SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS WON'T RESIGN OFFICE

None of the members of the Board of Education has any intention of resigning "at present," they told the Belleville Times-News last night. At the same time the Belleville Citizens Association, which had introduced the elective school board issue, pressed for their resignation.

Speculation had run strong concerning possible developments after the electorate had voted for a new school board by a ten to one margin in Tuesday's election.

Eugene Kelly, president of the board, and Charles Yocum, vice-president, said they would continue to hold office. Walter Loesner said there was "no point" in considering resigning until February, when Yocum's term is expired, and an election would then be held to fill his place. He "might" consider such a step then, he said, but specified that he was not making any commitment in advance.

Ruel E. Daniels, Board of Education Clerk, said he was standing by his previous declaration that he would not resign.

All four had been named in a grand jury presentation criticizing their conduct of school business.

The Citizens' Association, in a statement by Edward J. Ackerman, declared:

"Through the confusion and the disgrace of indictments and presentations that have been leveled against the school board, comes an unmistakable ray of light that

LOCAL PRINCIPAL TO HEAD COUNTY SCHOOL GROUP

Paul W. Jones, principal of School No. 3 was elected President of the Essex County Elementary Principals' Association at its spring dinner meeting held last week at the Hotel Suburban, East Orange.

Principal Jones, who succeeds Harry Donovan of Grove Street School, Irvington, has been in the Belleville Public Schools since 1948 when he came here from Riverside to teach social studies at the high school.

In 1950, he was appointed principal of School No. 1 but in February of 1951 was recalled to active duty with the Chemical Corps, U. S. Army, and served for 19 months. When the principal returned to Belleville in September, 1952, he was transferred to School No. 3.

7 INDICTED WILL PLEAD MONDAY FOR DISMISSAL MOTION

Attorneys for four town officials and three contractors indicted by an Essex County grand jury on charges growing out of alleged purchasing practice by the town's public works department were scheduled to appear before Superior Court Judge Speckman today to present arguments on motions for dismissal of the indictments.

The pleading date has been set for next Monday.

Those indicted were Public Works Commissioner Patrick A. Waters; his brother, James, who resigned as superintendent of the water department shortly before the indictments were returned; Hugh Welsh, deputy public works director; Ralph Vora, who succeeded Waters as water works superintendent; Carmen and Anna Silestri, officers of the Silver-Springs Construction Company of Belleville; and W. Howard Lee, president of the Lee Engineering Service.

Meanwhile a preliminary hearing for Vora before the State Civil Service Commission on charges that he made false answer to questions on a civil service examination blank was postponed until May 21 at Vora's request.

The preliminary hearing was made by Mayor Tully who had sought to have resigned Vora promoter of water department maintenance.

Isadore J. Padula was named mayor of Belleville as well as director of revenue and finance, and offices were designated for all of the other four commissioners in an organization meeting last night at Padula's home.

This was the agreement: Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan will continue as director of public safety.

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde will remain as director of parks and public property, with jurisdiction over town hall and the town's three fire stations, which was taken from him by the public works department four years ago, now restored to him.

Commissioner Joseph King will retain his office as director of public affairs, and will be acting mayor until Padula recovers from a virus infection which has kept him in bed for a week.

Deputy Police Chief Kenneth D. Smith will run fifth in the race to be named director of public works, which some have held to be the most politically advantageous office in town hall, next to the office of mayor.

Seaplane Urging All To Vote Piloted By Goccia

That red seaplane which buzzed over Belleville during the last few days before polling time, with the loudspeaker urging all within earshot to vote for Isadore J. Padula and Harry J. Sullivan, was piloted by Pete Goccia of Harrison.

Stated. The publicity was gratis, just the gesture of a friend who happened to have a unique means of broadcasting his political leanings.

Surrounded by members of his family, Isadore J. Padula, named as Belleville's next mayor after his record vote in Tuesday's election, posed long enough for a photograph yesterday, then climbed back into the bed where he had been confined for more than a week with a virus infection.

Lying in the same bed Tuesday night, Padula had spoken his thanks over a specially hooked-up loud speaker arrangement to a crowd of hundreds of his supporters who jammed the street in front of his home at 193 Fairway Avenue and flowed down the road for several blocks.

He thanked the supporters who had given him the support given him by the town's electorate. His family gloved with pride. The attorney is married to the former Edith Acquavella. They have four children—Joseph, a chemist, who lives with his wife and 18-month-old son, Joseph, at 21 Liberty Avenue; Isadore, Jr., 24, who has won a reputation as a baseball player and who will be graduated from Pennsylvania Military College this June; Vincent, 19, a student at Barringer high school in Newark; and Edith, 11, who attends Prospect Hill Country Day School.

Padula issued a written statement in which he declared that "with God's blessings, and the people's continued support, I am confident that I can bring about many necessary changes in the administration of government in the interest of the entire town."

He said:

Professional nursing service on a part time basis in the home is available to residents of Belleville, who are under the care of a physician. Each morning a professional registered nurse leaves the office of the Visiting Nurse Association of Newark about 8 a.m. to visit patients.

Belleville who has requested her services. Her care for patients includes bedside nursing, hypodermic injections, dressing, or other care prescribed by the doctor as well as instruction in health measures for all members of the family.

Another service available through this agency is physical therapy. Working under the direction of the patient's physician, the physical therapist's services include exercises designed to relieve muscle tension and to restore function of specific muscles; help in the construction and adaptation of equipment in the home to help patients progress toward self direction and care.

Because there are "rehabilitation" aspects to all diseases, the nurse and physical therapist work closely with the physician, the family and others in providing service to patient.

Although there is a charge for service rendered, fees may be scaled according to the family's ability to pay. No charge for care given is made if the family cannot afford it because the Belleville Community Chest provides funds to the Visiting Nurse Association for this purpose.

The Association is a voluntary non-profit agency governed by a Board of Directors with representatives from the Board on each community served, including Belleville.

Walter Kidde & Company Awarded Safety Citation

Walter Kidde & Company has received the Bureau of Engineering and Safety Award for its record of having operated more than 2,000,000 man-hours without a lost-time accident during the period from October 24, 1952 through June 12, 1953.

The group is pushing for addition of six new classrooms to the school building within the next year, and a spokesman said the move was favored by the board.

Superintendent of Schools Evan Thomas had originally suggested re-districting of the school, with pupils sent to Schools No. 3 and 5, as the answer to overcrowding in the schools. As an alternative, he offered dual sessions for students.

Parents of the pupils protested that re-districting would subject their children to heavy summer traffic between and around the schools.

On Agenda After Record Vote; Padula, Smith In; Re-elect 3; Approve Elective School Board

Belleville chose the members of its new Town Commission at the polls Tuesday, but because it also voted in favor of a Charter Study by a vote of almost five to one, the newly elected commissioners may once more stand for election within possibly a year's time, or long before their present four-year term expires, if the Charter Commission recommends a new form of government for the city, and that form is approved by the voters in a referendum vote. The town also voted ten to one for an elective school board.

Meanwhile the newly-chosen commissioners made ready to take over the responsibilities of running the city government next week after a highly dramatic election which saw Isadore J. Padula and Deputy Police Chief Kenneth J. Smith chosen to replace Mayor James J. Tully, who lost his bid for a third term, and Public Works Commissioner Patrick A. Waters, who had withdrawn from the race after 23 years in office.

Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan and Elmer S. Hyde were re-elected to the second year of their terms, and Commissioner Joseph King was voted in for his sixth consecutive term.

The commissioners will be sworn in by Mrs. Florence Moore, town clerk, at a ceremony in town hall next Tuesday noon.

The vote for the individual members of five-man Charter Study Commission which will bring in a report recommending what it considers to be the best form of municipal government for Belleville, followed:

John J. Gibbons, 1,460; Boyd A. Hartley, 1,444; Raymond O. Smith, 1,474; J. V. Gallo, 1,524; Mrs. Lenora Willette, 1,438. All were unopposed.

Total vote in Tuesday's election was 12,146 out of 16,438 registrations—a much higher percentage than in the heated Newark election.

In winning his race, Padula, who had been steadily building his political fences since his defeat by a narrow margin in the Belleville election, secured a record total of 7,942 votes, in view of the margin of his victory, the Belleville attorney seemed almost certain to be named as mayor by the other four commissioners.

Charter Commission Meets Tonight To Launch Study

The newly elected Charter Commission, authorized by a vote of 5,158 to 1,175 to launch a Charter Study, will meet tonight to elect a chairman, make a preliminary outline of the study, and prepare a communication to the Town Commission requesting the funds necessary to implement the survey, the Belleville Times-News learned last night.

A spokesman for the group said that the actual study would begin at the earliest possible moment, and would in all probability open with an analysis of the commission form of government in Belleville. He emphasized that the capabilities of the commissioners as individuals would not enter into the survey, which he said would confine itself to the fitness of the commission form, as a practical organ of municipal administration.

Members of the Commission, all of them unopposed in Tuesday's election, and all supported by Belleville's Young Men in Government, are John J. Gibbons, Boyd A. Hartley, Raymond O. Smith, John V. Gallo, and Mrs. Lenora Willette.

Purpose of the study is to consider the commission, mayor-council and council-manager forms of governments, and then bring in a report to the people recommending one of those forms as best suited to town government here.

The report, which could, in theory, support the commission form already constituted, would be voted on in a special referendum.

If the report should suggest a switch to the mayor-council or council-manager form, and the recommendation were supported in the referendum election, commissioners chosen in last Tuesday's municipal election would be required to vacate their offices and stand for election once more, together with any other candidates who might wish to enter the race.

The Faulkner Act, the Charter Commission must bring in its report not later than nine months from the date that the report could include a recommendation.

The Commission will determine its findings after a series of private meetings and may seek authorization to hire a special consultant in aiding it in its survey. Among other things, the report could include a recommendation for an increase in the number of elected officials.

Should the mayor-council or council-manager form be adopted, the study would be dropped.

Sullivan: "May I take this opportunity to express my sincere and heartfelt thanks to my many friends, the voters of Belleville, for their support of my candidacy at the polls last Tuesday."

"I am particularly grateful for the outstanding efforts of the Public Safety Director Sullivan finished a strong second with 6,805 votes. The difference of 1,137 votes represented almost exactly Padula's margin over Sullivan in the fourth ward, which Padula had been expected to win. Commissioner King was fourth with 4,605 votes, and Deputy Police Chief Smith was fifth with 5,558 votes. Mayor Tully finished in sixth place with 4,604 votes.

The overwhelming vote in favor of an elective Board of Education means that the present system of board appointments by the mayor will be scrapped. But unless any of its members resign, the board's composition will remain the same until each serves out the term for which he was appointed. Only the terms of each of it up will be the electorate vote for new members to replace them. The terms are staggered.

Vice-president Charles Luciani's term expires in February. Walter Loesner's in two years. Mrs. Edward Roebuck's in three years. Board President Eugene Kelly's in four years. Dr. Palmer Burdick's in five years.

Political observers, analyzing the defeat of Mayor Tully after two terms in office, attributed it as largely due to the opposition of Commissioner Waters, who has the following that has remained loyal to him despite his indictment by an Essex County grand jury which grew out of allegations concerning purchasing practices in the public works department. Three prior officials in the department, together with three private contractors, were also indicted.

Mayor Tully began an investigation of this and other investigations by ordering an internal audit, and allegations contained in the report were brought to the attention of the county prosecutor's office by John R. Golden, candidate for the Town Commission in Tuesday's election. Waters later charged that Mayor Tully had been motivated throughout by personal considerations, and not because of a desire to clean up any irregularities.

Another stumbling block for Tully, the politicians said, revolved around the school board situation. The same grand jury that indicted Waters also returned a presentment against the Board of Education, severely criticizing Kelly, Yocum, and Loesner for their conduct in office. All had been elected by the mayor, and though he asked for the resignation of the three — as well as the resignation of District Clerk Ruel E. Daniels, also named in the presentment — the politicians believe he suffered serious political injury. They pointed to the ten to one vote in favor of an elective board.

The election result was a long fall for Tully, who was elected to his first term in 1946 with 6,476 votes, and in 1950 was re-elected with 6,782 votes. Just 28 years old when he began his first term, he was one of the youngest mayors in the United States.

The election of Deputy Chief Smith presented an unusual situation. Public Safety Director Sullivan had formally advised Smith he would be subject to dismissal and the loss of his pension rights if he became a candidate because of police department regulations forbidding "political activity."

With Smith's election now an accomplished fact, Commissioner Sullivan was expected to drop the matter. Smith, who has been on sick leave, plans to resign from the department next October, when he may claim his pension. Meanwhile he is expected to request a leave of absence.

Atty. Robert C. Gruhin, who was a candidate for the commission in 1946, and again in 1950 when he finished eleventh, polled almost twice as many votes Tuesday in taking seventh place. He got 4,383 votes as compared to 2,327 in his first try.

Louis A. Noll, who had been a commissioner for 12 years until his defeat in 1950, was eighth with 2,417 votes. James R. Golden, one of the most vocal critics of Mayor Tully's administration, followed with 2,009 votes. Next came Michael V. Albertine, 1,669; Edward G. Smith, 1,149; Mrs. Helen R. Griffin, 809; Anthony J. Brienza, 797.

Three of the winning candidates are from the third ward. Two others from the same ward who made the race were Tully and Golden. Padula and Albertine live in the fourth ward; Deputy Chief Smith, Noll, and Mrs. Griffin in the second, and Gruhin, Edward Smith, and Brienza in the first.

Winning his sixth term, Commissioner King, in taking fourth place, proved stronger than in the 1950 race, when he barely defeated Padula by 57 votes for fifth place. Commissioner King, who was given little chance to win in 1950, but ended in fourth place, showed how much his strength had grown in finishing second this time. Hyde, who had been third in that election, ended in the same position Tuesday but got almost 1,000 more votes.

Padula led all candidates in the fourth ward with 2,908 votes, but was second to Hyde in the second ward, 953 to 832, and also in the third ward, 2,304 to 2,216. Sullivan won out over Padula by eight votes in the second ward — 1,988 to 1,975.

It would mean a revision of both the responsibilities and salaries of the commission. The mayor under the commission form in Belleville now receives $2,750 annually, and each commissioner gets $2,500. A change in either of the two forms would mean that the mayor or town manager would get a salary which, judging by precedents in other towns of the size, would be in the neighborhood of $4,000. It would be

In addition, he has served as master counselor of the Belleville Citizens Association of Young Men in Government. The interest shown by the various civic groups addressed prior to election and the questions asked of the author of this series of articles published by this paper was a clear indication that a hard core of thinking citizens were in favor of the Study. Also, the Study was endorsed by the candidates for the Town Board of Commissioners and by the civic organizations with the good of the Town at heart.

The citizens of Belleville owe the Belleville Commission for Young Men in Government a vote of thanks for the splendid work in putting the referendum across. Their part is completed except for the interest they have as public-spirited citizens in the work they should have no more influence on the results of the Study than any other true civic organization.

"Now the hard work is up to the Charter Study Commission. They have the responsibility of studying the form of government and determining the needs of Belleville. The first step has been taken. A meeting of the Charter Study Commission has been called for this week to elect a chairman and begin planning the steps of the Study. It is our intent to keep the citizens of Belleville informed of progress insofar as possible through articles in this paper and other available means. Later on public hearings will be held, each citizen should consider his duty to attend.

Remember, the ultimate outcome will rest up to the voters. The Study must result in a report and a recommendation of citizens of Belleville must accept or discard the recommendation at a future election. Only well-informed thinking citizens can vote intelligently."

that the public safety director will drop charges pending against Smith as the result of his decision to make the race.

Smith's selection as public works director was a surprise because Padula had been expected to be named to that office. There had been some speculation that Hyde would want the revenue and finance director job, taken by Padula. Sullivan had announced to advance that he hoped he could continue as public safety director, and it was known that King desired to remain in the public affairs office.

The commissioners will meet next Tuesday at Town Hall to introduce resolutions formalizing the decisions taken at last night's meeting. They will also be sworn in as members of the Town Commission by Mrs. Florence Moore, the town clerk.

Commissioner King, who, as dean of the commission, had earlier sent telegrams to the other commission members requesting their attendance at the meeting, said it was the most harmonious organization meeting he had ever attended in his 20 years in office.

"There appeared to be no doubt" "This has been a most exciting election, and in my opinion, this 1954 Commission election, combined with such significant referendum proposals will go down in the history of Belleville as a period of awakening of the people to a new concept of civic responsibility. Never before have the citizens of our town shown such keen interest in issues, and in the qualifications of the men seeking office.

How About A Baseball Scoreboard???

The baseball diamond used by the Belleville High School varsity in Municipal Stadium is in the finest shape ever for this early in the season according to Coach Ed Bernski. The infield is especially in tip top condition for the players.

But how about a little consideration for the spectators who turn out faithfully to watch the Blue and Gold in action. Several years ago there was a scoreboard near the right field foul line. When the center track was installed, however, the scoreboard was taken down. Since that time no scoreboard has been replaced.

Surely the cost of several wooden boards won't break the bank. The diamond fans are entitled to know the score and inning the game is in without interrupting spectators along side and continually pestering the official scorer seated on the players' bench. Surely there is enough room for such an innovation in Municipal Stadium without the project getting in the way of another activity.

Basketball Team Receives $195 Cut

It has been announced that Belleville's share for playing in the Essex County Basketball Tournament last February in a losing overtime game to Orange was $195. The previous year the Bellobys received $298. In addition to the dividing of the melon it was announced that Coach Jitty Wische will serve on the executive committee for the 1955 tourney. Chairman of the games succeeding Al Lawrence, of West Orange, will be George Cella, of Bloomfield.

Candidate For State Scholastic Golf Title

Belleville's golf team will have a definite threat for the State Championship individual title to be held at Jumping Brook in Asbury Park, Monday when Gordon Wiegman travels the course. A senior, Wiegman has been shooting between 78-80 for 18 holes. Coached by "Jitty" Wische who is now serving his seventh year as head of the divot diggers, Belleville has won its first two matches over Millburn and Bloomfield.

Since Wische took the reins in 1947 the divot diggers have lost only three matches. Home course for Belleville is the Forest Hill Field Club in Bloomfield. Another senior sparking the Bellobys is Roddy McPherson. Also a senior, he has been shooting about 82.

Puts On Baseball Exhibition

George DeBrowski, six-year-old pitching wonder who is still too small for the Little Leagues, put on an exhibition for the GI's last Saturday at Fort Monmouth. At the Army camp the six-year-old diamond enthusiast, handling himself like a proven veteran, put on a batting and throwing exhibition that had the soldiers amazed.

Lightning Rods In Trees For Golfers

I learned a bit of information intended to extend the longevity of that ever-increasing clan, the golfer. The news came from an outfit in the Midwest which is supposed to be intimately familiar with those things that Nutley is so famous for and which are also used to decorate golf courses—trees.

The experts remind all divot-diggers that nature herself is also pretty good at tearing up the sod. And they don't want to see any of our golf-minded readers getting in the way during any such rumpus. Their advice is for all players, who no doubt are as hot as lightning themselves, because the weatherman predicted a good day to take off like a bird from the hills and get into the valleys whenever it rains.

Of course if the trees have lightning rods in them, that's a different story. Then you can stand under them and swear at the wind, the rain and everybody and everything.

According to this concern, though, golfers aren't such shrewdies when a storm arises. Invariably they congregate under the biggest tree on the course when it rains in order to raise a united chorus of consternation against the vagaries of the weather. And, add the tree surgeons, by just such actions they help increase nature's marksmanship score. The woody giants that they choose for shelter are usually the first obstacles to be hit, particularly if they're on high ground.

So, says the company, sparing the rod spoils the golfer. They're campaigning for lightning rods in the trees. We're not campaigning for anything. We just don't want any of our readers missing next week. We'll leave the subject with a word of advice. Better to be soaked than singed—so run when it rains.

CLIPPERS DOWN DEMONS 6-2 IN LITTLE LEAGUE

The Clippers opened the 1954 Belleville Little League baseball season, Tuesday, at Clearman Field, by downing the Demons, 6-2, in a well-played game.

Jim Cleffi, Clipper pitcher, showed remarkably early season control as he led down the Demons with four hits, while striking out 13 of their number. In the fifth inning he whiffed the side. Fred Martorelli at third base for the Clippers led his team in hitting, while Shortstop George Place paced the errorless fielding of the winners with some fine stops.

The wildness of Jack Curties, Demo hurler, contributed to his undoing as he issued seven walks and hit a batter.

Mike Marano's homer with the bases full in the top of the sixth enabled the Giants to come from behind to tie the Yanks, 8-8, in the second game of the season. Wednesday, at Clearman Field, Darkness prevented further play to break the tie.

Doug Bartell's home run had previously featured a fourth inning for the Yanks when they scored all eight of their runs to go into the lead.

The opening day ceremonies for the Little Leaguers, which were cancelled last Saturday due to inclement weather, will be held this Saturday at Clearman Field. A parade from the Town Hall, starting at 12:30 p.m., will precede the exhibition game at the sports.

Blue And Gold Drops 3 Important Games In Diamond Tilts

By Barbara Barretta

Belleville high's baseball team lost three very important diamond games this week. They met defeat in the hands of Columbia last Tuesday, Nutley, on May 6, and Lyndhurst on May 7.

The Columbia and Nutley games were conference matches and Belleville's defeat put them in a sad sixth place in conference standings.

Though Belleville gave Columbia an undoubted nine a good game they were unable to get the big runs and the South Orange team won a 3-2 victory.

The game was nip and tuck up to the fifth inning when Columbia finally broke into the score with a run, a hit and a walk.

Belleville tied the game up in the eighth inning but was unable to cash in for more than one run, getting into a 1-1 ball game.

Going into their final day by scoring two runs in their last two at bats. The Bellobys were unable to match these runs and went down to a 3-2 defeat.

Meeting their arch rival, Nutley high, at Municipal Stadium Thursday, the Bellobys took an early lead of 1-0 and hung on to it for five innings only to reach a final score of 7-1 in Nutley's favor.

Belleville scored their lone run when pitcher John Bartell knocked in Joe Priego in the third inning.

The top of the sixth saw trouble brewing for Bartell as two errors and a single emptied the loaded bases putting Nutley ahead by two runs.

The local boys tried hard to put the fire out but Maxon pitcher Hank Seidel fanned nine batters and allowed only four non-productive hits.

Nutley went on to score three more runs in the eighth, then topped it off by crossing the plate once more in the ninth.

Helped by the Bellobys' seven errors, Nutley claimed a 7-1 victory.

On Friday, May 7, the Bellobys again took to the diamond only to end the seven inning game against Lyndhurst in another defeat.

Off to a good start Belleville claimed two runs in the first and three in the second to lead the Bergen club 3-0 at the end of the second.

Both clubs played on an even keel for the next inning and a half with the Bellobys suavely victory. In the bottom of the fifth Belleville's dreams vanished as Lyndhurst went on a hitting spree collecting eight runs. Highlight of the rally was a two-run homer by Lyndhurst's Pete Bingham.

Unable to catch up to their opponents a sadly disillusioned Belleville club went down for a 12-7 defeat.

2,000 Watch Bike Champ Repeat Win

While a crowd of 2,000 watch under a bright blue sky, John Chiselko of Somerville, Sunday, repeated his last year's win in the senior 25-mile event of the 1954 Tour of Belleville bicycle races, doing the distance in one hour, three minutes, 20 seconds, as compared to the U. S. record of an hour, two minutes, and 14 seconds.

The event was organized and sponsored by the Belleville Bicycle Club of the town's recreation department. Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde was the official starter for the six events.

Oaseko, the all-around champion, beat out Ernie Seibert of Brooklyn in the last half mile. Chiselko and Seibert, together with Leon Volterra of New York City, were in the race as early as the 17th mile, and stayed ahead of the 50 other riders in the event.

Winner in the five-mile junior race was William Plug of Cranford, St. Peter's high school sophomore, who closed three lengths ahead of Phil Delaney and Ray Collett of New York. His time was 13:31.6.

Leslie Woodruff of Belleville finished second to Joseph Frey of New York in the juvenile mile, with Frey winning 1:23:28.5. Michael Mano of Belleville was first in the Belleville one mile stock bike race. The others finished in the following order: William Kelly, Howard Beresford, Arnold Serafino, Ed Littig, Jr., Richard Nivocella, George Lees, Ben Kantowern, James Nivocella, Peter Sogge, Roger Posa, Thomas Schallme, Daniel Maine, William Joe New York City, and John Eyre, who was fourth. Bissett's time was 3:03:25.

The course was laid out along the streets in the vicinity of the Municipal Stadium, and ran around Nelson Street to Greylock Parkway, to Pacific Avenue, and back to Nelson.

Three cars equipped with loud speakers, and handled by Belleville's Disaster Control Unit, covered the progress of the race for the benefit of the street crowds.

The course was kept free of traffic by members of the Belleville Police Auxiliary directed by Richard D. Sherron, Deputy Chief of Auxiliary Police, and Police Chief George Spatz. Police reported that all residents in the area were highly cooperative in removing parked cars. The Belleville Ambulance Corps was on hand to administer to injured riders, but there were only two minor mishaps.

TOWN'S INCOME 63 1/2 MILLIONS, SURVEY SHOWS

Belleville's income from all sources reached a total of $63,480,000 in 1953, the greatest annual wage in the town's history.

The annual Sales Management Survey of Buying Power, published yesterday in New York, set the 1953 income of the average Belleville family at $6,544, a decrease in family income of about $100 over 1952.

The town's global earnings gave Belleville a market index of 102, or two points above the national average. The index stood at 107 last year.

In Belleville, the average family income was about $1,400 a year above the income of the average family across the nation. Sales Management Survey set the national average family income at $5,173 for the country's 47,560,300 families.

In the survey New Jersey ranked second in the nation in high family incomes, with a statewide average of $6,035, topped only by Connecticut with $6,730. New York State's average family income was $5,833 while in California it was $5,529, in Illinois $5,862 and Florida only $4,555.

The lowest family incomes were in Mississippi, $3,154; Arkansas, $3,357 and Alabama, $3,736.

Belleville's per capita income based on an estimated 1953 census of 37,700 was $1,834 which is considerably above the national average of $1,477 and the New Jersey average of $1,827.

Essex County ranked eleventh in the nation in 1953 effective buying income, the county's total reaching $1,927,040,000. The ten counties with greater incomes were those englobing, in rank, the cities of New York, Chicago, Los Angeles, Detroit, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Baltimore and the Nassau County portion of Long Island.

Nutley's average family income was larger than the following: Bloomfield $6,950, Belleville $5,544 and Newark $6,179.

The total of retail sales in Belleville in 1953 based on Treasury department reports is set by the Sales Management Survey at $25,229,000—indicating that last year Belleville spent much less than half of its total income.

Rainy Day

I felt that I should wrap the hue
Of craven-black, as ravens do,
Hangdog about my head;
And teach my liting tongue to croak
(I should not speak, but if I spoke)
The somber words I said.

A cape of darkness, like a train,
Should drag behind me through the rain;
The wishy-washy sound
Of sober-stepping, slipped feet
Were more in keeping, than a fleet
Pandaug on the ground.

The day was such. Yet I, undaunted,
Wore ruby-red and rudely flaunted
Flamboyant, bold attire;
Child of the rainbow-ribboned sun,
My seven scarlet veils I spun,
And set the fog afire.

The Taxpayers Have Spoken

The resounding victory of the Charter Study referendum, viewed in the light of the appearances and disappearances of personalities in the Town Commission, can be explained only by popular reaction to the multiple and almost continuous troubles which have hampered the smooth working of our town and school administrations. The defeat of certain candidates and the six-to-one majority in favor of Charter Study can be blamed more on politics than on anything else. The Grand Jury indictments, which might have been expected to have swung the voting in an entirely opposite direction, had less influence on the actual count of ballots than did politics, simple ward politics.

Knives, whetted openly in the final weeks of the campaign, were driven home deeply on election day. Many votes were cast, not "for" a candidate, but "against" another. Old scores were paid off. It is true, they had their origin in the Grand Jury's indictments but the voting was personal.

The five Commissioners on the new board may be in office only a year. If public opinion continues as alert and as decided, after a year of charter study, as it was on Tuesday, then there is a strong probability that Belleville will change its form of government in 1955, under the Faulkner Act.

In the meantime, however, the Grand Jury's indictments will be processed. The mill of Justice turns slowly, but it grinds out its lead in time. Any action of the courts, now, can only be punitive. It may have an influence on next year's Charter referendum, but Belleville's taxpayers showed pretty definitely in the Charter and elective School Board referenda as apart from the actual election of five personalities to the Town Commission that they want a change from the present system of political administration of town affairs — the word "political" being used in its general sense of the shenanigans of backroom and barrooms.

That is the lesson of an election which the new Mayor must bear in mind. If the Mayor is to be Isadore Padula, in keeping with an established tradition which would give the choice of first acceptance or refusal to the candidate with the most votes, then Padula can only serve as the intermediary of a majority of the taxpayers. They made it very clear to him that they want a clean-up in all town offices. If there are town functionaries whose hands are as unclean as their records, then he must see that they quit or are fired. There is no room, anywhere in town hall, for any but the un-sullied.

Any continuation of "politics as usual" or of methods which were so clearly defined as illegal in the Grand Jury's indictments, would be tantamount to a betrayal of the expressed wish of the taxpayers.

Commissioners Padula, Sullivan, Hyde, King and Smith, the taxpayers have spoken. As their elected representatives, you have no choice but to heed. Belleville wants good town government, clean town government and an end to rule by buddies, to government by cronies and to any lining of pockets with town monies. Without waiting for the end of a year of Charter study, give Belleville honest Commission government now.

A Majority Which Is Imperative

By an overwhelming majority, so decisive that it leaves little room for wrong interpretation, the taxpayers of Belleville expressed a choice for an elective school board, one over which, by the basic pillar of Democracy — the voting machine — it will have control. A majority of 10 to 1 is not a simple expression of electoral opinion. It is a mandate.

There are two alternatives open to the present appointed school board — if it can legally remain in office until the terms of its members expire, one a year for the next five years, or it can interpret the results of the referendum as a definite mandate to resign and bring on, the soonest possible, an elected board.

The sole argument in favor of continuing the present board until its members have been replaced, gradually, by elected members is that it will provide for a continuity of operations by experienced administrators. That argument could be eliminated if, upon resigning, some or all of the present members of the school board file petitions, as candidates for election.

The Times-News interprets the 10-to-1 vote as a significant demand, by the taxpayers, that an elected school board be substituted, the quickest possible, for the appointed board. True, there is no legal compulsion to resign, but there is a definite moral compulsion.

The people have spoken. Now let the school board speak.

One Man's Opinion

Possessing Equality With Us In Jet-Bombers.
A-Bomb And H-Bomb "Know-How", Red
Russia Drives Hard Bargain

BY RALPH E. HEINZEN

Nutley is exactly 3,300 miles from existing Red Russian air bases at Murmansk, on the White Sea, in a direct flight across Greenland, and at Chukotski Peninsula, the easternmost point of Siberia, just across the Behring Straits from Nome, Alaska. As distance is measured in today's jet age, that means we are within eight hours flying time by Russia's current type of jet bombers which were designed to carry A-bombs or H-bombs long distances.

Murmansk is only 300 miles farther East than the Swedish landing fields of the Scandinavian air liners which fly, daily, from Idlewild, across the Atlantic on regular passenger runs. The inverse, of course, is true too. All of European Russia is within easy striking distance of American bombers from our advanced bases in Greenland, the British Isles, France, Spain and the Eastern Mediterranean.

Survival, obviously, depends only on which as Confederate General Forrest said, "gets there firstest, with the mostest".

It is no secret that we enjoy no edge over Russia except perhaps, in the size of our atomic stockpile.

Russia's giant jet bombers are equally as good as ours. Their range of action is a little greater than our own. They can fly at altitudes that only our newest jet fighter can reach.

Nor is it a secret that Russia has the know-how of the H-bomb, after having stolen our secret of the A-bomb. Step by step, Russia has kept pace with us. We are the only two powers in the world to possess, in military reality, those terrible arms.

Ask A-Bomb Man

It was a happening of terrific import, therefore, when, this week, the Soviet Union notified the United States that it will not take part in the international atomic energy pool proposed by President Eisenhower unless there is a prior agreement to prohibit atomic weapons.

The United States is unwilling to accept these terms, and unless the Soviet Union modifies its position it is believed the proposal is a virtually dead. Indeed, according to persons familiar with the highly secret negotiations, Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov has indicated that this is the final Soviet word.

Under the President's proposal, each of the states having nuclear resources would contribute part of its atomic stockpile — he did not specify how much — for peaceful purposes, especially for the production of power in countries that are short of other power sources.

Offered To UN

There was world-wide support for the plan, offered by General Eisenhower in an address to the United Nations General Assembly last December 8, with the result that the Russians agreed to negotiate with the United States but and nothing about prior acceptance of their long-standing demand for a prohibition of atomic weapons.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles talked the situation over with Molotov at the Berlin conference in January, and negotiations since then have continued in Washington.

Before his return to the United States from the Geneva conference, Dulles again talked with Molotov. The Soviet Foreign Commission is said to have struck by the standard Soviet demand and offered no assurances regarding effective international inspection beyond the ambiguous statements made by Soviet representatives in the United Nations during the fruitless atomic negotiations begun in 1946.

Only First Step

Moreover, it is understood, Molotov said he did not believe the pool would be of any considerable value in alleviating international tension.

In making his proposal the President had expressed the hope that if the atomic powers, in particular the United States and the Soviet Union, could make the essential work this might lead to a comprehensive atomic disarmament plan later and a general improvement in the international atmosphere.

The above map shows that the whole of the North American continent is within easy striking range of Russia's newest jet bombers — capable of planting an H-bomb with deadly accuracy — from existing air bases only 3,000 miles away. The star indicates the location of Nutley.

Abandon Control

General Eisenhower, calling for the adaptation of atomic power to "arts of peace," had suggested the creation of an international agency under the aegis of the United Nations.

He said, the pool could be undertaken "without irritations and suspicions incident to any attempt to set up a system of worldwide inspection and control" of atomic weapons.

The American position is being re-examined in view of the secret meeting in London today of a subcommittee of the United Nations Disarmament Commission. Although the General Assembly has endorsed the essentials of the atomic control plan

Help Poorer Countries

Under the Truman Administration, the United States offered, in the event that a comprehensive atomic disarmament plan were put into operation, to use part of its savings to assist the advancement of underdeveloped countries.

This offer was repeated by President Eisenhower in April, 1953. The only positive result has been the establishment of the United Nations Disarmament Commission, which superseded the Atomic Energy Commission and the Commission on Conventional Armaments.

However, the consolidation only produced another deadlock. Then the knowledge that both the Soviet Union and the United States had developed the hydrogen bomb so impressed world public opinion that the Disarmament Commission established the subcommittee last month and directed it to hold private meetings in another attempt to obtain agreement.

Both Sides Admitted

It is expected that the Soviet Union will present to the subcommittee its previous proposal in a new version, under which the use of atomic or hydrogen bombs, but not the weapon themselves, would be prohibited.

The position of the United States has been that it will not pledge itself not to use any weapon — atomic, hydrogen or bacteriological — unless the prohibitions involved are contained in a comprehensive and dependable atomic disarmament program.

The United States is reviewing this stand to determine the advisability of submitting a proposal that would drop the provisions for international ownership and operation of the production facilities for nuclear weapons.

A look and a ride and a peek at the price tag will be all you'll need to know what's back of this best-selling success.

There's styling in Buick that's the greatest beauty advance in years — the very look of tomorrow — and with the spectacular panoramic windshield that's part and parcel of this dream-car look.

There's performance in Buick as never before — with record-high V8 power, with the sensationally smooth whip of Twin-Turbine Dynaflow,* with the buoyant ride of all-coil-springing, with a new precision of control and handling.

And there's value in Buick that's hard to match — with prices starting near the "low-price three" — prices that buy more Buick beauty and power and thrill and sheer automobile than smart money ever bought before.

How about you?

Are you ready, willing and waiting to be shown that this best seller called Buick is the buy of the year for you, too? Drop in this week, or give us a call, and we'll arrange a demonstration.

SCHOOLS JOIN IN FIGHT AGAINST ICEBOX TRAPS

Belleville's public schools have joined the fight against the hazard presented by abandoned old iceboxes which have proved a death-trap to children who have crawled into them while at play.

Posters have been distributed warning youngsters that outhouses are no place for sport, and suggesting that they report any they may see to their parents.

All organizations were invited to join the campaign by the National Safety Council.

The Council also issued warnings against other hazards if and where they may be found in the community. These included:

Water-filled holes, pits, and ditches, as well as unprotected natural streams; steep cuts and banks, particularly sand banks; junked autos and unsecured machinery; accessible electric wires; unsafe outside stairways and ladders left standing against buildings; abandoned shovels and unguarded construction projects; unprotected chemicals and building materials.

"Controlling or getting rid of these leading community trouble makers should be the object of every parent with young children," the Council's statement declared.

"Youngsters love to explore and have little real sense of danger. Warning them about unsafe places to play is not enough.

"The first step for parents is to list all such danger sources in the vicinity of their homes, then decide what can be done about them."

"If any are found on your property, you should correct them yourself without delay. Where the hazards are located another's property, parents should not hesitate to seek the owner's cooperation. Should the owner refuse to grant this co-operation the danger-

Life at BHS As We See It

By Elaine Wische
and Lois Bloemke

This past week has been a lucky one for many of our Belleville high seniors. We are proud to announce that seven members of the Class of 1954 received scholarships. They were Jack Haft, Franklin & Marshall; Bill Chapman, John Reid, and Walter Schroeder, Rutgers University in New Brunswick; and Joan Durkee, Eleanor Long, and Elaine Wische from New Jersey College for Women. Just one week from today the National Honor Society will hold its "tapping". The ceremony, which both juniors and seniors alike are anxiously awaiting, will prove to be somewhat different than the ones previously held. Becoming a member of the Honor Society is the highest achievement for a high school student and represents at least three or four years of good scholarship, leadership, character, and service to Belleville High School.

Wonder why Ellen Anderson has stars in her eyes? Could it be that she and Paul Durkin are now officially going steady? Jean Long and Johnny Guarino have set September 4th as their wedding date. Good luck and may they enjoy many happy years together.

Here are some statistics: Only 25 days until the Senior Class Rye Beach trip... Twenty seven days until graduation rehearsal... and only twenty-two actual school days left for seniors.

Forest Hill, we hear you calling!

man will read part of the service in Hebrew.

Leading the discussion period will be the Misses Lois Zaskoff and Judy Abramson. All the youth groups of the Congregation will participate, including the Na-Belles, Debs, Semanons and the Sparkettes, who will bake cakes for the occasion and serve the refreshments for the One Shabbas.

The 17 members of the United Synagogue Youth group, will join the choir, with Frances Raab, Max Miller and Effie Hock presenting song solos. The City Scout troop of the Congregation will usher and the public is invited to attend.

Colony Club Telegrams Town Commissioners

Congratulatory telegrams to Padula, Sullivan, Hyde, King and Smith were sent by the Colony Club, a civic group dedicated to the town's good and municipal affairs.

Thomas D'Avella, president, announced this week that three new members have been welcomed into the club and that the next meeting will be held on Tuesday evening at 8 in the Franklin Casino.

SPRING MEETING OF WOMEN'S CLUBS HELD THIS WEEK

Six representatives from the Belleville Woman's and Junior Women's clubs will attend the 27th annual spring convention of the Union Membership Department of the New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs today and tomorrow at Chalfonte-Haddon Hall in Atlantic City.

From Belleville there will be Miss Ellen Schurr, chairman of pages; Miss Joan Thompson, newly elected treasurer; Mrs. R. F. Josak, retiring president and Mrs. H. L. Niles, club advisor for the Juniors. Mrs. Floyd M. Haring, and Mrs. Arthur E. Mayer will represent the Woman's Club and will report on their return on the activities at the convention.

A highlight of the affair will be the presentation of annual awards at the banquet Saturday evening.

Miss Schurr made arrangements for the president's breakfast, a new contention feature.

BELLWOOD HOME OWNERS PLANNING JUNE CELEBRATION

The Bellwood Park Home Owners Association will hold a celebration on Saturday night, June 12th at the Franklin Casino to mark the successful start of this civic organization.

There will be dancing, prizes and refreshments at the gala get-together, to which all organizations and individuals who participated in the home location will be invited. The recent drive against the Pares-A nominal charge of $1.50 per person to cover the costs, has been established by the committee.

Secretary Al Doe and Carmen Lilore are in charge of tickets, George Meagher and Mary Sage will oversee the program and Guy Matrox will handle the refreshments and buffet.
