

Shafter Letter Raises County Tolls Question Board Of Elections, Registration Commission Apparently Disagree On Challengers In Referendums

An echo of the bitterly fought referendum is sounding here, as a county-wide question concerning the legality of poll station challenges on public questions and referenda.

The argument results from a letter to Commission of Registration John B. Keenan from Richard A. Shafter, spokesman for the Belleville Civic Congress, a civic group, questioning the issuance of challenge badges to Commission backers.

The answer indicates a controversy over the problem between the County Board of Elections, headed by Shafter, and the County Board of Registrars, headed by Elmer Herman, clerk of the County Board of Elections.

"The point raised by us is of considerable legal importance," Shafter said, "and should be resolved in a manner that leaves no doubt for the future as to who has the right to maintain challenges on the polls and under what specific conditions."

Told No Badges

Shafter said his group had been told by Commissioner Keenan and his staff that no challengers were permitted on public questions, and thus the Civic Congress Committee did not apply for challenge badges.

Came Election Day and, in opposition to the change of government from commission to council-manager had several challenges at poll stations throughout town, with challenger badges.

The explanation, Shafter said, was that the County Board of Elections had issued those badges after receiving application to that effect on or before October 19.

Later on Election Day, Shafter said that he, Boyd A. Hartley, chairman of the County Board of Registrars, respectively of the Charter Study Commission and of the local Commission for Young Men in Government, registered a formal complaint against the issuance of these badges, the office of Commissioner Keenan and the County Board of Elections.

Says "Precedent"

Herman said, according to Shafter, "a precedent of sorts had been established in Newark some 12 years ago, when both sides to a public question applied for and received challenge badges; and this precedent has been followed ever since."

Shafter quoted Herman as saying that campaigns in West Orange where a similar election was held had applied for and received challenge badges while in Cedar Grove, scene of another charter election, no badges had been issued since the last municipal election.

In his letter to Keenan, Shafter stressed that: "Obviously two county offices charged with the proper conduct of elections are at loggerheads with each other on the strict interpretation of the law as far as it pertains to challenge badges on public questions. He said he had public questions. He said he had

THOUSANDS LINE STREETS TO SEE VETS DAY PARADE

The Belleville Chapter, American Red Cross was awarded a $25 cash prize for the outstanding float in the first Veterans' Day Parade held here last week. The Girl Scouts also received a similar award for having the most members in line of March.

Parade leaders were highly gratified at the turnout. Some 10,000 people thronged sidewalks along Washington Avenue from Greylake Avenue to William Street. A record stand was set up in front of the town hall.

The spectators saw a parade of five divisions, preceded by the Fire Department, a Civil Guard, Grand Marshal George Mitchell, Assistant Grand Marshal Nicholas Rano, an adjutant and the town commissioners.

The first division consisted of the high school band, the police department, and the auxiliary police department.

Then came the second division, with the St. Mary's Cadets, the 95th A.A.A., a Marine Detachment and a Junior Red Cross float.

The Nutley Girl Scout Troop and Bugle Corps, the Girl Scout Troops, the Boy Scouts, a Junior Red Cross float made up the third division.

After these came the St. Joseph's choir, the St. Joseph's choir, the St. Peter's Holy Name Society, the Knights of Columbus and the Knights of St. John.

Good Counsel, Belleville Veterans' Aid, auxiliaries, and the Disabled Veterans riding in cars made up the fifth and last section.

Sherman Must Pay $300 In Libel Suit Boomerang

A $50,000 libel action brought by Building Inspector Thomas Greco against Vernon Sherman was considered closed this week in a boomerang of law which had Superior Court Judge Frederick R. Cole upset a jury verdict dismissing the suit as "no cause for action."

Both sides claimed the victory, but it is apparent that Sherman, owner of Sherman Industrial Electronics Co., a small industrial concern here, was forced to fork over an alleged $300 to the judge's instruction, or face the costs of a new trial.

Mr. Greco, satisfied at being personally vindicated, Sherman said. But he added, "I was completely flabbergasted by the strange decision."

Said Greco's attorney, Joseph P. Piccolo, of the Passaic firm of Piccolo, Piccolo and Nitti, "Greco was gratified he was vindicated. Justice ultimately triumphed."

The suit stemmed from a letter which Sherman sent to Commissioner Joseph King on November 1, 1952, alleging he was subjected to a series of annoying acts by Greco which were motivated by a personal vendetta against Sherman.

The Sherman company building.

Commissioner King, as a result of the action, held a hearing on the allegation in March, 1953, and upheld the building inspector. Greco, in turn, filed suit, stating

HUNDERTPFUND HEADS DYSTROPHY DRIVE NEXT WEEK

Carl Hundertpfund, acting Deputy Fire Chief, has been named chairman of the town's Fire Fighters March for Muscular Dystrophy in a fund drive to start here next Friday.

Chief Harry White is honorary chairman. George De Franco, Assistant Fire Chief, George Villano, Capt. George Sharras, and Bob Schaefer are members of the drive committee.

Muscular dystrophy is the fatal disease which afflicts more than 200,000 victims in this country including 135,000 children. The fund drive supports increased medical research into this killer, establishes more clinics, and assists the stricken in the purchase of orthopedic equipment.

To Use Sound Truck

Deputy Chief Hundertpfund said yesterday that the firemen will notify people of the action by using the town's sound truck by sound truck. He said residents probably already had received envelopes from the national organization, and that the firemen would make a house-to-house canvass to collect the money.

The firemen was the civic unit chosen this year by muscular dystrophy headquarters to participate in the drive. Mailmen visited last year, and police possibly will be selected next year.

Deputy Chief Hundertpfund stressed that the firemen were making the canvass in their own time. He said Capt. Sharras was outlining the town into sections for the drive. Mailmen visited the sections of visit to be announced later.

"I am proud to have been honored with the leadership of this mission," Hundertpfund said. "I hope the citizens will support the drive generously and help save the lives of the unfortunate victims of this terrible disease."

The drive also is being supported by the International Association of Fire Chiefs, the National Firemen's Association, Fire Ruffs, branches of the National Letter Carriers Association, and the Ladies Auxiliary of many of these organizations.

Muscular dystrophy is an incurable, non-contagious, progressive disease of the muscles. The muscles gradually waste away, ending in crippling, or total disability. It is always fatal in children.

No treatment or cure has yet been discovered. Medical research holds the only hope for its victims.

The Muscular Dystrophy Association of America, Inc., were formed in 1950 by parents of child victims of the disease.

Selective Service Head Reminds Students Of Test

Belleville students were reminded today that application blanks for the December 9 Selective Service Test should be returned to the town's Selective Service Test must be postmarked not later than midnight Tuesday, November 23.

Col. Di A. McGrath, State Director of Selective Service urged students whose academic year begins in January to take the December 9 test so they will have a test score on file at their local board. He pointed out also that the board determines whether they should again be deferred.

The nearest testing centers to here are Rutgers University and New Jersey State Teachers College at Newark, Rutgers University, and Upsala College.

Special Plea

"I am making a special appeal to the people of Belleville this week, and in particular to those who are in the military service."

HOT NEWS OFF POLICE GRIDDLE

Henry Jackson, 46, of 16 Valley Street was taken to Columbus Hospital for treatment of a head wound he said was suffered when he was struck by a heavy instrument wielded by four or five teenagers. He said they took his wallet with $60 in it, near Schuyler.

A sneak thief stole an unidentified sum of cash from a cigarette machine in the American Legion last at 118 Belmont Avenue. Investigating officers Russo and Marion then found that the thief also had worked over the adjoining drug store, a 1941 Veteran of Foreign Wars Post 6265, and taken $17 from the juke box.

Gerardine Housley, 15, of 160 Janelson Street was treated to the ground while crossing Janelson Street and Union Avenue, by a car driven by Thomas J. Hansen, 23, of 298 Union Avenue. Hansen stopped, and brought the girl to a stop when he was informed by a passing motorist, "You hit her," police said. They said she was crossing against the light.

Herman Schario, salesman for Belleville Motors, 35 Washington Avenue, reported an attempted break-in.

Frank Scarpella of 38 Geylock Avenue reported someone stole a light from his car's 64 car while it was parked in front of the Mountain Club in Watessing Avenue.

Michael Palmari reported to police that four burglars were stolen from his home. He said they were parked in the garage at his home.

YOUTHS INJURED IN INTER-TOWN GANG WARFARE

A gang war, involving youths from Nutley, Belleville and Newark, took place at the intersection of Chestnut Street and Hillside Avenue, Nutley, at 11 o'clock Tuesday night sending one Nutley participant, Joseph Wilkes, 22, of 42 Highland Avenue, to a hospital suffering a possible fractured skull. The gang war saw clubs used, resulting in three windows of an automobile being smashed.

Face Judge Wednesday

About 50 youths either watched or participated in the fight. Four teenagers and Wilkes were arrested and taken to the Nutley Municipal Court, next Wednesday.

Two teenagers, Thomas Corasario, 19, of 308 Bloomfield Avenue, and Anthony Cerami, 18, were arrested as disorderly persons and released in $100 bail. Another Nutley teenager, Robert A. Villacarta, 19, of 155 Raymond Avenue was charged with being a material witness and Albert L. Izzo, 18, of 527 Franklin Avenue, Belleville, was arrested on a disorderly person charge. Still being sought are a group of Newark youths who came looking for a fight.

The fight took place in front of Magistrate Judge's home in Chestnut Street, Nutley.

Police were summoned by a telephone call at the gate. William Knust and Patrolman Ernest Pollers, Edward Canara and William Gentry arrived as the participants fled. They found Wilkes and Corasario both on the ground.

FOUNDATION SAYS IT BACKS KIDDE "100 PER CENT"

The Belleville Foundation said this week "it is one hundred per cent behind John Kidde," chairman of the hospital committee trying to get a hospital in Belleville.

A sub-committee of the hospital committee had recommended withdrawing its support from an aspect of the fund drive program but had not recommended withdrawal of support of Kidde's efforts to get the hospital here, the Foundation stressed.

The Foundation said the statement in reference to a story carried last week in the Times-Tribune that the Foundation's director, commenting under an alias, "Hospital Under..."

The hospital committee had recommended withdrawing its support from an aspect of the fund drive program but had not recommended withdrawal of support of Kidde's efforts to get the hospital here, the Foundation stressed.

The Foundation said it had been offered a two million dollar tentative loan from the Construction Finance Commission and had gathered another half million dollars in cash and pledges in Belleville.

Harry G. Specht, Foundation president, pointed out that in addition to this, the sale of the Clara Maass Hospital property, if the hospital were moved to Belleville, would bring in another half million dollars in cash and pledges in Belleville.

The Foundation said its big problem was how to raise the other million dollars estimated necessary to establish the hospital.

The site of the hospital would be near the Stephen Crane Village, off Belleville Avenue.

BOARD POSTPONES MEETING

RECREATION DEPARTMENT CONSIDERING PROJECT: "NO GREATER RECREATION NEED," SAYS SUPERINTENDENT COOK

The first public swimming pool in the town of Belleville is being considered by the recreation department, it was learned yesterday.

The pool would be an outdoor pool, possibly constructed of steel and be large enough to accommodate 325 children at one time. It is tentatively planned to be located in a site near the stadium.

"Tremendous Need"

"I deem it a tremendous need in the recreation picture," said Recreation Superintendent Elmer Hyde. Cook said: "Belleville has no greater single recreation need right now than it has for a swimming pool."

Cook said he had been given permission by the Recreation Commission to report on public reaction to the idea.

Wants Opinion

"I'm convinced the people will come up with enthusiasm on the idea," he said. "I'd like an expression of opinion from the community."

The recreation superintendent apparently has been studying the project for some time. He already has visited the Jersey City engineering department and obtained information on the new type of steel outdoor pools constructed in that city.

"Steel pools seem to be the most economical because of the lower construction and maintenance costs," he said. Jersey City paid $110,000 for an outdoor pool and wading pool.

Cook has in mind a 50 by 100 foot outdoor pool, which would be heated by a green swimming deck. Besides absorbing 325 children at a time, the pool recreation area, including bathroom, changing room and other games, could accommodate even more, he points out.

Big Site Possibility

The recreation director said he favored the "big site" near the school stadium as the most preferable site. The pool architects, however, would like to take the town area, including bathroom, changing room and other games, could accommodate even more, he points out.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON TURKEY DAY GAME

The annual Thanksgiving Day football game with Orange High School will be played this year at Orange High School Stadium on Bell Street, off Main Street. Game time is 11 a.m.

Tickets may be obtained at the telephone call at the gate. Student tickets are 60 cents; adult tickets, $1.20, and reserved seats, $2.00. There will be a reserved seat section on each side of the field.

RETARDED KIDS FUND CAMPAIGN ASKS VOLUNTEERS

Mrs. Joseph Manning, of 13 Belle Terrace was appointed chairman this week of a group placing collection cans in local business places and setting up a house-to-house canvass, as the Retarded Children's Fund Drive got underway here.

"Our First Essex County drive during Thanksgiving Week must be a success if we are to continue services at the clinic, workshop, and classrooms," Mrs. Manning said.

"It is hoped that other mothers, knowing the problems posed by mentally retarded children, will be willing to volunteer two or three hours of their time and collect in their own neighborhood for the Fund."

"We urge you to volunteer your help—even an hour or two. You may please take out a can to collect funds from your friends and neighbors, or at a busy corner, supermarket, store, bank or any place you may choose."

"Some of our group are planning door-to-door canvassing for funds right in their own neighborhood. Others are asking school children to help with this."

"We are grateful for whatever help you may choose to give us during the week of the drive—Nov. 21-23. Ask your friends and family if they will help too."

Mrs. Manning said that the help of the "forgotten children" a chance to go to special classes, a chance to learn to read, and a chance to be part of the general community of Mr. and Mrs. Manning, of 120 Rutgers Street.

The conditions are parents of six-year-old Julie Condon, who rolled in one of the special classes being conducted by the Essex Unit, Association for Retarded Children.

WALLACE-TIERMAN WORKER AWARDED FOR LOSS OF EYE

An Orange man was awarded $8,500 by a Superior Court jury this week in a suit against a Belleville doctor who he accused of being responsible for the loss of his eye.

Dr. Robert Underwood of 345 Washington Avenue was charged with failure to use antibiotics in treating an eye injury to Francis Scarcia, 27, of 12511. Scarcia asked $85,000.

William P. Braun, Dr. Underwood's attorney, yesterday said that he was considering that "he was considering that 'We haven't had time to file a motion to set aside the verdict.'"

Scarcia was working for the Wallace and Tierman Co. plant when a piece of steel from his hammer struck his eye. He was sent to Dr. Underwood, the company doctor, for treatment.

Scarcia said his eye was so inflamed the next day he was sent to Beth Israel Hospital, where he remained for two weeks. When released, he said, the sight of the eye was gone and the eye itself moved in an operation in New York.

Dr. Underwood introduced testimony that he had examined Scarcia's eye and was not sure it was doomed and would not have been saved by the use of antibiotics.

REC DEPARTMENT PLANS NEWS CLEARING HOUSE

The Belleville Recreation department said today it is beginning work on a new service to the community, a central clearing house for all recreation activities.

The Club had churches, groups, PTA's and other organizations are being asked to inform the department of all their activities and programs. The Department intends to file the information, and make it available to anyone via the telephone.

Commissioner Elmer Hyde said he expects to have the clearing operation by January. The department said the service will help people know the various events to have a simple means of getting the information; and that many club members and organizers of events will be spared much telephoning.

LETTERS
To The Editor

To The Editor, The Times-News:
The Belleville Veterans' Day and Memorial Day Committee wishes to extend to the Belleville Times-News their appreciation for the publicity printed in regard to the parade held on Thursday evening, November 11. This year the Committee realized that Armistice Day was to be observed as Veterans' Day, so they decided to pay their respects to all Belleville Veterans.
We wish also to thank Isadore J. Padula, Mayor of our town for the cooperation and assistance he gave during the formation of the plan for this occasion.

To the Mayor and members of the Board of Commissioners, Police and Fire Chiefs, and members of their departments who so generously offered their services during the night of the Parade we say "Thanks" To members of the Police and Fire Reserves.

To The Editor, The Times-News:
As a tribute to your journalistic qualities and fairness, the following resolution was adopted, November 7, by the Belleville Civic Congress:

BE IT RESOLVED that the Council-Manager Committee of the Belleville Civic Congress, assembled in meeting this 7th day of November, 1954, expresses its deep appreciation in RAPHAEL E. HEINZ, Esq., publisher and Editor of the Belleville Times-News for the accuracy and fair treatment of the news items which he has furnished for better government in Belleville was treated in the news columns of The Times-News, and for the courageous objectivity with which the case for the Council-Manager Plan was presented editorially by The Belleville Times-News.

To The Editor, The Times-News:
In the October 22 issue of the Belleville Times-News, Commissioner Sullivan stated that he was now in the process of organizing a "Citizens Advisory Committee" on traffic, representing every section of Belleville, including the Silver Lake and Soho sections.

I had started to the Commissioner that in the event this committee materializes, I would be most happy to serve.

Commissioner Sullivan has evidently very conveniently overlooked this fact, for he has not yet communicated with me his desire for my services. It is my opinion that his silence in this matter means that he has no use for the people of Silver Lake and Soho other than at election time.

If I am wrong in my contention, Commissioner Sullivan must live with substantial evidence to the effect that he does take an active interest in Silver Lake and Soho by giving us the adequate police protection which we need.

"Commissioner Sullivan must let us know what his stand is concerning our problems. Is he interested? Is he not interested?"

The following is directed to all five of the commissioners:

A plan was submitted to the commissioners to make Lake Street, in Silver Lake, a one-way street. This plan was approved and Lake Street was made one-way; however it has not been enacted into ordinance, therefore, giving more evidence that the people of Silver Lake do not have adequate representation.

It is in my opinion that the commissioners feel that one-way signs were sufficient enough and it would not be necessary to enact this into law because the people wouldn't know the difference.

A question which I would like answered is:

"If a street has signs stating it to be one-way, and no ordinance, enacted, this effect by the commissioners, how can you justify the actions of the police in giving out tickets to people who did not break the law in the first place?"
Gentlemen, if a street is to be made one-way on a permanent basis, you are all aware of the fact that simply by putting up signs does not make this street one-way.

COUNCIL URGES
GROUPS SPONSOR
SCOUTING UNITS

Churches, Parent-Teacher Association, fraternal bodies and veterans groups were urged this week by the Robert Treat Council, Boy Scouts of America, to provide a constructive Scouting program.

"Only as institutions sponsor Packs, Troops and Explorer units, can boys be Scouts," the Council said. "It emphasizes that more troops and packs must be organized to serve the growing number of boys."

The PTA of School 9, sponsors of Boy Scout Troop 309, is now organizing Pack 309. An attendance committee of parents of prospective kids will be held in the home of Mrs. Walter Sanders, PTA president, on Friday, Nov. 26.

Color Guards and Bearers from Troops 301, 305, 307, 309, 313, 317 and 352 took part in the Veterans' Day Parade November 11. Scouts of Troop 305 distributed copies of the poem, "Rites Off, The Flag Is Passing By," to people watching the parade.

The Robert Treat Council said only a token representation of selected Scouts march in parades, themselves, since the Scouts are a service movement rather than a marching organization.

Leslie Jones, chairman of organization and extension for Belleville, and Harry F. French, assistant Scout executive, will attend a weekend course in organization methods at the National Scout Training Center in Mendham, this weekend.

Santa Maria Members' Reception On Sunday

A reception for new members of the Catholic Daughters will be held Sunday afternoon at 3 by Court Santa Maria No. 91 in St. Peter's School. Mrs. Anna Glennon will act as chairman.

Mrs. Margaret Connolly has been appointed head of the Community Breakfast committee, to be held December 5, assisted by Mrs. Agnes Leonard. Plans will also be outlined at the Sunday meeting for the group's annual Christmas party.

per capita, he said.
Presently there is no public pool in the town of Belleville. Two indoor pools, one in the high school and one in Friendly House, in Silver Lake, are not in use.

Swim Program

The recreation director personally undertook a swimming program here last year in which groups of 30 to 40 children took bicycle rides to Laguna Beach Club, on Route 23, where their family has a membership.

He envisioned the pool as a place of recreation where children can be taught to swim and where the Red Cross, and Boy Scouts, and Girl Scouts can sponsor life-saving programs.

The Belleville Foundation at one time considered a Youth House as a project, including a gym and a pool.

If Commissioner Joseph King's reasoning is followed, the weight of argument of property owners for and against the ordinance should be based on the percentage of footage of property owners affected.

The ordinance provides that the town pay $10,600 for construction of a 400 foot street, with sidewalks, curbs and sanitary sewers.

A second ordinance provides that the town pay $2,100 for installation of sewer mains.

bleeding. The windows of Corsaro's car were smashed.
Both Wilkes and Corsaro were taken in the town ambulance to Columbus Hospital, in Newark. Corsaro was treated and returned to police headquarters when his head wounds and bruises were found to be superficial.

Wilkes' injury was diagnosed as a possible skull fracture but Columbus Hospital authorities refused to keep him under observation because no bed was available. He is being treated by Dr. Charles Margulies, of Nutley.

After the brawl was over, police questioned fourteen Nutley youths at police headquarters. Three were juveniles, the oldest being 23 years of age.

The gang war actually started brewing on Saturday night when an obscene remark was called out by a 18-year-old Belleville juvenile in a moving auto as it passed a group of Nutley teen-agers standing on the sidewalk in front of Charles' Confectionery Store at the corner of Franklin Avenue and Chestnut Street, Nutley.

The Belleville car stopped and Villacarr and the Belleville juvenile agreed to fight the next night in Belleville. That battle never came off.

A second date was made by the two individuals, this time for the fight to be held in Booth Park, Nutley. Nine o'clock Tuesday night was to be fight time.

The driver of the Belleville car on Tuesday night was Cerami. The drivers of three autos attempted to block his car at Franklin Avenue and Chestnut Street but he got away. Five Nutley cars trailed him into Belleville but four turned back at Joralemon Street.
Detective Eugene Davis told The Times-News that Cerami and his friends recruited aid in Newark and returned to Nutley with two carloads of Newark hoodlums. The cars turned left at Chestnut Street and stopped at the intersection of Hillside Avenue. There they were met by Corsaro, in his car.

Stopped in the roadway Corsaro challenged: "Where have you been, we've been looking for you all night." The Newark youths and the Nutley boys in Corsaro's car started fighting.

One witness told Davis that he saw clubs that looked like baseball bats used in the battle. Actually participating in the fighting were only eight youths but fifty others formed a noisy audience. All the Newark boys escaped in their two cars before the police arrived.

Shaffer

not yet received an answer from Herrman's office, who was the recipient of a carbon of Keenan's letter.

First Time Raised

This is believed to be the first time that the question of challenges on public questions has ever been raised by any civic group in the state.

Keenan's letter said:

"In response to your recent letter concerning the issuance of Challengers to persons requesting such on public questions, may I respectfully advise you that we know of no provision allowing challenges on public questions.

"However, if your information is to the contrary, I should appreciate legal enlightenment on this point.

"I may inform you that the Board of Pensions is the issuing agency and apparently they have seen fit to stretch the legal interpretation of persons or groups entitled to challenges, to which we do not subscribe.

Shaffer's Letter

In Shaffer's letter, the Civic Congress leader told the story of how he was instructed time and again by the Commission of Registration office that "no challenges are permissible under the law on any public questions."

Shaffer also wrote that Herrman had informed the group of the precedent established in Newark 12 years ago.

"Admittedly, an joint protest had no bearing on the outcome of the local referendum in Belleville, nor had it been intended to influence the outcome in any way.

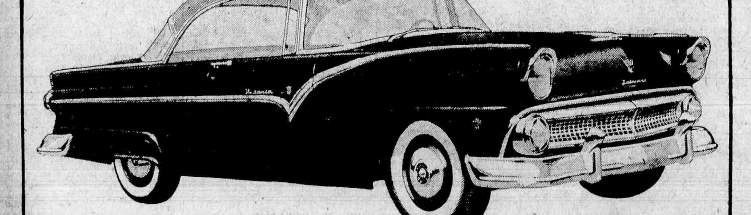

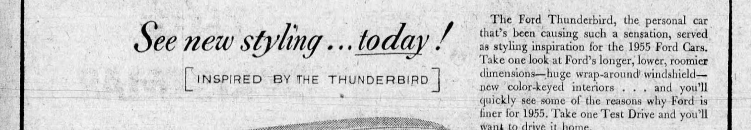

"However, it must appear obvious that two county officers directly concerned with the proper conduct of elections are at loggerheads.

"I feel that the point raised here is of some legal importance and should be resolved in some manner that leaves no doubt in future cases of this sort as to who has the right to attain challenges at the polls, and under what specific conditions.

"A clarification of the point would, I am sure, be greatly appreciated not only by various civic groups in Belleville, but by the entire electorate of Essex county.

Ernest Arvidsons Entertain 12 Guests at Dinner party

A dinner party was given Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Arvidson, of 178 Floyd Street, in honor of Mrs. Arvidson's mother, Mrs. James Gardner, of Arlington. Home movies were shown of the Arvidsons' trip to Florida and Western tour this summer. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. James Rosa, of Arlington; Mr. and Mrs. H. Skogstrom, Mr. and Mrs. P. Yarnell, Mr. and Mrs. C. Chapot and Charles, Robert and Lillian Gardner.

Arthur E. Mayer, of 382 Washington Avenue, will arrive home today from Clara Mass Hospital where he has been recuperating since November 3 when he suffered a heart attack.

Miss Betty Anne Brown, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, of 19 Mertz Avenue, was chosen by her class at St. Michael's School of Nursing to attend the City Center.

The Griffith Music Foundation will present the Little Orchestra Society of New York, with Max Leavitt, of the Lemonade Opera, as master of ceremonies. The concert for young folks will be held tomorrow at 11 a.m. and will feature nine-year-old pianist Abbot Raskin playing Mozart, and a running cartoon of Offenbach's "Gaité Parisienne".

Joseph Rossi, instructor at the Newark School of Fine Arts, gave a demonstration in oils at yesterday's meeting of the Associated Artists. An art workshop discussion followed the demonstration.

"This is Show Business" was presented to a packed audience at Bloomfield High School Friday and Saturday by the Walter Kilde Players. Written and directed by Joe Bonanno and Rocco Miccia, the show combined the talents of more than 40 employees.

MISS MANNING'S BETROTHAL TOLD

Joseph Manning, of 13 Belle Terrace, has announced the engagement of his daughter, Agnes Marie, to Joseph A. Inzerilli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosario Inzerilli, of Brooklyn. The bride-elect is the daughter of the late Mrs. Manning. A graduate of East Side High School, Newark, Miss Manning is a member of Seton Junior League. Mr. Inzerilli was graduated from Syracuse University and is doing work at Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute. Both are employed by Colanese Corporation of America, Newark.

New ... Arrivals

Mr. and Mrs. August Bechtold, of 98 Morgan Place, Arlington, announce the birth of their third child, a son, Craig Nevill, on November 9. He joins Jeffrey, 7 and Pamela, 2½. Mrs. Bechtold is the former Audrey Vance of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Shepard, of 8 Davis Avenue, East Orange, formerly of Belleville, are parents of a daughter, Audrey Ann, born November 3 at Columbus Hospital. Mrs. Shepard is the former Beatrice Colitan.

Mrs. Charles F. Knoeller

Heimrich-Knoeller Wedding Rites Held in St Peters

Miss Doris Anne Heimrich, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heimrich, of 10 Fairview Place, and Charles F. Knoeller, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Knoeller, of Thomas Avenue, Lyndhurst, were married on Saturday at St. Peter's Church. Rev. Francis Ignacius officiated at the double-ring ceremony and Nuptial Mass.

The bride wore a gown of parchment satin with a cathedral length train. The scoop neckline was trimmed with re-embroidered French Alencon lace and her fingertip veil fell from a matching headpiece of parchment satin and lace. She carried a white orchid on a mother-of-pearl prayer book.

Mrs. Walter Heimrich was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Mrs. Chester Grapowski, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Arlene Ziff, and Miss Evelyn Bloch. The matron of honor wore a ballerina length gown of Mayflower blue velvet and carried a large cascade bouquet of gold and rust chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were also attired in Mayflower blue velvet. John Knoeller was best man for his brother, and ushers included Stanley Patus, Harry Heimrich, Jr., brother of the bride, and George Knoeller.

Mrs. Knoeller is a graduate of Belleville High School and is employed with the Fischer and Porter Company, Nutley. Mr. Knoeller was graduated from Lyndhurst High School and is in the construction business with his father in Jersey City. A reception was held at Pierre's, East Orange.

"Who Stole The Stole?" Merry Skit At Hadassah

"Who Stole The Stole?" will be presented at a meeting of the Belleville-Snyder chapter of Hadassah on Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. at Congregation Ahavath Achim. Mrs. Jerome Hamburger, president, will preside, and the skit was written by Mrs. Marvin Epstein.

Mrs. Joseph Getzoff will be in charge of props and the staging and members who will appear in the cost include Mesdames Samuel Finschtein, Jules Swick, Irving Blank and Arthur Kobrin.

Members who have sold one chance book for the mink stole raffle in February will be entitled to draw for a sterling silver lemon dish and fork set. The drawing will be held at this meeting and refreshments will be served.

MRS. SUSSMAN HEADS NATIONAL WOMEN'S GROUP

Mrs. Louis Sussman

Mrs. Louis Sussman, was elected president of the National Women's League of the United Synagogue of America, this week and will be honored at service tonight at 8:30 p.m. in the Congregation Ahavath Achim.

Dr. Albert L. Raab, rabbi, will officiate and speak on "The Woman in Israel." Dr. Seymour Fischel will chant the liturgy. The Synagogue choir, directed by Miss Doris Cohen, will participate.

Mrs. Sussman was elected to the office Wednesday at a national convention in Cleveland. Also attending were Mrs. Stanley Sobelson, president of the local Sisterhood, and Mrs. Albert L. Raab, wife of the Rabbi.

The National Women's League is made up of all the Sisterhoods of the Conservative congregations in the United States and Canada; and is composed of about 170,000 individual members.

After services tonight, an "Oneg Shabbat" will be held in the vestry room of the Synagogue. Refreshments will be served in honor of the newly-elected National president.

FAMILIAR FACE—For the past 35 years Miss Mary C. Stanian's friendly smile has greeted visitors to the Belleville Public Library. She joined the staff in 1919, became assistant librarian the following year, and was appointed head librarian in 1942.

HEAD LIBRARIAN SAYS BOOKS ARE BETTER'N EVER

By Regina Smardige

"Books are better than ever," according to Miss Mary C. Stanian, head librarian of Belleville's Public Library, and one look at the jump in circulation this summer proves it. Books borrowed from June to September hit a high of 26,486, an increase of 4867 over the same period last year.

"Television has sparked this reader interest to some degree," Miss Stanian explained. "The biggest demand is for Lillian Roth's 'I'll Cry Tomorrow,' and it was Ralph Edwards' story of her life which brought it to public attention."

"Another book, being serialized on TV, is the modern cloak and dagger FBI tale, 'I Led Three Lives,' for which we have a long waiting list." Seated in her office across from the children's room, Miss Stanian told us she had celebrated her 36th year with the Library on October 6. She was made assistant librarian in 1920, a year after she joined the staff, and assumed her present position in 1942.

She paused while a parade of youngsters filed past the door. The "spatter" of little feet sounded new feature, begun in June, is quite popular. Teenagers who are planning a party and want danceable music may have the Glenn Miller Album for the evening. We also have musical comedies: Cole Porter and Benny Goodman for the jazz aficionados, as well as classical and operatic music. About 70 records are available at a small charge.

This is the third in a series of feature stories about Belleville women whose careers, or participation in the social or civic life of the community are of special interest.

"We've also added a magazine section, and any of the periodicals may be borrowed for one week." "People should realize how many helpful volumes are in the library. For those planning a motor trip, Leashy's 'Hotel and Motel Guide' will eliminate the chance of getting stranded. For Stock Market followers, we have Moody's 'Manual of Investments'."

Miss Stanian works a 39-hour week and is in charge of purchasing new books. (About 300 have been added since June.) She has also been keenly fascinated with library science and the cataloging of books.

She lives at 64 Rossmore Place, her hobby is needlepoint and she is a member of the New Jersey and American Library Associations.

Her own taste in reading puts a good travel book at the top of the list, and during her long years of serving the people of Belleville, she has basked many travels. . . . In the world of books.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gorin

Who Put That Upright There???

Coach Ed Berlinski's young football team, having rough sledding for most of the season, hit upon a new way to take a game when the Bellboys lost the hard way as West Orange eked out a razor-thin, 7-6, victory. Few times have the Bellboys been able to take advantage of any breaks. "Punt returns and fumbles have hurt the team on several occasions this fall."

Again it was itchy fingers that helped West Orange tremendously. Still the Bellboys needed another smile from lady luck. There must have been a mighty lucky rabbit's foot in one of the Cowboy coaches' pocket as Jim Apple booted what started out as a good extra point try. With the breaks turning against Belleville, this was another one to chalk up to the hard luck column.

"From where I watched the ball on the sidelines it looked like the ball would be good and we would tie the score at 7-7," Berlinski told me. "It was a windy day though and the breeze caught the ball just enough to make a difference and it hit the left upright. What hurts though is that the kick was plenty high enough and cleared the crossbar by several feet."

So that was how the weird script ended after Bob Paganelli's 86-yard touchdown drive that took 17 plays in the final quarters. The junior fullback bucked over from one-yard out after carrying the "mail" on nine tries. The TD didn't count until only three minutes remained in the game.

Taking advantage of a Bellboy lapse, West Orange turned a punt into a touchdown although this time the opposition didn't have to waste time running the ball back for the six points. The Cowboys only score of the afternoon came after Apple touched the ball and West Orange recovered the loose piskin on the one-yard line. The Bellboys line stiffened and turned back three successive thrusts but on fourth down the Cowboys finally bucked over.

This weekend the Blue and Gold will get a well deserved breather as the squad prepares for the annual Thanksgiving Day attraction against Orange. Berlinski has been drilling the boys with the hope of improving the team's downfield blocking.

Crystal Gazing

The Saturday before the Thanksgiving Day classics is usually an off-day for scholastic grid teams, but this Saturday there is quite a bit on tap for football fans as schools make up rain-out contests of three weeks ago. Six games are to be played around the area. Last Saturday I called seven right, had one wrong and one tie. The outcome that foiled the selections was the looked for victory of Belleville over West Orange.

The Cowboys squeezed by, 7-6. With only a handful of games to be contested on Saturday and then the Turkey Day rivalries to be run off, my average stands at .762. Now for the usual quick rundown:

Nutley to upset East Orange. Originally Nutley was a seven-point favorite over East Orange but with the latest series of injuries that hit the Maroon Raiders, Coach Jack Lewis' team will not be at full strength. Definitely out with a broken collar bone is halfback John Iacono. Doubtful starters are Sam Stellatella, Don Olivo and Bruce Ciccone. Both teams are high scoring combinations as evidenced by numerous one-sided victories recorded. Prospects are for a bitter battle right down to the wire with little separating the rivals when the final whistle blows in this last meeting of the Essex rivals. Morristown will replace East Orange on the Nutley schedule next season. The Maroon Raiders will enter the Panther game as the underdog but I look for Lewis to have his charges up for this big one in spite of a "going over" by both Bloomfield players and the officials at Foley Field.

Bloomfield to topple West Orange. The Bengals were flying high until they ran head-on into powerful Nutley. Bloomfield will rebound this week but can look ahead to a Thanksgiving Day clash against unbeaten Montclair.

Montclair to face Columbia. The way the Mounties are playing they're on their way to the mythical state championship. No team has been able to stop Bernie Peoples as yet. He raced for a quartet of touchdowns against Clifton.

Kearny to blank Irvington. Joe Pappenberg will spark the Cardinals to what should be an easy victory. Coach Art Argauer and his boys better enjoy Saturday's outing because they'll have to play host to Nutley next.

Clifford Scott to topple Millburn. The Scotties face a tough struggle but by 4:30 p. m. Saturday the East Orange eleven will be on top in a close decision. An extra point could decide this one.

Paterson Eastside to rout Passaic. Paterson Eastside is only one of four remaining Group IV teams still enjoying an undefeated season. The Eastsiders will be the next Valley Conference champion thus ending a seven-year reign held by Clifton.

Bike Club Will Start Indoors Season; All Boys Invited

All boys are invited to attend the first day of the indoor racing season of the Belleville Bicycle Club, Saturday, November 27, as the Club opens its third season with a membership drive here.

Every youngster present will be started off in bike racing with a time trial, and there will be prizes for the best times, in each age group. The age groups are: mid-juniors, 9-11; juniors, 12-14; intermediates, 15-17; and seniors, 17 and up. A boy doesn't have to own a bicycle to participate; the Club maintains bikes used for indoor racing.

Racing Via Rollers
Racing is accomplished by using bicycle rollers, which is developed by Ed Little, donates to the Club for its indoor racing season. Little will perform for the group and will try to reach a speed of 70 miles per hour, on the rollers.
During its two year existence, the Club has produced its share

Belleville Grids For Turkey Day Game Against Orange

Blue And Gold Is Favored By Two TDs - Lose To West Orange, 7-6

By Mal Condon

Belleville High's football season will end Thanksgiving Day with the annual Turkey Tornadoes at Orange.

It will be a battle of the "losers". The Orange eleven has been winless so far this season and Belleville has won only a few games.

Belleville has beaten Orange only once since the rivalry started, but the Blue and Gold should win this time by two touchdowns.

The Bellboys dropped a heart-breaker 7-6 in last Saturday's game at West Orange. Outside of the first quarter score by the Cowboys, the Belleville defense bottled up West Orange, and the offense scored in the last quarter.

But that all-important try for extra point was missed when the kick struck the goal upright and bounded away.

Cowboys Cash In

To start the game at West Orange, Richie Hange kicked off to the Cowboys. During the quarter his defensive line play was exhibited by both sides.

However, on a fourth down punt by West Orange, Jim Apple, by kicking the ball was in the end zone, attempted to pick it up and return it to play, but he was hit by the halfback and was recovered by West Orange on the Belleville 1.

After being pushed back to the 6 on three plays, Bob Romano, West Orange halfback, went off tackle for the touchdown. Bob Romano added the extra point to make it 7-0 West Orange. Bob Paganelli returned the following kick off to the Blue and Gold 29 as the first quarter closed.

In the second period the Bellboys' punting was outstanding. West Orange had punted into the Belleville end zone, Paganelli and Ron Bergamini moved to a first down on the 11. Frank Pulso then completed an aerial to Bob Costelli that was good to the Cowboys' 37. Unfortunately another pass was intercepted and West Orange regained the piskin on their 31. After Cowby quarters had gained a first to his 46, Richie Macaluso broke through and caught a quarterback Sautin for an 11 yard loss as the half ended.

Pass Interceptions

In the third period most of the play was centered inside the Belleville 30. "Appy" Menager, a new Bellboy lineman from Madison High, intercepted a deflected pass on the Belleville 24 but a Pulso pass was intercepted and returned to Blue 46 Gold by West Orange.

The line held and on fourth down Belleville regained the ball but their only to have another aerial intercepted and this time run back to the Belleville 17. West Orange attempted to go first on the Bellboy 6 but Macaluso broke through the Cowby line and tackled Sautin on the Belleville 23 as the third period closed.

The Blue and Gold took possession when the line again halted their opponents. Paganelli kicked to a first on the Belleville 29 as the offense started to move. Apple and Paganelli made it another first to the 42. Harry Gass went around end for 19 more and along with a clipping penalty against West Orange the piskin was on the Cowboys 23.

Belleville Scores

Pulso then drove to the 15 followed by an end-around to the 6 by Hange. Paganelli then scored on two line going off the left side where Mike Dalton opened the hole. Apple's conversion hit the upright giving West Orange the edge 7-6.

Jack McCabe recovered a Cowby fumble on the Belleville 39 but little time remained and the Bellboys desperately tried to score with passes as the game ended.

Belleville's defense was outstanding against West Orange. Paganelli, Worley, Lane, Dalton and Macaluso were particularly effective in breaking up the Cowboys' offense.

Thompson Wins National Award Of Print Industry

Gilbert Thompson, son of Lt. Col. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson of 1 Elmwood Avenue, received national recognition this week when a direct mail campaign entered by the Thompson Printing Co. of Clifton in a national contest was judged "one of the best of fifty" entries. Thompson originated the campaign.

The Thompson Co. entry was exhibited at the Printing Industry of America convention in Detroit and will be shown in the larger cities in the next two months.

Thompson is a graduate of Belleville high school, and the Rochester Institute of Technology. He is married to the former Elizabeth Ostrowski of 640 Union Avenue and the family now lives at 15 Manchester Place, Newark.

Annual Women's Club Tea

The annual club tea will be held at the Belleville Women's Club, 51 Rossmore Place, on Monday at 2 p.m. when prospective members will be invited to visit the club house and become acquainted with the members.

Mrs. Floyd M. Haring is chairman of the tea and all women interested in joining the club are invited to attend. Mrs. Arthur Mayor, president, and Mrs. Harvey Thompson, past president, will preside at the tea table.

Tortorellos Win Opener League Basketball Begins;

Mickey Tortorello's Tortorello A. C. take on the Wild cats at 7:30 p. m. Monday as the second week of the Senior Basketball League opens here.

The Tortorello A. C., last year's Champs, took its opener from Headquarters Battery, the 98th AAA, 60-39. The Army went out in front 19-18 in a slow first half, but Paul "Bucky" McConnell and Anthony Forlenza cut loose for the Tortorellos in the second half, dividing 36 points between them. Jeffers had 12 for the Soldiers.

Wildcats Rally to Win

In the second game, the Wildcats shaved the Bruins, 44-35, with a fourth quarter rally. Richie Veith, racked up 14 of his 22 points in the fourth quarter to give the Wildcats the edge. The Bruin led 27-25 before the Wildcats broke loose. Peti had 15 points for the Bruins.

Roy's Sports Shop had little trouble with Wallace Tiernan, winning 72-26. Roy's looks like the team to watch this year, their roster being made up of last year's Roy's Five and the Jesters. Roy's line-up includes Dean Hatcher, who played last year with West Virginia State, and Charlie Travers of Seton Hall. Add "Biddy" Engel and there's half of the high school's '51 championship team.

Recreation File Planned

The Recreation Department announced yesterday it will compile a file on all recreational activities of town churches, clubs and PTAS, in order to have such information available for residents and those organizing recreation events.

JUDGE SPEAKER AT TRI-TOWN WOMEN'S MEETING

The November monthly meeting of the Tri-Town Business & Professional Women's Club of Belleville, Bloomfield, Nutley, yesterday featured an address by Judge Libby Sachar of Plainfield. The meeting took place at 8 p. m. at the Belleville Women's Club, 51 Rossmore Place, Belleville.

Judge Sachar is the first woman to be appointed a judge in the State of New Jersey and possesses a fine record of achievement professionally and in the field of community service. She was appointed judge of the Juvenile and Domestic Relations Court of Union County by Governor Edge of New Jersey in 1946. In 1951, she was reappointed by Governor Driscoll and has received unanimous approval by the Senate every period since.

Judge Sachar has spoken before congressional committees in behalf of the Equal Rights Amendment and was one of a group of three who testified before the Constitutional Committee in New Jersey and whose work has resulted in complete equality being included in the new Constitution in our state. In community affairs, she has assisted many welfare organizations of Union County and for three years has been treasurer of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges. In 1951, she was named "Woman of the Year" by the Auxiliary of the Jewish War Veterans of New Jersey.

She has served the business and professional Women's Club of New Jersey as president in addition to serving as a member of the National Federation's Legislative Steering Committee for a period of three years.

Now Are The Hills On Fire

As driven by the quickening autumn blaze
The wolf-wind runs his burning trail trails
Stirring so soon, a frozen dust-like ash.
The haze, the smoke of frost at every tree
Signals the glow of foliage fires below.
Circling his hill, the homing hawk
Screeches above the threatening flames
That reach the tinders of his nest.
Small birds have flown. Lush green has grown
To red that mocks the sunset west.
Safe, in dark fir cathedrals kneel the wise,
While fall's ephemeral beauty burns.
Resting their eyes on somber moss and ferns.
Such conflagration leaps now through the wood
Only hope calms the rabbit-jumping blood.

Obituary For Fluky

Malone Avenue is in mourning over the passing of Fluky, who was well known along the street and in the entire neighborhood.

He passed away just a few weeks after celebrating his sixteenth birthday, which is about the equivalent of a century or more for a human being.

Fluky was half Beagle, half Fox Terrier, half Dalmatian and probably several other halves. In fact, to paraphrase an old Gospel hymn, it could be said of Fluky that "The halives have never been told."

Well, now he has gone to Dog Heaven, where he can chase rabbits to his heart's content, and where there are no signs reading, "Dogs Not Allowed."

Thanksgiving Day

Thanksgiving Day is losing its significance in the pulse of modern living.

Where formerly it was a holiday set aside for itself, with little thought of Christmas, today the holiday is absorbed in the rushing sweep of the Yule and New Year seasons.

Time was when Thanksgiving Day was the one day families would get together, children, and pets too. Maybe at Grand Pa's house, maybe at Uncle Jim's, the members of the clan would gather, near and far, to recount the events of the year and to give thanks for what was. Perhaps a football game or parade in the morning, then the trek homeward to a big dinner and respite. It was a day more of reflection than gaiety. Somehow the day was different from all others during the year, even different from the other holidays.

But it's going or gone now, and more's the pity.

Even before Thanksgiving, the storms are crammed with Christmas wares, and announcers beat the drums with blatant Christmas commercialism. In some municipalities, Christmas trees already are on corner platforms, and Christmas decorations overhang the roads.

There's a rush from the table to the television set, or from the table to the movies. The art and pleasure of keen conversation goes by the boards.

There's little can be done about Christmas pressure advertising, or merchants' sales tactics. But there can be something done to make this an old-fashioned Thanksgiving.

Get the family rounded up, give thanks, enjoy the dinner, and spend the rest of the day in ease, with radio and television sets turned off. There'll be more Thanksgiving Days to enjoy, because of it.

New Look For Old Girl

A recent announcement from the Town Commission that it is planning a repair job on some of the town buildings comes as no surprise.

Judging from a quick once-over of the town hall, at least, there's plenty of room for improvement. The big question which hits home here is why the town waited as long as it did to effect some of the repairs.

According to the reports, the Town Commission is eyeing the town hall, particularly, and some of the fire departments. In the town hall the plaster is cracking at the ceilings and the building itself smacks of disuse. There's the good old atmosphere of the spittoon and the cigar and the hopeless but comfortable feeling you get when you look at some of the old Hudson county municipal buildings, with their copper roofs long turned a cruddy green.

While the Commission is at it, it might take a second look at the old statue representing perhaps civic virtue, in front of the town hall.

One more erudite writer and Commission critic recently likened it to that worthy body itself. Without making any attempt or inference at comparison, suffice it be said that the old girl needs a bit of tending up.

One Man's Opinion

Washington, Taking Advantage Of World At Peace, Is Engaged In An Active New Phase Of "Dollar Diplomacy"

By Ralph E. Heinzen

Dollar diplomacy is rampant as any foreign statesman leaves Washington, another arrives. Their aim is to get as many American dollars as they can. Our aim is to buttress peace, convinced that the dollars we spend to strengthen the countries which join us in our effort to contain the spread of Communism will cost us less than a war in which, if we stood alone, we would risk all.

The visit to Washington this week of France's Premier, Mendes-France, following last week's arrivals of Japanese Premier Shigeru Yoshida and Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak on the heels of West Germany's Chancellor Adenauer, brings to a climax the active phase of our dollar diplomacy. Our major investment in buttressing our anchors against Communist aggression has been made in France.

The liquidation of the war in Indochina, last summer, relieved France of the greatest drain on her manpower and her money. We underwrote about 80 per cent of France's war costs in Indochina, but the manpower was French. With the war ended in the East, we had expected France to experience the minor recession which followed the end of our war effort in Korea. We were prepared to continue our financial aid for a little longer to help France weather that economic storm.

France In New War

Now, however, France has got herself into another costly military operation in the mountains of Southern Algeria where she is fighting off the Arab Nationalist "Fellaghas". A new drain of manpower and money has begun. Paris has been loudly insisting that the Arab revolt be continued in our very heavy subsidies to France to help her wage this new war.

There are indications that Washington will not agree to finance a war against the Arab Nationalists. In fact, many of their aspirations are, in the view of official Washington, reasonable. Any new commitments to France will have strings tied to them—strings which will provide for at least partial fulfillment of Arab ambition in Tunisia and Morocco, and perhaps Algeria as well. Though the latter, having the status of three French departments, is fundamentally as much a part of France as are Normandy, Brittany, Provence or Burgundy.

Talks In Progress

The French bid for money aid is only one of many. A whole series of top level diplomatic and financial talks is in process in the State Department, the Treasury Department and at Foreign Operations Administration headquarters.

1. A better price for Belgian uranium and an American promise to help Belgium aimed at a healthier world economy. To list only the most important, beside the French.

2. An economic mission from Belgrade, headed by Vice-President Svetozar Vukmanovic-Temopolj, Yugoslavia's top economic chief, is here to get American help to meet his country's serious grain shortage, solve Belgrade's adverse trade balance and meet its acute short-term debt problem.

3. The Treasury Department has announced a support of a $100,000,000 international corporation to help finance private industrial enterprises in underdeveloped countries; the United States putting up $35,000,000 of the capital.

4. The Export-Import Bank

liberalized its lending policy in a move that would supply more generous credit to borrowers engaging in foreign trade. Previously lines of credit have been supplied only for foreign trade deals already made. Now they will be placed at the disposal of potential borrowers for use when needed.

5. Help World Economy

All of these steps are designed to improve the economic and industrial conditions in the world and so provide a sounder and surer basis for peace and security.

The economic talks with the Yugoslavs are similar to previous ones that have found the United States helping President Tito meet his grain shortages and resist the economic pressures from the Kremlin.

The major differences between these talks and previous ones is that today the Soviets are making all kinds of economic and political overtures to Yugoslavia so that Marshal Tito finds himself in the enviable position of having alternate sources for aid—though it is a question how much Belgium can start in Moscow to translate words into deeds and provide help without impossible strings.

Bargaining With Uranium

The talks with Belgium on uranium ore from the Congo stem from Belgian dissatisfaction with the decade-old agreement which Brussels says is outdated. The Belgian Government has been accused of virtually giving away its uranium ore and getting no help in return.

What Mr. Spaak seeks to accomplish is to get both a better price for Belgian uranium and an American promise to help Belgium aimed at a healthier world economy. To list only the most important, beside the French.

ness Premier were satisfactory or otherwise depending on the expectations one had of the outcome. For those who assumed the hope that the United States would set up a Marshall Plan for Asia that would pump $4,000,000,000 or more a year into that area as an economic pump-primer, the talks were a disappointment.

The $100,000,000 that the United States did assure Mr. Yoshida it was prepared to contribute this coming year toward the solution of Japan's economic problems would find about $90,000,000 going for American agricultural commodities, with the proceeds in yen going back to help Japan's domestic improvement. The additional $10,000,000 would be an outright gift, bringing the total to $100,000,000.

Differences In Asia

It is no secret that the Japanese Premier would have used a larger promise of American financial aid, but there is little reason to believe that he expected to follow suit.

It is described more as a "pilot" plan—a model to show private capital what can be done in this field.

Science Improves On Turkeys Since Pilgrims Shot Dinner

Not only are our winters not what they used to be, but our Thanksgiving turkeys aren't either.

Science has improved on Nature and while the wild turkey that the Pilgrim shot for his Thanksgiving feast was a tough, wiry bird which probably weighed only 7 or 8 pounds alive if it was a hen, or 12 pounds if a gobbler, today the housewife has no trouble buying a 5 pound or a 25 pound dressed turkey and it's a well finished, tender bird with plenty of succulent white meat.

The difference has come about through long and patient work by the turkey breeder. By selecting the proper birds has learned to select strains of birds with broad breasts or well-formed thighs, with resistance to disease, with efficient growth, and so on through a range of desirable characteristics.

Another new turn in proper turkey breeding has taken place in the last four or five years. Smaller fannies wanted smaller birds. So the research men proceeded to breed a strain of turkeys back to the smaller size they originally were. They did this while retaining all the qualities of flavor and texture found in the true domestic birds.

In the field of nutrition, science and the farmer have worked side by side to improve the quality and reduce the cost of your Thanksgiving turkey. There are over 30 different nutrients that must go into a proper turkey diet. Today nutrition experts know how to combine these 30 items in the turkey's diet so he will grow rapidly and efficiently, with a maximum development of flavor and a minimum expense to the farmer and housewife.

The feed manufacturers combine these 30 or so ingredients with the precision of a drug-store pharmacist compounding a doctor's prescription—which, in fact, it essentially is.

One of the latest—and most significant—phases of the turkey revolution came with the arrival of the wonder drug, penicillin. With such drugs as the sulfonamides to add to animal medicine, the farmer at last has an effective weapon in his never-ending fight against disease in his flocks.

The wonder drug aureomycin a few years ago introduced a new technique for the general improvement of the health of turkeys. When a relatively small amount of the antibiotic is fed to the birds in their feed or water, it turns back the invasion of large numbers of disease germs. The turkeys grow better and faster.

School Happenings

"Parents Night" Held At Belleville High School

Over 250 parents attended a PTA meeting at Belleville High School, conducted by Mrs. Arthur G. Love, vice president. Student guides for the program were: Ping Ping, Helen Carlin, Eileen Engel, Carol Johnson, Evelyn Marjorie, Charles Rose, Connie Wynn, Bob Cappola, Robert Ochs, Carol Conklin, Dan Christian, Irene Connolly, Harry Ford, Betty Hahn, Inge Janista, Annaliese Hettling, Carol Miller.

Also, Frances Miele, Don Lafore, Bob Krohn, Stanley Orinsky, Gretchen Schoenbeck, Susan Shaw, Valerie Sartin, Bob Tovey, Charlotte Wallich, Nancy Van Demark, John Wilson, Roberta Bellet, Rosalind Bissell, Judy Cahill, Angela Annalardo, Barbara Amato, Jean Corbett, Rose Marie Candeloro, Tom Dolan, Vincent Cozzarelli, Rose Marie Spagnoli.

Refreshments were served by the Hospitality committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Thomas Salandra.

Schools Close For Teachers

Teachers and administrators of the Belleville school system descended on Atlantic City last week for the New Jersey Education Association Convention.

The majority of the convention activities were centered in Convention Hall.

New Color Film Available

Thomas Gryczyn, director of visual education in the Belleville school system, has obtained a new color film dealing with United States Steel Company's new iron mine at Cerro Bolivar in Venezuela.

The film is to be shown to all the seventh graders in Belleville since it is in this grade that Latin America is being studied.

School Eight Students Collected Money for UNICEF

A direct contribution has been made toward improving the health and living standards of children in countries less fortunate than our own, by the seventh and eighth graders of School Eight who participated in the United Nations Children's Fund "Trick or Treat" program.

Making their usual Halloween rounds, these children turned over their money collections to help children less fortunate than themselves. A total of $167 was collected. Small contributions to that sum were made by younger pupils in the school who became interested through the work of older brothers and sisters.

The children returned from their rounds with some interesting stories, most of them concerned with the wonderful generosity of people, in one home, for example, the lady of the house passed the hat herself to other members of the household.

On the other hand, two of the boys were found by their mothers in one house where they were required to render a song and then received a penny each. They decided they were not in good voice that evening.

After the money was totaled, the arithmetic classes broke down the sum into possible uses by UNICEF and found that through their efforts 2400 children in other countries would benefit.

Present Program

The T.A. class of Passaic Avenue School under the direction of their teacher, Miss Elizabeth Fogelson, presented a program for pupils of upper grades on Thursday morning.

The format was similar to "This is Your Life" and featured Carlo Lombardo, who for five years has served as the school pianist, and accompanied for the school orchestra.

Featured on the program were Carol Jacobson, Me. Mrs. Victor Lombardo, parents of Grace; and her younger brother, Victor.

High School Speech

Bert Kupperman, newly appointed speech teacher at Belleville High School, reports on the speech program in his bulletin.

He says Belleville High offers on a five day a week basis several different speech courses. A fundamentals course, called Speech, purposes to survey the various areas of the speech field.

An advanced course, is available to students who wish to gain further experience with more difficult plays.

In addition to these three elective speech courses, the speech department is working to organize speech improvement classes for students in the high school who would most benefit from individual speech practice.

Audio Visual Guides

The Audio-Visual Instruction Teachers Guide was presented to the Faculty.

Mrs. Faith Willis and Mrs. Anne Snodaker explained the functions of the book. Austin MacArthur, visual aids director, gave a demonstration of visual aids equipment.

This plan of presentation will be followed in the elementary schools of the district.

Tape Recorder for School One

Because of the support given the Spring Show at School One, the school now has a new tape recorder. The upper grades have been recording choral work.

The students of School One hope to use it in many of their class periods. It will serve as a teaching aid for the faculty members.

Lafayette

William Greenin, director of Administration of Lafayette College, visited Belleville High School. Greenin talked to twenty boys interested in Lafayette and discussed the admissions policy at Lafayette and scholarship awards available.

The boys were: John Keller, Frank Cassary, Howie Irving, Cyrus Ahat, Robert Drake, Arnold Garson, Thomas Dolan, Joe McGinnis, Robert Bartlett, Manuel Gonzales, Howie Hardwick, James Hinciner, Ed Kosinski, Nick La Para, John Seaton, Joseph Sanderson, Robert Greene, and Salvatore Petrucci.

Dr. Durkee Leads Group

Leader of a Curriculum Work

Conference at the Teachers' Convention in Atlantic City, yesterday was Dr. Frank M. Durkee, General Supervisor.

The topic of Dr. Durkee's group was "Working with Citizens in Improving the Curriculum."

Curriculum Council Meeting

A meeting of the Curriculum Council of the Workshop program of the Belleville school system, called by Dr. Frank M. Durkee, director, was held at School No. 8 last week.

Herman Knapp, president of the council conducted the conference, and the members discussed the Audio-Visual Instruction Teachers' Guide which will be distributed to all teachers in the school system. Plans were made to have council representatives explain the purposes of the guide at their school faculty meetings in the near future.

The president appointed chairmen for the following committees (first name in each group is the chairman): Evaluation, Charles Schultz, Miss Peggy Leaky, Mrs. Mayne Martindale; meetings and arrangements, Herman Knapp, Miss Claire Roland, Mrs. Marion Hershey; research, Mrs. Anne Snodaker, Miss Mary Murray, Frank Spota; community resources, Miss Jean Dalloy, Miss Elsie Sanford, Miss Lucie Smith.

Audio Visual Aids, Mr. George Xenitidis, Mrs. Faith Willis, Miss Joe Tassell; child study, Mrs. Viola Spray, Mrs. Marie Wall, Mrs. Anne Ciccone; fine and related arts, Dr. Sam W. Peck, Mrs. Adeline Bennett, P. Webster Diehl; articulation of instruction, Miss Dorothy Davis, Mrs. Grace Lisio, Mr. Michael Rospignoli; shop talk, Mrs. Montrose B. Bunch, Mrs. Henrietta Hahn, Miss Dorothy Ferrara.

See Statue of Liberty

The first and second graders of School No. 2, under the supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Atkinson and Mrs. Helen F. Starns, made a bus trip to the Battery in New York City and up to the Statue of Liberty to view the Statue of Liberty and different types of boats in New York harbor. On the return trip to Belleville the boys and girls visited the Central Park Zoo.

Students who made the trip were: Gail One, Lawrence Biss, John Cruger, George De Angelis, Jack Maceri, Michael Miasico, Robert Mory, Donald Kussmann, William Sacarese, Kenneth Southern, Patrick Welch, Paul Yankowski, Janet Eove, Marcia De Faria, Phyllis De Palma, Gina Garbino, Linda Kusio, Judith Merkin, Judith Oliverie, Joan Pic, Judith Porcose, Cheryl Southwell, Laura Staats, Laura Triano, Diane Valase.

Miss Claire McGeehin, student teacher from State Teachers College in Jersey City, accompanied the children.

Trip to Zoo

All three second-grade classes of School No. 8 made a trip to Teterboro Airport and then Bronx Zoo. About 100 parents accompanied them.

The children were supervised by their teachers — Mrs. Elsie Sanford, Mrs. Betty Primo and Miss Virginia Mac Gillyvary. The visit to the Zoo was a part of a teaching unit on animals.

Parents who made the trip were: Mrs. Gian Francesco, Mrs. John Kandler, Mrs. Joseph Perrone, Mrs. Joseph Brogna, Mrs. Leonard Rappa, Mrs. Maynard Atcherton, Mrs. Carmine Cacerio, Mrs. Jay McGee, Mrs. Paul Bohrer, Mrs. Angelo Sorrentino, Mrs. Sal Di Biasi, Mrs. Gus Petillo, Mrs. Alfred Harris, Mrs. Alphonse DelGaudio, Mrs. Irenio Gomez, Mrs. Paul Harnich, Mrs. James Sette, Mrs. William Belcaro, Mrs. John Benti, Mrs. John Fagoli, Mrs. Cesar Manara, Mrs. Donald Stinson and Mrs. Adolph Thaler.

"Around Manhattan"

Last week the three fourth graders of School No. 8 under the supervision of Mrs. Henrietta Benti, Miss Mary Daniels and Marie Wall, enjoyed a trip "Around Manhattan". The children left by bus, then boarded the Hudson River and returned by the East River. The guide explained all points of interest. The children took pictures of "The Statue of Liberty", The French liner "Ile De France" and some of the tugboats. Pictures of some of the buildings were sketched, and after the students returned to the school they wrote stories entitled, "What I learned from my trip around Manhattan", to show the relationship between what they saw and what they have been reading. The trip was made in connection with the social studies program.

Visitors At High School

Miss Jane Flavin, a representative from Westbrook Junior College, Portland, Me., visited Belleville High School and met with seven senior girls interested in attending a junior college.

She described the costs and work opportunities at Westbrook, and showed the girls pictures of the school.

The students who met with Miss Flavin were: Grace Abbott, Beverly Campbell, Gail Fuhert, Mary Geluso, Elizabeth Jolly, Theresa Stefanello, and Carol Wallace.

Miss Mary Jackson of the Washington School for Secretaries also visited the High School and met with 25 girls interested in attending a secretarial school after graduation.

Miss Jackson described the courses offered by the Washington School and also stressed the social graces the girls learn as part of their training.

Stress Health Rules

The IB class of Passaic Avenue School under the direction of its teacher, Mrs. Catherine Eschella, presented a play called "Dr. Fix-it" to pupils of the primary classes in the school auditorium on Thursday morning.

Parents provided the colorful costumes and attended the program. The following children took part in the play: Virginia Vitty, Susan McHugh, Gail Bowler, Dennis Mellick, Russell Matson, Michael Mass.

A Living Page Of History:

Germans Delivered Wartime Secrets To Japs By Sub

Japanese War Book Just Published Bares Secret Of 20,000 Mile Trips By Submarines

By Ralph Heinzen

Alies in World War II, at the opposite extremes of the "Iron Axis", Japan and Germany lay 20,000 miles apart by the water route.

The same twenty thousand miles had proved the undoing of the Czar's Russian Imperial Fleet in 1901, in the Russo-Japanese War. The Japanese fleet, lighter and smaller, merely lay in wait in home waters for the Russian fleet which travelled from the Baltic, some around the Cape, some through the Suez Canal, across the Indian Ocean, up the waters of the China Sea towards Port Arthur.

Historic Precedent

With bunkers empty and ships and crews tired, the Russians were no match for the Japanese and the naval war was over with the first salvo. Russia lost the war.

Remembering that incident, it was with considerable grain of salt, therefore, that I heard the story, early in August, 1942, at Vichy where I was sitting out the exile from Paris of the collaborationist French Government of Marshal Petain, that a Japanese submarine had landed at the French Atlantic port of Lorient, bringing to the Nazis a vital cargo of quinine, tungsten and crude rubber — all staples which had run out completely in Germany after three years of war.

Rubber As Evidence

Later that month, a Japanese naval officer, Commander Endo, was paraded at Vichy as proof that the story of the Jap sub was true, and as further evidence, sheets of rubber with their Malaysian stampings were displayed.

I determined, that day, to find out, in time, if a Jap submarine really had made the trip, or whether Commander Endo was merely a member of some Jap naval mission in Berlin who would have lent himself to another of "Clubfoot Joe" Goebbels' cock-and-bull propaganda stories which he invented, from time to time, whenever the morale of Germany or the conquered people started to fluctuate. Even the Germans in Vichy poked fun at Goebbels' ranting over the stuporous Japanese fleet.

I was able, this week, to ascertain that not one but several Japanese subs did reach French ports, then in the hands of Germans, and that several German subs made the 20,000-mile trip to Singapore or to Japan in safety.

It was by a German sub that the secrets of radar were delivered to Japan, and it was by German submarine that Admiral Nomura, the Japanese Ambassador to Nazi Germany, who plotted with Hitler the details of the war, returned to Japan.

It was by submarine, also, that the Japanese delivered Claude Basso, leader of the Indian Independence movement, to Penang. Basso had been in Germany when the war began and a German submarine carried him around the Cape to a rendezvous with a Japanese sub, 400 miles south-west of Madagascar, where the trouble-maker was transferred, at sea, from one submarine to the other.

Happily for the record, a Japanese submarine commander named Moditaura Hashimoto, who survived the whole war, under water, from Pearl Harbor to the signing of the peace aboard the USS Missouri, wrote his story of the Japanese submarine service.

Truth Comes Out

I obtained from his book "Sink" the whole story of the visits of German and Japanese submarines to each other's ports. I find it an interesting page of history which, alas, American historians seemed to neglect entirely.

Hashimoto confirmed that a Jap sub did reach Lorient in August, 1942, and did bring its cargo of quinine, tungsten and rubber. He wrote into his book that Commander Endo did make the trip with his sub, I-50. So the officer I saw in Vichy was the precursor of the many sub commanders who made the trips between Germany and Japan.

From Hashimoto's accounts, I was able to piece together the story of that first submarine voyage half way around the world. Happily Hashimoto told the story because not long after I saw Commander Endo in Vichy, he sank with his boat on his way back to Japan.

Subload Of Secrets

The I-30, after refueling at sea from two Japanese raiders, the Hokoku Maru and the Aikoku Maru, turned the Cape of Good Hope and steamed north up the Atlantic. Met by German trawlers, used as mine sweepers in the Bay of Biscay, she arrived at Lorient on August 2, 1942.

Commander Endo was feted in Paris, Berlin and Vichy. Hitler decorated him with a Nazi medal and sent him on his way back to Japan with detailed plans of the new German "Tiger" tank. The plans were to be delivered to Tokyo so that the Japanese could copy the plans and use against us. Also aboard were plans of Hitler's V-rockets, which were soon to batter London — the famous "buzz-bombs" — and one of the first German jet engines for rocket pilotless planes. Endo retraced his route south, around the Cape and up the Indian Ocean to Singapore, but on her departure from port, the I-30 struck a British mine and sank with all of the German plans. Most of her crew were saved.

Ferrying Crew To Germany

A year later, the Japanese Imperial Staff readied another submarine, the I-8, to make the trip to orient again, this time with passengers, crew whose job it would be to bring back to Japan the submarine RO-501, built in Germany as a gift for the Nazis' allies. As a gift for the Germans, I-8 took a cargo of rubber.

In company with I-10, she sailed from Penang, on July 6, 1943, under the command of Captain Shinji Uchino, and headed across the Indian Ocean. I-8 was refueled at sea by I-10, and headed for the long run around the Cape.

As she moved up the Atlantic, I-8 ran into a dangerous storm in the "Roaring Forties" where she battled tremendous seas. Skirting the U.S. air bases in the Azores, I-8 made for a rendezvous with a German submarine in the Bay of Biscay.

Japs Get Radar

Japan had no radar at that stage of the war, so the Germans made a gift of the sensitive instruments to I-8 and as the two subs were held side-by-side, for four hours, the German crew equipped the Jap sub with radar search range, without which the dangers of sudden air attack would have been great. The U-boat crew roared to the I-8 in a rubber dinghy, a somewhat old-fashioned method to deliver an ultramodern product of electronics.

The Germans gave I-8 an umbrella of Nazi fighter planes and an escort of ten destroyers, while torpedo boats swept a passage through the British magnetic mines into the port of Saint Nazaire where she took refuge in the U-boat bunker with twenty feet of reinforced concrete protecting her from prying Allied eyes. It took 61 days for the voyage.

By mid-September, I-8 was ready to sail, packed to the gills with several hundred tons of sorely needed war materials. When the torpedo tubes were filled. The cargo included German machinery for torpedoes, four-barrel machineguns, machineguns for aircraft and deck watches. The watches made in Japan proved inaccurate and unsuitable for astronomic observations.

The cargo included German machinery for torpedoes, four-barrel machineguns, machineguns for aircraft and deck watches. The watches made in Japan proved inaccurate and unsuitable for astronomic observations.

er had had enough of war. He had been uncomfortable in the Berlin raids, and he had no taste for the long haul to the Indian Ocean. So he headed for sea and a fortnight later while on patrol in the Gulf of Mexico a U.S. patrol craft captured a German submarine flying a white flag.

Far off the beaten path to the Indian Ocean, the German captain had headed west and, hoisting the white flag, had waited for a chance to surrender. The German officers and crew were taken ashore and interned.

Two Dead Japs

American authorities who searched the interior of the boat discovered the bodies of two Japanese naval officers, in full uniform who had committed suicide by taking poison.

They were buried at sea and it was only when Hashimoto published his book this week that it was learned that the two officers' deaths by a Nazi U-boat were Japan's foremost naval commander for whom war had lost its glory.

There was but one more such episode which closed the chapter of round-the-world sub strategy, and it turned out to be both a tragedy and a farce.

Commanders Hideo Tomonaga and Shoji, who had been working in German armament factories to learn the secrets of Nazi wartime construction methods, received instructions to return home in early 1945. Tomonaga was a leading ship constructor and Shoji was an outstanding aircraft designer. Their services were urgently required by the Japanese navy.

They took passage in a German submarine which was to carry them to the Indian Ocean where passengers and cargo would be transferred, at sea, to a Japanese sub. In that January, of 1945, Berlin was in the throes of its heaviest bombardment. It was a bitterly cold winter and there was no light or heat in the stricken city.

Flying White Flag In that January, too, the Atlantic Ocean was the graveyard of German submarines, as the Allied electronic antisubmarine measures had increased in intensity.

The German submarine failed to keep its rendezvous in the Indian Ocean with the Japanese sub. There was a good reason.

MONTCLAIR CHURCH ORGAN RECITAL

Sylvanus W. Jenkins, A.A.-C.O., Montclair organist and accompanist, will present an organ recital on November 28, at 4:30 p. m., at the First Baptist Church, Trinity and Church Streets, in Montclair. He will be assisted by John di Francisco, baritone.

Mr. Jenkins, who is an associate of the American Guild of Organists, had his formal training with Frank Scherer, Montclair organist and composer. He has held the position of organist and choir director in many churches in local communities, the most recent in Westfield, for 12 years. Mr. Jenkins was accompanist with the Montclair Glee Club for five years, has been assistant director and accompanist with the Westfield Glee Club for 28 years, and the New Jersey Bell Telephone Choral Society for seven years. He is at present organist and choir director at the First Baptist Church in Montclair.

The program will include: Prelude and Fugue in A Minor, by Bach; Divertissement, by Viennese; Choral in A Minor, by Franck; Choral with Introduction, by Palmer; Prelude in B, by Saint-Saens; and Tri Es Petra, by Mulet.

Mr. di Francisco, baritone soloist at the First Baptist Church, will sing "Arm, Arm Ye Brave" from Judas Macabees, by Handel; "Hear My Prayer" and "I Will Sing New Songs of Gladness" from the Biblical Songs, by Evens.
