

Superior Court Judge Refuses To Grant Any Temporary Restraint

Attorney Victor Schleicher Reveals That Appeal Has Been Filed In Court's Appellate Division; Hearing Scheduled For Monday On Referendum

Superior Court Judge J. Dixon Speakman Tuesday refused to grant a temporary restraining order which would have delayed the special referendum scheduled for February 7 in the disputed Kieran case. Attorneys Charles Handler of Newark and Victor Schleicher of Belleville, representing Dr. William H. Post of 264 Holmes Street, had asked for the restraint until a final court decision could be reached in the matter.

Speakman refused to grant the interim restraint against the referendum on the grounds that municipal cases be restrained only when there is the probability that irreparable damage would result. He said he could not see how any damage could result from the referendum.

"Grave Doubts"

Speakman added, however, that he had "grave doubts" as to whether an ordinance to amend Belleville's zoning laws as a result of a public vote would be valid if approved.

Attorney Thomas Markey, of Bloomfield, representing Alexander Kieran, a local resident, said he had forces with Handler and Schleicher in seeking the restraining order. Belleville Town Attorney Lawrence Keenan and Attorney Robert C. Gruhn, representing George F. Kieran, defended the town's action.

Schleicher revealed today, however, that an appeal has been filed with the Appellate Division of the Superior Court in Trenton and that the hearing will be held on Monday. He also revealed that a Belleville Citizen's Zoning Protection League has been organized in resistance to the referendum.

In stating their case before the court, the petitioners said that the papers have been filed for the group and listed Dr. Post, Lagano, Andrew Salvo of Union Avenue, and H. Sherman Batty of Union Avenue as among the organizers.

Petition Filed
The court action is the result of the referendum asking that the town be allowed to amend its residential zones. They voted for the special election in response to a referendum petition filed November for Kieran, of 283 Holmes Street, who desires to operate a mortuary from his home.

Slating their case before Speakman, lawyers for the plaintiff claimed that a municipal zoning ordinance could not be legally amended by referendum. They also stated that the petitions submitted to commissioners were not examined by the town clerk.

Gruhn, speaking for the defendants, said that the petitions as filed were in due and proper form and duly accepted by the Town.

CEREBRAL PALSY TO CONDUCT DRIVE

Helping Hand Day Scheduled For Sunday, February 12

Volunteer canvassers in Belleville will have a goal of $5,000 when they call on their neighbors for Cerebral Palsy, after the afternoon of Sunday, February 12, "Helping Hand Day."

The local house-to-house campaign is part of the $125,000 residential canvass for Cerebral Palsy in Essex and West Hudson. Charles E. Garabrant of Short Hills, C.P. president, explained.

"Thus, the importance of the canvass on February 12 is apparent," he said. "We are confident that our neighbors, whose generosity has helped us make

Selects Three Youths For Military Academies

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., has announced the designation of three Belleville youths among his nominees for appointment to West Point and to the new U.S. Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

Joseph Andrews, 18, son of Mrs. Robert A. Andrews and the late Robert Andrews, of 14 Smith Street, and Robert Allan Pastore, 17, son of Mrs. and Patrick N. Pastore, of 67 Berkeley Avenue, were two of the 103 District Congressional nominees for the Air Force Academy. Rodino selected ten nominees for the appointment.

Donald Paul Rinaldi, 19, son of Mrs. Ann Rinaldi and the late Paul Rinaldi, of 194 Fairview Avenue, was Rodino's nominee as first alternate for one of two cadships at the Military Academy.

DR. DIRUGGIERO EMPHASIZES NEED FOR STATE AID

Candidate For School Post Concurs With Opinion Of Benjamin Fine On More Aid

Dr. Frank Diruggiero, candidate for one of the three contested places on the Belleville Board of Education, has reiterated his belief that state and federal aid "is absolutely necessary if we are to get the facilities and the necessities that go to make an effective school system."

Diruggiero, commenting on an article by Benjamin Fine, feature writer and expert on education for the New York Times, said that his views concurred with Fine's on the necessity and importance of state aid for schools.

In his article, Fine said, "that it became clear recently that local communities are not going to be able to expand their school expenditure greatly; the vast task must be left primarily to the state. Many communities have just about reached the end of their rope so far as the amount of income are concerned."

Fine continued, "That is why school financing has received so much attention in the past year. Taxpayers, particularly in the suburbs where local real estate pays for most of the school costs, are beginning to get worried by the spiraling real estate taxes. In small communities, the bulk of the tax money goes for the support of public

BOARD CANDIDATE URGES PUBLIC VIEW SCHOOL BUDGET

Vanderbilt Says Responsibility To Criticize And Approve Spending Is Up To Voters

Gary Vanderbilt, member of the Board of Education lay advisory budget committee and candidate for election to the Board of Education on February 14, this week urged Belleville voters to take an active interest in the school budget.

"It is a public disgrace," Vanderbilt said, "that often in past years, less than 100 citizens would vote in the school budget election. The largest portion of our tax dollar goes into supporting our public school system. Over two million dollars in Belleville is budgeted and expended and yet a mere handful of voters takes an interest in the process."

Vanderbilt said that it is easy to criticize unsatisfactory results. However, he pointed out, the constructive interest in budget hearings would tend to root out the faults closer to the desires of a majority of our taxpayers.

Tonight there will be the annual public hearing on the new school budget. Vanderbilt reminded the public, he said, "The budget offered to the public for its criticism and approval is the result of many weeks of laborious study and work. Great efforts have been expended to provide

Public Hearing Tonight On School Board Budget

The Belleville Board of Education will hold a special meeting open to the public tonight for the purpose of discussing and approving the school budget for 1956. The meeting will be held in the offices of the Board of Education in School No. 8 starting at 8 p.m.

The preliminary budget, drawn up by Board secretary and business manager Ruel E. Daniels, was tentatively accepted by the Board at this month's meeting. After making any additional appropriations or cuts, as brought out in tonight's meeting, the budget will be finally adopted.

Reckless Spending By Commissioners Criticized At Tuesday Board Meeting

Outgoing School Board Gives Loesner Tribute

Board Disposes Of Routine Business In Last Meeting Before February 14 Election; Appoints Three New Teachers, Approves Conventions

The Belleville Board of Education held its last meeting Monday night before the February 14 election in which three new members will be chosen. Board members in general, and retiring trustee Walter Loesner in particular, were cited for the efficient manner in which they handled their responsibility.

Town critic James R. Golden relented at the final meeting and told the Board that in spite of differences of opinion which have come up, he thought their relationship during the year had been a healthy one. Golden pointed out that serving on the Board is not an easy task and that it is a great responsibility to carry.

Golden suggested that present Board members consider running for re-election, criticized their term expire because of their experience and know-how.

Thanks Loesner

Outgoing president Mrs. Edward A. Rocha thanked the Board for their wholehearted cooperation during their term and paid a special tribute to Loesner, who is completing his five-year term. She expressed her hope that he would eventually consider seeking election for continued service.

Anthony Moro, candidate for one of the three vacancies to be filled in the coming election, criticized the Board for their long delay in putting new ceilings in the four classrooms of School No. 2. Board secretary Ruel E. Daniels replied that funds had been set aside in the new budget to make the necessary repairs this summer. However, at Moro's insistence, the Board agreed to put up the new ceilings over Easter vacation.

The expenditure would therefore come out of the current year's budget, and the surplus going to the proposed budget would be subsequently reduced. Daniels estimated the cost of the project at $1,000 and said the additional money would be added to the 1956 budget.

2,500 SCHOOL AGE CHILDREN RECEIVE SALK INOCULATIONS

Town Health Officer Berry Reveals Plans For Possibly Opening Pre-School Clinic

Approximately 2,500 Belleville school children received their first Salk anti-polio vaccine shots the past two weeks in the program conducted by the Town Health Department, Eugene T. Berry, Town Health Officer revealed.

Youngsters in local public and parochial schools received the free inoculations after serum was received from the State Health Department. Berry said he has not yet heard from the state agency, when additional vaccine will be available for administering second and third shots.

He pointed out that the one shot will provide some degree of immunity from the disease, but that to be fully protected, the three-shot series is necessary. Berry explained that the state was spreading the available supply of serum as far as possible to provide a degree of protection to everyone. There are at least 100 communities which haven't received any vaccine at all, he added.

Parents of children who received the first shot during the first week of the year, he said, will be notified when additional serum is received. Berry said.

Berry explained that the local Health Department was contemplating the possibility of opening a pre-school clinic for all children.

NEWARK YEGG HELD IN LOCAL BURGULARY

Detectives Frank Haight And Jack Mariano Make Arrest

A Newark man was arrested Wednesday by Belleville police after they had linked him to the January 12 break-in and robbery at the Prudential Building, 385 Washington Avenue.

The man, Sebastian B. Gamba, 21, of 182 Littleton Avenue, Newark, was arraigned yesterday morning before Judge Edward J. Abramson where he was found guilty and ordered held without bail in county jail.

Belleville Detective Frank Haight and Jack Mariano cracked the case Friday before Judge Edward J. Abramson. Working on leads they were able to uncover, the two detectives traced the burglary to Gamba and apprehended him at his home in Newark.

Golden Attacks Hyde And Smith; Mayor Padula To Probe Water Department Spending And Profit

Municipal spending was again the target of attacks by James R. Golden, commissioner without portfolio, at Tuesday night's Town Commission meeting. Golden, evidently pushing his one-man crusade against "corruption" in government and reckless spending, leveled his gun at Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde's Department of Parks and Public Property and Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith's Department of Public Works.

Golden, continuing his policy of raising questions about specific payment vouchers signed by Commissioners, first questioned a $1,000 payment made by Hyde on December 10. The voucher stated payment was made for dinner. Golden angrily accused Hyde of throwing dinner parties at the town's expense.

Hyde refused to answer Golden at the meeting, stating that his office was open daily to answer inquiries from any interested person. He added he would speak to the press after the meeting, but not to Golden because he was "on a case."

No Part Of Circus
In a private interview following the meeting, Hyde said, "I am not a part of the town of Belleville as far as the town of Belleville is concerned. This man (meaning Golden) is not sincere."

Hyde explained the $40 voucher payment as covering the cost of a dinner given by the Recreation Department to honor 15 men who started the program worked department's Little League football program. Hyde said these men started the program, worked the department's Little League football program. Hyde said these men started the program, worked the department's Little League football program.

Mrs. Lewis urged home-owners who will give to sign their names to the front window of their homes, and that they felt they deserved some recognition. He said, "I signed the bill and I will stand behind it regardless of any impositions."

Golden also questioned telephone bills to cover cost of calls made from Hyde's Town Hall office. He said he had called, and other long distance calls made from official phones at the Recreation House. Hyde said these were a necessary part of conducting the business of these departments.

Golden said he is the only one of the five Town Commissioners who does not have an official phone in his home. The official phones are paid for by the town for other municipal employees.

Attacks Water Department
In attacking the expenses of Commissioner Smith's Water Department, Golden said that in the past three months Smith has asked for resolutions granting additional appropriations of $20,000 to the water department. Golden claimed there has been a decreasing amount of work in the water department over the years. He declared that it has become a "work barrel" for somebody, since the water account must be used to pay other expenses.

Golden asked Mayor Isadore J. Padula to present records (Continued On Page Two)

ALL ALIENS MUST FILE REGISTRATION BY JANUARY 31

Federal Law Requires That Names And Addresses Be Reported To Government

W.J. Wyrnsch, acting officer in charge of the Newark office of the Immigration and Naturalization Service, said today that all aliens in the United States have less than one month to file their names with the federal law requiring that they report their address to the Government during January of each year.

The Immigration office urged all aliens who have not so complied, to go at once to the nearest Post Office or Immigration Service office to file the report.

Parents or guardians may file the report for aliens under 14 years of age, or those inconspicuous in the United States.

He pointed out that willful failure to comply carries penalties ranging from fines to deportation.

Your Children . . . Your Schools

School No. 9 On Ralph Street Erected In 1927 On Less Than One Acre

School No. 9, located on Ralph Street, in the valley, was erected in 1927 on less than one acre of ground.

There are 213 children in the school, 23 of whom live in the neighborhood. The capacity of this school is listed at 190.

The office has no private space for consultation with the principal. The library is also used for special classes, such as remedial reading. It is used more often than the Nurse's Room is used as a lunch room for about 15 children, also for instrumental practice, reading, and other activities. Girls' play room some years ago.

Visual aid groups using the auditorium are disturbed by others. Recreation in the auditorium during inclement weather has to be postponed if the room is already in use for something else.

The stockroom is too small and more storage space is needed. Considerable floor space is needed throughout the building, although some of the space is Speakers were Robert E. Cook, Superintendent of Recreation, and Harold P. Brand, Assistant Superintendent of Recreation, and the guest of honor was Anthony Pansel, Director of Physical Education and Health for the Bloomfield school system.

Members of the championship team who were present were Don Scutti, John Marotti, Don Spinnelli, Hank Bergamini, John Pacy, Frank Pasquino, Sam M. Billo, Mike Marotti, Freddie Pelia, Charles Marra, Vinnie Marra, Lenny Cellura, Joe M. Billo, Gubby Molo, John Canicillerie, Nick Canicillerie, Tony Kenna, John Nelson and Rocco DiGregorio, the sponsor.

Meet Pert Pat Harrison, Girls' Recreation Head

By Regina Smaridge

Beauty and brains will brighten the Recreation Department Monday when Miss Virginia (Pat) Harrison joins the staff as director of Women's Activities. The newly created post is part of an expansion of recreation facilities under the guidance of Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde.

Miss Harrison, an attractive young woman with large brown eyes and a warm smile, sat in her office, coat still on, being briefed by Robert Cook, superintendent, and getting ready for a luncheon appointment for further briefing. In between she ticked off her qualifications for the job.

"I've spent three years working with the Recreation department of the Government of the District of Columbia. There I supervised a pre-school program. We plan something similar to it here in the fall," Miss Harrison said.

"It's not a nursery school, but a program of supervised play and teaching crafts to tots from three to four. Outdoor play will consume half the period, and the remainder will be spent in crafts, story telling and singing."

"It's designed to prepare the children for school and social adjustment," she said.

Miss Harrison is a graduate of Bethany College, W. Va., where she majored in physical education. She also attended Maryland College for Women and evening courses in recreation at George Washington University.

She has worked with the Youth Center in Somerset, Pa.

The new director is proficient in all girls' sports: tennis, swimming, archery, field and ice hockey, ice skating, volleyball, hard and soft ball and basketball.

According to Cook, whom she will serve as assistant, Miss Harrison will also be in charge of overall playground activities and conduct a training course for playground supervisors.

"I agree with Mr. Cook that recreation is far more than throwing a ball around a lot," she said. "It can prepare a child for a better life, making it easier for him to adjust to problems. And arts and crafts learned in playgrounds, can often lay the groundwork for a life time hobby."

Miss Harrison, who now lives in Lincoln Park, will shortly make her home in Belleville. The welcome mat is out for the newest addition to the Recreation Department.

Rosary Confraternity Plans Valentine Fete

The nine candidates for the Board of Education election February 14 have been invited to speak at a meeting of the Past-Teacher Associations at the high school auditorium Monday at 8 p. m.

Moderator will be Mrs. Lewis Fay, County School Education chairman and member of the Essex County PTA Board of Managers.

They will be assisted by Mrs. Herbert Tucker, past district chairman of the Belleville PTAs.

Snow Scene

Behold the winter twilight. Welcome back The deeper blue, the starshine, the cold thrust.

Of wind, the imprint of the squirrel's track. Down in the valley, see the small white church,

Its windows candle-glowing through the dusk,

A particle of beauty in our search

Toward all serenity. Clustering ash And maple and dark hemlock line the hill; Above, surrounding all, the peaceful flash Of heaven's candles. In the country lane A homeward-trudging figure looms against The gold-lit frostwork of a windowpane.

The County Budget

The Board of Chosen Freeholders published their 1956 budget for Essex County, yesterday, and the news is bad, very bad. It will cost us more than two million dollars more to run our county administration this year than it did last. Each of you will feel it in your tax bill because the county will add 64 cents to Belleville's tax rate this year, a staggering, record assessment.

We have the astonishing spectacle of county administration costs nearing the thirty million dollar mark — $29,008,346, to be exact. Last year they were $26,839,677. Even by deducting anticipated revenues, the amount to be raised within Essex County as a county purpose tax will be $22,037,906, roughly two million dollars more than last year. The 30 million dollar ceiling is threatened.

With county costs skyrocketing, there is more need than ever for an honest adjustment of tax responsibilities of Newark and the 21 Essex suburban towns. The Essex County Tax Board juggled a few figures and came up with the conclusion that Newark is assessing its rates at 52 per cent of "true value" while Belleville assesses at only 36 per cent of "true value."

How did the Tax Board arrive at such a fantastic conclusion?

It's simple. They checked on last year's real estate sales. It so happened that a vast plot of ground in the heart of Newark which had been earmarked for a Federal building was put on the market and sold at auction. It was too big and too costly for the ordinary buyer; it went at a rare bargain to the only group which had the funds to buy it. Its selling price was much below its real value, but it amounted to about 52 per cent of the assessed value of the property, so the Tax Board wrote down that figure and applied it to all of Newark.

In Belleville, on the other hand, we sold quite a bit of town-owned land in the neighborhood of the Garden State Parkway which saw a sudden development when the highway was built. Competition was keen, prices went up. Alas, the land had had little value before the Parkway was built and since it was owned by the town and paid no taxes, it was assessed at a very low value. Yet the Tax Board found, on the basis of such top-of-the-market sales that Belleville was assessing at barely two-fifths of "true value."

The same thing happened in all of the suburban towns and West Orange and West Caldwell decided to do something about it. They hired professional appraisers and studied the land values of a cross-section of the two towns, sending the results to Newark because they differed greatly from the percentages imposed by the County Board.

What do you think the Tax Board replied?

The reply was that the towns had no right to have a private cross-section appraisal made, and that the percentages imposed from Newark stood. An appeal against that ruling was heard yesterday, fruitless as usual.

It stands to reason that by taking only the sales of residential properties and land, the Tax Board arrives at a false and not a true value. Newark is a mercantile and industrial city. The values of commercial buildings and factories should be weighed. Alas, few such properties change hands. There is no basis of comparing their sales prices against their appraised values.

Out of fairness to the residential towns, the County Tax Board should make spot appraisals in Newark, fixing the present-day values of the big industries and business buildings and checking them against the list of rates. That is the only honest way of arriving at a fair percentage of "true value."

Pinching A Penny Until It Stings

The Board of Freeholders, judging by the pride of accomplishment of one of its members, is very pleased with itself for having made our nights, next summer, most mighty uncomfortable. Apparently when a county budget is balanced, anything goes. To hold the line on the tax-rate, the Freeholders snipped $10,000 off of the budget of the Mosquito Extermination Commission.

If, some years hence, the mosquitoes had truly been exterminated, there might have been legitimate grounds for slashing the Commission's budget. But this is 1956, the year of the great invasion. It is no secret that drainage ditches were destroyed in last year's series of hurricanes, trees uprooted and pools of stagnant water formed where their roots once stood. The meadows are filled with stagnant water and in each pool last summer's mosquitoes have laid their eggs. We are in for the worst mosquito invasion, this summer, since the war.

It just goes to show the fallacy of balancing a budget at five minutes before midnight. To reach a balance, anything goes. The Freeholders were wrong to take it out on the Mosquito Extermination Commission because we will all feel it — in our epidemics. The net saving by the budget slash amounts, in reality, to one cent per inhabitant of Essex County. Which would you rather have — a mosquito-free summer or one cent?

Charge The Truckers, Not The Taxpayers

Governor Robert E. Meyner has the grandiose idea of mortgaging ourselves to the extent of two billion dollars over a period of the next ten years to rebuild our network of state highways, exclusive of the toll-paying and profit-making Turnpike and Parkway. It is our contention that his gesture is political, not economic. Before we engage ourselves on such a tremendously costly venture, it is basic that we reach a prior decision: What, in all fairness, should trucks pay for the use of our state highways.

An average passenger car is 16 feet long and has four wheels; a tractor-trailer tandem may take up 60 feet of highway and it may have six or eight sets of double wheels. The average passenger car weighs around a ton and a half; the behemoths among trucks run from 20 to 35 tons. It stands to reason they wear a roadway 20 to 30 times more than does a passenger car.

A New York State official study has found that it would cost as much to build 737 miles of highway for heavy trucks as it would to build 26,000 miles of highway for passenger cars. An 11-state cooperative test shows that a mere 25 per cent increase in truck weight causes over six times the damage to pavements.

The trucks which clutter our state highways are, for the most part, out-of-state owned. Many of them pay not one red cent for the privilege of using our roads. They carry their out-of-state gas and they use New Jersey as a corridor to get somewhere on their long-distance hauls. Yet they use and damage our highways and they contribute nothing towards their building or their upkeep.

The problem seems to us to be one for the engineers and technicians, not for politicians. Before the State Legislature spends one cent on modernizing our highway system, the question of fairness to our taxpayers and to our motorists must be settled. The only alternative is to put all major highways on a toll basis and collect from cars and trucks alike according to mileage and weight, with swiftly graduated costs as each ton is added.

More Gardening Time

With the first robins already here and seed catalogues cluttering up our mail, we amateur gardeners and commuters can but look sympathetically upon the efforts of the Essex County legislative delegation to hammer through the Assembly a bill lengthening the period of legal daylight saving time. If the bill passes, we will move our clocks forward an hour on the last Sunday in March and stay on daylight saving time until the last Sunday in October.

It probably will be snowing on that last Sunday in March, but there will be tender shoots of our bulbs showing in the frosty soil and the grass will need fertilizing, rolling and seeding. Anyhow, it will make us feel that Spring is coming when we turn those clocks forward an hour.

For the convenience of those who live here but work in New York or in Pennsylvania, however, the state authorities should coordinate our law with theirs. Nothing would be gained by getting up at the crack of dawn here if, on arrival in New York, we would have to wait an hour for our office to open. Coordinate, then legislate.

One-Man's Opinion

Soviet Russia, In Her Sixth 5-Year Plan Now Under Way, Aims To Equal America's Production Levels

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Behind the boast of the Kremlin's spokesmen that before the end of the 20th Century the world will be Communist lies a definite program of economic, industrial, agricultural and military development. The Soviet Union expects to be ready to overtake the United States in per capita production at the end of her sixth 5-year plan which began this month and carries through 1960.

The Soviet Government broke with tradition, this week, and published the first complete statistics of Russian production since World War II, excluding armaments, of course. Shorn of its propaganda camouflage, the statistical report shows that in agriculture and in industry the first five 5-year plans failed, in many notable instances, to attain their goals.

In consumer goods, Russia, in 1956, stands only at the levels set for 1953. Of steel, however, the sinner of war, Russia produced 45,200,000 tons last year, or a million tons more than the goal. That would indicate that Bulganin and Khrushchev are missing production in the fields of war potential, overriding the orders of Georgi Malenkov, who, in his short-lived regime, stressed consumer goods output.

Dire Threats

It would be foolish to underestimate the new threat of Communist challenge and to deny that should the Soviet Union reach the goal of its new 5-year plan, economic competition between East and West is likely to become a fact. The fact will contribute to the already existing international tension. The Russian offers of aid to India and Egypt, recently, are only a symptom of tougher competition to come.

But the question is whether the Kremlin's latest target figures can be fulfilled. Past Soviet performances, especially in the vital sector of agriculture, make this appear doubtful. On the other hand, there is unanimous agreement among Western experts on the fact that the rise of Soviet productivity over the past 10 years has been impressive, far beyond expectations.

The new 5-year plan has a broader scope than any previous one. Its directives follow the general line laid down by the central committee last January and July, which emphasized heavy industry's absolute priority, called for a steep increase of agricultural production.

Depends On Labor

Labor productivity is to be spurred to the utmost. This is the key problem of the whole plan, which expects to raise production at the same rate, and in some fields at a much higher rate than in the past without reserves of surplus labor.

The new Communist catch words are: mechanization, rationalization, automation. This means that every worker will have to turn out much more machinery than he will have to be used much more efficiently, and methods of management will have to be improved on an unprecedented scale.

Most observers believe that this, in turn, must lead to realignments which may bring about radical changes in industrial management, in the wage system, and in agricultural organization, which may be crucial for the regime.

In contrast to previous five-year plans, the present one is a master plan around which the synchronized five-year plans of Poland, Czechoslovakia, East Germany, Hungary, Romania, Albania, and, according to a recent report, also that of Bulgaria.

Only the state plans of Com-plan. It is planned to treble the Soviet fleet of freighters and tankers and expand the fishing fleet almost fourfold.

Tractor production is to reach $22,000. The automobile output is to be expanded more than 140 per cent. This means a total of 650,000 cars. British production alone tops this by more than 100,000, and American production, of course, is more than 10 times as great.

55 Million Workers

Some other consumer goods, like washing machines, refrigerators, should be available in greatly increased quantities, but again the totals are not large by Western standards. Real wages are scheduled to advance by 30 per cent in five years.

It is planned "sharply to increase the pace of mechanization and to automate production in industry on a wide scale." Industrial workers are expected to number 55,000,000 by 1960.

It is planned to increase the number of specialists graduating from higher education establishments by 50 per cent. There should be 4,000,000 Soviet graduates during this five-year period.

This great output of Soviet technicians is causing particular concern in Europe. The Soviet Union may outstrip Europe in the number of available skilled men by the time the Soviet Union has the same proportion that the United States now enjoys. The Soviet Union, unless European reform and reorganize their facilities for higher education.

The success of the new Soviet plan will depend to a great extent, of course, on the successful solution of hitherto unsolved agricultural problems. It may be ominous, for Soviet landworkers, that labor productivity on state farms is "planned" to go up by 70 per cent and on collective farms by 100 per cent.

But, whether agricultural problems are fully solved or not and whether the industrial plans are completely fulfilled or merely partly fulfilled, as long as Soviet citizens are prepared to work hard and effectively for small rewards, the Soviet competition, in trade, in military and industrial power, and in influence must now be taken even more seriously than in the past by we of the West.

Letters To The Editor

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

February 14 is indeed a very important date for the citizens of Belleville. This is a date when you, the voters, decide upon who will represent you and your children on the Board of Education. An elective Board was prescribed in order to keep politics and people with political affiliations out of school matters.

For this reason, the Belleville Conference urges you to vote for Dr. Frank D. Kugler, Mrs. Charles Cassidy and George E. Meagher, the three eligible and more than qualified candidates who have no political bosses behind them to tell them what to do.

The Belleville Times printed an article, stating that the conference board had picked out three candidates for the School Board, who in their opinion should be elected.

If the people of Belleville wanted an elected Board of Education, then the choice of the candidates should be left to the people, not selected for them by a special group, who assumed the privilege that belongs to the voters. This is something the people want themselves. It was proven when they voted for an elective board.

I feel sure the voters will assert their right on February 14 and will vote for the candidate of their own choice.

Thomas B. Sciarillo
65 Lake Street

Editor, Belleville Times-News:

For many years I had been of the opinion that someone at the Belleville town hall is running a circus.

Now, lo and behold, one of our commissioners openly and publicly says that he doesn't want to be part of the circus in the town hall.

That statement is attributed to Commissioner Hyde. Does the commissioner mean each and every one of the commissioners? Does the commissioner mean the people, who are employees of the town?

If the commissioner knows of any town employee, elected or otherwise, who is running a circus in town hall it is his duty to the people of our town to weed them out into the open.

Have you tried
DIRECT DISTANCE
DIALING yet?

You'll be amazed... how easy it is to be near someone you miss. New Direct Distance Dialing (for any one or two-party phone) puts you there, in person—in less time than it takes to tell you about it—actually less than half a minute!

A surprise visit by phone is such a heartwarming experience, for you and the person you're calling. Why not dial someone you miss now?

Rates are low!

Boston 60¢
