

All Around The Town

Beauty manifests itself in many ways — in a field of dandelions, or a subtle orchid, in devotion to God and family, and the expression of nature in all its wondrous forms. Where there is beauty, there is truth, and where man strives for beauty, there he may find his ultimate goal.

We were thinking of these things as we walked with Town Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde along the west bank of the Passaic River, and saw the shoreline gullied by the waters, strewn with pallid rocks, the upper reaches overgrown with ragged grass, and barren of growth elsewhere.

Here we saw no beauty.

Along this stretch of ugliness, from the Nereid Boat Club almost to the Avondale bridge near the Nutley line, the commissioner proposes that bulkheads be built and earth filled in to reclaim the soil from the river; that trees be planted, and grass grown where it has disappeared from the soil, and that the whole area, which is now cared for so haphazardly, be made to bloom as a garden spot.

A resolution introduced by him was recently sent to the Essex County Park Commission by the Town Commission requesting that the park board consider such a project. The park already owns the land. And it has on hand most of the $2,000,000 net — which it recently gathered from the sale of the Orator Parkway, and a fractional part of which it could well devote for such a purpose.

After leaving the commissioner, we phoned Elwood Russell, a Freeholder and, of course, a Belleville resident, and asked him what he thought of the plan. He said he favored it, and would do anything he could to support the proposal.

Park Commission itself actually introduces those projects which it favors, but under terms of a recent state bill, it must obtain approval of the board of Freeholders before it may spend any part of the Orator Parkway money. If the resolution should reach the Board, Russell said, he would support it there, and the park commission takes no action, he will support any petition for action presented to the Park board by the Belleville Town Commission. As any group of private citizens.

GOLDEN ATTACKS TOWN COMMISSION ON 'CONCESSIONS'

A provision in an ordinance adopted in 1950 which permits the Town Commission to waive or modify any of the requirements for which buildings must adhere to zoning laws was denounced as a potential source of corruption in government by Golden at a meeting Tuesday night. He asked the commission to delete the provision from the ordinance.

At the same time, Golden, a frequent critic of town government, demanded that the commission rescind a resolution adopted at a meeting two weeks ago which he described as "morally impure." The resolution, he said, relieves Timely Homes, Inc., a Clifton development company, of the necessity of building sidewalks along the residential section of Mitchell Street, where approximately 15 Timely Homes are located. He recommended Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde for having opposed the resolution.

The development company has violated the ordinance on two other counts, Golden charged. He said it provides that a dead end street must be more than 500 feet long, while the Mitchell Street section, he declared, was 375 feet long.

Furthermore, he said, the paved portion of the turning circle at the end of the street is only 40 feet in diameter, whereas, he declared, the law specifies that it should be 60 feet.

He said that Timely Homes had earlier sought to have the city pay for the installation of storm sewers in the development, and that his intervention had helped to prevent such payment.

Later, Public Works Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith declared that "the whole thing is inherited from the previous administration, and we are doing the best we can with it." He said that the last administration had informed the company that it would not be required to build sidewalks, but that the present commission had insisted that in construct sidewalks on a portion of Mitchell Street, and several adjoining streets.

Golden, in turn, declared that whether or not the previous administration had made any promises to the development company, the commission was not justified in supporting any part of such alleged promises, and continued to insist that Timely TRAP — Philip Newsome, Belleville game warden, shows a box trap to curious Patricia Biondi, 7, of 54 Holmes Street, telling her at the same time that children mustn't touch such devices. The traps are set up in the yards of residents who have complained that their property has been damaged by squirrels.

Catching Squirrels Is A Nutty Business

Catching squirrels is "literally a nutty business, and Philip A. Newsome, Belleville game warden, is trapped more than 100 of them within the town limits since his appointment last year, ought to know.

He uses peanuts to trap the bright-eyed beauties, and peanut butter, too, and he says the combination is irresistible.

But the peanuts aren't all that makes catching squirrels the kind of business that it is. Their curiosity, Newsome declares, are something for the comic strips.

Pigeons are often a nuisance, and he has shot more than 300 of them in 12 months. An occasional possum, and other stray variations, sometimes make themselves obnoxious, and these must also be disposed of. He has even set traps for wild cats.

Newsome catches the squirrels in box traps placed in the yards of residents who have complained about assaults on their property by the animals. The traps are about 12 inches high, and 18 inches long. When the squirrel enters the trap, the door is closed by a wire mesh. The warden has sometimes found blue jays inside the cages.

Squirrels have a sweet tooth for peaches, and have a habit of taking a single bite of the fruit before going on to another peach. They also like to gnaw their way into homes for the warmth they can find there.

NEW BLOOD BANK AT HIGH SCHOOL THIS THURSDAY

Belleville Chapter of the Red Cross will hold its fifth Blood Bank since January next Thursday at the Belleville High School gymnasium to replenish the Essex County Blood Bank supply. Appointments between 1:30 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. may be made through Mrs. Herbert Robinson, PL 9-1288.

Because of the heavy demand upon the bank within recent months, more blood is needed to keep it operative. This blood, provided without cost by the Red Cross, if bought, would cost the recipient about $35 a pint if purchased.

okshon said 235 pints of blood were donated during the past four blood banks, but this was not enough to meet the heavy demand, even though more people have been willing to donate their blood since the credit system went into effect in January. The credit system guarantees the donor credit for his blood, and he or his family will be assured of this blood in any emergency.

Mrs. Robinson also announced that there are five volunteers from Federal Leather Company, Main Street, who will donate much-needed negative blood to the bank. The donors are Robert Blower, 200 Linden Avenue; Robert Luland, Rutherford; Robert McKee, Bloomfield; and Edward McKee, 1000 Edvard Parillo, both of Newark.

Child Study School Program Is Expanded

A child study program begun in the Belleville schools last year under the direction of Dr. Julia Weber, state consultant, will be enlarged to include all nine elementary schools when the new school term opens September 9.

Schools 1, 2, 7, and 9 will be enrolled in the child study workshop, and with schools 3, 4, 5, 8, and 10 beginning their second year of the three-year program.

ST. BARTHOLOMEW CELEBRATION WILL BE GAY FESTIVAL

Cassanese — those Americans of Italian extraction whose home town of Cassania in the old country long ago named St. Bartholomew their patron saint — will celebrate the Feast of St. Bartholomew on August 21 and 22 with fireworks, parades, and religious services. Joining them will be the entire Italian community.

Streets in the Silver Lake section will be festooned with lights and bunting, and there will be singing in the streets.

During the morning of August 21 a band will walk through the streets of the district, collecting donations to help pay the cost of the celebration. In the evening the program will center around a bandstand on Heckel Street near Jemilo.

INJURED IN FALL AT BUS TERMINAL

Collapsing in the Port Authority Bus Terminal in New York Monday, George Donechic, 48, of 49 Joralemon Street, suffered serious injuries when he fell to the floor.

At St. Clare's Hospital in New York, where he was taken, doctors said he had suffered a fractured jaw, a concussion, and other injuries. He was expected to remain in the hospital for several days.

A policeman found Donechic sitting on a bench and called an ambulance to take him to the hospital. He was walking through the terminal. He had previously been reported as missing by relatives, who said he had gone to New York to visit an art museum. They became alarmed when he didn't return.

Student Trains With N.J. Civil Air Patrol Cade

Sixteen-year-old Robert Sargent is back home after a week spent with the New Jersey Civil Air Patrol Cadets at Mitchell Field in Long Island, but his shoes haven't touched ground yet. His thoughts are still up in the air with the big C-47 transport plane on which he was a passenger during a demonstration flight with the Air Force.

Robert, a high school sophomore, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Sargent of 52 Smallwood Avenue, spent a week at the Mitchell Field campment with 150 boys 14 to 18 years old from every part of the state.

He received courses of instruction in communications, aircraft familiarization, and physical training, and went on a tour of the entire field, including base operations, maintenance shop, and hangars. He was also trained in the use of small arms, and was given practice time in the firing range.

There was no time for any kind of flying instruction, though many of the boys hope to pilot some day.

The week was climaxed by the plane ride, with 20 cadets making each trip. The C-47 transport was piloted by Arthur S. Denning, a CAP instructor, with Paul Doto, another instructor, as co-pilot.

Robert, as well as the others, were all equipped with 50-pound parachutes to guard against any emergency.

The Belleville boy joined the Newark Squadron of the Civil Air Wing five months ago, and is one of its most enthusiastic members.

The squadron meets Wednesday nights at 8 p.m. during the summer months in the Clinton Avenue Presbyterian Church at 16th Street and Clinton Avenue. During the school term the meetings are held on Friday nights.

MODEL RAILROAD — George Conklin, 6, son of Mrs. Jeannette Conklin of 288 Cortland Street, examines the scale model of an electric engine built by George E. Brink of Belleville, president of the Standard Gauge Association of America, which has 400 members in the United States and abroad. Brink constructed his first model, a steam locomotive, in 107. He was a railroad man for 30 years.

Former Railroad Man Runs His Own Line In Backyard

Though he finished his 30-year career as a railroad years ago, George E. Brink of 88 Holmes Street maintains his own railroad system right in the back yard of his home, which immediately adjoins the right of way of the Erie railroad.

The private railroad is a 7/8 of an inch scale model, complete with electric engines, passenger coaches, caboose, overhead electric wire for power, water tower, railroad crossing guards, and advertising signs along the landscape, and is one of the most meticulously designed models in the United States. It is the only outdoor line of its gauge east of the Delaware River.

Brink is president of the Standard Gauge Association, which has 400 members in every state of the Union, and in Canada, England, Scotland, Germany and South Africa as well. All are devotees of "N" scale model railroading and included are officers of some of the biggest railroads in the country.

The Association was organized by Arthur E. Pelletier, an engineer living in Raritan, N. J., and Charles Butler of Palmyra, Pa. Brink who will be 75 on December 7, was named president because he is the most experienced, as well as the oldest, model builder.

Since the Association was organized, Brink has been buffeted by publicity, and shrinks from it. He frets, too, that many of the stories have been inaccurate, and prefers to concentrate on factual information on the model, as adorned by what he terms "identical" information on his background.

PRUNER CHAIRMAN FOR SISTER KENNY FOUNDATION DRIVE

Raymond A. Pruner, district manager of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company in Belleville, has been named Essex County chairman for the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Foundation fund appeal, which will open August 29. It was announced yesterday. Goal for the New Jersey campaign, which will close September 30, is $250,000.

FIGURES IN TWO ACCIDENTS BUT BLAMES FRIENDS

William T. Felley, 44, of 79 Main Street, was arrested Sunday, after being in two accidents, but blamed the mishaps on two friends he drank with in a Newark tavern. He claimed he was not at the wheel of his car during either.

Felley will appear before Magistrate Edwin J. C. Joerg in Nutley's traffic court Monday.

Felley was arrested by Belleville police at 1 a. m. Sunday at his home and taken to the Nutley authorities for leaving the scene of a Saturday night crash in River Road. Belleville police charged him with driving through a plate glass window of an Essex filling station on Main Street, near Bayard.

According to Felley, a woman identified only as Thelma was at the wheel of his car when it struck a fence of an auto operated by Warren E. Vincent, 28, of Newark, at 9:05 p. m. Saturday on River Road.

Vincent, who was attempting to pass the Felley auto at the time of the mishap, was forced across the road by driving the curb, struck two trees and finally settled in a ditch 500 feet from the scene of the crash.

He was taken to Columbus Hospital, Newark, with a laceration of the cheek and defined for observation.

H. E. Aio, of Newark, chased Felley's auto and unsuccessfully tried to force it to the side of the road.

CANCER SOCIETY TOPS FUND QUOTA IN LOCAL DRIVE

The Belleville chapter of the American Cancer Society has exceeded its fund quota of $7,500 by $1,000 in this year's campaign, and hopes to raise an additional $500 before the close of the drive, Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, general campaign chairman, announced.

"Every dollar counts in the war against cancer, and we are grateful to the people of Belleville for their unselfish cooperation," the commissioner said.

More than 100 volunteer workers have taken part in the door-to-door solicitation, and in other phases of the drive.

Campaign chairmen include Norman D. Lauterette, industry; Dr. George F. Stoll, professional; Mrs. Marion Malin, town employees; Norman H. Thompson, organizations; Evan H. Thomas, medical; Marion Clifford Whitefield, churches; Mrs. Thomas F. Dillon, house-to-house; Charles Tedesco, public relations; Eugene Berger, Mrs. Hyde is vice-chairman for the drive; Mrs. James Dunn, secretary; J. Howard McMaster treasurer, and P. Douglas Wadsworth, publicity.

HOSPITAL PATIENT KILLED IN FALL FROM 4TH FLOOR

Using a single blanket tied to a radiator as a ladder, William H. Lee, 72, of Orange, an arthritis patient in the Essex County Hospital on Franklin Avenue, climbed out of his fourth floor room at the hospital, then fell to the ground and was instantly killed.

Hospital officials said Lee may have thought he was on a low-level business, had been employed until last year by an East Orange furniture company.

On Monday, five-year-old Carolyn Belmont, 5, of Orange, fell out of the second-floor window of her home, where she had been sitting with measles, and suffered three broken ribs, a fractured pelvis and a broken shoulder bone. She was later transferred to the county hospital here.

All Around

Freelander Russell recently sponsored a landscaping project for the Second River bank in the Branch Brook Extension area south of the Belleville-Newark line, and the Freelander approved an expenditure of $72,000. In the contract between the Belleville side of the boundary line and the disjunct area of the south shore, his son, and he properly signed a remedy.

We believe Commissioner Hyde's report, he actually said, and hope most earnestly that the Park Commission will join Freelander Russell in its support.

No decision yet by the attorney general concerning the protest by Mayor James J. Tully in which he opposed the promotion of Ralph Van as superintendent of the town's water department. Tully's presentation was referred to the attorney's office by the State Civil Service Commission, which will not hold its next meeting until September.

Postcard from Thomas Gryczka, principal of School No. 9, who mailed it from France after arriving on the S. S. United States, is being used as a night stand.

While William Neilan, a town fireman, was vacationing in Miami Beach with his family, duty one of their two dogs, a Belleville dog "hot" where the Neilans had left the pets, and hasn't been seen since. Maybe, because he wasn't caught. A "Kilroy, their springer spaniel, and a dachshund, a colored light brown, and is not quite two years old.

William Rodgers of 470 Washington Avenue, told police that while truck owned by the Maryland Sales Company was parked in the rear of his home, someone had broken the car's headlights, a view mirror, and a window with blast from a B-B gun. The same day Walter Shriver reported he had discovered two holes made by a B-B shot in the window of his car parked in front of 189 New Street.

Two vending machines were stolen from in front of the barber shop operated by Joseph Calabrese.

of 306 Washington Avenue. One contained peanuts, and the other, a can of tomato sauce.

No less than four persons were reported bitten by dogs. They were Douglas Toats, 6, of 13 Linden Street; Joseph Grasso, 5, of 523 Trenton Avenue, Orange; Walter Jacobs, 48, a beer truck driver, attacked while making a delivery on Jonathan Street; and Francis Barrett of 143 Bell Street.

Hear that Charles Sutter of 53 Center Street, said a determined hunter of the "Pest Club" caught the biggest flounder of the year while fishing at Atlantic Highlands. Wanted to record the fish's weight for posterity, but couldn't reach Mr. Sutter in time. Mrs. Sutter assured us, though, that it added up to a very respectable figure.

Woke up early Thursday morning shivering like mad, and all we could say was "brrrrrr" as we reached for a woolen blanket. Haven't been so cold since we fell into the water during the middle of the winter during our Wisconsin days. Well, almost as cold, anyone here is aware going to complain about the heat in the future, no matter how hot it gets.

On the morning of the following day, Sunday, the "Pest Club" held a high mass in St. Anthony's church, and the Rev. Ben. Benigni, a mission priest of the Capuchin Order, who is presently in Orange, will deliver the panegyric.

At 1:30 p.m. there will be a parade from the church. The marchers will carry a statue of St. Anthony, preceded by the Cross Bearer, and acolytes with lighted candles. A mission priest of the Capuchin Order, who is presently in Orange, will deliver the panegyric.

The fireworks display, which was staged by Alex Zarillo of the Neptune Fireworks Company, will be held in the evening during the festival at Belmont, near the Edison Company plant.

Newsome, who is a civilian employee of the police traffic department, and whose job as game warden he said, and chewed their way through the dormers, and thence into the attic.

Once Newsome suffered a badly lacerated hand in roving out a squirrel nesting in a fireplace. When he managed to dislodge the animal, the woman insisted that it be free it, and the warden watched it scamper away.

Sgt. Newsome has found it necessary to shoot squirrels who have made persistent pests of themselves, and who cannot be reached in any other way. He uses a small-bore shotgun shell.

After trapping the squirrels he deposits his catch in a big cage kept beneath the fire escape in the rear of Town Hall. State warden said, for the squirrels twice a week and transport them to state forests, where they are released.

Newsome cautioned residents that if they made a habit of feeding squirrels, the animals would continue to stay in the neighborhood. Squirrels may have litters twice a year, with three to five each litter, which adds up to a lot of squirrels, he said.

Flower-lovers will be alarmed to know that squirrels not only like to eat apples, pears, peaches, and other fruit, but that the courtiers among them have a delicate appetite for tulip bulbs.

Newsome had nine box traps when he succeeded Joseph Christensen, who had been game warden for 25 years, but four of them were stolen by boys after the traps had been placed in the yards of private residences. The traps are provided by the state, but instead of putting in a requisition for more, Newsome built several himself. Police department plates are attached to each trap door.

Pigeons can do serious damage to garden and farm crops, and Newsome has often been called to the Plunge farm on Jonathan Street to rid the area of the birds. Home owners are often annoyed by their cooing near open windows in the early morning hours, and the clatter they set up as they walk about on the roofs of the houses.

The game warden, who lives at 3 Parkside Drive, has been a licensed hunter and fisherman for 20 years.

Annual Rec Field Day Wednesday

The Recreation department's annual playground Field Day will be held at Clearman Field, next Wednesday, and trophies will be awarded to the champions in ping pong, checkers, basketball, football, and rubber and iron horseshoes by Robert E. Cook, department superintendent, and Raymond O. Smith, Jr., Clearman Field director.

Playground directors have begun the elimination contests to determine playground representatives in each event at Clearman Field.

Planes
Director, Elsie Lundy and Robert Freitag.

Friday night has become official tournament night at Clearman. Last week more than 30 boys and girls entered our tournament. First of these was the softball throw for distance. Out of all the entrants rose the winner Sonny Noto with a tremendous heave of 171 feet. Closest to Sonny was Bob Jenette with a throw of 141 feet.

The second tournament was the Bike-Hoe-Ball race, so named because those are the items used. The bike is ridden while balancing the hoe on the flat end of the hoe, with the best time for the specified distance winning the honors. Anthony Nasso was the victor, with a time of 32 seconds. Second was Jim Caraciola, and tied for third were Sonny Noto and Jim Jossi.

In the third tournament a new track sensation was found in 10-year-old Angelo Rosa. He won the running obstacles race in 32 seconds flat. Jim Caraciola was second, Ron Mondy third, and Anthony Nasso fourth.

Our fourth tournament was the golf putt for accuracy. Each participant was given five swings to put a ball between two uprights. The best score here was Bob Jenette who had three out of five. There were three boys tied for second Anthony Nasso, Jim Jossi and Sonny Noto each with two out of five. Six boys tied for the remainder of the places were Jim Caraciola, Angelo Rosa, Richard Noto, Mike Mundy, James (J. T.) Crozier and Ron Biondi each with one out of five.

Our baseball team has come along rapidly with three straight wins out of our last four games. In games this week we beat the No. 1 School team 18-6 on a 12-run first inning. Tom D'Antonio was the main cog in the smooth running No. 9 machine with a pair of doubles and a single in 4 times at bat. Denny Wells also had 4 singles in 5 times at bat. Other boys who played were Ping Eng, George Delaunais, Butch Vitelli, George Jenette, Ben Coppola, and Pat Biondi. This week we hope to avenge an earlier "comp" by the Rec House team. That just about does it for now.

Cleanman
Director, James Morris and Edward Bernis.

For the fifth consecutive week, Jack Cullen and Ted Blazer kept their title as the two best ping pong players on the playground. Harold Avalone is the best basketball shooter in the boys' (junior division). Avalone won with 4 for 10 — good for his team. The winners of the 4th and 5th whinnies were Robert McGowan, George McGowan, Ed Littig, and Dennis Greene.

Cleanman will enjoy a watermelon feast as guests of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde for winners of the Playground Championship.

No. 10 Playground
Director, Cynthia Thomas.

Five space-people competed for prizes in this week's event. Andrew Tonic, a 5 year old man from Mars, wore a cardboard, aluminum outfit, with black moustache and eyebrows, and Mars's horns atop his crotch hat. Second prize went to Jimmy Furey, whose outfit consisted of a paper bag hat with wire "feelers" on a Superman cape. Leland Chen was a lovely "Miss Venus" to capture third prize. Her costume was a Mackie half slip, red jacket, an apron cape, pearls, a nylon stocking head and face piece, and black boots. Sandy Wilson, Bob Sargent, Eddie Jones, Marie Caruso and Richie Abbott scored as judges.

Gene Napolitano defeated Nick Martini by a score of 21-13 to win the weekly ping pong tournament. Eddie Reese, John Giola, Ralph Catrol, Doug Aughenbaugh, Paul Ruggiero, and Tom Jennings provided the keen competition in earlier rounds.

Msgr. Kelly Playground
Directors, Catherine Monaghan and Madge Conway.

All ping pong champions from the various playgrounds are invited to test their skill against the champs of Msgr. Kelly Playground. Jim McCann, Tony Profile Tamburello, Kenny Rocky Boyce and Donald Dewitt extend the challenge.

The champion checker players for the week were Beverly Nash, Butchle, McDermott and Vincent Sorrentino.

A basketball game was played between Good Counsel and Kelly with our boys winning by a score of 89 to 72. Team members include Mike Higgins, Kenny Nash, Jim McCann, Tony Tamburello, Bill Higgins, and Tom Smille.

On Wednesday evening a softball game was held between the Recreation House boys and our team. Kelly lost 17-14. Earlier we played softball against No. 1 and won 6 to 4.

Mike Higgins pitched, Donald Cloutier played first base, Jerry Gilroy played 2nd base, Jim Leonard played a fine game as short stop and Jim McCann played 3rd base. The outfield was made up of Tony Tamburello and Kenny Nash. There was no right fielder due to the short right field in the playground.

Recreation House
Directors, Rita Weinstein and Michael Rossmilla.

All contestants came to the playground dressed for a rocket trip on Friday. Barbara Racioppi, first prize winner, came dressed as a woman from Mars, complete with a strainer hat, antennae, and tiny umbrella. JoAnn and Helene Massa, twins on Earth, came as Queens of the Moon and Mars. They were tied with Ed Burdzy, who dressed as Flash Gordon. Elizabeth Galis, a lady from Venus, wearing a collar with feelers for a hat, and black smock and gloves. Stephen Fox, a late comer, wore a complete suit of green crepe paper, looking like a Pixie from outer space.

Tommy Bergerson and Bobby Joyce were the midjet champions at rubber horseshoes this week. Bobby scored 51.

Tommy recorded 55 ringers and JoAnn and Helen Massa, although only in the midjet class, took its name. I have had an example of a "United Nations" at work. To my surprise, I found that it doesn't work.

It is on a multilingual strawberry farm where the fruit ripens so fast that to pick the luscious berries, destined to become some Britisher's breakfast marmalade next winter, someone thought up the idea of recruiting students from all over the world who might, on the pretense of giving "farm labor," gather here to a useful exchange of ideas.

Workers From Many Countries
For a week now I have been working on a farm in England. The farm is sponsored by an organization which gives work to foreigners from the ages of 16 to 25. There are people here from Norway, Germany, France, Austria, England, Denmark, Holland, Spain, Italy, South Africa, and even Pakistan.

When I first arrived here and greeted everyone with a cheerful "hello," I was surprised when they just stared back at me. In fact, the whole camp was kind of staring at me. The language barrier was soon overcome however.

The first meal we had was so poor that even if the disgruntled complaints were voiced in at least ten different languages, the expressions were all the same. Everyone was nodding in agreement, and even smiling. Some fellow from Germany, who had had a smattering of English in school, said, "My American! Is food better in America?" I answered in the affirmative and he said, "Me also. Better in Germany." Soon representatives from every country were saying "better" and the result is, I am afraid, that Jolly old England is taking the brunt of the disaster.

No Seconds
One time I asked for more food, much to the interest of the hungry foreigners, for although the food is not good, it is necessary to eat. When the cook said "no more" I felt like Oliver Twist in the poor house.

However, the saddest part was yet to come. We started picking strawberries the next day for eight hours a day. It is back-breaking work and I thought the foreigners must have rubber bands the way they tackled that job. I must admit, that no matter how hard I worked they called me "lazy American." Soon I found out the reason for their diligent labor. Some of the students who came over to England have to earn enough money to get home. They earn 5s for every two pounds of strawberries they pick. They must pay $1.40 for room and board so that after they have picked 48 lbs. of strawberries, the rest is profit. Believe me, it is very slim pickings. After hearing that I didn't wonder when one girl from Austria broke into tears when someone swiped one of her 216 boxes. I have met several people who have told me that they have had to pay money in order to stay at this work farm and labor six days a week. Even the foreigner can be sarcastic about something like that. For many of them it is a battle. It is almost hopeless to work, and yet, if they don't, they won't have enough money to get home to their respective countries.

The thing that really upset me was the attitude of the Englishman who is the foreman of the strawberry field. He said to me once, "They are a dumb lot, but just try and expel them once and they're on you."

Has Defeated Own Purpose
Like a lot of things with good ideas behind them, this organization has defeated its own purpose. The idea behind it was to bring people to England to see how the English live. When these foreigners go back all they shall know about England is how hard they worked, how miserable the food was, and how badly they were treated by the foreman.

But I have painted the picture on its blackest side. The foreigners do have some fun here because they are mostly a good-natured people. They sing songs while they are working and dance and play games at night. Even simple things like kicking potatoes around and balancing sticks on their noses amuse them to no end. We have had many contests. Since many can't speak the same language they make noises and laugh at them.

Those who can speak English, like Kholid, from Pakistan, make jokes the times. Sometimes they get quite serious and talk about politics. They always talk in terms of prominent people and they have decided opinions of McCarthy and Dulles for instance. Even a young Austrian, named Pink who is 15 years old is very intelligent about world affairs. They are all very interested in different views of their own country, something that many Americans could profit by, and they are also willing to express their own opinions.

Wants To See An Indian
Outside of politics, all of the people I have talked to seem to like America very much even though they don't know about it to a great degree. One of them wants to come to America and see a "red Indian" as he has seen in the movies. Another thought that the American girls are not as good as the ones in the movies and he asked me where mine was. I showed him my beat-up, second hand bike.

Some of them have asked more intelligent questions. One girl from Norway said to me, "Is it true that in America the girls are not as real and simple as we are?" That was a very hard question for me to answer but while I was answering it I realized that the young European is a simpler person than the American in many respects. I believe it is because their life is not as varied as the life of the average American.

Despite its discomforts however, it has been a very interesting week at the farm of many strawberries and many languages. It has shown both the difficulties and the pleasure one can get out of living with a group of foreigners.

Summer Rain

The silver threads of rain strike through and through
The star-bordered tapestry of night,
As if a million hands were plying them
A million needles, lighting-stitch in flight.
A yellow moon is shown in satin stitch;
Cloudy the sky, save where the needles shine
Through pointed stars set carefully in place;
Oh, joy of perfect pattern, stitch, and line!

The Case Of Case

The situation is very clear and simple; if the die-hard group of old guard Republicans calling themselves the Committee for a Stronger New Jersey Republican Party does not abandon pronto its hostility to Clifford P. Case as the G. O. P. candidate, in November, for the U. S. Senate, the party stands a good chance of losing the seat to the Democrats' Rep. Clarence R. Howell.

The margin of the normal G. O. P. majority is too slim to tolerate any dissidence. The old guard's demand that Case step down in favor of former 10th District Congressman Fred Hartley, on the theory that Case is a "wild-eyed Liberal devoted to the C. I. O. and the A. D. A.," contains the germs of Republican defeat. Any candidate hostile to the C. I. O. and the liberals of the A. D. A. would be doomed in advance. New Jersey cannot elect an old guard Republican Senator in 1954.

The situation has become so critical that President Eisenhower has stepped in. At a White House luncheon, on Monday, the President made it clear that he is supporting the Case candidacy. Whatever weight Eisenhower, personally, can throw in the November election, will go to Case.

Case, on his side, has declared himself for President Eisenhower's program "1,000 per cent." Had he stopped there, Case would have been on safe political grounds, but the former Congressman, thoughtlessly, dove off headfirst into the McCarthy quicksands. If elected, Case said, he would oppose Senator McCarthy as chairman of the Senate Permanent Investigating Committee.

That was, perhaps, courageous but politically inept. Here in New Jersey, as across the nation, there is a strong element of patriots who, while not approving of Mc-

Carthy's methods, admire the perseverance of his war on Communists in our national defense or our national government.

It was unnecessary to throw away the hundreds of thousands of votes of New Jersey Republicans who do not share Case's views on the Wisconsin junior Senator. Yet after Case's unhappy blast at McCarthy, dozens of letters went to Case from old-line Republicans here to tell him they were not going to vote for him.

Case is not so rich in vote-getting strength that he can afford to antagonize both those who do not agree that McCarthy is a menace, and the old guard Republicans to whom the word "liberal" is synonymous with "fellow traveller."

Better would it have been for Case to have kept his thoughts on McCarthy to himself until the Senate's special committee makes its juridical inquiry into specific charges against Senator McCarthy. By his premature outburst, Case has alienated, right here in Belleville, hundreds of voters who normally would have voted for him. He has only to take a private cross-section poll to confirm that shift. Belleville is divided on the McCarthy issue, with a strong "wait-and-see" element.

Then there is a third group of New Jersey Republicans whose votes may be lost to Case. . . those who feel that Senator Robert Hendrickson was given the "bum's rush," unfairly, when the party leadership picked its candidate for the Senate. These are the Taft-Republicans and they are numbered by the many thousands. They know that when New Jersey's allegiance was divided between Senator Taft and General Eisenhower, in the G. O. P. presidential primary in 1952, Hendrickson was friendly to the cause of the Ohioan.

Obviously, Case must not listen to the demand of the old guard Republicans that he withdraw in favor of Hartley. But if he is to win, if the Republican party is to keep its two seats in the U. S. Senate, Case must woo the voters he has alienated. If his public relations have been bad, if he has been to outspoken in his hatred of McCarthy then, for his own good and for that of the party, he must temper his outbursts. Obviously, he cannot shift on McCarthy, but he can announce his willingness to abide by the new Senate inquiry. He, honestly, would have no basis other than personal prejudice to stand on his "oust McCarthy" statement if he continues "to oppose" the Wisconsin sin in the face of whatever decision is reached by the Senate bi-partisan board.

New Jersey must keep two Republican seats in the Senate and it behooves Case to conform to the good of the party, just as it is indispensable that, for the good of the party, too, the Morris County die-hards drop their senseless campaign to force Case's withdrawal.

One Man's Opinion

France's Troubles In Morocco And Tunisia Are Molotov's Way Of Preventing French Ratification Of EDC

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

Molotov has an endless bag of tricks and right now when it is his desire to prevent French ratification of the European Defense Community treaty and to sidetrack the European Army, the Old Master in the Kremlin dug deep and came up with troubles galore in Tunisia and in Morocco. During the negotiations in Geneva over Indochina, Molotov did all he could to smooth the way for France's inexperienced Premier, Pierre Mendes-France. The reason was that Molotov and his Chinese Communist ally were getting something for nothing. The ink was barely dry on the Vietnam division treaty than fresh trouble began in French North Africa.

The Communist purpose in pressing Arab nationalists to fight their French "protectors" appears to be to give M. Mendes-France so much trouble in North Africa that he will either break his political neck or, in any event, have his hands too full to do anything about EDC.

Red Hand In Revolt

Recent acts of violence and terrorism in North Africa, especially the latest outbreaks in Morocco, may be traced directly to the Communists. It is true that popular unrest in the French zone of the protectorate runs wide and deep, every ready to erupt. But during many trips to Morocco, all of 20 years ago, during previous recent periods of disturbances, it was convinced the major outbreaks were by no means spontaneous but were planned by professionals trained in the art of exploiting popular discontent.

The Communist Party and the Communist-controlled trade union organization in France and in the French Empire constitute a widely ramified network which can stage outbreaks anytime and anywhere in Morocco by simply pulling the switch—the man switch in Moscow.

Without such deliberate, calculated provocation, it is more likely the moderate Moroccan nationalist leaders, in view of M. Mendes-France's conciliatory attitude and demonstrated good will, would prefer giving him a chance to make good rather than cramp his efforts.

Prevention of French ratification of the European Defense Community is still a prime immediate objective of Soviet foreign policy, just as it was before the Geneva conference.

The latest Soviet note to Washington, London, and Paris proposing a "security conference" between European security conference, delivered before the western powers had time to draft a joint reply to it July 24 note on the subject of a European conference, indicates that Moscow is prompted by a sense of urgency.

Molotov On Hot Seat

For once, Moscow seems to feel time is not working for it and that

LETTERS To The Editor

To The Editor, Times-News:

The article which appeared in the Belleville Times-News issue of August 8 entitled "Tips On Fixing Tire Blowouts" seemed timely as vacation travel reaches its peak.

I wonder, however, if one would ever be able to replace a tire if a motorist carefully followed your nine rules as stated in your weekly newspaper.

After reading the article I question statement No. 7 which says: "Wheel nuts on the left side of the car loosen when turned, clockwise and nuts on the right side come off in a counter-clockwise motion."

Just what kind of car do you ride that requires different motions depending which side of the car you are on? To me that is something new in the automotive field.

Campaign Mgr.

RODINO APPOINTS DR. RUSH BAUMAN CAMPAIGN MGR.
Nutley Physician, Who Led Last Two Successful Runs, Accepts For Third Time

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., announced last night that for the third successive time he has appointed Dr. Rush C. Bauman, Nutley physician, to manage his campaign for re-election. Dr. Bauman confirmed to The Nutley Sun his acceptance.

Dr. Bauman managed the 1950 and 1952 Congressional campaigns of Rep. Rodino, with increasing strength in each poll. In the 1952 election, in which General Eisenhower swept Nutley, Congressman Rodino ran second only to the Republican President and polled 6,699 votes, the greatest number ever given any Democratic candidate in Nutley.

Predicts Victory
The Nutley physician predicted, calmly, last night a new Rodino victory in November, stressing the 10th District Congressman's record, emphasizing that an overall tabulation shows that Rep. Rodino supported Eisenhower policies and legislation more often than did a large minority of Republican Congressmen.

"Rep. Rodino will be re-elected, in my opinion, because he has served all the people of the 10th District, regardless of party affiliation, and he has been in as many cases involving Republicans as Democrats," Dr. Bauman said.

"Rodino's pledged 'Service Above Self' has been exemplified by the hard day-to-day work that he has done for all the people of the district, whether they voted for him in the past or not. "With the impressive legislative and humanitarian record that Peter W. Rodino has been able to compile in his six years in Congress, we are confident that the people of the 10th District will return him with an overwhelming majority. It is not every day that they can have such a devoted public servant as their representative."

Dr. Bauman, who was honored, at a testimonial dinner, several months ago, as an outstanding citizen, has been a resident of Nutley for more than 30 years. During World War II, he served as a member of the Appeal Board for Suburban Essex County for a period of nearly eight years. During World War I, he was chairman of the largest draft board in New York City, and was the youngest draft board chairman in the whole of the United States in that war.

A horticulturalist of renown, Dr. Bauman is also president of the Memorial Parkways, Inc. His gardens, famous in the area, are an avocation to which he is particularly fitted and are the center of attraction for many thousands of visitors during the spring season, when his large collection of azaleas is in bloom.

One particular brand of azaleas, developed by Dr. Bauman over a period of fourteen years, he recently named Ann-Rodino, in honor of the wife of the Congressman.

What Fertilizer To Use In Gardens This Fall

When fertilizing this fall, try this rule of thumb. For flowers and non-leafy vegetable, use 5-10-5 fertilizer (5% nitrogen, 10% phosphate, and 5% potash). For grass, evergreens and leafy vegetables such as spinach and cabbage, use 10-6-4. For root vegetables, such as potatoes, use 5-10-10. Whenever possible, of course, this should be supplemented by barnyard manure and compost.

Belleville Teams In Softball Tourney

Belleville has two entries in the A. S. A. Metropolitan Newark Softball Tourney which begins play Monday at Schools Stadium, in Newark.

The Babes, who won the first round in the Belleville Recreation Town-wide League and qualified for the tournament drew a first round bye but will meet the winner of Long's Hudson-Edward J. Ryan Association game Tuesday night at 7:30 p. m. Manager Sol Vangiere will start John Jacome, Bill Nabulare and Harry Lanno in the outfield; Nick Cancellieri, Gus Vangiere, Jim Marjane and Pasquariello in the infield; Sol Rittacco will catch Al Gains' offerings.

Federal Leather, who is leading the Belleville Recreation Industrial League, qualified also. The Federals will play the Isabella Association on Monday at 7:30 p. m. Manager Bill Cullen intends to use Paul Hochstall, Jim Dunleavy, Howard Velsavage and Bill Paxton in the outfield. Their infield will have Angelo Ginnelli, John Lazaro, Frank Trainor, Don Smith and Tat Debrovski. Either Sal Lazaro or George Mitchell will start on the mound while Gus Bechtoldt will do the catching.

For softball fans who want to see some real action we recommend this tourney, which will have games going every night next week in Schools Stadium.

Montclair's Football Prospects

Mid summer is hardly football weather, but in the grid hotbed of Montclair the talk has already turned to the coming season. Belleville doesn't play the Mounties during the regular season but Coach Ed Beninski's squad meets Montclair in an annual pre-season scrimmage game. We will get to Bellboy prospects later on. Now for a peek at what Montclair fans are talking about.

A report from Montclair reveals that the Blue and White's greatest combine scored 360 points, and five players who shared in the scoring returned from that year's team. Last season Montclair tallied 244 points and of seven players who scored only one will return for action and that one player is Bill Sharpe, who tallied one TD.

From those statistics one might gather that this is the year when Coach Gary Anderson will break out the "crying towel" a little early, but feeling around Montclair is that Mounties will still be on top when Thanksgiving Day comes around. While it is true the Mounties, who won eight and lost one and shared the North Jersey Group 4 championship with Orange and East Orange, have lost via graduation such stellar performers as Aubrey Lewis, Bobby Gayle, Sonny Labrunda, Lou Petronelli, Marty Johnson, Bob Holenstein, Don Keith, Jack Logan, Charlie Pierce, Dave Williams, Harry Zingg and a number of other regulars, Anderson will have the nucleus for a fairly formidable aggregation with a number of able juniors and some sophomores from last year.

A peek at 1954 prospects, shows that Pizzano, Montclair's outstanding guard, is the only member of the 1953's starting unit to return. Anderson, Christmas, a guard, and Ralph Galascione, sophomore end, are the lone members of the defensive unit back. But it is well to remember that Montclair's jayvees went unbeaten last Fall, and some of those youngsters will be good enough to fill important gaps.

Who will be counted upon to fill Aubrey Lewis's shoes? That's a might big order for anyone, and while the Mounties will sorely miss this spectacular All-State, All-Met and All-American scholastic star, there looms a golden opportunity for a lad named Bernie Peoples. Peoples, some may recall, spelled the injured Gayle in the Bloomfield yard, and he came through with flying colors, gaining 185 yards in 25 carries for a fine 7.4 yards per try average. Co-workers of Peoples in the 1954 backfield will probably be Dick Rosevart at quarterback; Breck Lardner and Wilbur Julius, with Bill Sharpe and Allan Pond as the real threats to break into the picture.

Talk has it that, Montclair should have a bigger and better line than last year. Now that may sound radical when one considers that outside of Pizzano, the entire forward wall has graduated, but from Anderson's smooth working farm system, 11 juniors and 10 sophomores will be on hand come September 1.

Schroener Hurls No Hit Game For Cubs

First no-hit, no-run game of the PAL Babo Ruth League season was pitched by Dave Schroener of the Belleville Cubs, hurling against the Giants. The Cubs won the contest with two runs. The infield backed Dave solidly, handling 17 chances without an error. Only two balls were hit out of the infield.

Neither team scored in the first five innings. Then the Cubs brought in their two runs when Lakowski made first on an error, Rega singled, and both came in when Delane hit a double. Joyce, pitching for the Giants, permitted only two other hits.

It was the best game of the season to date.

The Phillies beat the Dodgers, 4-2, with the losers getting two hits off of Jim Ward's pitching. The winners scored a run in the second, another in the fourth, and two in the fifth.

PAL All-Stars, composed of players between 15 and 18 years old, traveled to Union to meet a much older team of 15 to 17 year olds, and considering the odds, didn't do too badly, losing by a 9-0 score. Belleville's had injured players, but when they scored six times, Mairone gave up five hits, and Lopez played an outstanding game at short.

The Braves and Cardinals will meet today to decide the issue.

REC HOUSE TIES CLEARMAN FIELD FOR FIRST PLACE

Though Belleville's Recreation House dropped one game to Wilson Playground of North Arlington by a 9 to 5 score, it beat Stadium, 8-5, in an Inter-Playground Softball League game to continue its tie for first place with Clearman Field in League standings.

Clearman beat School No. 10 Playground, 7-6, which made it three straight wins to put it on the same level with Recreation House in play against local teams. Stadium is third with three wins and one defeat. Followings are No. 10 with one win and five losses and No. 1 and Stadium with three losses and no wins.

Recreation's victory over Stadium was aided by some first-rate defensive fielding, and Elmer House's error in the pitcher's box helped. George Guber and Charles Citter provided the punch at the plate, each driving in three runs. Jesse Leyble's backslide grab of Joe Milburn's hard drive past short ended the last-inning scoring thrust by the Stadium nine. Ronie Bergamini hurried for the losers.

In the game against North Arlington, Rec. lost, but Tom Joyce had fun with a 3-run homer, and Bob Sargus' double advanced the other two runs. Elmer Haus pitched for the local team, which was coached by Henry Miller.

Clearman Field just managed to tie out its win over No. 10 Playground, with the game going into extra innings after a tie tied up at six runs apiece. Bob Oliphant helped to keep No. 10 in the cage with his pitching, but Bob DePa's arm again came through in a pinch with a sharp single that broke up the Stadium nine. Elmer Haus pitched all the way for the winners.

Rec's Drop 2 After Long Winning Streak

It couldn't last forever. After having won 8 straight games, the Belleville Recreation nine slipped a cog over the weekend and dropped two contests, losing one to the Newark Student Council, 7-2, and suffering a shut-out, 3-0, in a meeting with Union County's American Legion champions.

In the first game, Belleville's Bob Mallack was batted around the lot by Newark, which got all of its runs in the first four innings on 8 hits. Then Johnny Bartel stepped in and shut the door, allowing the out-of-towners just one hit for the rest of the contest.

Lefty Perillo, who opened the game for Belleville, was wild, and after giving up two hits which scored a run for Union, he gave way to Bartel, who allowed three hits for two runs in the remaining innings. One of those was a homer by Curtis Carter, Union center fielder.

The Rec's have a heavy schedule for this weekend. On Friday they meet the current leader of the Essex County CYO League—St. Stanislaus of Newark. The game will be played at Vailsburg Park. Saturday the locals meet the Union County American Legion team in a home game. The Legionnaires are currently leading the American Legion League in Union County. Sunday the Rec's journey to New Brunswick to meet Doty's Sugar Bowl nine, which so far has won 15 games this season, and dropped only one contest.

Little League Here Beaten By Millburn In Essex Title Tilt

Belleville's Little League National All-Stars lost their chance for the Essex County sectional championship by dropping the title game to Millburn, 4-3, in a contest at Cameron Field in South Orange.

Millburn later went on to eliminate Morristown for the regional championship, and the possible opportunity for a crack at the national Little League title.

Teams in both the National and American Leagues here have resumed their local schedules, which were suspended during Belleville's participation in the sectional tournament.

The title contest was largely determined for Belleville in the first inning of the Millburn game, when the out-of-town team knocked John Carlo out of the box, with all of its four runs scored on five hits and two bases on balls.

Fred Riccio, playing third base, was then moved in as pitcher, and Mike Morano, Belleville's star hurler, who was not used in the box because he had pitched the game before, stepped into Riccio's place from his center field position.

Riccio held the Millburnites to two hits.

It was Belleville's turn to burn in the ball in the fourth inning. Riccio walked, Ron Valente, the first basemen, doubled off the right-center fence to score Riccio, and then Morano came through with a homer that brought in the two other runs for the locals.

That washed up Dick Carter, Millburn pitcher, and he was succeeded by Fred Swenson, a flyer who managed to hold the locals. Belleville did get two men on base on balls in the fifth, and another on an error in the sixth, but that was as far as it went.

REP. RODINO WANTS NEW ELECTRONIC DIVISION SET UP AID CONSUMER BY I.T.&T. CORP.

10th District Representative Explains Project For Joint Committee Of Congress

Rep. Peter W. Rodino, Jr., Congressman of the 10th district, declared this week that the consumer continued to be forgotten if not ignored by Congress so far as legislation in his behalf is concerned. He said Congress is always thinking of producing groups when considering economic legislation but the interests of the consumer are put in second place behind the welfare of farmers, manufacturers and workmen.

14 Members

Rodino said these groups are helped by farm price bills, protective tariff measures and basic labor laws. Rodino urged action before adjournment on his House Concurrent Resolution 47, to establish a joint committee on consumers. It would consist of seven members of the House and seven of the Senate. It would have the task of making a comprehensive study followed by recommendations in these fields:

"1. Measures to safeguard consumer interests under conditions of the present national emergency, and otherwise, how they are affected by the policies and programs of the Federal Government and of a consumer's economy generally.

"2. The fairness to consumers of prices, quality and terms of sale for cost-of-living items.

"3. Methods and costs of producing, processing and distributing cost-of-living items.

"4. The extent, character and effectiveness of consumer services made available by the federal government.

"5. Activities of state and local governments and private groups relating to the foregoing."

Rodino pointed out consumers are not so intensively and effectively organized as farmers, manufacturers, workers and other producing groups. Their interests are not always readily pinpointed, he said. As a result, these interests are often less subject to specific legislative action than those of the producers. Although the free enterprise economy has given Americans the highest standard of living in the world, Rodino said, there are many thousands of citizens "who even today do not enjoy the minimum standards of food, clothing, housing and medical care that we consider part of the American way of life."

Rodino considers a study of the basic cost-of-living items a first order of business for such a committee as he proposes. "They represent the standard goods in the budget of the ordinary American family," he said. "I am not concerned with luxury items that only a small minority of our people can afford."
