

Scenic Committee Sums Up Its Points

Urges "Yes" Vote, Citing Site As Best Available With New School Needed As Part Of Junior High Plan

The Better Schools Committee this week set down a number of points it hopes will help explain the referendum question to be voted upon in Tuesday's Election.

At the same time the Committee stressed that it wished to remind everyone that a majority vote of "yes" at the election will only save the land from other use.

"By law," the Committee said, "the Board of Education cannot issue bonds to build a school without approval of the plans and cost by the people."

The Committee said:

1. The land in question, described as "a portion of Block 415, Lot 30" on the ballot, is owned by the people of Belleville.

2. To transfer it to the Board of Education will cost nothing.

3. The land has access to Passaic Avenue along Stadium Road.

4. It is no closer to the edge of town than the present High School.

5. The site is very swampy or boggy in any way.

6. Only one end of the whole tract is very near to the Board of Education. It is outside the Stadium fence and is now vacant.

7. Transfer of the land would not disturb facilities made to Stadium area.

8. Plenty of town owned land will remain for development of the Recreation Department.

9. The site is very near to the center of population of the town in an area that is growing in population, not dying out.

10. If any additional land would be needed it could be bought for less than at any other site which has been proposed.

Transport

"Should a High School eventually be voted," the Committee said, "built on the site."

1. Students from Silver Lake would be transported to it by bus.

2. There would be plenty of room for parking cars off the streets.

3. Every school day the youth of the town would have use of the town's running track, football field and space for physical training, which they do not have now.

On Junior High System

As to the junior high school plan envisioned by the board of education, the Committee reported as follows:

1. The plan of a junior high school in our educational system would be of untold benefit to our boys and girls.

2. Every one who thinks of a junior high school as simply another building to house a certain number of classrooms. Nothing is farther from the truth.

3. The housing of additional classrooms is the least of its functions.

Chief Purpose

The chief purpose of the junior high school is to gather under one roof, seventh, eighth, and ninth grade pupils to offer them a range of subjects and activities that would be impractical and too costly to give them in a number of grade schools. It makes possible the use of specially equipped classrooms with the benefit of specialized teachers. Along with the academic subjects as music, art, science, industrial arts, (shop) domestic science and gym can be included in the curriculum and taught to better advantage. At this age, also, pupils should begin to work independently and gain a well-rounded education. Obviously it would be impossible to furnish this type of library for a number of grammar schools.

Problems

Another important phase of junior high school education is the needs and problems of early adolescence. By means of intramural athletics, clubs and social activities, the pupils can be helped to gain self-confidence through this difficult age in a way that would be impossible were they scattered in small groups throughout the town.

It should help him to determine what subjects he wishes to take in high school and to derive more benefits from those studies. Even those pupils who do not complete high school should have profited from the breadth of their junior high school experience than from the old-fashioned seventh and eighth grade education.

If our ideal is to obtain the best possible school system within our means, the junior high school

Town Candidates' Statements

James R. Golden

Independent Senate Candidate

"It is vital to the welfare of every citizen that the entire Democratic slate be elected, to help Governor Meyner finish the job he started last year. . . . The Republican controlled legislature has impeded the governor. . . . There is bad faith in the county GOP delegation. . . . The GOP caucus system is intolerable. . . . There has been a Democratic Assembly in 20 years nor a Democratic Freeholder Board for 30. . . . The GOP dominated legislature has failed to be responsive and responsible to the people. . . . The Republican Party would have you believe that the Democratic elected ticket would result in a sales and income tax. . . . This is not true. The only time New Jersey was burdened with a sales tax was under the Republicans. . . .

Leonard D. Ronco

Democratic Assembly Candidate

"For past 20 years, clean government has given Essex one of the most efficient county administrations in nation and lowest county tax rate in state. . . . Under GOP tax rate is 4.90 per $100 of assessed valuation; in Democratic Hudson, tax rate more than double, or $12.25 per $100 of assessed valuation. . . . The first move the Democrats made was to increase County supervisor's office budget from $15,000 to $17,000, but move was blocked by GOP Freeholders. . . . I pledge I will continue fighting for lower taxes which the GOP administration has already demonstrated; better roads and increased hospital facilities.

Offers His Thanks For Hallowe'en

(Letters to the Editor are generally printed in the Letters to the Editor Column. We think this is a unique and heartwarming enough place for them.)

Thanks A Million

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

In these years, when the daily newspapers so frequently describe instances of man's inhumanity toward man, I would like to jump upon a chance to express my pleasure and happiness in observing an instance to the contrary.

Last Monday evening - Hallowe'en night - my three youngsters went from house to house in the neighborhood with their "Trick or Treat" proposition, and they were nearly always rewarded with smiles and treats. I was so impressed by the indication of happiness that I saw in them throughout the evening and when they came home to spread their "loot" on the table - that I just had to express my gratitude in some way.

I guess the magic of the thing lies in the fact the children find themselves being greeted and treated by persons they hardly know. Persons without children or with children who have grown up can hardly know what this small gesture of kindness can stir in the hearts of the young.

Thanks a million to anyone who gave even a single treat that night - you did more than you can imagine. In a way that a parent himself could never do.

Hyde Flays Land Transfer Advocates

"Refuse To Stand By. See Taxpayers Duped: How Will Four Million Dollars Unit Improve Antiquated Grades?"

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde this week, urging a "no" vote in the land transfer question Tuesday, urged people to resist inaccurate school data, and face realities.

At the same time the Commissioner offered a number of recommendations to meet school needs here, including the construction of a new grade school in the Soho section or an addition to School 7.

"I refuse to stand by and see the taxpayers 'duped' by an inept school construction program," he said, "a program that would not solve the educational needs but would only burden the taxpayers with an impossible tax load."

Recommendations

The Commissioner's recommendation included:

1. appropriation of funds to improve grade schools.

2. acquisition and development of property adjacent to the present high school for a play area, parking space and construction of new classrooms out of the existing gymnasium, which was basically built for just that purpose.

3. careful screening of all of the salary guide to compete teaching applicants and to attract with surrounding towns; and attraction of attracting of top-grade teaching personnel.

The Commissioner's recommendation included:

1. challenge those who are pursuing high school project with such vigor, and even venom to prove the need."

2. "Here are some of the basic questions that the board president and her battery of well-meaning but misinformed followers consistently neglect to answer," he said.

3. "How many of the four million dollars high school improve antiquated classrooms in many of our grade schools? Will the new high school improve our standard of education in the grade schools, providing essential subjects that are missing from the curriculum?"

Commissioner Hyde asked, also:

"What are the hidden costs of the new high school in terms of faculty additions and maintenance costs?"

"Relative to the staggering enrollment figures handed down by the Board of Education, how many of these future students do we now have enrolled who do not live in town?"

"How much money in dollars and cents, will it cost tax-paying citizens, most of whom are in the middle class, to build this new monument to the Board of Education?"

PADULA ENDORSES DEMOCRAT TICKET

Says "Anton Seems To Forget That Clean Government Machine Repudiated Even By GOP"

Mayor Isadore Padula this week in a statement endorsed the Democratic ticket.

"It's hog-wash," the common war cry of the GOP that there must be a Republican victory in Essex Tuesday or the balance of national affairs will be seriously upset."

"Since the GOP took over in Washington, we have had neither an efficient nor an economical administration, and with so many long ends still dangling in the way of unfinished give-away projects, it is unlikely that the GOP administration will ever become efficient or economical."

Padula, because the county race, said that Mark Anton has tried to scare voters into a state of hysteria by drugs.

BANGERT URGES STRAIGHT "B" VOTE

Frank Bangert Jr., GOP chairman of the county committee this week urged a straight "Line B" vote.

In a statement he said: "In the last election 22,500 people voted for the referendum and then went home happy that they did their bit, but did they? They didn't even vote for a Republican or a Democrat. When did they expect would handle the referendum?"

Bangert said: "A vote for all the candidates on Line B is a 'no sign' there will be no additional state tax or sales tax. Don't wait until Wednesday, November 9 to wish you had voted. The first thing you should do on Election Day is to say a nice prayer for our President. Then for a speedy recovery, then proceed to vote. Vote Line B, then no tax can they levy...."

Asks Park In Brighton Avenue Area

Joseph Granese of Silver Lake last week asked the Commission for the possibility of providing a new park in an area near the Brighton Avenue veterans housing development, which is slated for disbandment next year.

Election

The Roper Schools Committee voted a "yes" vote on the referendum, stressing that it would give the board of education opportunity to bring to the people a referendum on a site which was the cheapest, and best situated for an educational stand-point in town.

Four Denots of the Riviera Park Civic Association, which had opposed the Board's first school site, came out with a statement that it maintained a hands-off attitude on this election because school referendum should be put up by the Board, not the Commission; but labeling the transfer adherents and the press as lacking in objectivity.

Meantime, the Board of Education continued to remain silent on the school site issue, apparently believing it had said enough, and leaving it up to the people. With Mrs. Edna Rossa welding the shroud it quietly held a ground-breaking for an additions to School 4 and planned one Monday for School and one Tuesday for the Board.

And Robert C. Grubin, who finished seventh in the Commission elections last year, grabbed the headlines in the daily press with a comment the board should hold off until February, adding that he was against adding onto the Washington Avenue high school. This double point of view publicly unrepresented.

In other educational matters Nancio R. Pico, traffic safety chairman, announced his candidacy for the board, the first time he has endeavored to public office.

And Walter Legner, board member, made the same announcement that Monday night meetings would no longer find him among those attending.

D For Democrat

On the political scene, Leonard D. Ronco appeared at local and county gatherings in his quest for a seat on the Assembly.

James R. (Republican, Independent) Golden, talked before the League of Women Voters forum, facing his opposition, (Anton and Fox) face to face, with sending to newspapers his views.

"...the only way an independent candidate without financial backing can make himself heard."

And Elwood Russell, Republican Freeholder, also sallied forth to do battle, pointing to Democratic Hudson county as the dreadful apportionment of what will happen here if the Democrats get in.

All in all, it was a mild week for Belleville; the weather was generally good and police were picking up after the Halloween damage. There was a report flying that the auxiliaries and the regulars had a falling out, but that was yet to be substantiated.

Sam Leonard, of a window cleaning firm here, moved living realistically. He and his force had gotten up at 2:50 a. m. to start undoing the soap damage to the house in town.

Said and Sam Weenly, at the end of the long day.

"The kids wrote about the same amount of stuff as every year, but the words were a lot flatter."

Veterans Day

Police and fire departments. There also will be a number of floats from military and other units.

The parade will form at Greylock and Washington Avenues and proceed down Washington Avenue to William Street. The reviewing stand will be at the town hall.

The Veterans Day Committee appealed to all citizens to come and see the outstanding parade and pay tribute to the veterans of all wars.

The Committee is headed by Nicholas Raimo, post commander of the Barbours, assisted by Patrick Tomasulo, secretary and co-chairman and Donald Bowen, treasurer.

Committee

appears to be a "must." It does much more for the children at little extra cost.

In reviewing the financial aspects of the bond issue, the Committee said this:

It seems that the tax rate in Belleville is a necessary topic of discussion for people interested in improving our schools. The people were warned against the dire state of affairs which would ensue if they voted for a new high school.

The bond issue for a high school was defeated and how does Belleville stand today on the economy issue? Our total tax rate in 1955 is .70, of which .67 is a rise in the departments of our commissioners.

	Town	School	County
1954	2.05	3.11	1.19
1955	2.72	2.93	1.37
+ .67	-.18	-.18	+.21

The defeated school would have caused a rise of .54 in the tax rate the first year (based on 1955 valuations) as compared with .67 rise for town costs. However, as the debt would have decreased as would the tax rate to cover the debt have been reduced in its final year being .67. Also, increased rates would have lowered the rate to some further extent.

Another issue arose in a discussion of costs was the fact that Belleville would come to within a quarter of a million dollars of exceeding its debt limit. It should be remembered that one year as bonds are paid off, the debt limit increases.

A study of these figures will show up the inconsistencies of some arguments against improving Belleville's school system.

ing in a shudder-bug, Anton has charged, he said, that unless everyone in the suburbs votes the GOP ticket, Newark will control all of Essex and Jersey City will control all of Hudson.

"Nothing so ridiculous has been said since Dewey refused to concede defeat for hours after the votes were counted," he said.

Said the Mayor also: Furthermore, Senator Anton seems to forget that his sponsor, the Clean Government Machine in Essex, has been repudiated by even Republicans.

"He and his fellow conspirators should brush up on charges hurled at Clean Government by Malcolm Forbes when he was running against Paul Trout for the Governorship. Better still, he should recall what Bill Barnes did to say while he was running for the nomination for state senator in the spring."

R. P. C. A. Says

erries needed to round out the site; yet neither the Commission nor the Board have so far come up with an accurate estimate of these incidental costs.

Donato said that if, for these well-considered reasons, the R.P.C.A. save the taxpayer a cold million dollars.

They're always working for . . . or against you. A man with no savings, no nest egg, finds the clock working steadily against him — remorselessly shortening the time left for him to make himself financially secure.

But the man who is saving money finds the clock working just as steadily for him. Because, with every tick, the money he has saved earns more money. Each day that passes finds him closer to financial independence and security.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gorlin

Hey, Ain't You Out For The Team???

This is the story of Johnny McKown, Outstanding prepster of All-State renown, Johnny was speedy, elusive and tough. As big as an ox and liked to play rough. Scouts looked him over. Alumni did, too. John got an offer from Southeastern U. Tuition, lodging and board to be paid. And cash from a fund called "Grants-in-aid."

Johnny set out with illusions so grand. Southeastern U. was tops in the land. Two things for sure: He'd get on the team — Make All-America! Such was his dream. But Johnny was in for an awful surprise. The first day of practice opened his eyes. Instead of a squad of thirty-five men, Johnny was one of a hundred and ten.

All of them hand-picked as Johnny had been. (The manpower wasted was almost a sin.) Orders were posted, restrictive and drab; "Don't take a course with an afternoon lab!" "No basketball, baseball, tennis or track!" "No women, tobacco or late evening snack!" "Stay in condition for practice next spring!" "Always remember that Football is King!"

Scrimmaging, scrimmaging, on went the grand. Nights at the blackboard improving the mind. Blocking and tackling as weeks hurried by. Hoping to get to the head coach's eye. Johnny was blue, for as far as he knew. His squad name was just "Hey, YOU — Eighty-two." The last game that season he got a big break. They let him handle a line-marker stake.

Came the next autumn, his sophomore fall. Back were the coaches and Johnny and all. Out on the practice field Johnny would go. Running the plays of next Saturday's foe. Johnny worked harder. Results were the same. He got on the bench but not in the game. Week after week, he would wait for the call. Nobody noticed poor Johnny at all.

Johnny, a junior, was suited one day. Sat on the bench for three minutes to play. Forty points leading, when out of the blue. Came a terse order — "Hey, YOU — Eighty-two, Get in — relieve that defensive left guard — Move Jones to tackle and send out Brevard." Johnny, not sensing his lack of a name, jumped with alacrity — played out the game.

Late in the spring of his senior year. Maples were budding, commencement was near. Johnny was strolling down Liberty Street. When whom do you reckon he chanced to meet? Head Coach O'Malley, so hard to approach. So Johnny just spluttered a "Good Mornin', Coach." O'Malley, austere, but never a snob, looked Johnny over (his eye on the job).

"Gracious, my boy, but you're hefty and tall. Just the right type to go great in football. I'll tell you what (his eye had a gleam). Next year why don't you come out for the team?" Thus the sum total of Johnny's career. Was three minutes played in his junior year. Always a number. Never a name. That is the story of Johnny and Fame.

The verse written by John T. Wightman, is dedicated to high school seniors being sought so eagerly by colleges.

Crystal Gazing

I'm behind the eight-ball again. In last week's studying of the crystal ball I predicted that Bloomfield would beat West Orange, Orange would trim East Side and Central would take South Side. In all three I backed the loser.

Aside from those three bad choices I picked six other games correctly but my average still is on the down-grade. With only three more weeks to go my average stands at .755. Thirty-seven of 49 games have been pegged. It will be a long climb to get back near the .800 mark but here's trying:

Nutley to squeeze by Clifton. This one will be close. Nutley experienced a nightmare at Morristown while Clifton has been slowly coming around. The Mustangs have won their last three games and displayed a stronger scoring attack with 75 points being registered. The Maroon Raiders will have to play better ball on Saturday. I think Coach Sandy Phillips will have his boys back up for this one.

Barrington to defeat East Side. A victory for the Big Blue will clinch the City League championship. East Side is still in the running but not for long.

Bloomfield to sink Irvington. The Bengals played a disappointing game against West Orange last week. Even though playing mediocre ball Bloomfield will take the measure of Irvington.

East Orange to shell Orange. The Panthers are racking up the points. Last week East Orange bombarded West Side, 35-6, with Charley Brown scoring three touchdowns. Brown and Charley Munford will be off and running in the game to be played at Orange.

West Side to beat Weequahic. The Indians are firmly entrenched in the City League cellar. West Side will keep them there.

Montclair to lace West Orange. There is no stopping Montclair now. The Mounties reached their peak with a 47-0 wallop of once-beaten Columbia last Saturday.

Jefferson to scalp Central. The Jeffs will field too strong a ground attack for Central to cope with.

Kearny to turn back Columbia. The Cougars will still be licking their wounds suffered at the hands of Montclair. Kearny needs this one to stay near the top of the heap.

Bellboys Face Tough Test Against Kearny Tomorrow

Game Should Separate Men From Boys; Team Scores Early And Late To Wallop Hillside, 30-14

Belleville meets perhaps its toughest opponent this season Saturday when the team plays Kearny in the Municipal Stadium.

The game should be lulu, what with Belleville carrying a string of victories against the only team that tied a powerhouse like Montclair.

The big question is: Will the Kearny defense stop the Bellboys. According to Coach Jitty Wische, the team was not playing up to its capacity against Hillside, despite the one-sided score, and warned the Blue and Gold would be on a short end of a 35-0 score, if they didn't knuckle down against Kearny.

Free Scoring Game

The scoring of the game at Hillside was like the free-scoring contests of the pro teams with Belleville compiling a 24-14 lead at half-time.

Led by Jim Apple and Bob Paganelli, who both racked up two scores, Belleville forged into an early lead on Apple's run around and for 27 yards in the first quarter.

With Frank Puleo deadly with his passing, Belleville zipped to another score in the second, this time on a hand-off to Chick Malfato, good for 41 yards, and a three-point plunge by Paganelli.

Hillside came back on a long pass play and a 44-yard run through the right side of the Belleville line to take a 14-12 lead.

Two Long Drives

But the Bellboys tucked in another two scores in the final minutes of the second quarter, moving 51 yards on five plays for one touchdown and 64 yards on six plays for another.

Bob Paganelli scored the first and Puleo the second. The third period was evenly played, and for once the goal lines weren't crossed.

The Bellboys closed it out in the fourth when Apple broke loose on an end run for six yards.

The Belleville scoring was somewhat clouded by the fact that not an extra point was made good.

Bill Kintzing took Harry Menard's place in the line.

The score:
Belleville 28 18 0 6 30
Hillside 0 14 0 0 14

Elks Beat Varsity Vees; Lions Roar Over Kiwanis

The Elks defeated the Varsity Club Vees, 13-7, and the Lions the Kiwanis Club, 12-6, last Saturday at the Municipal Stadium in Little League football.

In the Elks-Vees game, the favored Elks Club was set on its heels, the hard charging Varsity Club forcing the Elks back to the five yard line.

George Sheridan's kick was erratic and Kevin Colin of the Vees scooped it up on the 14 yard line and scored the extra point.

Ends Erge Back

However, the Elks came surging back, in a drive sparked by Sheridan, Morano, Hollar and Walter Smith. A pass from Landoff to Sheridan that carried for six yards was good for a TD. Sheridan added the extra point on a plunge off the right side.

In the fourth period, Sheridan again sparked a drive climaxed when Sheridan made it from 12 yards. The try for the point was snuffed.

With three minutes remaining the Vees moved the ball to the five yard line, when time ran out. Vico, Gernero, Masso, Conlon and Collino alternated carrying for the Vees.

Lions - Kiwanis Game

Nick DelGuercio and Joe Colucci were the mainstays for the Lions in their victory over the Kiwanis. Colucci scored from the 20 yard line midway in the opening period on a beautifully executed reverse play. DelGuercio intercepted a Kiwanis pass and scampered 45 yards for a TD in the second quarter.

The Kiwanis bounced right back in the second period and Vince Moreno, with some beautiful blocking, scored from the 17 yard line. Both clubs were stymied in the second half by rugged defensive line play. Joe Mapso of the Lions was a standout with his hard tackling.

League standing at the half way mark has the Lions and the Elks in first place with two wins, no losses and one tie. In second place, the Kiwanis have one victory and two losses and the Varsity Club has an 0 and 3 record.

Tomorrow afternoon at the Stadium, the Lions meet the Varsity Club at 1:30 p.m. and the Elks play the Kiwanis at 2:00 p.m.

As voters, next Tuesday, we are to pass upon the following question:

"SHALL A PORTION OF BLOCK 415, LOT 30 BE DEEDED TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWN OF BELLEVILLE AS A SITE FOR A PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL?"

Before acting, we should ask ourselves this other question:

"IS THE SITE OF THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL THE SAFEST, MOST PRACTICAL, MOST CONVENIENT, MOST ECONOMICAL AND, IN EVERY WAY, THE BEST TO BE FOUND IN BELLEVILLE?"

Life at BHS as we see it

Hi Again!

Rosalind Bissell, Barbara Rosenberg, and Gretchen Schoenbeck were down in New Brunswick last Saturday, looking over the Douglass College campus. Apparently they liked what they saw, including, of course, the Rutgers-Deleware game. We hope the girls aren't deserting the Blue and Gold for the Red and Black.

The girls' gym locker rooms are so crowded this year. Poor Connie Tobia bent over to put on her shoe and she got stuck in so much traffic that she couldn't straighten up again for 5 minutes. Don't feel too bad Connie, think of the girls with the bottom lockers!

Calling all parents! Don't forget that this Monday, November 7, is Parent's Night at B. H. S. From 7:30 to 9:30 P. M. teachers will be in their classrooms to visit with you. And this year something new has been added. On November 8, parents of freshmen and juniors may sit in on classes during the day. The next day parents of the sophomores and seniors may do the same.

This year's freshmen are really in good voice. They have been exercising their vocal chords at the freshman assemblies. Dr. Peck and Mr. Mattick lead them in many well-known songs. We even hear them in the senior halls, and they sound pretty good, too.

We hope everyone remembered to turn in their clock back last Saturday night. We know one girl who must have been day-dreaming because she arrived at school an hour ahead of time on Monday. Luckily we got out of school an hour earlier that day so poor Miss X didn't feel so bad.

Student behavior at football games was the topic of discussion at the first home room guidance period this year. Some of the things mentioned were proper clothing, cheering, and rowdiness. We're sure that now behavior at the football games should be just about perfect!!!!!!

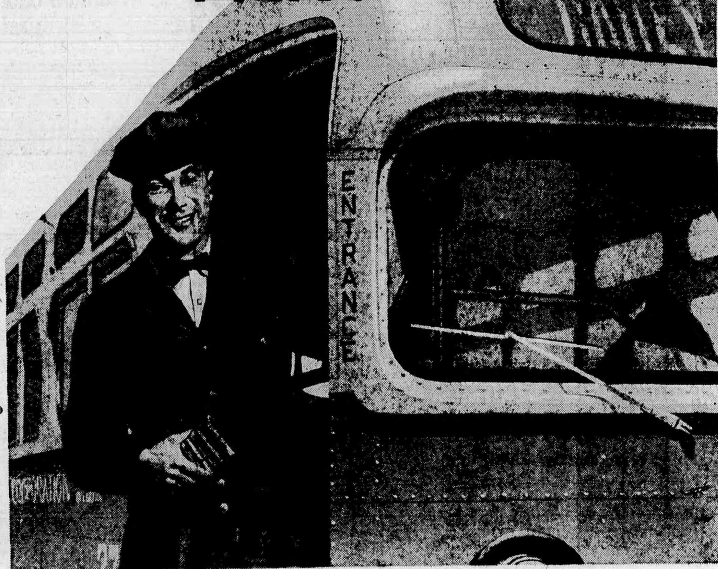

The Bellboys outdid themselves last Saturday with a 30-14 win over Hillside. Next week they get a well-deserved rest.

Green Forecast

Down creek, down river,
 Spring flows forever,
 Where gold-leaved willows float in the shallows and alders sever
 the pool-green hollow.
 Summer is over
 Where creek meets river
 In mirrored foretelling
 Of leaves soon falling,
 White-gold as clover,
 Drifting like pollen.
 When winter's crust
 is gathering,
 Water beneath
 Runs green with spring.

Bicycle Track Or School

Belleville voters will be wise, when they vote not to overlook the special question transferring property from the Town Commission to the Town Board of Education.

The question is simple enough: "Shall a portion of Block 415, Lot 30 be deeded to the Board of Education of the town as a site for a proposed new school?" There is no money involved.

If enough people vote for the transfer, it will mean the Board of Education can come up with a plan for a new high school there, to be voted on next year.

If enough people vote against the transfer, the property will revert back to the Commission and to the department of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, who has plans for a bicycle track and other recreation facilities for the area.

It will mean the end of attempts by the Board of Education to construct a high school where school authorities (including an outside survey group) figure to be the best place in town to put one up.

It will mean the Board will have to go through costly legal condemnation proceedings to get another chunk of private land equal in size to the Commission-owned public property the Board asks in this case.

The site now sought by the Board is separate from the "big site" sought in the latest referendum. The site was suggested for study by Commissioner Joseph King. The Board's study showed that pilings would not be needed... and the cost of pilings (needed for the box site) thus saved.

But aside from the financial facts favoring the proposed location, and the obvious need for a new high school — (present facilities are dreadfully poor) — the big underlying question in this election is that of progress or decline for Belleville.

Should we strive for a good educational system within our means? ... or should we be willing to put up with rotting schools ... permitting the tax dollar instead to go for leaf loaders and swimming pools ... and a fairly high tax dollar at that.

It is no secret that many a home owner has moved out of Belleville because the smell of costly decay looms too strong. While all over Essex and North Jersey, school construction has been on, there hasn't been a split of construction here in 25 years. And a "no" vote next week isn't going to prevent the construction which must take place, regardless.

If the "no" votes triumph Tuesday, the future generations in this town may never get a good education ... but they'll have a whole of a time burning up their energy on that bicycle track.

"Who Gets The Job?"

Is Theme Of Tuesday's Election

To the "Old Pros" who lead the Remonstrance Party in Essex County, the major issue of Tuesday's general election is, according to their final campaign speeches, that their jobs are at stake. To the rank and file of Republicans, here in Essex, the issue, obviously, is that of reforming party leadership to conform closer to the Eisenhower principles before it is too late.

Excellent for a straight-line party fight, there is little else at stake in Tuesday's vote except hundreds and thousands of county jobs. If the Republicans can hold the line and keep control of county administration, they will keep the jobs, if the Democrats elect a single Freeholder candidate next Tuesday, they will have undisputed control of the Board and of the county payroll. It's as simple as that.

In a curious statement published yesterday under the names of Senator Mark Anton and Mrs. Abbie Magee, they are quoted as saying: "The Democrats have shown clearly their pattern of government if elected. It will be more and more political jobs handed out. When the Democratic county supervisor calls for a horizontal 3 per cent reduction in departmental appropriations, the (county) employees know that it means either fewer employees or salary reductions."

Well, what's wrong with that?

Something has to be done to curb the swiftly rising costs of county government.

Silly, too, is the constant harping, in the name of the Anton-Magee ticket, on the alleged intentions of the Democrats to establish State sales and income taxes, if elected. It is a matter of record that the only such taxes ever enacted in New Jersey were enacted briefly by Republicans. It is a matter of record, too, that Donald C. Fox, in his own name and in the name of the Democratic county ticket, pledged to vote against any new State income or sales tax. On that basis, there is no choice.

That brings Tuesday's poll into its true light, as far as Essex Republicans are concerned. We have been deprived of representation in the State Assembly and we are asked to vote for a lot of candidates from many other suburban towns who do not have the slightest interest in our problems or in our desires. We have been asked to re-elect Mrs. Magee to her $13,000 job as county register not on her record but on the basis that a Democratic victory would deprive Mrs. Magee and many other Republicans on the county payroll of their jobs and they would have to go to work for a living in some competitive field.

It is our contention that a Republican party which runs on such a fallacious platform needs new blood and reform. In our opinion, the real Republican party is the Eisenhower party and its policies and platform should be the Eisenhower policies and platform, middle-of-the-road and avoiding both extremes, but taken out of the hands of the "old pros" and turned over to those who are imbued with the true Eisenhower principles and are Republicans out of conviction and not for the $13,000 jobs they can cull for themselves out of their political influence.

Political Water

Thousands of thoughtful citizens throughout New Jersey are pondering how to vote on the water-supply referendum in Tuesday's election? Nutley voters, by and large, are puzzled. The question involves complex technical considerations beyond the layman's ken, and debate on the issue has produced more confusion than clarification.

A sensible way out was pointed by Governor Meyner, when he proposed that the referendum be limited to raising the necessary funds, with selection of a reservoir site to be left to later determination by the state's water experts after thorough, intensive study. This, however, was scuttled by a ruling clique of legislators who feared that the state's engineers would select the Round Valley site in Hunterdon County.

The referendum deals with the issuance of $100,000,000 in state bonds, of which $60,000,000 would be used for developing the first stage of a reservoir at Chimney Rock in Somerset County. The remaining $40,000,000 would be expended, at the Legislature's discretion, for developing vague and unspecified water resources in South Jersey.

From the welter of confusion and controversy, certain salient facts emerge. The study on which this $100,000,000 proposition is based was completed in ten weeks by a firm of consulting engineers. Such super-speed raises the suspicion of superficiality, and this was confirmed when independent engineers found serious flaws in the consultants' findings.

Moreover, nothing adulated so far in favor of the Chimney Rock site has been able to overcome the fact that the Round Valley plan would yield more water of superior quality at a cheaper price to the consumer.

The opposition to Round Valley is not based on engineering or economic considerations but on plain politics. A hard core of Senators, able to block legislation through the caucus system, has decreed the Hunterdon site to be off-limits to water-supply development. Hence, the opponents of Chimney Rock are right when they brand it "political water at a higher price."

As for the $40,000,000 supposedly earmarked for South Jersey, the legislation authorizing the referendum is so vague and loosely drawn on this point that it is doubtful whether these funds will ever be used for their avowed purpose. This raises another suspicion, namely, that this provision was inserted in the legislation merely as a con-

One Man's Opinion

Russia Has Recovered Initiative In World Affairs And Will Make Us Pay Dearly For German Unification

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

The first fortnight at Geneva has disclosed that Soviet Russia is not at all interested in security as such, but is following a political line based on power and territorial ambition — the same line which Stalin and Malenkov followed before the present Bulganin-Khrushchev team took over. In rejecting the Western powers' "treaty of assurance," the Russians countered with a plan of their own which, boiled down, provides for the scrapping of NATO, the liquidation of all foreign bases and the withdrawal of American and British troops from Europe.

It already is obvious that at the second Geneva conference, Soviet Russia has regained the initiative in world affairs which it lost, temporarily, at the summit meeting, last July, when President Eisenhower took control. We know now that if there is to be any agreement at Geneva, it must be on the Russian terms. The Geneva atmosphere of willing search for a formula has been wholly displaced. We are back in the atmosphere of Yalta and of Potsdam. Anything we get we will pay for dearly.

It is this "One Man's Opinion" that if we were to accept Moscow's terms and agree to scrap NATO and withdraw our forces, we never would see the reunification of a free Germany except as a Communist Germany and we would be consigning Germany and all our present allies of Western Europe to piecemeal enmeshment behind the iron curtain.

Our Big Mistake

Our mistake, clearly, was to go to Geneva with the conviction that the promises of peaceful understanding and mutual cooperation made at the summit conference last July, were sincere. Another mistake was to believe that Moscow only wanted our cooperation in the West and that she could be bought off from further aggression by a modicum version of Locomo.

We know now that Russia's policy of world revolution, which began in 1917 with Lenin and Trotsky, has not changed.

We know that Russia never will surrender any part of her empire of satellites without war.

We know that whereas, ten years ago, we might have forced Russia to consent to a united Germany at Potsdam, we cannot force Russia, short of war, to give up her stranglehold on East Germany. Yet, without German unification, peace in Europe is not possible.

We know, too, finally, that Russia still wants to destroy NATO, the strongest weapon in our hands, and never will consent to a unification of Germany if Moscow suspects that a united Germany might become a NATO power.

A quick look at the two blueprints for European security advanced at Geneva by the West and by Moscow shows clearly that the Russian plan for the Soviet Union would control all of Europe. Under the Western proposal, there would be a wide no-man's-land, a buffer zone, between the two. We proposed a balancing and inspection of military forces and institutions, along with a radar warning system to protect against surprise attack.

Russia's counter-proposal is merely a modernized version of the Locomo treaty based wholly on mutual guarantees not to attack each other. It didn't work under the Locomo Treaty; there is no reason to believe that it will work under Communist domination.

I was at Locomo, for the United Press, just thirty years ago when the Locomo Treaty was drafted. I remember it was signed on Sir Austen Chamberlain's birthday, October 16, 1925. It was a masterpiece of double-talk and a monument to the great pacifists of that day, Arthur Brand, France's "Apostle of Peace," at their head.

The parallel between Locomo and the European security system based on an exchange of guarantees, which Moscow proposed in Geneva this week is so great that it is worth an examination.

German Initiative

In the Locomo agreement, Germany, France, Italy, Britain and Belgium guaranteed the peace of Europe and Germany undertook to arbitrate her disputes with France, Belgium, Czechoslovakia and Poland. Moscow signed for Italy, Dr. Luther and Herr Stresemann for Germany, Britain for France, Chamberlain for Britain, the famous old socialist Emile Vandervelde for Belgium and Dr. Edouard Beaulieu for Czechoslovakia.

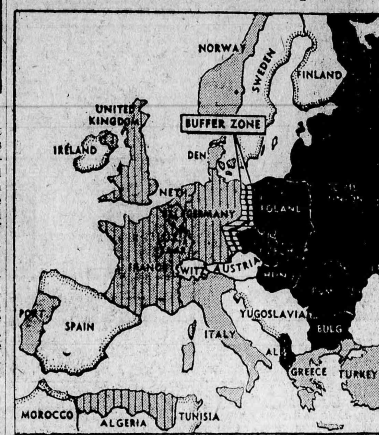

It is a matter of record, too, that it was Germany which took the initiative. The German government, through its Ambassador in Paris, sent the suggestion in a note to Edouard Herriot, French Foreign Minister. Chamberlain, British Prime Minister, took up the suggestion and carried it through.

Also, we know that when Hitler came to power he tore up Locomo and despite the German pledge to arbitrate, he went to war over real or imaginary disputes with the other Locomo powers, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Britain, and Belgium.

Evacuation An Issue

There is another parallel which should not escape our political chinkers in Washington: In return for signing the Locomo Treaty, Germany won the evacuation of all foreign military forces, French, British and American, from the Rhineland.

Map Of European Security Plan

The security plan offered by the Western powers at Geneva is shown above. In the buffer zone, military forces and installations would be balanced and inspected. A radar warning system would protect both sides against surprise attack. A reunited Germany would join with the West in NATO, shown here from Norway to Turkey.

Under the Russian proposal for European security, a basic rule would be that we, the French and the British, will evacuate Germany and that we and the British will give up all our bases on the continent. I was in Paris the day that Hitler tore up both the Versailles and the Locomo treaties by moving his army into the Rhineland. He took the steps in reality he went in with one toe, a few hundred men early in March, 1936. He gave as his excuse for violating Locomo that France had violated the spirit of that pact by entering into an alliance with Soviet Russia.

Allies Too Timid

In that test, Hitler learned that he was under no restraint. The League of Nations took no action. The Security Council took no action. I was in the office of French Premier Albert Sarraut when, about 2:30 on the morning of Hitler's move, he announced his intention of driving Hitler out by force. "We cannot tolerate German guns pointed at Strasbourg again," Sarraut said dramatically.

I was in Sarraut's office, too, when he returned that afternoon from a swift flight to London to talk it over with Neville Chamberlain, Austen's successor. "There will be no military action," France cannot do it alone," Sarraut told me. The British had refused to move.

Are there enough electric circuits in your home to do the JOB?

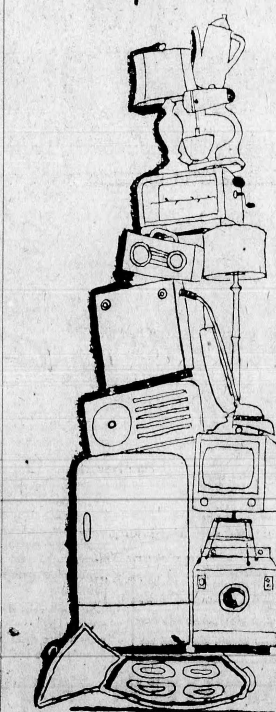

Electric circuits run from your fuse box to the various outlets throughout your home. They "feed" the outlets with electricity to operate all your lights and electric appliances.

When there are too few circuits, your appliances "starve electrically". One circuit can provide only a limited amount of electricity and when you overload the circuit it leads to trouble: fuses blow, appliances do not work properly, bulbs do not give their full illumination, heavy duty motors can easily burn out and so on.

Call your local electrical contractor and have him check your wiring. He can make important suggestions and give you a free estimate on the job that should be done.

Open Letter To Hyde

Editor, Belleville Times-News:
Following is a letter I am sending you as a Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde:

At several commission meetings you have expressed the opinion that schools have ample room, in fact vacant rooms are prevalent.

The Better Schools Committee has visited every school and we have been unable to find any, with the possible exception of an unused coal bin.

It is quite possible that you have knowledge that is not available to this committee. For this reason I would like you and your advisor, Mr. Golden and I to make one day when we could visit each school and you could then point out each such room.

This would also allow us to visit the High School and especially those classes whose home rooms are in the Cafeteria and those who have their study periods in the auditorium. We are fortunate we may observe some students trying to study while the band practices in the next room.

We will visit the drafting class and see some of those who were fortunate enough to be able to take this course. We may even meet some of the many students who wanted this course and were turned away.

Perhaps we will meet some of the students who wished to study Sewing and Home Economics and were turned away. In fact most of the students we will speak with will tell us of courses they wished to take but were unable to because of lack of room. Then, before we leave we can watch the students in their Gym Class, getting their training by watching from the gallery, a few fortunate who can be on the floor. After the Gym class about a dozen of a class of about one hundred will have a chance to shower.

Next let us visit some of the grade schools and some of the children in rooms with hardly any windows and little ventilation. We can visit rooms that were former storage rooms and see various equipment piled on the sides to make room for desks, or see former libraries now used as classrooms. This means that in those schools we will find no library nor will we find other special rooms which are so necessary for a good education.

It might be well to think a little of how we are going to fit this increased students body into our High School, when they reach High School age.

As we travel from school to school we will see new buildings going up at the rate of 160 residences will be getting children to our schools and increasing the already overcrowded condition.

Home values are being depreciated because of inadequate schools. If you wish to see what happens when this depreciation sets in and gather momentum I suggest we visit some of the blighted areas in our neighboring city. Homes that just a few years back were in excellent residential neighborhoods have become slums and have given way to Government low cost housing. A penny pinching attitude toward our schools will bring the same thing to Belleville. Most of these schools we visit were built and paid for by our forefathers to provide education for us. Shall we now let a coming generation suffer the stigma of a poor education in order that you may have more tax dollars to spend on Political Handcuffing?

You have made the statement that you believed I am sincere. Believe me, I am sincere, and I sincerely hope that you and your advisor will make this visit with me.

You will thereby gain some first hand knowledge of our schools and will be more qualified to speak about our school system.

Identifies Old Picture

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

I received a copy of the October 14th issue of your valued publication in yesterday's mail and much to my surprise found a very familiar picture of a group of my boyhood friends and team mates.

The identified member of the team is Alfred Warden who was a next door neighbor of mine at 69 Little Street. This fellow as well as Alaric Marshall are both deceased, I believe. Standing directly behind Alaric is his younger brother, LeRoy also deceased. I am not sure of the other members, possibly you can advise me if they are all alive and if they are still residents of Belleville.

Mr. Howard C. Preston, my uncle, formerly a resident of Belleville now residing in Orange sent the copy of the Times and he as he frequently does when ever an item concerning oldtimers appears in an issue.

The founder-owner-editor and advertising manager, all one person, Mr. Blades, I believe his name was, lived in the apartment over my Dad's grocery store at Main Street and the Bridge, foot of Rutgers Street and that is where the Belleville Times originated from.

With kind regards and best wishes to all the "Oldtimers,"

Everett P. Ryno,
Superintendent,
Home For Disabled Soldiers,
Menlo Park, N. J.

Editor's Note: Perhaps some oldtimers here could enlighten Mr. Ryno on his query. And thank you, sir, for identifying Alfred Warden.

Attitudes On Schools

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

Whence comes the attitude in Belleville, fed by the clamor of politicians, that our schools do not have to be very good to be good enough for us? Of what value as a community in which to live is a town with an educational system that is behind the times?

REFERENDUM QUESTIONS:

(Shall a portion of Block 415, Lot 30, be deeded to the Board of Education of The Town of Belleville as a site for a proposed new school?)

• This referendum was placed on the ballot by your Town Commission, not by The Board of Education or anyone connected with Education.

• The Commission has shifted its responsibility to the People, hoping to delay construction indefinitely.

• Delay is dangerous — Belleville cannot even plan without a site.

• A YES vote will make NO increase in your taxes whatever.

• A YES vote will only mean SAVING FREE LAND FOR EDUCATION.

Better Schools Committee
E. S. Arvidson, Chairman

As voters, next Tuesday, we are to pass upon the following question:

"SHALL A PORTION OF BLOCK 415, LOT 30 BE DEEDED TO THE BOARD OF EDUCATION OF THE TOWN OF BELLEVILLE AS A SITE FOR A PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL?"

Before acting, we should ask ourselves this other question:

"IS THE SITE OF THE PROPOSED NEW SCHOOL THE SAFEST, MOST PRACTICAL, MOST CONVENIENT, MOST ECONOMICAL AND, IN EVERY WAY, THE BEST TO BE FOUND IN BELLEVILLE?"

Paid for by Homer C. Zink

In 1880 our school system was so antiquated it cracked. Since that time there have been added such things as kindergartens, art, supervision, science and a vastly enlarged music program to the grammar schools. To the high school have been added a guidance department, industrial arts, domestic science, art and music. Most of these subjects suffer in varying degrees from a lack of space and a lack of the proper types of rooms and equipment, so that our schools have reached the point of "diminishing returns," figuratively speaking. In other words, our schools can no longer improve their educational standards because they simply have no room to do so.

What is the result? As classes become more crowded, and as more pupils are deprived of needed and desired subjects, our schools are losing the gains they have made. The situation has become critical.

Each voter should vote "Yes" November 8th on the second referendum transferring town-owned land to the educational system. This transference of land will cost nothing. A "Yes" vote merely insures to the people of Belleville free space for a school when they are ready to build one.

Our Schools, Our Money

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

A timely topic, especially for Belleville taxpayers, which means tenants as well as property owners, is OUR SCHOOLS AND OUR MONEY.

At a very recent New York State Conference on Education attended by over 800 delegates, Hon. Kenneth C. Royall, a cabinet member during the Truman administration, said essentially: 1.—That there are limits to the amount of money any community or nation can spend on education, and (2) that therefore the big question and problem is how to get the best results for that money.

Mr. Royall feels that in some respects we aren't now getting the best results. This sort of forthright expression takes courage and I must state that it makes a lot of sense to me.

The essence of Mr. Royall's recommendations were that we start conserving our resources now, by slowing down on construction of too-elaborate schools, and on spending for athletics which benefit only a small fraction of students.

His in no way suggests we stop spending for education. He merely wants to revamp the spending so as to get more education more efficiently.

Mr. Royall raises the question: "How far are the schools acting as baby-sitters . . . trying to fill the day with so many extracurricular activities that the parents may be relieved of the responsibility of seeing their families and being with them?"

These are questions which need to be discussed by teachers, parents, taxpayers—thoroughly and without sneers or sneers from educators who want the moon with a fringe on top and the people bled white to pay for it.

The New York Daily News, concerning Mr. Royall's utterances, says additionally, it is glad these statements were made so too an I, for now at a time when the voters are privileged to resolve a public question concerning the conveyance of town-owned property to the Board of Education for the purpose of making this site available for a proposed new high school, they will give serious study to the questions. Is it really needed? Are there other less costly, more practical solutions at hand?

In searching for the answer to these queries one must also consider and seek the clue to what forces are behind the school's elaborate school expansion program, why and what motivates it, and most significantly, just what it means in increased taxes to be added to the already staggering $7.04 tax rate we are now paying.

The Big question is, can the economy of the average Belleville homeowner stand a zooming soaring $10.00 tax rate which looms if all the educational boards' pet plans are approved? I think not. Let us have good education within our means, not that based upon fanciful pedagogical utopian dreams.

Wants Facts Known

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

Newspapers have played a tremendous role in the development of our country. Men like the late William Allen White and hundreds of other civic minded and crusading editors have fought vice and corruption. They have also had the courage to speak out on important issues. They have given the people the facts without fear. In this way the people know the truth and are able to vote intelligently on vital issues.

Here in Belleville, your paper has rightly devoted much time and a large amount of space to foreign affairs. Your editorials on the local scene and particularly about our school situation have been very enlightening. However, with the School Referendum coming up on the ballot on November 8th, I feel the people need MORE facts and we cannot emphasize the truth too much.

The question seems simple enough. Shall the Commissioners deed a tract of land that is available at PRACTICALLY NO COST to the Board of Education to eventually build a new school? How can anyone who is sincerely interested in better education for education for our children be against it? Yet, unless the referendum is clearly understood by all the voters, many issues, like the "air raid shelter," that have nothing to do with this particular referendum may come up and lead to confusion and misunderstanding.

The personnel of our Board of Education will materially change after the February election. The Board will be enlarged to seven members instead of five. After the NEW BOARD decides what kind of a building and how much it will cost, then and only then, will we have an opportunity to vote FOR OR AGAINST it. (Continued On Page 4—2nd Section)

LETTERS To The Editor

statement to that of Mr. Fox on the part of myself and my fellow candidates.

I am certain that based on your journalistic experience you know that the two respective party platforms are drafted more as a lure for votes rather than as an irrevocable pledge on the part of the candidates. Therefore, speaking for myself and in behalf of our Republican County ticket, a presentation of the Essex County Clean Government Republican accomplishments of over 20 years is evidence of the worth of our pledge on future performance.

The Essex Republican delegation at Trenton is pledged to:

1. Continue to oppose any income or general sales tax as have our predecessors from Essex County for the past 20 years.
2. Support the program adopted by the Legislature to provide additional water supplies for the State.
3. Continue our support of additional school aid to school districts. Particularly at this time to secure the passage of the Forbes-Dumont Bill for State aid in the construction of new school buildings, and also have the improved formula for State aid to school districts based on school enrollment for the immediate past year rather than taking the enrollment for the second past year.
4. On the Highway - Traffic problem, we intend to again work for a review of our existing backlog of highway projects despite Governor Meyner's previous veto of this necessary first step in developing a realistic highway program in view of the construction of the New Jersey Turnpike and the Garden State Parkway. With this study completed, we should then have a realistic highway construction program for which a financial plan must be developed. Certainly the construction of an East-West Freeway would have top priority in this program.

5. Seek a solution to the problem created by low flying planes from Newark Airport apparently not adhering to flight patterns, thereby creating a nuisance and hazard to portions of Union and Essex Counties.

6. Support in principle the Read-Long Bill for tax equalization subject only to such changes that may be proposed by municipalities or the public in conjunction with the present study being made in the Senate of these bills.

7. Continue our opposition to the further extension of horse racing as evidenced by our Essex County Bill of the past session which limited the number of flat racing tracks to those presently in existence and our further pledge to limit the number of harness racing tracks to the present one at Freehold and daytime racing only.

At the County level, our Republican County candidates, namely, Anthony Giuliano, for County Clerk, and Mrs. Abbie W. Magee, for County Register, and our four Freeholder candidates have pledged to continue the program of efficiency, economy, and honesty which has made Essex County the outstanding County in the United States.

Mr. Giuliano, a lawyer, has pledged to make the office of County Clerk a full time position. His willingness to resign from the bench in order to be a candidate is offered as evidence of his sincerity, and his record over years of service to the public endorses his ability for the position.

Mrs. Magee is pledged to a continuation of her program of constant modernization of the Register's Office which to date has materially increased the efficiency of the office with resultant savings of thousands of dollars of taxpayers money.

The four Republican Freeholder candidates are pledged to continue in the path blazed by their predecessors in providing management of our County facilities con-

Municipal Band Growing, Still Needs Drummers

Director Herb Matlock reported that at its second meeting the new Band numbered thirty five musicians. He said that the whole group sounded very good and that the trombone section was "out of this world." There is still a shortage of drummers, he said.

The band was added recently to the growing recreation program, to offer the adults an enriching activity, the recreation department said. There is now no doubt that the band will become a Belleville institution in which the town will take great pride, it added.

RODINO TELLS OF COAST GUARD EXAM

Select Candidates For Academy By Competitive Tests, Not By Congressional Appointment

Congressman Peter W. Rodino announced yesterday that competitive examination for entrance to the U. S. Coast Guard Academy will be held on February 27 and 28. The four-year Academy course leads to a bachelor of science degree and a commission as a career officer in the Coast Guard.

"There are no Congressional appointments or geographical quotas for entrance to the Coast Guard Academy," Rep. Rodino said. "Qualified young men who are interested should make application as soon as possible to Coast Guard Headquarters in Washington, D. C. Applications must be postmarked on or before January 15."

Candidate for the next examination for the Coast Guard Academy must be single, have reached their seventeenth but not their twenty-second birthday by July 1, 1956, and must be in excellent physical condition.

A high school diploma is the minimum educational requirement, although high school seniors assured of being graduated by June 30 are eligible to take the examination if they will have at least 15 credits by that time. All applicants must have three units of English, two of algebra, and one each of plane geometry and physics by graduation.

"I always throw the candy away—the wrapper tastes so good!"

This kid isn't crazy—he has just been reading about New Jersey railroad taxes and figures that throwing away the candy and eating the wrapper is a pretty good way to show what New Jersey is trying to do to its railroads.

For, frankly, the taxes paid by the railroads serving New Jersey are a positive threat to railroad solvency, and to the economic strength of the state. Excessive tax burdens weaken the ability of railroads to provide dependable, all-weather, high speed transportation when:

- ... It's a fact that for every $1.00 it earns in New Jersey, the railroad industry pays $1.64 in New Jersey taxes.
- ... It's a fact that for every improvement your railroads make, the taxes go up, up, up... $10.00 more a day for each large diesel engine used to replace steam engines, for example.
- ... It's a fact that if other states adopted New Jersey's rate of taxation—there'd be no railroad tax problems—all railroads would go bankrupt and pay no taxes at all.

Your railroads want to pay their fair share of New Jersey taxes—they want to maintain accommodations—give the best possible transportation where the public will support it.

A fair solution to this unfair taxation is important not just to the railroads but to the welfare and future progress of every New Jersey community. The better railroad service of the future—upon which such progress depends—can come only if railroads are allowed the modest earnings needed for improvements. Now, all they make in New Jersey and more goes for taxes.

You can help—by being a well-informed citizen and speaking your mind on what needs to be done to get tax fair play in New Jersey. You'll find the facts in "Facts on Tracks." Just write: Railroad Information Bureau, 11 Commerce Street, Newark 2, New Jersey.
