Berlinski To Be Commended

The football season is over for another year but let's not put it in mothballs just yet anyway. With no pigskins flying nor the basketball campaign under way it's a good time to take stock of the recently completed season and compare notes on what was said two and one-half months ago.

Back in September I said that Belleville would enjoy a good season. There wasn't any reason to think otherwise since a veteran team was returning. Even veteran Coach Ed Berlinski was optimistic over the team's chances. The Blue and Gold had a star-studded backfield with Bob Paganelli, Jim Apple, Frank Puleo and Frank Malfatto sparking the offensive attack. Most observers who saw Paganelli in action in his junior year all agreed that he would enjoy a banner season in his final year. Paganelli did just that. He led the team in scoring with 60 points and is the Times-News choice for All-State honors.

Belleville went on to win six games, tied Kearny in a 7-7 game but was rudely upstaged by Nutley High, 21-6. The way the Belbells started off there were thoughts that Berlinski's boys may go undefeated once they knocked off East Orange in the season inaugural, 20-14. The win was the first in the Belleville-East Orange series since it was started 10 years ago. Going into the Nutley game Belleville held the frayed as the definite favorite but the Maroon Raiders ignored the advance publicity and took the decision going away.

It didn't take long to get back on the winning trail. In fact the Blue and Gold didn't lose another game for the rest of the season. Following the Nutley game they took over West Side, Irvington and Hillsdale before playing a state-mate against Kearny. In the Kearny fray Belleville won everything but the game as they threatened repeatedly and held a big edge in every statistic department. Belleville closed out its season with a 21-0 pasting of Orange on Thanksgiving Day.

All in all, it was a very good season for Berlinski and his charges. A year ago the popular poly-poly mentor went through a rough season and had to withstand a great deal of criticism from the grandstand managers. Berlinski refused to listen to his critics and stuck to a youth movement as he looked ahead. It paid off in dividends this season with only one loss being suffered.

Varsity Club Banquet To Honor Seniors

A turnout of about 250 Belleville High School football supporters is expected to be on hand next Wednesday night when the Varsity Club honors the 1955 Belbells grid team at the Robin Hood Inn, in Clifton. The highlight of the event, sponsored by the sports minded organization, will be the presentation of individual trophies to 12 senior football players. Principal speaker for the evening will be Frank Tripucka, former All-American quarterback at Notre Dame. Tripucka played for Saskatchewan this year and was selected for a berth on the league All-Stars and broke his own passing record.

One of the highlights of the program will be the naming of the most improved player on the squad this year. The selection will not be made known until the night of the banquet. Last year Bill Chapman won the individual trophy.

Belleville were the blue and gold boys for the first time in the Thanksgiving Day game against Orange and will receive trophies from the Varsity Club are: Co-captain Bob Paganelli and Bob Castelli, Emilio Menarquez, Frank Puleo, Joe Casale, Harry Glass, Joe Brown, Jerry Gundry, Bob Lane, Richie Haines, Joe Serritella and Jim Apple.

9th Best Football Team In State

Belleville High School, making a strong comeback in football circles this Fall, was selected as the ninth best team in the entire state in the annual football ratings made available by Dr. Roger B. Saylor, professor of economics and statistics at Penn State.

Gaining the top slot once again is Montclair with 528 points. Memorial High School, of West New York, and Vineland, a Group IV power from South Jersey are deadlocked for second place with 518 points and fourth position, East Orange, Plainfield and St. Peters, of Jersey City, finished ahead of the Blue and Gold. Belleville piled up 482 rating points, 76 more than a year ago.

Belleville showed a tremendous jump over a year ago as Coach Ed Berlinski piloted the Belbells to six wins, a tie and only one loss. The lone defeat came at the hands of arch rival Nutley High midway in the season. A year ago Belleville finished in a three-way tie with Newark Central and Milburn for 11th place among Essex County schools. The Belbells amassed only 406 points while winning three losing five and tying one last year. In 1953 Belleville was recognized as the 23rd best team in the state.

The Saylor Ratings reveal that Belleville is considered the fourth best team among members of the Big Ten Conference which takes in nine Group IV Essex powers and Kearny from Hudson County. Although in fourth place among Big Ten Conference teams, the Blue and Gold enjoyed the best season record except for undefeated Montclair. Berlinski's boys lost only one and tied one. On the other hand Nutley lost to Montclair and Orange, East Orange lost to Montclair and listen to this; they also were defeated by Belleville in the season inaugural for the first time since the series was started 10 years ago.

The Saylor Ratings take into consideration the strength of the opposition and not only the final win and loss records. The system is recognized as the official yardstick of comparison for the Western Pennsylvania Football Conference, a 54-school division, and is also used in the Harrisburg area.

While a team may trail another by only one or two points, Dr. Saylor still considers the teams in a virtual tie. Montclair's 528 rating points is considered about one-third

Cagers Open 1955-56 Basketball Season Tuesday Night

Coach Herman Wische Expects To Field Strong Team Using Holdovers From Last Season

Tuesday night, Belleville's basketball team will come upon a fork in the road. One path will be labeled "victory" and the other "defeat." If the Belbells are to take the "victory" road they will have to overcome but one obstacle—Passaic's basketball team.

In the past this obstacle has proven to be a difficult one. For two successive years the Blue and Gold has been subdued by Passaic.

But the feeling here is that it is Passaic's turn to be subdued. The Belleville team, coached by the same one that won the semifinals of the Essex County Tournament last year. This means that they have as experience—always a tremendous asset in the opening game.

Coach Herman Wische expects to field a rather strong team, as his squad takes the floor Tuesday night for the season opener. Probable starters will be holdovers Joe Long, John Bartell, and Joe Prieto, who were on the team last year. Two other lettersmen from last year's team, Roger Weinstein and Ed Long, are expected to round out the starting five.

Wische said that two other boys, even though they are freshmen, are pushing the first five hard and will probably see plenty of action. They are Ed Long and Joe Prieto, who had a good looking sophomore prospect on the team, Dominick Klein, who would also be used. The four other positions on the varsity squad have not been settled upon yet.

We doubt that an I.B.M. machine could answer some of the questions that will be answered on Tuesday night. For it is then that the results of Coach Wische's experiments will be known; whether the team will come up to Belleville's high expectations or will be let down by the loss of the fabulous Richie Veith will affect the Belbells.

All encounters with Passaic, the Belbells will prepare for a busy week. On December 18, the Blue and Gold travels to Garfield, then three days later they take on Orange. The Panthers will undoubtedly have blood in their eyes, as they will try to gain revenge for the Belbells' upset victory, even though they were downed by the Belbells. How well the Belleville team will fare against them will be better known after Tuesday night's game.

Girls' Fencing To Start Thursday

The first meeting of the Girls Fencing Club will be at the High School Thursday, December 8 at 7:30 p.m. Girls Fencing is now going in its third year.

Fencing is open to all girls here who are of high school age. The club, supervised by Coach Cook said it is one of the very finest of girls' sports, developing grace, poise and agility. As a form of recreation it offers the concentration of a chess game combined with the speed and intensity of a basketball game.

Commissioner Elmer Hyde, Cook said, sanctioned girls' fencing in the recreation program because, knowing that it is an important sport for girls at all colleges, he felt that it was one of Belleville's girls a fine start when they go to college, or would give them something in common with the girls who do.

HEAVYWEIGHTS TOP CLIFTON SPARTANS

Belleville heavyweights of the Football Little League finished their 1955 season in a blaze of glory with a victory over the Clifton Spartans last Saturday at the Municipal Stadium.

It was a hard fought game all the way with the Spartans posing a constant threat to the Cleaners. Actually it was the team action, the excellent blocking and the tight defensive work of the Jollys that turned the trick. The two teams were very evenly matched as indicated by the 16-16 tie of their previous game. In the first quarter and resulted in a fumble which Belleville recovered and near mid-field started on its touchdown march, with Doug Bartell going over from fourteen yards out. Clifton's defense stopped the attempt for the extra point.

A letter was received this week from a former Nutley resident, Walter Edling, Jr., who now resides in Florida. Edling came out against Musco and forwarded a clipping telling about Miami's graduating football players.

Most of the comments in the article told how the senior players probably receive commissions in the U.S. Navy.

"I don't know what happened to Musco but he was way off base. There will be an official report and investigation of the entire subject by University officials and he should be made available to you," Gustafson said.

"We get plenty of boys who quit school and quit school for that story of Musco's is not true. We don't practice more than 1½ hours a day and on a Thursday, the day before a night game, the boys work for only about half an hour."

"After reading the Musco boy's story, I can't help but feel that Miami is certainly not the place for my son. I recognize football as a sport—certainly not a business! If, at Miami, the keynote of everything is money, I most certainly, under no conditions would allow my son to attend such a college."

"I would like to know whether or not Musco's story is founded upon fact or fancy. It is certainly disconcerting to parents, and I should think to businessmen who employ your graduates, to read such a story in the newspapers."

"I'm afraid if no word is forthcoming from Miami, every one will consider Musco's story as a hoax. The state of things at the University."

Seven Schools Represented On All-Big Ten '11'

Sam Stellatella And Ralph Galascione Are Lone Holdovers On 1955 Nutley Sun "Dream Team"

By Bob Gorlin

The 1955 Nutley Sun All-Big Ten football team is a well represented "dream team" as seven schools contributed to the outstanding aggregation.

Undefeated Montclair again led in landing the most players on the honor team with three being selected. Two other Big Ten powers, Belleville and Kearny, each placed two members on the squad. One player was chosen from each of the following schools, Nutley, East Orange, Bloomfield and Orange.

The only holdovers on the 1955 All-Star team are Sam Stellatella, Nutley center, and Ralph Galascione, Montclair end. While this year's squad has players representing seven schools, a year ago Nutley, Montclair and Bloomfield posed a "stranglehold" on the 11-member unit.

Making the grade from Belleville are the Blue and Gold co-captains, Ed Long and Vince Schiavo, and tackle Bob Paganelli. Haines, also selected were guard Sam Hayes, Orange; quarterback Charley Munford, East Orange; and tackle Joe Yackmack, Bloomfield.

BACKS—The 1955 backfield would be a coach's dream. It combines speed, passing and scoring depth. Anything else needed? As usual picking a first-team backfield was a terrific problem as only four are selected while there are so many good backs to choose from in Big Ten member schools.

Trying to single out any one back from the four finally chosen is almost impossible as each was spotlighted in the headlines as much as the other. Richie Haines, Montclair halfback, led Essex powers in the individual scoring parade, Charley Munford played just about every backfield position. Vince Schiavo, Belleville fullback, is as hard a driver as any in the state and kicked extra points too, and Vince Schiavo was a triple threat dream for Kearny.

Haines is probably the most promising candidate to make good in collegiate circles since he is making the selection while only in his sophomore year.

The Mountie halfback led Essex County in the individual scoring race for most of the season but fell to second place when he was held scoreless in the Thanksgiving Day game against Bloomfield.

Scored 72 points in 12 touchdowns and was edged out in the final week by Fred Wade, of Newark Academy. While scored the same number of touchdowns as Haines but captured the individual title on the strength of tallying six extra points to give him a 78 point total.

Others who have come out of Montclair in recent years have been Royce Flippin, who starred in 1953, and Bob Haines, who was sidelined with injuries, and Bernie People, who was graduated from Montclair last year.

Schiavo, of Kearny, is one of the principle reasons why Kearny lost only two games this year. He did just what he was supposed to do as the backfield for Coach Art Angauer while playing one of the backfield positions.

Triple-threat star did the team's running, passing and punting. He led the team in scoring with 54 points.

Munford is another all-around performer. He saw action at just about every backfield position while eating up yardage for Coach Bob Redmont's East Orange eleven. With the Panthers working out of the single wing, Munford was just at home whether working out of quarterback, halfback or fullback.

Paganelli is the fourth member of the select group. The hard-driving fullback, like Munford, tallied 60 points and led Belleville in scoring. He is a hard-running fullback who can usually be counted on to gain several yards when needed. Most, Paganelli teamed up with Jim Apple and gave Coach Ed Berlinski one of the most feared one-two punches in Essex County. Paganelli scored seven touchdowns and six extra points to give him 60 point total.

ENDS—Ralph Galascione, of Montclair, and Bob Castelli, of Bloomfield, are the selectees. Galascione, a repeater from last year, had a good season but it still wasn't as outstanding as a year ago when he was the terror of Essex ends. A two-way player, Galascione has been singled out by most coaches for his stellar play on defense.

Castelli was one of the bulwarks of the Belleville forward wall. He did a lot of pass catching and forced opposing runners to keep inside as he guarded the outside of the line to perfection.

CENTER—Sam Stellatella is probably the outstanding line player of the entire all-star array and one of the best centers and line backers to ever come out of Nutley High School. Last year as a junior, Stellatella received just about every honor available. He was selected for All-Exsex, All-State, All-Metropolitan and singled out as the best football player of the year in New Jersey.

An iron man who is seldom rested, Stellatella is a bone-crushing tackler as he backs up the line. He is good but to repeat his All-State honors of a year ago.

TACKLES—Ed Long, of Montclair, and Joe Yackmack, of Bloomfield, are the selectees. Long is an outstanding lineman and is being boosted for All-State honors. Both he and Yackmack were masters at opening up holes for the runners and shutting out of the line frequently to lead interference on offensive attacks.

GUARDS—Sam Hayes, of Orange, and Bob Savoy, of Kearny, are the choices for the all-important middle of the line position. Both are vicious tacklers and possess just about everything that a coach looks for in a defensive player. All pilots who faced the pair had nothing but praise for their stand-out performances.

Praises Little Leaguers

Coach Wische Stresses Game Should Not Be Played In Sacrifice Of Home Duty, Church Or School

All members of the Football Little League met briefly last Sunday at the Municipal Stadium. Herman Wische, Belleville football and basketball coach, William Kintzing, director of the Football Little League, Harold Brand, assistant superintendent of recreation and Robert E. Cook, superintendent of recreation, spoke.

The players were informed that they could keep their jerseys. Cook thanked the League director and coaches for the time they had given and the quality of the job they had done. The boys also were congratulated for sportsmanship, character and clean play.

Wische Stresses Points
Coach Wische said he admired the skill the players had developed. Wische stressed that a game should not be played to the sacrifice of home duties, church or school. He mentioned the handsome scholarships available to good athletes, provided their school marks are high enough.

"Football must be fitted into its proper place in your life, it is a means to an end—not an end in itself," he said. After the talks the boys on the Varsity Club Team presented their coaches Frank Donnelly and Vincent Sorrentino with pen and pencil sets. Next the Lions' coaches, Dawson Bloom and Richard Sutton, were presented jackets by the parents of their team members.

This year, the Recreation Department reported, one hundred boys played in its Little League. This was, in a large part, made possible by those who sponsored teams, the recreation department said. Each sponsor donated the pants, shoulder pads, and jerseys for twenty boys. The sponsors were the Lions Club, the Elks Club, the Kiwanis Club, the Varsity Club and the Jolly Glensers.

Coaches
Coaches of the Football Little League Teams were: Lions, Dawson Bloom and Richard Sutton; Elks, Ted DelGrosso and Fred McQuilkin; Kiwanis, John Byrne and Ed Hollings; Varsity Club, Francis Donnelly and Vince Sorrentino and the Jollys, Joe LaMin, Eddie O'Neil, Pete Lafore, and Ralph Casale. Next year the Recreation Department plans to expand its football program to include boys from age 10 thru 14 years, it announced. There will be two Leagues of four teams each, under the department's plans.

The board said that although Bangert is not getting paid by it during his leave, it should perhaps reconsider the leave and cancel it, and question Bangert about his reasons for wanting absence from his employment.

Commissioner Joseph King said at the last commission meeting that the department five years ago saved the town about $40,000 by throwing out the first list of bids submitted because of exorbitant costs, and re-advertising for more. King suggested a watchful waiting policy, stating perhaps the town could do the same thing. The annual garbage collection cost is $98,000. The contract ended yesterday.

hold in the Belleville community. "This is a fine community," he said, "and it deserves to have a local paper which will give the citizens full and impartial news coverage, while editorially striving for civic improvements that will serve the entire community." Bloom said he would welcome reader participation, both in the form of letters to the editor and by suggestions made by readers for improvements or new features the paper could carry. "It's only by this type of participation," he said, "that we can tell if we're really serving the best interests of the town."

Wards of Politicians
Arvidson argued that he requested the extra votes to insure support for a better schools policy and to help prevent election of candidates put up by town hall politicians. Arvidson blamed political interests for the defeat of the referendum and said it was not only necessary now to select good candidates but also to organize an active campaign for their election. Fifty six men and women representing 22 organizations attended the session. The organizations consisted of eleven parent-teacher groups, Legion Post 108; two VFW posts, Joseph C. Tall post; Younginger Alden Auxiliary; Belleville Citizens Association; Belleville Homeowners Association; Better Schools Committee; Rotary Club; Riviera Park Civic Association; Silver Lake and Scho Taxpayers Association; West End Civic League and the Woman's Club of Belleville.

Sonnet XIX

(On his blindness)

When I consider how my light is spent, Ere half my days in this dark world and wide,
And that one talent which is death to hide Lodged with me useless, though my soul more bent

To serve therewith my Maker, and present My true account, lest He returning chide, "Dost God exact day-labour, light denied?" I fondly ask. But Patience, to prevent That murmur, soon replies, "God doth not need Either man's work or his own gifts. Who best Bear His mild yoke, they serve him best.
His state

Is kingly: thousands at his bidding speed, And post o'er land and ocean without rest;
They also serve who only stand and wait."

John Milton

(This sonnet was the selection of Congressman Peter W. Rodino as his favorite poem for inclusion in the "Congressional Anthology," published today in Washington.)

Public Trust Necessary

Paper Must Give Full Picture Of Town Life

For any newspaper to be worth the newsprint that it is printed on, it must first and foremost be accepted by the community in which it is published. Gathering and printing the news, soliciting advertising, or publishing an occasional editorial on some pertinent issue is not enough. Public acceptance and trust is the cornerstone upon which any newspaper must be built.

If this holds true with a metropolitan daily, then it is even more an irrefutable truth with a weekly community newspaper.
In a community such as Belleville the newspaper could be, and should be, as much a part of community life as the schools, the churches, the very citizens themselves. To do this, the paper must act as a two-way street, both reflecting and molding public opinion on issues vital to the welfare of the community; it must present all the news pertinent to all the citizens of that community; and it must constantly bear in mind that its primary allegiance is to the community to which it owes its existence, not to any one group.

To carry out these requisites is no small undertaking. Oftentimes the truth is obscured by false issues, even after honest effort has been exerted to separate the true from the false, the relevant from the unimportant. On other occasions it is all too easy to accept the first explanation for a given situation, and completely overlook the deeper ramifications. At times, it is difficult to resist pressure exerted by influential groups or individuals. But in spite of these obstacles, it is the avowed purpose of this paper to bring an unbiased, impartial picture of Belleville community life into as many homes in the community as it is possible to reach.

Let us make it clear from the start that this newspaper, or any other self-respecting paper, can have no personal grudges to settle or axes to grind. Our editorial policy is based on a two-fold premise: to fully reflect community life as it exists, and to attempt to mold public opinion to strive toward a better Belleville.

Our news columns carry impartial accounts of events taking place in the community and affecting its citizens. Full effort will be devoted toward achieving a complete and impartial coverage, with no groups overlooked, and none unduly publicized. Scandal, crime and other sensational news will not be over-emphasized in an attempt to satisfy the sadistic taste of any segment of our readers. On the other hand, however, it will not be ignored, but presented in its proper perspective.

Eventually, it is the hope of any good community newspaper to enter the home of every family in the community it serves.
It might sound as if we're shooting high, but we feel confident that if the citizens of Belleville are given a paper that can be proud to bring home for the family to read, our ultimate hopes will be realized. In the meantime, in a spirit of helpfulness and cooperation, we are here to serve you — the people of Belleville. A. M. B.

The Polio Imbroglia

Governor Robert Meyner should step in to end the confusion which has, once again, upset the Salk vaccine inoculation program which was due to start here next week. The inoculation of children up to 15 years of age, as planned here in a special clinic, is vitally necessary. The children are entitled to the Salk protection-so that even if they do contract polio it will be only slightly. Their parents' dimes, given each year to the March of Dimes, made the vaccine possible.

"S-D Day," — Safe Driving Day Or Sudden Death Day?

Today, here and across America, is "S-D Day," being observed at the suggestion of President Eisenhower to bring a sensible end to the senseless slaughter of thousands in traffic accidents annually. Whether it is a "Safe Driving Day" or a "Sudden Death Day" depends only upon the individuals, drivers as well as pedestrians.

Nine out of every ten traffic accidents involving fatalities have been due to individual human errors; only one of ten could be traced to mechanical failures. Speed was the number one killer last year. It caused the death of more than 45 per cent of all drivers killed; driving on the wrong side of the road ranked second, and in many cases, drivers were on the wrong side of the road, on curves, because of excessive speed.

All in all, traffic accidents killed 36,000 people and injured 1,250,000 in the United States last year. The automobile which was intended as an instrument of service and of pleasure, has developed into a juggernaut of death and destruction more deadly than most of the armaments of war.

Today has been set aside as "National Safe Driving Day." It was preceded by ten days of preparation, and will be followed by ten days of continued observance. It is hoped that drivers and pedestrians alike will learn to discipline themselves in all the factors that make for the elimination of accidents and the preservation of life and limb.
No campaign is more sorely needed; no campaign promises greater rewards.

Do your part. Take care — that you may live, and that you may be the means of protecting the life and welfare of your fellow citizens. R. E. H.

One Man's Opinion

One Dam Doesn't Mean 'Victory' Any More Than One Swallow Makes A Summer

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

The word "Dam," used not as an expletive but as a symbol of development, might explain the unhappy impression in which we find ourselves as Soviet Russia opens the era of "competitive coexistence" by offering to build the High Dam at Aswan, on the Nile River, and take payment in Egyptian cotton and rice while the best we can do is help underwrite its $800,000,000 cost through the "World Bank," the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.
We're damned if we do build the dam, and we're damned if we don't.

For the past 40 years, America has furnished the "know-how," the equipment and material, the engineers and the financing for most of the major industrial and power developments among the backward nations. It was virtually a monopoly. Now the Russians, with vast empty markets at home and in their satellites, are in open competition with us.

They ask to trade the products of their industrial development against the produce of the soil. In that way, they get the raw materials they need so badly without dipping into their foreign exchange holdings and yet by exporting the surplus of their industries they will provide jobs at home and be able to continue the industrial expansion which will assure them of a tremendous potential if, ever again, they will have to go to war. Either way, they win.

Biggest Dam Of All

In the negotiations for financing the Aswan High Dam, the United States faces the severest test it has yet faced or is likely to face for a long time in the era of "competitive coexistence" with the Communist bloc of nations.

The Upper Nile project—said to be the largest irrigation, flood control, and hydroelectric undertaking in history, dwarfing even Lake Mead, impounded by the higher but narrower Hoover Dam —is regarded by Egyptians as vital if their country is to keep up with the normal growth of its population and to improve, even maintain, the standard of living of its millions of fellahs or peasant farmers.

The dam itself, which will impound four times as much water as Hoover Dam, will cost close to 600 million dollars, while canal generators, and other works to make it effective will probably take another 300 million dollars.
About half the total outlay must be raised in Egyptian currency over a 10-to-15 year period without, if possible, producing inflation in Egypt.

Costly To U. S.

Negotiations have begun in Washington by which it is hoped that the "World Bank" will finance the part of the investment which Egypt will need from outside, approximately 600 million dollars.
Whether the bank can do this will depend on what the United States Government will subscribe to the undertaking as a major piece of technical assistance.

But, of course, the United States is not the only bidder for the opportunity of assisting Egypt in the Nile project because the Soviet Union, through its ambassador in Cairo and with the aid of equipment from the Eastern bloc, has offered to finance and build the dam, taking payment over 25 years in cotton and rice.

Business By Barter

The Soviet bloc has an important advantage in this bidding in that the transaction could be carried out between Cairo and Moscow practically on a barter basis.

The Soviet Union and its satellites can use Egyptian cotton and other agricultural products to improve the living of their consumers.

The great question would be whether they can actually deliver cotton and other commodities in equivalent to those of the West.

By contrast, if the "World Bank" is to be paid, either it must take payment in cotton for resale or Egypt must find a market for the commodity and earmark its sales value, in foreign currency, for its debt with the "World Bank."

The United States does not want the Egyptian cotton since it has a surplus of its own, even in long-fiber staple. If the United States is to advance the money, it must either consider a large part of it as a grant or else find ways to take payment indirectly in Egypt's products.

Round-About Way

Perhaps in the non-Communist area the Japanese textile industry could buy the Nile Valley cotton, but then it would need markets for its cloth either in the United States, where textile mills already complain of competition, or in Southeast Asia. From there the United States might take payment in rubber, tin, and copra.

America's surpluses ought not to be a handicap in the effort to help other countries. Yet they have this effect when they are in the same commodity other countries have for sale unless American industry can devise multilateral channels of trade through a global clearing house and the American market absorb some repayment in goods.

Red "Marshall Plan"

Washington, continuing to watch anxiously the Asian tour of Khrushchev and Bulganin is asking itself now whether the Kremlin is about to launch a Marshall Plan for India, Burma, Afghanistan, and other development-hungry parts of free and neutralist Asia.

Washington suspects that more grandiose talk than actual performance will result from the tour. But it is not overlooking the fact that India will be commencing its second Five-Year Plan next April and that its total foreign exchange needs for that period may run to $1,500, 000,000.

India will need foreign loan for a portion of this. "Will it get the money from the Soviet Union or the United States?" Moscow is expected to make a big play for Indian favor. What will Washington do? So far, it has taken only of reducing foreign aid allocations to India.

Politics May Intervene

The administration in Washington, in what is said to be a move to balance the budget and prepare the ground for election year tax cuts, is currently cutting back all foreign aid by 20 per cent, incidentally reducing the aid program for India in the process.

Communist strategy, meanwhile, is seeking softer spots than Europe in which to extend Soviet influence. Bulganin and Khrushchev found that a vast new field awaits outside aid in India, where neutrality in the cold war has so far paid off.

There is no use denying that since Geneva there is a momentous change in the atmosphere in which America must continue to exercise leadership for long-range security reasons affecting itself and its allies.

Cannot Tie Strings

It is very important that America should sense the nature of this change. For it means that American efforts on behalf of the well-being of the poor in peoples must continue, but without the quid pro quo Americans tend to expect.

For example, a loan to India cannot stipulate that India must cancel the Western alliance. Such a loan will not be to the benefit of India in a military sense against Communism. It will buy little direct propaganda among the Indian people.

But there can be little doubt that if the United States chooses to leave a financial vacuum in India, somebody else will move into it.

Already the Soviet Union, with its offer to finance the High Dam on the Nile for Egypt, is showing an awareness of the uses of peaceful penetration into the Middle East. Moscow has also offered to finance Lebanon's Litani River program.

Should India ask for an American loan, as it is expected to do, it will do so in order to close a gap which will be left in its financing after aid from other sources.

The British Commonwealth Colombo Plan is believed ready to advance about $500,000,000, and there is not to be available some $350,000,000 in other forms of foreign aid. American money went into India's first five-year plan, so this is not unfamiliar ground to us.

Somewhat unfamiliar, however, may be the demand — and

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

A recent address by Carroll M.
Shanks, president of the Prudential Insurance Co. before an audience at Ursula College attracted the theme that "it must be admitted that individual actors may sometimes depart from academic integrity to propagandize when they should teach."

One wonders to what extent his forceful words might be applied to the active participation in this community of many members of the teaching profession, including supervisors, in their shorter quest for support to impose upon a fortunately aroused audience their extravagant school expansion aims?

The public having spoken vocally in defiance of these unjustified procedures, demonstrated their disapproval of school personnel participation in propaganda drives to further school expansion designed to impose needless staggering debt upon their local government.

Now that the problem, in our least, seems to have been resolved, let us await public reaction in their choice of school board trustees to determine if the will of the vast majority of Belleville citizens will be respected and the sound practical approach applied to the advancement of better educational quality for our students emphasized, rather than gingerbread school building castles whose chief contribution seemingly would have been to gratify educational ambitions of ambitious educators and to have lined the pockets of construction contractors while the tax payer was bled white.

A return to sanity is in order, with it should be the concentration by the members of Belleville's teaching fraternity and its school superiors to their assigned chore: Prudent Shanks indicated is their first responsibility, that of teaching, not propagandizing.

Life at BHS

as we see it

The Robin Hood Inn will be the scene of the annual football banquet Wednesday evening. Senior members of the band, twirlers, and cheerleaders will be the guests of the Belleville Varsity Club, which sponsors the affairs. It should be a very exciting evening for all who attend.

The Menard staff has just selected two more editors. Harry Glass is art editor of the year book, and Elaine Pless is photographer editor. Good luck, kids.

Last week's Thanksgiving game was so great that everyone's still talking about it. There's no denying that Belleville's score really added to our enjoyment of the holiday. For the seniors the game was particularly memorable, because it marked another "last time." More than one girl we know is still treasuring a somewhat wilted chrysanthemum.

Another report card day has come and gone, leaving its effects on all of us. Oh well, we still have four more this year. Why worry?

Mr. Kupferer and his able assistants are already planning this year's talent show. Committees have been formed to write the script and to audition the talent. We can't divulge any information as yet, but we hear the show is going to be better than last year's. That means it's really got to be good! Wait and see!

With the Thanksgiving holidays over, everyone's thoughts are turning toward Christmas. Just remember, only 15 more school days 'til vacation.

Mrs. Henry Batsche

Mrs. Amelia Renkin Batsche of 327 Union Ave., widow of Henry C. Batsche, died Monday after being bedridden the last four years with illnesses of old age. She was 92.

Born in Oldenburg, Germany, Mrs. Batsche came to this country in 1887. She lived in Newark and later moved to Maplewood before going to Belleville to live with her daughter, Mrs. Clara W. Massz at the Union Ave. address 21 years ago. Her husband died in 1918.

For many years Mrs. Batsche devoted much of her time to volunteer work at the Newark German Hospital, now Clara Mass Memorial Hospital.

Besides her daughter, she leaves three granddaughters and six great-grandchildren.

50TH ANNIVERSARY OF ORDINATION TO BE HELD IN NUTLEY

Solemn High Mass Sunday At Holy Family And Dinner Will Honor Father Jannarone

Rev. Augustine P. Jannarone

A solemn high mass will be celebrated at noon on Sunday at Holy Family Church in commemoration of the 50th anniversary of the ordination of Reverend Augustine P. Jannarone. A dinner in his honor will be held Sunday evening at the Holy Family School Hall, at which Monsignor Anthony DeLuca, pastor of the Holy Family Church, will deliver the invocation and Saint W. Brown will act as toastmaster.

The dinner has been arranged by a committee comprised of Brown, as chairman, Mrs. Samuel W. Brown, Harry DeFuria, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Hausler, Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Jannarone and Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Jannarone. Father Jannarone, now in his 78th year, was born on January 16, 1878, at Ariano Irpino, Avellino, Italy. Because of the early death of his mother, his father had to sell most of his property for the support of his large family. Augustine was compelled to work long before his 18th birthday. For that reason he completed his elementary studies at the age of 19 and entered the Seminary in Ariano study Philosophy and Theology. On December 23rd, 1905, at the age of twenty-eight, he was ordained a priest.

Father Jannarone was made administrator of Our Redeemer Church, near his home town, on May 15, 1906. Every morning he had to walk seven miles to his church for the daily Mass.

In 1911 he received his grammar school teacher's degree, studying privately while serving his church. He was a teacher at Pontana alla Concozia, in Naples, studying privately until he received the degree of high school principal. Also, he obtained a pharmacist degree at Naples University while teaching in public and private schools.

During World War I, he served in the Italian Army and took care of war orphans. He still shows great love for children who often surround him at street corners. In 1927, Father came to America. For awhile he served at the Church of St. Anthony, in Paterson, then as administrator at St. Anthony's Church, in East Newark. For three years he worked with the Scalabrini Fathers, Newark, was assistant at St. Anthony's and St. Michael's churches, New Haven, Conn. and then at St. Michael's, in Atlantic City. He later served for two years as Chaplain at Columbus Hospital, in New York.

In 1932, he went to Chicago for the occasion of the beatification of Mother Cabrini and he had the privilege of assisting at the exhumation of her body and of accompanying it to New York. His latest assignments were at St. Dominic's Church and St. Theresa's Church, Bronx, and presently he is assistant pastor of the Church of Santa Maria, in the Bronx.

SAM SLOAN NEVER HAD IT SO BAD

If you take a Hoboken ferry to New York, you'll probably walk across the familiar plaza and pass by Sam Sloan, railroad president before the turn of the century. His statue stands right on the spot which is a truck turnaround, public parking place, and a bus terminus.

Sam Sloan would be amazed to hear that today his railroad pays over $8,000.00 a year in taxes on this plaza, maintained primarily for the convenience of the public... and the convenience, incidentally, of the railroad's competitors.

Such continued high taxation on many facilities which produce no railroad income and are maintained almost entirely for public convenience, is just one more example of the problems faced by the railroads trying to do business in New Jersey today.

Such examples create this major railroad problem—

... The railroad industry pays $1.64 in taxes in New Jersey for every $1.00 earned by serving New Jersey freight and passenger customers.

... New Jersey collects more taxes per mile of railroad than any state in the Nation.

... If other states adopted New Jersey tax rates on railroads there would be no railroad tax problems—all railroads would simply go bankrupt—then face government ownership—and pay no taxes at all.

A fair solution to these problems is important not just to the railroads but to the welfare and future progress of every New Jersey community. The better railroad service of the future—upon which such progress depends—can come only if railroads are allowed the reasonable earnings needed for improvements. Now, all they make and more goes for New Jersey taxes.

You can help—by being a well-informed citizen and speaking your mind on what needs to be done to get tax fair play in New Jersey. You'll find the facts in "Facts on Tracks." Just write: Railroad Information Bureau, 11 Commerce Street, Newark 2, N. J.
