing; famine and general misery. Workers, underfed and without promises of reward, have little incentive to produce.

Some figures tell a revealing story in themselves. Since 1916, before the revolution, Russia's human population has increased 40 per cent but her livestock population, which is an excellent barometer of the food situation, has actually declined by three per cent. Since 1937, Russian industrial production has more than doubled, a considerable achievement. But the consumer's share has gone down and down. Where it amounted to 42 per cent of the total in 1937, it was but 28 per cent last year.

The economic blight is intense everywhere — in Poland, Hungary, Rumania, and in Czechoslovakia which, prior to communization, was self-sufficient and prosperous industrial state. Czech coal production, a vital element, has gone to pot, primarily because of the poor food and housing allowed the miners. Strong efforts have been made to bring production up, but it seems to be a case where even Communist methods cannot get blood out of a turnip. In China, there are famine conditions. Famine is nothing new to that vast land, but the Reds had promised to prevent it.

It is significant that top Russian officials, from Malenkov down, in speeches made for internal consumption, are promising all kinds of improvements in the living standards of the masses. Soon, they say, there will be more food, more and better goods of all kinds, more medical services and so on. They are appealing to the people's loyalty and patriotism. This, in itself, certainly shows that there are grave troubles back of the Iron Curtain.

legally. Even the most vocal opponents of "McCarthyism" admit that McCarthy is a direct product of the indifference of previous administrations to the Communist menace. If it had not been for the complacency that permitted the infiltration of government departments with Communist or Communist sympathizers, they would have been no reason for a McCarthy. Whatever else may be said of him, he but the first under those complacent persons that forced them to allow the Communist issue to be brought out into the open.

Sorely Needed Weapons

If Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr., gets the ten laws he requested, the problem of dealing with Communists will be greatly simplified. One was requested by President Eisenhower in his State Of The Union message in January, providing that any person advocating the overthrow of the government by force would lose his citizenship. Such persons, being no longer citizens, could not hold government jobs.

Another, allowing an employer to dismiss from defense plants any person whose record showed he might engage in espionage or sabotage, would have cleaned out such people as the Rosenbergs and any number of others working in defense plants under the protection of labor laws.

A third, to "eliminate Communist control of any industrial organization or labor union in vital sections of our national economy," would pull the teeth of such unions as the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers, unquestionably Communist, whose members handle our uranium and other strategic metals. It would also reduce the danger of the United Electrical Workers, also very left, if not actually Communist, which controls labor in our most sensitive and secret electronics industries and which was involved in Nulley by the spirited battle of the IUE-CIO.

The other seven requests are intended to close loopholes that subversives and security risks have found very convenient for escaping punishment.

Noll Demands- Bellwood Park Firehouse Site From County!

Louis A. Noll, Belleville commission candidate, today called upon the town attorney to take legal action against Essex County in an effort to acquire property where the county proposes to construct a juvenile delinquent home in the Bellwood Park area. Noll said the county four year ago promised to deed the property to Belleville as a site for a new fire-house.

Noll said the present commission failed to take advantage of his negotiations with the county and his efforts to obtain the site for a fire-house lapsed when he left office as public safety director. A town-wide campaign in opposition to construction of the home in the one-familly residential section is under-way.

Noll criticized the present administration on two points. He said none of the commission took action against the home when the county last May announced plans to move it from Newark to Belleville, and that none of the incumbents tried to acquire the property from the county after he had completed negotiations for it. He said:

"Immediately before the last commission election the county agreed, at my request, to deed the property to Belleville for a new fire-house to meet the demands of a fast-growing residential area. The county stipulated that Belleville could have the property providing the town paid for fencing the area.

"At my insistence the former city commission adopted a resolution providing the appropriation for fencing the property. But the present administration never took advantage of the work I performed. My efforts to get the site for a new fire-house died with the former commission. Now, because of apparent laxity, the county comes alive and says it is going to build a juvenile delinquent home in Belleville and tear-down the Bellwood Park residential area. An alert commission would have followed the program I started and acquired the property. And a new fire-house would have given the people added protection instead of the threat of prison walls they now face."

THE FOLLOWING LETTERS AND RESOLUTIONS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES:-

BOARD OF COMMISSIONERS
TOWN OF BELLEVILLE, NEW JERSEY
Introduced by Commissioner NOLL
Seconded by Commissioner

BE IT RESOLVED By the Board of Commissioners of the Town of Belleville, in the County of Essex, N. J., as follows:

WHEREAS, the Board of Chosen Freeholders is about ready to authorize and have executed deed to the Town of Belleville covering premises located on the West side of Franklin Avenue and covering a frontage of 200 feet, namely the northernly 200 feet on said Avenue of Isolation Hospital property, and having a depth of 200 feet, which property is to be used for public purposes, and

WHEREAS, as part of the consideration for said deed, the Town does hereby agree to assume the cost of the construction of a suitable fence on the line which would divide the property to be conveyed to the Town from the remaining hospital grounds owned by the County.

THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Town of Belleville does hereby agree that, if, when and as the Board of Chosen Freeholders of Essex County requests the Town of Belleville to assume the cost of a fence dividing the hospital from the town grounds to be conveyed, the Town of Belleville shall make payment of said cost. It is part of the understanding that the county is not obligated to fence the entire hospital properties but in its discretion can erect fence dividing Town and County properties as set forth above at any time and under any conditions.

TOWN OF BELLEVILLE — REQUEST FOR LAND

Asst. Supt. McElligott reported the Town of Belleville had received a copy of a resolution wherein it agreed to assume the cost of a fence bordering the tract of land adjoining the Isolation Hospital grounds, requested for the purpose of erecting a firehouse. A description of the property has been prepared and inasmuch as the Town of Belleville has complied with the requirements for the transfer, Mr. McElligott recommended that proper resolution be prepared for Board action deeding the property to the Town of Belleville. Referred to Board Conference.

NEWARK MUSEUM EXHIBITS CROSSES

On Palm Sunday, the Newark Museum opened an exhibition of early Christian crosses, crucifixes and reliquaries, to continue on view through the summer. The crosses are a gift to the Museum from the children of Mrs. Robert W. de Forest.

The collection consists of more than one hundred pieces, some dating from the 6th century A.D. and others from the 16th to the 19th centuries.

The crosses fall into three groups. The most unusual among them are the Early Christian and Byzantine crosses, the earliest dating back to the 6th century. Chiefly these are simple in style, fashioned of bronze and gold, and found in excavations in Egypt, Syria, and the lands of the Byzantine Empire.

A second group comes from the lands of the Eastern Orthodox Church, largely from Russia and the Balkan countries. The crosses range in date from the 16th to the 19th centuries and are of particular interest for the workmanship is elaborate with decorations of figures, symbols, inscriptions and scenes from both the Old and the New Testaments.

WHAT'S THE PRICE OF COPPER TODAY? It's about 2½ times the pre-war price—and we have to pay it just like anyone else. That's true of every material that goes into telephone equipment. But we can try to find ways to use less of these materials, or find less costly substitutes. That's exactly what we've been doing in our efforts to keep telephone rates low. New wires, for example, are less than half the size of previous wires—but more efficient. New insulation materials triple the life of the wire between your house and the telephone pole, require fewer replacements. New developments, such as the N-1 Carrier, increase capacity so twelve conversations can be carried over two pairs of wires. By cutting inches from the aisles in telephone exchanges, we've avoided hundreds of thousands of square feet in new construction. If you've built a new home recently, you know how this saves money. Cutting here, economizing there, and modernizing everywhere—we've been able to make New Jersey telephone service one of today's greatest bargains—with rates, on the average, only 20% above the pre-war period while the cost of living has nearly doubled. But economy and efficiency alone don't solve the problem. To keep on giving you good telephone service, we must give a reasonable return on the investment in New Jersey's telephone system. South Awaits Ruling On Segregation

Governor James Byrnes Presses Construction Of New Schools To Give Negroes Even Better Facilities Than Whites Have In South Carolina

By Ralph Heinzen

Columbia, S. C., Tuesday — Next Monday, or any of the next Mondays, anyone now, the Supreme Court in Washington can be expected to render its opinion on the issue of the legality of segregated schools.

Whatever the Supreme Court ruling, South Carolina and its Governor, former Secretary of State James Byrnes, under whom I spent six months in the State Department, for United Press, following my return from internment in Germany, are both ready.

If the Supreme Court rules that segregation is unconstitutional, then the Palmetto State, so long as "Jimmy" Byrnes is its Governor, will do everything in its power to avoid opening its schools to white and black alike. If, on the contrary, the Supreme Court rules that individual states may decide the issue for themselves, then South Carolina, which is half-way on a vast program of construction of new schools for negroes, will proceed to build in an effort to offer equal facilities to both whites and blacks.

Mayor End Public Schools

Governor Byrnes made very clear, in an interview here today, his stand and his intentions, when he said:

"If the Supreme Court changes what is now the law of the land, we will, if it is possible, live with the law, preserve it, on the public school system, and at the same time maintain segregation. If that is not possible, we will definitely we will abandon the public school system."

It must be the policy of the State, as individuals, to see that innocent Negro children are not deprived of education because of false legends.

The Legislature, of course, determines whether or not appropriations will be made for public schools. The Governor was stating his opinion of what the Legislature would do, based upon expressed views and attitudes of legislative leaders.

Forty Per Cent Negro

Time and the individual circumstance and historical background have all combined to make South Carolina, whose ties with the past go back as far as those of any state, the center of the stage in the legal controversy over segregated public schools.

With a Negro population of about 40 per cent of the total, the issue which in the Deep South is described sometimes as the most important since Secession has projected into the spotlight such a figure of controversy as a man who but for one of the quirks of political fortune might have been President, in the person of the State's top protagonist of racial segregation at all cost — Governor Byrnes.

Equal Facilities

This is the same self-made man, an orphan whom circumstance compelled to bypass college, who rose to the political heights and who donated the entire cost of his volume of wartime memoirs, "Speaking Frankly," to establish scholarships for South Carolina youngsters.

Before his election, Governor Byrnes had informed close friends that one of the main reasons he was willing to serve as governor of his state, giving up a lucrative law practice in the appellate courts, was because he hoped to persuade the Legislature and the people of South Carolina to provide good school facilities in every community and for every child.

He made it plain in his inaugural address that the State's duty was to provide substantially equal educational facilities for the races, a job he said, which should have been done during last few generations. Later he expressed the view his state "will not, nor for some years to come, while in colored children 'in our schools.'"

And by various actions the Legislature has taken, it has indicated its attitude on this view.

Governor Byrnes' feeling has a St. Patrick's Day speech in Charleston, he said the Ku Klux Klan and the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People "constitute an equal membership in the good relations that have existed between the races in South Carolina." He added that the Klan no longer exists in the state. Governor Byrnes further expressed the wish he could "say the same thing about the NAACP."

Five suits from as many states attacking the fundamental of segregated schools have been lumped together by the Supreme Court. The first of these suits materialized in South Carolina, however, in a school district of Charleston County where the Negro school population outnumbered the white school population 10 to 1.

How It Is Done

Now South District No. 1 in Charleston County has a new Negro school that surpasses, in every intrinsic sense, anything available to the white students. This is in contrast to the inadequate, overcrowded old frame building that served as a school before the new plan was adopted.

The new school has 31 teachers, 27 spacious classrooms, louvered windows, the most modern equipment, room for typing, home economics, a library, and also a combination cafeteria-auditorium where hot lunches are served for 51 cents. Plans for a school "gymnasium" are on the drawing board.

But this is only a small part of perhaps as dramatic a "social revolution" as ever swept a state in so short a time, even though it is based on a deep-seated determination to preserve racial separation.

As another example, on Wadmalaw Island, an area heavily populated by Negroes, the Negro pupils attend a new modern brick school whereas white students go to class in an old two-room frame building.

On nearby St. Johns Island, Negroes attend a modern brick school and white pupils attend a school built by the Works Projects Administration in the depression.

It is all part of the state school building program which under present legislation involves the ultimate expenditure of more than $175,000,000 for construction and improvement of school plants. That far, more than $85,000,000 has been increased more than 200 it having been earmarked for Negro schools.

Seek Consolidation

A locally operated school transportation system was transformed in two months to an economical and efficient state operation. Some 200,000 of the state's 525,000 pupils now ride in state-operated, diesel-driven buses. Expenditure for transportation of Negro students has been increased more than 200 per cent.

Before the new school program was launched, there were 1,700 small school districts here in South Carolina. These have been consolidated into about 100. Before a county could get state school building funds, it had to convince the State Educational Finance Commission it had consolidated districts so as to enable it to provide adequate facilities for all the county's already have reached that point, officials of the commission report.

As a result is that the "little red schoolhouse" is being replaced rapidly by well-designed, strategically situated buildings that can accommodate hundreds of pupils, who are transported over an efficient bus system.

Other States Interested

The success of the consolidation plan has so astounded school officials elsewhere having a similar problem that the South Carolina operation has been studied first-hand by many of them. For instance, Mississippi, a state with much the same degree of racial problem as South Carolina, has more than 2,100 school districts.

A governor in South Carolina is given little authority through the Constitution or statute. A top education official says that today the state's part of the public school budget in South Carolina has just about doubled. State education officials say that today South Carolina's per capita expenditure for education is greater than in New Jersey's and is exceeded by only one other state in the Union.

This is the whole issue and the background of the contest about segregated schools, indirectly affecting 17 states, is epitomized perhaps nowhere more dramatically or eloquently than here in South Carolina, whose political leaders are intent on preserving a pattern and a tradition prevailing for more than two and a half centuries.

Whatever his views on separation of the races, the fact remains that Governor Byrnes, immediately upon assuming office, simply acted boldly and did something

Ground - Breaking For New Synagogue Set For May 30

May 30 has been set as the date for ground-breaking ceremonies for the new $200,000 Ahavath Achim Synagogue and community center to be built on Academy Street near the Free Public Library, Charles Rosenberg, chairman of the congregation's building fund committee, announced late yesterday.

A week-end of special events to celebrate the ceremony will precede and follow the ground-breaking ceremony. A dance will be held at the Temple, 317 Washington Avenue, the night of May 29, to which the public is invited. On the night of Sunday, May 30, there will be a dinner and dance.

Town officials and representatives will attend the ground-breaking ceremony, and Chairman Rosenberg invited all townspersons to attend. There will be speeches by guests, and entertainment will be provided.

Members of the special committee who will officiate at the event are Rabbi Albert Raab, spiritual leader of the congregation; Chairman Rosenberg; Louis Lempert, chairman of the architectural committee, and William Abramson, co-chairman. Seymour Persko, chairman of special events fund-raising; Judge Edward Abramson, and Robert C. Gruhn of the ground breaking committee; Samuel Cogan and Dr. Ben Jacobson of the building fund committee.

Plans for the new building, which part of the money has been raised, includes a chapel seating 200 which can be expanded to 600 by folding back doors leading to the auditorium. One wing of the structure will include four classrooms for students. The auditorium will be used for a variety of social events, and recreation rooms are also provided. For the building is Rudolph Kruger of Newark.

about a condition which previously everybody seemed willing to talk about but which they had been unwilling to do anything about. It was a combination seemingly of prestige, popularity, force of personality, and political know-how.

In a little more than two years the state's part of the public school budget in South Carolina has just about doubled. State education officials say that today South Carolina's per capita expenditure for education is greater than in New Jersey's and is exceeded by only one other state in the Union.

Paris In The Spring To Be Theme Of Cana Club Dance

A bit of the charm of old Paris will be recaptured tomorrow evening when the Cana Club of St. Mary's Church holds its annual spring dance with the theme, "Paris in the Spring."

About 100 married couples from Nulley and Belleville are expected to attend. Music and entertainment will be by Josh Holmbeck and his orchestra, starting at 9 o'clock and continuing to 1 a.m. in the setting of a realistic French street scene, complete with sidewalk cafe, flower carts, old lamp posts and budding trees, set up for the occasion in St. Mary's School Hall.

Other attractions include a book stall, copied from the originals which line the Seine near Notre Dame Cathedral, and a Gingerbread Fair, part of the local scene in the real Paris in the spring.

SUPPLEMENT SEVEN
Golden Comments

Hi Ya Neighbor! With just three weeks remaining before that big day when we townsfolk and neighbors go to the polls to cast our ballots which can free us from the yoke of political tyranny which we have, locally, been subjected to; I want to impress upon you, neighbor, the great responsibility which becomes yours, as a voter. You and thousands of neighbors just like you will be called upon to determine the outcome of this town election which will have a momentous effect upon the daily lives of all of us. You should not regard your position lightly. YOU, not the candidates, become the most vital and important factor in this campaign. You must choose men as your elected representatives who will dedicate their services to the welfare of the entire community; men who enter public life not to make the office for their own personal gain, but to place their talents and ability at the disposal of their neighbors in a sincere effort to bring to their community the best that modern, intelligent men can give. Government possibly can offer.

Neighbor, in entering your home each week I have shown you how poorly managed and badly governed our town has been during the past administration. I have, in previous articles, brought to your attention the improvements and practical, necessary changes I should like to institute in bringing an efficient, business-like government to Belleville. Why? I live here like you do, neighbor, and I hope pay the "freight" for these extravagances the same as you. I think it's time it was stopped. That's why I'm running for Town Commissioner myself, because I've fought to end these abuses, and gotten nowhere as a private citizen. Those fellows down at the Town Hall just keep on making suggestions, good or bad, that they don't "cook up" themselves. What kind of government is that, anyway?

Neighbor, I told the Commissioners to oppose the Mayor Bill over a year ago. This bill was the creation of the Parental Home on the grounds of the Isolation Hospital. They ignored my recommendation. I wrote the error myself, urging him to veto the bill. Had I not the support of the town officials this vicious bill might well have been beaten. Now when it's too late, the Commissioners suddenly show affected, mystified concern. I'm running for Commissioner so that I can get in there with a voice that, unmistakably, will be heard and insist that the rights of the people will be represented and recognized. I'm asking you to vote for me, Neighbor, because I think you want and need somebody like myself in there giving these politicians "hell" when they get out of line. We need a good, alert watchdog, at

Town Hall and I'm applying for the job. My past encounters with them, however, does not mean my recommendation. When you vote for five, neighbor, remember to keep good government alive, stick one vote in for your neighbor Jim Golden who offers you "A Golden Opportunity For Good Government."

I'd like every one of my Belleville neighbors to know about the unsavory side of the "racket" I broke up, which resulted in the saving of many thousands of taxpayers' dollars, and exposing a practice whereby the town was paying for storm sewer installations for private home developers who were not paying for them in the entire County did likewise. One such developer, Mr. Stephen Dudak, who had benefited under this system, it is reliably reported, placed considerable insurance coverage on his new homes with Mayor Tully's realty agency. I challenged the propriety of such conflicting interest, calling upon Mayor Tully to disqualify himself from voting for any measure from which he might ultimately benefit. He refused my recommendation and voted for the measure, "which" many might interpret as being a "kick back" to the private business. After the ordinance authorizing the appropriation of $4,500 for a storm sewer of approximately 500 feet for one of the Dudak developments was defeated on the second vote, Mayor Tully indicated that he would reintroduce the ordinance. Latest advice indicates that my insistence that such questionable practices be discontinued will be heeded. If I am elected Commissioner, neighbor, you may be certain that there will be no recurrence of such "give away" practices. I'll guarantee the type of good government that would never permit even the consideration of such offensive programs.

Where, I ask, Neighbor, were all these mental giants and financial geniuses in our governing body when they voted first to pass such vicious legislation which would have poured all of us? When were these other Commission candidates who now claim to be so capable, qualified and civic minded? What do these fellows think? That the people want their town government to be run by men who stage a four weeks campaign during which they throw money around like "careless playboys", suddenly start showing interest in town affairs which they never gave thought to, shake the hand of everybody that they forgot the past four years, and now become all things to all people. People are getting wise to these "pie in the sky" politicians that make plenty of promises, but never seem to get around to keeping them. Neighbor, I acted, I changed things for the better in this town. I'm striving to do even more. If you want good, honest government, based upon sincerity and principle, then you want to vote for me, Neighbor. While I acted, the others only talked about many accomplishments. Your Golden Opportunity For Good Government is to vote for your neighbor, James J. Golden.

I'm going to shove off now, Neighbor, 'til next week then I'll look forward to dropping in again in the Times-News. Till then, so long.

Your neighbor,
James R. Golden.
