

Youth Conference Is Success Story

Juvenile Group Nips Delinquency In The Bud
"Really Lacking Is Parent-Child Relationship"

By Regina Smaridge

Approximately 90 juveniles, usually first offenders between the ages of 10 and 15, have appeared before the Juvenile Conference Committee since its founding in October, 1953, and to date there have been no repeaters.

Attributing this record to the methods employed by the committee, Conference referee Leonard D. Ronco, dapper young attorney, said parents better before the group have been cooperative in all cases.

"We nip juvenile delinquency in the bud, so to speak. Youngsters referred to us are generally first offenders, guilty of acts which, if left unchecked, may lead to confirmed delinquency."

The Conference, set up under a Supreme Court ruling, follows a prescribed procedure in dealing with the young law breakers.

Other on the seven-member committee are John Coy, Essex County probation officer, Mrs. William Long, Alfred DeGrosso, Gilbert E. Howley and Stephen J. Ralozh.

When a complaint against a juvenile is received, it is registered with Detective James Mallack, committee member, and parents are notified of the charges for them to appear before the committee.

If the matter can be satisfactorily adjusted before the committee, with general restitution for property damage usually arranged, the matter rests and the juvenile is not referred to what otherwise would be a police record.

Refusal by the parents to appear in the case must be referred to Judge Howard Lindemuth, of the Municipal Court.

Golden Questions Board On

Brochure; Thomas Says Tacking On Rooms Is Not Answer

James R. Golden, former Commission candidate, argued at a board of education meeting this week that the board was taking the wrong track on the increasing school facilities and should create rooms with an addition to the present high school building.

Golden also questioned the board on its brochure, asking if it had received permission from its counsel to send out such pamphlets.

Golden predicted the school program would result in a 97 per cent tax rise, which he said, added to the 70 per cent tax increase of the equalization board action would result in an added $68 a year for each family with homes assessed at $9,000.

Superintendent Thomas said the point increase would be 74, not 97.

Bare, Thomas Answer Commission Stand On High School Referendum

SUPERINTENDENT SAYS FINANCIAL POSITION GOOD

"Regrettable And Tragic That Commissioners Have Seen Fit To Oppose Program"

Superintendent Evan Thomas this week took issue with the Town Commissioners stand opposing the school referendum.

"It is regrettable and tragic," he said, "that our board of commissioners has seen fit to oppose our school building program unanimously approved by referendum by the board of education."

Thomas made the statements in a meeting of Shaver School PTA Tuesday night. The PTA unanimously approved the project, after his illustrated talk.

"Dire Consequences"

"History is replete with examples of the dire consequences to education that follow the professional political machines' taking over school control that under lay is completely within the province of the board of education."

Town Bodies Split; Smith Speaks Piece Before PBA; More PTA's Approve; Many Meetings Planned

The battle was joined this week over the proposed new high school here.

In the first engagement of what looks like a war of words and figures from now to Election Day, April 26, the Town Commission locked horns with the board of education.

Four of the town's five commissioner came out against the $3,658,635 referendum question in a dinner meeting of the Patrons' Benevolent Association at the Fountain.

A fifth, Commissioner Joseph King, the next day said he was with the program and was also against the referendum.

Statements

personal criticism, Superintendent Thomas yesterday issued a statement in argument, and "welcoming the opportunity at anytime to discuss with the Commission publicly the issues we confront in trying to improve our educational program."

And the board of education, in a statement with the approval of the Patrons' Benevolent Association, said the town's five commissioners with the exception of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde had in a meeting expressed satisfaction with the program and said the Commission now was interfering and distorting figures.

"The citizens of this town decided," the board said, "when they voted for an elective instead of an appointive board, that they wanted politics kept out of their school system. It is time our present board decided."

Commissioners State Many Of Their Needs Will Go Begging If School Voted

Four of five members of the Town Commission this week at a dinner meeting of the Patrons' Benevolent Association in the Fountain came out against the proposed new high school here.

The opposition came to the fore when Commissioner Kenneth Smith a former deputy police chief spoke, after receiving an honorary gold membership card.

Mayor Isadore Padula, Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan and Elmer S. Hyde also opposed the high school, in talks of their own. Commissioner Hyde also was presented a gold PBA membership card at the dinner.

Commissioner Joseph King, not present at the dinner, the next day opposed the proposed new building, reportedly stating the town is in no financial position to undertake the job at this time.

"Says Report Incorrect"

Commissioner Smith yesterday said the daily newspaper's report of some of his statements were incorrect. He took particular exception to the statement that the proposed new high school was the "brain child" of Superintendent Evan Thomas.

However, Smith verified yesterday's report.

Civic Congress Plans Session Thursday; Say Commission Jumps On Bandwagon

Representatives of the Board of Education and Superintendent Evan Thomas will continue their speaking engagements this week before Parent-Teacher Associations and town groups.

Other developments were these: A public meeting has been called by the Belleville Civic Congress, comprising many town groups for Thursday at 8 p.m. in School 5, Adelaide Street and Greynock Parkways, with both sides invited.

"Must Be The Rabbit Ball" Says Eberhardt, Explaining Damage, To Home And Property

A complaint by John Eberhardt of 354 De Witt Avenue against baseballs struck by youngsters playing on Clearman Field and damaging a house he owns next to Clearman Field resulted this week in the board of education's putting teeth into the ban against playing hardball there.

The board agreed to hire a watchman to patrol the field and to put up a wooden sign forbidding all play until the recently planted grass there comes in about a month.

"In the last three weeks I've had three broken sash hinges and got a broken window there Saturday," Eberhardt told the board.

Among the physical needs, are additional general space, such as classrooms, storage facilities, display room, library and planning area, a finishing room, improved shop, and laboratory facilities, gas and

The Juvenile Court, a routine procedure, say this has been necessary here.

"We are not a penalizing agency. We act as a friend of the court, and might be termed a preventive agency. All matters are held in strict confidence by committee members."

First Steps
"Working with the guidance department at the high school, the juvenile's scholastic, attendance and social record is carefully examined, in an effort to determine his background. Steps are then taken to prevent anti-social behavior."

Offenses committed by juveniles fall into the following categories: "Illegal possession of air rifles, or other dangerous weapons, including firearms; acting in a disorderly manner; habitual vagrancy; incorrigibility; idleness; truancy; street acts at night; knowingly visiting or patronizing gambling places; trespassing; tampering with fire alarm boxes and vandalism."

"Idleness seems the chief cause of trouble. The majority of boys and girls come from good families. Participation in wholesome recreational activities is needed to burn up the teenager's energy in good channels," Ronco said.

"Parent-Child Relationship" is in a final analysis, he continues, an effort to determine if there is a lack of religion, or psychological

"As Mayor of Belleville, I hold the Jewish population in high esteem, for in the conduct of their lives in Belleville and their participation in all movements for civic betterment and in their firm determination to help other workers to live in rights and privileges they desire for themselves, the Jewish people demonstrate beyond question that they are the real goal of all thoughtful people, regardless of race or religion."

"If, by simply adding rooms, we can help our overgrown school, I will agree with you. But our seventh and eighth grade pupils are not getting the educational benefits as in other towns because of the facilities."

Thomas also brought out the Columbia survey had taken the town's financial position into consideration, when it made its recommendations here.

Eugene Kelly, board member, said there were 21 rooms which had been considered by the committee which the board could use only for period of time.

Max Schwartz, board attorney, answering Golden on his question of whether the new building, cited a Parsippany-Troy Hills board brochure which was brought up in court.

The court ruled, Schwartz said, that the board must present facts, and honestly submit facts without intentional "selling."

Schwartz said the statistical information is correct; that the brochure was not inflammatory, and that it was up to the board judgment whether or not a picture of a building school, for instance, was inflammatory.

and many of these lives could have been saved if they had received proper education on cancer. He added that the Essex County Chapter's education program has doubled in activity during the past year and more funds are needed if the chapter is to continue getting our message across.

The chairman added that still more funds are needed if the 1,500 women volunteers in more than 100 chapters are to continue making more than 500,000 dressings for cancer patients annually, and provide these patients with home care, medications and transportation.

The crusade against cancer is a fight against death. He said that Hyde, "Parents should know the cancer danger signals and keep a check on their children as well as themselves."

Those who can should contribute their services as volunteers. "The Red Cross is not a charity; it is a service organization. The fight may be carried on to a successful conclusion."

day that he is against the proposed structure and its site, and that a statement by the entire Commission would be forthcoming.

The chairman said as saying that the town's borrowing capacity would be limited for many years to $144,000 if the high school proposal was approved; that this would preclude any future expenditures for emergencies as well as construction of a badly needed fire house in the county isolation hospital area; a 40-hour week for police and firemen; renovation or improvement of facilities to the town hall; installation of streets and utilities for the new Mass Hospital and any new industries in town and quoted as saying the town will be mortgaged for 20 years.

Public Relations
Smith was also reported as saying that the superintendent had a personal professional stake in the proposed high school; that teachers had embarked on a public relations job and that "it appeared police must do the same to better their economic condition; and that if police seek a better economic condition, they must economize in the operation of their department, pointing out ways they could do so.

Mayor Padella was reported as saying the brochure being distributed by the board cited a 54 point tax plan which would be used to show that in 1957 the tax rate would jump 60 points to cover maintenance, insurance and new school personnel.

"Little Prohibitive," Commissioner Sullivan reportedly said he and the other commissioners were not opposed to improving educational facilities, but that he thought the high cost of the proposal was "a little prohibitive for the town's financial position."

Sullivan said, reportedly, that the town had lost faith in the former board and it was his opinion the referendum should be defeated and reconsidered at a later date.

Hyde reportedly said the educational facilities had been neglected for 20 years and the financial status of the town does not permit it to rectify 20 years of errors overnight."

Superintendent

And in a statement on the Commission opposition, Thomas said:

"I feel particularly concerned that the real issue underlying school seeking public approval are being clouded by distortions of fact and outright misrepresentation."

"Clear, calm reasoning is called for in making decisions that so vitally affect the best welfare of our boys and girls. I welcome the opportunity at anytime to discuss with the commission publicly the issue of public approval to improve our educational program."

The newspaper statement that the new high school is my 'brain child' is not a fact. As early as 1936, the Columbia Survey had proposed a junior high school organization for our town.

"In 1950, the Columbia Survey again advocated reorganization to provide for a junior high school, recommended the construction of a new senior high. And as far as this proposed senior high school building is concerned, I was only one of many who were thinking when the planning committee, which belongs to the high school administrative staff, department heads, teachers, our lay committees since 1951, parents, school board members, and the board of education and its staff. These 'brain child' is not a fact."

But we do have the good fortune to have the good fortune that our proposed referendum find our way within our statutory limits. Our safety margin is $125,000 assuming a favorable vote now. This figure will, as the months go by, increase and not remain the same for many years. As our bonded indebtedness decreases, our reserve bonding capacity increases. By the end of this year alone—based on our present indebtedness—it will amount to about $255,000. Now are we unique?

"In a majority report of our state commissioner of education it is stated 60 per cent of the communities asking state approval for a new building plan (220 separate New Jersey school districts) have exceeded their debt limits. The communities not facing this problem are bankrupt as a result."

"Are the children for whom these communities are stretching every fiscal year to provide adequate education different from our children or deserving of more than ours in Belleville? We in Belleville enjoy now an enviable fiscal position, and will do so even after favorable referendum by WPA funds. This is the sum total of what we show in the way of any kind of building improvement. We are proud of this."

"For 27 years we have pretty well marked time educationally by lack of adequate facilities. Over the years we did get the middle school, an addition to the high school of a new gym and 10 classrooms, subsidized 60 per cent by WPA funds. This is the sum total of what we show in the way of any kind of building improvement. We are proud of this."

"The intelligent citizens we are and let educational planning be dedicated by political machines, run by men who in their official capacities need not show genuine concern for our children's best educational welfare. I am sure these men in their non-political activities have the deepest interest in making our town the finest possible for children to grow in."

appointive board that they wanted policies kept out of their school system. It is time our present Board of Commissioners accepted this fact and stopped trying to interfere in school affairs."

Both statements and the PBA meeting are reported in adjoining columns.

The snark that has split the town, was touched off at the PBA dinner meeting. Up to that point one group, the Riviera Park Civic Association, had come out against the proposed referendum because the proposed high school would cost too much.

Behind the news was the report that some Commissioners at the PBA meeting were not aware they were talking for publication. The report was that a news reporter was "blatant" at the meeting and the reporter was another than the reporter who covers Belleville. This newspaper (The Times) was not requested to attend the meeting.

Other Developments
Other developments were: Superintendent Thomas said that the board of education's brochure on the school expansion story was in the mails.

The board continued its scheduled meetings with town organizations. It had written many civic groups asking for an opportunity to give its story.

The Belleville Civic Commission, comprising a number of town organizations, called a meeting for April 14 inviting both board and Commission representatives.

The Bellwood Park Association announced that it was planning a picnic on the grounds of the park, to be held on Saturday, April 18, 1953.

cheduled a meeting inviting both board and Commission representatives.

Richard Shafter, Civic Commission executive secretary, said in a statement that the Town Commission was climbing out from the newly-burying of neutrality. "Only after civic groups began opposing the board project."

Opposition to the program was reported mounting in some quarters, largely because of the "bog side."

Group Pushing

The need for an up-to-date revision of traffic laws has recently been urged at Commission meetings by Thomas Sciarillo.

Chairman Pico appeared before the board of education this week also to offer the committee's cooperation with the board on traffic problems brought on by the school expansion program.

Recommendations
Recommendations include: no parking on the east side of Ralph Street between Academy and Jerusalem Streets and also from 4:30 to 6 P. M. on the north side of Jerusalem Street from Washington Avenue to Main Street.

No parking on the north side of Franklin Avenue from Eugene Place to Watching Avenue during services at St. Anthony's Church; no parking from 4 to 6 P. M. in Franklin Avenue from North Sixth Street to Salter Place.

At this later meeting all commissioners with the exception of Commissioner Hyde, expressed satisfaction with program. Commissioner Hyde wanted more time to study and compare figures.

"At this meeting, the Board of Education also agreed not to have Bonding Attorney sell bonds for the high school project if approved, until contractors bids give the town at least another full year to add to its borrowing capacity."

"Out Of Courtesy"
"The Board of Education did not have to and does not have to have Commissioners' sanction. They met out of courtesy and in an honest effort to improve Public Relations with all parts of our town government."

The Board of Education is responsible to the people of this town and the State Board of Education. When they voted for an election.

per service will be held at 5 p.m. and baptism will be administered. The mediation, theme will be "Just An Idle Tale." The Adult choir will provide special music.

St. Peter's Roman Catholic
On Holy Sunday, at 9:30 a.m., the Easter fire, Paschal candle and baptismal font will be blessed. A High Mass will be offered at 8 and confessions will be heard from 4 to 6 p.m. and again from 7:30 p.m. until all have been accommodated.

Masses will begin on Easter Sunday at 6, and continue at 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12. At the 9 o'clock children's mass, the children's choir will sing traditional Easter hymns.

At 12, a Solemn High Mass will be offered by Father Francis Ignacino, and the sermon will be delivered by Father John P. Hourihan. The choir of St. Peter's, under the direction of Thomas Haney, will sing the Mass and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will follow.

Three additional masses will be offered in the new auditorium at 8:05, 9:05 and 10:05 Sunday.

Montgomery Presbyterian
A duplicate service will be held at 9:30 and 11 Sunday morning and Rev. Oliver W. Chapin will deliver a sermon. "The Resurrection Today." The Junior and Senior choirs will sing.

Wesley Methodist
Easter will begin with a Communion Breakfast under a Communion table with the young people of the church. The service will be held at 7 a.m. to be followed by the breakfast.

Two services will follow, at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Pastor Clifford Hewitt has announced his sermon topic, "Getting acquainted with Eternal Life."

The Nursery and Kindergarten Departments will meet during the early service to permit parents to attend this service together. Older boys and girls and young people are invited to attend the church services. Except as noted, the Sunday School department will not convene.

Board Warning

board of commissioners accepted this fact and stopped trying to interfere in school affairs," the statement said.

The statement was signed by board president Mrs. Edward A. Rochau, who said three board members had concurred.

Dr. Palmer Burde, the other member, said, when called, he had not read the statement. He said, however, "there's no question that we need a school."

The statement is as follows: "At the early stages of planning of the school building program, the Board of Education met with the Commissioners and gave them the information. It is not required to seek the approval of the Commissioners, however, as a matter of fact, the Board of Education is desirous of giving as much factual information as possible to anyone desiring it, the data requested was sent to the Mayor on Tuesday, April 5th."

"The Board of Education admits the fact rate will go up, we have never said otherwise, and in the brochure, which family will receive, will be a chart showing how much, but at least the citizens of Belleville will at last see something for the increase in their tax rate."

"The charge that the town's borrowing capacity will be limited to $145,000 for many years is also untrue, as is the statement that this will preclude any future expenditures for emergencies. Every year the town's borrowing capacity increases, which is the reason the Board agreed to wait a year to sell bonds, so that there would be more reserve in the town's borrowing capacity."

"As for retifying the neglect of 20 years, which Commissioner Adams, overnight, this Board does not expect to do that but we would like to start rectifying some of that neglect this year."

"Out Of Courtesy"
"The Board of Education did not have to and does not have to have Commissioners' sanction. They met out of courtesy and in an honest effort to improve Public Relations with all parts of our town government."

The Board of Education is responsible to the people of this town and the State Board of Education. When they voted for an election.

per service will be held at 5 p.m. and baptism will be administered. The mediation, theme will be "Just An Idle Tale." The Adult choir will provide special music.

St. Peter's Roman Catholic
On Holy Sunday, at 9:30 a.m., the Easter fire, Paschal candle and baptismal font will be blessed. A High Mass will be offered at 8 and confessions will be heard from 4 to 6 p.m. and again from 7:30 p.m. until all have been accommodated.

Masses will begin on Easter Sunday at 6, and continue at 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12. At the 9 o'clock children's mass, the children's choir will sing traditional Easter hymns.

At 12, a Solemn High Mass will be offered by Father Francis Ignacino, and the sermon will be delivered by Father John P. Hourihan. The choir of St. Peter's, under the direction of Thomas Haney, will sing the Mass and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament will follow.

Three additional masses will be offered in the new auditorium at 8:05, 9:05 and 10:05 Sunday.

Montgomery Presbyterian
A duplicate service will be held at 9:30 and 11 Sunday morning and Rev. Oliver W. Chapin will deliver a sermon. "The Resurrection Today." The Junior and Senior choirs will sing.

Wesley Methodist
Easter will begin with a Communion Breakfast under a Communion table with the young people of the church. The service will be held at 7 a.m. to be followed by the breakfast.

Two services will follow, at 9:30 a.m. and 11 a.m. Pastor Clifford Hewitt has announced his sermon topic, "Getting acquainted with Eternal Life."

The Nursery and Kindergarten Departments will meet during the early service to permit parents to attend this service together. Older boys and girls and young people are invited to attend the church services. Except as noted, the Sunday School department will not convene.

Grace Baptist
At 9:45 and 11 a.m., services will be held, with music by the Junior, Cherub and Adult choirs. Rev. Albert Lawson will preach on "Christ Unrecognized." A vesper service will be held at 7:30 p.m.

Belbly Baseball Team Looks Good

It's still too early to tell just how the Belleville High School baseball team will fare once the 1955 season gets underway on April 20 against Columbia, but at this stage of practice Coach Ed Berlinski is openly optimistic over the way the squad has been performing during its first week outdoors. The Blues and Gold, with a veteran squad returning, will inaugurate the 1955 scholastic schedule with a Big Ten Conference game against Columbia. A year ago the Belleville finished in third place in the powerful Group IV league.

With a veteran team back, Berlinski is looking to go all the way. He figures that his two biggest obstacles in the path of the Big Ten championship are Jim Pignitello and Hank Seidel and Nutley. "I am very pleased with the showing of the team so far," Berlinski told me yesterday. "With Joan Bartell back on the mound we'll give them all trouble including Pignitello and Seidel."

"Bartell will have good hitting support and a fine defensive infield behind him. I instituted a youth movement last year and it will start to pay dividends this season. Why, Joe Long will be one of the best shortstops in the state and he still has another year to go. Very few balls will be sent 'Longy' and at bat he will give us the long ball we need."

Berlinski has the makings of a brilliant infield with Joe Prieto at third, either Jim Landon or Ed Nicholls at second and Richie Veith at first. Behind the plate either Jim Apple or Landon will see action. The best part of that infield," Berlinski added, "is that only Veith and Nicholls are seniors. Veith was a standout in basketball and will be just as valuable in baseball."

An unusual feature of the first string infield is that all but Apple were members of Coach "Jitty" Wische's basketball team which lost a triple overtime game to West Side in the Essex County Basketball Tournament.

Berlinski will get a better line on his varsity charges in action within the next week as he plays three practice games. Tomorrow the veteran Belbly plot will get a good look at a practice game against Central. The game will be played at Municipal Stadium. On Monday Belleville will play at Caldwell and next Thursday will take on Hillside in a practice game at Municipal Stadium.

Jim McConnell Presented With Watch

Jim McConnell, former Belleville High School basketball star, played his last collegiate game last Saturday when he was named to the 10 college players selected to represent New Jersey in the annual New Jersey-New York senior hoop game played in Jersey City. McConnell of Niagara University was selected as a starter by Seton Hall Coach Honey Russell, who piloted the Jersey quintet.

McConnell, one of "Jitty" Wische's prize pupils while performing for the Blue and Gold, scored eight points while playing only half the game. He received an engraved wrist watch for taking part in the all-star contest conducted before 3,000 fans in the Jersey City Armory.

While New Jersey was losing, a teammate of McConnell's at Niagara, Charley Hoxie, scored 12 points and was voted the most valuable player for the night and received a trophy.

Although the college players were to be the featured attraction a much publicized high school stand-out, Will "The Stilt" Chamberlain, of Overbrook High School, Philadelphia, stole the show. He was a specially invited player and performed with the victorious New York High School All-Stars. For those who have never heard of "Will the Stilt" he is a mere 7-11 and towered over every player on the court including the collegians. All Chamberlain did was score 19 points in one half of play while passing off for many more points. While under the basket he was deadly as he tossed the ball through the hoop and controlled both backboards.

Oarsmen Open Against Columbia U. On Passaic

With a smile from old Jupiter Pluvius, Belleville's crew will step right into stiff competition when the varsity eight plays host to the Columbia University lightweight team in the inaugural race of the season tomorrow afternoon on the Passaic River. Starting at 2 o'clock the Nutley varsity will take on the Lions from Morningside Heights in a varsity eight race. The second event of the three race program will pit Belleville's top crew against Columbia. Completing the program will be a junior varsity race. The JV's from Belleville and Nutley and Columbia's 150-pound frosh eight will match strokes.

A breakdown in the Belleville varsity shell shows that there will be seven seniors, one junior and one sophomore. The average weight of the varsity is about 175 pounds. The varsity eight-mile race against the New York collegians should be a hum-dinger all the way. Although Bennett has had his squad out on the river for only three weeks, he has rounded the entire group into top condition. Aiding Bennett as the Blue and Gold prepare to inaugurate its 10th season of competition against some of the top high school and college crews in the east is Ray Smith. Bennett inaugurated the rowing sport at Belleville in 1945.

Scheduled to start against Columbia are Gene Hopper, coxswain; Bob Greene, stroke; Howard Taubin, seven; Tom Dolan, six; Bob Lane, five; Harry Reynolds, four; Jack Connolly three; Harry Glass, two; and Howard Irving, bow.

Colonels Seek Belleville Players

Manager Ernie Lantz, of the Nutley Colonels, issued a plea for former Belleville scholastic and college players to try out for the Nutley semi-pro team. The Colonels will be out to defend the championship in the eight-team Essex County League and make it three pennants in succession. All games are played weekends with the 35-game season beginning May 1 and continuing through the summer. Ten Sunday games are listed for Nutley's Park Oval, home of the Maroon Colonels. In the Colonels' addition to defending its Essex County title, it will also compete in the North Jersey League, a twilight organization.

Belleville candidates interested in playing with the Colonels this year can try out for the squad at Margaret Avenue field, off Bloomfield Avenue, in Nutley, tomorrow afternoon starting at 2 p. m.

A year ago when the Colonels went on to capture the Essex crown, a figure in the outfield was Rod Cocetti, of Belleville. Cocetti, who is expected to be one of the mainstays in the nearing pennant drive, batted a neat .345 and finished in 7th place for the league hitting championship.

School 5 Wins Grades Crown, Beating School 3

Sparked By Mike Morano, Open 8 Point Lead And Tuck Away Game On Hunt's 3-Point Play

By Mal Condon

In the Recreation Department's Elementary League final playoff basketball game School 5 emerged the victor over School 8 by the score of 31 to 23.

Sparked by Mike Morano, School 5 opened an eight point lead early in the third quarter and were never headed after that point.

The contest appeared to be one of the low scoring variety as the first period ended with school 5 holding a 3-2 edge. In the second stanza, the shooting improved and both teams traded goals in the first three minutes.

After a scoring lapse, school 8's John Bolacatto hit with a driving lay-up to give his team a 5-4 lead. School 5 bounced back with goals by Morano and Hunt and a free throw by Longo to gain a 12-8 half-time margin.

With Morano leading the way and two timely goals by Hunt, school 5 moved to a 17-9 lead after two minutes of play in the third period. School 5 held a 21-14 lead at the end of the quarter.

Narrow Lead

Late in the final eight minutes goals by school 8's Ed Nevins and Bill Monroy narrowed the lead to five, 24-23. But then, scored with a three point play to clinch the championship and gain the first place trophy. School 5 also received a similar award for their efforts.

Morano was the game's high scorer with 10 markers followed by school 8's Ed Nevins with 10 points.

Both teams had finished the regular season with identical records, 13-1. In the first round playoffs, school 5 defeated school 7 and school 8 had tripped school 3 to gain the final playoff.

'PULLOVER' WILL BE NEXT WEIGHTLIFT EVENT MONDAY

The Belleville Barbell Club began, last Monday, a series of weekly weightlifting contests. Each Monday evening the lifters will compete for supremacy in one of the many styles of lifts.

Monday, the competition was in the lift known as the "Full Squat". In this lift the lifter holds a loaded bar across his shoulders behind his neck and executes a deep knee bend, the idea being to see how much weight can be handled in this manner.

Lifting in the 112 lb. class Bob Sarver won a Club record by lifting 195 lbs. Robert Caselli was the top man in the 148 lb. class with a lift of 250 lbs. In the same class Donald Benedict set a 165 lb. record with a lift of 195 lbs. The 151 lb. class was won by Alio Macchi with a squat of 210 lbs.

In the 198 lb. class Bert Caselli turned in a great performance in lifting 310 pounds. Actually Bert was only one pound over the 181 lb. bodyweight. Bert Cooke set the heavyweight record at 500 lbs.

Next Monday the contest will be held on the lift known as the "Two Arm Pullover". In this style, the lifter lays flat on the knees with the weight extended beyond his head, arm straight. From this position, the weight is then raised, without bending the arms, until the arms are in a vertical position.

DE HAGARA LEADS POLICE MARKSMAN OVER BLOOMFIELD

Police marksmen took the measure of the Bloomfield police team in a match here, ending out a 1,144 to 1,142 victory.

De Hagara, with a 294 including a perfect score in rapid fire, was high man for Belleville. Pindar had a 100-perfect score in slow fire. Cowan and Collins shot 233's for Bloomfield. Ricci, in a practice shoot, had a 266.

Belleville scores were as follows:

Box Scores
	S	R	TU
De Hagara	97	97	100	294
Pindar	100	93	99	292
Singer	97	89	98	284

EXPLORER FIELD SPORTS DAY

Archery, target shooting, fly and bait casting, canoe paddling, rope work and other field sports will be included in a program of events by Explorer Scouts which gets under way May 7 at the Stadium.

Robert Cook, director of Recreation, will be chairman of the program and Explorer Scouts and leaders will meet at the Recreation House Thursday at 8 p.m. to work out details.

Swing Your Partner At DRYO Barn Dance

Fiddles will tune up for a square dance at the Belleville Reformed Church Wednesday from 8 to 11 p. m., under the auspices of the DRYO, youth group of the church. Refreshments will be served.

A special "preview" of the dancers will be held for the younger set Wednesday afternoon from 3 to 5. A comedy movie will also be presented.

Little Leaguers Practicing For Opening Day May 7

Schools 1 And 9 Slated Tomorrow For Riverbank Park; Schools 2 And 4 At Memorial Field

Another practice session for Belleville Little League candidates is scheduled for Saturday morning and afternoon at Riverbank Park, on Main Street, along the Passaic River.

Schools No. 1 and 9 will take the field at 9:30 a. m. under the supervision of Little League managers.

In the afternoon, beginning at 1:30 p. m., at Silver Lake's Memorial Field, Schools No. 2 and 4 will put its candidates through their paces.

Last Saturday, taking advantage of balmy skies, Schools No. 5, 7, 10, St. Mary's and Holy Family of Notre and St. Peter's of Belleville had their Little League aspirants on display. Several hundred young stars turned out for the week-end.

The opening day is slated for Saturday, May 7, with a double header on tap, beginning at 1 p. m. and 7 p. m. for all Little League play to take place in the Municipal Stadium this year, due to the seeding of Clearman Field.

Next year, the Little League will center its activities at its new field.

School Happenings

Spring Concert

The selections of the musical concert this year on May 25 in Belleville High School will be based upon the theme, "Springtime". Dr. Sam W. Peck and Herbert Mattick are planning a new program set-up combining light and serious music into one program instead of creating two different moods.

Mattick's band, and Dr. Peck's choir, freshmen chorus, and Baker's Dots will be in the musical presentation. The final number of the concert will be a rendition of "God of Our Fathers", by the entire band and chorus.

Hear Speaker

Mrs. Clarisse Harlow, an insurance executive, spoke to students interested in employment with an insurance firm after graduation.

The program was prepared by Michael Rosamilla and Samuel Slikin of the Guidance Department. The following attended: Arlene Dunn, Connie Costanzo, Carolyn Gibbons, Joan Kusy, Carol Kirk, Judy Hunt, Jean Kruski, Rose Marie Napoli, Rita Vassonella, Barbara Russ, Joan Vonder Heydt, Jean Demark, Angelica Coppola, Kay Carroll.

CHEERLEADERS ARE CHOSEN FOR NEXT YEAR

After two weeks of trials, a group of eight girl cheerleaders have been selected by members of the co-curricular activities committee under Michael Rosamilla, coordinator of activities in the High School.

It was necessary for the girls to be selected according to their personality, appearance, knowledge of cheers, coordination voice and leadership, the committee said.

Over fifty girls were assembled for the first tryouts and their health and scholastic records were carefully checked before the final group was chosen.

The eight are: Carol Distasio, Sally Kelly, Joan Kusy, Diane Lovette, Peggy McNish, Patricia Pagnelli, Rosemary Ryan and Barbara Wische.

The students modeled hats, dugout canoes, animals and a large steamer. The children also made trees of cardboard and they painted a mural for the background.

Enter Contests

Over fifty students in the high school entered the United Nations contest that was held under Raymond O. Smith, head of the social studies department. Carol Schaeffer and Ann Marie Goli had their papers sent to the national contest in New York City because they were considered exceptional.

Forty students from the classes completed in the Time Magazine current events contest. Winners here were George Manunnes and Robert Drake.

Branch Brook Cherry Trees Now Being Floodlighted

County Park Commission Has Installed Eleven 1,500-Watt Lamps To Add To Beauty Of Spectacle, But Cold Spring May Delay Blossoms Until Late April

Predicting that the annual Spring cherry blossom display in Branch Brook Park, which rivals that of the Potomac tidal basin in Washington, D. C., will be later in April because of the cold Spring, the Essex County Park Commission announced this week that it has installed eleven overhead floodlights of 1,500 watts capacity each to add to the natural beauty of the flowers from dusk to midnight during their blooming.

The lighting will be confined this year to the cherry trees on both sides of the Second River between the high level foot bridge and the road bridge in the park extension.

The commission expects this year's display, because of the night floodlighting, to attract record crowds. On one Sunday, April 20, in 1952, park police counted 155,000 visitors between dawn and dusk. With night lighting, park officials expect as many as 200,000 visitors a day at the height of the display.

This will be the twenty-eighth year of the Branch Brook display and many of the original trees are still blooming. It was in 1927 that Mrs. Felix Fold, who wished the residents of Essex County to have a display comparable to that in Washington, made the Park Commission a gift of 2,000 trees.

Since only that portion of the park between Heller Parkway and Grafton Avenue was ready to receive them, a relatively small group was planted that year in the southern section of the Extension. The rest were placed in the nursery at South Mountain Reservation until 1933, when they were planted in an informal design from Grafton Avenue, in Newark, to Broadway and Second River, in Belleville.

Meantime, the Commission's horticultural department has propagated some 1,500 to 2,000 additional trees which may be seen in the southern and middle divisions of Branch Brook Park as well as in Brookdale, Verona, Ivy Hill and Wequahatch Parks.

The trees are of two types, single and double flowering; and while there are a number of species, the Yoshino predominates among the single blossom varieties in the Essex display. It opens as a pink and quickly fades to white. It is the variety planted around the

Grace Baptist Schedule

Grace Baptist Church activities this week will include: Monday, 8 p.m., Goodwill Guild will meet with Mrs. W. Black; Tuesday, 2 p.m., Women of the church will hold a tea at the Baptist home, Roseville Avenue, Newark.

living several hundred years, and frequently attaining a height of 50 feet with a girth of 35 feet.

In 1886, some 78 different kinds of sakura trees grown by a professional gardener named Takagi, were planted along the banks of the river Arakawa in the suburbs of Tokyo; and, eventually, the place became one of the famous flower resorts, a fore-runner of the Washington and Essex display plantings. Only the Essex trees are floodlighted.

In the third year of Konin (812 A.D.), Emperor Saga visited the Shinsen-en Garden in Kyoto and viewed the cherry blossoms. The flower-viewing parties given by the Imperial Court in later periods are believed to have had their origin at that time. This court function is now held annually at the Imperial Gardens in Shinjuku, Tokyo.

"Hanami" is one of the chief events in the life of the Japanese people, having been given impetus by the Genroku era (1688-1703) when guide books or floral calendars were published telling where and when to see the flowers at their best. Townsfolk, young and old, go out in gala attire to visit cherry groves, noted gardens and temple compounds where sakura trees are in bloom.

Here in America, the Japanese American Association of New York annually makes an excursion to Branch Brook to view the blossoms.

New Jersey Spring

Everyone knows New Jersey springs are slow.
They wrench themselves from winter. They are thinned.
To a pale thread of sun, a blade of wind. They wage a frequent argument with snow. Those who prefer their seasons soft will go where neither man nor robin is chagrined by having too unquestioningly pinned.
His faith to dates. But we know what we know.

Some crystal day, a crocus-spear is thrust against delay. A flash of scarlet wing; Against a squill-blue sky a silver gull; A windflower pushing through the icy crust Of last year's layered leaves — and it is spring — Grudging, and cold, and keen, and beautiful.

Silence Buck Bellows

Milking The Fatted Calf

The Town Commission has shown its hand in its blanket opposition to the proposed new high school here.

The commissions' prediction of a 114 point tax boost because of the new school is exaggeration, pure and simple. It appears that the cost would be around 75 points. As for the "mortgage" of the town, this too is more scare than fact.

But the commissioners are correct when they speak of other expenditures. And by their own listings, they point out the terrific lack of planning over the years and the underlying fact that people have been paying high taxes and getting little for their money.

As Commissioner Kenneth Smith points out, there is a need for a "fire house in the County Isolation Hospital area; a 40-hour week for police and firemen, renovation or improvement of facilities to the town hall, installation of streets and utilities for the new hospital and any new industries in the area."

Take a look at your own town hall, people. It looks crummy, doesn't it?

Take a look at some of the older sections of town. It looks as if there's redevelopment needed, doesn't it?

Why hasn't anything been done for these and other needs? Because past Commissions have been either non-seeing or non-concerned.

What have you gotten for your money, paid in taxes over the years? Why is it that other municipalities, with the same comparable rate, have already built new schools, gotten a 40-hour week for their employees, kept up their town property, put in good street lighting, and done many of the other things so manifestly lacking in Belleville . . . lacking despite the large share of industry here and the ensuing ratables.

Was this school a secret or a surprise? Was the increase in population and in children something happening suddenly, out of the clear blue? Isn't it a fact there hasn't been a single school structure built here since 1928 except for a WPA addition on the high school in the mid-thirties.

Yet the commissions, instead of planning for this day and taking care of their own needs, have gone tripping along, with that inimitable individualistic philosophy of Commission government, "to each his own." And the present commissions, if applying their own yardstick philosophy of "hands off my have uttered a word about the schools problem.

The answer to the questions is primarily the form of government, the Commission form, with its lack of administrative direction and its tendency to confusion.

Looking at the record, the only good derived by the people is when the attainments are coincident or non-interfering with the ambitions of each commissioner.

How about the present Commission?

It showed its feather first when it came out in a blanket fight against the Charter proposal recommendations. Those in power want to remain in power. A law in politics is much like a law in physics: that in motion tends to remain in motion . . . that at rest tends to remain at rest. From the record Belleville has been sitting on its rest.

It revealed its position, secondly, in its obvious reluctance to set up a planning board here. Certainly a planning board would have underlined and emphasized and recommended long ago those very needs Commissioner Smith was talking about, and the pressing school problem. Belleville bears the unique distinction of being the only municipality in Essex to carry on without a planning board. The Commission apparently wants to keep that fame.

On what grounds can the Commission argue that it will do a better job of spending the money than the school board?

One Man's Opinion

Quemoy And Matsu Have Little Strategic Value, But If Chinese Reds Attack Them With Big Build-Up, That Could Bring War

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

President Eisenhower, who know more about wars than any other living American, is frankly puzzled over the problem of Quemoy and the Matsus, and whether or not we should fight it and when the Chinese Communists attack them, militarily.

If the country's greatest soldier, equipped with our best military intelligence reports and possessing more inside information than the rest of us have, is puzzled, why should the Knowlands, the Morses and the other blowhards on Capitol Hill pressure the White House to take a position one way or another? In this "One Man's Opinion," the President's refusal to say in advance what we would do under a given set of circumstances is the finest possible deterrent to Communist action.

The President's puzzlement, obviously, comes from the question of the islands' strategic value in the defense of Formosa. To Eisenhower, the question of a further loss of face and a new risk of being called a "paper tiger" is secondary, as it should be. There is no doubt that if the Chinese Communists stage an attack on the offshore islands which would seem to the man in the White House to contain a risk to Formosa, itself, Eisenhower would not hesitate to move the 7th Fleet in fighting position.

Little Strategic Value

A balance sheet as to Quemoy and Matsu would show that, in the first place, the strategic value of these islands, except as they interfere with traffic going in and out of Amoy and Poochow, is not great.

The second point made in favor of retaining freedom of action toward the islands is that morale on Formosa would be weakened if we said we would not defend Quemoy and Matsu. There are, however, other ways of maintaining morale than by trying to defend territory that is not needed or would be too costly in American lives to hold.

In the third place, it is argued that American prestige in Asia would decline if we made another retreat. But it is hard to believe that communism would immediately sweep still-free areas of South-east Asia if we told Generalissimo

Chiang Kai-shek that he had better draw in his lines a little.

May Fight Alone

In considering the arguments against retaining the islands, firstly, there is a danger that an attempt to retain them by force may produce a major war in which, unless it becomes world-wide and a question of naked survival for the free countries, our allies in the Pacific and in Europe would not support us.

In the second place, if such a war led, as it might, to bombing attacks on the Chinese mainland—even though by some miracle the bombs actually hit only the "pin points" at which they were aimed—we would kill countless numbers of innocent persons.

Would this not negate the multitudinous millions of Asiatics, chiefly the peoples of India, who are ready enough to believe evil things of the United States?

Other Ways Out

What, sort of other solutions could there be, beside war?

It would be possible to evacuate the Quemoy and Matsu island groups as we helped Chiang evacuate other islands. He could then use his men to help strengthen the major defense of Formosa.

Simultaneously with this action or needing it, we could give a new guarantee to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek for the defense of Formosa, and we might induce our allies in the Pacific and Western Europe to join us in this guarantee.

Finally, we might press for United Nations action already pending, to guarantee a cease-fire in the Formosa Strait. If the Security Council would not give such a guarantee—and presumably it would not, because of a Soviet veto—then there could easily be a special session of the Assembly in which there could be a two-thirds vote for the moral commitment of the United Nations to support a cease-fire.

Strengthening Formosa

While this was going on we could increase our aid to Formosa on the understanding that Chiang Kai-shek's Government would not attack the mainland. We could put a force of infantry on Formosa as a token of our intentions to reassure the Formosan population.

The oriental tradition of "face" is not really oriental—it is human. If we say to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek that we and our friends will do our best to make Formosa a prosperous and democratic state, it is again that we will defend it against its enemies, surely we would give Chiang's Government the "face" it needs.

It is time for ourselves and for our friends on Formosa to face the facts. Communist China at the moment cannot be conquered from Formosa, and Chiang Kai-shek should be told that frankly. It would take an army of 5,000,000 well equipped men and 10,000 planes to try such an invasion. Chiang does not have them.

The essential task is to keep the spark of freedom alive on Formosa and to fan it into greater vitality. When that task is over, it is in right proportion the Quemoy and Matsu islands shrink to what they are—inconsequential heaps of rock and soil not worth the shedding of blood or the risk of world-wide catastrophe.

Letters To The Editor

Writers Regret, "Pity" Commission Stand On School Expansion Program; Another Urges City Inspections

Disgust, Pity at Attack
Editor, Belleville Times-News:

It was with a feeling of disgust and pity that I read, in the Tuesday edition of the Newark Evening News, quotes of the Belleville Commission against the Referendum on the High School. I felt disgust because of the distorted statements, the misrepresentation of fact, and above all, the petty and malicious personal attack on our Sup't. of Schools. Such an attack is a commendable one. He has proven himself to be a man of intelligence and integrity, and he is respected and admired, not only by the good citizens of our town, but by those throughout the county and the state. He owes no apologies to anyone. He has piloted our educational system expertly during the years he has been at its helm. He has served his community usefully in every respect, far beyond his call of duty. His faults are no greater than those of his critics, but his attributes excel in many ways.

I felt pity that the future and welfare of the boys and girls of Belleville could be looked upon with such indifference by the men at the head of our local government. "Pity" at the "Operation Town Hall" and operation "Splash" ahead of "Operation Education." What effort, if any, has the Board of Commission made to learn the true facts concerning the need for improved educational facilities in Belleville? And if such effort has been made, how equipped are they to sit in judgment against the word of authorities and experts in the educational field? How many of them know the great number of boys and girls of Belleville who are attending classes in attic rooms and converted storage rooms in the basements of our schools?

Borrowing Capacity

What kind of mathematical mind does Commissioner Smith exhibit when he states that "for many years the town's borrowing capacity would be limited to $145,000, if the high school proposal is approved"? Does he know so little about finances and amortization of mortgages that he is not aware of the fact that interest, and principal decrease and borrowing capacity increases each day, month and year that a mortgage is being paid off? Did he bother to learn that after the close of this year alone, payment on our present bonded indebtedness will increase our borrowing capacity to well over $225,000? If he did make inquiry, he was dreadfully misinformed, or he obviously misinterpreted the facts. If he did not make inquiry, he was dreadfully lax and in extreme bad judgment.

to quote figures with nothing to back them up. If it is true, as Commissioner Hyde states, that our town educational facilities have been neglected for 20 years, how can he possibly justify delay? Also, if it is true, as Commissioner Smith states, that our Superintendent has proposed a school account to none in the country, is that too much to propose for our boys and girls to better himself?

The personal attack upon Mr. Thomas by Commissioner Smith, when he states that our Superintendent's motives are such that he desires to "point to other members of his profession and say, I am responsible for this," can be answered in only one way: Would that Commissioner Smith could point to other members of Boards of Commission and make comparable claims in regard to his service to his town and its people.

I have been a citizen of Belleville for many years. I am a parent, and one of modest means. However, if my son and my daughters are not worth the small sum of the cost of an extra pair or two of cigarettes a week to insure their future, then they are not worth the small sum of a sacrifice is too great for me to make for them, no possession of mine more valued. No investment I make could be made for a greater cause, no sacrifice so willingly would I make.

Service on our school's lay advisory committee, as a past president of School Five P.T.A., as an active Red Cross worker and captain in numerous organizational fund drives have brought me close to the people of Belleville, and I think I can say they want better schools for Belleville's children. Therefore, let us the parents of Belleville and not the politicians decide the educational future of our boys and girls. Let us advise the politicians to sweep their own doorsteps clean before they find fault with other housekeepers in our town.

High School Program

Editor, Belleville Times-News:
It was with deep concern that I read of the decision of the Belleville Commissioners to oppose the proposed high school building program, and I should like to make the following comment.

Time for Decision

The Commissioners chose a Police Benevolent Association dinner to issue statements which should have been made at a more proper time and place. In effect, they were exerting a pressure tactic on the police and their families on parents who were present to vote against an issue which in many instances would be of immediate concern to families having school-age children.

Lost Faith

In effect, it was stated that because of "lost faith" in the former Board of Education, these men would be willing to shelve a school problem which has presented itself time and time again, a problem which still remains and which will become more acute in the near future.

"To these faith" is unhappy; but to allow it to influence future faith is the greater tragedy. To shelve a town's growth because of past failures in human relationships is to admit defeat in man's ability to better himself.

Many people in the past have lost their confidence on one group only to find and renew it in a subsequent group, and go on to greater levels of understanding and success because of it.

I do not condemn past failure, but I do condemn its influence on present and future thinking. Look ahead to your needs for the next few years at the number of grade school students who will be ready for high school, which will be with inadequate space; crowded rooms, half sessions, curtailed activities and then say we should reject this program.

Then truly we will have lost the children's faith in us. For they cannot make the change. They must live by the school standard we set for them, be it high or low. Do they deserve less than the very best?

20 Years of Neglect

It is said by one of the Commissioners that there has been "20 years of neglect" and yet these gentlemen would add yet another, which in my mind is adding to the inadequate system, not decreasing it.

We cannot undo the neglect, but we can start to correct it; and a little here and there isn't sufficient for it has been too long abused. Bolstering up and adding to the older schools while neglecting the main issue is like shooting a rabbit while two hungry tigers stand ready to spring.

Even if the high school were started tomorrow it would be two years before it could be finished. Peak enrollments will be reached in that time. You cannot afford to kick this issue around; and pass it back to the old neglect, and then

It was unfortunate that it was deemed necessary to subject Mr. Thomas to a personal blow. I do not know Mr. Thomas, but I do feel that in such issues as we are facing, no one individual is responsible for its success or failure.

So I would just say it is disappointing to each family each woman who sees her children off to school each day, each man who has hopes for his sons and daughters, all who wish and work for a better town; decide in your own mind the need for the high school.

None of the political or personal thoughts are of real consequence; but the children are. And do go out and vote. Use your citizen's privilege. It's the best investment in the world today.

Phony Reasons

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

The reasons attributed to the various Town Commissioners for opposing construction of a new High School are vulnerable to attack from so many angles that it is hard to decide where to begin.

The unanimous opposition to spending $3.6 million for a High School and the equally unanimous approval of a $74,000 bond issue, indicates a faint possibility that it is hard to decide where to begin. The town fathers have been told what to say. "Listen, boys, kick the big one for us, and you can ride into office next time on the strength of the elementary school additions. The fire house up in Soho won't cost over a couple of hundred thousand at the most, so promise 'em that, too, if you have to."

"Additions Inadequate"

It is obvious to anyone who has studied Belleville's vital statistics that if the referendum for the High School is defeated, the additions to Schools 3 and 7 will be totally inadequate, and that immediate additions will be required for the other elementary schools as well. Even a Commissioner should be able to understand that if the new high school is not built, 1,000 children will have to go to school somewhere else. It's a state law, buddy.

Commissioner Smith's statement that the new High School was proposed solely for the self aggrandizement of the Supt. of Schools and his inference that its cause for complaint against Mr. Thomas is only additional evidence that top quality personnel cannot always be induced to seek office in local government. The facts, and Mr. Thomas will bear me out, are that when he realized that the schools would soon be seriously overcrowded, he proposed the erection of a Junior High School.

"By 1953"

The Board of Education, prodded by a group of interested citizens hired a team of experts from Columbia University to determine the educational needs of the town. Their report, presented in 1950, established the size of the school, its general location, its approximate cost, and the method of financing it. Columbia's forecast as to the fecundity of our population was most exact, but the team of experts did not count on the effect that 25 years of educational stagnation had on our population. They thought the new school would be built by 1953 at the latest.

Lack of a bomb shelter is no reason to postpone construction of the building. There is no bomb shelter in the present building either, and this point does not seem to alarm the town fathers. My suggestion of a tunnel under Belmont Street, while made in jest, would, in fact, provide a much safer shelter at far less cost than anything that could be constructed under a building located anywhere in Belleville.

It is fortunate for the town that the consent of the Commissioners is not required, before or

Big news about

Buick's 4-Door Riviera

THIS brand-new kind of automobile—the sensation of all the Auto Shows this year—is now rolling off the Buick assembly lines in volume numbers. That's the first news.

And the second is just as wonderful—this dramatic new model is very definitely everything that eager buyers hoped it would be.

For the 4-Door Riviera is the first "hardtop" ever available with separate doors for rear-seat passengers—plus rear-compartment room big as a Buick-size family sedan.

It comes breezing in with all the low-lined sweep and wide open visibility of Buick's original 2-Door Riviera—and with luxurious new spaciousness in its sizeable and full-length 4-door body.

With windows down, no posts appear for the rear doors, and you get a completely unobstructed view at both sides.

You find rear doors are hinged at their front edges to swing wide and free, and assure easy entrance and exit.

And you'll find legroom, headroom and hiproom extra-generous both front and rear—with interiors tailored in fabrics and patterns specially reserved for the 4-Door Riviera.

Best of all, this new Buick beauty comes off the line in both the low-price SPECIAL Series and the high-powered CENTURY Series.

With all-out production—and a prompt order—this newest excitement in cars will be yours that much sooner.

*Dynaflow Drive is standard on Roadmaster, optional on extra cost on other Series.

HEART SUNDAY NETS $1,391

The Heart Sunday house-to-house campaign held on February 20th was an outstanding success in Belleville, it was reported this week by Mrs. Elmer Hyde, chairman. 100 volunteers taking part in the one-day drive collected $1,391.38.

The major portion of funds contributed will be used to support activities of local and State Heart Association, with the remainder going to advance nationwide research, education and community service programs of the American Heart Association.

The Heart Sunday plan was adopted for the first time last year and has received enthusiastic reception by contributors and volunteers alike for its simplicity and convenience. Volunteers reported that in some instances families who were not at home had left their contributions in envelopes with neighbors.

Juvenile Delinquency Discussed By Principals

Approaches in meeting the challenge of juvenile delinquency were presented at the recent Mid-Winter Conference of the Essex County Elementary School Principals Association which was held at the New Jersey State Teachers College of Newark. Paul W. Jones, principal of School 3, president of the association, presided.

Douglas McKel, director of Institutions and Agencies, maintained that the real significance in our thinking regarding juvenile delinquency is in the need for community thinking and action which would incorporate a thorough and long range study of the various agencies that are available. "Delinquency is not in an epidemic stage at present, although juvenile delinquency is and has long been a more acute problem than we care to admit," he added.
