Mayor Establishes December 30 Deadline For Commissioners In Submitting 1956 Monetary Requests; Urges Against Unnecessary Spending

Economy is the highlight of preparations which are being made to draw up the town budget for the coming year. Mayor Isador J. Padula set the pattern this week in letters he sent out to Belleville town commissioners, in which he called for economy in departmental requests for the 1956 budget.

The Mayor set a deadline of December 30 for each department director to submit his budget requests "in full detail." That deadline has been set, he stated, "since the departmental budgets must be studied by the Board of Commissioners in session with the finance director (Padula) and the town treasurer, before the composite of the five separate budgets can be reviewed by the auditor and presented to town residents and state officials, in early January."

Would Increase Tax Rate
At the same time that Mayor Padula was urging economy in all phases of the town budget, he revealed that the proposed pay increase for Belleville town employees would increase the local tax rate by 24 points over the present $7.02 tax rate. Town commissioners are presently studying a proposal which would increase the salaries of municipal employees from between $400 and $600 a year.

Police and firemen have asked a flat $400 wage hike, while other town workers have asked for a 24-point increase over the present $7.02 tax rate. Town commissioners are presently studying a proposal which would increase the salaries of municipal employees from between $400 and $600 a year.

RISOLI ASSAILS TOWN CONFERENCE

School Board Candidate Attacks Group At Organizational Meeting

Ralph Risoli, who announced his candidacy for one of the three positions on the Belleville Board of Education which will be filled in the February election, this week assailed the Belleville Conference at an organizational meeting of his supporters.

The Conference is composed of representatives of various organizations, with the purpose of selecting qualified persons to run in School Board elections. The first election for school board representation held last year, the Conference selected William A. Boy as their candidate, who subsequently won the one post up for election.

The Belleville Conference, in its own words, "picked out" and then elected the board of education. It is the hope of the Conference that nominations will be tantamount to election.

Risoli claimed that the Conference attempted to strengthen its arguments by mentioning numerous organizations represented in the voting procedure by which candidates are selected by the Conference.

He stated, "Since I am a member of a number of these organizations, I feel confident and qualified to state that the Conference does not have the backing of the people of Belleville as a whole." Risoli added that he thought "the Conference was usurping" the right of the people to select their own candidates.

Chief Lists Xmas Tree Precautions

Fire chief Harry White this week released the following list of precautions for local residents if they want to go through the Holiday season without accident.

1. Choose a small tree rather than a large one.
2. Store it outdoors until a day or two before Christmas.
3. When you bring it in, stand it in water and set it in a cool part of the house, away from radiators, heaters and fireplaces. Don't let it block an exit.
4. Be sure every lighting set and electric cord you use is in good condition, no worn or frayed wires, no loose sockets. Never use candles.
5. When you buy new sets or cords, look for UL label. The one that bear it have passed Underwriters Laboratories tests for fire and shock hazards.
6. Don't let a wire or some distance from the tree for turning tree lights on and off.
7. Ornamenting should be made of fireproof materials, like metal or glass. Never decorate with cotton or paper unless they are labeled fireproof or flameproof.
8. Never set up electric tinsel under the tree.
9. Don't let the tree's wrappings pile up under or near the tree.
10. Don't leave tree lights burning when you are home.
11. From time to time, see whether needles near the lights have started to turn brown.
12. Do not change the position of the lights.
13. When needles start to fall, take the tree down and discard it outdoors.

MRS. E. A. ROCHAU WOMEN'S LEADER IN MARCH OF DIMES

James J. Tully, Municipal Campaign Chairman, Announces Selection For January Drive

Mrs. Edward A. Rochau, of 33 Fairview Place, will head the Women's Division of the 1956 March of Dimes in Belleville.

James J. Tully, municipal campaign chairman, who announced the appointment this week, declared "it is vital that local residents contribute to the drive for funds to fight polio."

Mrs. Rochau issued a statement asking for women volunteer workers to solicit funds at business houses, movie theatres, dances, and other places where people gather.

She said patient aid must still be given those persons already stricken and those sure to be stricken by polio in the coming months. She said training of doctors and nurses to cope with polio must continue.

"The wonderful Salk vaccine will undoubtedly lessen the number of cases of polio throughout the nation, but the problem is not solved yet," she said. "Research for even better vaccines is still going forward."

Soderland Fined
John Soderland, 51, of 56 Academy Street, was fined $220 and his license revoked two years on a charge of drunk driving this week by Magistrate Edward J. Ahomson.

Soderland pleaded not guilty. He was arrested November 20 after being involved in an accident at Rutgers and Cortland Streets by Officers George Lister and Joseph Marion Stanley J. Barra.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gorlin

Men, Young And Old Get Workout

The Recreation Department's new gymnasium activity program, put into effect last Monday night in the High School gym, got off to a flying start with 25 men turning out for the first workout. Director A. J. the activity. Hal "Bud" Brand, was impressed with the first night's turnout and said that the figure will probably be doubled next Monday. "The best thing about the program is that it is for men between all ages. Signed up for the weekly activity night are Belleville residents between 21 and 65 years of age," Brand told me yesterday.

"It is an informal program starting at 7:30 o'clock with the men doing whatever they want. There is calisthenics, volleyball, basketball, badminton, tumbling and bicycle rollers to keep everyone busy. Last week the men had a good time and really worked up a sweat as they try to keep in good physical condition."

Continuing on Brand said, "The program is slanted for those men of all ages looking for a place to keep their muscles in shape — and perhaps get rid of a few extra pounds. All that is required are a pair of sneakers and a gym suit."

The evening program supervisors are Herman "Jitty" Wische, popular Belleville High School basketball coach, and Mike Rosamilia, a member of the High School faculty. Ed Littig, well-known in the bicycle racing field, is helping out with instruction on the bike rollers.

So, if your wife will give you a couple of hours off on Monday nights drop in at the High School gym and get a good workout. The exercise will do you a world of good and maybe the next time you have to run for a bus you won't be out of breath for the next half hour.

Grid Seniors Honored At Banquet

Close to 300 of Belleville's most faithful grid fans attended the Varsity Club's 11th annual Football Banquet, Wednesday night, at the Robia Hood Inn, Upper Montclair, to help honor 12 seniors who played their last game in a Blue and Gold uniform against Orange on Thanksgiving Day. The entire Belleville varsity were the guests of the sports minded organization of which Art Leadbeater is president.

Highlight of the evening was the presence of Frank Trippuca, one-time All-American quarterback for Notre Dame in 1948, and now a standout player for Saskatchewan in the Canadian Football League. A resident of nearby Bloomfield, Trippuca also played for the St. Louis Cardinals, Detroit Lions, Philadelphia Eagles and Dallas Texans in the National Football League. He told about several experiences encountered in the "play for pay" game.

The suspense filled feature of the after-dinner program was of course the awarding of the most improved player trophy, named in honor of the late Nelson J. Landon, former Belleville High School athlete and Varsity Club member who died while serving in the U. S. Navy. Succeeding Mike Dal Bon, who won the award a year ago were co-captain Bob Castell and quarterback Frank Puleo. Making the final choice were several members of the Varsity Club who saw all eight Belleville games and were aided in making the tough decision by hearing recommendation from the Belleville coaching staff. This is the third time in four years that two players have been selected as the most improved with Dal Bon breaking the spell last Fall. Both players showed steady improvement from the season and made their presence felt more and more with every passing game.

Castelli was a good all-round player seeing action on both offense and defense. He was a leader when in opposition had possession of the ball and usually forced the rival runners from skirting the outside of the line. Puleo was as slick a ball handler in Essex County this season. A good T formation quarterback, Puleo was very deceptive and did a neat job of masterminding the Blue and Gold strategy.

During the program the co-captains for the 1956 Belleville team were made public for the first time. Elected to lead the team next Fall were halfback Frank Malfatto and tackle Wayne Worley.

The Varsity Club-Nutley Third Half Club trophy went back to Nutley for another year with co-captains Bob Paganelli and Castell turning over the coveted award to All-Metropolitan center Sam Stellatella. Each team has won five games since the trophy was put up for the first time 10 years ago. Also representing the Third Half Club were president Lawrence Kester, Sr., and treasurer J. Alden De Ronde.

Toastmaster for the annual football dinner was Bill Chapman, a past president of the club. The invocation was given by Rev. H. E. Goldston.

Belleville seniors who received individual statuettes were: Paganelli, Castell, Emilio Menarquez, Puleo, Joe Casale, Harry Glass, Joe Brown, Jerry Gundry, Bob Lane, Richie Hangee, Joe Serritella and Jim Apple.

Belville High Five Opens Season With 68-56 Victory Over Passaic

Coch Herman Wische's Cagers Get Hot In Second Half After Trailing 34-3 At Intermission

By Dave Thaler

Ripping a nip and tuck game wide open at the seams, the Belleville High School cagers handed Passaic the short end of a 68-56 score in the season's opener Tuesday night. To the delight of a capacity home crowd, the Blue and Gold overcame a 34-3 halftime deficit to defeat the Indians of Passaic by a comfortable margin.

Passaic could not get an attack going in the first half, and ditto for the Bellboys. This was probably due to the fact that both teams were playing their first game.

Coch Herman Wische's boys were the first to draw blood, and after they dunked five points, Passaic decided to do a little scoring of their own. Two teams played on a par for most of the first quarter, Belleville, however, started to click

ST. MARY'S TOP BOWLERS WIN 3

No. 1 Team Records Second Clean Sweep In Row In CYO Senior Mixed League

St. Mary's, Nutley's No. 1 bowling squad continued its torrid pace in the Essex County Senior CYO Mixed Bowling League, recording its second three-game sweep in a row. However, St. Mary's couldn't pick up any ground as both St. Stanislaus 1, of Newark, and St. John's, of Orange, tied for first, registered sweeps. The victims were St. Mary's No. 2 and No. 3 teams.

St. Mary's 1 walloped St. Leo's 1, of Irvington, 677-614, 715-670 and 676-616. Giving away as much as 97 pins, the locals were seldom in trouble. Joanne Zawadzki, currently in fourth place in the girls' standings with a 134 average, led the way with games of 145, 163 and 142 to boost her average to 129. Terry Inaugurate, chipped in with a 153 game.

St. Mary's 1 now has a 20-7 record and still remains two games off the pace.

St. Mary's 2 faced St. John's and despite the advantage of a 85-pin spot, couldn't do a thing about it. The locals lost, 725-599, 707-515 and 709-644. June Ryan's 132 game was high for the losers who now have a record of seven wins, 20 losses.

St. Mary's 3 went up against St. Stanislaus 1 and succumbed, 751-748, 711-655 and 776-693. Jerry Lundbardo's 198 in the opener made the first game close. St. Mary's 3 is now 11-16.

KESSLER NAMED FOX ASSISTANT

Appointment of Jerome L. Kessler, Newark lawyer, as legislative secretary to Donald C. Fox, Senator-elect from Essex County, was announced today. Senator-elect Fox and Mrs. Fox returned Saturday, from a two and one-half week Caribbean tour.

A former Essex County assistant prosecutor, Kessler served on the staff of the now Supreme Court Justice William A. Wachenfeld, during a part of the time the Senator-elect was first assistant prosecutor.

Kessler is secretary of the board of trustees of the Boys' Club of Newark, and state chairman of the United States Committee for Sports in Israel. He is former state chairman of the Junior Section of the New Jersey State Bar Association and member of its board of trustees. He is also former state chairman of the Junior Bar Conference, American Bar Association.

The chairman of finance, William Frey, reported that through the Community Chest and Sustaining Memberships the district had failed to reach its share of the Council budget with Belleville reaching the highest percentage of available boys of any district in the Council and using Council facilities such as Scout Acres in Bonton and Camp Mohican in Blairstown most each year and in order to serve an ever increasing number of boys . . . ways and means of meeting the district's budgetary needs must be found.

Douglas Wadsworth, district commissioner reported that Belleville now has 13 Cub Packs, 45 Scout Troops and 3 Explorer Units. One out of every three boys between the ages of 8 and 16 are now enrolled in Scouting.

Plans to bring this ratio to one out of two are now under way.

Gas Mileage goes up AGAIN

And so does the thrill - with Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflo!

WITH ALL the big excitement of Buick's 1956 styling and power and ride and handling—it's easy to overlook this fact:

Gas mileage in the '56 Buicks takes a big step upward. One reason, of course, is the new power plant itself. Every new Buick cradles an advanced 322-cubic-inch V8 engine with the highest horsepower, Series for Series, in all Buick history. Yet every engine delivers more efficiency, and more usable power to the rear wheels—because each one has a new double "V" manifold, and a new high in compression ratio.

But the major reason for the happy news in gas mileage—and for the new step-up in safety and thrills—is Buick's latest version of Variable Pitch Dynaflo.

In this airplane-principled transmission, you always had a gas-saving cruising range—and, at a switch of the pitch, a full-power getaway range.

Now Buick engineers have brought to this cruising range what they call "double regeneration." It simply means a new way to make flowing oil add to its own velocity to build up driving force.

So now, you merely nudge the pedal to part throttle and get new breakaway getaway. And since you get this quicker, safer response in your normal cruising range—where you don't use full power—you get plenty more miles from every tankful of gas.

But when you do need sudden safety-surge for emergencies, you just floor the pedal to switch the pitch. Instantly, you're at full-power acceleration—and it's the most thrilling safety measure in the land.

How about coming in to try the most modern transmission yet?

The absolute smoothness of this new Dynaflo is worth a visit in itself. So you can be sure you're in for a wealth of wonderful surprises—for that's just the start of the best Buick yet. Can you make it this week?

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Century—optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

have been served, should private medicine be allowed to buy serum and sell inoculated protection.

Yet it is the unfortunate truth that here in New Jersey, through no fault of the National Foundation for the Prevention of Polio, the state, by official decision, has adopted a distributive formula allocating 65.3 per cent of available vaccine to doctors for private use as against 34.7 per cent for public use in free clinics. And there have been suggestions that actually the ratio is closer to 75 and 25 per cent.

Governor Meyner owes it to the parents of New Jersey children to move swiftly and drastically to lift the fog of official confusion which surrounds the state's distribution of Salk vaccine. From here it appears that Dr. Bergsma, state health commissioner, is to blame. It should be easy enough for Governor Meyner, right there in Trenton, to pinpoint the responsibility. Heads should roll, because the health of more than a million New Jersey children is at stake and it is intolerable that official neglect or incompetence should endanger them.

It is inexcusable that the Belleville free clinic which should have been in progress this week had to be postponed indefinitely because there was not even one shot of vaccine available, while, at the same time, Belleville physicians had ample Salk vaccine on hand to inoculate their patients, privately, at $15 for the series of three shots.

It was not for that that America gave its dime!

In New York State, officials use a formula the reverse of New Jersey's. Eighty per cent of New York's vaccine is reserved for schools and free clinics and only 20 per cent is available to private outlets. New York State has plenty of vaccine; New Jersey is in short supply. It is obvious that there has been negligence behind our confusion.

Gentlemen Looking For Longer Tonsorial Styles

The announcement last week by the Nutley-Belleville Barber's Association that haircut prices would be jumped from $1.25 to $1.50 caught one rather balding editor by surprise. From this corner, it would appear that the barbers are cutting their noses to spite their hair. Without stretching the memory too far back, it is easy to recall when haircuts were 50c, then 75c, finally hit the $1 mark, and then went on to the $1.25 level. All these raises were viewed with scorn at the time, but finally accepted.

However, from comments heard on the street, it appears that the barbers have outdone themselves this time. They will probably find themselves in much the same predicament that many transportation services are now in. These services, met with increasing costs, tried to counter the situation by raising fares. The raise in fares merely resulted in reduced passengers. Further boosts in fare prices resulted in still more people abandoning the public transportation services, until today many bus lines find themselves worse off than before the fare boosts.

The increase in the cost of the ordinary haircut is playing right into the hands of manufacturers of "cut your hair at home" sets. The higher prices will force many family men to make this purchase and become their own barbers. Also, it is not unlikely that men's hair styles are going to take a drastic turn toward the long hairdo. The average man won't go back to caveman styles, or even colonial shoulder-length fashions, but I think it's safe to expect the close cropped crew cuts to be a thing of the past.

Song For An Autumn Night

There's a path in the sky, and the wild duck knows its leading.
Dark on the gray and gold of the quiet west,
Home-certain wings are lifting and falling,
speeding
Straight to the sheltering sedge and the flock at rest.

There's a path in the woods, and wild feet know its furrow.
Wary and light and swift the furred feet go
The secret way that leads to den and burrow,
Warm from the wind, dry from the rain and the snow.

The homing path of the heart is plainly charted
For those who can follow fire and candle light
And a thread of true, in some bright April started,
Still running sweet on the wind of an autumn night.

Once Is Sense; Twice Is Nonsense

The Assembly, in Trenton, will be asked, next week, to act on a bill which passed the Senate, 12-to-10, this week, to reduce the number of required inspections of New Jersey's automobiles from two to one a year. There is a danger that Governor Meyner will veto the measure, but the Republicans, with a 40-20 majority in the Assembly and a 14-7 edge in the Senate, can force through a measure which is of concern to every motorist in the state.

In this day and age as improved automobile construction, four-wheel brakes, power brakes and safety tires have steadily lowered the traffic accident rate directly due to mechanical failure, there is no reason to oblige motorists to take time out, twice a year, to drive to the motor vehicle inspection station for a checkup. The major cause of motor accidents, today, is excessive speed and no number of trips to an inspection station can change the speeders' mentality. Only a magistrate in a traffic court can cure that.

The obligation to return twice a year for inspection by surly, uncooperative motor vehicle inspectors, only too prone to punish rather than to cooperate, is all the more ridiculous in that New York State, with far more traffic congestion than ours, requires no motor vehicle inspection at all.

It is our contention that one inspection a year is good sense; two a year is nonsense. We hope the Essex County legislative delegation will support this salutary measure.

More Of The Same Confusion

The long and costly, patient research which went into the discovery of the Salk vaccine against polio was paid for by the taxes of the people of this land.

It was not the doctors, as a profession, who financed the research; it was the parents of our children, chiefly, who subscribed the millions of dimes which went, each year, into the heavy cost of research.

Now that the research has been successful and the insufficient amount of vaccine which is available should go, first of all, to the children and only after their safety has been assured by preventive inoculation and after the free special clinics for school children

One Man's Opinion

France Does Not Need Another Election So Much As It Needs Vigorous Constitutional Political Reforms

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Since the liberation of Paris by American troops in 1944, the United States has had two Presidents, Truman and Eisenhower. In those 11 years, France has had 21 cabinets, 21 Premiers, 21 different coalitions of political parties to govern it. In that governmental instability lies the sorry story of France's almost continuous troubles. Unless the French Constitution can be rewritten to provide the reforms needed for political government, it is almost inevitable that France will slip out of its status as a first rank world power.

In the 85 years of the French 3rd and 4th Republics, France has had more than 100 governments. Before World War II, during the 3rd Republic, the average life of a French cabinet was seven months and 25 days. Premier Edgar Faure's cabinet, which just failed to get elected, hence enjoyed better than average longevity. The longest postwar French cabinet, headed by Henri Queuille, in 1948-1949, lasted 421 days. The shortest, also headed by Dr. Queuille, in 1950, lasted only three days.

In my quarter of a century in Paris, as United Press war and foreign correspondent, I sat in at the birth and the death of more than 30 French cabinets. I saw Aristide Briand rise as Premier, and fall, 13 times. I saw one cabinet, led by Fernand Buisson, former Mayor of Marseilles, live only 11 minutes — long enough to ask a vote of confidence and to see it refused.

The Indispensable Man

I might add that besides being Premier 12 times, Briand the pacifist delegate of France at the League of Nations, in 1919, was in 11 other cabinets, chiefly as foreign minister, during the 20 years between the two world wars. The recently deposed Premier, Pierre Laval, himself, being Premier twice and sat in ten other cabinets since 1929.

In obtaining the dissolution of Parliament and the calling for new legislative election on January 2, without first attempting to hammer through the Chamber of Deputies and Senate the sorely needed election reforms without which these rapid crises will continue, Faure is attempting, in the forthcoming vote, to obtain support for a very limited, partial reform.

It is Faure's proposal that future French Chambers should stand for reelection whenever they unseat a cabinet that has been in power for less than two years. The record, and my own experience as an eye-witness to the kaleidoscope of French politics, leads to this "One Man's Opinion" that France will be holding almost annual elections.

Borrowing From Vichy

There is really nothing new in Faure's proposal. It was conceived in Vichy 15 years ago by the much-hated Petain-Laval dictatorship. It was in the gambling casino theatre, in Vichy, in July, 1940, that I watched the suicide of the French Third Republic, as the decision of the Deputies and Senators themselves, stunned into inaction by the collapse of France a few weeks before, and the vote which implanted full powers in Marshal Petain to write a new Constitution.

foes, the alliance of some members of his own Radical Socialist Party, headed by Radical Socialist Mendes-Franco, a former Premier, plus groups from other parties, would have prevailed to wait until summer to hold the election.

They caused M. Faure's fall when he tried to force through a plan for earlier elections by a "vote of confidence". But he has used the occasion to get the elections timed in his favor.

There is too little time for more than routine "politicizing" and not enough time to really campaign on a reform issue. New Year's Day, in France, is generally marked by much heavy drinking and so January 2, the day set for the election, is sure to find France with a tremendous hangover and a bad taste for a major election. Under such circumstances, an advantageous light vote is certain.

Strategy Of Early Vote

Back of the Mendes-Franco demand for later elections stood two considerations. One was a political advantage (time to strengthen his alliances), and the other an evidently genuine interest in electoral reforms. These could not be carried out in time for immediate action without reforms France might get a chamber much like the present one, hamstrung on its own divisions.

So the dissolution of the Parliament which could appear to be a break with the long past is really an evidently genuine interest in electoral reforms.

Yet many well-informed French Government observers believe that the people are ready for fundamental alterations in electoral procedures and in the constitutional relationship between the legislative and executive branches of the French Government and would accept now the Vichy reforms which they once rejected.

If they can vote these wishes in the coming election, things will have changed more than they now seem to.

If M. Faure can get the French people's strong endorsement for his plan, the question remains whether French statesmen would be able to write it into the constitution without loopholes? Only a test could tell. Meanwhile popular endorsement of the Faure plan might mean also a victory for him over Mendes-Franco.

It is then, President Faure's success in obtaining the dissolution of the Chamber after it caused the downfall of his government symptomatic of some profound change in French affairs?

Political Opportunism

If so, this does not appear to be a genuine response to it. And the immediate consequence of his move is that his own party has expelled him. Unfortunately, the monetary change in relations between the government and the Chamber bears one general resemblance to its predecessor. It appears also to have been a matter of expediency rather than principle.

MacMahon was suspected of furthering dictatorial ambitions by his move. The worst that is being said of the Faure move is that it provides favorable conditions for his and his supporters' electioneering.

M. Faure's most formidable

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News:
Al Love, now in Labrador, writes home as follows: "I don't believe there is a child within 500 miles, so the school system is not crowded. Don't know whether the schoolhouse has been built yet, though. There aren't any politicians here either, and all arguments are carried on with dignity and at a high level. It is planned that a school will be built before, instead of after, families with children move into the area."

Mrs. A. G. Love
154 Smallwood Ave.
Belleville, N. J.

Editor, Belleville Times-News:
A local paper recently in covering a story of the Shrine Club of Essex meeting at the Foundation, erroneously referred to Public Works Director Kenneth D. Smith as Public Safety Director. One conjectures if this might have been prophetic, since many political wisecracks hereabouts lately aver the former Deputy Police Chief covets that post. This could, if so, portend a blooming bitter battle between the organizational forces of Commissioner Sullivan and those of the former cop.

Rumor has it that already formidable forces are being marshaled to fuse together a bracketed ticket to assure success of such a plan. The "graveyard" has several close to the present safety head "moving over" to the Smith camp in expectation of the supposed engineered "dumping" of the general Democratic boss of the police and fireman.

Events of the ensuing months should prove interesting indeed for those "looming for position" at the railroad in Belleville's troubled political family of friendly enemies.

as we see it

Hi again;

The Freshman Class is sponsoring the annual Christmas dance tonight, from 8 to 11 o'clock. Jerry Buccino and his band will supply the music. The dress is semi-formal; admission is only 50 cents.

At today's assembly we heard the very talented Montclair State Teacher's college choir. In addition another group, comprised of Willy Branch, Bill Hensinger, Tommy Mike Ross, Mike Nussman, and Sandy Wilson, performed humorous skit. Please, Willy, don't hang yourself — what's a Freshman Dance will be a success.

The football players received their awards at last week's assembly. Mr. Smith gave out the V-certificates after which Mr. Berliński presented the varsity awards. The team and coaches were deservedly honored at the Varsity Football Banquet on December 7.

Mr. H. Miller is limping around school after his fall last week. We wish him a speedy recovery. Last Tuesday some junior and senior history students visited the New York Times Building. Mr. Smith and Mr. Rosamilia supervised the trip. A guide explained how a newspaper is published and how H. S. students walked up and down 11 flights of stairs to hear about it. They all agreed that the trip was interesting and informative. Recognizing the returning journalists was easy since they all given big, yellow marks and small, gray lines of type as juvenia.

Belleville High's basketball season started off on the right foot Tuesday with a 68-56 victory over Passaic. Our next game is this coming Tuesday at Garfield. We hope to see everyone cheering the Bellboys on to another great season.
