Town May Expect 45-50 Tax Jump

Mayor Cites '54 Budget Untrue; Says Redevelop For Ratables

Belleville taxpayers can expect an increase of 45 to 50 points in the tax rate this year, it was learned here this week.

An increase of at least 37 points was foreseen from a written statement by Mayor Isadore Padula which he said should have been added to the rate last year had the 1954 budget been a true budget.

And the additional increase can be expected from increased equity taxes as a consequence of an Essex county tax board publication of a valuation table under which real estate assessments for county tax purposes will be increased.

Further major increase can be expected from the boost in the Passaic Valley Sewerage Commission assessment against Belleville.

A special budget meeting has been set for January 31. The Commission is expected to introduce the budget February 1. Commissioners in a conference meeting this week brought out they had control only of a portion of the budget, about 18 per cent.

"The 1954 budget was supposed to be an example of reining in administration," the Mayor said in the first of a series of statements he intends to make to Commissioners. "The department of revenue and finance had the next to lowest budget of any of the five. Perhaps it would be helpful to review the development of this budget or analyze it to determine whether it represented the economy we all hoped for, even though some of us were doubtful."

At the same time, the Mayor pointed out that Belleville must (Continued On Page Two)

NAME CHAIRMEN FOR FORTHCOMING HOSPITAL DRIVE

Gene Barnett, Charles Nutt and Norman Lauterette were named sub-chairmen of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital drive here in a meeting this week sponsored by the Belleville Foundation.

Barnett will be in charge of civic, fraternal and religious organization collections; Nutt, small business and professional group collections and Lauterette, the door-to-door campaign. Drive leaders here are Frank McFadden and Evan Thomas.

McFadden spoke on the 1950 general campaign here and the town's participation in the drive.

Mayor Isadore Padula told the group that the hospital here would be a benefit to all residents as well as industries. He called it a tremendous asset to the community.

Harry Specht discussed the history of the medical center proposal.

People who actively took part in the drive here four years ago attended the meeting.

BOARD ADOPTS BUDGET; SALARY LARGEST ITEM

A school budget of $2,053,260, with 77.5 per cent of that amount constituting salaries, was adopted by the Board of Education this week.

A handful attended including Gary Vanderbilt and William A. Boyd, both candidates for the Board.

Charles H. Youcm, finance chairman, read and explained the budget. He also said he will not be a candidate. James R. Golden praised the report of the committee, stating he wished the municipal budget was as clear.

Raymond J. O'Brien, president of the Belleville Citizens Association asked why Belleville's teachers' pay was lower than in other communities. A salary guide is included in the budget, with a minimum of $3,200.

"We're not going to get top-flight material," said O'Brien, stating that teacher graduates would try other towns before trying Belleville.

Youcm said the top pays were as good as most other maximums, and that teacher were satisfied with the new guide, understanding that the town based an extensive building program.

Youcm also brought out that it should be remembered that teachers worked a 180-day year.

PETREANS PICK "WESTWARD HA" FOR PRODUCTION

"Westward Ha!" a musical about the trials and tribulations of two Broadway show girls on a dude ranch, has been selected by the Petrean Club of St. Peter's Church for its fifteenth annual production.

The musical was written by Gary Vanderbilt, who also was the author of "Mardi Gras" one of the Club's former shows. It will be presented in April, with rehearsals to start next month.

At the same time the Club announced this week that "Mardi Gras" is being held for two weeks in the traditional club method to uncover talent for casting roles to vacate the stage.

Charles Sutter, show chairman, said an extensive advertising campaign is being planned, including the Petrean "Mardi Gras" parade and town hall reception.

Money derived from the show is used for St. Peter's building fund.

BOYD GIVES STAND IN SPEECH HERE

William Allison Boyd, board candidate, told a group in American Legion Hall this week that the public school system should be the basis of the democratic way of life, and urged residents to vote in the first member-election of the board February 8. About 30 people attended the meeting, sponsored by the Belleville Conference.

"Education is a continuing process beyond the limits of the school curriculum," Boyd said, quoting from an editorial, and added that there should exist a wider and diversified interest beyond the classroom. He cited examples in teaching that involved outside activities related to subjects taught in school. He said also that he would like a wider use made of school buildings for cultural and educational purposes as well as for recreational and vocational functions.

Boyd said people have a right to a more specific declaration of how and why money is to be spent since some times shown in budget presented here.

He stressed also that board members had a duty to the schools and should not attempt to run them. He spoke in favor of a lay advisory committee with broad geographic representation.

YOUTH UNIT SAYS "NO REPEATERS"

Approximately 75 boys and girls have appeared before the Juvenile Conference Committee of Belleville since its organization in October, 1953, and of the number, none were referred to the Essex County Juvenile Court and there were no "repeat offenders." It was stated in a report issued this week by Leonard R. Conner, Jr., chairman.

"In each case, satisfactory adjustments through voluntary cooperative procedures were attained," he said. "The function of the Committee is to determine what factors

Veterans Receive Dispossess Notices

Families Living In Valley Units Given 'Til April 30 To Vacate; Hyde Says He'll Go To Bat For Extension

Veterans and their families living in 20 veterans housing units in the Valley section were given notice this week that they must vacate by April 30.

But Commissioner Elmer Hyde, director of public property and parks, said that an extension to veterans living there probably was forthcoming.

Hyde said that Daniel J. Burns, project manager here hadn't consulted him and that he had known about it the notices would not have gone out.

Last year veterans in the 54 other housing units in Brighton Avenue were given a year's extension to June 1, after action by the state legislature, which controls housing here.

It was learned from residents in the Valley units that apparently acting under state regulations, Burns had given out the dispossession notices when he collected rent. The notices could not be reached for comment.

The notices were as follows: "Please be advised that the law requires the state to vacate the premises where you live by the end of the project lease, which will be April 30, 1955."

"Since you occupy your dwelling under a monthly lease, the law provides that you receive 30 days notice to vacate the premises."

"This, therefore, will be your notice under the law that dispossession of the premises is required of you by May 1, 1955."

"You will be permitted to vacate the premises at any time you so desire."

POOL COMMITTEE MEETS WEDNESDAY

The recreation department announced today that the first meeting of the "Operation Splash" committee, studying a proposed outdoor public swimming pool here, will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the Recreation House.

Recreation Superintendent Robert E. Conner said the committee now includes 53 people from a cross section of town organizations, who will study the proposed pool and make recommendations. He said invitations to participate were sent to every known organization and that there were still a few to be heard from.

A history class in the high school has selected the swimming pool project as a class project in municipal affairs, and is making a survey of municipal and private pools in this area.

The committee members should not be considered unanimously in favor of the project since several are known to be opposed.

He emphasized that there was no screening of delegates in an attempt to create a favorable pressure group and that each committee member will freely state his views and vote on each matter accordingly.

School PTAs Plan Speaking Forum Soon

A six way race for the first elective three year term on the town board of education opens here today.

In a flood of this week's filings, Michael V. Albertine, secretary, Ralph M. Risoli and James J. Salmon were co-opted by board secretary Ruel Daniels.

Michael Albertine will be placed on top of the ballot as a result of a drawing held by Secretary Ruel Daniels last night in Board rooms. William Boyd is second; James Salmon, third; Ralph Risoli, fourth; Robert Laterza, fifth, and Gary Vanderbilt, sixth.

William Allison Boyd, Sr. and Robert Michael Laterza had filed for the board last week.

Madeline Mrs. Herbert Tucker of the All-Schools PTA said she was trying to get the high school for an open candidate forum on February 2.

Albertine, a Commission candidate last year, is an insurance agency head and is a native here. He is a veteran, a former high school instructor, a graduate of Joralemon College and Theological Seminary, and is married and has two children, Margaret and Michael.

He said: "I am a lifelong resident, father of two children rapidly approaching school age, and as a former school teacher feel I am equipped with both practical and theoretical knowledge to make a personal contribution towards solving the problems that affect our schools."

"I do not believe in making the usual promise of a candidate. I will not pretend that I have the solution to all our problems. We all know that our schools are overcrowded, that our teachers are underpaid, that the school plant and equipment should be expanded and replenished, that an overall health program is needed."

"I make one promise. I will work diligently and seriously with the school board, together with the responsible and date authorities to bring a reasonable solution to our problems."

Vanderbilt, a resident here most of his life, was graduated from St. Peter's high school, is a past president of the Petrean Club, and is a member of the Knights of Columbus and Holy Name Society.

He is a member of the Belleville State Aid for Education Committee, a member of the school board advisory committee, served as president of School 8 PTA, and is a member of its executive board and member of School 5 PTA.

He is married to the former Ruth Tracy, and they have two children, Diane and Gary, Jr. He is sponsored by John Boyd, chairman of the lay advisory committee.

Risoli, a former Commission candidate, operates a shoe store and haberdashery and has lived here most of his life.

He was one of the organizers and first president of the Shawnee School PTA and is vice president now. He is president of the Holy Name Society of St. Anthony's Church and a member of the Knights of Columbus. His other activities include the West End Civic League, St. Bartholomew Society, Anthony's Field Club, Belleville Oldtimers' Club, Belleville Citizens Association, Harry J. Sullivan Association, Isadore J. Padula Association, Kenneth D. Smith Association and the Silver Lake Democratic Club. He and his wife, the former Mary Zeleka, have two children.

He said: "When and if I am elected, I will use the utmost of my power to fulfill the service and respect that is placed on me. My goal will be to create harmonious feeling and cooperation among all board members, administrators and entire personnel of the school system, thereby utilizing all the executive man power we now have in our school system."

Salmon was born here and is a resident all his life. He attended St. Peter's School and was graduated from Central High School in Newark and has operated his own news business here for 10 years.

He is a member of School 8 PTA, a member of the County News Editor Association and has two sons, James S. and Philip H. He is married to the former Mrs. Helen B. Rhoades.

Laterza in the second of his recent statements, said: "I need an expanding school curriculum, because of the increased need for more learning in the world, and because there are more children in school than ever before."

The task of planning to meet the interest of a type, which involves new approaches. It is necessary for us to provide interesting and new experiences for 100 per cent of the students.

Apartment Residents Warned of Wiring

ASPIRIN ANYONE?

Could be asked by William Rivola, owner of Belleville Pharmacy at Joralemon and Union which was destroyed in a fire there Saturday. Clouds of smoke billowed as drugs and interior burned. Families in 32 apartment, ran out into street, some in night clothes, as fire fanned upward. Seven firemen suffered injury, mostly smoke damage. Police reroute traffic, Belleville Rec Cross Carpenters served firemen and police. It was the second fire Saturday in 10 hours.

The two-alarm fire which wrecked the Belleville Pharmacy and drove occupants of 32 apartments into the street, occurred the very day a fire underwriters group had given as the deadline for tenants to effect electrical repairs, it was learned this week.

Tenants had been notified a month ago by letter from Harry Epstein, agent for the L and P Realty Company of Newark, the apartment owner, to stop overloading electrical circuits and to check the wiring.

"No Bed Of Roses"

Yocum States He Declines To Run In Fairness To Self And Business — In Face Of 'Misunderstandings'

Charles H. Yocum bowed out as finance chairman of the Board of Education last night, "in fairness to myself and my business."

Yocum, a board member five years, said he was physically and mentally tired of attempting to bring about reforms and work toward the end of better education facilities in the face of misunderstandings of an unwillingness to understand that public education in New Jersey is a complicated matter.

He will attend his last regular board meeting January 31.

James R. Golden commended Yocum for his service to the board, stating that Yocum had acted as a stabilizing and sobering influence.

Yocum's statement was as follows:

"It is with regret that I must announce that I will not be a candidate for election to the Belleville Board of Education."

"A great many of my friends and a large number of citizens have contacted me in the recent few days asking that I be a candidate for election. After due and deliberate consideration, I feel I must, in fairness to myself and my business, decline to run."

"I have served on the Board of Education for five years, endeavoring in my own way and with a standing position from many sources to contribute my best to the best interest of education in this town. I am physically and mentally tired of attempting to bring about reforms and work toward the end of better education facilities in our schools in the face of misunderstandings or unwillingness to understand that public education in New Jersey is a complicated matter, legally and otherwise, which fact is known to a very few of the public."

A board member puts in hundreds of hours per year taken from his own limited free time and this alone takes its toll. It is anything but a man job and there is no bed of roses except for a superabundance of thorns.

"I have served this board to the best of my ability and feel that I have, with the other members, contributed much to the improvement of our school facilities, teachers pay and business methods during my tenure. I am grateful to those who have indicated their desire that I be a candidate but I refuse at this time."

Board Of Elections Rules Policy Since 1941 Has Been To Issues Badges On Public Questions

Challengers are permitted at the polls in elections on public questions, the county Board of Elections ruled this week in reply to a question brought up by the Belleville Civic Congress after the referendum election here last year.

Elmer J. Hermann, board secretary, said the question is a matter of interpretation of the law and since 1941 the county board has followed the policy of permitting challengers on public questions.

Shaffer properly applied for and within the stipulated time," Hermann said, "the board has been hearing proponents and opponents of a public question as challengers."

Shaffer said in a letter to Hermann that his group had been told by Commissioner of Registrars John B. Keenan that no challengers were permitted, and thus the Civic Congress campaign committee, backing Town-Council Manager, did not apply for challenger badges.

Came Election Day and opponents had several challengers with challenger badges at poll stations throughout the town, which fact was pointed out by Hermann's office.

Keenan's answer to Shaffer's question apparently was in disagreement with Hermann.

Keenan said, "I may I respectfully advise you that we know of no provision allowing challengers on public questions."

had been notified after the fire underwriters' inspector had checked the premises here.

Fire Chief Harry White said today the cause of the fire, however, was still not determined. He said it appeared the fire first started in the ceiling of the boiler room, directly below the pharmacy, owned by William Gioia of 101 Joramelon Street.

"We can thank the Lord it didn't happen at night," said the Chief. "There would have been a loss of life."

As it was, two apartments, not immediately above the drug store, which offered the brunt of the blaze, were ruined beyond rehabilitation. They were occupied by Thomas McHenry and Charles Holvick, both families new living with relatives. Other occupants have returned, but the smoke smell still lingers.

A peculiar aftermath of the blaze was that it might have been prevented, or at least contained to a much smaller space, had the fire department been notified earlier. A resident had noticed he smelled smoke, but wasn't sure.

A small fire in an apartment seven months ago, started from electrical wiring, the Chief said, urging residents not to try to effect amateur repairs to their electric circuits.

At least seven firemen suffered some injury from the blaze, most from smoke poisoning. They were Edward McGonigle, Robert Bank, John Byrne, Andrew Lakowski, Deputy Chief James Durey, Captain William Fabian and Bert Stanley.

The blaze was detected by Samuel Deskin, owner of Conic Hardware at 337 Union Avenue.

As smoke caused by drugs and pharmaceuticals poured up, the fire shot inward then up; then inward and up again, down the door of one unoccupied apartment and used ladders to reach two others, also found locked and unoccupied.

Mrs. Amelia Batsche, 93, a resident of a ground floor apartment was helped out on a stretcher, faint from excitement. Heavy smoke billowed from the store, and a fireman, who said he saw it in night clothes, were assisted across the street to the police.

Police rerouted traffic. The Red Cross Canteen was on the spot with coffee and food for firemen and police.

"Our schools should be made more homelike, interesting, colorful and superior to the nature of children. We can adopt some of our extra school communications to classroom use. The use of radio, field trips, transcriptions, charts, films, TV in the classroom should be included in the teaching method to help in tune with the nature of today's boys and girls."

"The supreme function of any school system is instruction. The quality and quantity of books, supplies, equipment and furniture is most important. In every classroom there should be an abundance of working tools and ample room to practice, experiment and create."

Boyd, another candidate, gave his vision this week in a talk in American Legion Hall.

concentrate upon increased racing through redevelopment, particularly in the Valley section and Silver Lake area.

"Spot rezoning for a notable here and there is not the answer," he said. "What is needed is full planning for these areas and elsewhere. Industry must not be sited but living must be pleasant."

"With attractive housing, one section of the street along the river to attract city dwellers as far as New York, Belleville would have new sources of rentals as well as to provide housing for our veterans who still live in the barracks. Industry must not be sited but living must be pleasant."

At last year's budget, Mayor Padula said the tax rate showed a 2 point drop to 6.32 largely because the Commission borrowed heavily from its surplus account.

At the same time increased the anticipated tax collection percentage leaving little in the surplus account to use in this year's budget. The surplus account is derived from the tax collection return.

The mayor said the local municipal budget went up 29 tax points, the school budget, 22.5 points, and the county 9 points, a total of 52 points.

He said the Commission last year devised a 2 point drop by getting 29 points from an increased assessed valuations; an increased 7.5 points in the school budget, an increased 15.5 in anticipated tax collections and 11 more points from the tax collection return.

He said the town was left with a $430,000 surplus this year. Because of the action in borrowing $55,063.63 of surplus last year over and above the 1953 already applied surplus of $558,000, plus the 1954 Commission's action in boosting the percentage of anticipated tax collection for 91 percent to 92.5 percent.

"Should have been 6.69."

"If the anticipated tax collection had been kept at the 1953 level of 91 percent and the same amount of surplus had been applied as in the 1953 budget and if the anticipated revenues had been kept at the 1953 level, the tax rate for 1954 would have been 6.69, an increase of 37 points over the present tax rate of 6.32."

"The people should be given a true estimate of the cost of running their government and be able to get closer to their government. They should know in advance what they can have by way of improvements each year and what is not possible. Given a true tax rate to cover the things agreed to, they are able to gear their tax responsibilities to their private responsibilities without shocks."

Slow steady growth.

"I want to see Belleville grow the slow, steady growth that comes from a healthy foundation. This growth can be achieved if the people and the officials work together."

The mayor prefaced his budget statement with this remark:

"As you will recall, throughout the campaign I expressed my doubts as to the wisdom of a two-point reduction in view of the many demands upon the town treasury."

McConnell Is Niagara's Key Player

Jim McConnell, former Belleville High School star, is "the heart of Monticello Ridge." The Niagara University senior guard turned out to be the Purple Eagles' newest court hero when he came through with a clutch field goal in the final seconds of play to give Niagara a thrilling, 68-64, victory over arch rival Canisius College.

Niagara and Canisius, tugging in the Little Three Conference before 7,843 fans in Buffalo's Memorial Auditorium, waged a see-saw battle which saw the score change hands 21 times.

Canisius' Johnny McCarthy popped in a jump-shot in the final minute of play to lock the score at 64-64 and the game seemed destined to go into overtime as the Eagles raced down the court in the second seconds of play. McConnell passed to co-captain Eddie Fleming and banked in a jump-shot with approximately eight seconds remaining to clinch the game. Jim was fouled at the final gun and made both free throw attempts before being carried off the court on the shoulders of his teammates.

It was a great comeback for McConnell who came up with an overdose of personal fouls in the first half. He acquired three personals and, before Coach Tips Gallagher could send a replacement in for him, drew his fourth personal with nine minutes and 45 seconds still remaining in the half.

Jim McConnell

McConnell was benched for the remainder of the half and did not return to action until nine more minutes had elapsed in the second half. The Eagles trailed by two points when McConnell returned, but rapidly forged in front, remaining there until McCarthy's shot late in the game.

McConnell, still unable to relax in the dressing room after the game, said that it was his biggest basketball thrill and the first time he had ever "won" a college game in that respect. Jim, rapidly becoming the key player in the Niagara lineup, has shown tremendous development this season. He is a polished ball-handler, an excellent playmaker and has more than carried his own as a scorer.

The ex-Blue and Gold performer now has 159 points in 12 starts for a 13.3 average. The eight points he scored against Canisius proved to be the first time he had failed to hit the double figures in the last nine games. His high for the season is 24 against St. John's in the Holiday Festival Tournament. In that tournament he averaged better than 20 per game, hitting 18 against Syracuse and 20 against UCLa while many home-town Belleville rooters looked on at Madison Square Garden.

The importance of a Canisius game to Niagara can not be considered unless one knows the history of the traditional rivalry between the two schools. A season can not be a complete success for either team unless that team can beat the other once or twice.

Niagara now has a 2-0 record in the Little Three Conference, in its bid for a third straight title. The Eagles are also leading the race for the upstate New York championship, a crown they have worn for the past two years.

Belleville Avenges Loss To Bloomfield, Winning 56-49

School Five Will Play Nutley Tonight: Team Sixth In County

By Mal Condon

Belleville High School, avenging an earlier loss to Bloomfield by downing the Bengals 56-49 this week, takes on Nutley tonight at Nutley.

Both teams sport the same record, five wins against four losses. The Blue and Gold is favored by eight points.

The Belleville rise in the county ratings from eighth to sixth was due to its strong showing against Montclair a week ago. The local five now is regarded as the dark horse in the coming Essex County Tournament.

Johnny Bartell led the Bellhoy attack against the Mounties in the 58-51 losing cause, scoring 15 points. Biddle "Versatile" Veith was double and triple teamed throughout the game but still managed to rack up 13 markers.

The Blue and Gold gave the Mounties quite a scare in the final quarter as they came within five of tying.

Coach Wishe was well pleased with the team's effort. He substituted freely, giving as much experience as possible in preparation for the Essex Tourney that starts on February 12.

Tuesday night saw the Bellhoy boys avenge their overtime loss to Bloomfield by downing the Bengals, 56-49 at the local court. Veith and Bartell again paced the squad with 21 and 15 points respectively. Veith was again double teamed and scored only four points in the first half. But Veith came back with 17 points in the second half. Bartell in the second stanza dropped in 11 of the teams 13.

Bloomfield put up a tough struggle and came as close as 48-37 in the final period. At this point Veith broke up their full court press by driving the full length of the floor to score.

The Jayvees were beaten in the preliminary by the Bengal Jayvee squad 74-76. Dick Arridson scored 21 for the Bellhoyers.

MUFFTIES CUT LEAD OF HILLTOPPERS IN FEWSMITH KEG

The lead of the Hilltoppers was cut to a single game this week as the Muffties won three from the leaders while the Spoilers won the odd game from the Busters.

The Farmers and Old Timers swept their series with the Cubs and Aces respectively. As the teams enter the sixth week of their schedule only five games separate the first six teams.

Art Farr leads the individual average race with 176 followed by Bob Taylor, Jim Swartz, Herman Horman and Emory Good all with 175.

PINDAR HIGH MAN; TOWN WINS PISTOL LEAGUE OPENER

Jim Pindar with a 297 was tops in the Belleville Police Revolver team here, with Belleville winning its first match in the County Police Revolver League against Livingston, 1:71 to 1:112.

Pindar's shooter, including a 99 in slow; 97 in timed and a perfect score in rapid fire served notice on Nick de Hagara that de Hagara would have to look to his laurels this year. De Hagara spearheaded the team's showing in the competition last year, when Belleville shooters came out fourth in a 12-team league. De Hagara had a 100 in rapid fire, the only other perfect score racked up by Belleville shooters in all categories.

Alinger, with 284, led the Livingston police.

Belleville scores were as follows:

Weight-Lifting Contest Scheduled for February

A Barbell weightlifting contest will be held February 7 and 8 in the Municipal Stadium, beginning at 8:30 p. m., the recreation department announced today.

Lifters will be divided into weight classes in the manner of the Olympic games, Superintendent Robert Cook said, with medals being awarded to the men who place first and second in each class.

A wristwatch, offered by Nicholas Christano of 40 Preston Street, will be presented as a special prize to the most improved lifter. Only those who entered last year will be eligible to compete for the prize, which carries with it the title, "Lifter of the Year."

Lifting will be based on the three Olympic lifts plus the two arm curl, the dead lift, and the bench press. Each club member will have three attempts at each lift, with his highest successful lift scoring toward his total.

Championships will be based on the total pounds lifted in all six lifts, plus the lifting style.

According to Cook records will fall, since many of the lifters improved over last year.

Wesley Men's Club Plans "What's My Line?" Night

"What's My Line?" will be on Jan. Monday when the Men's Club of Wesley Methodist Church hosts the members and wives of the Vincent Men's Club of Nutley at 8 p. m. James Seay will "John Daly" the m.c. and present a mystery guest to stump the panelists.

Clifford Kraft will be in charge of refreshments and a business meeting will precede the social hour. An executive board meeting of the club will be held February 7, at the home of Evan Richardson, 32 Oak Street, at 8 p. m. when plans will be outlined for the "Lil Aoner" barn dance.

presenting... Custom Royal Lancer

Custom Royal Lancer V-6 in dramatic new three-tone exterior styling.

A car of noble proportions, gallant and gay, and born to rule the road in flashing style!

In every age, there are those who are not content with the humdrum, the commonplace. If you are one of these, the Royal Lancer speaks directly to your heart.

For here is a car that fairly breathes adventure. You sense it in the bold forward thrust of its hood, the sweep of rear deck, the rakish slant of the New Horizon windshield.

Its beauty is not calm and placid, but eager and alive—the measure of performance that stems from the most advanced aircraft-type V-8 engine on the road.

And should you choose to make this car yours, you will have this assurance: In any company of automobiles, there is nothing to challenge the distinction of your Royal Lancer by Dodge.

Talent Show
A talent show was held in the high school auditorium under Bert Kupperfer. The show was arranged with a theme and enacted on the stage which had been set up as a street scene in Hollywood.

During last year and up to the present time, School 8 took 81 trips to 15 different places, not including many side trips. In the same period School 4 used 25 different resources, including 5 speakers. School 10 took 9 trips and School 2, 7 trips. School 3 used 11 resources. School 7 reported the use of 9 different resources. School 9 developed a file of 31 cards on resources used. School 1 used 12 resources.

The various departments of the high school had 24 field trips and 25 speakers, not including many brought in by the guidance department.

Stephen Foster Honored
Pupils of the upper grades of Passaic Avenue enjoyed an assembly program prepared by the pupils of 6A Class, under Miss Mae Avalone.

The program was a musical tribute to Stephen Collins Foster, and was narrated by Barbara Bailey. Grace Lombardo of grade 7 was the accompanist.

School 4 Project
Seventh grade science classes under Gilda DelGuercio in School Four have undertaken a unit entitled, "Living Things". Interest was given by the Audubon Society. An attractive bulletin board let to a class discussion of pets and other experiences with animals and plants.

The class divided into groups, each group choosing a topic concerning living things. Each group was to prepare its report in book form and present it to the class.

Several excellent filmstrips were viewed in this unit of study. As a means of summarizing these

Passaic Avenue School
In an effort to increase participation in audio-visual aids, an Audio-Visual Aids Club has been organized. There are two members from each of the seventh and eighth grades as a nucleus. The boys are learning the operation of the motion picture projector and the film strip projector under the direction of Joseph Groch, teacher of the 8A class. Later the club members will be taught how to use the opaque projector, the lantern projector, and the tape recorder.

School One
The eighth grade of School One has started a new project for its Social Studies work. John W. Campbell, of the New York Times spoke and showed them a strip film "Getting Out the Times" and explained many phases of the newspaper to them. He also talked to them about using the newspapers in school work and for leisure reading.

CONTRACT LET, CP CENTER WILL BUILD HERE THIS MONTH

The contract for construction of the new Cerebral Palsy Center of Essex and West Hudson as the first unit of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital group has been awarded to P. Jantelle, Inc., of Newark, for its low bid of $237,737. It was announced recently by Charles E. Garbrant, of Short Hills, president of United Cerebral Palsy. The new Center will be located on a site at Franklin Avenue and Whelan Street, Belleville, overlooking Branch Park. Construction is to begin this month.

"Thanks to the generosity of the people of Essex and West Hudson, we are soon to realize our dream of having a modern, well-equipped center for the cerebral pained in this area," Mr. Garbrant said. "While there are still many problems and expenses to be met, such as providing the additional equipment and staff needed for the new Center, the first step is being taken. For this, we can never adequately express our appreciation."

Costs involved in construction of the new Center were chiefly with money raised in a building fund campaign in 1953 and 1954. A few solicitation will cover the additional costs, as architect's fees, landscaping, and construction of a roadway.

The new Center, which will be one of the most modern and well-equipped structures of its kind in the United States, will replace present inadequate facilities now maintained by the Essex-West Hudson UCP in the basement of Summer Avenue School, Newark.

It will provide complete day care five days a week for more than 200 cerebral palsied youngsters, as compared to the part-time care now offered only about 100 children in the present center.

Plans for the new building were drawn by J. Gerald Phelan, architect, in association with Fletcher-Thompson, Inc., Associates of Bridgeport, Conn. They call for a one-story, all-shaped building, with a brick exterior.

Special features will include ramps at the main entrance and openings on the play area, and entrance doors operated by electric eyes, both designed particularly for children in wheel chairs or with heavy braces on their legs. There will also be railings through out the building to aid the children in walking from room to room.

The site of the new Center, approximately two acres in size, is adjacent to the proposed Clara Maass Hospital. Location of the Cerebral Palsy Center there is in accordance with the hospital's plan to create a complete medical center. Each organization will remain completely autonomous, however, and will continue to be responsible for its own finances and fund-raising.

A False Scale of "True" Values

Without warning and without consideration of inequities in present property evaluations, the Essex County Tax Board published this week a tax equalization table for the 22 Essex municipalities which will be used, this year, in apportioning the share of county taxes which the taxpayers of each municipality will pay.

Belleville will oppose the Tax Board's action, just as it has opposed every other effort by the City of Newark to get out of paying its just share of county taxes, for this is just another phase of the Newark maneuver which was begun by Elenstein in his heyday. Newark is throwing its weight around, politically, to force the suburban towns to pay Newark's share of the county taxes while Newark, the setting of all of the county offices and the principal furnisher of most of the county's needs, uses seventy per cent of the county's facilities.

Newark is a city of slums and crime. Its property values have depreciated, whereas property values have risen in the suburban towns which have prided themselves on cleaning their streets, curbing crime, controlling construction through zoning ordinances and running their municipal administrations on an honest, business basis deprived of the joys and costly baubles of stinking politics.

It is no secret that Newark assesses low when it wants to attract a new industry. Two years ago it was disclosed that the new Anheuser-Busch brewery in Newark was being assessed at only 10 per cent of its true value.

The County Tax Board is imposing a penalty on honest, economical municipal administration and is providing Newark an escape from poor government.

Belleville did not fare too badly on the Tax Board's list. Our ratables must be increased 150 per cent to reach their true value, the Tax Board says. Newark must raise its ratables 100 per cent. In other words, Newark assesses at 40 per cent of true valuation, Belleville at 40 per cent. But such a table becomes obsolete by the hour. No matter at what level the true value is set today, the table must change tomorrow because property values in Newark, the city of slums and slimy politics, depreciate by the hour while values increase steadily in the clean cheerful, well-governed suburban towns.

The table shows that East Orange and Montclair, which need assessment increases of 112 and 127 per cent to attain true value, will come out better than Belleville. At the other end of the scale, Millburn will be taxed by the county on a true value 2.7 times greater than the present assessed valuations. Roseland must suffer a 244 per cent increase to true value, West Caldwell a hike of 222 per cent. To reach true value, Nutley must increase ratables 143 per cent and Bloomfield 163 per cent.

The Tax Board pretends that the increases are based on sales data that the Board has been collecting since 1950. The fallacy of such calculations is that in a suburban town like Belleville only newly built homes change hands with any frequency. Few of the established residential properties here have been sold since 1950. As far as Belleville is concerned, therefore, the Tax Board's estimate of the true value of our homes and land is based on the sales of newly-built houses.

Since several years, Robert B. Anderson, Nutley's director of revenue and finance, has sought at state conventions of the League of Municipalities to change the base of county and state taxes from ratables to real town spendings. In other words, ratables would be abandoned as a basis of computation in favor of the amount of money each town raises by taxation for municipal purposes. That is the only fair basis of computing county taxes. The municipal budgets vary from year to year. The County Tax Board could take its cut of the 22 town budgets and would have an honest basis of computation. To try and set a table of true values, in the light of Newark's depreciating property values, is an unfair approach.

The Times-News hopes that the Tax Board's folly will encourage Commissioner Anderson to renew his intelligent approach to the county tax problem. If a town governing body is wasteful, let it be penalized in higher county taxes; if a town, as in the case of Belleville, trims its budget carefully in the interests of a low tax rate, that town should benefit from its frugality.

Something Lacking

Belleville High School has put its best foot forward for the evaluation held here last week and apparently its best is lacking.

An oral report by Earl A. Master, evaluation chairman and principal of Reading, (Pa.) High School, shows there's need for improvement on many fronts.

While the 21-member evaluation committee will present its written report in three months, the handwriting is on the wall there's much to be desired. We venture to say that some of the very criticism of the evaluation committee will be used by the school board to help swing its new high school here when the high school financing comes before the voters.

Hugh D. Kittle, principal, interprets Master's report as a "good," rating for the school, qualifying his comment with a statement that the oral report is only a small part of the whole picture. But it still stands to reason that someone will have to do a powerful lot of explaining to explain away the criticisms of the evaluation committee. "Good" is a relative term. In view of the numerous criticisms, any "good" rating that the committee may make should be regarded in the same sense as that used by stage critics in describing performances as "adequate" . . . the actors went through the motions, all right, but didn't have spark.

There's nothing wrong with criticizing. That's one of the reasons that the high school is a member of the Middle State Association in the first place. But the school board and high school should try to correct situations which evoked negative criticism . . . else the evaluation committee come back 10 years hence to find similar problem recurring.

Here's a review of the evaluation background, before introducing the criticisms.

Ten years ago, the Middle States group came to Belleville and returned an "average" rating, according to Kittle. The committee found fault particularly with the school plant, administration and curriculum planning.

Last week, the high school braced itself for the evaluation like an Army barracks preparing for a Saturday morning inspection. Painters worked over a few walls, the place was "spicked and spanned," and the high school even got out a neat picture-filled copy of "Spotlite," a publication, welcoming the evaluation group to B. H. S. And whether it be coincidence or not, the Curriculum Council came out with a proposed subject study, with first emphasis on reading, the very week the evaluation committee was here.

Here are the good points stressed in the oral report:

Masters reported that the faculty was very competent. He cited the program of studies as in keeping with a sound philosophy of education.

Master commended maintenance of the plant and cafeteria and said the pupil transportation system was good. He found the school guidance program to be functioning smoothly. He found a "sanity in sports," as evidenced by an intramural program.

Here are the points he found in need of improvement:

More facilities for music, art, domestic science and shop courses, and greater emphasis on dramatics and speech. (Check school plant and curriculum.)

Establishment of a journalism course. School publications are average and service of an nation school press association should be used. (Check curriculum.)

Complete recording of finances and the bonding of any handler of funds. (Check administration.)

Improvement of the school building. Some areas are not safe because of obstructions in the corridors like drinking fountains and some corridors are dead ends. (Check school plant.)

Elimination of home rooms from the library. (Check school plant.)

Improvement of the employment service of the guidance department.

More teachers for physical education and science.

Too much time elapses in the school year before school programs get under way; and cliques dominate programs, in some instances. (Students apparently are looking at their elders in faction-wracked Belleville.)

Social consciousness of the boys should be developed and social dancing should be incorporated in physical education. (Check curriculum.)

School not performing effectively in the field of community relation . . . citizens not aware of what the school is doing and is trying to do so they can offer any assistance.

One Man's Opinion

Seventh Fleet's Presence In Formosan Straits And Fear Of Reprisal Attack On Mainland Deter Red China's Aggressive Ambitions

By Ralph E. Heinzen

No amount of whitewash, no amount of camouflage can disguise the fundamental fact that UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld failed in his mission to Peking. The one motive of his flight half way around the world was to obtain the release of 11 American airmen held by the Communists since their crash during the Korean War. The airmen still languish in a Red Chinese jail.

Hammarskjöld did, however, clarify one point: the basis of Red China's bitterness towards the United States is that Peking fears we will give Chiang Kai-shek the green light, some of these days, to attack the mainland of China. Chou En-lai, the Premier of Red China, told the Secretary General that the "threat of an American-inspired invasion" from South Korea or from Formosa across the narrow straits was the major deterrent to a relaxation of tension.

In this "One Man's Opinion" it is a deterrent, too, to Red China's aggressive ambitions. If that deterrent did not exist, Southeast Asia would be wide open to Peking's invaders, as were Korea and Vietnam. Yesterday's invasion of strategic Yikiangshan islands by a Communist invasion force backed by 20 American airmen proves Peking's determination. How long would Formosa remain in Chiang's hands if the Seventh Fleet was not there as a deterrent?

The December 2 treaty of mutual defense now binds us to help the Chinese Nationalist regime defend Formosa against Communist attack. It is wholly a defensive document and the U. S. Government has made it doubly clear to Chiang Kai-shek that our treaty commitments do not cover an attack on the mainland of China without the consent of the United States.

The SEATO mutual defense pact, signed in Manila, is still only a piece of paper. So, while our policy in Southeast Asia is mired along a line drawn across a map with a red pencil: "thus-far-and-no-further," our new mutual defense pact with Formosa and our mutual aid agreement with South Korea serve, apparently, as the deterrent that is needed to prevent a precarious peace in Asia until such time as SEATO goes teeth.

Diplomatic Agenda

The eight Foreign Ministers of the Manila Pact powers will meet in Bangkok, Thailand, on February 23 to discover what military strength and economic support can be devised to protect Southeast Asia against Communist expansion. This meeting will be important.

The Premiers of the Colombo powers—Pakistan, India, Burma, Ceylon, and Indonesia—have summoned a conference in April of thirty "independent" governments. This is what countries like Thailand are asking. It is what high officials in Washington are discussing. But the public hears little of it, except word to the effect that Messrs. Dulles and Harold E. Stassen, Foreign Operations Administrator, favor a large-scale capital development program for Asia, while Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey supposedly wants to keep that program small.

These Facts Problem

To the experts, obviously, the problem of Southeast Asia is three-fold:

Military — to maintain a defense against overt attack or revolutionary subversion; economic — to better living standards; finally, the problem of "moral," to assure leaders that there is going to be no "sell-out" and that they do not have to compromise with the Communists.

On the military side, the first answer is by no means obvious: whether to draw a distinct line somewhere; whether to set up a common military command. Apparently local armies are to be maintained only of sufficient size to combat internal subversion. That will be up to the February SEATO meeting.

There are those who argue that the United States must show its determination by supporting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's government in the defense of all coastal islands, like Quemoy, which screen Formosa.

Price Of A Pullback

They say that even the slightest pullback here would be taken by worried Southeast Asian governments as a sign that the United States was "pulling out" and abandoning the whole area.

On the economic side, the question is, how to bolster the area with realistic help. Here the answer may lie somewhere between the big pronouncements of Mr. Stassen and the admitted uniformity views expressed by Mr. Humphrey.

There is no proof, either, that Southeast Asia can be saved by some big spending program of dramatic "impact," any more than General Chiang was saved by such subsidizing.

What are needed are long-range training and education programs and the building of lasting institutions: village improvement, public health measures, and no doubt some limited capital investment.

A Way To Win

Partnership, respect for Asian viewpoints, and help in developing local resources—these are the needs. A whole new generation of artisans, scientists, and teachers must be developed.

Militarily, it is vital to keep Communist China from further adventuring—which means maintaining the Seventh Fleet on guard, and perhaps more immediate force.

Neutrals like Premier U Nu of Burma, and Jawaharlal Nehru of India, who are trying in their own way to keep Peking in a peaceful course, must be encouraged.

And another thing, the United States must stop dumping rice in an area which sells rice for its livelihood.

This rice-dumping really points up the American problem. For the need is for coordination of policy, and for determination of wise policy—for the long pull—and careful complete informing of Congress and the supporting public opinion so that the measures eventually adopted will be sufficient to keep the dominoes from toppling.

Traffic Safety Committee

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

In September of 1954 Commissioner Sullivan introduced a resolution to the Town Committee requesting the organization of the "Belleville Traffic Safety Committee" which, at that time, had been authorized. In January of 1955 this committee was finally organized. It took approximately four months to appoint the members of the committee. Why took so long?

The Commissioner was very careful in his selection of the members for fear that he would appoint citizens who would really make recommendations for improving the conditions which now prevail in the Town of Belleville. He appoints people who have taken an active interest in his campaign, who would not dare to be impartial or make recommendations which will make their boss angry or put him in an unfavorable light.

The functions of this committee is "unconstitutional" in view of the provisions as set forth by the commissioners, one of which is: "To receive complaints." This committee cannot possibly decide upon which complaint is within their jurisdiction; we have a court clerk to receive complaints.

The Commissioner should not continue to "request" better lighting from the Public Service he should "demand." If you miss several payments of your light bill, the Public Service does not make repeated requests for you to pay, they move into quick action.

Our next state senator, James Golden, has made a suggestion.

A Few Pounds Of Preparedness
To the Editor, Times-News:

It may be timely, even in a mild winter, to advise motorists to keep the best mechanics in the snow is simply to deflate the rear tires to one-half normal pressure. Cars with standard shift transmissions can be "unstuck" by starting slowly in second gear, releasing the hand brake slowly as power is applied to the rear wheels after half of the air is released from the rear tires.

With automatic transmissions, the shift lever should be placed in forward gear. The hand brake should be kept locked until engine speed is sufficient to move the car on a dry hill or grade, whereupon engine speed should be steady and the hand brake should be slowly released.

Reversing the engine wildly will do nothing but spin the back wheels and possibly damage the transmission. As soon as the mission, differential, or axles.

If all that fails, it is not advisable to tow a truck if the driver's remedy does not work after one or two attempts. Repeated efforts might cause damage to the transmission. As soon as the emergency has passed, motorists should be sure to inflate rear tires to normal pressure.

To make sure you don't get stuck in a snowdrift, you should have a set of chains in the car at all times, or see that it is equipped with snow tires. Also, it is a wise idea to carry a small box of sand, gravel, or ashes in the trunk, plus a small shovel with which to spread it under the rear wheels. A few pounds of preparedness can save several tons of trouble in snowy weather.

County Chairman Resigns

To the Editor, Times-News:

I would like for Republican voters in New Jersey to know directly from me the important and reluctant decision I find it necessary to make at this time. When our friend and leader, George H. Becker passed away in April, 1954, the leadership of our party in Essex County was at the confidence and responsibility that go with that position was entrusted to me. I realized at the time that my then existing personal commitments would of necessity limit my effectiveness as County Chairman of limited duration. I therefore indicated then that I would be asked and honored to serve on an interim basis until after the 1954 elections.

During the relatively short time that it has been my privilege to serve as your County Chairman, we were confronted with a number of serious difficulties in addition to those that we have experienced in recent off-year here as I am sure you are familiar with them.

I am proud to tenure the performance of our Clean Government Republican representatives and office-holders both at the Hall of Records in Newark and at the State House in Trenton, has been in accord with our organization's highest traditions of the past 34 years. We have adhered strictly to our basic tenets of simple honesty and common decency in government. We have followed political expediency and narrow partisanship. We have sought to serve only the best interests of the people of Essex County and the State of New Jersey.

To lead an organization of such dedicated men and women and to enjoy the confidence and support of all of you and the wholehearted cooperation of our many friends has been an experience I shall never forget. I shall also cherish the memory of the invaluable support of our many affiliated organizations such as the Young Republicans, the women's groups, and the veterans.

"Strange Bedfellows"

To The Editor, Times-News:

The statement of John Cash, acting chairman of the Essex County Republican Party, in announcing his choice of Mark Ashton to head the party ticket, and Mr. Cash's remarks that he will confer with county committee members and town chairmen in selecting a fighting state ticket around what seems to be his personal choice for the office of State Senator from Essex is significant more in what is left unsaid than in the significance of his published comment.

Mr. Cash has been around the Essex Clean Government Organization long enough to realize that he is fighting established policy by imposing his will upon the party. He also is familiar with past precedent occasioned calling upon the executive committee of the Clean Government
