Lieut. Col. Thomas Thompson of 1 Elmwood Avenue has been named assistant Commandant of the U. S. Army Reserve School in Keany, it was learned last night.

The first service, the firemen's service, was held Sunday night at the Wadsworth Funeral Home, where the open casket rested, the chief's cap resting on the dark wood.

As the men sat with bowed heads, Msgr. Joseph M. Kelly, pastor of St. Peter's Church, and Fr. John Golding of St. Mary's Church in Nutley, prayed the rosary, and the recitation of each of the five decades was led by Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan, Captain Carl Carl Hunter, Captain Alfred Duffy, Captain Francis A. D'Amico, and Ralph Castellan.

At 8 o'clock Monday morning the men gathered once more at the funeral home, relieved from their duties at the fire houses by Nutley firemen who only 18 days before had come to Belleville to take these same stations after the death of Deputy Fire Chief William J. Gilchrist.

In the throng of those who filled the pews, there were officials, more than 250 firemen and policemen, and hundreds of just plain citizens who knew the chief by his 21 years of service to the community.

For the short time still remaining before the funeral procession was to leave for the service at St. Mary's Church they filed silently past the casket.

Then the casket was brought to the waiting hearse, passing between two rows of firemen and policemen standing at attention, and borne by Captain Hunter, Captain Duffy, Captain D'Amico, and Firemen Joseph Oldham, August DeFranza, Kenneth Potts, and Kenneth Langlands.

The procession to New Washington Avenue began.

More than 150 automobiles were in the long and silent line, passing along streets gray with rain.

UE Named To Represent For 2 Units At Edison

The United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers of America will continue to represent the Edison Electric Company, next to Thomas A. Edison, Inc., at the Belleville and West Orange plants, which it will over the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

The Rev. Peter B. Deckenbach, the 18th rector in the 208-year-old history of Christ Episcopal Church, next Tuesday celebrates the 30th anniversary of his service as pastor of the church.

Thumbing through two centuries of time as he examined the crumbling church records, the minister talked yesterday of those old days, and of plans for tomorrow.

There are now 650 members of the church located on Washington Avenue, near Essex Street, and 250 children attend Sunday school classes. The Rev. Deckenbach said that the congregation has discussed plans for enlarging the school house, and that this is one of the projects for the future.

At the same time he disclosed that members of the church were considering the possibility of the need to demolish the original church building which still stands on a brick acreage fronting Main Street near William Street. Built in 1836, then rebuilt a year later after being destroyed by fire, the majestic old building, called one of the finest examples of early English architecture in America, is slowly falling to pieces.

JAMES LEE HEADS COMMITTEE FOR ARMISTICE PARADE

James Lee, Belleville police officer, was named chairman of a committee that will make arrangements for the annual Armistice Day parade to be held here Nov. 11. It was announced yesterday following a meeting with Mayor Padula.

Other officers elected to the committee organization, known as Day Veterans Committee, were George Mitchell, 149 Academy Street, secretary, and Henry Flagg, 24 Church Terrace, treasurer.

Lee's appointment marks a third term for the officer, who lives at 472 Washington Avenue.

He asked for the support of all veteran posts and their auxiliary organizations in making the parade plans a success, and invited all church, civic, and fraternal organizations to join in the program.

Present at the meeting were Harold H. Lantz, 35 Federal Street; Thomas Murphy, 25 of 56 Smith Street; and Theodore Del Gross of 25 New Street. Murphy's father, James Murphy, was formerly a member of the department.

Dunleavy, who is 59, and lives at 164 Union Avenue, joined the department in 1927, became a lieutenant in 1935, and a captain in 1948.

Captain Hunter, 46, of 32 Lincoln Terrace, was appointed to the department in 1938, and became a captain in 1948.

Shaughnessy, 37, of 297 Franklin Avenue, entered the department in 1947, and Thalheimer, 35, joined in 1947.

White Fire Chief; Others Appointed

Confirmation of Deputy Chief Harry T. White's appointment as chief of the fire department, temporary designation of two others as deputy fire chiefs, the promotion of two firemen to the rank of captain, and the appointment of three new men to the department to fill existing vacancies, was announced last night by Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan.

Named as deputy chiefs, pending civil service examinations for the jobs, were Capt. James F. Dunleavy, brother of the late fire chief, and Capt. Carl Hunter.

Robert J. Shaughnessy and Joseph F. Thalheimer were promoted as captains on the basis of their civil service ratings.

Appointed to the department were Harold H. Lantz, 35 Federal Street; Thomas Murphy, 25 of 56 Smith Street; and Theodore Del Gross of 25 New Street. Murphy's father, James Murphy, was formerly a member of the department.

Dunleavy, who is 59, and lives at 164 Union Avenue, joined the department in 1927, became a lieutenant in 1935, and a captain in 1948.

School Board To Place All Teachers On Salary Guide

The Board of Education has been notified that it will receive a special appropriation from the state which will exceed last year's figure by $86,000, and Eugene Kelly, president of the board, told the Times-News last night that he felt confident the school board would authorize use of the money for placement of all teachers on the School Guide. The extra revenue is derived from a cigarette tax.

Approximately 70 per cent of Belleville's 230 public school teachers are not now on the Guide, although all first-year teachers will receive a starting salary of $5,000 beginning with the present school term.

"From time to time I have gone on record as saying that whenever the funds were available, we would use them in that way," Mr. Kelly said. "We now have the money, and as much as I am sure the board feels the same way as I do, I have no doubt that an appropriation for this purpose will be unanimously approved."

Total school grant to Belleville from the state this year is $1,715. He was in a hospital for six months.

Returning to the United States he married and got a job with a roofing company.

Two years ago he fell from a roof and broke his shoulder. Michael, 7, suffered a leg injury which has been slow in healing and which has forced him to move about on crutches.

Five weeks ago Mrs. Bocchio became ill and is now in a hospital.

"We are doing the best we can," says a veteran Bocchio. "I am sure everything will turn out all right."

DR. CLEE WILL BE GUEST OF HONOR AT CHURCH RALLY

Dr. Lester Clee, former pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Newark, will be the guest speaker at a dinner rally for Protestant men, sponsored by the Belleville Protestant Men's Club, next Tuesday evening, at 6:30 at Wesley Methodist church.

Rev. Clifford A. Hewitt, chairman of the affair, announced this week that plans have been completed, and a roast beef dinner will be served. Tickets for the gathering are available at $1.50 from committee members.

Following the dinner, the rally will open with a community sing, led by Andrew Verhagen, of the Dutch Reformed church. Rev. Wm. Anderson, president of Wesley Men's Club, will act as master of ceremonies.

At 8 a.m. the men will enter the church for the evening's program, which will begin with hymns sung by Roy Conklin; Scripture reading by Al Helms; at Bethany Lutheran, and a prayer by Theodore Wells of A.M.E. Zion. The guest of honor will then be introduced by Rev. James K. Morse, of Fawcett Memorial Presbyterian church.

The doctor, who lives at 264 Holmes Street, said that a variance should insure property values in the area. Members of the League, and other organizations which supported the group, had protested to the commission last June when it was reported that a similar move was contemplated.

Organize Committee To Fight Supporters Of Council - Manger

The fight against the Charter Study report recommending that Belleville abandon its commission form government began this week with the organization of a committee to oppose the change.

The group, which calls itself the Citizens No Council-Manager Committee, is headed by Thomas D'Avella, 115 Fairway Avenue, an attorney with offices in Newark, who has been active in political affairs here. Its first meeting was held in the town hall commission chambers, and D'Avella said approximately 125 persons attended.

The attorney was active in the campaign in behalf of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde during the last election.

Other officers are Mrs. Margaret Connelly, vice-chairman; Mrs. Denis Hammond, secretary; Michael Rabino, treasurer. They have campaigned for present members of the commission in the past.

President of the Study report were also active. Boyd Hartley, chairman of the Study Commission, issued his first meeting, said, he hoped would clear up "certain misconceptions" about the report, and said that the chairman of the Belleville Citizens Association, announced that his organization was "re-activating" its opposition to commission form of government, and pledged support for the council-manager form.

Maybe it's the cut of the uniform, the tilt of the cap, the knot of his tie, but any way, Airman 1/c Frederick A. ## All Around The Town

William Williams, who was Belleville's hard-driving mayor for three terms — from 1934 to 1946 — and served seven more years as a member of the Town Commission, still leads the strenuous existence in St. Petersburg, Fla., where he moved following his resignation from the commission in 1949.

Unable to resist the lure of the public spot-light, Williams is now a member of the Board of Education in St. Petersburg, and a news report indicates that the former mayor continues to have his differences of opinion. The story details vivid disagreement between Williams and a St. Petersburg architect concerning location of air-landing units in a new high school under construction there. The dialogue quoted in the account is documentary proof that Bill can still handle his adversaries.

Frank Cyphers, 58, of 780 Broadway, Newark, is credited with having moved up the collection schedule for the two parking meters in front of 224 Washington Avenue. According to the police report, he lost control of the car while he was driving, and ran into the meters, knocking them to the street. Officers picked up the spilled oil. It totalled 42 cents.

Members of the Joseph C. Taib Post No. 5246 of the V. F. W. have donated 24 pairs of shoes to the Veterans of Foreign Wars Essex County Blood Bank.

E. S. Padwee, a veterinarian, of 245 Belleville Avenue, whose specialty is dogs, won a prize on a radio away from the door when he won the prize. A puppy dog.

Luck was with eight-year-old Philip Czech, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Czech of 136 Washington Avenue, as he walked to school. Cross-

ANNIVERSARY—Rev. Peter B. Deckenbach, pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, stands before the 114-year-old altar of the church, where he has been rector for 30 years. The altar was originally part of the original church, which was built in 1836, then re-built in 1939, after it was destroyed by fire. The old church still stands on Main Street, near William Street.

arguments about the proposed changes in the charter of the seven-man council was too "bulky" for efficient handling in the community of Belleville, the increased cost to the taxpayer would be unwarranted, and appointment by the council of a manager as the town's administrative executive would certainly present complications.

Harvey, in his statement, noted that copies of the Charter Study report are now being printed, and that copies will be available for distribution soon.

He declared that "misconceptions" concerning the report had gained circulation, and that they had occurred "as a result of confusion by persons unfamiliar with the recommended plan of council-manager government."

Harvey said that "these misconceptions should be corrected not only for the sake of council-manager government, but also for the reputation of those persons repeating the misinformation."

Washington Avenue at Belleville, was stepped into the side of a car driven by Margaret Longwood of 66 Belleville Avenue, and suffered minor bruises.

Joseph Caffe, a builder, of 231 William Street, reported the theft of tools from a house he is constructing, at 68 Clinton Street, and Maria Sivila of 47-49 Place told police that someone had entered his home and stolen $350 in cash and jewelry.

Raymond Ward, grade school physical education instructor, was chairman of National Dog Week for Belleville. Object of the observance was the promotion of a good home for every dog, elimination of stray dogs from the street, better informed dog owners, consideration for dogs and all animals, and the dog's use as a companion and protector of the home.

At a meeting of the town board, held in the town hall, the board considered the question of a dog license law for dogs and their owners, and the father-son of respect for the rights of non-dog-owners.

Consideration by the Rivers County Association concerning any further action on the Town Commission of National Dog Week by citizens on the town hall floor was postponed until this Sunday. Decision on the question by the civic group had originally been scheduled for last week. The commission mission resigned the section of its original resolution which required citizens to notify the town of their intention to address a committee in advance of commission meetings. It also stipulated that representatives could be presented by only a single speaker. Members of the Association later had expressed the opinion that the resolution should have been thrown out.

Origin of the congregation dates back long before the church building itself was constructed. It was organized in 1858. It was granted a charter to the Trinity Church of Newark which provided that vestrymen and church members be elected from among the residents of Second Ward, as Belleville was then known.

The church held its first meeting in a building used to store flour and grain, which was situated on the corner of Washington and Main streets in 1858. It separated itself from Trinity Church and became a parish.

After the church building burned down in 1887, a year after it had been erected, the remains of the church bell, which had been melted by the fire, were cast into a new bell, which was hung in the church building, completed in 1889.

The bell was later transferred to the present church on Washington Avenue, which was built in 1912.

The Rev. Deckenbach, last of the pastors, was a member of the church, has played an active part in the civic, as well as religious, life of the community.

He won national attention when he was elected president of Rotary International in 1953. Former secretary of the Diocesan Convention of Newark, he is a delegate to the synod of the Episcopal Church in the United States, and New Jersey, and is making plans for the next meeting in November at Lake Placid.

The minister was grand chaplain of the Masonic Lodge of New Jersey in 1953, has been a member of the Red Cross board of directors for almost 30 years, and dean of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Newark.

Born in Orange, he attended Orange schools, where he played football, and was graduated from St. Stephens (now Bard) College at Annandale, N. Y.

After his graduation from the General Theological Seminary in New York, he was ordained at St. Mark's Church in West Orange, then became pastor of the Church of the Holy Communion in Norwood, Bergen County.

Then the small farming community of Riverside, which had no church, asked him to organize a Sunday school which would be open to children of all denominations, both Christian and Jewish.

Still maintaining his pastorate in Norwood, Rev. Deckenbach organized the school, which was attended by 60 children. The school was situated in a butcher store—out in a separate room, because there was no room, but in the very same space where hung legs of lamb and other meats, and over all of which hung the pungent odor of sauerkraut.

Within a year the residents of the town asked him to establish a community church, and invited him to become its pastor. The congregation hired a dance hall as a temporary site, and then began to raise money for a permanent church building.

Rev. Deckenbach spent his time riding between Norwood and Riverside, attending to the needs of the congregations of both towns.

The minister later to become pastor of Christ Episcopal Church, succeeded the Rev. Charles W. Ponham, who had been pastor for 14 years. But for more than a year after his arrival in Belleville, he returned every Sunday afternoon to Riverside to conduct services there. A plot of ground was purchased, and the little white church erected on it has since become the center of the town.

First came the local car. Then followed Chief Dunleavy's big white fire car, driven by William MacKillop. He was alone at the wheel, but he was followed by a fire car for good government and in the hands of capable men, Belleville has not fared too badly.

Can we complain about our tax rate? Every town faces the same problems that we have here. Taxes have increased everywhere. The American people demand more services and we are getting more of them. It is not the exception of our school system, where definite improvement has been made in the last few years, but always been beyond the jurisdiction of the commission as the Board of Education and its budget committee.

I think our services are on a par with other communities. Extreme care and thought should govern our decision in this important move. Administration and even election expenses are going to show sharp increases under the council-manager form of government. It will place considerable power in the hands of one man and there is absolutely no guarantee that politics will not play an even greater role than they do under the commission form of government.

We should all face up to the fact that politics are here to stay. If we attempt to avoid politics out of our government, we are in effect saying that our democratic system and government is unsatisfactory.

It might be wise to consider the report from the Charter Commission group in the light in which it was submitted. The report was founded on an air of hostility to the commission government, and as a local editorial in a newspaper pointed out, "Charter Commission was unable to arrive at a unanimous opinion as to what would be good for Belleville."

Let us look carefully before we leap, so that in our haste to bring about improvements, we find ourselves in the fire, when actually we have never even been in the trying pan.

LETTERS
To The Editor

Editor, Times-News:

While I have not always agreed in entirety with the functional operations of the commission form of government, I cannot help but to make comments on the recent recommendations filed by the Charter Study Commission, which recommendations would have the Belleville voters go to the polls in November and change the method of government from the present commission form to the council-manager form.

Although not given to outspoken political feelings, it strikes me that the Belleville voters should proceed with considerable caution before they reject the commission form of government. It has functioned for our town since 1914, and in my opinion has performed a good job. It has provided the necessary tools for good government and in the hands of capable men, Belleville has not fared too badly.

Can we complain about our tax rate? Every town faces the same problems that we have here. Taxes have increased everywhere. The American people demand more services and we are getting more of them. ### Rosh Hashanah Will Usher In The Jewish Year 5715

The year 5715 of the Jewish calendar will be ushered in with traditional ceremonies on Rosh Hashanah, beginning at sunset on Monday and continuing to sunset on Wednesday.

On Monday evening at Congregation Ahavath Achim, at 5:45, Dr. Albert L. Raab will officiate and address the assembly on "Greeting the New Year." Dr. Seymour P. Fischer, cantor, will chant the liturgy of the day and the choir will accompany him, directed by Miss Beth Cohen.

The services on Tuesday and Wednesday morning will begin at 8:15, with the Shacharit, conducted by Rev. Solomon Raab, of Brooklyn and the Mussaf, chanted by Mr. Fischer. Rabbi Raab will officiate and lead both ceremonies.

For his sermon on Tuesday, Dr. Raab has chosen the topic, "Partnership in Creation" and on Wednesday will speak on "Building on a Sound Foundation."

The festival of Rosh Hashanah is invested by rabbinic authorities with great religious significance and is symbolic of the judgment delivered by God upon all earth's inhabitants at the time of creation. The theme of judgment is the keynote for the Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur services.

A special feature of the ceremonies is the blowing of the Shofar, or ram's horn, which commemorates the binding of Isaac as a Divine protest against human sacrifice.

Rosh Hashanah begins the period known as the "ten days of teshuvah," which culminates on Yom Kippur, the Day of Atonement. During this period Jews are urged to reflect, repent and resolve for nobler conduct in the coming year.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By Bob Gorlin

Up-Hill Battle In Sight For Bellboys

Belleville High School will open its nine-game 1954 football schedule, and right off the bat will take on one of the toughest opponents of the campaign, when East Orange comes to Municipal Stadium on Saturday.

Fans have been asking me, "Is the overall picture as gloomy as it's been painted the year?" At this stage of the season, without a ball thrown in actual competition as yet, will definitely say that the Blue and Gold will have much more of an up-hill battle than they've had in recent campaigns. It will be a long, long haul for Coach Ed Berlinski's team to win more than they lose. Last year the Blue and Gold won five and dropped three. This year West Orange was added to the schedule filling the gap left by Passaic.

Why will Belleville face an uphill climb? The reasons are many. To start off, Berlinski was greeted with the smallest turnout since he took over the reins eight years ago. Only 60 candidates tried out for the squad. Added to small turnout, Berlinski has little in the way of returning veterans as most of his 1953 squad was stripped away graduation. Sorely missed this year will be Rocco Cafone, ball-handling magician, who made the Bellboy E-formation click. Seven lettermen are back this year, but the line was stripped and will be outweighed in most games. Added to all of this the reserve bench is very thin. The starting eleven will give most teams a rough time but if injuries hamper the first string the outlook will plunge further.

While Berlinski is having more than his share of troubles this year, several opponents are getting stronger, especially such rival Nurey. It is now known that the Maroon Raiders, just north of the town border, will be tough. In the old days since 1949, Nurey is expected to be one of the powers of Essex County. Bloomfield has its coach, Warren Lowans, back after a hitch in the Navy and Irvington promises to be stronger since the elimination of the double session which previously hampered practice workouts.

While the overall picture is not rosy, Berlinski is still "hopeful". Asked last night what he thought of the team's chances, he said, "I never come out with a pre-season prediction. I don't know how many games we'll win but the boys are coming along. I've been more surprised than I expected at first." Berlinski is already looking ahead to next year. He plans to have six juniors in the starting lineup against East Orange.

One thing, fans will be seeing one of the best dressed teams in the area this season. Forty players will be dressed in new blue and gold game jerseys.

As to the opener, Berlinski has yet to field a team that can defeat East Orange. Twice in the last three years the Blue and Gold has earned a tie. Five losses were also handed down by the Panthers with Berlinski at the helm.

Jim Walker and Mumford, the Panther backfield stars, and Bob Wins, a brilliant tackle are gone, but enough talent remains from the squad that won eight and lost one and tied with Montclair and Orange for the Group 4 crown. Walker and Mumford are now at Virginia State.

In particular there are Harvey Amis and Steve Thomas in the backfield and Joe Moore on the line. Amis is a powerful fullback. Where speed is needed, Thomas is probably the man the Panthers will depend on. Thomas will also share the passing with Stanley Cuff in Bob Redman's single-wing attack.

Moore, at end on offense and a tackle on defense last year, is practically a line by himself. At six-foot two-inches and 200 pounds, he figures to be one of the state's best. Redman has lost 17 lettermen but there is enough talent still around to make East Orange an Essex power.

Freshmen To Jump The Gun

Belleville High's frosh team will beat their "older brothers" in the opening of the football season when the ninth graders travel to Nutley to face the Maroon Raiders at Yantacow Park. The game is slated for 9:30 a. m. and will precede the Belleville-East Orange game by several hours. The inaugural will kick off the start of the Freshman Football League which takes in ninth grade teams from four counties.

Crystal Gazing

Believe it or not it seems like only a couple of months ago that I was looking into my crystal ball trying to call the shots of the weekly scholastic football games, but it has been ten months since the Turkey Day classics were played. During the 1953 football season I came out with a mediocre .728 average. The pigskin season is just about here and will be ushered in, in full force come Saturday.

For the next nine weeks this "arm-chair expert" will try and predict the winning teams in games played in and around Essex County.

East Orange to edge Belleville. Coach Ed Berlinski has yet to coach a Blue and Gold squad to victory over East Orange in an opener. Belleville has only two ties to its credit against the Panthers. On paper this jinx looks like it will continue for another season. Berlinski will field a young squad but the hex could come to an abrupt end if setback Joe Mignon can break loose.

West Orange to roll over Irvington. The Cowboys have Tom Sellitto, who can run and pass with the best of them. Sellitto will hold the key to West Orange's success as he calls the signals and operates from the quarterback slot. In a scrimmage against Nutley, Irvington showed little.

Kearny to turn back Columbia. Coach Art Aigner will field an experienced backfield headed by Papenburg and Morrison as the Cardinals work out of the "A" formation. Columbia, with only two veterans back, will improve as the season progresses.

Nutley to trim Central. The season is just beginning, but this opening game against the High Streeters is a crucial game for the Maroon Raiders. Nutley should have experience too much difficulty against Central. Nutley fans will see a good Maroon team in action for the first time since the late forties. The importance of the season opener right now isn't the question of, will Nutley win, but by how much will they come out on top? I look for Coach Jack Lewis' eleven to win by three touchdowns.

Montclair to down Orange. The Mounties will be playing without Aubrey Lewis, but reports have it that Coach Gary Anderson will field a better balanced team than a year ago. Orange will be piloted by Russ Monica, who succeeds John Moorehead. Montclair, with Bernie Peoples, will be running once again.

BELBOYS TO MEET EAST ORANGE SAT. AT STADIUM HERE

By Mal Condon

Belleville high school's pigskin season will open Saturday at 2 p. m. in Municipal Stadium when the Bellboys clash with East Orange.

Coach Ed Berlinski and his able assistants, Jitsy Wiche and Ray Smith have not yet decided on the starting line-up, but it will probably shape up along these lines:

Bob Fuganelli, who was bothered by a hip injury last week at fullback; veteran Joe Mignon, left half; Jim Apple, at right half; Steve Ron Bergamini, suffering from a badly twisted ankle; and Frank Puleo, who has shown rapid improvement, direct-line back.

The line will probably consist of Joe Casale at center with the guard positions filled by captain Jack McCabe and Tom Donlin. Richard Macaluso and Larry Corio should be back tackle spots, with the ends covered by Dave Oliphin and Bob Costello.

Bob has been hampered by a foot injury, and may be replaced by either Richie Hange, Jerry Flore or Joe Brown, reserve end. Others who will probably see service, either on the offense or defense, include guards John Bucardini and Mike Del Bon, and tackle Bob Lane. On defense, Berlinski will probably use Harry Glass and Wayne Woodley as a sophomore on the squad who did some excellent line-backing in last year's scrimmage.

With East Orange in the same predicament as Belleville as to reserve strength, and if the Bellboys are not plagued by injuries, they should be able to give an excellent account of themselves.

500 WILL ATTEND SCOUT CAMPOREE AT CAMP ALPINE

Plans for the annual fall district Camporee to be held at Camp Alpine in Closter, N. J., Oct. 15-17, were outlined yesterday night at the first fall countable held at Recreation House.

F. Douglas Wadsworth, district commissioner, who presided, announced that all Belleville Explorer Posts will attend the Camporee, with more than 500 boys participating. The program was conducted by Fred L. Barlett and Fred Grabau, neighborhood commissioners.

Commissioner Wadsworth also revealed yesterday that two members of Troop 362, Bethany Lutheran Church, had won Eagle rank. They are Peter Sorge, Jr., son of Peter Sorge, 277 New Street, and Michael Mauro son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Mauro of 283 Division Avenue. Scoutmaster for the troop is Vincent Savage.

In another news release, the Rev. Thomas G. Gillick of the Church of St. Anthony announced plans for organization of the first Cub Pack in the Silver Lake area. The first meeting is to be held Oct. 4 at the parish hall, beginning at 8 p. m. Parents of boys from eight to ten years old who are associated with the parish were invited to attend. The parish already sponsors Troop 387.

Another meeting will be held by the Belleville district committee next Tuesday at Wasserman's, Cortland and Jaramon Streets. Charles M. Mott, committee chairman, will preside. Reports will be made by Henry Minasian, advancement; Harry Ness, camping; Walter Finch, organization; and Leslie Jones, extension.

Boy Scout headquarters said that this summer marked the biggest attendance at Camp Mohican in its 28 years. Of the 918 campers, 147 were from Belleville. Plans are already being drawn for next season, with most of the key positions for the camp organization already filled. Charles Crane, 291 Union Avenue, has been named waterfront director, it was announced.

Who's The Softball Boss?

To The Sports Editor:

Who is running the Belleville Industrial Softball League? The schedule, playing and personnel changes throughout the season have me wondering if I should call Bob Cook, Ed Evans or a Mr. Callen, who thinks he is the head of the league.

It was planned to have the first four teams play an elimination tournament. Our team, Bart's, was to play Wilbur Driver and Federal Leather was to play Pittsburgh Plate Glass. The victors were to meet to decide the winner of the league playoff trophy.

There was also a trophy set up for the first and second place teams to decide who won the league. There were Federal Leather which lost only one, and to Bart's for second place who lost two games.

There was quite a mix-up in the ranked out games and the trouble was that the very first game of the league, but that is secondary. The main issue is the players who were called off. There was also a trophy to go to the winner of the other league in Belleville.

Mr. Callen's "suggestion" to award the trophy to the team that won the first game was a nice arrangement because his team was in first place and would get the best trophy. I would like to see the trophy given to the team that won the first game, but I would like to see the trophy given to the team that won the first game.

We asked to have a game with our trophy against Federal Leather's trophy which they had won. They won just by being in the league, and were turned down. Our league is still on record, Mr. Callen!

"Congressman Rodino is a man who backs the people and who has proven his interest in them. The best proof of the recognition of his excellent service to the people of the district and their satisfaction with his record was his smashing victory two years ago when he unseated the national landslide."

Sullivan said that the campaign headquarters at 556 Broad Street in Newark was accepting endorsements and that they would be announced as received.

FIRE PREVENTION
SAFETY MEASURES

Belleville will join with thousands of other communities across the country in observing Fire Prevention Week which President Eisenhower has proclaimed for the week of October 3-9.

All Belleville schools, stores, factories and apartment houses are expected twice a year, the second inspection coinciding with Fire Prevention Week, the oldest and most widely observed of all special weeks. The fire department normally sends speakers to the schools to stress the fire prevention message and plan talks during the week.

The aim during Fire Prevention Week, Fire Department officials said, will be to sell everyone on the idea that fire prevention is a life and death matter; that each individual owes it to himself, to his family and his community to think and act fire-safe every minute of the day the year-around. This year's slogan is, "Let's grow up — not burn up."

One out of three home fires is caused by carelessness with matches or cigarettes. Next principal cause is persons who neglect to inspect, clean and repair their heating system and chimneys at least once a year.

Overloaded or unsafe electrical circuits and poor wiring; carelessness around the kitchen stove; misusing and improperly storing inflammable liquids; and putting hot ashes and coals near combustible materials. These six causes are responsible for 85% of home fires, one of which breaks out every 30 seconds.

One of the best ways to protect your life and home is to have an inspection by experts — your firemen.

Urging everyone's cooperation in the Belleville Home Fire Inspection Program, officials pointed out that the International Association of Fire Chiefs is sponsoring a nationwide inspection program as the

The Way Of Grapes

Samuel Butler taught me to eat grapes. Downward, he called it—starting with the best. Among those ripe and large and luscious shapes. Then the most nearly perfect of the rest. Till the last grape was reached—and it was good. Being by then the best available. So every choice was cause for gratitude. And every taste was savored to the full. He bought them from a barrow, I suppose. Where autumn sunset filled his London street. He stood considering before he chose. For it was something more than fruit to eat. The grapes set on my table are intended. For eating downward, as he recommended.

Hartley, The Matador

Whatever hopes the Republican party might have had of retaining both New Jersey seats in the U. S. Senate by electing Clifford Case can only have suffered another telling blow from Fred Hartley's defection, this week. Hartley has no tremendous personal following, but he has undenied courage and, in his radio appearance, he said what many hundreds of thousands of other Republicans are thinking.

If the election was to take place next Tuesday, instead of five weeks from now, there can be little doubt that Democrat Charles Howell would defeat Republican Clifford Case. There may be some who would deny that, but there is, undeniably, a bitter anti-Case current which is spreading to all of New Jersey.

Case has a way of stating his mind, just as he did when he jumped into the middle of the McCarthy-Army dispute and swore that if he was elected to the Senate he would lead a movement to deny the Wisconsin Senator the chairmanship of his investigating committee. But it must be clear to Case now that he cannot win an election in New Jersey on an issue of McCarthy.

The CIO-PAC, the AF of L and the Americans for Democratic Action, who were the only public to whom Case's foolish anti-McCarthy diatribe might have had an appeal, have all turned him down. They have given their support to Howell.

Hartley may or may not have personal ambitions to go to the Senate as a common candidate. If the anti-Case G. O. P. Old Guard has its way and forces Case out as the official candidate, in an eleventh-hour effort to save New Jersey for the party, the choice should go not to Hartley, the matador, but to Senator Robert Hendrickson, the incumbent, whose shutting aside after one term in favor of Case never has yet been explained by the Republican state leaders who, apparently, would be hard put to give any viable reason.

At that, the New Jersey Republican leadership is no more inept than is the party's national leadership. There is but one G. O. P. personality of national repute who seems to make sense, and that is Vice President Richard Nixon. And it is fresh in the memories of all of us that he had to prostrate himself, in humble apology, to retain the second place on the ticket when the Democrats, with an indecency born of desperation, tried to make political capital out of a "first aid" slush fund.

How foolish do Sherman Adams, Bernard Shanley and the other "advisors" around President Eisenhower to have encouraged the Army to "pin McCarthy's ears back." Had McCarthy been allowed to proceed with his investigations of Communist infiltration of our national defenses, instead of having to fight his way through road blocks thrown up by the Zwickers, et al, under the Pentagon's directives, he could have, by now, uncovered enough evidence of Communist intrigue to have hung the past Democratic administration. The G. O. P. might have been able to have made productive political capital in the November election out of his accomplishments. Instead, the G. O. P. did just what the Democratic leadership wanted done and "pinned McCarthy's ears back."

McCarthy's investigation of Communism has all but halted. If Case is elected, and if he has his way, he will introduce legislation to prevent McCarthy becoming chairman, again, of his investigating committee.

We were told by administration mouthpieces that McCarthy was but an individual and that even if he was eliminated from his job, the tracking down of Communists in high places would go on. Has it gone on? Has one Communist been trapped since McCarthy was silenced? Has the FBI trapped a single Communist honeycombed in our national defenses? Has the administration, through any or all of its legal agencies, caught one infiltrated Communist? Has the Army, now unbothered by McCarthy's deep probing, caught one Communist in its research centers? Has anyone, anywhere in the national government caught one Communist?

Perhaps Case has the answers to those questions. If he has, it would be timely and instructive to hear them.

One Man's Opinion

Dulles Will Enter Tuesday's 9-Power Conference In London Determined To Win Full Sovereignty For Bonn

By RALPH E. HEINZEN

The strategy of Pierre Mendes-France in killing off the European Defense Community treaty, and the European supranational army, is clear to Secretary of State Dulles—at Geneva, in striking a bargain for peace in Indochina, the French Premier struck some kind of a bargain with Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov to kill off the European Army, hated in Paris almost as much as in Moscow because of the rearmament German divisions.

That explains why Mr. Dulles by-passed Paris in his swing through Europe which set the stage for next Tuesday's 9-power conference in London which has been called to try and find a next-best substitute for EDC. This explanation that he did not have time to stop in Paris seems silly in view of his three-day duck hunting holiday at his Ontario lake home.

The truth is that Mr. Dulles is very angry with Monsieur Mendes-France because the Frenchman did not tell him of his secret bargain with Molotov and because he did not tip off the State Department that he had no intention of fighting, in Parliament, or risking the fate of his cabinet on a confidence vote to force EDC through a hesitating Chamber of Deputies.

Angry With French

He is angry, too, because the Mendes-France maneuver almost upset Dr. Konrad Adenauer, the West German Chancellor, whose position still is precarious, but was almost hopeless immediately following the surprise French rejection of EDC.

Adenauer had built his whole policy on winning sovereignty and an army for Germany. Dulles had built his whole anti-Communist foreign policy on a strong West Germany. Adenauer's collapse would have been a tragic blow to Dulles' prestige at home and abroad. And Dulles cannot forgive or forget that.

Lean Towards Bonn

The American view is that

West German sovereignty and the German military participation in NATO are matters needing quick action and approval. The French proposal to delay West Germany into the Brussels pact but delay West German association with NATO frustrated on in Washington as both inadequate and provocative.

The restrictions that France would put on West German military production and military strength are considered unacceptable, not so much to the U.S. as to Bonn, which since the collapse of EDC has stepped up its price for cooperation and association with the West.

At the moment, Washington's approach to these coming conferences is more negative than positive. It is against any delay in granting sovereignty to West Germany; it opposes any wide limitation to that sovereignty. It opposes any delay in rearming West Germany; and it is against any restrictions on West Germany that suggests second-class membership for Bonn in the free world family of nations.

Our Position Unknown

Washington, which accepted the invitation to Tuesday's nine-power meeting in London without enthusiasm, is not optimistic about results. Whereas the British have made known the substance of the proposals they expect to support at these conferences, and French Premier Pierre Mendes-France has circulated his views among the capitals, as well as detailed them at a speech in Strasbourg, the United States is still unable to unveil any substitute it may be espousing.

It is current belief in Washington that as he prepares to leave, Dulles and his aides in the State Department are still studying the Eden proposals and the Mendes-France memorandum to see just what Washington's allies are recommending. It is doubtful if any position will be taken by the United States Government until Dulles actually arrives in London, other than support of broad principles that need to be spelled out.

Basis Of Negotiation

It is known, however, that Washington feels that some of the Mendes-France suggestions appear to restrict German rearmament and sovereignty more than is either necessary or possible. There appear to be certain surface objections to various features of both British and French proposals, at least as viewed in fact.

In Washington. The French suggestions seem to postpone West German participation in NATO indefinitely, while the British proposals would appear to take a long time to translate it into fact.

"Thank You, Mr. Edison!"

Says Reddy Kilowatt

From the first practical incandescent lamp which was invented by Thomas A. Edison 75 years ago at Menlo Park in New Jersey have come the modern electric generating stations which make dependable, low-cost electricity available to you 24 hours a day.

This year Public Service joins with the entire electrical industry in celebrating Light's Diamond Jubilee.

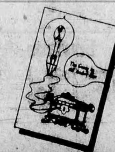

If today's efficient generating stations had not been developed, it would have been impossible to bring electric service to so many millions of people at such low cost. Edison built the first central service power plant on Pearl Street, New York, and from it have sprung the hundreds of coal and oil burning steam generating stations throughout the country.

Public Service is continuing to expand its generating and distribution system to stay well ahead of your demands for electric service. Recently, plans were announced to construct a new generating station which will cost about $100,000,000 and will be in operation in approximately three years. This demonstrates that Public Service and the entire electric industry are still on the march, begun by the advent of the incandescent lamp which is being celebrated during Light's Diamond Jubilee.

Yes, it's true—thanks to Mr. Edison, electricity does so much... costs so little!

Write for a copy of the new book, "The Story of the Electric Industry," which tells of the development of the electric industry. Write Public Service Electric and Gas Co., 30 Park Place, Newark 1, New Jersey.

Letters To The Editor

To the Editor, Times-News:

Some months ago the matter of pathway adjacent to my home became the subject of local governmental action. Consequently, I have attended many recent Commission meetings in connection with the handling of the pathway matter. I must commend the present Board of Commissioners and its predecessors for their sincere efforts to adjust this situation.

At these meetings the desire of our elected officers to allow persons to fully express themselves was plainly evident.

The adoption in August of a resolution providing rules pertaining to the conduct of citizens addressing the Board has been primarily caused by the antics of one particular individual. He is a defeated candidate who has been constantly in attendance at the meetings. He is repeatedly on his feet addressing the Board on all subjects whether he has intimate knowledge of the subjects or otherwise. This individual is far from convincingly sincere on those who have to endure listening. He is the type who apparently has no use for anything but the sound of his own voice. He monopolizes the floor at most meetings to the extent of speaking more often than not for a period of over thirty minutes. He interrupts other speakers. He is usually a jumping jack-in-the-box, arises to his feet and bellowing in a loud and penetrating manner when resolutions are being read; when other periods are attempting to talk and, in short, constantly violates the rules of proper decorum and parliamentary procedure. If the rule limiting the time of speakers does nothing else, it will keep this gentleman's public speaking activities. He has learned nothing about terminal facilities in oratory heretofore, and his becoming acquainted with the quality of brevity will be good for him and a boon to the citizens of this town.

At the meeting of September 14th the decorum and general tone of the meeting was greatly improved because of the rules. The attitude of the Commissioners in recommending Section 4 of the rules shows a desire to cooperate with the will of the people. In my opinion Section 4 of the rules, which was deleted, should be viewed as the Mayor explained. Its purpose was to have a proper listing of persons who desired to speak. Because of the fact that other interpretations could be made as to its purpose, the Commissioners in a graceful and conciliatory manner discarded the rule.

Let us not be misled by our loud speaking critic, who now, in a cringing manner, is attempting to impress the citizens that he is a martyr and being gagged. The Commissioners are entitled to a fair and impartial trial of their attempt to inject much needed business-like decorum and proper procedure insofar as the portion of the meetings devoted to remarks from the public is concerned.

Mrs. Josephine R. Phelps, 208 Beech Street.

A vast army of loyal volunteer workers of the Essex County Cancer Society have just concluded a very successful 1954 Cancer Campaign.

The splendid assistance of the Belleville Times-News enabled our Society to raise the largest sum ever attained. The quota of $191,000 was topped by a total of $241,229. These contributions are used for Research, Education and Service in our fight against cancer.

Please accept my very grateful appreciation for your continued help.

To the Editor, Times-News:

It would seem to me that the last thing for Belleville to do would be to vote for a change in government. I have been a resident of Belleville for many years, seen many commissioners come and go, and find we still have a pretty fine town.

As non-participant in any of these so-called "civic associations", I have often occurred to me to ask one question: Who do these groups represent? A neighbor of mine attended several meetings of one of the "associations". To his surprise, only seven persons were present at one meeting and five at another. Is this a representative group that merits such grandiose publicity and headlines, calling for changes in government?

I never did like one-man dictatorships and that is what we would wind up having, despite any Assurance from the Charter Commission to the contrary. I recognize one fact and that is the equal-manager form of government is going to cost the taxpayer more money to run the Town Hall, and I don't think any savings in alleged "economical operations" would offset the increased administrative costs.

To the Editor, Times-News:

On September 1, my two-and-a-half year old son was rushed to Soho Hospital. We did not know if he had meningitis or polio. For five hours we prayed and waited. It turned out he had epidemic meningitis and within eight days he was home again with the family and being as active and as normal as ever.

I'd like to publish my thanks to the whole staff at the Essex County Isolation Hospital. When my son was on the road to recovery I had time to think that I had never heard any reports about Soho Hospital. I began to wonder about the staff and the treatment they gave patients. After one visit up there my fears of mistreatment or neglect were completely erased from my mind. From the officer who directs the traffic in the parking lot right on through to the top doctors, I could not have wished for nicer people. They seem to take things so well in stride and my little boy came home loving each and every one who attended him. I thought if the people of Belleville could hear from me how wonderful the Hospital and its staff are they might give the place a little more thought than I ever did in my whole lifetime here in Belleville. We could not ask for a cleaner hospital or nicer people to tend it.

There are a lot of children there who have no parents or families. The nurses are wonderful to these children. I came to know several of them and felt pity for them. They did not even have toys to help pass the hours of isolation for them. One day I stopped at the Toyfair Store on Washington Avenue to buy a few inexpensive toys for these young unfortunates. The owner of the store listened to me tell about them and when I arrived at the hospital I had with me a huge bag just loaded down with wonderful toys for the children with no parents, which this man had donated. My many thanks to him.

Through this experience with him and my association with the staff of Essex County Isolation Hospital I have really learned that the town of Belleville is really the most wonderful town in which to live.

TEEN-AGE DATING CAUSES CONCERN TO MOST PARENTS

"Why Susie's just a child!" say fond parents. "She's much too young to be going out with boys and thinking about dates!"

There's no magic number to show the age at which youngsters should begin to date. It's like a baby's first step. You have a general idea, then suddenly it happens. The youngster really determines when to start dating. That's when he's interested in starting—and it's in early adolescence, says Phyllis Page Bradshaw, specialist in human relations at Rutgers University.

Beginning to date usually frightens parents because they still think of their youngster as a child. Here's Susie, who's always been their child and all of a sudden one fine day she wants to have a date! Parents immediately think that if she begins to have dates, she'll be married in time at all.

It's true that dating is starting out to choose a wife or husband. But parents can be comforted when they realize that dating is the very first step in that process. And, certainly in most cases, there are many years between.

Of course, parents can't think of their child as a statistic. Even so, it helps to realize that the age for marriages is getting younger each year. Also that young people are beginning to date earlier than when parents were in school. That is just as well, too. The more different dates a youngster has, the more likely he will be to find out what kind of people there are in the world and what kind of person he likes to be with. Eventually, he can make a better decision about what kind of person to marry.

Clerical Jobs Open For Women In Army Reserve

Thompson, of 1 Elmwood Avenue, Commandant of the US Army Reserve School, at the Kearny Shipyard, announces an opportunity for young women between the ages of 18 to 34 to serve in the Women's Army Corps Reserve with pay and allowances, and without disruption of their civilian jobs or activities.

"Young women who can devote two hours, one evening a week are urgently needed," Thompson said, "especially for typing and clerical jobs." Information may be obtained by calling Major "Bobby" WAC, recruiting officer for the school, at Market 4-8800, Ext. 12.
