

Advent Of Phonograph Has Made Music Enjoyable For All Listeners

Today's Recordings Are Technically Perfect, But Past Artists Better

By M. C. Albee

In these days of radio and television it is interesting to hark back occasionally to the half a century or more to the days of the parlor organ and the square piano. Does any one remember the old time parlor organs with brackets on each side on which oil lamps could be placed? When playing the organist had to keep pumping with the feet to keep air in the bellows, most of the church organ had to be pumped by hand in those days and a boy would be hired to do the pumping for half the salary he would be paid about 25¢ Sunday.

In the old Methodist church on Main Street, the boy that did the pumping, behind a screen, the button on the organ rose and fell according to how much air was in the bellows. One night the boy fell asleep behind the screen just as the choir started to sing an anthem and the square piano came into use about the same time as the parlor organ, but it was heavier, more expensive and took up more room.

In those far off days there was parlor organ, almost everywhere. Some of these organs were made in Bloomfield by the old Pinchot Company, well known then throughout the land for their organ. The square piano came into use about the same time as the parlor organ, but it was heavier, more expensive and took up more room.

Sixty or more years ago, there were also mechanical music boxes, some of which produced very good music. They were operated by revolving cylinders somewhat like the early phonographs.

These cylinders had spikes on them arranged so that as the cylinder revolved each spike would contact a key and then let it go so that it sounded a note. These boxes had to be wound up continually the same as the early phonographs.

Player Piano

Next came the player piano which was popular for a time, but rather expensive and also had to be pumped while playing. Around the early '90's or thereabouts, Edison invented the phonograph which to me is one of the greatest inventions of all time as it brings to us the wonderful voices of singers who have passed away many years ago, as well as those now living. Does any one recall the original Edison cylinders and how they squeaked? At that time no reputable singer would allow his voice to be recorded. When listening to these early phonographs every one had to be silent for the least noise would disturb the needle. These cylinders machines would start squeaking, then would follow an announcement by the M. C. (like the one I heard in the early '90's) would follow. But it was very hard to understand as squeaking and scratching were always present.

Then the disks were brought into use and they were a great improvement over the cylinders. This was about early in the 1900's or so, and they were much better. That the talented singers began to have their voices recorded. By 1910 there were many records available of the great singers, one of the greatest being "I Hear You Calling Me" by John McCormack, which according to reports, brought him a fortune in royalties.

I wonder if any one remembers the "Uncle Josh" records as recorded by Cal Stewart? These records were sold the thousands of families having every one of them.

Event Of Radio

Then came radio, first with crystal sets and head phones, and people began staying up most of the night trying to tune in on the programs. The radio followed the course of evolution the same as the phonograph and it was not long until we had almost what we have today. Following radio came television which with its many improvements is today in most homes. I wonder if the millions who spend many hours watching television or listening to radio today, ever realize just what they are really missing in the way of first class musical entertainment? While there are occasionally some good musical programs on radio and on television, if a person really has a yearning for fine music, singing or played by the masters of the art, (both past and present) the only way it can be had to any satisfactory extent is on the phonograph.

Without the phonograph there would be little radio or television today, for most of the present day programs are recorded, and there would be no talking movies.

When radio first came along the sale of the phonograph took a terrific slump. However, as people heard records over the air, they began to buy records, and a demand for records of such songs, and the sale of records started all over again, until today there are fifty or more records making records.

The latest development in the evolution of the phonograph is the steel tape method of recording, which, while on the market has not reached the stage that is claimed it will in a few more years. We are told that tape recording will be improved to such an extent that a person will be able to carry a recording outfit in a case no larger than a cigar box, and make recordings of concerts, lectures, sermons, or any other affairs with the greatest ease.

So folks, pick out a real nice cigar box and have it ready when the new tape recording machine comes along.

Wins Telephone Company Award

John Denike

John Denike, staff supervisor with the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company's plant department, yesterday celebrated his 40th year of telephone service. A life-long resident of Belleville, Denike's home is at 343 Union Avenue.

He was guest at a luncheon in the Forest Hill Field-County Club, Bloomfield, where Otto R. Richter, division plant manager, presented the company's gold service emblem.

Denike is a past president of the Belleville Rod and Gun Club and a member of Belleville Lodge, F.A.M., and H.G. McNulty Chapter, Telephone Pioneers of America.

ment into the building from its present Union Avenue offices which are rented, and also for moving the Shibley Tree Department into the building from its present Tappan Avenue location.

Smith said that other moves could be considered. Schedule completion date for the addition, as listed in the bidding specifications, is December 15, 1956. Smith said he had no idea of what the structure would cost until bids are received. However, two years ago Commissioners agreed in every way for the purpose of building an addition to the garage, and Smith pointed-out that prices have been steadily climbing since that time.

The union previously had proposed a two-year contract and the company a four-year pact. Since the old agreement expired, agents have appeared periodically in mass picketing demonstrations at the company's home office in Newark and at the local branch offices, including the Belleville office.

She has worked on the teacher workshop program, and was chairman of the workshop that helped develop the present system of conferences for parents and teachers. She also served as chairman of the child study leadership workshop under state superintendent of child study, Dr. Julian Gordon.

In community service affairs, Mrs. Spray has been active in the PTA, and has served on the Board of Directors of the Red Cross and Heart Drive.

In conjunction with this move, the Board also named Mrs. Mabel Wheeler a full time clerk at School No. 9. She had previously held the job on a part time basis.

In other personnel moves, the Board hired Miss Carol J. Decker to teach high school English, Miss Dorothy Y. Riso is the only local resident, living at 15 Jefferson Street.

ahead. A safe rule of the thumb is to allow one car length for each 10 m.p.h. of speed, to give yourself time to avoid trouble if the car ahead stops or slows down abruptly.

One rule that covers everything. "Be a courteous, sportsmanlike driver—don't lose your temper no matter how much 'that madman' in the other car irritates you!"

County Tax

uncollected taxes, and the remaining 18 per cent to finance county government functions, including the county libraries. There is no general property tax levied in New Jersey for State purposes.

The levy for school purposes was $252,889,000, or an increase of 20,550,000 over last year. Thus school taxes increased 8.8 per cent over 1955. This is substantially more than the $6.4 million increase school taxes which occurred between 1954 and 1955.

Municipalities increased their statewide total to $222,000,000. This was an increase of $16,000,000 over 1955.

The tax increase for county purposes was smaller in dollar amounts but larger percentage-wise. The county levy totals $104,580,000 and the increase amounts to $9,281,000 or 9.5 per cent higher than in 1955.

Average Tax Rate $7.89
The value of all property in New Jersey, as determined by local assessors, amounts to $7,349,217,000. This was an increase of $37,14,000 over last year.

The statewide average tax rate is estimated by the State Chamber of Commerce to be $7.89 per $100 of assessed valuation. The statewide average was $7.62 in 1955. The increase in the all purpose tax rate was fairly general in nature: 431, or three out of every four, of the 566 New Jersey municipalities have higher rates, and the tax rates of four municipalities are the same as a year ago.

Review of the County Abstracts shows that 84 per cent of the total, $775,483,000, 1956 proposed tax is levied against real estate and improvements, 13 per cent on tangible personal property, and 2.5 per cent on locally taxed railroad property.

The tax levied on non-railroad real estate and improvements, increased $40,447,000 over 1955 to a total of $488,646,000.

Officials of MacMurray College, Jacksonville, Illinois, announced last week that Miss Betty Jay Lawson, here a senior, and Mr. Albert V. Lawson, of 91 Overlook Avenue, has been placed on the academic honor roll of the college.

This honor was accorded Miss Lawson because her grade average for both the first and second semesters of the 1955-56 school year was above a 2.4 (B plus). Miss Lawson has completed her sophomore year at the MacMurray campus.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Josephine Kaslin Surdi, four daughters, Mrs. Josephine and William of Belleville, Leonard of Newark and Benjamin of Colonia; two sisters, Mrs. Frances Pizzalato of Jamaica, L.I.; Mrs. Mamie Lieto of Maplewood, and nine grandchildren.

In addition, Norman A. Estri, M.D. and Mrs. William Post, of 264 Holmes Street, received the National Honor Society Merit Certificate to Princeton which he turned down, and Constance Tobin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Tobin, of 310 Division Avenue, received a four year scholarship to MacMurray College worth $300 a year, which she also refused.

Slikin revealed that of the 249 graduates in the class of 1956, about 80 of them were planning to continue their education.

She explained that the group's activities include arts and crafts, games of all kinds, and taking trips, to New York and other places.

Children are not the only people to get Mrs. Tucker's attention, as she works with the Belleville Chapter of the Red Cross takes up some of her time. With this group, she serves as canteen vice-chairman, where she keeps records of the hours the canteen works at various ious meetings, hospitals and disasters. The canteen also serves refreshments at all blood bank campaigns, and Mrs. Tucker can be found picking up in time.

T.B. Beard

A member of the board of directors of the Belleville-Nutley T.B. Association, Mrs. Tucker only recently that she has been unable to devote more time to this organization, but around Christmas time she can be found stuffing envelopes with T.B. seals together with other volunteer workers. She also works with the Chestnut Street T.B. Association.

Church activities also take up some of the time Mrs. Tucker has left. She is president of the women's society of the First Baptist Pentecostal Church of Newark, a position which she has held since May.

With all their activities, Mrs. Tucker still finds time to live the life of the average housewife and mother.

The activity seems to run in the family, as Mrs. Tucker's husband is active in labor circles, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. William Tucker, is active in Belleville's Red Cross chapter and the Baptist church in Newark. Mrs. Tucker claims that her daughter takes all this as a matter of routine, and will probably be just as active when she grows up.

PROGRESS REPORT 1956

One of the ways in which we report to the public on our activities is by means of our half-yearly Financial Statements. It shows how much money is being saved with us, how much we've loaned to families acquiring or improving their homes, how much we've set aside to further strengthen reserves, and other revealing data about our work.

The latest statement, below, tells a most cheerful story. Technically, it shows more money saved here, more money at work in home financing, higher reserves and assets than usual. But, actually, what the figures say is that DeWitt, in its modern new air-conditioned building, is more popular than ever with the people of Belleville and vicinity. If you have not yet found out why, you are invited to come in — anytime — and meet the friendly DeWitt people.

Coaches Keeping Active During Summer

Herman "Jitty" Wische, Blue and Gold basketball coach, left behind the warm, humid temperature of Belleville in favor of the clear air of the Catskill Mountains in New York State. Wische resumes his summer activities as director of the boys division at Camp Winnipeg, which is located in Livingston Manor. The veteran pilot has been making the summer trips north for a good many years now.

Two other Belleville coaches, football and baseball pilot Ed Berlinski and assistant basketball and football coach Ray Smith, aren't as lucky as Wische to get out of town and are keeping busy in Belleville for the summer months. Both Berlinski and Smith are working together as playground supervisors in the Recreation Department's summer program at Municipal Stadium.

Later in the summer Berlinski and Smith will change their civilian outfits and will be wearing Army sun-tans for two-week periods. Both are Army Reserve officers and are veterans of World War II. Berlinski, a captain, will train at Fort Dix during the last two weeks of August. He is active in the reception group. Smith will take two weeks off from his summer Rec job on July 21.

Campaign For New Shell Bogs Down

The latest report of the citizens campaign to raise enough money for a new eight-acre shell for the Belleville High School crew has reached $861 but with the summer vacation period setting in and the lack of crew interest at this time the returns have started to bog down. The committee has set a goal of $2,300.

Volunteers, who are working on the committee, have decided to curtail operations for the remainder of the summer and will stage an all-out drive in the Fall so that the Blue and Gold crew will be assured of having the new boat in time for the start of the campaign next spring.

Rees Outlived Nutley But Loose 9-3

The Belleville Rees and the Nutley Colonels hooked up in what may be the first of a popular Fourth of July rivalry. The host Belleville club went down to a 9-3 defeat at the hands of the Essex County League leaders despite the fact the Manager Bill Murphy's charges banged out 11 hits to Nutley's eight.

The holiday attraction was conducted at Municipal Stadium as part of the all-day Fourth of July celebration.

For a good part of the game Belleville kept right on the heels of the high flying Nutley Colonels and it appeared a good chance that the Rees would be able to upset the Colonels and place the part of the spoiler by knocking the next-door neighbor out of first place. At the end of the first three innings of play the score was a close, 4-3, with Nutley in front. The Colonels added another single marker in the sixth but Belleville, hitting the ball well, couldn't come up right with the big blow when needed most. Errors were the big thing that also hurt the Belleville chances of recording a major upset. The Rees made nine errors most on bad throws.

As a result Murphy's charges are once again deep in the second division, tied with Maplewood for sixth place. The Rees have won four games and dropped nine and are two and one half game behind fourth place South Orange.

Larry Clarke went all the way for Nutley in the holiday game with left handed hurler Bob Mallack starting on the mound for Belleville. He was going along O.K. until the eighth inning when the visiting Nutley nine rallied for four runs and iced the outcome.

Young GOP Plays Tennis

The Essex County Young Republicans held their first annual tennis tournament at the Bloomfield Recreation Commission courts last week. Mark Stern, of East Orange, won the men's singles after a grueling contest with Frank Bate, of West Essex, 8-6, 6-4. Stern had previously beaten former assemblyman William O. Barnes, Jr. of South Orange, 6-2, 6-1, and George Ekner, of Millburn-Shorthills, 6-4, 6-4.

G. George Adonizzio, Belleville congressional candidate from the 10th District, presented the trophy which was donated by the County Republican organization. This trophy will be permanent to be held for one year by the Young Republican chapter winning the men's singles.

The mixed doubles finals found Frank Bate and Mary Johnson, of West Essex, opposing Edgar O'Leary and Joanne Viau, of Bloomfield. The West Essex team took the title by winning 6-2, 6-2. Each of the first and second place winners received individual medallions.

Playground Activities Hit Stride With Tournaments

There was plenty of action at all the Recreation Department summer playground tournaments during this week with tournaments being run and high attendance all around.

At the Recreation House, Elmer Houg and John Beresford emerged the victors in a housewifery tournament with Jimmy Nisovocica and Teddy Montegona coming in for runner-up honors. Number One School was having a busy softball team with plenty of practice going on daily. Louis Sheffield now bears the nickname "Sluggo" since his over the fence wallop (measured by the boys at 185 feet).

On the checker board at No. 1, Veronica Sudziarsky defeated champion Joe Bartholomew. Jim Farallo and Dot Henderson also figured in the final games of the checker tournament.

Entertainment is also offered the youngsters at Number One School with the aerobics of Bob Farallo and Bill Butler and the jitterbug dancing of Thomas and Mariene Delaney.

In the inter-club volleyball tournament, the Stadium Team and the Recreation House Team clashed and each won a game at the Rec House play area.

In an unofficial third game the Rees won over the Stadium. The Rec House team captained by Ralph Esposito and Richard Haug, played Paul Trinker, Joe Valvano, and Joe Valvano.

ST. ANTHONY'S IS OUT OF FIRST HALF CYO BASEBALL RACE

To all intents and purposes, St. Anthony's, Belleville, was knocked out of the first half race in the Essex County CYO Intermediate Baseball League last Sunday when the Saints dropped a 5-0 decision to Sacred Heart, Vailsburg.

The win gave Sacred Heart a 3-0 record and left St. Anthony's tied for second with the defending champions from St. Casimir's, Newark. Both these teams have 2-1 records. However, they must meet in the opening game of a twin-bill at Newark's Memorial Stadium on July 8 as Sacred Heart closes its first-half slate against St. Patrick's, Newark. The Newarkers are winless and it is inconceivable that they can knock off Sacred Heart and give St. Anthony's an opportunity to tie.

Don Pizzi of Sacred Heart and Don Klein of St. Anthony's were locked in a scoreside duel until the top of the fourth when Sacred Heart scored all its runs. Neither team committed an error but Pizzi held the Saints to one safety while Klein was nipped for five hits by the winners.

Another pitching battle is in prospect of July 8 when St. Casimir's provides the opposition. That team lost a 3-1 decision to Sacred Heart earlier and has two excellent hurlers on its staff. The contest is scheduled for 1 p.m.

LITTLE LEAGUE LIFE

by Harold Brandman, Bob Katz, and Nunzio Cernero

Even though the Giants and Bombers continue to lead their respective leagues, the other teams are beginning to shape up and should be giving the league leaders some stiff competition in the near future. This applies especially to the Cubs of the National League who have recently showed that they've got what it takes and have moved to within three games of the league-leading Giants. At this point it appears that both the Bombers and the Giants will have a tough fight ahead of them if they wish to remain in first place.

At present each coach is selecting five candidates from his club for the "All-Star" team. These boys will be working under the careful eye of Fred McQuillen and George Sheridan, coaches of the American and National League All Stars respectively. In compliance with Little League rules, the starting lineups will not be announced until July 15.

Following are the Little League standings as of Friday, June 29:

NATIONAL LEAGUE					AMERICAN LEAGUE
	W	L	Pct.	GB		W	L	Pct.	GB
GIANTS	9	1	.900	-	BOMBERS	9	1	.900	-
CUBS	6	4	.600	3	CLIPPERS	4	6	.400	5
YANKEES	3	8	.273	6 1/2	ACES	4	6	.400	5
DOGGERS	2	7	.222	6 1/2	DEMONS	3	7	.300	6

Let's get out and support our Little League. We guarantee you'll enjoy yourself watching the major leaguers of the future. Games begin at 6:30 p. m. and are usually over by 8 p. m. All games are played at Clearman Field.

In Force In Belleville Area Tent Caterpillars Are Out

Tent caterpillars are out in force in Belleville and neighboring countryside. By now, however, it is too late to do very much about them, for generally they have already had the meat of their generation, as our trees, stripped bare of their tender green leaves, show.

The dingy gray, silken tents are a familiar Springtime sight mostly in wild cherry trees, but also sometimes in domestic cherry and in apple and crabapple trees. They are thick in some areas, notably in northern New Jersey. Rutgers University entomologists assert that "this is one of the very bad years."

The cold and wet spring, it seems was just fine for the caterpillars. For one thing, the elements kept many of the migrating birds down south, and tender young caterpillars are a staple of many an avian diet.

Also, there are numerous tiny insect parasites that keep the caterpillar population down, but these do not grow properly in cold and damp weather, which seems to have little effect on growing caterpillars.

Rutgers entomologists note that it is too late to do much about the caterpillars, for they already have chewed through most of the leaves that they will consume.

If the caterpillars are to use the bare bark of their wild cherries, the scientists say, it is his own fault, for he neglected to spray with a simple late in March or early April.

A few drops of 5 per cent house- hold DDT squirted on each of the small new tents would have done the trick.

If this should stir the Nutley amateur gardener to action, he is warned not to burn the tent, for this can damage the tree even more than the caterpillars.

Recommended procedure consists of stinging sticky fly-paper around the tent trees or waiting for evening, when the wandering caterpillars have come home for the night, and then giving the tent a few healthy shots of 5 per cent DDT with a sprayer.

At present, tent caterpillars are wandering about on their ten busy little feet. They are looking for a likely spot under a stone or pupa to spin a cocoon, turn into a pupa and then rest up and reorganize themselves into a fat and rather unattractive moth.

Within a month or so, these night-flying insects will be but- tressing the porch lights, clogging automobile radiators and looking for wild cherry twigs.

On the twigs the female will lay 150 to 200 eggs, cover them with a varnish-like substance and fire, and then they are hatched.

The eggs remain dormant until the very early spring, when they hatch into a multitude of tiny cat- erpillars that soon start to weave their tent in a handy fork of the tree.

The brothers and sisters have a remarkable homing instinct and return to the right tree for shelter at night and in bad weather.

Solemn High Mass And Testimonial Dinner Feature Two-Day Observance By Holy Family

Msgr. Anthony Di Luca

The fiftieth anniversary of the ordination of Msgr. Anthony Di Luca will be the occasion of a two-day parish celebration, in the form of a testimonial dinner at the Essex House, in Newark, on Saturday evening, July 14, and a solemn high mass the following day. The gift of Nutley and Belleville parishioners will be an automobile.

The youngest and last surviving child of 16 born to Vito and Margaret Di Luca, he was born in Italy on March 12, 1881, and was ordained a priest on July 15, 1906.

He came to America as a young priest in 1907, served for two years in Yonkers and for 10 years in Texas. He returned to Italy because of ill health in 1919, but came back to this country in 1926. He served as an assistant priest in Mt. Carmel Church, Newark, St. Francis Xavier, Newark, and in Our Lady of Libera Church, West New York, before he was appointed pastor of Holy Family Church on October 22, 1938.

Msgr. Di Luca is responsible for the erection of Holy Family Church and rectory in 1938. Under his direction the Church acquired the former Italian Community Home for use as a Youth Center in 1948. He constructed a shrine to Our Lady of Lourdes and of Fatima in 1949. He built the Holy Family Parochial School, which now accommodates 601 children in the kindergarten and 8 grammar grades, in 1950, and the Sisters, convent a year later.

Msgr. Di Luca successfully led a campaign to raise $200,000 for the erection of an additional parochial school building during the past year. In preparation for ground breaking the site has been cleared and a retaining wall erected. The new building, at Memphis Avenue and Grove Streets, will enable Holy Family to double its present enrollment.

Msgr. Di Luca was made a Domestic Prelate with the title of Right Reverend Monsignor in December, 1949, by Pope Pius XII. He is an honorary Canon of the Cathedral of Tricarico, Italy, the town of his birth. He is a Counselor to the Archbishop of Newark, Most Reverend Thomas A. Boland. He was awarded a degree of Doctor of Laws by Seton Hall University on June 9.

The anniversary is to be marked on Sunday, June 15, with a solemn high mass of Thanksgiving at Holy Family Church. The celebrant of the Mass will be Msgr. Di Luca and the Archbishop of Newark will preside. The festivities will conclude with an open house reception in the school hall Sunday evening.

The principal speaker at the Essex House testimonial dinner will be Msgr. Martin W. Stanton, Ph.D., Archbishop of Newark, Director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith and Pastor of St. Aedra's Church, in Jersey City. Monsignor Stanton in a long-time friend of the golden jubilarian.

The honorary chairman of the Dinner Committee is Reverend Francis J. Blake, assistant pastor at Holy Family Church and an associate of Monsignor Di Luca for 14 years. The executive chairman is Dr. Robert J. Citrino, town physician and school physician for Holy Family Parochial School. Other officers of the Dinner Committee include Samuel W. Brown, vice chairman; Louis D'Angelo, of Belleville, treasurer; Frank Malizia, of Belleville, assistant treasurer; and Mrs. Anthony Magistro, of Belleville, secretary.

Stella Ann Longhi, (standing) hands an assignment to Professor Hubert R. Ede, of the Rutgers School of Journalism at New Brunswick, shortly before the professor retired after thirty years of teaching. A former major at Douglas College, Miss Longhi is a Belleville resident. Also in the picture are Peter R. Hoffman, of Red Bank, (left) and Virginia Lee Stark, of Clifton (right).

The printing and ticket committee has as co-chairmen Mrs. J. Narucki. They have been assisted by Frank Cocchiola and Mrs. Thomas by Mildred Armino, Katherine Barberia, Rose Gabriele, Ann Cannela, Joan Romano, Helen Vecchio, Dorothy Cundari, Lillian Santoro, Ann Tremel, Ida Stenland, Theresa Neglia, Mary Russo, Mildred Dente, Maureen Scudato, Mary Madeo, Mary Massa, Angelina Frank, Rose Martino, Marie Cascino, Mary Restaino, Louise Cerretani, Josephine Romano, Anne Leppa, Josephine Smith, Gloria D'Antonio, Angelina Manfria, Barbara Feltek and Marie Ciccone.

The dinner arrangements committee is headed by Gerard Riondi and Mrs. C. Benis De Capua as co-chairmen.

Publicity chairman is Samuel R. Verniero and his committee includes Rosemarie Orecchio and Joseph Citrino.

The hotel reception chairman is Miss Mae Lardier. Her hostesses include Mrs. Jules J. Janey, Mrs. Samuel W. Brown, Mrs. Mary Lardier, Mrs. Dominic Riondi, Mrs. C. Benis De Capua and Mrs. Anthony Magistro.

The gift committee chairman is Nicholas Landolfi.

Chairman for arrangements for the Solemn High Mass is Charles A. Fanelli. The Sunday evening reception in the school hall will be under the direction of a committee headed by Mrs. Joseph De Furia.

A special committee to receive visiting clergy both at the Mass and at the dinner is headed by Anthony Biselli. Mrs. C. Benis De Capua is in charge of monetary souvenir cards to be distributed to parishioners.

GYRODYNE COMPANY OF AMERICA, INC.
The picture you see above shows the Model XRON-1 Rotocycle in flight. Designed and manufactured by Gyrodyne, this ultra-small, one man helicopter is the first machine of its kind that meets rigid military requirements for practical, sustained flight.
Over and above its intended use for observation, liaison and tactical maneuvers, the XRON-1 Rotocycle opens the way for a truly practical application of the helicopter principle in civilian and business life. The idea of a helicopter in every garage appears for the first time to be more than an idle dream—it is now a realistic goal, thanks to the XRON-1.
Of equal importance, the concept of the XRON-1 Rotocycle readily lends itself to extension to larger two, three or four passenger versions. The development and construction of this machine is a long and fascinating story, but it is only one highlight in the research plans of Gyrodyne—plans now becoming realities. We'd like you to learn more about Gyrodyne and the speculative possibilities of its common stock, and we have available late information we think you should read.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor,
Belleville Times - News

Television being a principal method of entertainment for today's middle-income earner, naturally some concern must be given to that portion of the family budget which makes possible the parade of TV stars across the parlor screen. What with color on the horizon and large screen sets at new low and attractive prices one is tempted to "junk" the old instrument which put the corner movie out of business and go for the new model. But wait—let us take a look at what the F.C.C. (the government agency that controls TV) has to say—seems they have a few schemes they want to consider that wouldn't fit into the plans for that new model.

The F.C.C. is scheduled soon to announce a set of new standards in allocating channels. Its action is designed to break a long stalemate in television's expansion. It could determine the scope of TV for years to come. The fate of ultra-high frequency TV hangs in the balance.

Plans under consideration would:

1. Permit additional stations to operate on channels 2 through 13.
2. Require all stations operating east of the Mississippi River to move to the U.H.F. band within 10 years. This band includes channels numbered 14 through 84.
3. If the F.C.C. should decide on the second plan, millions of TV set owners in this area would be "over a barrel." Owners of sets equipped to sample the visual delights of channels 2 through 13 ultimately would be required to buy new sets or convert their older sets at substantial cost.

Viewers west of the Mississippi would continue to enjoy uninterrupted service on their old sets.

The F.C.C. has given no hint of what its final proposal will be. No doubt it realizes a storm of angry protest is being stirred up. The fact was the cradle of the TV industry, here is where most of the sets are. Wouldn't the logical remedy be to favor those here? Then, perhaps the "Big Money boys" see a method of artificially creating new business at the expense of that great "sucker," the little working man who doesn't realize all the angles.

C.B.S. and N.B.C. who send out the better telecasts say the existing structure of network service is under serious threat. If they are concerned, perhaps viewers should be too.

Acquaint yourself with this problem, write the F.C.C., that is your agency, present them with your views. You can't afford a lobbyist like the set makers who may want to sell more equipment, but you can protest if you object. Think it over, its your "dough" involved.

One Man's Opinion

Russia Undeniably is Changing But She Must Be Judged By Her Own Standards, Not Ours

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

On this Independence Day, taking stock of the world situation dominated, as it is, by the controversy stirred up by the Kremlin's "new look" it becomes this "One Man's Opinion" that the Soviet Union is going through a set of experiences which have their parallel well back along the road of our own past. The Russians aren't trying to lead the world down a path of their own making; they are still trying to catch up with our world after having started from far behind us. The unhappy truth is that they are catching up fast.

Both the United States and the Soviet Union were born of revolution; ours 180 years ago, theirs barely 39 years ago. Our evolution from a colonial status to our present wealth and productivity was slow and our position as the world's dominant power is of barely a decade's duration. In 39 years, Russia has been converted to modern technology, most of the progress having come from her wartime contact with the western world during the war.

In attempting to assess any values to the changes which have taken place within Russia in recent months, most aptly demonstrated by the inspired demolition of the Stalin myth, it behooves the Western world to judge Russian policy, Russian production and Russian propaganda by Russian standards and scales, not by our own.

Regardless of the fantastic progress that Russia has made to become the world's No. 2 power in ten short years, her political concept, her industrial production, her social standards are still primitive.

The Soviet government enjoys authority among its people that the Western governments enjoyed in the Tudor period of our history. The average residents in the Soviet Union of today would no more think of open political action against the state than did the average Englishman in the reign of Henry VIII.

Back To Napoleon

They have a one-party political system. So did the Western world down to the Cromwellian revolution. A two- or more multiple-party political system involves the right of open political action against the government. This is less than 300 years old in Western society.

Soviet citizens may be emerging from political as distinct from objective justice. The west has begun to enjoy objective justice since about 200 years ago.

The Russians now have the foundation of a modern industrial system. They are about where Britain was at the end of the Napoleonic Wars and the United States was on the eve of World War I in 1914.

A new industrial complex emerging under primitive standards of increase in the flow of consumer goods and a steady increase in the scope and size of the industrial complex.

During its rise it will enjoy, on a larger scale, the competitive advantages which the Old South in the United States has been enjoying in recent years over New England, and for much the same reasons.

The early stages of advance are quicker than the later ones. Particularly when there is an ample supply of cheap labor and lower and less expensive standards of social security. Competitive co-existence will rise to an equal basis until such time as Soviet living and social-welfare standards rise to the same level as those now enjoyed in the West.

But the Russian system which is coming into increasing competition with ours is not fueled by the dynamism of a new concept. It is fueled by the dynamism of a primitive society moving into the fast stage of industrial expansion. The competition will become meaningful when the time levels come together—which must be several years in the future.

Threshold Of New Era

It is possible to argue inconclusively and disagree sharply over whether Stalin's economic policies speeded or delayed the development of industry in the Soviet Union.

This argument is immaterial to us today. The important thing is that the time levels come together—which we must adjust our thinking and our policies to that the United States is on the threshold of modern industrialization.

Perhaps the Soviet state would have reached this point earlier had it been spared the ordeal of Stalin. Perhaps, as others believe, Stalin really gave us of the West more time to prepare for the emergence of a massive new industrialized state in the world by his stifling home policies. The essential fact remains that the passing of Stalin occurred at about the time when the groundwork for a modern industrial society had been more or less completed in the Soviet Union.

There is a disagreement inside the Kremlin today over the proportion of the output of Soviet industry which should be allocated each year to the respective tasks of broadening the industrial basis still further and of providing consumer goods.

More Consumer Goods

This is, however, argument over degree, not over substance. The substantial fact is that there are enough factories in the Soviet Union to provide both a steady increase in the flow of consumer goods and a steady increase in the scope and size of the industrial complex.

It is feeling its own growth and supplying more consumer goods each year. Productivity and the standard of living are going up at the same time. There is no visible reason why both should not continue to grow and grow very rapidly, during coming years.

This condition is the most important single force bearing upon policy decision in the Soviet Union today.

The men of the Kremlin are Communists. What they assume communism to mean influences their thinking and their decisions. But they are also men sitting on top of a vast complex of mines, oil wells, transportation systems, factories, and retail outlets, all of which are operating at a steadily faster and more productive rate.

What do they do with this vast machine? Do they concentrate on making it bigger or on distributing its produce to the people of the Soviet Union? How much bigger do they want it to become? Is slave labor essential to its continued growth or has it become a drag on the system because slave labor cannot consume so rapidly as free and well-paid labor?

Private capital is being accumulated in the Soviet Union today in the hands of the Communists. As the Soviet industrial system revolves in ever faster motion, there will be increasing accumulation of capital. It will seek outlets as it did in the transition from feudal to capitalist society. Will it find the outlets?

So far the Soviet state finances itself largely out of a concealed sales tax. It has not yet begun to tax accumulated wealth as Western states do.

The maximum income tax is 10 per cent and the maximum inheritance tax is 13½ per cent. This system puts the bulk of the tax burden on the poor, particularly on the peasant. This encourages the accumulation of private capital. How long does this go on? What does it do to the practice of communism?

The answers lie obscurely in the future. The essential fact is that factors other than Communist theory bear heavily on the process of policy making in the Kremlin.
