

Poll

The campaign manager admitted that it had been planned to reach a greater number of voters in each poll, with the quota set at 1,200 for the first week, and 1,500 for the second.

Unfortunately," he declared, "the 20 men and woman assigned to the task were not able to do so, though some of them worked the clock around, but even so we believe the poll clearly reflects a representative cross-section of public opinion as it stands, to date."

Says Commission Desperate

He said that the results of the poll quoted by him indicates that "the Hitlerian technique of the Big Lie has started to backfire on the Belleville Town Commission in its desperate fight against municipal reform, and it is clear that the frantic attempts of desperate men to befuddle the clear-cut issue confronting the voters in the November referendum are failing miserably."

In their joint public statement, Shafter and Mrs. Donato said: "The poll shows the growing resentment of the average voter to the outrageous insult to his intelligence and loyalty contained in the recent statement of a spokesman for the Padula Voters Association labeling every citizen favoring a change of municipal administration as either utterly stupid or depravedly subversive.

"That gratuitous observation on the part of the Padula one-trust group," he said, "is a mental attitude that would have found better employment in Mussolini, Hitler, Nazi Germany or Communist Russia than in our own little democracy of Belleville. No citizen likes to be called stupid or subversive simply because he desires a change in the Commission government to another form of municipal administration that by nature and character is in the best American tradition."

"Slur On Character"

"The reaction to that slur on the character of good and upright citizens is most unfortunate — for the town commissioners. Many people who until recently had not yet made up their minds whether to vote 'yes' or 'no' on the council-manager referendum are now definitely in favor of a change to a new administration free from the catch-as-catch-can, polking-and-lying responsible mud-slinging that characterizes the current campaign against reform."

The Hitlerian technique of the Town Commissioners who not only long disclaimed all intent to wage a campaign of fear in their desperate fight against municipal reform, but who are now permitting at least two of their numbers to spearhead a fear-and-sneer campaign that has already established a new record in a civic argument which should have been conducted with fairness, tolerance and forbearance on both sides. It is an everlasting pity that normally upright and honest men like Hyde, King and Sullivan are condoning by their silence the slander and abuse of libel and falsehoods that are pouring forth from the poisonous pens and minds of the spokesmen for the two colleagues. We can only feel sorry for the shortsightedness which permits Smith and Padula to rely with this kind of character assassination of honest citizens who willing support both of them received in the past from us personally, from our friends and neighbors, and from the many citizens who took our word for it that they—Padula and Smith—also were fair and honorable men."

Hits Mayor Padula

"Padula in particular could hardly claim innocence or ignorance for the poison that pours out of his own ballistics when he lets that poisonous tongue kill off the prerogatives of American democracy and free speech."

Another feature of council-manager government glossed over by its opponents is the effective citizen participation in the government, the policy is to utilize special skills of citizens where they are available. In Teaneck, more than 100 citizens from every walk of life serve on advisory boards and councils, including the planning board — especially needed by Belleville.

"The citizens of Belleville are getting their fill of little groups who through intimidation, criticism and constant pressure try to foist their objectives on the people."

"Who is behind the move springing up in our Essex County communities for this sudden, unjustified attack on commission government? If people start asking that question, they will realize that the answer lies in a complete and wholesale rejection of the Charter Commission's recommendations, and vote 'No' on the council-manager plan."

should be compared on a cost per capita per square mile basis as the area of the municipality has a very great effect upon the cost of the service provided. For instance, Teaneck has an area of 5.0 square miles, about twice the area of Belleville (after deducting the area of county property not receiving municipal services). Therefore, it should cost Teaneck approximately as much per capita for such services as police, fire, streets, shade trees, and parks. Let's see how these per capita costs compare:

RETAIN COMMISSION GOVERNMENT

... BE FOR IT ... WORK FOR IT ... VOTE FOR IT

CITIZENS OF BELLEVILLE:

The proof of the pudding is in the eating! The Charter Commission group compares the theory of the proposed form with the practice of the commission form which is not a proper comparison. Let's compare practice with practice.

TEANECK—with a tax rate of $7.88—is the supposed model of Council-Manager government. Belleville far out-ranks this model town in services rendered for tax dollars spent, with a much lower tax rate—$6.32.

RETAIN THOSE SERVICES AT LOWER COST

HOBOKEN—almost 2 years ago changed from commission form and the first tax rate under council form showed a 49 point increase—from $8.50 to $8.99.

TRENTON—changed from commission form to Council-Manager form. Increased property valuations, higher tax rates and curtailment of services caused Trenton citizens to return to commission form.

ASBURY PARK—presently in the throes of council-manager government, now finds a LUXURY TAX a possibility in an effort to raise revenue.

NEWARK—having changed from commission form to councilmanic form finds itself unable to make appointments due to political bickerings, intrigue and increased salaries.

BAYONNE—in 1951 retained commission form and report stated, "We believe the citizens of Bayonne will have to wake up and cooperate for better government. We are fortunate at the present time that we have elected five sincere and honest men to office, who since their election have shown a desire to work FOR THE PEOPLE and not for themselves."

"DON'T FALL INTO A TAX TRAP"

VOTE

Your "NO" vote will insure retention of Commission government — retention is best for you because:

1. It is the most democratic form of government.
2. The history of council-manager government in New Jersey does not make a case for this plan.
3. There is no guarantee that a man selected as town manager will turn out to be the best man for our town.
4. Outside experts who run governments do not have the common touch and patience with the people which is so necessary in democratic government. Experts should be "on tap" and not "on top."
5. Under the Council-Manager plan the manager prepares the budget and presents it to the council for adoption. This would lead the manager into developing policies opposed to administrative policies.

Newark Evening News Editorial — September 7, 1952

"There are serious objections to council-manager government and experience with it has not been uniformly satisfactory."

Trenton News — April 7, 1939

"We favor the recall of council-manager government... because it has demonstrated in four years its incapacity to provide the type of government so glibly and extravagantly promised four years ago. The tax rate has since gone up, the standard of service to the community has gone down."

business could be only removed "for cause," and that "for cause" was an ambiguous phrase.

"The town could be run by injunction, or by the will of the people," he demanded.

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde held that it isn't the form of government, but the character and efficiency of the men who run it, that determines whether or not a government is effective.

He said that Public Works Director Kenneth D. Smith, in office only five months, had done "terrific jobs," praised Commissioner Sullivan and the fire and police departments, and quoted Commissioner Joseph King as saying that he has never served with as fine a board.

Commissioner King said he wanted to reject the quotation because the townspeople should know the quality of the commissioners who served them. He attacked those whom he declared had forfeited commission government interest.

He said that the commission government had been able to effect many thousands of dollars over a five-year period in the cost of garbage collection.

"If the Charter Study should be set over on the people, the action would be in some out-of-town man with a lot of book-learning but no experience to try to do a job here that the commissioners are doing much better," he declared.

"If the plan is adopted there is a change in this town, but have been 'lured on' by the empty promises" made by council members.

He said he "wondered" about the selection of the Study Commission candidate who ran for office and were elected, declaring that at a meeting of the organization that named the candidates, only three who were there were residents of the town, and one of them was among the candidates named.

He said that the "Blue Book" of the human factor, as though it were something peculiar to commission government, and asked for the election of the Study Commission proposals to run the town with IBM machines."

He said that the minority report by Study Commissioner George Brown, which favored mayor-council government, and a "concurrent" report by Study Commissioner Lenora Willette, which was for council-manager government but disapproved of the election of a councilman, indicated a difference of opinion within the Study Commission.

"The Study Commissioners have called commission government a treacherous monster, ask head not knowing what the head is doing, but the administrative direction of all the commissioners in handling the town's affairs is presented by Hurricane Hazel, though clearly how closely and efficiently the commissioners are working together," he declared.

Mr. and Mrs. Carmine DeLuca

Mr. and Mrs. Carmine DeLuca, of 36 Meacham Street, who recently marked their golden wedding anniversary celebrated the occasion at an open-house party given by their five children.

Mr. DeLuca, who is 68, and his wife, who is 69, were married in Lavianna, Italy, and came to this country more than 35 years ago, settling in Belleville. He is employed in the Ever Ready Label Company.

On Sunday, a mass was celebrated in their honor at Holy Family church, Nutley. Present were their three sons, Charles and Joseph DeLuca, of Belleville and Val DeLuca, of Newark, and their two daughters, Mrs. Frank and Mrs. James Lago, of Belleville.

The couple have 11 grandchildren.

All schools closed, and afternoon classes were dismissed.

Heavy gusts of wind, picking up blinding sheets of dust, were the forerunners of the storm. Flying triangles, looking up apprehensively at the sky, began to hurry home.

A tree branch falling directly in front of an auto driven by John R. Macdonald, 54, of Carlstadt, N. J., caused him to swerve and collide head on with a car driven by George Howanick, 31, of Carlstadt. The accident occurred on Main Street south of Greylock Avenue. Howanick suffered lacerations on the right knee.

The Essex County Hospital on Franklin Avenue, which has its own power plant, suffered no loss of service because of the storm except for a short time in several residential buildings and in the X-ray unit. The electric current was switched into them from the hospital plant.

The idea rose in the Passaic River, but not enough to overflow the banks.

Business boomed at the Liquid Carbonic Corporation, 666 Washington Avenue, where hundreds of residents and many others who drove in from Pennsylvania and New York, ordered more than 250 and 300 cases of 18-ounce period after the loss of electric power endangered frozen foods and meats stored in refrigerators.

Every section of the town suffered some damage. Wires came down on Garden Avenue, Crescent Terrace, Prospect Street, Floyd Street, Overlook Avenue, Center Street, Little Street, Ralph Street, Brighton Avenue, Rosemore Place, Cedar Hill Avenue, Malone Avenue, and many other thoroughfares.

A sign was damaged at Ross Motors, Inc., 73 Washington Avenue, and damage was reported at the Belleville Motors, 55 Washington Avenue, Franklin Cleaners and Dyers at 112 Franklin, and other business addresses.

WHERE TO DATE IS OFTEN A PROBLEM FOR TEEN-AGERS

"Certainly we expect Mary to date," says a mother. "We want her to be popular and have fun, but she can't go to those awful places."

It's very important that teenagers have dates and it is important that they have a place to go on their dates, says Phyllis Pace Bradford, executive director of Human Relations at Rutgers University. But, she says, a place to go depends upon the community.

What does it offer the youngster in the way of entertainment?

"Take a look around your community and find out whether the school has a lot of good functions for the youngsters," she advised. "What about the movies? Are there good recreation halls and soda fountains?"

Or is your community the kind of place where there is nothing but one theatre and a few roadshows?

"Parents can't expect youngsters to have the kind of dates they want for them to go to. It's inevitable that the youngsters are going to date and that they will go somewhere. It's really up to the parents to be sure that there are places to go that are decent and respectable and interesting to the youngsters."

When parents in a community get together on this problem, many of the difficulties can be solved. A group of interested parents can see to it that there are decent places, school activities, teenage centers and other things to do that are respectable and interesting to the youngsters.

Even though it's important to be that will interest the youngsters, able to bring dates or the young home, it's still important to have some other places to go where the youngsters can have fun."

city—finally his sending of supervisors for the movement in the new world after the American revolution—are all depicted in the film.

Exhibition of the film here is believed to be the first showing in the metropolitan area.

The film is in the new Eastman color and was produced by the Radio and Film Commission of the Methodist Church in cooperation with J. Arthur Rank, a well-known character actor.

It brings to the screen for the first time the dynamic and colorful 18th-century evangelist and educator. The technical brilliance of the production has been acclaimed by critics in Time, Newsweek and other periodicals.

John Wesley's miraculous rescue from a burning house at the age of five forecasts the dramatic and eventual life which will be in this story, a man of slight stature but of impelling influence upon his contemporaries and upon history.

The English clergyman thought his venture in America as a missionary to the Indians failed, but it was the kind of failure which opened the door to the discovery of a "religious certainty" he had been seeking.

Furthermore, this discovery, in which John Wesley, for his "heart strangely warmed," led him to face noble unfaithful, and to rise 250,000 miles on horseback, changing the masses of English people from a low state of moral degradation to sturdy and happy uprightness.

His "enthusiasm" was frowned upon by the jealous leaders of the Church of England of that day, but it was this new-found enthusiasm which enabled him to influence so many phases of the

Many people will be tempted to ask, "what do I get out of the United Nations Program?" without asking themselves, "what have I put into the United Nations Program?"

The United Nations has grown steadily for the past seven years and thoughtful people are determined to have this growth continue, because United Nations represents the hope of all people for lasting peace."

Through U. N. international disputes are thought out, instead of fought out. Through United Nations the distribution of the natural resources of the world can be effected for the best interest of all mankind without any nation resorting to aggression in an effort to acquire what it needs by force.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gorin

Starting For Yale

With the graduation of Ed Woodsum, Yale's All-American end of 1952, Coach Jordan Olivar appeared to have a difficult problem at one flank position at the start of the '53 campaign. However, Coach Olivar had to look only at his defensive ends of the previous season to come up with Woodsum's replacement.

Roger Hansen, who performed so admirably for Yale when the other team had the ball in the one platoon days of 1952, was then ready to step into a "sixty-minute" man role in his junior year. That Hansen was experienced as a two-way player was a known fact up New Haven way, for he played end for the Belboys under Coach Ed Berlinski. In fact, Hansen played so well that in his senior year he was dicted co-captain and at the close of the 1950 season chosen for the All-Exsex squad.

When the call for ends came out last year Hansen was ready to take advantage of the varsity berth that awaited him. However, misfortune dogged the path of the sturdy built, (5'11", 185 pounds) lad throughout the year. After catching six passes for 33 yards and one TD in Yale's opening game against Connecticut, Hansen was beset by various ailments that kept him below par for the rest of the season. However, he was well enough to play against both Princeton and Harvard and thus earn his second varsity letter in as many years.

Now with three games gone in 1954 Roger appears established as Yale's first string right end despite heavy competition for mopshomeres. He has started every game, looking very good on each occasion, especially against Brown when he did an outstanding job on defense.

But Hansen's achievements at Yale are not restricted to the gridiron. Last year his classmates chose him treasurer of the Class of 1955, the second highest office in the class. Also Hansen was elected chairman of the Yale Junior Prom, also the outstanding social event of the academic year, an honor gained only through all-around ability and esteem. In the classroom he is a Dean's List student (above 80 average) and is majoring in Industrial Management. Thus it can be seen why there are smiles underneath the elms when Roger Hansen's name is mentioned.

Crystal Gazing

That's me behind the eight-ball. It took a month but old man upset finally caught up with me. Last Saturday I called three wrong shots. That poor star gazing total equalled the number of losses in the previous three weeks of guessing one. The major mishap was the predicted victory of Nutley over Montclair which never did materialize. Going into the second half of the 1954 season my record stands at 806, a nose-dive of 69 points in one week. Twenty-five have been called right, six wrong and four ended in stalemates. Now let's take stock of the situation as it will appear on Saturday and see if I can get in the swing of things.

Belleville to squeeze by Irvington. The Belboys finally broke into the scoring column with a 12-12 tie against West Side. Saturday's rivals are still winless but I look for Coach Ed Berlinski's young crew to break loose and end up on top.

Nutley to bounce back over Passaic. Both the Maroon Raiders and Indians were jolted from the undefeated ranks with Lyndhurst administering a major upset. Passaic is at the top of the heap of the Valley Conference but is not in the same class with Nutley, one of Essex County's top grid powers. Nutley to win by 14 points.

West Side to blank Central. The Highsteetters are going through a rough year. West Side is going no place fast but will take this City League decision.

East Orange to upset Montclair. They say to always stick with the champ until defeated. Me, I'm stubborn. East Orange is the dark horse entry for sectional honors. The Panthers have a strong line and two good backs in Harvey Amis and Steve Thomas. Nutley failed to topple Montclair, but the Mounties came out with quite a scare. East Orange will take this top football attraction of the afternoon and the following week will visit Park Oval and a big clash against Nutley.

West Orange to turn back Orange. The Cowboys have given us quite a quarterback. Tom Seltzer, back in action, Orange never did recover from that 42-0 lacing by Nutley in the second game of the season.

Harrington to trim Weequahic. A Barringer victory against the Indians just about leaves the City League

Blue-Gold, Showing Improvement, Ties West Siders, 12-12

By Mal Condon

Belleville finally showed offensive strength last Saturday in tying West Side of Newark, 12-12. The West Siders were a 12-point favorite, but the improving Belboys spoiled the prediction.

The Blue and Gold capitalized on an early fumble and a late 4th period drive for their scores.

Tomorrow the Blue & Gold travels to Irvington hoping for a victory. East Orange last Saturday handed Irvington a terrific beating 2-0, but then E. O. has one of the best Group IV teams in the state and Belleville cannot hope for too much on that score alone. One thing is certain — the Belboys will be trying.

Last week's game opened with Bob Pagnelli's kick-off, and after West Side returned it to their 22, they fumbled on the 1st play from scrimmage. Richie Macaroni scored on the West Siders' 21. Frank Puleo passed to Bob Costello, a gain of 10 yards to the 5-yard mark. Pagnelli then broke off guard for the first Belleville touchdown of the season. Pagnelli attempted a line plunge for the extra point, but was stopped short of the goal line.

On the second kick-off within the first 2 minutes, Pagnelli's kick was again fumbled and Pat McCabe recovered on the visitor's 26. However, the Blue and Gold lost yardage and kicked on 4th down. West Side moved to the Belleville 20 but the line held and the drive stopped. The quarter ended as Belleville took over on their 21, leading 6-0.

After Pagnelli moved to a 1st down on two plays the West Side defense stiffened and Pagnelli quick-kicked. The visitors began to move at this point from the 20. After a 1st down advance to the 41. Sonny Soricello, West Side quarterback, went around and for 36 yards to the home eleven's 23. La Barca then threw seven Belleville men to the score at 12-0. The play for the extra point was blocked by Wayne Worley.

West Side again threatened after a Belleville fumble, but a fine defensive stand halted West Side's forward advance on the Belleville 2 yard line. Pagnelli was forced to kick on 4th down from his own 11 and West Side took over on the Belboys 31. Two plays later Fred Cole, the West Side full back, went off tackle for 25 yards and a touchdown. Again the placement was blocked, but the visitors were ahead 12-6. Belleville moved to West Side's 48 on the kick-off.

crown for the undefeated Big Blue. Past performances indicate a Barringer triumph with points to spare.

Kearny to upset Bloomfield. This will be a top attraction with the Cardinals getting my vote to knock Bloomfield from the undefeated ranks. Bloomfield has two good backs, Kearny has four.

Columbia to lace Westfield. The Cougars are going about their business in a quiet little way and are still unbeaten in four games. They'll add No. 5 and scalp Westfield.

Phillipsburg to rout East Side. It will be a long bus ride home late Saturday afternoon for the East Siders. The Newark entry edged Weequahic, 7-6.

Paterson Central to beat Clifton. The Paterson "eleven" is a strong contender for Valley Conference honors. Clifton is still trying to get over its injury jinx which has plagued the squad all season.

Belleville High's annual magazine campaign has gotten underway. Besides selling magazines for the Curtis Publishing Company, the students are now selling subscriptions to the Belleville Times.

The money received from the company for selling magazines is put into the Student Council's treasury. Besides the Student Council gaining profits from the campaign, the individual students also have a chance to build up their own class treasury. A certain amount of money is given to the class selling the most subscriptions. This money helps the class to finance various expenses that will arise during their four years of high school.

The class of '58, as it is with every class in their freshman year, has the highest amount of subscriptions sold to date.

We seniors can also use some money in our class treasury to finance our class trips; so for the best interests of the class of '55, let's all get busy.

One Must Go Quickly

One must quickly now to read Poems left on hill and meadow, Before the lovely pages turn Yellow and are blurred by shadow, While yet the tamaracks have green Shelter for the little finches, And pickerelew is still as blue As the sky above the marshes, Go quickly and at leisure scan Places where the frost comes early; Bring home a token poem made By milkweed, mullein and wild barley.

The Case Of Case

In a strong denunciation of Communism as "a brutal, totalitarian menace" which he pledged himself to fight, in the form of subversion at home and as political and moral tyranny abroad, if he is elected to the U. S. Senate, Clifford P. Case, in an exclusive interview with The Nutley Sun which we are proud to present today, wiped out the last traces of the scurrilous slinging of vicious political mud by a Newark newspaper, which, last weekend, sought to castigate his sister as a member of a Communist front organization.

Miss Ryan, Retired Teacher, Makes Gift To Lincoln School

Miss N. Elsie Ryan, a former teacher of Lincoln School, gave to the school for the auditorium a pottery vase from North Carolina and for the library a pair of candleholders made by the Indians of the Adirondacks.

Miss Paula Snyder, who was in Miss Ryan's fifth grade class last year, made the presentation to Miss M. Agnes Kelly, principal of the school.

Miss Ryan, who had taught in Lincoln School for thirty-five years, retired in June.

Canterbury Club To Hear Investment Counselor

The regular monthly meeting of the Canterbury Club will be held next Thursday, at the Grace Episcopal Church Parish House.

The guest speaker will be Donald Noble, of Investment Supervisors, Inc. Mr. Noble is one of the owners of this world-

That Bella V. Dodd, a reformed Communist, should have chosen this time in a tense political campaign to have disclosed that some 25 years ago she knew an Adelaide Case as a member of a Communist front study group is significant. There are some, Republicans as well as Democrats and Communists, who do not like Case. They may have counted upon the confusion which they expected to raise by their accusation to have cost Case a few followers.

It was not difficult for Case to prove that the Adelaide Case that Bella Dodd knew 25 years ago as a middle-aged woman is not his sister who was a school girl 25 years ago. It would not have been difficult for the Newark newspaper to have counted on its fingers before it threw its mud. There may have been more motive than mathematics in its "scoop".

As far as The Nutley Sun is concerned, Case's position as a candidate is strengthened as a consequence of this slander, which served the excellent purpose of clearing the air. His affirmation of anti-Communist policy would have gone almost unheeded, if an enemy had not tried to pin a red tag on his sister. Now his pledge to fight Communism at home and abroad as "a creeping disease" means something.

There can be no doubt in the minds of those die-hard Republicans who thought that Case was "too liberal" that he is ardently anti-Communist. They may have forgotten that he helped draft the Mundt-Nixon Bill which was the first official attempt to control subversion in this country. Now they cannot overlook the Case record which, from the beginning of his Congressional career, was steadfastly anti-Communist. R. E. H.

One Man's Opinion

Washington And Moscow Put Brakes On Their Chinese Allies To End Shooting At Quemoy

How solid is the Moscow-Peking axis? Solid enough, apparently, that Moscow sets the compass for Peking. At least, the latest grapevine report out of the Far East is that both the United States and the U. S. S. R. put pressure on their Chinese allies to stop the Amoy-Quemoy battle of artillery and air bombardments. Both thought the fighting was getting out of hand.

The Soviet Union's No. 2 man, Nikita Khrushchev, shook his finger at Peking in those recent talks ending in the Sino-Soviet treaty of alliance and friendship. John Foster Dulles' Far Eastern expert Walter Robertson flew to Formosa to convince Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek the fighting was pointless. General Chiang, who still claims that if he can only once get a toe hold on the mainland he can retake China, agreed to stop the counterfire temporarily.

This was a tough assignment for Mr. Robertson, for in effect, meant "deescalating" General Chiang after the President's resounding State of the Union message unleashing him for an attack on the mainland. However, the administration was more interested in keeping the peace than in being inflexible. It has made much of the fact that under President Eisenhower fighting has stopped around the globe. General Chiang's bombardments threatened to nullify that claim. If there was any quid pro quo in this deal, it was that in return for an end to current attacks the United States agreed that General Chiang's return to the continent was not forever ruled out.

Strong Red Alliance

The alliance between Communist China and Soviet Russia is of course, one of the key political facts of our time. The military impact of the alliance was demonstrated in the Korean war when Chinese infantrymen, armed with Soviet-made weapons, forced the U.N. troops back from the Yalu to the Thirty-eighth Parallel, where the war eventually ended in a stalemate.

The political power of the alliance was demonstrated most clearly at the Geneva conference where Chou En-lai and Vyacheslav M. Molotov worked in union to force free world surrender of North Vietnam.

In one sense the alliance between the rulers of the Kremlin and China's Communists began thirty years or more ago in the period when Moscow sent Michael Bordin and other organizers to China in the first major effort to organize a Communist seizure of power there.

In a more formal sense, the Chinese-Russian alliance dates back only to February, 1950, when a pact of mutual aid and friendship was signed in Moscow after negotiations between Mao and Stalin.

Moscow Pays Off

It was in this agreement that Peking consented to Soviet troops remaining in the Far East, thus, receiving in return $300,000,000 in economic aid and the promise of a Communist seizure of the return of the Chinese Changchun Railroad to full Chinese control.

Since that pact was signed, Chinese-Soviet collaboration has

Mr. Molotov can play upon to divide the Western alliance. Secondly, Peking probably counts on the threat of Soviet intervention as its trump card when it is ready to attempt to take Formosa despite the shield provided by the American Seventh Fleet in those waters.

Causes Of Tension

But against these unifying factors must be weighed the tensions between the two states, some of which are rather obvious in last week's joint communique.

(1) The Chinese Communist revolution was inspired by fierce nationalism as well as by Communist ideology. China in the past has been one of the chief victims of Russian imperialism and most of the present Soviet Far East, for example, was stolen from China a century ago.

Historic Chinese suspicions of Soviet intentions still exist, and it is significant that the latest announcement provides for the end of the most open Soviet economic penetration in the border area of Sinkiang.

(2) There are undoubtedly differences between the two countries over who should be dominant in the neighboring satellite areas such as the Mongolian People's Republic and North Korea. Though Outer Mongolia was separated from China by Soviet machinations in 1921, it was only less than a decade ago that a nominal plebiscite was held there as a face-saving basis for acceptance of Mongolian "autonomy" by Chiang's regime. There is now abundant evidence of Peking's great interest in both Mongolia and North Korea.

(3) The question of how much Soviet economic aid should be extended to Peking could be a never-ending source of friction. Chinese ambitions for rapid industrialization are such that Peking's full desires could never be met fully by Moscow even if it would consent them as generously as possible.

In the actual negotiations on this subject, Moscow was undoubtedly sought to combine its partner that the modesty of its offers arose from the limited Soviet capabilities, but to Mr. Peking the thought must have occurred that an industrially and militarily strong China along Russia's long Asian border can hardly be a pleasant future prospect for Russian nationalists. One sign that Moscow's past niggardliness has produced tension is the latest announcement that Moscow has increased its economic aid for Chinese development by 400,000,000 rubles.

(4) It is already clear that there is jockeying and maneuvering between Moscow and Peking over who shall be the leader of the world Communist forces. With Stalin dead, the Chinese probably feel strongly that Mao should be recognized as the number one figure of world communism. Moscow has gone part of the way to giving Mao recognition, but the homage paid Mao's achievements is still slight compared to that once given Stalin.

Chance Of Eventual Split

For the immediate future,

there would seem little likelihood of a Russian-Chinese split, especially if United States policy continues on its present course of complete hostility while the Russians show themselves willing to make concessions such as those embodied in the latest agreement.

For the longer-range future however, speculation on a Soviet-Chinese split would seem to have more reasonable basis. As Communist China grows stronger industrially and militarily, its demands for primary in the Communist camp will undoubtedly increase, backed up by the argument that China includes one-quarter of the human race and has more than three times the population of Russia.

"Asia For Asians"

Just as Russia, after an initial period of dependence on Western economic aid and technological know-how, became largely independent, so will China become much less dependent on Soviet economic and technological aid if its industrialization program is carried out.

Finally, though not least important, Chou En-lai made clear at Geneva that Peking's program is based on the concept of Asia for the Asians, a program that

Case, In Interview, Blasts Communism Pledges Full Fight

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Clifford P. Case, Republican candidate for the U. S. Senate, who was the victim last weekend of a scurrilous attack based on an alleged and wholly false denunciation by Bella V. Dodd, former Communist, of Case's sister as a member of a Communist-front organization, took a firm stand in opposition to Communism as "a brutal, totalitarian menace; a creeping disease from abroad" in an exclusive interview with The Nutley Sun yesterday.

The Nutley Sun sought to ascertain the exact views and the Congressional record of Case on Communism, to be able to present his views to Nutley voters. Interrupting a series of public appearances, yesterday, the Republican candidate, former Congressman from the 6th N. J. District, made a frank statement of total hostility to and complete disavowal of Communism.

As a Communist-fighter, Case, as a Congressman, helped to draft the Mundt-Nixon Bill which was America's first organized attack against Communist subversion in this country. He also voted for the McCarran Subversive Activities Control Act, which requires the registration of Communist-front organizations, bars organizational members from defense plants and government jobs, denies passport to known Communists and members of the Communist-front organizations, and requires labelling of their broadcasts and mail. When President Harry Truman vetoed the McCarran Act, Case voted to over-ride the White House veto. Back in 1946, when many Americans were still deluding themselves that American ideals and Russian slave philosophy were being dismantled and torn down, Case in 1947, I publicly stated that it was then time to face facts about Russia's stubborn opposition to our world policy of preserving the freedom of all peoples. I worked closely with Vice President Nixon, then a Congressman from California, in drafting the Mundt-Nixon bill, which became one of our first effective anti-Communist measures when it was passed as the Subversive Activities Control Act.

"To me there is no compatibility between freedom and totalitarian dictatorship, whether it be Communist, National-Socialist or Fascist.

"If the Russian people want Communism, that is their affair, but I deny the right of the Communist International to export their political plague and to try by subversion and infiltration of high posts in our government, our organized labor, our civic and patriotic organizations, to spread world revolution to this country and this continent.

"In particular, I deny any American the right to seek to overthrow the national institutions of our democracy or to deprive us of our freedoms by subversive activities in the interests of Moscow, of the Kremlin or of Communism. As a member of Congress, I did everything I could to curb and to control the possibility of action of such subversives.

"I always have been and I am now a convinced opponent of Communism and if I am elected to the U. S. Senate, I will do everything I can to fight Communist subversion at home and Communist tyranny abroad."
