

Anti-Charter Rally Next Tuesday; Cite Newark "Situation"

A mass meeting which political organizations supporting each of the five members of the Town Commission will attend, and to which the general public has been invited, will be held next Tuesday at the Elks Club, beginning at 8 p. m., it was announced last night by the Citizen Committee, which is sponsoring the rally, and which opposes the Charter Study report favoring council-manager government.

SCHOOL BOARD LAY COMMITTEE MEETS ON SCHOOL PLAN

The lay committee of the Board of Education was scheduled to meet last night for a further discussion of the problem presented by the increased estimates for construction of the proposed new high school. Plans for a bond issue referendum on the project have been stalled as a result. The lay committee is seeking out a solution which it can recommend to the board.

Original estimates had placed the cost at $3,290,000. Last week the architects said that actually the figure should have been $4,485,000. Then several days later the architects again revised their estimates, and placed the cost at $5,615,000. Both the board and the lay committee think the figure is still too high.

"One thing is certain, we are determined to move as rapidly as possible in finding a solution," John Boyd, chairman of the lay committee, said last night.

"As for the building additions for Schools No. 3 and 7, we believe that the school board will ask for bond issue referendum for these projects this year."

"Political maneuvering has been so prominent since the change-over, that it has become a government, essential to efficient operation, have been blocked. The mayor of Newark criticized, and the Newark newspaper rapped, the council for outright politics. Twice the mayor has refused to ratify appointments. One of the appointments, nominated for the key post of chief of police, was not endorsed by Chambers of Commerce, labor organizations and other civic groups, but was selected by the council by a close margin."

At Around The Town

Out of 185 voters cast by town employees in a secret ballot on the question of whether or not to support a change to the council-manager government, only three favored such a move while the other 182 voted to retain the present commission form of government. The result was announced last night by the president of the Belleville Employees' Mutual Benevolent Association, who took the tally. Other officers of the Association are Vincent Mastacchio, vice president; Martin Maloney, secretary; and Arthur S. Ackerman, treasurer.

O'Connor said that the organization will "generally participate with other groups opposed to the change of government as proposed by the Charter Study group."

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, director of public parks and property, has informed school authorities that unless Municipal Stadium is promptly cleaned up following school athletic events staged there, he will close the stadium to such school events, were told yesterday.

Joseph Migron, co-captain of the Belleville high school team, who plays at halfback, and Dave Olphin, an end, have both withdrawn from the team because of injuries. Both are seniors. Migron, one of the best prep school track athletes in the state, pulled out in his leg earlier in the season, and decided he had better give up football before actually ruining his chances on the gridiron.

Mrs. Ann Francisco, 72, of Montclair, was just leaving a wedding reception which she had attended at the Elks Club here when she caught the heel of her shoe on the stairs and fell. A police X-ray examination.

Thieves, believed to be juveniles, broke into the White House laundry at 185 Newark Avenue and stole a watch. The charge was also checking to see if any clothes were missing.

Fewsmith Women's Guild To See Slides On Church

The monthly meeting of the Women's Guild of Fewsmith Methodist church was held last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. James K. Morse, wife of the pastor, presented slides on the church's activities and a business meeting and refreshments followed.

COMMISSION TRYS TO BEFUDDLE THE ISSUES-SHAFTER

Charging that members of the Town Commission are "waging a campaign of fear fifth which they hope to befuddle the issues," Richard A. Shafter, campaign manager for the Belleville City Congress, which is backing the move for a change to council-manager government, last night denied a contention by the commissioners that supporters of the Charter Study represented a "minority" of Belleville's citizens.

"The people of this town voted five to one for a Charter Study in the May election, and that could be no stretch of the imagination be called a minority vote," Mr. Shafter declared. "To every thinking man and woman that vote could have meant nothing less than that five of every six citizens felt that commission government could no longer do the job of adequately administering the town's business, and that it was time for a change. Why should they have otherwise voted for a charter study?"

"That a Charter Study would also eventually result in recommendation by the Charter Commission for a more efficient and economical form of administration must have been obvious to everyone, including the five incumbent commissioners who now claim ignorance of the utter logical consequence of the Study."

"No weasel-wording can get the commissioners off the hook now. By supporting the Study in May, with whatever reservations they may have had, they indicated clearly at the time that they, too, felt a Charter revision was necessary, a matter which they have to live with now."

Referring to a joint statement by the five commissioners in which they declared that "the council-manager form of government would only sell the citizens into a tax bond," Shafter said:

"While loudly disclaiming that they intend to wage a campaign of fear, the commissioners are doing exactly that by indiscriminately broadcasting such rash and ill-vised utterances, designed to befuddle the issues that confront the voters in the November referendum. Of course the commissioners are not alone in this. They are joined by the fact that they are better known for their lack of candor than for their lack of political expediency."

As another example of what he called "the commissioners' lack of candor," Shafter cited a statement by the commissioners that "towns that have adopted the council-manager form of government have done so because of the following reasons: increased efficiency, economy, and better service to the citizenry."

CONGREGATION TO HONOR JUDGE AT SERVICES TONIGHT

In recognition of his work as a member of his congregation, and of his community, Magistrate Edward J. Abramson will be honored by Belleville's Jewish community at Sabbath Eve services tonight at 8:30 at the Ahavath Achim Synagogue.

Participating in the service will be Dr. Benjamin A. Jacobson, rabbi of the congregation, and trustees: Samuel J. Kogan, immediate past chairman of the board, and Rabbi of the congregation. An open invitation to attend was extended to the public.

An "Oneg Shabbath" will follow the services in the vestry room. Hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames Morris Gansman, Abe Gryn, Will Yudin, and Benjamin A. Jacobson.

President of the congregation for a period of nine years, Judge Abramson has also served as chairman of the board, of which he is presently a member.

Plans for the new Jewish center and synagogue now under construction on Academy Street, were begun under his leadership, and he is credited with having done much to enlarge the membership of the congregation.

Judge Abramson was first appointed to the magistracy's post in 1933 to fill the unexpired term of George P. Steinmetz. He was again named as magistrate in 1951.

A resident of Belleville for 45 years, he has been an active figure in the community, and is a member of the Community Chest's Board of Trustees, and the Veterans' Housing Board, and an advisor to the Belleville-Nutley-North Newark draft board.

He is a member of the Masons, Western, Lodge 279, the Belleville Elks, and the B'nai B'rith, and was the first president of Congregation Ahavath Achim's Progress Club.

The Judge won his law degree at Rutgers in 1927, was admitted to the bar in 1928, and became a member of the New Jersey bar in 1931. His law office is in Newark.

Judge Abramson lives at 45 Lloyd Place with his wife, the former Ruth Kenney of Newark, and their two children — Judith, 17, and Paula, 15.

CONTRIBUTION—Mrs. Patrick J. Antonelli of 40 Fairview Place hands over her coin-filled envelope to three volunteer workers in advance of the Community Chest campaign for funds, which opened today. In the center is Mrs. Edward Rochau, chairman of the house-to-house drive. At left is Mrs. Lester Verdon, 31 Fairview Place, and at right, Mrs. Stephen Vogel, 65 Hill Street. Both are division captains.

Chest Fund Drive Is Launched Today

Belleville today launched its Community Chest fund-raising campaign, with the goal for the drive set at $43,386. Volunteer workers under the direction of Mrs. Edward Rochau began a house-to-house collection of coin envelopes mailed earlier to residents, and also visited stores in areas other than along Washington Avenue.

A concentrated two-day door-to-door drive is planned by Mrs. Rochau for Oct. 21 and 22.

Residents who have not received coin envelopes through the mail were invited to greet the volunteer solicitors with donations in hand. Solicitation of Washington Avenue stores is under the direction of Donald T. Bray. Other divisions include Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith and George Toto, co-chairmen, industrial corporations and employees; Herman Holender, commercial; Dr. Palmer D. Burde, professional; Ruel E. Daniels, school maintenance; C. R. Hornefield, purveyors; Rev. O. W. Chaplin, church organizations; William A. Frey, civic organizations; and Jerome Korman, business.

Boy Scouts yesterday started delivery of "flyers" to homes throughout the town announcing the Oct. 21-22 drive, and it was also announced that a sound truck would cruise the streets on Oct. 20 to call attention to the special two-day campaign.

William C. Smith, general chairman for the overall drive, urged residents to make their contributions as liberal as possible, and stressed the growing need of Community Chest agencies.

New Executive Director Is Named For Family Service

Appointment of Mr. Mary S. Fawcett of West Orange as the new executive director of the Belleville Family Service, a Community Chest agency, was announced yesterday. She succeeds Mrs. Helen McCarty, who returned to Baltimore because of illness.

A specialist in marriage counseling, Mrs. Fawcett said that under her direction the agency will handle all cases except by creating a disturbance. The membership of the Association is made up of citizens whose roots run deep into the town's history, and people who have settled in Belleville more recently, because of the cultural and economic advantages made possible through the sound policies of its governing officials. We are not unmindful of the fact that many of those who fail to appreciate what Belleville's officials have accomplished in the past 22 years.

"The manner in which they have conducted the affairs of our town and community is a credit to them, and we are proud to have them as part of our town's business on a magnificent balance in good times, and even in the worst of times."

"We intend to help not only the town, but the state and the nation as a whole."

"It is common practice for an undisciplined child to tear a perfectly good toy apart and leave the pieces to be salvaged by more mature persons. There are adults with the same tendencies, and the same lack of self-discipline. They readily tear down that which they cannot reconstruct, then fade out of the picture until the damage is repaired. Likewise, persons who have no ability whatever in fixturing can be found at the risk-averse end of the spectrum, and the trained leaders. It's about time the responsible citizens made it clear that these civic stumbling blocks that our government is not

Upvarious Meeting Hears Charter Study Report On Council-Manager Gov't.

Seventeen-year-old Arlene Whycheil, a Belleville high school senior, sat quietly listening at a town hall meeting Monday night. The Charter Study Commission was outlining its reasons for favoring the council-manager form of government, while supporters of the present commission government violently objected to the Charter group's conclusions in an uproarious gathering which saw frequent outbursts between individual partisans of both sides in the audience.

COUNCIL-MANAGER RECORD REVIEWED BY CHARTER STUDY

By Boyd Hartley

Council-Manager Government has been recommended by the Charter Study Commission after a thorough, impartial study of the forms of municipal government available for adoption by the voters of Belleville. The opponents of the recommendation have been very loud in their condemnation of Council-Manager Government and have charged that the Charter Study Commission did not look at the record of Council-Manager Government as "tax-rat" and "sold Belleville down the river."

The Charter Study Commission does not look at the record of Council-Manager Government as "tax-rat" and "sold Belleville down the river." The Charter Study Commission does not look at the record of Council-Manager Government as "tax-rat" and "sold Belleville down the river."

Later, Arlene, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore V. Whycheil, said that she was interested as a citizen in municipal affairs, she had no intention of becoming a politician, and had chosen nursing as a career.

Boyd Hartley, chairman of the Charter Study Commission, who presided at the meeting, and was frequently the subject of attack by opponents of the Study, praised Arlene for her "courage in speaking up," then gently told her:

"People have a tendency to interject their own opinions, which when they feel strongly about an issue, but for the chair to rule with an iron hand is not always democratic. There have been many violations here tonight of common courtesy, but perhaps the meeting has not been quite as bad as you think. I do know that we are all grateful for having heard you."

Arlene was summarized one point in the opinions expressed at the meeting by other supporters of the change to council-manager government.

But that was one point of view. Supporters of commission government, on the other hand, said that the energy with which they had presented their arguments was motivated by their conviction that Belleville would make a grave mistake if it abandoned the commission form.

HOLD LOCAL MAN IN INVESTIGATION OF AUTO THEFTS

Charles Savi, 22, of 262 North Belmont Avenue, this week was refused reduction of the $50,000 bail under which he is held in Newark on the charge that he is allegedly involved in a car-stealing ring.

Savi was arrested while working at a bakery. But Assistant Prosecutor Sanford Freeman asked the judge not to reduce the bail until New York police had completed their investigation.

Belleville police were investigating to see whether the alleged ring had been responsible for any auto thefts here. Two cars stolen here were found in Hattin, Wall, and New York police have recovered ten more there.

REPORT MONDAY ON INVESTIGATION OF SCHOOL BOARD

Kenneth Woodbury, associate commissioner of the State Board of Education, told the Belleville Times-News in Trenton last night that an investigation of the Belleville Board of Education's business methods had been completed, and that he understood the findings would be forwarded to Belleville next Monday.

He did not state who would receive the report, but it was understood that copies would be sent to both the Belleville Board of Education and the Belleville Citizens Association.

The Association had first asked for the investigation several months ago, and the school board had been asked to make a statement, but no response had been received, claiming that "too many loose allegations have been flung around, and the board is not sure the facts should be determined and made public." Ruel E. Daniels, board business manager, declared that he had also asked the state body to take similar action.

An Essex County Grand jury some months ago, returned a presentment against Daniels and three school board members, criticizing the board's business among other things.

The State Board of Education, in announcing that it would undertake the investigation, specified that it would not touch on any allegations contained in the presentment other than the business administration question.

Commission Meeting Ends In Controversy

A routine Town Commission meeting with little business on hand exploded into a heated discussion of the respective merits of the commission and council-manager forms of municipal government, set off when James R. Golden, who favors the abandonment of Belleville's commission government, got up to state his views.

Before the meeting had ended, Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith, Robert C. Gruhn, a commission supporter, and Boyd Hartley, chairman of the Charter Study Commission, all had expressed their opinions.

The climax came when Golden, after having generally criticized administration policies, said he objected to the granting of a salary increase to Commissioner Smith, who obtained a six month salary increase in 1953, and who had been promoted to police chief, to run for election to the Town Commission. Golden said that Smith had decided not to run again for office in the event the November referendum vote favored council-manager government, he would probably then return to the police department, and there would be in a position to "intimidate" his political opponents.

Smith responded that never in his 26 years as a police officer had he ever attempted to intimidate anyone.

"Don't tell me you never tried to intimidate anyone," Golden retorted. "I have known you for 26 years, and I know you are a politician. A few years ago, when I opposed a pay raise for the police department because it didn't fit the town, was able to afford the raise at that time, you asked me to resign, because you didn't want to discontinue my opposition."

Harvest-Time Dinner Wednesday Night At Wesley

More than 400 guests will sit down to an old-fashioned, country style turkey dinner Wednesday night at the newly decorated dining rooms of Wesley Methodist Church. The meal will be served family style between 5 and 8 p. m. and a special prize will be awarded the diner with the largest waistline.

Every Wesley organization is cooperating in this affair and they extend a cordial invitation to all to join in the festivities. Tickets are $1.75 for adults and $1.00 for children and may be obtained from church members, at Treche's or Dean's Gift Shops, or at the door.

A surprise family gathering was held Monday night at the home of Mrs. Harold Hollar, of 24 Smith Street, in honor of their father, former police captain James F. Flynn, in celebration of his 80th birthday. He retired in 1931 after 24 years on the force.

Mrs. John Flynn, of 26 Howard Place, and daughter, Mrs. McShane, of Long Island, have returned from a two-week vacation in Los Angeles, where they stayed with Mrs. Flynn's cousin.

Folks in the White Oak section may have been wondering about those odd noises they've been hearing. Have the noisy children in the neighborhood, who attend No. 5 school, are trying out the school's symphony and parents have rented various musical instruments for them. To date, the White Oak Philharmonic contains the following: 3 violins, stacked up by Christine Stok, Ronald Janoff and Paul Blikk; 2 violas, by bugle, Harry Burke and one saxophone, Buddy Mulvey. No drums in sight.

Five Belleville high school graduates are pursuing secretarial careers at the Jersey School in East Orange. They are Shirley Pownall, of 84 Malone Avenue; Palma Dignio, of 83 Hecken Street; Joyce Miller, of 232 Franklin Avenue; Grace Roselli, of 164 Belmont Avenue.

The annual supper and sale of the Redeemer Ladies Aid Society of Redeemer Lutheran church will be held Wednesday and Thursday in the parish hall. Mrs. Richard H. Fischbeck will be assisted by the following Belleville women: the Mesdames Huemer, Meyer, Schick, Miller, Turken, Miller, Carter, Friedman, Hitting, Todd, Lish and Tobler.

John Steinbeck's latest novel, "Sweet Thursday," will be reviewed at the Newark Public Library on Wednesday during the mid-day book review series, by Frank Dempsey. The popular luncheon series are held in the reading room from 12:25 to 12:50 and 1:25 to 1:50.

If you're looking for something really special in the way of greeting cards, drop into Mostman's Book Shop, 20 Academy Street, Newark. They've got a vast assortment in their store, which was made to order for "browsing" and if astrology happens to fascinate you, chat with the lady who rings up your sale, she's an expert on the subject.

Joseph L. Pendlebury, 51 Parkway Avenue, mechanic, said "People have more confidence in the Democratic party. They are doing more for you, cause the Republicans will lose control."

Mrs. Maxwell Feldman, 71 Branch Brook Drive, housewife—"The whole country is going to vote for the Democrats. The Republicans are sure to win November."

Mrs. Evan Wolf, 216 Greylock Parkway, housewife—"The cost of living is too high, the Republicans were supposed to bring it down. They haven't. People are continually being let off. The Democrats will take over Congress."

Mrs. Howard Cotton, 6 Division Avenue, housewife—"The recent election in Maine is a good indication of what will happen all over the country. The Democrats will win."

Mrs. William Konrad, 36 Garden Avenue, housewife—"I think the Republicans will retain Congressional control. The people are well over the moon, cause present administration, so why change?"

Mrs. John Dean, 311 White Oak Terrace, housewife—"The domestic situation is very good, better than it has been for years. The Democrats haven't a chance to win."

Mrs. Edward Schatz, 217 Greylock Parkway, housewife—"Most people seem to feel a change is needed, and the Democrats have a good chance of winning."

Mrs. Howard Holmes, 479 Union Avenue, housewife—"People should realize with a Republican president in office, to put in Congress Democrats would cause party interests to come before national interests. But it's a matter of the personality of the local candidate and people just vote for their favorite."

ROBERT J. THORN TAKES AS BRIDE JUNE SINGERLAND

Miss June Shirley Slingerland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alford E. Slingerland, of 242 Prospect Avenue, East Orange, became the bride of Robert James Thorn, son of Mr. and Mrs. James H. Thorn, of 2 Wilber Street, on September 18 at Paterson Memorial church, West Orange. The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. W. McCall, Jr., and a reception followed at the Savoy Plaza.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride had as honor attendants Mrs. Darwin Werner. The Misses Margaret Waters, cousin of the groom, and Barbara Ridsdale, cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Robert James was best man and Arthur Slingerland and Walter Kurtz ushered. Mrs. John Tomaso, aunt of the bridegroom, was soloist.

Mrs. Thorn, a graduate of West Orange high school, is employed by Walter A. Beers, an attorney. Her husband was graduated from Belleville high school and is a petty officer third class, USN, stationed at Oceana, Va.

Basile - Rossi Marriage Is Solemnized In Holy Family

Holy Family Church was the setting, on Oct. 3, for the wedding of Miss Joanna Elizabeth Basile, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Basile, of 88 Charles Street, and Peter Raymond Rossi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rossi, of 70 Winthrop Street, Newark. Father Francis Blake officiated and the reception was held at the Robin Hood Inn, Clifton.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Dr. Basile wore a gown of Chantilly lace over velvet satin, and her fingertip veil fell from a tiara of net and sequins. She carried Rosette beads and orchids.

Miss Marietta Cicalese was maid of honor, in a yellow gown with a white lace jacket. Bridesmaids were Miss Anna Rossi, sister of the groom, in light green with white lace, and Miss Rose, sister of the groom, in light green with white lace. The flower girl was Carolyn Rolandelli, niece of the bridegroom.

Donald Zilotto served as best man and ushers included Henry and David Rossi, brothers of the groom, and George Kropalik, brother-in-law of the groom.

The bride is a graduate of Belleville high school. The groom is a graduate of Central high school. After a wedding trip to Florida, the couple will live in Newark.

High School Notes

The latest excitement about the high school seems to be the announcement made by Mr. Kite that no one may wear any jackets or sweaters that have the names of clubs on them to school.

The reason for this is because of the left out feeling of the girls who don't belong to any club. Also during the few weeks school has been in session there have been arguments between the clubs during school hours. We don't want outsiders to form a bad impression of Belleville High School. This is exactly what has happened and the only way it can be stopped or checked is by doing away with the privilege of wearing club jackets to school. The setback of all this is that some kids have only their club jackets to wear to school. Because they didn't know this new rule was going into effect, they brought club jackets instead of a regular winter coat.

A Jean Bojak had a pajama party at her house for the "Meddies". Among those present were Marilyn Myers, Shirley Scarpelli, Marilyn Torrence, Carol Miller, Barbara Kelly, Linda Pinadella and Peggy McNish.

The Antro-Nuts held their second pajama party of the year. Those who stayed up until 5:30 a.m. at Rhoda Moskowitz's house were Elaine Zaitz, Joyce Bauer, Angela Annichiaro, Joanne Russo, Geneva Rossi, Sandra Intorno, Irene Connolly, and Anne Carter.

We're sure the Antro-Nuts were surprised when they got a letter from the Mobiliers at 3:30 a.m.

Gerry Merola was really frightened when the Mobiliers showed up. He wanted to know what the girls were doing out at that hour. He said a good thing he was the other way around. They were there to give moral support, Gerry.

PADULA PRAISES HOWELL FOR HIS "LIBERAL" VOTE

Major Isadore J. Padula, who was the first Democrat to be elected to the office here in 20 years, said who is campaigning for the state of Democratic candidates in the November general election, today said that he was very much impressed by the "liberal" vote of Charles L. Howell, who was elected to the 1st Senate district because he is a liberal.

"One has to listen to all sorts of charges and counter-charges during a political campaign," he declared. "Some of the charges are enlightening, some beat all around the mulberry bush and some are where, while others should be given serious thought by the voting public." The latter category is the accusation that a candidate should not be elected because of his "liberal" record.

"What kind of a record is 'liberal' according to these who would bar such record makers? According to my dictionary, the word 'liberal' is defined as 'one who is progressive in thinking and principles.' It goes along with progressive thinking."

According to the record of Congressman Charles Howell, he has invested interest rates at 4 1/2 percent, and that the young men who fought in the military had a record of 100 percent training program. He believes that anyone who plots to overthrow our government should be given the death penalty.

"He is against admitting Red China to membership in the United Nations," he said. "He is for amending the Taft-Hartley Law, and for drastic punishment for anyone who is guilty of subversion projects. Every voter who works for a living should get a copy of the Constitution and decide for himself or herself whether he voted for while in Congress was in his best interest and the interest of the American people."

Congressman Charles Howell is now running for the United States Senate. He has not turned his back on any of his principles. He has not turned his back on those who believe that government is not by the people, but by a select few. He has not turned his back on those who believe that government is not by the people, but by a select few.

SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By Bob Gordin

Nothing To Be Ashamed Of

Belleville High lost its third successive game of the season to undefeated and unscored upon Nutley, 26-0, last Saturday at Municipal Stadium but the Blue and Gold have nothing to be ashamed of. The Bellboys faced one of the toughest teams in the state and gave the highly favored Maroon Raiders their stiffest competition this year. Prior to the Belleville-Nutley clash the Maroon Raiders trounced Orange, 42-0. The Bellboys will meet that same Orange squad on Thanksgiving Day. The 26 points scored by Nutley is the lowest total chalked up in three games. By losing to the Maroon the Varsity Club gave up possession of the game trophy to the Nutley Third Half Club.

Except for two beautiful touchdown runs on punt returns by Pete Hudec, the Belleville defense held up well. The best proof of that was reflected in Nutley's punting record. In the Maroon's two previous games against Central and Orange, Pete Codella, the squad's top kicking specialist, was forced to boot only once. Against Coach Ed Berinski's team, Codella was forced to punt four times and failed to get off a fifth kick when a bad pass from center resulted in Belleville taking possession on the Nutley 16-yard line.

Presented with an ideal opportunity to break into the scoring column for the first time this season, a fumble on the next play ended the short lived ray of hope for a score. The 5-4-2 defensive alignment set up by Berinski seemed to do the trick and stall the Nutley attack.

Although Belleville stalled the Nutley attack, the Blue and Gold offense couldn't generate any type of threat at all in the game. Nutley displayed unlimited power on the line and twice blocked punts as hard charging Don Olive broke through. Belleville should end its spell of scoreless games with a couple of touchdowns against West Side on Saturday.

Sign Up For "Rec" Basketball Now

Hal "Bud" Brand, of the Belleville Recreation Department, has announced the dates of organization meetings for both the Boys' Intermediate Basketball League (16-19 years) and the Men's Senior League. The hoops will be operated for Belleville residents only and will begin in early November.

The Intermediate League team managers or representatives will meet at the "R" House, in Joramelon Street, on Thursday, October 28 at 8 p. m. and the Men's Senior League will get together on Monday night at the same time. All of last year's players have been invited to attend by letter and "Bud" is extending an invitation to any new teams who may be interested in participating in the winter circuits to be present at the meetings.

Crystal Gazing

The stars are sticking with me for the third successive week. Last Saturday only the Orange-Irvington 0-0 tie and the East Side-South Side 13-13 stalemate were the unpredictable outcomes. Five other predictions came through as selected. For the first three weeks I have called 21 right, 21 missed out on three. Excluding three ties the crystal ball is perched at a neat 87.5 average. Now it's time for another quick rundown.

Belleville to get by West Side. The Bellboys, although they lost, 26-0 to Nutley, gave the Maroon Raiders its toughest fight so far this season. Coach Ed Berinski will have his boys up for this one as they register their initial victory after suffering three losses.

Nutley to squeeze by Montclair. Call it an upset if you like, but my choice is Nutley all the way. Coach Jack Lewis has held out several of his favorite plays for the Mounties as he pulls out every trick gained from 20 years of coaching. This one has all the makings of being a thriller. Nutley's unscored upon defensive unit will have to really show their stuff and will have to bottle up Bernie Peoples and Brock Lardner in order to keep their record going. Gary Anderson coached teams have lost only six times while winning 56. But I look for the Maroon Raiders to make it No. seven. Nutley to win by seven points in its first victory over Montclair since 1940.

Barringer to topple South Side. Mike Comune has been performing like definite All-County material. He scored three touchdowns for Barringer in a 31-0 rout of Central and now has 42 points to his credit. The Big Blue will take another giant step towards the Newark City League crown.

Bloomfield to blank Central. The Bengals have been steadily improving since Central has been going downgraded. Bloomfield has a powerful one-two scoring punch in Larry Caspario and Bill Lenskold.

Columbia to nip Orange. If the Tornadoes can find themselves this could be a close one. Columbia beat Morristown, 7-0.

Weequahic to scalp East Side. The Indians are expected to be one of the contenders in the City League. This will be Weequahic's first loop start after finding rough going against Union County competition. They will defeat the defending title holders.

East Orange to lace Irvington. East Orange is undefeated in three starts and will add victory No. 4 while Nutley and Montclair clash head on to keep pace with the Panthers.

Passaic to shell Lyndhurst. The Indians have a strong forward wall and should be able to stop Lyndhurst and knock the Golden Bears from the undefeated ranks.

Kearny to stop West Orange. The Cowboys sorely miss the quarterbacking of Tom Sealing. Kearny is on the upgrade. The Cardinals held Montclair even, 7-7, for three periods.

Clifford Scott to knock down Summit. The Scotties are the cream of the crop among smaller schools and will roll once again.

Nutley Wins, 26-0, But Blue-Gold Will Try Again Tomorrow

By Mal Condon

Last Saturday, at Municipal Stadium, the Bellboys finished on the short end of a 26-0 score in a football game played with a steam-roller known as Nutley.

Although it was the third whitewash of the year for the home team, it managed to hold the Maroons to 26 points, the fewest they have scored so far this season in three games played. About 5,500 spectators saw the contest.

Belleville plays host to Newark West Side at the Stadium at 2 p. m. Saturday. West Side is having a fair season in the Newark City League, but Belleville has improved its defense greatly and might give the visitors a real surprise.

After a how last week's contest went:

Bob Paganelli kicked off for Bell and Nutley returned it to their own 37. After three plays failed to gain the necessary yardage due to a fine defense employed by Berinski, Nutley kicked on the 40-yard line. On the first play Paganelli went through the line for 5 yards but got no further on the next two and was forced to kick. Pete Hudec took the punt on Nutley 42 and with some excellent blocking the Maroon players ran for a touchdown. Cleone attempted the extra point but it was wide.

Paganelli returned the ball on the kickoff to the Belleville 12. After no gain on two plays Paganelli kicked and Nutley took a 10-yard lead. On the next play Paganelli gained 9 yards on the first play but the Belleville line stiffened and the Maroon players were forced to punt. Frank Puleo returned the pigskin to the Belleville 35. Puleo attempted to pass but was thrown twice for 9 yards. On his third try he was intercepted by Nutley on his own 17 as the 1st period ended.

Belleville kicked and again Pete Hudec returned it for a touchdown, this time with a spectacular 47 yard run. Cleone converted and Nutley led 12-0. Apple returned the Maroon kick-off to the Belleville 17 and then Nutley kicked on the 40-yard line. On the first play Paganelli went off tackle for 5 yards and Paganelli went for 7 more. However, the Belleville line stiffened and the Maroon players were forced to punt. Paganelli kicked and again Pete Hudec returned it for a touchdown, this time with a spectacular 47 yard run. Cleone converted and Nutley led 12-0.

Nutley took possession on the 16-yard line and after 15 plays and 161 yards, Richie Macaulay broke through the Nutley line on the play and tackled Al Musco for 17 yards. On the next play, succeeding down they failed to advance. Nutley attempted to charge in and tackle the kicker. On the first play from the 16-yard line, Puleo in a hanging off to Dave Oliphin, was hit from behind and the ball was jarred loose and recovered by Nutley. Al Musco carried to his 35 but Belleville recovered a Maroon fumble on the next play. The Blue and Gold were unable to advance, and once again Paganelli attempted to kick, but the Nutley line charged and blocked the kick, taking over on the Belleville 49. Al Musco then took things in hand and went down the middle of the Belleville line for a 49-yard run and a touch-down. Cleone again converted and Nutley led 20-0. On the kick-off Paganelli returned it to the Belleville 26. On the next play, the Blue and Gold moved to their initial first down of the game, but a Puleo pass intercepted by Nutley ended the short advance on the Nutley 43. The half came to a close as Hudec's pass to Musco was incomplete.

Belleville received the 2nd half and Jim Apple returned it to the Belleville 36. Puleo carried 4 yards to an end zone but Bergamini and Paganelli gained 11 yards on the next two plays. Paganelli's attempted kick was again blocked and Nutley recovered on the Belleville 29. Again the line stiffened and the home team took over on the 20. Ralph Coston gained 4 yards on an end run and after a drive, Paganelli kicked. Nutley gained the pigskin on their 41.

Two plays later, on a Musco to Codella pass, and a Musco run, the Nutley eleven gained a first down. Again it was Pete Hudec for his 26th touchdown. On the day this time a 21 yard jaunt off tackle, Cleone's place was wide and Nutley led 26-0. The game ended with Nutley leading 26-0. Joe Mignon returned the kick-off to the Belleville 26 and from there the Bellboys moved to a 1st on successive runs by Apple and Frank Malfatto. When two plays later Harry Glavin passed to Bob Costello on the Nutley 48 and a 1st down. The drive ended here as Paganelli punted out of bounds on the Nutley 8 as the 3rd quarter ended.

Nutley was again stopped and Codella kicked from the end zone to the Belleville 49 where the home eleven took over. Neither team threatened seriously in the final period. Although Nutley had the ball on downs, time went to the Belleville 21 it ran out after the teams scuffled back and forth around mid-field.

VARSITY CLUB LOSES POSSESSION OF GAME TROPHY

Nutley regained possession of the Varsity Club-Third Half Club game trophy after a two-year lapse. The Varsity Club had possession of the trophy for four of the last five years.

Stealing the show at halftime were the Belleville twirlers. The large drill outfit entertained the crowd with the always colorful Charleston.

At the Nutley-Belleville game both teams kept their records intact. The Maroon Raiders preserved their unscored upon mark and the Blue and Gold kept alive the dubious distinction of not scoring a touchdown in three successive outings. Nutley has now scored 101 points.

Captain honors for the day at Municipal Stadium fell to Mario Cocchiola, Sam Stellatella and John Jacome. Coach Jack Lewis selected the trio before the start of the game. Regular co-captains, Joe Mignon and Jack Malfatto, held the duties for the losing Bellboys.

Nutley even took along its spirit squad for the taking of movies. Stationed high above the temporary structure were Emory Barabta, Ivor Watts and Wayne K. Johnson. The telephone system was also in use with line coach Lou Zwirick informing the bench on the latest developments.

Taking care of the public address system and keeping the fans up on all the plays and substitutions was Herman Kuypel of the High School faculty.

Stationed high above the play in the Press Box was "Lefty" Kintzing. He spotted weaknesses in the play of the Belleville defense and sent notes on the style of play of the Maroon Raiders and notified Coach Ed Berinski of the results at halftime in the Blue and Gold dressing room. Not in operation was the telephone system which has been hooked up in past seasons from the bench to the press box.

JV'S DEFEAT BELLBOYS, 7-6

Tom Lewis Scores Touchdown And Passes To Figureido For Extra Point

Nutley High's junior varsity defeated Belleville's JV's by the slim margin of an extra point Monday afternoon in a 7-6 decision played at Park Oval.

The Maroon underdoggies took the lead in the first quarter when tailback Tom Lewis scored on an end sweep around the right side from 10 yards out to climax a 60-yard drive. Lewis did most of the ball carrying during the drive and was aided by Dave Manning.

The difference was recorded when Nick Figureido caught a 25-yard pass in the end zone for the extra point.

Belleville moved within one point of Nutley in the third quarter when a 25-yard touchdown pass was good for 25 yards. A running play for the extra point fell short.

The Maroon underdoggies just missed adding another touchdown but time ran out with Nutley leading 7-6. The drive was ended by a 25-yard pass to Nick Figureido.

Fewsmith's bowling league rolled the following games this week: Horvath, 201; Lugano, and Goody, 202; Swartz, 212; J. Gruechel, 213 and Taylor, Jr., 214.

Last year's winners, the Spoilers, lead the league by one game over the Old Timers, having won 7 out of 9 games. Three teams tied for third and the others are not too far behind this early in the season.

High average leader is Taylor, Jr., 188; followed by Swartz, 183; Goody, 180; Norman and Ochsen, 177.

Location is the Erie railroad right of way, across the street from the plant.

Some Game Sidelights

Even though Belleville was beaten by what would seem a large score, the team played a fine defensive game and had continued spirit throughout the game. It has been evident in all three games so far that the Bellboys are right in their fighting to the very last whistle of the game, regardless of the strength of their opponents, or their own weakness.

Incidentally, West Side lost to East Orange 32-19 two weeks ago. East Orange you recall defeated Belleville 18-0. We might win Saturday.

Berinski last week worked on a 5-4-2 defense and it helped to keep the score down against Nutley. Tough defense to run against, particularly on line attempts.

Our one bright star in the Belleville-Nutley game was Bob Paganelli. Nutley played the entire game except for the last two minutes. He gained a good deal of the rushing yardage, and punted expertly.

Tomorrow Nutley clashes with Montclair. The battle will be to keep the score down against Nutley. Tough defense to run against, particularly on line attempts.

Retracts Statement

To The Sports Editor:

Bart—Missing softball team wish to retract a statement made by one of its players in the September 24 issue of the Belleville Times-News which criticized in a manner in which the Belleville Recreation League was handled by Bob Cook and Bud Brand.

This is to certify that these gentlemen have cooperated with us 100 per cent and we wish to retract our criticism and to extend our sincere appreciation to them for their untiring and untiring assistance upon their characters.

LETTERS To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News.

I take strong issue with the assertion of the Belleville Town Commissioners that Ward representation, as recommended by the Charter report, would split the town politically and hamper unity. I call the stand of the Commissioners an evidence of their complete misunderstanding and lack of regard for the needs of the representative democratic government.

I further charge that under Commission rule no section has experienced satisfactory representation of its uniformly needed safeguards, but, rather than merely been proffered empty platitudes campaign promises which seldom, if ever, are fulfilled.

Racial rivalries are stressed and one group is pitted against the other under an intolerant system completely un-American and dangerous which individual Commissioners exploit for selfish purposes.

I call the statement of Mayor Codella distorted in its attempt to mislead people into believing that Belleville is a well-run community under Commission rule. The recent Grand Jury indictments for alleged corrupt governmental practices, presented by the Commission against some school board members, and an overall picture of incompetency, prove this to be a nauseating stretch of organizational politics with all the evils of Hageue days in Hudson County.

When important improvements and necessary services are eventually realized by the pressure of public demand, the impact upon the local tax rate, because of the bungling of the present Commissioners who have neglected to effect any appreciable economies or carry out their lavish but untrue campaign pledges will result in a staggering and overburdening 60-cent tax jump.

Good government, being evaluated upon fair and equitable return for tax expenditures, will best be served by the election of council-manager government in Belleville as recommended by an impartial Charter Study Commission elected by the people of the community by a 4 1/2 to one margin.

HISTORY OF LAMPS ON EXHIBITION AT PUBLIC SERVICE

The history of lamps, down through the ages, is being told in an exhibition in the Public Service Electric and Gas Company's auditorium at 70 Park Place, Newark. It is part of the nation-wide celebration of Light's Diamond Jubilee, the electric industry's tribute to 75 years of electrical progress, from the invention of the first practical incandescent lamp by Thomas A. Edison in 1879 to the present day.

The exhibition will be held daily except Sunday from 9:30 a. m. to 6 p. m., Monday and Wednesday evenings. There is no admission charge and the exhibit will run until October 23.

For centuries man relied on fire for his only means of illumination. His search for more practical and safer methods under an independent character granted by the CIO.

This year the entire nation is celebrating this significant event, and specifically featuring the Newark auditorium is the display of authentic lamps covering a period of over 2000 years.

Independent Federal Unit Back In CIO Local

Independent Local 1706, representing 700 clerical and drafting employees at Federal Telephone and Radio Corporation, Nutley and Clifton, voted to affiliate with the International Union of Electrical Workers' Union, CIO. Local 1705 has operated for the last four years under an independent charter granted by the CIO.

The membership voted Wednesday night at a meeting in the Belleville Elks Hall. The campaign to bring the local into the IUE-CIO was headed by Oscar Casarano, under the direction of Milton Wehrbach, president of District 4, IUE-CIO.

A GOOSE CAR AT

Commission type government should be given a fair trial. The been in existence in Belleville since 1879. The Commission type government has for many years and has failed.

The Charter Study Commission based its recommendation of Council-Manager type government for Belleville after thorough investigation in the sincere belief that it will provide Belleville citizens with efficient and progressive administration.

Belleville citizens genuinely interested in economical, efficient, and representative government should cast their vote in November for the Council-Manager type of government.

Methodist Leaders Attend Convocation At Vincent

The Christian church must not desert the city, Bishop Frederick Buckley Newell, head of the New York Area of the Methodist Church, told several hundred Methodist leaders attending an Urban Life Convocation at Vincent Memorial Church here last Sunday.

"It is the glory of the church that it can minister to the cities," Bishop Newell told the gathering, sponsored by the Newark Methodist Conference. "Out of the slums of great cities comes the leadership of our nation," the bishop said. "I shall not give up the city, and you must not give it up either."

Bishop Newell deplored what he termed a tendency to be pessimistic about church influence in the cities. "Slums have a way of producing great spiritual beings," he added, declaring himself in agreement with an observer who had said, "The cities are not wicked. It is the wickedness of wicked men in them that is to blame. Sometimes the worse a city looks, the greater it produces."

The bishop urged the churches of the Newark Conference to find means of ministering to some 250,000 unchurched negroes in its boundaries.

"We must tackle the negro problem pretty soon," he said. "I shall not be satisfied until we move where these negroes are living, to serve them. You dare not face the issues of your conscience unless you build churches for them."

ALERT—Mrs. Anna C. Plumeau, of 79 Bridge Street, has been awarded a citation by the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company for the "intelligent manner in which she handled an emergency call." Answering the call for the Glen Ridge fire department, she heard the caller become incoherent and completed the call for him. It developed that the caller had been trapped in a burning room and the slightest delay would have been fatal.

St. Mary's Bowlers Drop Two Games To St. Joseph's

St. Mary's, senior co-ed bowling team got off on the short end of the score when they dropped two games to St. Joseph's, of Newark, in the Essex County CYO bowling league.

The Nutley leggers saved themselves from a shut out when they outscored the Newarkers in the final game, 656-502. Marie Jenkins with a 376 seven alone with Charles Engle's 305 were high rollers for the losers.

Next Sunday at the Star Bowling Academy, in Newark, the local team will roll against St. Stanislaus team 1, of Newark.

After 46 Years' Service Curtis Mitchell Retires

Curtis L. Mitchell, of 17 Reservoir Place, supervisor of the addressograph section of the Renewal department of The Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Company of Newark, has retired after 46 years of company service.

Active in company affairs, he is a member of the Pelican Club, the company's all-employee organization, and a member of the Veterans' Club, an organization of employees with more than twenty years of service.

Mitchell has been a member of the company's Renewal department since joining Mutual Benefit in 1908.

13 VOLUNTEER DISASTER CREWS RESPOND IN TEST

State CD Observer Says Tuesday Test Proves Towns Are Protected Against Serious Disasters

Thirteen ambulance and first aid squads from the Sixth (North Jersey) District of the New Jersey First Aid Council answered a mock disaster call here within 40 minutes in a surprise mobilization of all the available volunteer forces in this area.

David H. Slayback, of Morris town, who watched the mobilization as the official observer of the N. J. Civil Defense and Disaster Control Commission declared that it proved that Nutley or any other town in North Jersey could face any disaster short of an A-bomb attack.

The exercises began at 7:05 p.m. with a call to the Morris County police radio system from Mayor Harry W. Chenoweth and Chief of Police Charles Rummel reporting a presumed disaster affecting three areas of Nutley. The call was relayed by the police system by radio, to the volunteer ambulance and disaster squads in fourteen communities.

With sirens blaring, thirteen out of twenty units converged on Nutley as a fourteenth, from Chatham, was turned back to provide emergency protection for West Essex and Morris County. The first ambulance arrived at 7:37 p.m. and an emergency hospital was set up in the Public Safety building, where 54 Nutley boy scouts served as "casualties" for disaster treatment, complete with splints and bandages.

A squad which attracted considerable attention came from Verona, driving a huge red disaster truck which not only can carry six stretcher cases as an ambulance, but also carries a full complement of oxygen tanks, an auxiliary power plant and lighting equipment and tools which could lift a railway locomotive. The truck, which cost about $25,000, was built in Belleville by De Rosa and Sons, of which Gabriel T. De Rosa, of 293 Whitford Avenue, is president.

The exercise was under the general direction of George Frye, of Verona, representing the New Jersey First Aid Council, and Jess Booth, captain of the Nutley First Aid Squad. The participating units came from Cedar Grove, Totowa, Verona, Caldwell, Montclair, East Orange, South Orange, Morristown, Madison, Parsippany, Troy Hills and Nutley.

School Happenings

Eight annual teacher workshop program in the Belleville schools began last Monday.

The film "Freedom to Learn," produced by the National Education Association, will be presented, followed by a short discussion by a teacher panel and audience discussion.

The teacher panel to start the discussion of "Freedom to Learn" includes Dr. Frank M. Durkee, director of the workshop program, explained the plans for individual workshop meetings. Members of the curriculum council, representing all ten schools, interviewed teachers to determine their interests for workshops. The teachers asked for twelve systems-wide workshops in which participation will be by free choice: art experiences, art-music combination, assemblies, audio-visual instruction, child study, citizenship education, co-curricular activities, community resources in teaching, high school education, kindergarten education, parent-teacher conferences, and reading. Advance enrollment in the twelve workshops includes 190 of 238 teachers.

Because of preparing for evaluation by the Middle States Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges, high school teachers will enroll in workshops but will not begin participation until January. The end of vision by the evaluation committee.

At the request of the curriculum council and with the approval of the superintendent, teachers this year will not have meetings of any kind on Wednesday and Friday afternoons. The workshops will generally meet once each month, the second Monday of each month for organized solution of curriculum problems. Most of the new teachers have elected to take a workshop in music and art, meeting weekly for sixteen weeks on Tuesday afternoon, alternating music and art, with special teachers in these fields as leaders. Mrs. Nora de Leeuw and Miss Helen Simpson will direct the art activities and Miss Shirley Bode, and Mrs. Margaret Vance and Dr. Samuel Peck, director of music, will lead the work in music. All other workshops picked leaders and recorded at the October 11 meeting. All workshops except the art-music and child study will meet on October 26, the fourth Monday, and thereafter on the second Monday of the month.

The workshop program, commented Dr. Durkee, "provides a democratic method of using the collective intelligence, training, and understanding of the Belleville educational staff for developing better and better education for our boys and girls. As all professional people, by sharing experiences, working together and giving their research, are better able to keep pace with the times and to continue to increase their effectiveness in their jobs."

Assembly Program

The first pupil conducted assembly program was held on Thursday last week and was the responsibility of the 8B class.

Robert Cook, director of recreation in Belleville, presented the school with two trophies earned by pupils of the school. The first one was for the year's basketball championship for the school year 1953-54 and was secured by Robert Elmendorf, Eugene Barra, Vincent Francis, and Car (Colombo) who are now in training for the 1954-55 season. Mr. Joseph Groesch accepted the second award.

Glee Club

Forty girls of the Senior Glee Club, under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Bruce presented a program last week to commemorate Columbus' Birthday. They will sing "Santa Lucia," "O Sole Mio," "An Italian Garden," "The Vision of Columbus." Marion Flinchbaugh will read the Bible, and Betty Austin will be the announcer.

Club members include: Joan Bailey, Lois DeChiaro, Raffella DiGirolamo, Barbara Hogan, Marilyn Horton, Mary Ann Laviano, Eleanor Malanowski, Linda Miller, Diane Rosenborg, Mary Ann Terzo, Betty Austin, Gail Cullen, Virginia D'Elia, Patricia DiGirolamo, Marion Flinchbaugh, Janice Kleiner, Elaine Mendrinos, Barbara Prevence, Carolyn Robjohns, Anita Tropp, Kathryn Zarrillo, Helen Castelli, Patricia DeCapua, Carol Horowitz, Carol Jacobson, Grace Lombardi, Maureen Negra, Phyllis Restaino, Janice Reynolds, Lois Wavel, Rose Marie Zecca, Patricia Zarrillo, Barbara Calvo, Theresa Del Presto, Theresa Jockell, Verne Horton, Barbara Jockell, Barbara Kurnitnick, Chloene Shaw and Mary Vitello.

Mr. Thomas Gryzka, principal of school No. 9, has been appointed assistant to the Superintendent of Schools as Coordinator of Audio-Visual Education for the Belleville Elementary Schools. Principal Gryzka will be procurement agent and will also make sure that films are serviced properly.

Thirteen new films have been purchased by the school system and a new directory of fall audio-visual equipment will be completed and distributed to all schools. The directory was prepared by the audio-visual workshop under the direction and supervision of Dr. Frank M. Durkee, general supervisor of the Belleville Public Schools.

In addition to the one hundred and twenty-five films now owned by the schools and stored at School Nine, the schools also have 13 sound movie projectors, 16 film projectors, 8 lantern slide projectors, 7 tape recorders, 7 televisions sets, 11 F. M. radios, 16 portable screens, 25 phonographs, 78RPM, 1 PA system, 3 speed, 16 private telephones, and 1 central library at School Nine. 1Craic Film Editor with winch and splicer, and 1 No. 1500 Ec to film cleaning unit.

Music Lessons At School

The Belleville public schools make it possible for the students to learn to play a musical instrument either (1) in school during the regular school day on Saturday mornings at the high school at a cost of $2 for private tuition or $1 for a class lesson, or (2) both in school time and on Saturday mornings.

The lessons which are given in school time during the week are primarily for beginners or pupils who have had only one year of instruction on their instrument. The Saturday lessons are for both beginners and advanced students, and are taught by teachers who are specialists on the instruments they teach. The students may take lessons both in school time and on Saturday mornings.

In addition to lessons given during the week and on Saturdays an opportunity is provided for those who have had some instruction on a musical instrument to play in an all-school training orchestra from 10:00 a.m. to 11 a.m. each Saturday at the high school. The cost of this ensemble training is 25 cents per rehearsal. Both the in-school and the Saturday morning lessons are now being scheduled.

The Saturday morning lessons will begin on October 2. Lessons in school time will begin on October 2. Lessons in school time will begin immediately.

Driver Education

Behind the wheel training, studying of rules and regulations, proper attitude in driving, mechanics of the car in relation to expert driving, and safe fundamentals began for the current school year in Belleville High School on Wednesday, September 29.

A new, 1954 four door Bel-Air Chevrolet has been donated to the high school for the students to use in their road training by the Leonard Chevrolet Co. of Belleville.

George L. Frear, Jr.

George L. Frear, Jr., of Newburg, has been appointed Youth Director at Fewsmith Memorial Presbyterian Church, Rev. James K. Morse announced yesterday.

His duties at Fewsmith church will include teaching the high school Bible class on Sunday mornings at 9:45. All sophomores, juniors, and seniors will be in attendance. He will also direct and supervise the Junior Westminster Youth Fellowship at 7:45 p.m. for high school students.

Plans are being made for recreation programs which will include square dances and motion pictures, as well as discussion, plans for service to others, and church attendance. All young people are invited to take part.

A member of the First Pres-bbyterian Church of Princeton, he was graduated with honors from Yale University last June, and is a member of the Phi Beta Kappa scholarship fraternity. His father is a research chemist.

He was on the debating team in college, and music is his major hobby. He conducted tours through the United States this summer for groups of foreign students.

Frear entered Union Theological Seminary in New York City this fall and is a full time student for the ministry.

Pensioned Edison Help To Get Added Benefits

Thomas A. Edison, Incorporated, announced this week a revision of its pension program that will increase benefits to its 292 retired employees now receiving income from the company's pension plan.

The firm voluntarily will maintain supplemental pension payments from a company supported trust fund despite its right under contract with the employees to decrease supplemental payments when Social Security benefits increase. The decision was in connection with recent amendments to the Social Security Act that added amounts ranging from $5 to $13.50 to benefits from the act.

An Ode To My Neighbor's Trees

Shade trees of maple, beech and oak
Adorn my neighbor's lot.
My place is bare as desert sands
And equally as hot.
But hotter still am I when Fall
Winds play their little joke,
And I'm forever raking leaves
Of maple, beech and oak.

The President's Split Personality

With the Congressional elections less than three weeks away, President Eisenhower still cannot make up his mind to help elect a Republican majority in both houses on Capitol Hill. Outside of his Denver speech, warning that "two drivers at the wheel" of government could be not only a danger, but a disaster, President Eisenhower has hesitated to throw the full weight of his personal prestige and popularity into the tightening battle. Even if he does decide, now, to name names of some favored candidates for Congress or the Senate, it is doubtful if even he can change the results here in New Jersey.

From our own sources in Washington, we learn that the President is in a predicament over pressure from within his party to do more campaigning. He is going to need bipartisan support next year to make headway with his liberalized foreign trade program, his public housing program, his inevitable second battle over the Bricker amendment. He, therefore, cannot afford to anger and alienate Democrats much more than they are already. He may need help from them urgent in next year's political clinches.

On the other hand, he cannot allow his own party to lose an election through failure on his own part to join the fray. And the campaign is going to be rougher. There will be increasing reliance on the three old-faithful themes of the 1952 Republican campaign — "Korea, communism, and corruption." These were the very themes which embittered Democrats last time. If Mr. Eisenhower goes in heavily for them, which he almost must do to associate himself actively with the campaign theme of his party, he will risk trouble for his legislative program. It's a tightrope operation ahead for him.

In our opinion, the President has been too long away from the White House to have a true knowledge of the grave risk to a Republican defeat in November. He talks as though the election will be decided on the record of the Eisenhower Congress. He seems to overlook entirely the bitterness engendered by layoffs and unemployment, by loss of farm revenue due to a price recession. Those are real issues, and their impact, apparently, is not felt as far west as Denver.

Washington has seen nothing of President Eisenhower since Congress left town on August 20 and is not likely to see a great deal of the President until the new Congress convenes, in January. The President is scheduled to leave his Denver headquarters and return to Washington tomorrow for a few weeks. But there will be some trips, both political and nonpolitical, from here on.

Then, sometime in November, the President will take another "working vacation" at his Augusta, Ga., retreat, and still another at the same place during the Christmas season. As these work out, on the average, the President will be at his desk about five hours each day, so that either a morning or an afternoon is left for golf or whatever he wishes to pursue.

Mr. Eisenhower's work-and-relax schedule since his inauguration has worked out roughly so that he spends two days in the White House and one day away from Washington. In 1953 the President spent 251 days in Washington and 114 away. This year he has spent about an equivalent amount of time at the White House and away from the capital. Two days in town and one day out of town, that's the President schedule. He feels he can do his best work on that basis.

What Makes A Heckler Heckle?

Hecklers, loud mouthed and vulgar, are on the loose in a determined effort to prevent a fair presentation of the case for any other but a ward-heeler form of political town government. By their interruptions, this week, they routed an open meeting. From now on until Election Day, they can be expected to try, by din and disturbances, to break up serious efforts to present the case for Charter.

Why should such gangster tactics be necessary if a political commission form of government is the best? Why must town administration be bedded with partisan politics and with politicians and their heckling henchmen? Why cannot town government and municipal administration be put on a business basis, instead of being an appendage of political machines?

There are many reasons why the taxpayers should be allowed to examine, in calm, the alternative of town government without interference from the hecklers. It is obvious, however, that so long as political paps, fat contracts and paid jobs depend upon politically elected town governments there will be people who will resort to heckling to prevent any change. Since there are hecklers, it might be timely to investigate the reasons for their heckling.

The commission form of municipal government can be good, or it can be bad, depending upon political circumstances and the individual qualities of the commissioners. The major objection that has been raised to the existing mayor-council or aldermanic type of municipal administration is that commissioners are not elected to specific roles of town government. Until a newly elected commission meet, no one knows what fields any one commissioner knows best or which town administrative department he will head. He does not run for any specific post; he just runs for the town commission.

The Walsh Act would be amended, under the Charter plan, so that candidates would seek specific offices within a town government. The taxpayers could pick and choose, not on a basis of party politics but on the qualifications of each candidate. That would spell the doom of the "professionals", without specific qualifications but with plenty of henchmen. They would not fit into any municipal business administration. It is understandable, therefore, that the hecklers have been turned loose.

The proposed council-manager plan is, in fact, nothing less than an adoption of the national administrative system to the local level, where you also have on one hand the law or policy-making body and on the other hand the chief executive. Naturally, there is an inter-play of ideas. The President may well ask for enabling legislation in addition to what the Congress is providing on its own account. By the same token the town manager could ask that a law or ordinance be passed to enable him to do so and so, but mostly generally, exactly as the president does, he would have to carry out the policy as laid down by the council.

Among his jobs would also be to prepare the budget. It would be just one budget, not five individual budgets which eventually, after long and extensive argument, are then tossed into one pot to make, assumingly, one budget. The Town Manager's budget proposal would cover all costs of all municipal services, and would then be handed to the council for adoption or any other action its members see fit to take. If they cut it, the manager would have to make the best of it, unless he could convince them that all items are necessary.

The Town manager would be a professional man, who has a degree in municipal administration from one of the various colleges that have such programs. He most probably would have already served in some smaller community in various capacities, as interne, assistant town manager, or town manager. In short he is a professional and a career man and as such naturally jealous of his good record. All other things being equal, he would try to keep that record clean and above reproach. His future career depends on it.

One Man's Opinion

With Warlike Prussians Having No Say In Bonn's Affairs, This May Be Time For Real Franco-German Rapprochement

By Ralph E. Heinzen

In this alphabetical era, BRUTO (Brussels Treaty Organization) having succeeded EDC (European Defense Community) within the framework of NATO (North Atlantic Treaty Organization), European unity for defense against further Communist aggression has moved into the realm of reality. Having another parliamentary surprise, in the defeat of EDC in the French Chamber of Deputies in August, that unity should be achieved by the nine governmental ratifications before Christmas. When it is realized, Russia will suffer her second defeat since Potsdam — the first was her loss of face and forced cancellation of the blockade which produced the Berlin Airlift.

A Saar settlement, which was named by French Premier Pierre Mendes-France as an essential condition of French ratification, is not easy, but not impossible. Discussions between Mendes-France and Dr. Konrad Adenauer, Bonn's Chancellor, will start in Paris next Wednesday. Even the most rabid French patriot cannot contend that the Saar is or ever should be French, but France hopes to drive a hard bargain over the Saar's rich undeveloped coal resources because coal is an essential to French economy.

At London, Mendes-France and Adenauer both showed a willingness to arbitrate. Two major points upon which they made mutual concessions were that Germany will not manufacture any so-called ABC weapons—the atomic, bacteriological, and chemical implements of war—plus sizable warships, submarines, mines, or bomber planes.

On the other hand, Bonn will be free to make artillery, tanks, and jet fighter aircraft, although production levels will be supervised.

Molotov's Monkeywrench

Despite Molotov's quick maneuver, seeking to provoke a four-power conference pointed towards the fusion of East and West Germany and the end of Russian, American, British and French occupation, it is unlikely that for the time being the Kremlin will be able to prevent ratification of the London agreement.

The opportunity for Franco-German rapprochement, therefore, seems never to have been better. The West German ratification of Bonn runs the larger half of Germany, 48,000,000 population to the 32,000,000 population of Communist-dominated East Germany. It governs those German peoples who, through the centuries, were often the scourge of the Prussians.

Militarism In Prussia

Bonn governs the Bavarians, the Rhinelanders, the Saarland-ers, the Hanoverians, the Wurttembergers, the Westphalians and the Hessians. They are the Catholic and the Lutheran peoples of Germany, less inclined to militarism, Nazism or Communism than the Prussians and the Saxons of the East German zone.

So long as Germany is divided, the arch-militarist Prussians, who, for centuries, have hated France, will have nothing to say about West German relations with France. The opportunity, therefore, is excellent for the French to get along with those of their German neighbors who might be most agreeable to the burial of old feuds. Before the union of the two halves of Germany becomes a reality, some years hence, a sincere Franco-German rapprochement and settlement of old scores and outstanding disputes may have been realized.

Story of Bonn

Since Bonn and its Chancellor, thus, have a glorious opportunity thrust upon them, it might be timely to ask: What kind of a place is Bonn? What kind of a statesman is Adenauer?

A sleepy little university town on the banks of the lush Rhine, Bonn has none of the attributes of a major capital city. There is a certain incongruity between what is left after the Allied bombing of the ancient town where Beethoven was born, and the new boxlike government buildings.

Across the river, high on a wooded hill, lies Peterberg, where Neville Chamberlain stayed for his ill-fated talk with Adolf Hitler. On a neighboring hill stands the Drachenfels ruin of a medieval robber-baron's castle. The atmosphere of the past is stronger than that of the present.

This may be due, in part at least, to the fact that Bonn is Konrad Adenauer and that this strong-willed, remarkably well-preserved, wooden-faced old man is a figure which belongs more to the past than to the present. Skilled as he has shown himself in dealing with the problems of the modern age, the Chancellor is, nevertheless, a relic not so much of the days of the Weimar Republic as of Imperial Germany prior to the first World War.

In many ways, notably in his ill-concealed contempt for parliament and in the autocratic manner in which he treats his associates, not to mention the opposition, he resembles Bismarck more than any of the republican statesmen of the Weimar period. Like Bismarck, he inspires both admiration and hatred, but little warm affection. His associates fear and obey him. His enemies detest him and do not hesitate to criticize him in private, but hesitate to tangle with him in the open.

In dealing with friends and enemies alike, Adenauer is incredibly adept at the old tactic of divide and rule. Apparently he knows everyone's secrets, or enough of them to be able to mix genial persuasion with threats and promises to the extent where few with political ambitions care to oppose his will.

The question asked on all sides and which no one can answer is: "Who will succeed the 79-year-old Chancellor who so clearly dominates the political scene in the Bonn Republic?" Several members of Dr. Adenauer's Cabinet are mentioned as possible successors, as well as the President of the Bundestag, Hermann Ehlers, but to each of the possible candidates there are objections on regional, religious, or personal grounds.

Unlike Prime Minister Churchill, Dr. Adenauer has no Anthony Eden, neither as a foreign minister nor as a close associate groomed for the succession, and this is the outstanding weakness of the regime.

An odd feature of the Chancellor's coalition is that the smaller parties of the Right are more anxious to remain in the government than the government is to keep them. Quite a number of the CDU (Christian Democratic Union) deputies, especially some so elected by the Catholic workmen who are actually Socialists, would prefer to lose the nationalistic and economic reactionaries of the right.

The rightwing parties are increasingly out of step with government policy—more accurately, with "camarilla management."

MUSIC EDUCATORS OPEN FALL SEASON

The opening meeting for the season of Music Educators of New Jersey was held last week in the Griffith Building, Broad Street, Newark.

The program included the Madrigal Singers, a group who perform unusual music. Tully Hensley, pianist, will also appear, and a hospital hour will follow the program.

Members from Belleville include Margaret Adams, Mary W. Anderson, Eleanor Bacon, Peck, Hazel Ellsworth, Elizabeth Frank, Dolores Nixon, Frances Moreland, Marian Napolitano, Alice Nunn, Josephine Rossi, Adell Williams, David Williams and Helen Sherman.

Installation of Officers

At Rosary Confraternity

St. Peter's Rosary Confraternity conducted installation of officers at the first meeting of the season and installed were Mrs. May Braden, president;

Mrs. Marie Mohen, vice-president; Margaret Adams, recording secretary; Mrs. Angie Vittrach, financial secretary; Miss Dolores Nixon, treasurer; and Mrs. James Barrett, chairman of prefects.

The members were addressed by Mrs. John Kelly, who explained the difference between a Confraternity and Rosary Society. He then extended an invitation to join with the Catholic Daughters for a Marian pilgrimage to St. Mary's church in Nutley on Tuesday night at 8. All members will meet at St. Mary's church.

Beautiful, shiny, deep purple eggplant can add a gourmet touch to your meals when treated with imagination, according to Ruth Williams of Rutgers University. When selecting an eggplant look for one which has a deep purple luster, a thin, shiny skin and is lightweight for its size. The old-fashioned idea that it must be salted down to draw out the juices is a mistake. The sooner you get the eggplant into the pan the better.

Eggplant Casserole

1 eggplant
6 tomatoes
1 green pepper
1/2 cupful fat
1 medium onion
2 teaspoons salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
2 pound mushrooms

Pare and slice the eggplant and onion and remove seeds from the pepper and slice it. Brown in a frying pan in drippings. The vegetables in a greased casserole, alternating with the sliced mushrooms. Bake in a 400-degree oven 40 minutes.

Eggplant Parmigiana

1 medium eggplant
1/2 cup flour
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sifted bread crumbs
fat or oil
1/2 pound Mozzarella cheese
1 small can tomato sauce
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese

Slice eggplant a half to three-fourths inch thick. Do not peel. There should be five center slices. Dredge them with flour. Mix egg with water and salt and dip floured slices in mixture, then coat slices well with crumbs. Saute slowly in hot oil until tender and brown on both sides. Place eggplant slices in a single layer in a greased, shallow pan or in individual baking dishes. Distribute sliced cheese over top, then a spoonful or two of the sauce, then a sprinkle of grated cheese. Broil or bake in a hot oven (400° degrees F.) until cheese melts. Yield: five servings.

"Thank You, Mr. Edison!"

Says Reddy Kilowatt:

Mr. Edison's genius. In dozens of ways, electricity helps homemakers in making chores easier.

Today electricity is even more than the life-blood of our nation. This fact, made possible by many persons and many organizations, is being celebrated in 1954 by Light's Diamond Jubilee.

— Yes, it's true—thanks to Mr. Edison, electricity does so much . . . costs so little!

Write for a copy of the new book "The Genius in the Amber Box," which tells of the development of the electric industry. Write: Public Service Electric and Gas Company, Room 6115, 40 Park Place, Newark 1, N. J.

2 INJURED WHEN CAR BRAKES FAIL

Auto Smashes Store Window Of Gary's Pharmacy In Franklin Avenue

Franklin Avenue and Chestnut Street was the scene of an auto accident that injured two pedestrians yesterday afternoon and saw the vehicle smash the store window of Gary's Pharmacy, of 349 Franklin Avenue. Driver of the car was Arthur MacCormick, 68, of 206 Fairway Avenue, Belleville.

He told police that the brakes of his car failed to hold as he tried to stop for a red traffic light while traveling south in Franklin Avenue. His car swerved to the right and hit two persons who were standing in front of the pharmacy.

Injured were Peggy Fonz, 14, of 74 Audley Avenue and Thomas Lewis, 63, of Brooklyn, Lewis was taken in the town ambulance to Columbus Hospital, Newark, where he was treated for a possible fracture of the knee. Miss Fonz received a bruised knee but refused medical treatment.

'Chaos' In Change of Government--Town Commission

Proponents of a change to the council-manager form of government for Belleville were hit from every direction by the town's five commissioners at a rally attended by 300 of their supporters at the Elks Club on Tuesday.

The commissioners, all of whom spoke, questioned both the motives and the judgment of the Charter Study Commission in recommending the change, and warned that unless the move is defeated in the November referendum, taxes will go up the people have less voice in the operation of the town government and "nothing will be gained except chaos."

Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan said the issue could be summed up in a single sentence: "The only real question is whether or not you are satisfied with the efficient administration of the town government as it is now constituted, because another and certainly not more efficient kind of government will only cost you more money, with nothing to show for it in the end."

Robert C. Grubbin, a candidate for the town commission, who finished sixth in the May municipal election, castigated council-manager government as "unrepresentative of the people," and Thomas D'Avella, an attorney and president of a group opposing the change, declared that "they will bring in this council-manager deal over my dead body."

Mayor Laurence J. Padula said that the election of ward councilmen, as provided in the charter recommendation, would mean that "politicians could retain office by appealing to sectional interests instead of being concerned with the overall needs of the town," that the manager appointed by the council to administer the town's

NO TAX SAVING IN GOVT. CHANGE ALLAIRES DECLARES

Charging that supporters of the proposed change from commission to council-manager government know their proposal would not benefit the taxpayers, Ralph Allaire, chairman of a citizens' group that favors the present commission form, compared Belleville's tax rate with that of Teaneck, which has council-manager government. The local rate is $6.32, but Teaneck collects $7.58 from its citizens, he said, and the difference in administrative costs between the two towns is even more sharply defined, he declared. The annual expense to Belleville is $16,851, while Teaneck spends $51,993, and the total per capita cost in Teaneck is $38.57 as compared to $34.08 here, he said.

"Let there be no misunderstanding," he continued. "The council-manager form of government will cost every taxpayer in this community more dollars on his annual tax bill. The figure-judging by the proponents of this measure have not offered proof that services are any better or more economical under the council-manager form. Instead, it would mean more politics for Belleville, high pressure on councilmen candidates and a merry hassle among the councilmen as

Hurricane Hazel Has Come And Gone But She Won't Easily Be Forgotten

HURRICANE HIT HERE—Officer Hugh J. O'Toole, Jr., standing in a doorway of his parents' home at 180 Bell Street, examines the damage to a second story porch suffered when a huge oak tree crashed against the side of the house after it had been uprooted by last Friday's hurricane.

REPORT ON SCHOOL INVESTIGATION IN HANDS OF BOARD

Eugene J. Kelly, president of the Belleville school board, has received a full report from the State Board of Education concerning an investigation by the state board into the handling of the school board and its business manager, and the statement was scheduled to be discussed at a special board meeting last night.

The investigation had been requested by the Belleville Citizens' Association, by the school board itself "because of many untruthful reports," and by Business Manager Ruel E. Daniels.

Kelly refused to discuss the report in any way, declining to give any indication as to its contents, and other board members who were contacted said they had not seen it.

The board president said, however, that a statement would probably be issued Friday.

Requests for the investigation were made several months after an Essex County Grand Jury returned a presentment, which it named Kelly, Vice-President Charles Yeom, Walter Loewner, and Daniels.

But in agreeing to launch the investigation, the State Board of Education declared it did not seek to probe any of the allegations contained in the Grand Jury action, but would confine itself to a study of the board's business procedures.

At the time that the Grand Jury returned its presentment

Poll Favors Change In Town Government Congress Declares

A poll of 1,194 Belleville voters on the Charter Study question has just been concluded by volunteer workers for the Belleville Civic Congress, and 741 of those polled, or more than 62%, indicated that they would vote in favor of a change to the council-manager form of government in the Nov. 2 election. It was announced last night by Richard A. Shafter and Mrs. Dolores Donato, co-chairmen of the organization's campaign against the present commission government.

The vote was taken by a house-to-house canvass, and by telephone. About 27 per cent, or 322 of those questioned, were opposed to a change, while 11 per cent, or 131 persons, declared they were still undecided. Shafter and Mrs. Donato said.

An earlier poll taken the week before indicated a closer vote on the issue, with those polled favoring council-manager government by a five per cent margin, thus indicating that the strength of supporters of the Charter Study recommendations is steadily increasing, the co-chairmen said.

Today's announcement is the first published indication that either of the two straw votes had been taken.

"Chosen at Random" Shafter affirmed that "to gain an accurate picture of the temper of the voters, all those

TOWN HALLOWEEN CONTESTS TO BE HELD OCTOBER 30

More than 1,400 children, dressed in appropriately fantastic costumes, will take part in the town recreation department's annual Halloween celebration at four playgrounds Oct. 30. The event will be under the direction of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, director of Parks and Public Property, and Robert Cook, recreation director, and will begin at 10:30 a.m.

Previous celebrations have been held at a single location, but this year, said Commissioner Hyde, he decided to stage four separate festivals both for the sake of convenience, and to permit a larger attendance.

Costumes will be judged by special committees and prizes awarded the prettiest, most original, cutest and funniest outfits. Each child competing will receive a gift.

Mrs. Gertrude Dillon is general chairman of the contest, and working with her are the following committee members: Municipal Stadium, Mrs. Nicholas Galt, Mrs. Edith Virtue and Mrs. Louis M. Planson; playground: Mrs. Allan Lundy, Mrs. George Sanders, Mrs. Harry Winfield, and Mrs. Harry Winfield.

Hazel Hurricane has come and gone; but she's not forgotten.

More than 300 square feet of the town dumping grounds near the Timping River were piled high with tree branches blown out by the hurricane, shattered windows were being replaced by new glass, and storekeepers were ordering new stocks of candles depleted by residents deprived of electric power during the storm.

Power has restored first to homes and places of business, with street lights placed all along the shoulder by Public Service crew working around the clock. Extra men and trucks were ordered on the job by Public Works Commissioner Kenneth D. Wright.

More than 150 power lines 32 trees, dozens of window panes, and some big plate glass windows were blown out by the hurricane, shattered windows were being replaced by new glass, and storekeepers were ordering new stocks of candles depleted by residents deprived of electric power during the storm.

Streets made dangerous by splintering live wires and fallen tree branches were closed off, and barricades were placed on sidewalks littered with broken glass.

The work was directed by Police Chief George Sautz and Fire Chief Harry White.

The police department switchboard was flooded with phone calls, and Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan, joined in to answer some of the complaints. Five department trucks were also jammed with calls.

Near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carmine Lucello, 129 Brighton Avenue, a live wire fell to the street, whipped wildly around the

ATTEMPTED THEFT OF SAFE CHARGED TO LOCAL YOUTH

Charged with attempted burglary, Patrick Muccigrosso, 21, of 22 Frederick Street, was held this week by Municipal police for Grand Jury action after his arraignment before Acting Magistrate Walter K. Sherwood in Montclair.

Police said that when Patrolman Howard Page entered a room in Montclair, he found Muccigrosso had lifted the safe in a door of the building had been in the room for some time, so crashing behind a car.

In the car they found a heavy garage safe which officers arrested Muccigrosso in the automobile with a hand hoist. The safe, unopened, contained

Sheriff's department records revealed that Muccigrosso was on three-year probation following his arrest in 1952 on charges of unlawful possession of narcotics and conspiracy in the sale and possession of narcotics.

All Around The Town

Candle light is strictly for lovers, Belleville residents discovered during Hurricane Hazel's visit here. Very dreamy for a table for two, but not practical for after-office work, or to read by. Those romanticists who once yearned after the old days of flickering oil lamps and no electric switches saw the whole thing in a new light after skinning their shins in the dark.

As propaganda material, Hazel made the Big Lick look like the Small Untruth. Public Service could have spent a million dollars in advertising without getting over so vividly the effects of electric current and the incandescent lamp in modern living.

For three days and more we moved about after 6 p. m. in a twilight world of half-discussed shapes illumined by burning tapers. Now we are marked what we choose to call hurricane vision—some extra wrinkles around the eyes and a gook-eyed squint.

The storm forced postponement of the Belleville District Boy Scout Camporee until Saturday morning. But it was worth waiting for. Exactly 108 Belleville Scouts, representing six troops, attended the session at Camp Alpine in Closter, N. J. That's considerably more than a 50% increase over last year.

"As part of a conservation program," Scout headquarters notes in a memo, "the Scouts built 180 feet of Rip Rap protection along the banks of a stream in the cinnabar quarry, this time, it was dry but in a month or two he is a fast running creek."

Samuel W. Peck, who has won a wide reputation as music director for the Belleville public schools, was one of the singers in a noted New York choir which will take part in the dedication of a new auditorium at the United Nations headquarters in New York City on October 24, as part of the official celebration of United Nations Day.

The chorus is the Schola Cantorum.

TIRES PUNCTURED HE FINISHES UP BEFORE JUDGE

When Monroe A. Greenbaum, a Bloomfield saddle engineer, returned to his car which he had left on a parking lot in the rear of Joseph Janice's delicatessen at 363 Washington Avenue, he found his tires punctured.

Greenbaum suspected that the delicatessen proprietor had deliberately sprinkled nails on the parking lot. He called the police, who found one other car with a hole in the tire.

The following week he returned, parked his automobile on the same spot, and lay in wait inside the car. Soon, he said, he saw Janice approaching the car with a bag of nails.

Version of what happened after that varies, but Janice said Greenbaum leaped out of the car and struck him over the head with a bat. Greenbaum called police.

7-UNIT HOUSING PROJECT PLANNED

A new seven-unit housing development on Cottage Street, near Belleville Avenue, with each home to be sold for "between $19,000 and $20,000," will be built by Belleville-Crest Homes as construction work began this week on the first model home.

Harry Brown, Jr., is president of the company, and is associated with him as secretary is James J. Tully, president and head of the Tully Real Estate Company.

The project, which is located between Delevan Avenue and Franklin Avenue, near the Hendricks golf course, will be built on a 1.5-acre lot. The model home, which Tully said should be completed by Dec. 1, is being built on a 105-foot lot. The other lots will be 67 by 120 feet. Plans call for completion of the project sometime next April.

The units will be split level styling.

REV. CODDINGTON TO BE MEMORIAL DAY SPEAKER

Rev. David Coddington of Clinton Hill Presbyterian Church will be the speaker of the evening at the Memorial Day services to be held at the American Legion home on Nov. 7, 7 p.m., it was announced today.

Rev. Coddington is a lieutenant colonel and a war chaplain in the National Guard, is widely known as an eloquent speaker, and appears each Sunday on a television program.

Officer James Lee is chairman of the American Legion Veterans Committee, and Commander Leo Hood of the V.F.W. Youngsters.

Allen Post is co-chairman for the day's program.

Lee said plans were also being discussed for the Armistice Day parade to be held in Belleville Nov. 11, and asked all organizations to call his committee so that arrangements may be made.

The Week's Schedule At Dutch Reformed Church

Dr. John Struyk announces the following schedule for the Belleville Dutch Reformed Church, Sunday, 9:45 a.m. Church school, classes for all ages; 10:45 a.m. Nursery school for children at the chapel while parents attend service; 10:50 a.m. Morning worship, sermon by Dr. Struyk on "Sorrow, Its Blessings." The pastor, Dr. Struyk, is in memory of Elder William Verhagen who died two years ago.

The Women's Missionary Society is making Christmas boxes for the Mission stations in the South. All women in the parish are asked to assist.

Students Seek Subscriptions For School Fund

A magazine and newspaper subscription drive to raise $8,000 to subsidize school affairs and school organizations has been launched by the Belleville high school Student Council, with the campaign scheduled to end next Monday.

Half of each two dollars for a year's subscription to the Belleville Times-News will revert to the school fund, and the other plan applies to the many nationally-circulated magazines offered by the hundreds of student salesmen, who are conducting a house-to-house canvass over the weekend.

During the past three years the money gained from student fund-raising drives have been used for payments on the school amplification system, entertainment at the junior prom, cost of publishing the school newspaper, and for the Essex County basketball tournament and other expenses.

Prize for the highest gross sale is $100 in cash, and the second prize is $50. The class which does best will receive 10% of the profits to place in the class treasury. Five dollars is given to the salesman who collects more than $50.

Howard Irving is the student campaign manager, and members of the campaign committee are Sandy Shaw, Elsie Schneider, Tom Dolan, Norman Post, Jane Encke, Ping Eng, Corita Fendergast, and William Penkethman. Joseph Deute is president of the Student Council.

STUDENT CAMPAIGN—Belleville high school's Student Council meets to discuss the progress of a fund-raising campaign to make possible many school activities during the year, and to provide equipment not included in the school budget. The entire student body is soliciting subscriptions for the Belleville Times-News and for national magazines issued by the Curtis Publishing Company. Half of the total subscription price reverts to the student fund. Local and Teaneck Tax Rates Compared

By Boyd Hartley
Chairman, Charter Study Commission

The opponents of Council-Manager government have insisted on comparing the cost of government in Belleville with that of Teaneck. They have stated: "Teaneck has long been regarded as one of the outstanding examples of a well-run community, where the council-manager plan was adopted in 1930." They usually make a loud comment that the towns are about the same population.

(1950 census) but Teaneck has a tax rate of 7.88, while Belleville has a tax rate of 6.32. It is supposed to end the argument, with the council-manager support or dissolved in confusion.

They neglect to point out that a person owning a $20,000 house in Belleville would pay about $493 real estate tax while the Teaneck resident with the same $20,000 house would pay only about $321. They also neglect to mention that a commercial property, such as a store, would pay $50,000 would raise about $1,047 in taxes in Belleville, but only about $1,147 in taxes in Teaneck.

This is possible because of the "kicker" which isn't mentioned. The Sixty Report of the Commission on State Tax Policy of the State of New Jersey, published in 1953, is titled "The General Property Tax in New Jersey—A Century of Inequities." Here are the statistics it give for the average Real Estate Assessment Ratios (ratio of assessed value to actual value): Belleville: Residential, 39%; commercial and industrial, 48%; Teaneck: Residential, 21%; commercial and industrial, 25%.

It should be pointed out that claims of a low tax rate are often made by politicians concerning the facts Jersey City, another commission government city, also proclaimed their tax rate—$7.45 in 1953—but said nothing about their assessment ratio, 61% for residential and 68% for commercial and industrial properties.

While we are comparing the statistics of Teaneck and Belleville, let's look at some other figures put out by the opponents of Council-Manager government. They say they only point out half the facts as they base the comparison only on the cost per capita. Many statistics provided by a municipality
