Bangert, Denzler, Orli, Mrs.
Lundy And Tomasulos Named

Mayor Isadore J. Padula, chairman of the Red Cross fund and membership campaign announced this week that Sunday, March 13 would be the beginning of the residential campaign.

Padula, in a meeting with leaders pointed out that, while all of March is Red Cross month, starting two weeks later will give people time to prepare for a contribution and help to offset recent fund drives. He stressed the need to ask every adult to join Red Cross and to contribute to it.

Mrs. Layton Cox, 189 Tappan Avenue, and Mrs. William Carter, 193 Franklin Avenue, co-chairmen, have divided the city into eight zones, instead of the three zones previously used, and secured the help of a leader for each zone. The zones have been designated with the letters of Red Cross.

Leader of Zone R is Mrs. Viola Spray, teacher in School Four. Assisting Mrs. Spray and contacting the business people of the zone will be Ralph Rioli.

Zone E includes Silver Lake and Soho areas and is being completely organized into five districts. Leader of Zone E is Henry Minasian, 35 Smallwood Avenue, principal of School Ten. Boundaries of this zone are the railroad, Bloomfield line, Jorammon Street, and Franklin Avenue.

Leader of Zone D is Arthur Haster, 90 Melvex Street, a salesman. Boundaries of this zone are Jorammon Street, Franklin Avenue, Passaic Avenue, and the Valley line.

Leader of Zone C is Frank Bangert, 143 Cedarhill Avenue.

GOLDEN ENTERS STATE SENATE ELECTION RACE

James R. Golden, of 62 Tappan Avenue, has become the first to file a petition with the county clerk as a candidate for the state senate in the November election.

Golden, outspoken critic of local government, was forced to file as "Unbiased Independent Candidate," because he did not want to be the Republican primary, the county clerk's office said. He is a Republican.

"State restrictions prevent my usage of the title 'Republican' on the ballot," Golden said. "This ballot, however, after the fact that I am a Republican, vote in the Republican primaries and in fact, subscribe to all the wholehearted principles of the GOP from the time honored precepts of the Republican Party under leaders such as Messrs. Colby, Seely, Cleve and Vanderbilt that occasions my entry into the senatorial race. It is my fervent hope that the people will vote the disparity between such illustrious men and myself, the same basic principles of decency and morality in the functioning of government and the services made available to the people."

Golden, a bus driver, said he filed because of a sincere desire to make available to the people the opportunity of electing an independently minded Republican.

Ye Olde Belleville (Hic) Taverns

Bartender Would Fete Visiting Ball Club With High Balls To Weaken Opposition — Alby Recalls "Rushing The Growler," Discusses "Slasher Mag" And "Railroad Kate," And Relates The Tale of the Man With "Real Character"

(Last of a series of articles by M. C. Alby, longtime resident here on what is known as the "saloon history" of Belleville.)

On William Street near where Union Avenue now runs thru, there was a saloon near the grounds of the old Woodstocks, a great team in those days. When a visiting team came to town, they were housed in a room above the saloon. If a tough game was expected, the bartender would blow the visiting players to enough high balls that when they got out on the field they would almost stagger as they tried to run bases.

There had been several other saloons but they were very quiet places and there were never any fights or other disturbances, except a fair going on. One such place was on the corner of Main and Main streets, another at the corner of William and Cortlandt streets, while another one was on William Street just below Washington Avenue. There was also one in Soho alongside the Morris Canal, which no doubt got some patronage from the canalers. Then there was the old Belleville Hotel, a large Colonial style house down on the corner of Main and Main streets, which dated back to Colonial times, and where Money's bowling alleys were at one time.

I may have overlooked one or two saloons, but if I have, perhaps some reader of the Times can set me right in the matter.

"Rushing the Growler" — In those far off days there was quite a bunch of notables in our town who had reputations for their exploits in "rushing the growler" as it was called then. To mention three, a few there were "Whiskey Hank" with an insatiable thirst, also "Al" the fisherman, whose favorite song was "Little Brown Jug Don't I Love Thee."

Then there was the fair sex, who in that not be overlooked, "Slasher Mag" was one of them who was occasionally arrested for over indulgence and disorderly conduct, Gessy Mary, with a vocabulary of her own and "Railroad Kate," of whom the less said the better. It was related that one of these women had a fair sex was sold by her husband to another man for half a box of cigars and a flask of whiskey.

"Real Character" — Let me relate an incident about a Belleville man who will be nameless. He was a man of nearly middle age who as he grew older began to patronize the saloons more and more until he could not pass one without stopping in for a round of drinks. Finally his family and some very good friends with the help of the minister got him to realize that he was overdoing the thing and set a bad example to the children as well as bringing disgrace to the family.

So he decided to go on the "Water wagon" and for a long time he never went into a saloon, or touched an intoxicant. Just to show that he had acquired some character he would walk past several saloons every day and compliment himself on his great character.

ASHES TO FOREHEAD . . . A symbolic rite, was this scene in Belleville on Ash Wednesday, ushering the Lenten Season here this week, with services in many Belleville churches. This was the picture in St. Peter's Church, after the 8 o'clock Mass, with Msgr. Joseph Kelly (left) and Rev. Fr. Francis Ignacino, marking the forehead. Ash Wednesday is so called in recognition of the rite of burning palm leaves from the previous year, and marking the forehead of the faithful with the ashes. Through the centuries, Lent has been a solemn period of prayer, mortification and self-denial. Lent continues for 40 days, ending at noon on Easter Saturday.

Asks Residents Join Plan Board

"I'm Convinced Belleville Cannot Afford To Continue Another Year In It's Present Program Of Segmented Planning," Says Mayor — Big Question Is Approval

A nine-member planning board to coordinate physical and financial phases of town planning will be proposed here by Mayor Isadore Padula.

In letters sent to at least three prominent citizens, the Mayor is inviting them to serve as the six lay members of the board.

"It's a necessity . . . a 'must' for the town, he said. Recently the Mayor made reference to redevelopment in older areas, particularly Silver Lake and the Valley section. He urged the creation of a planning board in his 1950 and 54 campaigns.

Big Question — The big question behind the news was whether the Commissioners would confirm the proposal. There are some who feel the town has "outgrown" several times. Former Mayor James Tully tried unsuccessfully to introduce a plan board ordinance.

"Of what would introduce the ordinance as soon as I get assurances from the six (residents) that they will serve on such a board," he said. Under his plans, the board would consist of six lay members, a part official and two commissioners.

"For a community such as Belleville a board should be created," he said, in order to guarantee sufficient representation by persons with the know-how in engineering, estimating land values, building construction, recreation facilities, legal processes, and public relations.

"I would like to see several of our town residents, such as Messrs. Colby, Seely, Cleve and Vanderbilt that occasions my entry into the senatorial race. It is my fervent hope that the people will vote the disparity between such illustrious men and myself, the same basic principles of decency and morality in the functioning of government and the services made available to the people."

GROUP APPROVES PUBLIC SWIMMING POOL PROPOSAL

$80,000 Project Would Be Financed By Drive, Paid
Admissions, Committee Plans

This town's first outdoor public swimming pool should be constructed, a committee of residents decided this week, desiring to raise half the estimated $80,000 cost through a townwide drive and the other half through pool admissions.

The financing method placated some groups which feared the cost would increase taxes here still further.

The "Operation Splash" committee, meeting in the Recreation House, decided on plans for a steel pool, 50 by 100 feet, a deep end of 10 feet, and a shallow end of 3 feet, and 20 by 30 foot wading pools adjoining.

The site selected is a strip west of the stadium and parallel to Passaic Avenue. The site already contains a sewer and sanitary sewer lines.

The resolution, introduced by Mayor Isadore Padula on recommendation of Police Chief George E. Spatz and Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan, also asks that the State Commissioner of Banking and Insurance investigate "escape clauses of medical and hospital defense work."

"The limits fixed by the original law are unrealistic in the light of today's increased hospitalization costs," the resolution reads, in reference to insurance coverage.

Town To Advertise For Rock Salt Mountain

A hundred tons of rock salt, a year's supply of the stuff, as estimated by Commissioner Kenneth Smith, will be bought by the town under a resolution adopted by the Commission this week, authorizing the purchasing agent to advertise for same.

Smith Abolishes Building Inspector Job; Fires Greco

"No Bearing on Kiernan,"
Says Keenan

Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan said yesterday that the abolition of the building inspector's job would have no bearing on the Kiernan mortuary case. It was Building Inspector Thomas Greco who filed the charges against George Kiernan for holding a funeral from his private home at 262 Holmes Street.

"I don't know just what will be done about that phase of it," he said. The case will proceed . . . even if we have to file an amended complaint against Greco.

Magistrate James E. Wilson of Caldwell will hear the case Thursday night at 7:30 in magistrate's court here.

Magistrate Abramson last week said he would step down because he had had previous legal dealings with Kiernan.

At the same time Smith notified Town Engineer Matthew J. Sheehan that he (Sheehan) will be acting building inspector effective March 1, "with no recompense."

Building Inspector Thomas P. Greco said today he will fight to get his job back through the Civil Service Association, of which he is a member.

Greco also warned that dismissal of "faithful and conscientious town employees" in the manner he was ousted, "would make a mockery of Civil Service, as far as the town is concerned."

"I intend to show the motive was not sincere. The manner, in which the building thing was handled, indicates that," he said it was "coolly calculated."

Greco said as far as economy was concerned, "I can show abuses in (his Smith's) own department which could be corrected rather than to dismiss the town's most experienced building inspector. He blames both Smith and King for his dismissal."

Greco was brought into the picture when Golden asked King why the building inspector didn't have a second look at the picture. King said that he (Golden) sometimes helped Greco out, for instance when Greco, sitting in commission chambers along with other town employees.

When you were on vacation, did he (Golden) take over your duties?"

"No sir," Greco replied.

King yesterday was reported as saying that he admitted he and Greco "never had gotten along."

If the dismissal of Greco was entirely up to Smith, he reportedly said he himself had once served as a building inspector, and he would cut pay, while he was also town commissioner and knew the work required.

Smith defended the action as "legal, as long as he does not re-establish the job. In such event he would have to reappoint Greco," he reportedly said.

Greco had worked for the town for six years, as was appointed in November, 1948.

The building inspector had a reputation of being fair, honest and fearless in his dealing with builders and contractors.

To many, he was considered "overly conscientious" in his job.

Greco this year had instituted and won a $300 settlement in a libel suit against Vernon Sherman, a businessman, over a letter Sherman wrote to King.

Where's That Ol' Fight?

Rough And Tumble Seems Dying At Town Meetings; "What Is This, Montclair Or Something?" Gent Asks

Where's that ol' fight at Commission meetings, which formerly were characterized with a lot of verbal rough and tumble, no holds barred?

There hasn't been a cop escorting anyone out, since those politically-hectic days before the election, when anything went, and the devil took the hindmost.

Why some say these Commission meetings are more like prayer meetings, with Mayor Isadore Padula reciting a prayer before every session, a practice he instituted when he took the mayor's chair.

Prayer or no, the fact is that there's been little friction on the Board of Commissioners, since they united in a solemn tie in a successful effort to defeat the Charter proposal for a Council-Manager form.

Exception — The one notable exception was the eruption which occurred when the mayor read his statement explaining his vote on the Kiernan funeral home question and in which he mentioned campaign expenses. Commissioners tossed that one around a bit before relegating it to the discard.

And a bit of discord did develop, too, when James Golden, town one-man budget committee, expressed an apparent rift between Commissioner Joseph King and Building Inspector Thomas Greco.

Non-Professional School Workers Join AFL Union

Janitors, Maintenance Men Want Squarer Shake; Representative Will Seek Salary Guide; AFL Hopes To Include Nutley, Bloomfield in East Essex Group

Custodians and maintenance men in the Belleville school system have joined an American Federation of Labor union in an effort to get better working condition, it was learned here yesterday.

The men voted unanimously to join the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, in a meeting Washington's Day in the Recreation House.

Reed Hammond, an AF of L representative said he will go before the school board at the board's regular meeting Monday on a two-point program: to get a salary scale adopted by the board and to get men on their respective steps.

Hammond said the union backs a plan which also permits maintenance men to get the prevailing wages in the building trades.

Hammond said the union will encourage all non-professional school employees in eastern Essex County including Bloomfield and Nutley, Bloomfield and Elizabeth are two nearest municipalities where non-professional school employees have banded under the AF of L banner, he said.

Meanwhile William F. Martin, president of the Janitor's Association said the group will meet probably Tuesday in a meeting for election of officers. The new group of dissolution of the Association, Martin's two-year term as president ends in July.

Hammond estimated that about 30 of the town's 36 custodial and maintenance employees attended the meeting Tuesday. He said the union strives to get the maintenance rates in the building trades.

In his scheduled appearance before the board Monday, Hammond will ask for a salary guide with a minimum of $3,200 and $8,200 yearly increments to a top pay of $4,800 for custodial employees. The top pay of any custodial employee would be that of the high school janitor, at $5,200 yearly.

Hammond said that non-professional school employees here requested him to meet with them because of dissatisfaction with pay conditions and because the benefits the AF of L had obtained in the Montclair system.

"There's a phony overtime setup here, for instance," he said, explaining that there are some employees who make less at the $1.50 overtime rate than they rate they would enjoy on their regular salary.

He said the men worked a 40-hour week with regular overtime worked 54 hours a week for seven months. One of the objectives of the union, he said, was a 40-hour week.

A union spokesman in New York said the union only worked for the future and security of the employees but for the community, since satisfied non-professional school employees would be in better schools and better citizens.

Some $34,000,000 in registration and license fees and state gasoline taxes, Kappmiller said, were collected by the Jersey during the fiscal year that ended last June 30. The new one-cent additional tax on gasoline, he said, will increase this to $108,000,000 in the current fiscal year, he said.

"Motor truck operators," Kappmiller said, "pay the highest rates of any highway-use taxes, although commercial registrations in New Jersey number only 12.4 per cent of all vehicle registrations. This should be enough to silence those who contend that our motor carriers do not pull their tax weight."

"It should be borne in mind, moreover, that motor carrier operators in this state pay additional millions to municipalities in the form of local property taxes," Kappmiller criticized the state's practice of annually diverting about $19,000,000 in highway-use revenues to general purposes wholly unrelated to road construction and maintenance.

"If there had been no such diversion," he asserted, "New Jersey's highway network would be much brighter, particularly as regards relief of traffic near urban centers."

PATTERSON GETS SILVER BEAVER SCOUT AWARD

Thomas Patterson, of 202 Joralemon Street, Scoutmaster of Troop 305, received the Silver Beaver award for outstanding service to youth in a colorful ceremony held at the Essex House, Newark.

Patterson's work with the Troop has resulted in many church awards and a high advancement record. Scout Robert Olson recently won a scholarship to Newark College of the Robert Treat Council and a former Eagle Scout, George Crow, received his appointment to Annapolis.

Patterson is a member of Belleville Lodge F & AM, a volunteer Red Cross first aid man and a member of the Parent-Teacher Association of School Five.

The citation read, "Thomas Patterson, Troop Committeeman 1949, assistant Scoutmaster, 1950-51, Explorer Advisor, 1951-52, Scoutmaster, 1952-55; 10-year veteran for services as a Scout and Scoutmaster, September 1952, Scoutmaster training award February 1953.

a deviation from the principles of simple honest and common decency which previously buttressed the pillar of governmental strength that characterized the Clean Government reign originally conceived by its founders.

"Being unwilling, because of conscience, to support such a deterioration in its fabric, where ward politics and a vying for personal power among its petty despots has assailed the vigor and destroyed the confidence of decent minded citizens devoted to the objective of attaining, truly clean government; I find it impossible to lend my continued support as a Republican to such a 'rationally' planned organization and have irrevocably decided to aspire as an unbossed independent Republican to the office of State Senator.

"My candidacy was actuated by the desire to provide the electorate the opportunity to support a candidate, who, being a working man, understands the problems of the great masses of our people, and who, because of my diligent effort to acquaint myself with the functions and workings of government feel qualified to resolve the significant problems.

"I am convinced my independence and freedom from domination by party bosses would enable me to discharge the duties in a manner which would provide freedom of action to resolve all matters upon merit and principle.

"I pledge myself to conduct a general election campaign in a manner that, while vigorous, will comply with ethical decorum which might be anticipated by candidates aspiring to such an office. It is my intent in entering this senatorial race to strengthen and revitalize the Republican Party, to bring an end to the policy of 'patronage, patronage and profit, and give back to the people the controlling reins of government."

Recreation Activities To Be Shown In Europe

Belleville's 3-D Slides Requested By Long Island Recreation Worker, To Explain Phases Of Play Here

Belleville at play will be shown to several groups in Europe as a result of a letter from a Long Beach resident to Robert E. Cook, recreation superintendent, it was learned this week.

The Long Beach resident, Mrs. Hakon Andersen, a Long Beach recreation department worker, wrote Cook, asking permission to borrow 3-D slides on the town's recreation activities. The Andersens will show recreation in the United States through the slides and at the same time learn more about recreation in the countries they visit.

The Andersens learned about Cook's library of recreation slides through a "Mr. Rivers," executive secretary of the International Recreation Service.

Cook took pictures of recreation activities to show groups actively at play. He said yesterday he is sending the slides to the Andersens.

In a letter from Mrs. Hakon Andersen, an employee of the Long Beach Recreation Department, she said:

"Mr. Rivers, executive secretary of International Recreation Service, has suggested to me that it might be possible to borrow 3-D slides from your department. I am interested in borrowing slides for this purpose of showing recreation in the United States to groups I will be visiting in Europe."

"My husband and I are planning an extended vacation in Europe and although this is a pleasure trip, we are interested in learning more about recreation in the countries we are going to visit and we feel there will be occasions when we will be able to show recreation in the United States through the slides we take with us.

"We will be leaving Long Beach April 9 and returning sometime in November. If you have slides which you could loan us, we would most certainly appreciate them and would return them to you as soon as we return to the United States along with a report of where we were shown."

"As a personal reference I would like to say that I have been employed by the Long Beach Recreation Department for eight years. Mr. Walter Scott is director; Dr. Frank Harnett is assistant director, and Mr. Duane George is administrative assistant, any of which I would be glad to have you check with regarding my intention."

Committee members for the annual Religion-In-Life week conference held at Allegheny University included Gail Decker Howe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Howe, 26 Essex Street, a junior at Allegheny; Marcia Ruth Lambrecht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert F. Lambrecht, of 6 Reservoir Place, a senior, and Mary Elizabeth Whitfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Clifford Whitfield, of 35 Rosemore Place, a sophomore.

Jacob I. Haft, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Haft, of 55 Bremont Street, has been named to the dean's list at Harvard College, where he is studying on a scholarship. Haft maintained a "A" average for the semester. He is a member of the college orchestra and is on the newspaper staff. He was graduated from Belleville High School in June.

MARY FAWCETT: THE WHOLE TOWN IS HER FAMILY

By Regina Smardige

Dealing with the problems in her own family is enough for the average woman, but not Mary (Mrs. Richard) Fawcett, who heads the Family Service here.

A specialist in marriage counselling, Mrs. Fawcett joined the Belleville association in July, and under her direction it has taken on a "new approach" to its function in the community, putting more emphasis on family life adjustments than on financial problems, which she said had figured heavily on the agenda in the past.

Mrs. Fawcett's first job was with the Traveler's Aid Society in Grand Central Station, New York. Since then she has worked with IFA church and child study groups through the Rutgers Extension Service, the Children's Adoption Society of the Oranges, the Montclair Family Children's Society and the Newark Aid Society.

She received her Bachelor of Science degree in social administration from Ohio State University and her MA degree in mental hygiene at Columbia University.

The problems brought to the Family Service range from emotional upsets brought on by visiting laws to adjustments to old age and physical handicaps.

The strains of marriage are the most common problems, Mrs. Fawcett said, and she herself, married for 25 years and the mother of three children, feels that one can't really be a marriage counselor unless she is married.

Mrs. Fawcett studied with Dr. Paul Popenice, a pioneer in the development of the American Institute of Family Relations, and was a private marriage counselor before coming here.

"Happily marriages are achieved slowly, and involve a lot of stress and strain in the process. Money becomes a problem, not so often how much there is, as how it should be spent."

The methods of the American Institute tries to measure the personality differences which often lead to marital upsets, and to evaluate these differences in terms of the two married people.

There is no hard and fast rule for achieving a happy marriage, she said. "There is only a willingness to continue learning and to grow and understanding and holding to a faith that a good marriage is worth having and can be attained by almost everybody who once loved each other enough to promise, and they shall become one flesh at Columbia University."

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gorlin
How Close Can You Come????

Seton Hall University's gym wasn't the place to be on Tuesday night if you suffered from any kind of heart ailment. When I wrote in this column last week about Frank Csaszar's game winning foul, which was scored against fourth seeded Irvington Tech after the final buzzer sounded to give Belleville a 56-55 victory, I called that a thrilling finish but when it comes to thrilling basketball, Tuesday night's Essex County Tournament semi-final between the Bellevills and West Side was the clincher.

By now everyone knows that the Blue and Gold dropped a heartbreaker to second seeded West Side in a triple overtime game, 55-54. It was the first triple overtime game in the nine year history of the tournament. The Bellevills lost in its bid to retire the $8,000 sterling silver trophy but Coach "Jitty" Wische's charges, even in defeat, are the "darlings" of the entire town. At the start of the 1955-56 campaign no one had ever thought the Blue and Gold would finish the season in such a blaze of glory with defeat only coming as the result of a "sudden death" basket in the third overtime period by the highly favored West Siders.

Belleville came closer to defeating the Newark quintet, than any team all season. Coach Walt Bakum's contingent hung for dear life for its 19th successive victory. In order to even earn the right to face the Newark quintet the Blue and Gold turned in two superb performances against Irvington Tech and Seton Hall and came as close as possible to defeating another seeded team.

In all three games Belleville gave the fans more than their money's worth. A first-class college or professional game at Madison Square Garden could seldom match the finish that Wische's boys put on. Against the Pony Pirates the Wischemen enjoyed a brilliant shooting night. Richie Veith received tremendous support from John Bartell, Ed Nichols, Tom Cullen and Joe Prieto. All four finished in double figures as Belleville completed the game with 25 field goals in 45 attempts for better than a 50 per cent average.

In the Belleville-West Side game the climax would even make "Frank Merriwell's" tales seem calm as both Wische and Bakum tried to out maneuver the other. The final three minutes of the regulation game and three overtime periods took close to one hour to run off. Although only a total of three points were tallied by both teams in the two overtime sessions the crowd was in frenzy. Each team as soon as it got possession of the ball layed in a tight "crow" with no opposing player ever coming close to the ball handler. When only a few seconds remained a time out was called and an out-of-bounds play was set up in order to get off the last shot. Twice that happened; one time Belleville failed and the other time West Side missed.

It was in the third overtime period that Veith was fouled. He made the first but the second, which would have clinched the thriller, was no good. Seconds later Ralph Kunze gained the hero's role when he scored the winning basket from the foul line. That one field goal was the death blow of the cinderella five which captured the hearts of non-partisan observers. West Side now goes on to face Orange in the finals and should the Tornados take the decision tomorrow night Coach Lou Spinelli's boys will earn their third leg on the valuable cup and retain permanent possession of the $3,000 award that has been on the line since the tournament began in 1947. Belleville and Seton Hall are the only other teams to have two legs on the cup.

Through The Hoop

Watching from the sidelines and happy not to be involved in the triple overtime was a large group of Essex County court coaches. Both "Jitty" Wische and Walt Bakum sat together during the Orange-Clifford Scott opening game tussle. It looks like the Seton Hall University gym has now outlived its usefulness. The largest gym in Essex County, Seton Hall's doors were closed at 7:15 p. m. as over 3,000 crammed every available inch of space. Countless hundreds of fans milled around the entrance trying to gain admittance. Over 500 student tickets were sold in Belleville High School.

Basketball Conference To Come Before Big Ten

The first meeting of the Big Ten Conference, since the start of the school year in September, will be held on Thursday with Irvington High School serving as host. The last meeting was held in June at Nutley High School as each member school takes a turn. This will be the sixth meeting of coaches, athletic directors and school administrators since the conference was organized.

Although the primary purpose of the meeting will be a discussion of the nearing baseball season it appears likely that the basketball question will be reopened in the hopes that an organized league will be formed in time for the 1955-56 campaign. Last spring the proposal was voted down with only Dave Broffman, of Nutley, "Bitch" Fortunato, of Montclair, and George Cella, of Bloomfield, in favor of adding basketball to the Big Ten program.

Since the announcement basketball coaches have been busily working among themselves trying to rally enough interest and support in order to put across a proposed 10-team hoop league.

The pilots have been discussing the chances of winning out over the opposition of school administrators while gathering to watch games of the Essex County Basketball Tournament at Seton Hall University gym. As it stands unofficially it appears that a strong majority is in favor of adding basketball to the Big Ten Conference which now only takes in baseball. As one coach put it, "We were asked to get every other Conference member on the schedule with the idea of organizing basketball, now that's been done."

Official Scorer Of Essex County

A fixture at the annual Essex County Basketball Tournament is Dr. Hugh Kittle, Jr., son of the Belleville High School principal. A dentist with his own practice in Bloomfield Center, "Doc" always finds time to return to the post-season jamboree. He is now taking part in his seventh tournament. Dr. Kittle was at the desk when the tournament was started in 1947 and has been on the job every February except for a two-year absence in 1951 and 1952 when he served in the Navy as a Lieutenant.

'Cinderella' Club Loses To West Side 55-54 In Third Overtime

By Mal London

After a sterling 72-60 upset over Seton Hall, the "Cinderella" Bellevills lost the heartbreaker of heartbreakers to West Side, 55-54, in the semi-final round of the Essex County Tournament.

The West Side contest was climaxed by a tap-in goal by Ralph Kunze, Rough Rider forward, in the third overtime and sudden death period. The electrifying basket sent the crowd into a frenzy that almost equaled the Belleville-Irvington Tech thriller.

WEIGHTLIFT MEET CONTINUES TONIGHT AT STADIUM

The defeat ended the basketball season for the Blue and Gold. A successful season was enjoyed by the squad. Belleville has the best won and lost record in the tournament's nine year history, and this year was the first time that the team was an unseeded entry.

The squad deserves credit for such an outstanding performance in the tournament. The Blue and Gold played one of the best games of the year. The team shooting average was 55 per cent. Five players scored in double figures. John Bartell led the team with 15, followed by Tom Cullen and Richie Veith with 12. Joe Prieto and Ed Nichols scored 10 apiece. With Bartell and Nichols scoring with drive-in with perfection, Veith and Prieto hitting from the outside and Cullen dropping them in under the boards, Belleville functioned like a college ball club.

Offset Height

The West Side game saw a team with superior height chopped down to size by a fighting Belleville five. The Rough Riders were a buzz saw, but the Belleville defense and fight kept them down. Richie Veith, one of the most outstanding players in the tournament, brought the team back from a seven point deficit in the fourth quarter to a 53-53 tie at the end of regulation play. "Jitty" did score the tying goal on a drive-in with only nine seconds left to play.

The first overtime period, 3 minutes saw neither team score. Belleville gained position on the rebound and scored the first point. The final 14 seconds Veith took a jump shot after time was back in but the ball hit the rim and the buzzer sounded.

West Side gained the tap in the second overtime and employed the tactics of the Seton Hall game. They shot four times in the final 10 seconds of that period, but all failed.

Third Overtime

In the third overtime, a sudden death period, Veith was fouled and had a chance to win the game with two foul shots. He sank the first but his second shot hit the rim and bounced away with West Side gaining possession. Bill Cella, Seton Hall's forward, came down court, but missed a jump shot attempt. Kunze then tapped in the rebound and the Rough Riders into the final.

Few spectators knew the game was over, since no one heard the

Coaches In Favor Of Big Ten In Basketball

Since the announcement that the first Big Ten Conference meeting since last June will be held next Thursday at Irvington High School, basketball coaches have been busily working among themselves trying to rally enough interest and support in order to put across a proposed 10-team hoop league.

The pilots have been discussing the chances of winning out over the opposition of school administrators while gathering to watch games of the Essex County Basketball Tournament at Seton Hall University's gym. As it stands unofficially it appears that a strong majority is in favor of adding basketball to the Big Ten Conference which now only takes in baseball. As one coach put it, "We were asked to get every other Conference member on the schedule with the idea of organizing basketball, now that's been done."

Originally scheduled to be primarily a baseball meeting, most of the court coaches are now requesting to be included at Irvington High School. When the initial vote was taken last June only Nutley, Montclair and Bloomfield were in favor of a basketball league while Columbia was the driving force in leading to its defeat.

Bongo Board Invades Town

A new game has taken the town by storm; it's "bongo board". The entirely new game gives users of all ages a challenge to exercise. The amazing fascination of bongo board is the challenge to better your own record, to become champ of the neighborhood, the same competitive urge that makes golf, tennis and other participation sports so popular.

The bongo board consists of a wooden platform provided with anti-slip footpads on top, and a roller keyed to a track on the bottom of the board. The platform is free to move up and down like a see-saw, and from side to side along the ground as the balancer's weight is shifted.

All you need to operate a bongo board is about six feet of floor space and a good sense of balance. Depending on the skill and grace of the balancer, a bongo board can be rough and sudden as a broncho or as smooth and controlled as the motions of a ballet dancer. A bongo board player measure his skill and is scored by counting the number of seconds he can balance with both ends of the board off the ground. For record breaking attempts or championship matches a watch with a second hand is used to count the seconds the contestant remains "in the air".

The bongo board does not require great physical effort or violent muscular activity. It calls for muscular coordination, quick reflexes and good timing — the same characteristics which make good athletes.

Anyone who has ever skied knows how important it is to have personal ability to get your muscles limbered up before going out on the snow covered trails. The bongo board exercises exactly the muscles and balancing reflexes used in down hill skiing.

Crowd Sings "Sisters" When Tanya, Marlene Play

Res Ames upset the Cascades 28-14 and moved into the semi-finals against the Lescapros, this week in the Gal's League.

Kathy Ventura tossed in a one hand push shot after the second pass of the game. Carol Fredericks took two feeds from Ventura and one from Foberi and layed in 3 easy shots and a foul shot. Bobbi Foberi followed with a two hand push from the foul line, and the Res Ames moved to an 11-1 lead at quarter time.

Joan Postelwate made the single pointer for the Cascades. Res Ames' guards Marlene Greulich, Grace Festa, and Terry Vitale pressed the Cascades' forwards into throwing wild passes.

"Sisters"

Tanya Greulich moved into the forward post for the Cascades where she was guarded by sister, Marlene, and the crowd gave out with the popular song "Sisters". Sister Tanya sparked her team with 4 points from the field. It wasn't enough. By halftime the Cascades trailed 23-7.

Endorsing Barnes Split With County

The schism which became apparent in Essex Republican ranks, last weekend, in a struggle for party leadership between John Cash, new chairman of the GOP county executive committee, and Damon Douglas, new chairman of Clean Government, Inc., split the party here, on an individual basis, when the Young Republican wing of the party in Belleville endorsed the candidacy of Assemblyman William O. Barnes, Jr., of South Orange, for State Senator from Essex.

County Chairman Cash had previously announced that he, personally, sought the re-nomination of Senator Mark Anton who appears to have the support of the elder wing of the Nutley county committee.

Assembly majority leader, Barnes came to Nutley Tuesday, after having announced his candidacy for the Senate on Saturday, and met many Republican Club officials and members at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Tucker, of Highland Lane. At the conclusion of Barnes' visit, Tucker announced his own endorsement of the Assemblyman for the Senate. Barnes said that Barnes had also rallied the endorsements of Commissioner Edgar H. Wright, of the Republican Club; Commissioner Robert B. Anderson, former club president, and Miss Ruth Grey, chairman of Nutley Young Republicans and newly-elected vice chairman of the Essex County Young Republicans.

Lions Found Nutley Flew Too Few Flags

The Nutley Lions Club, which is fostering a "Fly the Flag" campaign, announced last night that a survey of Nutley public institutions, business places and private homes on George Washington's birthday, Tuesday, disclosed "an appalling lack of patriotic interest." The survey disclosed that only 112 flags were flown in all of Nutley.

Town buildings and the public and parochial schools displayed flags, but the survey found that only a small number of private homes showed flags. The survey committee suggested that bad weather may have been responsible.

The Lions' "Fly the Flag" campaign, directed by a committee which is headed by Carl A. Orechio, aims at the massed display of flags on Flag Day, June 14. The committee aims at having a flag fly over every home in town on that day, calling it a "patriotic duty."

CHAMBER MEETS WITH CLARA MAASS HOSPITAL LEADERS

The executive committee of the Nutley Chamber of Commerce was guests of John F. Kiddle, chairman of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital Building Fund Campaign Committee and S. G. Bart, chairman of the industrial solicitation for Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield, at a luncheon last week at Kal's Restaurant.

Kiddle outlined the overall campaign situation and said: "With a government loan of $2,000,000 assured, with the gift from the Rippe Foundation of $1,000,000, and with the thousands of dollars held in escrow from individual contributions of past years, all that is needed now is approximately $250,000 in order to break ground for the new Clara Maass Memorial Hospital in April."

L. Lee Richardson, president of the Chamber of Commerce, stated that the Chamber was behind this final effort, having voted help to the project earlier this year.

Bart thanked the Chamber of Commerce for its civic-mindedness and expressed confidence that with the help of Chamber members, Nutley's industrial quota could be reached.

Also present at the meeting were Archie C. Barba, hospital trustee; George Harris, Jr., Carl Orechio, O. M. Schwartz, J. Wesley Tillou, hospital trustee; James Viola, Fred Young, Dr. J. Warren Young, and William C. Copper-smith, consultant to the hospital board of trustees.

This week was typical of the constant travel involved in Mr. Jernick's career as Grand Exalted Ruler. He lunched in Trenton yesterday with Governor Robert Meyner, returned to Nutley to change clothes for a banquet last night with Hackensack Lodge.

He is spending today, and tomorrow in conferences in New York, flies to Chicago Saturday and flies back for Sunday's installation. Then leaves again by plane Monday.

PARAPLEGICS TO PLAY IRON DUKES IN HOOP BENEFIT

Purpose Of Game Is To Show How Former Servicemen Have Overcome Handicap

Walter H. Wilhelm, chairman of the Amvets committee sponsoring the wheelchair basketball games at the Nutley High School gym on Friday, March 18, announced this week that admission would be free to any paraplegic or polio victim in town, with transportation provided by the Amvets.

"The World War II veterans who suffered amputations and paralysis through enemy action," Wilhelm stated, "adopted wheelchair basketball in 1946 at various V.A. hospitals, and through the years have proved the handicaps that can be overcome with the aid of such methods. The members of the Jersey Amputees and paraplegic teams are all employed and are leading useful lives."

"Their overcoming of severe handicaps has proved an inspiration to many victims of polio and to amputees and paraplegics, and their wheelchair basketball is so popular that national tournaments are held annually before thousands of spectators and countless TV fans."

Board

The letter is sent to the three residents folders. The mayor did not say whether he yet had any approvals.

"A great deal of discussion is being given to the problem of redevelopment, both on the state and local levels. The town is pending in the legislature at Trenton to effect redevelopment in the municipalities. Therefore, I am convinced that Belleville cannot afford to continue another year in its present program of segmented project planning. The town must have an efficient planning board to coordinate the physical and financial aspects of town planning, and at the same time maintain good public relations within the town, and with our neighboring municipalities."

"The state law requires that municipal planning boards be made up of not less than five, or more than nine members, this number to include two elected officials, one governmental official, and the rest lay citizens. For a community such as Belleville, a nine member Board should be created in order to guarantee sufficient representation by persons with the know-how in engineering, estimating land values, both from a monetary and soil conservation standpoint, building construction, recreation facilities, legal processes, and public relations.

"I intend to introduce the necessary ordinance to authorize such a board, and I should like to be able to assure my colleagues that qualified citizens are in agreement, and willing to serve, inasmuch as, it is within my province to so recommend."

"Because of your experience in your field, and your genuine interest in the welfare of the community, I am inviting you to serve as one of the six lay members of this proposed nine member Board anticipating that my colleagues will see this Ordinance. I trust that you will favor me with an acceptance."

Pool

Under the plans of the committee chairman, Ralph Cassie, Recreation Director Robert Cook said the pool will include a bathroom, walk-in, filtering equipment, and may include a play area or recreation department property adjacent to the pool.

Warren Knight is chairman of the finance committee, which will be enlarged for the fund drive, to be held here, probably in early summer.

Helen J. Wondel is chairman of the pool, bathroom and site committee.

The policy committee, headed by Robert Valentino, recommended that admission be optional, either on a season basis or a pay-as-you-go basis. Cook said admissions would be "modest."

Use of the pool would be restricted to residents, but residents could bring guests. Hours of operation would be 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. for children, and 6 p. m. to 9 p. m. for adults or children accompanied by parents.

Cook said students of a history class in the high school will conduct a town wide survey to determine how many actually will use it, reaction to fees, and other subjects.

A morning period during which would be used for such organized activities as swimming lessons, life-saving lessons, water ballet, use by Boy and Girl Scouts.

Under a program presented by Aaron Thaler and Walter Karatz a permanent governing board would be established with rules on pool procedure, including hiring of life guards.

Recreation Director Cook has estimated that an outdoor swimming pool is the town's number one recreation need.

Sackcloth And Ashes

The box wearing sackcloth suits, The roses ashes round their roots, Thus must the profligate repent Silver of midnight, gold of noon Poured from the lavish heart of June. Gently, O spring, unclasp the hold Of winter on this frozen world, Release these captives who forlorn In sackcloth and in ashes mourn, Bestow on them a hundredfold Fragrance for frost and warmth for cold. Restore the lost temporal power Of root and stem, of leaf and flower; With the green spade of a new year Retrieve a fortune buried here.

An Unpleasant Odor Of Fish

There are times when an economy may be a false economy. The discharge of Building Inspector Thomas Greco may be one of those times. Only time can tell whether the reason given by Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith for discharging Greco on grounds of "economy" is true or false.

It would be easier to accept the simple explanation if any Commissioner gave evidence, seriously, of trying to economize in town expenses. Since this one instance of "economy" is the rare exception in this era of swollen budgets, there is a noticeable odor of fish surrounding the unsavory affair. The whole thing, from this angle, looks fishy.

It is a matter of record that Greco, only a few days ago, signed the charges of a violation of the zoning act in the holding of a funeral from the Holmes Street residence of George F. Kiernan. Those charges are now in the hands of the Town Attorney who would prosecute for the building department — if prosecution there is to be.

It is a matter of record, too, that Commissioner Smith was the prime mover in the unsuccessful attempt to make an exception of the zoning law in favor of the Holmes Street funeral home. The ordinance was defeated, but a funeral later was held from the Holmes Street residence, and Greco was fired within the week after he signed the zoning violation charge.

It is hard to reconcile Smith's explanation of "economy" with the record. Greco was paid $4,400 a year, with no allowance for office help. His office last year earned about $5,800 in fees for building permits. It granted permits for $2,300 in new construction, and in Greco's six years of office the annual average has been nearer $3,000,000. In other words, there never was a year when receipts from building permits did not more than cover Greco's salary. Where, then, was the need for "economy" except that Greco had become a costly and impregnable barrier to certain ambitions.

Only time will tell whether this "economy" is permanent or temporary. Only time, and, certainly, the Civil Service Commission to which Greco has appealed on the grounds that the reason of "economy" is not valid, can tell whether it is a good "economy" or a bad one, a real "economy" or a false one.

It's A Grand Old Flag

It's good to know that the Lions Club, an organization of good-fellowship and well-being, is taking upon itself the worthy project, a "fly-the-flag" campaign.

The Club is attempting to show why the flag should be flown, and on what days; and has taken the practical step of offering flags to residents at low prices. No gimmick involved. All members want people to do is to take advantage of their offer, and to show the patriotism and respect for the country in which they live by publicly flying the flag.

Reports to date, the Lions Club points out, show an "appalling lack of patriotism." On Washington's Day, the flag committee remarked, after a survey, less than 50 of 5,000 home here had flags displayed.

It's a sorry showing for the town. The only consolation, if it can be counted a consolation, is that the situation here is similar to that in other municipalities. It seems that the desire to fly the flag is dying out. And more's the pity. We don't hold to "flag-waving" and trumpeting patriotism at every turn, but flying the flag in respect and recognition on our national holidays is a beautiful and worthy practice.

A letter to this paper by a reader shows the honor and the love which one family offered on national holidays. But besides stirring boyhood memories of such holidays, when the neighborhood was gala with the flags flown in front of homes, it underlined one point: the willingness and enthusiasm with which people who came here from other countries, embraced the United States. Flying the flag was one way of saying thanks. And fly it they did.

It's a shame and a pity we can't show the same courtesy.

Too many of us who are born here just take the country and its privileges for granted.

No Sooner Said Than Done

Last week this newspaper plumped for the creation of a planning board here, a department which the Town should have had long ago and one which it badly needs.

Presto! This week, Mayor Isadore Padula announces he is writing to several people whom he thinks will fit the bill for a good 9-member board here. It has to be a 9-member board, under law, he points out, with six members to be appointed by the mayor, and the other three comprising two members of the Commission and one departmental official.

The striking coincidence here is that Mayor Isadore sent out his first "feeler" letters, asking several residents to become members, the very day we went to press. (So we can't take the credit of bringing about something through an editorial campaign when the germs of its inception already are being planted. The tragedy of the whole thing is that a planning board was never created before. Apparently no mayor or commissioners were strong enough to bring it about.)

We urge and feel certain that Mayor Padula will get good members for the town's first planning board. Residents who are approached should bear in mind that the request to serve isn't just a token of civic esteem. The planning board should be no rubber stamp body or any haphazard lay committee staffed with getting their names on stationery. If those approached feel they can't give the time, or aren't willing to work hard on a variety of problems, better they should decline now. They will be hurting the chances of a group which should have an important bearing on the town's progress.

Ouch! Those Conventions

A recent search of vouchers for those members in the educational system brings out a surprising difference of total expenses for those attending the three-day convention in Atlantic City.

It also points up the question of just how beneficial such conventions are to town personnel, be it school system or town government, for the amount of money that goes into them.

Residents who were surprised at the amounts of money spent in convention expenses may be surprised also to learn that this condition is not peculiar to Belleville. They may be surprised even more to learn that the schools convention in Atlantic City is an august convention, compared to the lead-drinking, fast-stepping action at the League of Municipalities Convention in the same city, where builders, suppliers of town equipment and almost every agency which has any dealings with Jersey municipalities, tries to buy good will with free meals, entertainment, and the bottle.

Sure, there's something to be learned at the League of Municipalities, — there's forums and speeches of all kinds going on — but the fact is, (and we're not talking about Belleville now since we don't know about Belleville) they're very poorly attended. Officials in all categories in many municipalities, put in a token appearance at a forum or two, perhaps merely to satisfy their own conscience. It's a three-day vacation, all expenses paid, let's make no bones about that. After all, Atlantic City in the Fall, is a lot warmer and nicer place to be than cold North Jersey. Take the wife and enjoy it.

Residents who are interested in the financial aspects of a convention should also figure in another factor . . . the costs it takes to replace the men who attend with substitutes, and the general leisurely air of town buildings and school systems when department heads are absent. In some municipalities in Essex, there's nary a stitch of work done in those three days. After all, workers feel, and with some justification, they're having a good time; why shouldn't I take it easy?

We find no flaw with the convention idea and purpose; nor with anyone having a good time while he's there. Let him drink all the cocktails he wants to . . . in his off-hours; provided he is sobered enough the next day to put in some time at a few forums.

But the evils which have beset the conventions makes us wonder whether they're worth the benefits derived.

Hurrah for sunny Atlantic City, where the sea breezes (and some municipal officials) play.

Tennis, anyone?

One Man's Opinion

With War Clouds Gathering Over Red China, SEATO Meeting In Bangkok This Week Is Only Hope Of Small Asiatic Nations

By Ralph E. Heinzen

The tension in the straits of Formosa where Red China is stepping up its pressure on the Nationalist-held off-shore islands, points up the tremendous importance to the United States of the first council meeting of the Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty which is in progress today in the Thailand capital of Bangkok.

If SEATO fails, in this first opportunity, to demonstrate strength, there will be widespread desertion of our cause throughout the Asian peninsula and its island appendages and the hand of Mao Tse-tung, the Chinese Communist leader, will be strengthened.

With Red China's small fleet staging training exercises among the islands south of the recaptured Tachien, there can be no doubt that the Communists have aggressive aims. Only a determined SEATO can stop them. In this One Man's Opinion, there is nothing on the agenda of this week's meetings to lead the smaller nations of Asia to believe that if they cast their lot with us we will defend them effectively against Chinese aggression.

Like Falling Dominoes

I find extremely timely and appropos the thoughts which an old newspaper friend, E. V. Shaw, former editor of The Hankow Herald, who fled China when the Communists took over, expressed this week in a letter. If Quemoy falls to the Chinese Reds, he warns, "Formosa falls, Laos, Cambodia, Thailand, and, eventually, Malaya and Burma will fall. In light of this week's Bangkok meeting, his warning, because of his longtime knowledge of China, is important."

Shaw wrote: Since the Second World War we have seen the emergence of two Germanys, two Koreas and two Vietnams. Now it is proposed that there be two Chinas.

All the nations which remain whole after being "liberated from the enemy" are behind the Iron Curtain, satellites of the Soviet Union in violation of the United Nations Charter and the specific agreements made at Teheran and Potsdam. All the nations, that is, which Russian troops reached first.

Our Russian Weak

The United Nations denounced Red China as an aggressor. Its Charter provides for punishment of an aggressor whether a member of the U.N. or not. But what happened? It imposed restrictions on American and Allied forces in Korea which, if similarly imposed in Europe, would have lost us the war there.

What could we have done if, for example, our armies had been prevented from moving one inch beyond the borders of France in the war against Germany, as we were prevented by the U.N. from flying across the Yalu River in our war against Red China? It seems curious that the Soviet Union could furnish fighting planes, military leaders, tanks, guns and ammunition to the Chinese Reds in their war against the United Nations in Korea without a moment's worry that the U.N. "would come in against Russia," but that the U.N. dare not.

Reader Recalls Parents Devotion To Flag

Flying the Flag Editor, Belleville Times-News

I have just been reading the front page story about the poor showing of flags in our town.

When my parents came to this country from Scotland, one of the first things they did after settling in a job, was to save money to buy a house. Next, and by then there were several children, they bought a flag, a big one, so it would fly free and clear over the lower roof of our downstairs rooms.

I can remember how we would each try to get up the earliest; as the one who got there first had the chance to put out the flag. I would try to fly myself to get up at the crack of dawn on a holiday, hoping to be the first, but usually one of the boys was already there, gently unwinding the flag and slipping it into the staff and then watching as it unfolded to the breeze.

On Lincoln's birthday, my son, who is 6½ years old, arose and "unwinded" (as he called it) the flag and with his dad's help saw Old Glory flying in the breeze, high above Washington Avenue. And I thought of my brother and wondering if he was remembering as he watched the flag flying in a far different setting. For he was on the flagship ship, sailing on the first ship of a vanguard of ships, through a narrow strait in Formosa, to effect the evacuation of people from the islands, to a place of our protection. And "our" flag flew in the breeze.

Irrespective of the relative merits of Commissioner Robert Anderson's plan regarding an attempted solution to the tax dilemma now confronting most all the suburban communities of Essex County, it is a constructive approach, too, for the consultative conference in Nutley, so well attended by the many municipal officials delegated to the commendable effort to find a solution to the vexing tax problems of their respective constituents. The approach was bold and inspiring.

Mr. Barbata was appointed by President Eisenhower for one year under that law.

Authorization for the public to serve on the Commission was provided by statute in 1937. Being composed almost entirely of impartial citizens, independent of the Mint Service, the Assay Commission reports to the President any violations in coinage beyond the legal limits.

The object of their meeting is to insure the greatest care on the part of the coiners in conforming in all respects to legal weights and finenesses. The knowledge that any coin may be selected for this check has an excellent psychological effect upon the officers of the coinage mints, which is of great virtue in keeping our coinage standards at the highest possible level.
