school elections.

"We would have to have special machines and a special ballot," she said. "Using the same polls at the same time would only lead to confusion."

Mrs. Rochau believed the school referendum would not go on the ballot before next year.

The board president said Golden was motivated because of publicity reasons and that he should get his facts straight.

Golden is a Republican running independently for the state senate. One of his planks is based on the premise that reforms were needed in election laws governing school board elections.

Replies

To Mrs. Rochau's remarks, Golden said:

"The accuracy of her utterances regarding my proposal indicates I have struck a very tender and vulnerable spot in the school boards' plights to willfully foist upon the people their costly 'tailor-made' school construction project which the people have already delisely defeated."

"My proposal, if implemented by the Board of Commissioners, could be initiated by the town governing officials, not the Board of Education, thus unmistakably providing a legal method of public expression of sentiment governing the conveyance of town-owned property at an election at which the Board of Education would exercise no jurisdiction."

"This obviously is what so concerns, disturbs and irks Mrs. Rochau. She fears and dreads such an election for she realizes a large representative voter turnout will finally seal the doom of her opinionated determination to build 'her dream school in the moor'."

Belleville Headed For Good Season

The 1955 scholastic season will get underway on Saturday with Belleville High School travelling to Martens Stadium and taking on East Orange in the traditional opening fray of the eight-game schedule. According to the schedule, the season is just beginning for the fans but if you speak to any of the coaches they will tell you it is half over. Starting on Saturday the teams will show just what they've learned since the start of practice beginning September 1.

The month of September is the tell-tale period. A coach can tell from pre-season practice just what he can expect when the official blows the first whistle. If the team hasn't jelled in September it is rough once the opposition gets the upper hand.

As for veteran coach Ed Berlinski, he is quite happy at this stage of the campaign. The only thing Berlinski is worried about are injuries. "We'll do O.K. if the players stay healthy. Right now I am worried about my ace quarterback, Frank Puleo. His shoulder has been giving him trouble. If Puleo is sidelined we will have to stick with Harry Glass."

Berlinski is never one for putting himself on a spot by coming out with predictions but it is the feeling of most observers who have been watching the Blue and Gold run through scrimmages at Clearman Field that the Bellboys will be one of the leading contenders to rival Montclair for Essex County honors.

Saturday promises to be a big day with powerful East Orange being faced. Most teams like to open with a "breather" but that isn't the case with Berlinski. The Bellboys jump right into the competition feet first. The game promises to be a thriller with each of the squads being very highly rated.

If Belleville can get by East Orange it will be a major victory and put the Blue and Gold on the right track. The following week Belleville will return home for its first game at Municipal Stadium and will play host to highly regarded Bloomfield.

Observers are happy with what they've seen at drill sessions as the players show 100 per cent improvement over a year ago when Berlinski was forced to play many of his underclassmen in preparation for this season. The word has already gotten around the country and the cry is, "Watch out for Belleville!"

Crystal Gazing

Believe it or not it seems like only a couple of months ago that I was looking into my crystal ball trying to call the results of the weekly scholastic football games, but it has been ten months since the Turkey Day classics were played. During the 1954 football season I came out with a .779 average. The pigskin season is just about here and will be ushered in, in full force come Saturday.

For the next nine weeks this "armchair expert" will try and predict the winning teams in games played in and around Essex County.

Belleville to edge East Orange. That's right. The Bellboys to come out on top. I'm defying the jinx that has been sticking to Belleville. Coach Ed Berlinski has yet to coach at Blue and Gold square to victory over East Orange in the traditional opening game. Belleville has only two ties to its credit against the Panthers. I look for Belleville to enjoy a bang-up season with a veteran backfield leading the way, headed by fullback Bob Paganelli. This game shapes up as the best of the week with the winner expected to battle Montclair for top honors in Essex County.

Nutley to trim Central. The season is just beginning but this opening game against the High Streeters is a crucial game for the Maroon Raiders. The Central game is always used as a barometer. If Nutley can get by the Newark eleven it will hold its own for the rest of the season. If the Maroon Raiders lose to Central, then look out, things will look mighty gloomy. The way the two teams shape up at this stage, I look for new head coach Sandy Phillips to get off on the right foot. Nutley to win by seven points.

Clifford Scott to halt Glen Ridge. The East Orange gridsters will move to victory as the two smaller Essex County teams meet in a free-scoring fray.

West Orange to roll over Irvington. The Cowboys are expected to be one of the powers in the county this season. Irvington has shown coach Mickey Weiner little to rejoice about.

Montclair to down Orange. The Mounties will be playing without All-State halfback Bernie Peoples but that will make little difference as Montclair continues to roll under the leadership of coaches like Andy Anderson and "Butch" Fortunato. Look for Montclair to do a lot more scoring through the air as last year's state champs rely on the expert pass receiving of standout ends Ralph Galascione and Ken Russo.

Bloomfield to squeeze by Seton Hall. I like the Bengals in this fray which has the two teams being a nip-and-tuck battle with the decision in doubt until the final minutes of play. At this point Bloomfield will field a strong line with the backs just beginning to catch fire. Plotting the two teams will be a pair of new head coaches. Tony Verducci will handle the master minding of the Pony Pirates while Paul Bougacz will be at the helm of Bloomfield.

Plainfield to defeat Barringer. The Big Blue will hold their own against City League competition but when they move out of their own backyard its a different story. Plainfield is being touted as one of the best teams in Union County.

Perth Amboy turn back East Side. Like Barringer, East Side will also find the out-of-county competition a little too rough. Perth Amboy will make this effort a winning one.

Passaic to scalp East Rutherford. Passaic has quite a few veterans back from last year and coach Manlio Boverini is looking to pull-off a couple of surprises.

Clifton to blank Paterson Central. The Mustangs will rebound after suffering a dismal season last year. Clifton has a backfield that can move.

Pueo Doubtful Starter In Belleville Opener Tomorrow

Quarterback's Injury Is Question Mark; If Grid Machine Meshes Gears, Look For Powerhouse Here

BELLEVILLE	Pos.	EAST ORANGE

By Tom Cullen

Belleville High opens up its season tomorrow when it takes on East Orange at Martens Stadium at 2 p. m.

From this corner it looks like Belleville by two touchdowns. The Bellboys dropped the owner to the East Orange team last year by three touchdowns.

One big question mark is Frank Puleo. The senior quarterback is a doubtful starter, having dislocated his shoulder in practice a couple of weeks ago.

Puleo, a six-footer in the Blue and Gold pickup machine may be replaced by Harry Glass, another senior.

But the other backs look all set.

Paganelli Talented

Bob Paganelli at full, starting his fourth varsity year, is expected to be at least as good as last year, when he was in the top ten in scoring in the county. Paganelli, one of the best backs around, also backs up the line on defense, and does the punting.

Next to the veteran fullback will be other Belleville veterans. Jim Apple, fast and deceptive will be at half with Chicky Maloney at fullback. Any one of them can carry the mail.

Belleville could be a powerhouse this season. The boys have played twice this week in the past and could mesh into a top gridiron machine.

Here's the way the line shapes up, as the probable starters for the game tomorrow.

At center is Joe Casale; at guard are Pat McCabe and Happy Menargues; and at the tackles are Wayne Worley and Bob Layne.

The boys slowed down their scrimmages at Clearman Field, practice this week, to take time off for the East Orange game. Eddie Berlinski has been coaching the backs and Jimmy Wische the linemen.

More Good

The team moved the ball good against some of the clubs it has faced in practice sessions.

In defense, Coach Berlinski is bringing Bill Bartel into the line, repeatedly. He also has another sophomore blocker in six foot four George McMahon. McMahon and Bartel both tip the scales over the 200-mark.

For the next nine weeks this "armchair expert" will try and predict the winning teams in games played in and around Essex County.

LITTLE LEAGUE LINEUP...Rarin' for a go at the pigskin are 40 boys in the first Little League football activity to be held here.

The youngsters were selected in tryouts this week by Recreation Director Harold Brand, right, rear. Some of the lads, big for their age, were included in a heavyweight division. There are four divisions in all.

Kids Are Bigger

This is what Men Find Out Who Are Running Little League Football Here

They're growing the youngsters bigger in town these days.

This is what Recreation Superintendent Robert Cook, and the men running the first Little League football here, found out in the call for players from 10-12 years old.

Seems like some of the kids' weigh as much as 140 pounds, despite their ages.

So Cook has set up a sort of "heavy" team for the bigger boys, a team which will include games with Fairview and Maplewood.

There's still several more players needed on the teams, particularly in the heavyweight group.

PS Opens "Park-Ride" Lot To Ease Newark Traffic Jam

Nutley Motorists Will Be Able To Park At Second River And Ride Bus To Newark For 40-Cent Charge

A "park-ride" parking lot on the outskirts of Newark, for Nutley and Belleville commuters, with express bus service to the downtown business section will be opened today by Public Service Coordinated Transport in an effort to speed up bus service by reducing automobile congestion during the morning and evening rush hours. This will be the first perimeter parking-bus ride service in the area.

The company plans to sell a combination 40-cent ticket, at the lot, which includes the daily parking charge and one round-trip bus fare to downtown Newark on any of the Public Service routes passing the lots. Motorists will park their own cars but watchmen will be provided from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m. The lot will be open Mondays through Fridays, except on major holidays.

The parking lot for Nutley and Belleville motorists, with a capacity for 150 automobiles, will be located on McCarter Highway at the Second River, near the Belleville-Newark city line.

From the McCarter Highway lot, express buses will leave for downtown Newark every six minutes between 7 A.M. and 9 A.M. and reach the Broad and Market intersection in less than 15 minutes. They will operate by way of bus route 18 to points along Broad Street from Clay Street to Lincoln Park.

Additional "Park-Ride" express service will be available by way of route 111 to the Pennsylvania Railroad Station and by way of bus route 106 to the Public Service terminal.

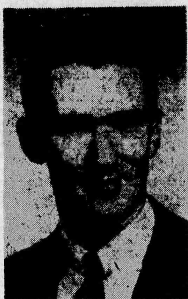

Between 4:15 and 5:40 P.M., route 13 Broad Line "Park-Ride" express buses will leave Lincoln Park approximately every six minutes, making all local stops along Broad Street in the downtown area for those going to the McCarter Highway "park-ride" lot.

In addition, route 111 special buses will operate from Pennsylvania Railroad Station at frequent intervals. From points along Broad Street north of Raymond Boulevard, riders may take either route 13 or route 111 "park-ride" express buses.

The "park-ride" buses to and from the McCarter Highway lot will be identified with a blue flag with "park-ride" in white letters. The flag will be on the front right corner of the bus near the route sign.

ROBERT REILLY TO LEAD "MARIANS"

Young Man Named President Of St. Mary's Senior C. Y. O. Association

Robert Reilly

The senior C.Y.O. of St. Mary's Church met last Thursday evening to elect its officers and select a new name for the club, for unmarried young men and women of 18 and above, and their friends. Robert Reilly, of 7 Tennis Place, was named president.

BETHANY DEDICATION . . . of the cornerstone for the new parish house is read by Rev. T. Painter Hanson, pastor. Rev. Edwin Knudsen, president of the New Jersey Synod of the United Lutheran Church, who was the guest preacher, stands at Rev. Hanson's right.

Assisting will be Paul Wasdye, of 8 Tremont Street, Belleville, vice-president; Jean Watts, of 40 Melrose Street, corresponding secretary; Joyce Meskill, of 117 Alwood Road, Clifton, recording secretary and Hank Russell, of Marlinton Court, treasurer.

Rev. Seymour B. Everett, moderator of the club, and the members have chosen the name "Marians" to identify the organization. Two delegates to the Essex county C.Y.O. Senior Council were also elected, Margaret Guider, of Manhattan Court, and Tom Masterson, of 12 Floyd Street, Belleville, will represent the Nutley organization. Meetings are held on Thursday evenings and are open to members of the "Marians" group and all young people of the area.

It takes a BOXCAR LOAD OF MONEY

Yes, if your New Jersey Railroads paid their New Jersey taxes in dollar bills, it would take a boxcar to hold them all!

More unusual than taxes being paid by the boxcar load, is the fact that this $19,000,000.00 tax is $11,000,000.00 more than the railroads, as a group, earned last year in New Jersey by moving vital necessities to New Jersey residents, helping to make it possible for New Jersey people to work.

And add this situation to the fact that:

... New Jersey railroads risk penalty taxes for any improvement they might make for customer convenience and comfort.

... If other states adopted New Jersey's taxation methods, there'd be no railroad tax problem—all railroads would go bankrupt—then far government ownership—and pay no taxes at all.

... New Jersey tax laws keep the railroads from doing what the public wants them to.

A fair solution to this unfair taxation is important not only to the railroads but to the welfare and future progress of every New Jersey community.

You can help—by being a well-informed citizen and speaking your mind on what needs to be done to get tax law play in New Jersey. You'll find the facts in "Facts on Tracks." Just write: Railroad Information Bureau, 11 Commerce Street, Newark 2, New Jersey.

Departure

Soon Lady Summer will embark
Upon her sure and destined way;
The falling leaves, the bright-hued flowers
Will mark the place where she did stay.
And time will shorten sunlit hours,
The birds will pack their songs for flight;
While blossoms sadly bow their heads
In fond farewell to summer bright.

Adult School Good Sign

It's good to see the continuation of Adult School here after a lapse of several years.

Judging from the number of responses so far, and the interest shown in the activity, the Fall term of the school will be off to successful start.

There are all sorts of courses offered, from a good practical course in first aid to such a good hobby course as playing golf.

You can learn the art of playing bridge, writing a business letter, learning to operate business machines, doing a memo, using a cross-cut saw, taking temperatures, upholstering a chair, speaking a foreign language or two, writing shorthand, typing, sewing, painting, working with leather, speaking before groups.

You can learn how to drive a car, apply psychology in daily life. It's all there for the applying . . . courses encompassing many activities and drawn up on the premise of offering to the people the studies they want to learn.

Adult education today is attracting thousands everywhere back to the classroom, people who know there's fun in participating and at the same time learning something of interest or value.

Here's a boost to the Belleville Adult School, and to the people who make it go.

Senator Anton Should Withdraw

The case of Senator Mark Anton, already darkly stained by his vote in support of night horse-racing against all the principles of decency and public interest and spotted by his confession of last week that the November election is being fought over a mess of "nice, juicy patronage plums" which he would deny to the Democrats, became hopelessly mired by the stupidity of his in-and-out role in the illegal International Longshoremen's Association strike.

Senator Mark Anton should withdraw immediately as the candidate of Essex County Republicans for re-election to the State Senate. He is not a good Republican nor is he either a fit Senator nor a wise leader.

Anton is not the least bit representative of Essex Republicanism, nor has he, by his vote on the night hawk nags or his acceptance of a seat on a shadowy "citizens committee," thought up hastily as a formula to get the I.L.A. off the waterfront hook and keep its nefarious leaders out of prison where contempt of the Supreme Court certainly would have sent them had they not found such a face-saving way out, served Essex County, the Republican Party or his own cause well.

It is not too late for Anton to read himself off of the Republican ticket, in the general interests of both the rest of the G.O.P. slate and the chances of the party saving its majority rule here in the county and in the state legislature. Senate President Bruce A. Wallace, the Camden Republican, showed him how to do it only a week ago when, eight weeks before the election, he withdrew without even telling State Chairman Sam Bodine about it.

The legal deadline for vacating a Senate nomination is September 29, so there still is time. The Essex Republican leadership should weigh carefully whether it can win with Anton. There is no risk involved if he withdraws. The State Senate stands Republican, 17 to 4, today. The peril is in the Assembly. If the Republicans lose Essex County's 12 seats, it is conceivable that the Republican party could lose the majority for the first time since 1936.

The global risk is too great. Anton is not worth it. He should withdraw to save New Jersey for the Republican party.

R. E. H.

William O. Barnes, Anton's opponent in the April Primary, recently proclaimed, on the occasion of a hatchet-burying "peace" dinner, that the November election will be decided between "Democratic promises and the Republican record." That's just what we are afraid of. The Republican record, as translated by Anton's personal record, is bad, very bad. No independent Republicans, and that means the majority of Belleville Republicans, can vote for the Republican ticket in November on Anton's record. If they do vote for the Republican ticket, they will do it in spite of Anton's record.

It is no secret that Clean Government Republican leaders, in their ivory tower in Newark, were aghast at Anton's stupidity in getting caught in the I.L.A.-Waterfront Commission battle. He did not even consult them. They learned of it when they read it in the newspapers. Assessing the damage done to the G.O.P. cause by Anton's mistakes, the leaders came to the conclusion that he had to get off the citizens' committee before he would completely ruin his party's already slim chances of retaining control of Essex County government and the State Assembly in the November 8 election.

Anton, castigated by Governor Meyer for his "heedless and questionable intervention" and by his November opponents, Donald C. Fox, Democrat, and James Golden, Independent Republican, for entering the waterfront dispute without legislative or party executive sanction, could but concede to the fears of the Clean Government leaders. He quit the phony "citizens committee." He should have quit the Essex Republican ticket at the same time.

Hardly less stupid than his initial mistake was Anton's attempt to glorify his action. The I.L.A. handed a face-saving way out by the creation of the nonexistent committee, promptly ended the strike. Anton, glibly, claimed the credit for ending the strike. "Now that the strike has ended and the ports have been reopened, I feel that my usefulness has ended," he proclaimed.

Such a premise is based on deception. Had he meant, all along, to deceive the I.L.A. by accepting a seat on a citizens committee which promised to hear labor's grievances as a sort of super-chamber over and above the legally constituted bi-state Waterfront Commission and which he scuttled without hearing any grievances, the moment the strike ended? That would have been dirty deception, even to an organization as ridden with gangster leadership as the I.L.A. Could Anton really have intended such deception?

Anton has dealt the Republican party and its county and state ticket a near-fatal blow. For once he should waive his own selfish private interests in favor of the greater interests of a party which is fighting to retain control of county and state government. He should quit now while there yet is time to pick and to elect a capable man for his seat in the senate, a man with a clean even if void record. The only alternative, it would seem to us, is to risk almost certain defeat in November. R.E.H.

Separating The Men From The Goats

It was inevitable that the Good Government Republicans who fought the county GOP machine, its men and methods, its policies and promises, in the April Primary could not continue to support the Anton-Magee ticket without getting some of the reforms which had been promised a fortnight ago under the influence of good fellowship at a hatchet-burying dinner at which the candidates of both the Anton-Magee and the Barnes tickets sat down together.

None of the promises was kept. There were no reforms of county leadership. The Good Government Republicans were kept in the dog-house. The "old pros" waxed fat on their "nice, juicy patronage plums" — Anton dixit.

The declaration of non-support of Anton, published today, will serve to separate the men among the Good Government forces from the sheep — and the goats.

Not all those who ran on the Barnes ticket last April will sign the declaration. Some have already shamelessly prostrated themselves and confessed their sins, denying truths in the process, hopeful, doubtless, of being allowed to dip into the basket of plums. But the good Republicans among them who had the true welfare of the party in their hearts when they ran as a reform ticket in the Primary will make it clear that after the vote on night horse-racing, after the broken promises, and after the unfortunate meddling in the dock strike, they cannot continue to support Anton.

One Man's Opinion

Russians Now Knows The Terms Of Peace In Europe And They Involve A Restoration Of A Strong Germany

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

The lines between Germany and Soviet Russia are clearly drawn. Germany will settle for nothing less than its reunification and the phony eastern border between Germany and Poland must be moved back eastward to its pre-war location. Since there can be no European peace without a settlement of Germany's claims, Chancellor Adenauer and the Bonn government can afford to wait. The longer it delays in making a permanent settlement, the more it will cost Moscow because a precarious peace along the wholly artificial Polish border can be preserved only at the cost of constant vigilance and that means the massing of many Communist divisions in the West.

It was a tribute to Adenauer's loyalty to the Atlantic position that he did not inch from our established position. He made it clear to Moscow that Germany was not begging for peace. He laid down the basic conditions upon which that peace would be possible. He made it doubly clear that he did not recognize the Communist puppet government of East Germany as he made it clear that Germany does not accept Russia's present possession of half of East Prussia or Poland's annexation of the eastern German provinces.

That Moscow took special pains to announce last week-end, within a week of the Bonn Chancellor's departure, that it rejects Adenauer's two reservations does not change anything. Germany's diplomatic action is long-range action, knowing well that time and the increasing strength of the Western powers will force Russia, in time, to concede.

Basic Of Dispute

Adenauer's two reservations, which the Kremlin tried to say are unfounded were these:

1. That the establishment of diplomatic relations did not imply the surrender of the West German Government's claim to speak for all the German people.
2. That it also did not imply recognition of the present borders of Germany and that final determination of the boundaries should be left to a peace treaty between Germany and her former enemies.

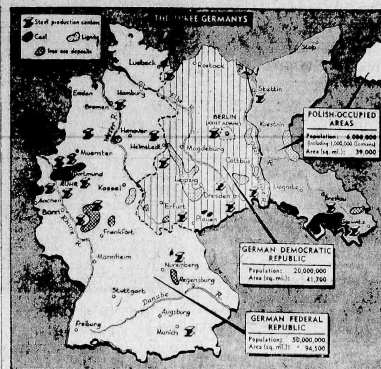

Russia's official statement, in announcing the dual rejection, that the borders of Germany were fixed by the 1945 Potsdam Agreement, in which President Truman and Clement Attlee sat with Joseph Stalin after the death of Roosevelt and the electoral defeat of Churchill, is as phony as is the Polish border itself, based on nothing historical, ethnic or national but imposed on a prostrate ungoverned Germany by an occupying Red army.

What Records Show

It is a matter of historical record that both at Yalta and at Potsdam, the Russians, the British and the Americans agreed to leave the conference of Poland's western borders to the peace conference. Such a peace conference never has been held and there is no longer talk of a peace treaty for Germany.

I can but turn, once again, to two of the men who took direct part in both conferences, Yalta, and Potsdam, and who left voluminous printed reports — Admiral William Leahy who was Ambassador to France in Vichy when I was there, prior to my arrest and internment in Nazi Germany in mid-war, and Churchill.

Leahy's record informs us that Stalin agreed at Potsdam, on July 31, 1945, at the longest of the 18 plenary sessions, that the "final" western border of Poland, the eastern border of Germany, would be fixed in the peace treaty.

"The Germans have fled and there is no one left to plough the wheateads or mine the coal except Poles. Poles must administer in that area the German population has abandoned. This does not commit us to any particular boundary and if this conference cannot agree about one, it can remain in suspense."

Displacing Eight Million Churchill argued with Stalin that the area west to the Oder-Neisse line contained one-quarter of Germany's arable land and that more than eight million Germans lived there.

"The eight and a quarter million Germans who have fled are war criminals," Stalin retorted warning to us in the affairs of Germany. Khrushchev, Communist secretary, said pitreously that those who wait for the Soviet Union to abandon Communism must "wait until a shrimp learns to whistle."

Since there are no known whistling shrimp, we must look for no drift away from Communism. In clear words which should be a warning to us in the affairs of Germany, Khrushchev expressed complete confidence that in the struggle between Communism and Capitalism, victory will go to Communism.

That explains why the Kremlin is maneuvering smartly this week. One of its most successful moves is to give equal diplomatic recognition to West and to East Germany. By giving East Germany the same sovereignty status now enjoyed by West Germany, Moscow confirms the co-existence of the two Germany and reaffirms its own intentions to divide and rule Germany from within.

Since as the loquacious Mr. Khrushchev has said, the Soviets have by no means abandoned their goal of a Communist world and still expect to triumph even without a war, the next, big step toward their victory is to take the "peaceful" conquest of Germany.

To that end they seek to "legalize" the partition of Germany into two "sovereign" states, and then to take German unification out of the hands of the West and compel Adenauer to negotiate for unification with the East German puppets on Soviet terms. That is why they have staged two rival conferences with both the West and the East Germans and have rejected Adenauer's claims to speak for all Germany, already urging the West to accept the idea of "two Germany" and to concentrate on European security.

At first view it would seem that the Russians have succeeded in complicating the Western task. The traditional appeasement and neutrality elements in Europe are already urging the West to accept the idea of "two Germany" and to concentrate on European security.

"Feast" Committee Replies To Marra; Vet's Post Writes; Ex-Mayor Says Businessmen Have Tried For Off-Street Parking Repeatedly; Other Letters

On "Feast" Games
Editor, Belleville Times-News:
The charge by Joseph Marra that the recent festival of St. Bartolomeo permitted games of chance with no objection by the Police is absolutely false. The work of Deputy Chief Bush and Captain Scott with their fellow officers was indeed a very fine piece of police protection. Especially in view of the fact that in spite of thousands of people and a fireworks display the same area, not one unpleasant incident occurred during the entire two days.
This "feast" has been conducted almost annually for the past thirty years, under the auspices of a committee chosen from the Society of St. Bartolomeo. They all serve voluntarily and all the money collected is used to defray expenses. No profit is realized for either the Society or the Committee.
Mr. Marra has been a chronic headache to the committee running the "feast" for years. Every year he has a stand at a choice location. This year he wanted the most advantageous position and then insisted that the committee eliminate all competition or else establish a price control on all others who sold the same product. Of the 52 stands mentioned by Marra, only 7 had games of skill, all others sold refreshments or novelties. Each stand that operated a game was personally checked by Deputy Bush and the committee before being permitted to open. None had wheels or other devices that operated on chances. Marra's charge without substantiative evidence is decidedly unfair to the Police Department and Commissioner Sullivan. In justice to all concerned Mr. Marra should publicly apologize for these indiscreet remarks.

The leopard changed its spots, the missionary ate the cannibals, the heroine tied the villain to the railroad tracks, and the Town Commission is going to help the Board of Education build a school. Do you really believe any of this? Neither do I.
The suggestion that two questions be put on the ballot when the "Italian American Veterans Barbone Mosco Post No. 7" came to our club (Amvets) with some of the members and made these accusations.

The names of the Amvet or Amvets responsible for supposed-perpetrating a plot to kill off this festival by telling a commissioner or commissioners or other person or persons, is telling us who he or they were? We honestly believe you owe us an apology for your actions. We would like to add that we would hope to remain friendly with all veteran organizations as in the past.

On New High School
Editor, Belleville Times-News:
As an interested citizen of Belleville it is disturbing to learn that in spite of the people defeating the school board proposal for a new high school in area of the hog site, they are now discussing another referendum on the same subject.
What is this, an endurance marathon where they keep holding referendum until the school board can get its way? The school now again owns the property. The commissioners should respect the mandate of the people which was voiced at the last referendum of the school issue. If the board of commissioners feel they haven't the courage to take a firm stand themselves on the school issue, they should find out the public sentiment on this important matter. The commissioners should vote at the next town meeting to put this important question on our next general election, to be held this November coming, whether the majority of the citizens of Belleville want this new high school. The board of education members are trying to put this issue at a school election where there won't be so many people voting at the schools.
I feel it takes the majority vote to elect our town commissioners, and it should be the same when we have to decide to spend the taxpayers' money on such an important issue as this new proposed high school, and where it should be built.
I strongly urge that the members of the board of education who were appointed by former mayors, resign from the board of education. The member who was elected should remain. Let us elect the balance of the members; maybe then we may get members on the board that will not squander the taxpayers' money as this board is now doing on architects and test boards on grounds that the board of education doesn't own.

LETTERS To The Editor

On Off-Street Parking

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

This letter is written in answer to your editorial, captioned "Business Losing Out," in the September 16 issue.

I have read many amusing articles in your newspaper since my termination in office as Belleville's Mayor, but none so amusing as the one which carries the theme that if a Chamber of Commerce had been in existence some years ago, it would have fought for off-street parking lots in the major business centers of Belleville. And that it would have had something to say about parking meters, their installation without a referendum, etc., and that one of the first problems to be studied is the question of why the town is losing out in business volume. Last, but not least, you state, and I quote, "It is they (meaning Belleville's businessmen) who must join together and set to bring Belleville business up-to-date from its hoary and hoary past. There is need for leadership."

I realize you were not editing the Times-News, and I am proud of my term of office, but nevertheless, your editorial, I assume, is prompted by the news of your newspaper or it wouldn't appear in print.

However, I believe if you were aware of the efforts of Belleville businessmen and in particular, of the efforts of one Arthur E. Mayer, realtor and president of the Chamber of Commerce here, as well as myself, in our fight to have off-street parking areas in Belleville, your editorial would have carried a different theme.

Mr. Mayer acquired the signers of all property on the east side of Washington Avenue between Rutgers Street and Belleville Avenue with the exception of one, stating they would agree to sell the town the rear 50 feet of their property for an off-street parking area, as did residents of Valley Street. This would have provided off-street parking for 100 cars.

When this groundwork was completed an ordinance was prepared by our Town Council under my supervision to purchase the land, grade, black top the area and install parking meters. (The parking meters which were manufactured in Washington Avenue were to be taken out and moved to the off-street parking area at very nominal expense.)

The total cost under this ordinance was to be floated by a bond issue over ten years and the annual income from the parking meters was to pay the annual amortization and interest on the bond with no effect on Belleville's tax rate.

Not only did the Belleville businessmen in the area come out in full force in support of it, but they had 2,000 citizens' signatures on a petition. The ordinance was defeated by the town commission 4 to 1. And I might add that the Times-News had no comment to make at that time in support of off-street parking.

No, Mr. Editor, it isn't that businessmen do not know they should join together; they do;

Parkway Honor System Trusts Motorists In Dark

Just Drop Your Quarter Or Dime In Toll Boxes
At Watching Avenue And Route 3
Intersection Ramps

The honor system for Belleville motorists using the Garden State Parkway was extended this week to the northern metropolitan area of the new toll road. The honor system went into effect at midnight last Sunday at the Watching Avenue and Route 3 interchange ramp toll stations for the midnight to 6 a. m. shifts only.

Under the system, motorists are now put on their honor to pay tolls at the ramp stations. No human collectors are in attendance. The motorist is asked by posted signs to deposit his fare in a receptacle attached to the toll booth.

The electronic toll counter of vehicles passing through the toll lanes continues to function, in that, Parkway authorities can figure how many motorists cheat.

"If we find general abuse of the system at the two new locations, State Police will be instructed to make spot checks there in order to get better compliance," D. Louis Tonti, acting executive director of the Highway Authority, told The Times-News.

"However, our experience with the honor system leads us to believe that there will be little or no abuse."

The system has been employed with good results at ramp toll stations in southern areas of the 264-mile Parkway. For the most part, the system is limited to the 10-minute shifts from midnight to six when traffic is comparatively light.

A comparison of the treacherous count of vehicles and the receipts in the depository receptacles has shown that better than 60 percent of the motorists observe the honor system. The missing 40 percent includes State Police, maintenance and other official Parkway vehicles which are permitted to pass free of charge anyway.

Some of the signs across the Parkway toll plazas has the honor-but they have been to the well too often and been disappointed.

If your newspaper wants off-street parking for Belleville then let it be in your officials for the businessmen and its citizens. The property is still available and the honor system and petition are certainly still a matter of record.

I write this letter with nothing more than a citizen's civil interest in the affairs of Belleville as a taxpayer citizen and businessman, and with no intention of entering the official arena in the next election.

I leave you with this thought: Belleville businessmen have been joined together, as you put it, many times, but they need your help and the help of a town governing body to have off-street parking. Why don't you help them get it?

James J. Tully

Editor's Note: Without a planning board, something which Belleville has never had, the only way to get off-street parking in Belleville would be by the businessmen themselves, despite past rebuffs and disappointments. For as far as this paper is concerned, at least in the past year, it has stated editorially and in petition off-street parking. It appears that this might be a sound campaign issue, two years hence.

Mrs. Garthwait Attends Women's Group Meeting

The executive council of Women's Service Clubs of Essex County held its first meeting September 12, in the Public Service building library in Newark, as "outstanding woman of Essex County for 1955-56."

Prizes were awarded children who participated in games and contests. Music was provided by an orchestra.

Commissioner Smith thanked people for attending and congratulated Jerome Seidel, outgoing chairman, and Arthur Hester and Ralph Risoli, co-chairmen, and their committees.

Joseph Jordan

Joseph Jordan, of 25 Nilton Street, died after a brief illness last week at East Orange General Hospital. He was 85.

Born in Waterbury, Conn., Mr. Jordan lived in Newark for several years before moving to Belleville in 1929.

He served in the Navy during World War I.

Mr. Jordan was employed as a maintenance man by P. Ballantine & Sons and was a member of the company's benevolent association.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary P. Jordan, a daughter, Mrs. Mary Jane of Belleville; a son, A. Ernest of Sayreville; two brothers, Arthur of Freehold and Harry of Millville; two sisters, Mrs. Louise Cummins of Newark and Mrs. Florence Flannery of Belleville, and four grandchildren.

The funeral was yesterday at 8 A.M. from the Wadsworth Funeral Home, 524 Union Avenue. A High Requiem Mass was offered at St. Peter's Church.

Fred Ochs also expressed his gratitude for the 10-minute ruling.

Despite the arguments on the 10-minute rule, the meeting ran smoother than in a long time.

James R. Golden, state senate candidate, charged that such a law constituted a digression of American principles.

Regarding Commissioner Joseph King's statement at the last meeting, that no member had ever been censured in his years on the Commission, Golden said that the present magistrate, Edward Abramson, had addressed a former mayor, calling him a "disgrace," according to the news clippings.

"If you can't stand the heat, get out of the kitchen," he said.

Thomas Green charged the Commission was cutting down the time because many people were coming to say things "you didn't like."

"You didn't enforce it because in your heart you do not feel it," he said to the Mayor.

Ernest Arvidson said he appreciated the 10-minute rule and that 10 minutes was time enough for anyone to get something off his chest.

Fred Ochs also expressed his gratitude for the 10-minute ruling.

RESISTOFLEX, AFL UNION NEGOTIATE

Resistoflex Corporation and United Textile Workers, Local 208, A. F. of L. have negotiated a new labor contract to be in effect for 26 months, it was announced this week.

The contract provides for a 5.6 per cent wage increase effective October, 1955, and a subsequent 4 per cent wage increase effective October 1956.

The contract covers 120 employees. New provisions provide for jury duty pay, the addition of an eighth paid holiday and the institution of an compulsory retirement clause.

John Littrillo, Harold Kintzel, Victor Kaminski, Carl Gelormini, Angelo Luzzi and others were in charge of negotiations for the union. Richard T. Dale, personnel manager, William E. Kane and Sanford H. Markham represented the company.

Dale reported that the company is now operating two shifts a day in most departments and three in others, in order to fulfill demand. Resistoflex manufactures specially engineered flexible hose assemblies and fabricates plastic products used for high pressure, high temperature work.

Negotiations for the contract were completed a full month ahead of the terminal date for the existing work agreement, the company said.
