

Motorists Tail Cut In Motor Car Inspections

Local Car and Truck Owners Cheer Ruling That Will Eliminate Delays At Inspection Stations; Meyner Urges Owners Check Safety Factors

Belleville car and truck owners this week hailed the announcement by Gov. Meyner and Motor Vehicle Director Frederick J. Gassett Jr. which reduced the number of compulsory motor vehicle inspections to one a year.

The order issued last week, represents the first easing of the inspection requirements since the system was inaugurated in 1938, and which brought an immediate reduction in New Jersey's highway death rate.

Under the new order, motorists will now be required to have their cars inspected during the month in which the auto registration expires. The expiration date is listed on a tag on the upper half of the present registration certificates. The inspection notice for another month at the bottom no longer applies. At present, some 1,800,000 vehicles are covered by the inspection system throughout the state.

Motorists have complained for more than a year of the long delays at inspection stations and the expense of additional funds for the erection of new stations. The Legislature has contended that the construction of new stations to immediate expansion of present stations.

Meyner said the change will remain in effect until enough new stations have been added to the inspection system to permit the two inspections annually without long waiting lines. He said the state was having difficulty in obtaining sites for new stations which would not create traffic jams and hazards by valuing motorists.

The governor admitted the reduction to one inspection annually was a solution against the long lines of cars and delays at inspection stations, involved a risk in increased traffic accidents. "I strongly urge every car owner in the state to have his car inspected by a competent mechanic, with particular attention to brakes, steering and tires, to be sure the car is in good condition and to be able to pass inspection, but for his own safety, for that of his family, and for the protection of everyone else on the streets and highways on which he drives his car."

Roy F. Duke, President, stated that the increased dividend is the first time since 1945 that the stock on an annual basis of $3.00 per share. The dividend is payable to stockholders of record on July 23. It is contemplated that this dividend rate will be continued.

The stock dividend, subject to shareholder approval, will increase the total value of the company from $500,000 to $525,000. The last stock dividend voted by Fidelity Union Trust Company for the present quarter. The new rate is 75 cents a share compared to 60 cents a share for the previous quarter. In addition, the Board has recommended a five percent stock dividend for approval of shareholders at a special meeting to be held on August 1.

Local Plant, Originally In Construction Business, Makes Many Products

By Rita Knoll

You're from Belleville, maybe even a native of the town. You know all about the size of the population, where to find the Town Hall, the Police Department, and what to do if your car starts to burn. You've heard that Belleville is now an industrial town. You'll go along with that because you've seen quite a few factories on Main Street, and in other parts of town and you figure they must be doing something in those buildings. You're right. They are. Belleville is growing industrially, and very few people know just what is being manufactured right in their own back yards. Within the next few months, the Times-News will publish a series of articles entitled "Industry in Belleville" in which we hope to give you, the citizens of the town, a comprehensive picture of Belleville's large and small industries. LANDING CRAFT MEETS WRECKERS BLOW TORCHES

Derelict Vessel At Foot Of Terry Street Finally Succumbs To Scrapmen

A long standing eyesore to residents of Belleville has finally met the wreckers blow torch. The derelict landing ship that has been anchored in the Passaic River at the foot of Terry Street by the local Frederick Scott Ship of Veterans of Foreign Wars is expected to be completely scrapped in several more days.

A Jersey City salvage firm has demolished the vessel recently, and the junking operation is expected to be completed shortly. Salvage workers have already cut off the entire superstructure of the ship, and a large portion of the hull has been cut into smaller segments. Working with acetylene torches and a huge derrick, the wreckers are going about their job systematically. After movable portions of the craft are cut away, they are loaded onto heavy trucks and hauled away to the scrapyard.

Local firm were called to the scene this morning Monday to excavate a hole that had started in the partially dismantled hull of the ship. Firmen, who have been called to the site on several previous occasions, hoped this was the last time they would be called out to the vessel.

Three trucks answered the alarm and fought the flames for more than an hour before being able to bring them under control. Deputy fire chief William Fabian stated that about two gallons of liquid foam were poured on the fire. This is equivalent to about 1,000 gallons of water, he said.

The ship was originally brought to the site by the New Jersey State Police.

FIRE DAMAGE UP HERE DURING JUNE

Building Permits Issued Total $135,000 For Month

Fire and building reports for the month of June have been submitted to Belleville Town Commissioners by the respective departments. Although many people are away for the summer months, neither the number of fires, nor the amount of new building in town has taken any marked decline.

According to the fire report, released by deputy chief William Fabian, the local fire department answered 30 alarms during the past month. In addition, two false alarms were received. Although there were no deaths or injuries reported as a result of any of the fires, a total of $9,500 damage was caused.

The report shows that there were less fires locally during the month of June than reported in the preceding month, but that the total amount of damage was greater last month than in May despite the decrease in calls.

Deputy Chief Fabian's report also showed that there were 52 ambulance calls during the past month. This included 32 service calls, 18 emergencies, and two accident cases. A total of 633 miles was run up on calls.

Building Permits

In the building department, building inspector Thomas Green reports that a total of $135,935 worth of building permits were issued during the month of June.

Sen. Fox Would Equalize Drinking Laws At 21 Years

In Interview With Times-News Essex Senator Says He Favors Pressing Albany To Adjust New York Law To Conform To New Jersey's

In an exclusive interview with The Times-News yesterday, Senator Donald C. Fox, Essex Democrat, took a strong stand in favor of standardizing the legal minimum age for serving intoxicating drinks at 21 years. He reiterated his hope that the New York State Legislature will revise the law which set the legal age, in New York State, at 18 years.

"We have had several horrible examples, in recent years, of juveniles becoming involved in automobile accident after drinking and the laws should protect our young people against themselves until they have attained the age of legal reason," Senator Fox said in the interview.

"As long as New Jersey boys are forbidden by law to be served alcoholic drinks in this State until they are 21 years old, they will cross the State line, whenever they can and whenever they want to, to take advantage of the 18-year-law in New York State."

"Essex and Union County officials have been having a lot of trouble with young boys who drive across the bridges to Staten Island where they are served, locally, at any bar. No one is breaking a law because that is the consequence of the contrasting age limits on both sides of a state line."

"New Jersey police can act only if the boys come back across the bridges too intoxicated to drive safely. That happens, alas, far too often. Many accidents can be traced directly to drunken driving by boys who, legally, too young to be served liquor in New Jersey."

Senator Fox was one of the New Jersey legislators who recently signed a petition addressed to New York State legislators asking them to consider legislation to raise the minimum age in that state to 21 years. He said yesterday he is hopeful that Albany will heed the appeal in the coming session of the legislature.

Public Service Directors Declare Regular Dividend

The Board of Directors of Public Service Electric and Gas Company today declared a quarterly dividend of 45 cents per share on the common stock for the third quarter of 1956. The Board also declared the regular dividend, for the third quarter of 1956, of $1.02 a share on the 4.08 per cent cumulative preferred, $1.075 a share on the 4.30 per cent cumulative preferred, and 35 cents a share on the $4.40 dividend preferred stock. All dividends for this quarter are payable on or before September 20, to stockholders of record August 31.

"With the increased contributions," the chairman remarked "More money will be used for cancer research, as well as education and service to patients." He told how the Chapter's education and service to patients.

NEWS SERVICES BOYCOTT NEWARK EVENING PAPER

Three Local Dealers Join In County Fight Against Over Use Of Newsboys

Three Belleville news delivery services, answering an ultimatum to make home deliveries of the Newark Evening News at a cost of 50 cents a week, or see their routes taken over by newsboys, announced this week the cancellation of orders and the boycott of the Newark daily newspaper. The boycott affects about 2,500 home deliveries in Belleville and has been widened to 24 dealers in Essex County with a combined daily delivery of close to 30,000 newspapers.

The total boycott of home deliveries here began upon last Friday by the three local dealers, James Salmon, Edward Van Demark, and L. Charles. They explained that the service charge included high insurance rates on deliveries trucks and other factors.

When the Newark newspaper, in retaliation, recruited boys to canvass Belleville neighborhoods and make home deliveries, the three boycotting services consulted with local police officials this week to ascertain whether the use of children of the state laws governing child labor.

They were told by police that boys under the age of 16 or older who are able to obtain working papers, but that the law forbids them to deliver papers seven days a week.

CANCER CRUSADE COUNTY TOTALS SET RECORD HIGH

Belleville's Campaign Tops Quota As $10,084 Is Raised In Local Drive

The Essex County Chapter of the American Cancer Society established an all-time high for the Cancer Crusade this year, when contributions reached $211,256. It was reported this week by Owen C. Hunt of Glen Ridge, campaign chairman.

The previous high, set in 1954 under the leadership of Jack R. Pappas of South Orange, was $211,223. However, Hunt said that contributions received between now and August 31 would be credited to the 1956 campaign.

With a new high, the 1956 drive surpassed every existing record in the Chapter's 10-year history. The first of the money will be checked daily and sent to the headquarters of the drive.

Chief Spatz added that homeowners should have all newspapers, magazines, and other mail delivered to their doors. "Burglars especially watch homes that have an accumulation of newspapers, circulars, and mail in their mail boxes," he said. "If a neighbor has mail, let him return it to town, Chief Spatz said."

The Chief also listed the following set of do's and don'ts which he urged all citizens to observe to have a more relaxed rest.

- 1. Stop mail, newspaper and other mail delivery.
- 2. Don't lower window shades. Arrange to have your lawn mowed. Prowlers watch for such tips-offs.
- 3. Notify post office to hold mail, or arrange delivery to a neighbor.
- 4. Lock windows and doors. Remember basement windows and doors.
- 5. Shut off gas and water at main valves. Shut off electricity at master switch, unless refrigerator or food freezer is to be left on.
- 6. If refrigerator is disconnected, leave door open to prevent mold.
- 7. Inform police how long house is vacant.

School Board Votes To Form New Post Not Under Daniels

4-2 Vote Passes Resolution As Boyd Charges Business Manager With Negligence

A vote of 4 to 2 passed a resolution to create a new position of supervisor of maintenance at Monday's special meeting of the Board of Education. Applications for the job will be considered immediately, with the hope that the position will be filled by the beginning of the school term in September.

The Board decided to create the new position rather than hiring an assistant to its business manager, a position now held by Ruel E. Daniels who is due for retirement in three years. Daniels was charged by the Board's president William A. Boyd with "terrific neglect" of maintenance in the school system, in his capacity of supervising the system's seven maintenance men.

The controversy arose several months ago when Frank Hanger, Jr., a school electrician, was fired, and the board decided to hire a combination electrician and plumber to fill the post. The job would have been directly responsible to business manager Daniels, but because of the lack of proper maintenance, in recent years, the school system had been forced to pay for the man to be directly responsible to him.

Chairman Max N. Schwartz Says Work Is Completed; No Authority To Continue

Belleville Town Commissioners received letters this week from Max N. Schwartz, chairman of the rent grievance committee, requesting that Commission take formal action to officially abolish the group. Schwartz, who has been chairman of the committee since its inception last July, stated that the business of his group is now at an end.

Commissioners appointed the five-man rent grievance Board a year ago when rent controls were lifted in Belleville. Their job was to see that the transition from rent control to de-control was done smoothly and fairly to both tenants and landlords.

State Law Expires

Schwartz further explained that the state law under which local rent prices were controlled was appointed expired June 30 and that the state legislature has done nothing to renew the measure. Therefore, Schwartz said there was no power for the committee to function any longer. Since there is neither state or local rent controls, there is legal authority for the group, he said.

Others serving on the Committee besides Schwartz, 315 Branch Brook Drive, were Mrs. Theodore W. White, 400 Jonathan Street, Rev. Peter R. Deekenbach, of 393 Washington Avenue; Joseph Ebert of 13 Harvard Place; and George Pfeiffer, 270 Union Street.

Citizens Protest

In giving the background of the committee, Schwartz said that when rent controls were lifted in Belleville last June, a large number of citizens protested that they had been unfairly raised. In order to give tenants and landlords alike treatment, Town Commissioners appointed the rent grievance committee.

The Face Is Familiar: Magic And Shorthand Make Keenan Unusual Attorney

If you are ever moved to visit a Town Commission meeting, you might see a rather unspectacular man with greying hair and an occasional optimistic smile. Usually the opinion is not a personal one, as Lawrence E. Keenan is there to help local government with its legal problems, and has been doing just this for some twenty-four years.

"The position of Town Attorney is an appointed office lasting for one year," Keenan informed us, "and I'm practically the dean in New Jersey," he went on. "There is only one other attorney in the state who has served longer, when he retires, I'll hold the record."

"But let's skip all this legal stuff and get to the things that interest me," he continued. A little reluctant to skip the legal stuff, we did so. He said that in his twenty-four years on the town's legal advisor, Keenan found a lot of citizens in his first year while working for the town, his most satisfying. The case concerned the assessment of a town sewer, and "I won the case although everyone said I was too young and green to know what I was doing."

Bill Murphy And Rec Dept. At Odds

For years Belleville has been without a semi-pro baseball team but this season, after competing for one year with an independent schedule Bill Murphy, with his Recreation squad, gained entrance to the strong Essex County League. It was a good move in the right direction for Belleville. Most towns in the suburban area have managed to field a semi-pro club during the summer months and Murphy was lauded for his fine work.

But now Murphy and the Department of Recreation are at complete odds and it's a question of whether or not Murphy will keep his team in Belleville. The Department of Recreation, headed by Bob Cook, allowed the team to use the Rec name and also arranged for the Essex County team to play five home games in Municipal Stadium as a starter. "It's true we did not uniform the team, that was done by Murphy but he never came to me and asked for more support," Cook told me yesterday.

Cook took a dim outlook when Murphy announced publicly several weeks ago that he was going to be sponsored by DeBacco Sports Shop. "I wouldn't have minded a bit but Murphy never said a word to me about it," said Cook.

The topper came only this week when Murphy applied to the Essex County League and received permission to change the name of the team from the Recs to the Riders, since Joe DeBacco, a former bicycle racer was sponsoring the team.

With that latest move Cook washed his hands of the entire matter and told me that Murphy's team will no longer have the use of Municipal Stadium for their remaining league games. Belleville had played only two league games at the stadium so far and both were against Nutley, with the last being contested on the Fourth of July as part of the all-day independence day celebration. Three more Essex County League games were still on tap for the remainder of the season but according to Cook's latest verdict it looks like Murphy will have to start hunting for another home field.

A problem exists with a scheduled Labor Day holiday attraction against Nutley. Nutley's Park Oval isn't available since the field is usually being prepared for the nearing football practice season that late in the summer and with Municipal Stadium being definitely out it throws the schedule into a muddle.

At any rate it is a shame that both Murphy and the Department of Recreation can't come to some kind of an agreement. Belleville has a semi-pro team which is still young and is fighting hard in the Essex County League. It would be too bad if Murphy's throws up his hands in disgust and takes his team to another nearby town.

It took a long time to get a semi-pro baseball team in Belleville. Let's try and keep it!

Weigmann Does Well In Golf Tourney

Gordon Wiegmann, former captain of the Belleville High School golf team, competed against most of the best young golfers in the state and narrowly missed winning the title in the New Jersey State Public Golfers Organization Junior championships conducted last week at the Asbury Park Golf and Country Club.

Gordon, who will celebrate his 20th birthday, next month, advanced to the final round before losing to Charley McCrea, of Gallopings Hill, 5 and 4. In advancing to the final round Wiegmann defeated two Belleville youths who also play out of Branch Brook. He took the measure of John Downey, 5 and 4, in the first round of match play and went on to eliminate Anthony Gaet, a student of Belleville High School, 3 and 1.

In the final round of competition Gordon, a rising young golf prospect, beat George Whitaker, of Gallopings Hill, 2 and 1. Last year Whitaker was a finalist in the state P.G.O. junior event.

Wiegmann qualified for the match play with an 81. He covered the first nine holes in a 44 and came back with a neat 37 for the last nine on the rough Jersey shore course. There were about 50 boys under 20 years of age competing for top honors with 16 qualifiers being selected.

In the final round against McCrea, Wiegmann was up against stiff competition as the eventual champion covered the 14 holes in par. Wiegmann was five strokes over par with the battle being called at the end of the 14th.

The former star divot digger has been playing golf for the last seven years and was a member of the Blue and Gold varsity golf squad under Coach Herman "Jitty" Wischo for all four years. He was chosen captain of the team in his senior year. Since graduating from Belleville High, Wiegmann has been working for Public Service in the gas operating department.

During his seven years of playing golf Wiegmann has covered the 18-hole Branch Brook course in a 70 several times but he is still striving to break below that mark. "That's my one greatest ambition at this time he said."

As the result of placing second in the state P.G.O. junior championships Wiegmann earned the right to compete in the annual New Jersey State Junior Tournament for members of private clubs. Every year the top four golfers in the public tourney are invited to compete in the private event. The invitational affair will be conducted over a three-day span starting on August 30 at the Plainfield Country Club.

Riders Divide Pair Sunday For Fourth Week In A Row

For the fourth successive week the Belleville Riders, formerly the Belleville Recs, had to be content with an even split in a pair of Essex County League games. Bill Murphy's charges dropped a 3-1 twilight game to the East Orange Sovereals but bounced back to take the measure of the South Orange Dodgers in a tight 3-2 decision last Sunday at Cameron Field. The win over the Dodgers narrowed the gap between the sixth place South Orange Club and Belleville which is at a standstill in sixth place.

The Riders will have their best opportunity of the season to win two weekend games in a row if past records mean anything. This weekend the Belleville nine will play away games against the lowly Maplewood Maples and West Orange. Both teams are expected for the cellar position with four victories while losing 13 starts.

Murphy will probably send either Bob "Windy" Malleck or Sal Ruffo against Maplewood with either Frank Spornik or Jim McLean doing the pitching against West Orange in the Sunday attraction.

Ruffo had received credit for the victory over South Orange. The former Nutley Colonels hurler has now won both starts since donning a Belleville uniform.

Ruffo went seven innings but was relieved by Malleck when he started to tire in the late stages of the game. He struck out four Dodgers batters and failed to issue a base on balls.

Malleck turned out to be the hero of the game, however. In the two innings that he pitched, "Windy" gave up only one hit and closed the door to an early ninth inning uprising.

The Dodgers threatened to deadlock the contest at 3-3 when Ted Geary started the bottom of the last inning with a long drive to deep right centerfield. For Gary it was his third hit of the day. He also had a pair of singles.

With the tying run on third and no out, however, Malleck, preceded by strike-out, beat-out hitter Bill Edlestein, and the rest, netted two South Orange batters to pop.

Belleville tallied a pair of runs in the second to take a 2-4 lead when Tony DeBussy singled, Richie Veith sacrificed, Sam Graziano walked and both advanced on a passed ball and an error by the shortstop. Carmen Iemma, All State pitcher for Nutley High School who was playing in the outfield for the Riders, slapped a single to score Graziano.

On his sixth Mike Shepard doubled to the left-centerfield wall and crossed the plate when Veith's hard grounder went through the shortstop's legs.

By Harold Brandman, Bob Katz, and Nuncio Cernero

Once again rain caused the temporary postponement of two of the week's games. On July 8 the game between the Riders and the Bombers but that game was rained out and last Friday's night game was called off due to wet grounds.

On July 10 the American League Demons defeated the second place Clippers by a score of six to three. On Wednesday night the Cubs, with Bob Pichler on the mound, defeated the Yankees by a score of seven to two. Sal LaCoco, constantly a good hitter, continued to plaster the ball as he went two for three with a single and a double.

The following night the Giants continued their winning ways by defeating the Dodgers by a score of three to nothing as George Sheridan, the Giants ace hurler, pitched a three hitter.

All Little League games which have been postponed and other scheduled games will be played following the termination of All Star Play.

ST. ANTHONY'S IN FORFEIT VICTORY

Local Nine Wins Opener

In CYO Second Half Play

St. Anthony's, Belleville, won't pick up as many easy victories as it did last week in the Essex County CYO Intermediate Baseball League. The records say St. Anthony's was a 7-0 victor but that's the score which designated a forfeit in the CYO loop. Stuck with the loss was St. Patrick's, Newark, which didn't have enough players to field a team when game time rolled around.

Still, St. Anthony's figured to win anyway. St. Patrick's hadn't won in four first-half engagements and hardly figured to upset the local club.

St. Anthony's thus finds itself in first place in the second half race since the game was to open that round. St. Anthony's should remain there for at least another week as the opponent on July 22 at Newark's Memorial Stadium will be M. Carmel, Montclair.

Mr. Carmel's only win in the first half was over St. Patrick's. In their first meeting with St. Anthony's, the Mounties came out a 3-4 loss. This Sunday's game will be the first of a doubleheader and will start at 1 p.m.

Malleck was the victim of lack of hitting support in the game against the East Orange Sovereals. In his mates scored only one run for him. Belleville managed to hang out only seven hits off the way for the winning East Orange aggregate. Big born in Malleck's side was Mike Wolfarth, who hit solo home runs in the fourth and sixth innings to lead the Sovereals attack.

Town Youngsters Enjoy "The Gay Nineties" On Playgrounds Last Week

Last week Belleville's youngsters returned to the Gay Nineties in their playgrounds as they took part in the Recreation Department Gay Nineties Review. There were straw hats and mustaches, hoop skirts and bustles, and a good time by all.

At Montgomery Playground, George Lubowiak won first place in a black ensemble, glasses and necessary padding. Pat Hearn, in a striped silk dress, big black straw hat and with two tows, portrayed a Gay Nineties Mother for second place honors.

Honorable mentions were won by Ursula Schwandt, Mary Ann Lukowiak, Jeffrey Bauer, Gregory Smith and Gwendolyn Smith.

At Number Four School Playground was a huge turnout that made the judges, already difficult task doubly difficult.

Danny Florenzo, of 280 North Belmont Avenue, took top honors with his striped shirt, bow tie, derby hat and cane. Linda Mauri, of 127 Magnolia Street, and Danny Cargile, of 96 Franklin Street, both came as women of the Gay Nineties and were both so good that the judges elected to place them at a tie for second place.

The judges were Jimmy McLaughlin, Sandy Averna, Robert Corsi, Ben Alexander and Ann Tursi.

Honorable mentions go to Pat Zicaron, 244 North Belmont Ave., Michael and John Gargas, 116 Franklin Street, Victoria Savi, 262 North Belmont, Kathleen Szweczyk, 102 Franklin Street, Mary Salzano, 106 Franklin Street, Marianne DeBevo, 221 North Belmont, Dennis Gualtieri, 240 North Belmont, Joann Cargile, 96 Franklin Street, Josephine Aldiero, 64 Franklin Street, and Joseph Beneato, 293 North Belmont Avenue.

At the Recreation House Playground the judges were also faced with a nearly impossible task of selecting from the many Gay Nineties entries. After much consideration, Gerald Narucki was awarded first place. He arrived by stage coach. Another winner was Marilyn Gacione who was decked out in lacey pantaloons, frilly dress and pretty hat. Susan Goli and George Galis won a good laugh and runner-up honors with their outlandish old fashioned costumes. Judges for the event were Mrs. Ann Cutro and Mrs. Marie DeNoia.

ARCHERY PROGRAM IS STARTED HERE

Recreation Activity Held At Three Town Playgrounds

The Belleville Recreation Department has initiated an archery into its summer program, according to Recreation Superintendent Robert E. Cook.

The three grounds, which offer this activity are: Clearman Field, which is being taught by Miss Elaine Wischie, Montgomery Playground with Miss Mary Whitfield and Miss Martha Worthington as instructors, and Municipal Stadium where Miss Harrison is now teaching the sport but will turn it over to Miss Grace Casale in the near future.

The program is designed primarily for teen age girls and boys. However, it is also available for smaller children who are able to shoot the arrow a reasonable distance, Cook said.

Archery is scheduled for Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 2:30. There is no cost of any kind to the participants.

Some 300,000 naturalized citizens will be able to vote for the President for the first time in the November 6 election. Are you one of them? If so, be sure to register. If you don't get your name in the book you can't vote.

Are you going to overpay your income tax just because you didn't keep careful enough track of possible deductions? Marking each deductible item by a sign on its check stub would be one very good way to designate main deductions.

But this would involve, of course, paying by check, which, after all, is the businesslike way. For every one who pays income tax, a checking account is practically a must. You have a record and you have proof.

Venus in the Sky

The sun has set behind the hill. Some hours ago it sank, gold red. But the clock strikes ten o'clock and still Venus blazes overhead. Not overhead but slipping down. Toward Aldebaran and Capella. Skimming the tretops over town. Under the sky's star-lined umbrella. The sun will rise in the east at dawn. Early, perhaps, to look about. For the truant planet that was gone. That spent the night hours out. And then the sun will pull it back. Shorten the planet's airy string. And drive it like a diamond back. Into the wall of summer morning.

State Laws Should Coordinate Drinking Age

The question is not whether an 18-year-old boy, because he is eligible for conscription into the armed forces, is a man and should be legally qualified to drink like a man. That is a very debatable point which depends, in many cases, on the boy. The question is whether New Jersey and New York should or should not coordinate their laws to make it legal to serve intoxicating liquors to 18-year-olds, as in New York State, or to 21-year-olds, as in New Jersey.

Senator Donald C. Fox, whose first year in the legislature in Trenton has marked him as a thorough and able legislator, has come out frankly and fiercely for coordinating the minimum age at the higher of the two levels. It is folly, Senator Fox said, for New Jersey to try and enforce its laws to prevent boys under 21 from being served at bars when they can cross a bridge and be served, legally, in any bar in New York State.

It is the contention of The Times-News that the later a boy starts to drink, the better. Whether this can be best accomplished by law or whether it is a responsibility of the parents and the home is questionable. One boy, at 18, may be able to hold his drinks better than another boy at 21. So much, it has been found in studies of alcoholism, depends upon the physical makeup of the individual.

Some boys, like some men and women, can drink; others are physically incapable of absorbing even a single alcoholic drink without becoming intoxicated. For the good of all, the age limit should be set as high as possible so that a growing youth can become a mature man before he must make the decision whether or not to imbibe.

And while the laws of the neighboring states are being coordinated, something should be done about setting the same age for licensing automobile drivers. In New Jersey a boy of 17 can obtain a license. In New York, the age is set, by law, at 18. A New York 17-year-old driving his car to New York City drives legally until he gets through the tunnel, then he becomes an illegal driver. Such an anomaly can be corrected and should be.

Polio Pointers

Polio reaches its peak during the summer months. The following precautionary measures should be taken now:

Exercise all normal precautions against exposure to communicable disease. Avoid all contact with new groups of people and swimming in polluted water. Avoid overfatigue from too active play, late hours, worry, or irregular living.

Guard carefully the cleanliness of everything taken into the mouth. Delay removal of tonsils, adenoids, or teeth.

Here are common polio symptoms: Headache, usually of a severe, generalized, unrelenting type; moderate fever, seldom rising above 103 degrees; stiff neck, stiff back, painful extremities; muscle weakness.

Other symptoms associated with polio may be nausea and vomiting, lack of loss of appetite, and an indefinite feeling of uneasiness or discomfort or listlessness.

Symptoms frequently abate after an initial illness of about 23 hours, recurring within two or three days.

Call your doctor at once when polio symptoms are present.

Full Kenny treatment for polio is provided free by the Sister Elizabeth Kenny Polio Foundation. Patients may be referred by attending physicians to the Eastern Area Sister Kenny Institute, Medical Center, Jersey City, upon diagnosis, or tentative diagnosis, of polio.

Further information on services rendered by the Sister Kenny Foundation may be obtained by New Jersey residents from the Sister Kenny Jersey Headquarters, Medical Center, Jersey City.

One Man's Opinion

We Suffer A Election In Japan Where Parliamentary Elections Favor Socialists Who Preach Neutralism Between East and West

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

The antics of Bulganin and Khrushchev and the de-thronement of the emperor of Stalin, in Moscow, drew the attention of the world to Russia and blinded us to the fact that, a fortnight ago, the United States suffered a major political setback in Japan. In parliamentary elections in Nippon, on July 8, the Socialists and other left-wing parties dedicated to the anti-American policy of neutralism between the East and the West, made substantial gains and now control one-third of the upper house.

Despite the leftwing gains which were particularly impressive in Tokyo, itself, where the Socialists and their red flag allies polled almost 40 per cent more votes than the conservative Liberal Democrats, the conservatives, basically aligned with the West in general and the United States in particular, still hold a majority in both the upper and the lower houses of the Diet, but it is clear that in Japan neutralism is gaining ground.

Thus, with the single exception of the Philippines and the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa, most of the nations in the Far East are following the lead of India in seeking neutralism.

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., read into the Congressional Record, this week, the full text of "One Man's Opinion" of the July 5 issue of The Nutley Sun, concerning the Kremlin's "new look" in Soviet Russia. The publication in the Record preceded with the 10th District Congressman's comment to Congress: "The Nutley Sun takes a good look at Russia today and points out salient acts which make worthwhile reading. I am sure the article will be found highly informative and significant."

Convinced as they are that they can stay out of a World War III if they carefully avoid taking sides, they never did learn the lesson of the Danes, the Dutch, the Belgians, the Norwegians whose neutralism in World War II did not survive Hitler's aggressive designs.

Japan Now Anti-Military To the United States the Socialist gains in the Nippon election should serve notice that feeling against rearmament is still strong in Japan, and that Japan's present self-defense force of 193,551 men is about all the contribution the island nation can be expected to make to the free world's forces in the Far East for some years to come.

To the Japanese themselves the Socialist gains were impressive. They meant that if present trends continue the Socialists might soon be in a position to challenge the conservative forces' nine-year hold on the government.

The Socialists won 37.5 per cent of the popular vote and now hold 80 seats in the 250-seat upper house, compared to 68 seats before.

But the Liberal Democrats, by their dwindling majority in both the upper and lower houses of the Diet intend to continue their alignment with the West, an alignment that is as much economic as it is political.

Within the framework of that any contemplated revision of the constitution leading to formal inauguration of rearmament as has been hoped by Washington.

Constitutional revision requires a two-third majority in the Diet.

It is perhaps even more significant, when it is realized that the basic Socialist platform is a strong variance with most United States policies in the Western Pacific and seeks to lead Japan—like India, Burma, Indonesia—along the path to neutralism between the East and West.

The story behind this latest Socialist victory is somewhat one of recouping losses at the last minute.

Until last month the Socialists were suffering from the stigma of Diet rioting May 27, when several Diet members were injured.

Okinawa A Problem

This political setback was overcome in mid-June, however, when the Socialists suddenly picked up the issue of United States bases in Okinawa, backing the Okinawans' dissatisfaction with the United States Army rental system. The Socialists claimed that the Pentagon was planning to occupy Okinawa indefinitely without consideration for Japan's residual sovereignty.

This plank of the Socialist platform hit the general public like an express train and won such enthusiastic approval that even Premier Ichiro Hatoyama's ruling Liberal Democrats were belatedly forced to climb aboard and pick up a few crumbs of credit for supporting the Okinawans. But this was only an immediate cause for Socialist successes.

This, coupled with a strong segment of public opinion opposing rearmament and which claims the United States is depriving Japan of its full sovereignty, lent added strength to the Socialist vote not only in urban areas as customary but this time in traditionally conservative rural areas as well. The Japanese Communists picked up two seats, including one for Moscow and Peking-trained Comintern Party Secretary Sanzo Nozaki.

The Communist Party accumulated 1,149,000 votes which was reminiscent of the 1948 poll, when the Communists reached the height of their popular strength. At least they are not gaining any ground in the political swing to the left.

here's a handy quiz... try it!

These questions and answers cover information basic to railroad operations in New Jersey. They represent some of the "facts of life" railroad men live with. See how well you score!

Q How many miles of railroad track do you think there are in the state?

A New Jersey is served by well over 5,000 miles of railroad track—more track per square mile than any other state in the union.

Q How many New Jersey citizens does the railroad industry employ?

A The railroads employ 34,000 New Jersey men and women and pay them $122,000,000 annually.

Q How many New Jersey people ride the railroads?

A The railroads carry 150,000 New Jersey residents a day on business or pleasure travel.

Q How else do the railroads contribute to New Jersey's economy?

A The railroads transport millions of tons of products and materials which help keep New Jersey business, industry and agriculture humming, spend millions of dollars with New Jersey firms for goods and services.

Q In view of the big job the railroad industry does in New Jersey, it must make a lot of money. Is this true?

A No, exactly the reverse is the case. As a whole, the railroad industry actually loses money in New Jersey. It pays out an average of $1.57 in taxes for every dollar earned in the state... the earned dollar and sixty-seven cents besides!

Q Are other New Jersey enterprises burdened by a similarly overwhelming tax load?

A Definitely not. In fact, some of our competitors are actually subsidized by the government! New Jersey taxes railroad property an average of twice as much as it taxes non-railroad property of the same value. There are actual cases on record where the railroads recently sold property and were unable to realize even the amount of a single year's taxes!

Q Aren't railroad taxes about the same in all states?

A Emphatically not. New Jersey railroad taxes are the highest of any state in the union... more than five times the national average!

Q Can this inequitable railroad tax situation affect your future?

A The people of New Jersey can progress economically only if their railroads stay healthy. Right now, the earnings needed for railroad progress are wiped out by New Jersey's excessive taxes.

ERIE TRAINS TO QUIT JERSEY CITY

Public Utilities Commission Approves Use of Lackawanna's Hoboken Terminal

The State Public Utilities Commission, Tuesday, granted the Erie Railroad permission to eliminate the Jersey City terminal and route certain passenger and commuter trains to the Hoboken terminal of the Lackawanna Railroad. Erie officials here said, last night, that the change will include the commuter trains serving Belleville.

The request for joint operation of the Hoboken terminal was made by both railroads as an economy move, the two systems estimating that they are losing about five and a half million dollars annually on commuter and other passenger service.

Erie officials here said there need be no delay for Belleville commuters using Hoboken instead of Jersey City. They said that an elevation is now being built for the bridge over the Hackensack River, which will enable the Erie trains to reach the Lackawanna tracks for the run into Hoboken.

Commuters anticipate that the elimination of the Erie's Jersey City terminal at the foot of Pavonia Avenue will make Hoboken a busier terminal for commuters. The Lackawanna carries approximately 20,000 commuters in and out of Hoboken Monday through Friday. The Erie would add about 15,000 more people entering and leaving the station.

No date has been set for the change of terminals but it is expected to occur by late Summer. The Erie Railroad plans, also, to abandon its ferry service and has an agreement with Lackawanna to sell two of its ferri-boats to augment and provide more frequent ferry service between Hoboken and the Barclay Street slip, in New York City.
