BARBONE - MOSCO POST SETS ANNUAL BUILDING FESTIVAL

Week - Long Event Opens August 6; Plans Set For Orphans And Kiddies Days

The second annual Building Festival of the Barbone-Mosco Post of the Italian-American War Veterans will start next week, according to Nicholas Raimo, Post Commander. Opening date for the week-long affair is Monday, August 6. The affair will run through Sunday, August 12. Events during these days will be in operation from 6 to 11 p.m. Raimo is general chairman for the affair. Others heading the various committees are Raymond Potensone, grounds and concessions committee; Angelo Bennanti, Orphan's Day committee; Ralph Giarella, kiddie matinee committee; and Joseph Melia, tickets.

All proceeds from the event will be used for the Post's building fund. At present, the Post has no official home, but meets in Raimo's home. However, a Newark architect is drawing up plans for a new club house. A site on Acme Street has already been acquired.

Better Last Year's

The Post raised several thousand dollars in last year's Building Festival, and they are hopeful of exceeding that amount this year. Raimo said the Post was very well pleased with last year's attendance and hopes that with a year's experience, this year's Festival will be that much better.

Raimo said that the Festival will have refreshment stands of all kinds, and rides for both children and adults.

Bids For Garage Addition Not Accepted; Action On Pool Room Curfew Delayed

Lampman Is Deputy Over Golden's Protests

New Deputy Commissioner In Department Of Parks And Public Property Under Fire Before Assuming New Duties; Aids Commissioner Hyde

James R. Lampman has been formally appointed to the post of deputy commissioner in the Department of Parks and Public Property. Belleville Town Commissioners made the appointment final Tuesday night when they passed on second and third readings an ordinance creating the new position.

In his newly created job, Lampman, of 75 Tappan Avenue, will aid Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde in the administration of his duties. The new position carries with it a salary of $4,200 a year.

In making the appointment, Commissioners acted over the heated protests of James R. Golden. Golden asked Commissioners how they could justify the new appointment in the face of the "staggering blow" of the two bills that have just been received by townpeople. He vehemently decried the new position as an "unnecessary sinecure job."

Golden admonished Commissioners that if the trend continued, the town treasury would soon become a grab bag to build up political machines. He added that he saw no reason why the taxpayers should be forced to pay for deputies since there was no reason for creating them.

Only Six Bids Received For Annex, None Covering General Construction Phase Of Work

Construction of the proposed addition to Belleville's Town Garage has been delayed for at least two months. The holdup has been blamed on a lack of competition among the bidders, according to officials in the Public Works Department.

Bids for the addition originally were to have been accepted at the July 10 meeting of Town Commission, but when no bids were received at that time, Commissioners voted to re-advertise for bids and accept them at Tuesday's meeting. However, this week only six bids were received for the five phases of the overall contract and not one was submitted for the general construction work. This phase of the job entails the actual construction of the building, and all phases are impossible without it.

As a result, Public Works Director Kenneth D. Smith moved that all bids be rejected and set the new date for receiving bids as the second meeting in September. The motion was passed unanimously. It was explained that this would give contractors more time to submit bids for the job.

STRIKE OF NEWS DELIVERY SERVICES IN THIRD WEEK

Three Local News Dealers Join County Boycott Of Newark Evening Newspaper

The strike of the three Belleville news delivery services against the Newark Evening News entered its third week today without any apparent signs of a settlement. The three services are on their strike in answer to the Newark paper's ultimatum that they make home deliveries of the paper at a cost of 50 cents a week, or lose their routes to newsmen by the Evening News.

In retaliation, the three local delivery services announced the cancellation of orders last week and the boycott of the Newark daily newspaper. The boycott affects some 2,500 home deliveries in Belleville and has spread to more than 25 dealers throughout Essex County, with a combined daily delivery in excess of 33,000 newspapers.

The three local dealers participating in the boycott are James Salmon, Edward Van Demark, and L. Chaiken.

In stating their position, the three agreed to join the boycott after Jeremiah Healey, circulation manager of the Newark Evening News, instructed them to cut the price for home deliveries, weekdays afternoons and Sundays, to 50 cents a week.

The retail price of the news paper, for seven days is 42 cents, but the three services had added service costs and charged the customers 57 cents a week for the home deliveries. They explained that the service charge included high insurance rates on delivery trucks and other overhead costs.

In retaliation, the Newark paper is recruiting boys to canvass Belleville neighborhood and make home deliveries. The local delivery services feel this is a direct threat to their business, as the boys would be collecting money on routes from which they contracted to serve.

Ten-Year-Old Cyclist Is Hit By Car In Newark

Richard Benecchi, 10, of 32 Union Avenue, suffered thigh and head injuries Tuesday when he was struck by a car while riding his bicycle on Sylvan Avenue, at Mt. Prospect Avenue, Newark. He was taken to American Legion Hospital where he was reported in fair condition.

Radio patrolman Louis LaMotta and John Redmond said the driver of the car was Matthew Lersch, of 206 Montgomery Avenue, Bloomfield. They said the boy was on his way to visit an aunt in Newark when the accident occurred.

Local National Guard Unit Uses Radar And 90 mm Anti-Aircraft To Protect Belleville Skies

AAA Outfit Stationed In Branch Brook Park For More Than Two Months

By Dave Thaler

By their lack of interest in the National Guard Program, Belleville citizens are ignoring a wonderful opportunity, and at the same time are retarding the government's progress in building a sound defense system.

The National Guard program offers many advantages to those who join. It is made even more appealing to local residents by its convenient location, as Belleville is one of the few towns with its own Guard unit. Situated in the heart of the Belleville extension of Branch Brook Park, the camp is a fifteen minute drive from any point in Belleville. This gives local men a chance to serve their military time right in their home town without forfeiting their civilian jobs.

Any boy between the ages of 17 to 19 who joins the National Guard is dropped to the bottom of the list. All people in the Guard are considered civilians and employees of the state, although serve their country.

Rank Is Honored

If rank is gained while serving with the Guard, it will be honored should the Guardsman join another branch of the service.

Perhaps the biggest advantage in serving with the Guard is the cannot be called to active duty. A

Full Staff Of Teachers Signed As Schools Prepare For September 10

Thomas Says 25 New Teachers Will Be In System To Handle Vacancies, Newly Created Jobs

When school bells ring again in Belleville this September, there will be 25 new teachers throughout the system to welcome back students from their summer vacations. The figure represents the number of teachers hired this spring and summer by the Board of Education to bring the teaching staff up to full strength.

Superintendent of Schools Evan H. Thomas revealed this week that every teaching position in the system has been filled and that as far as instruction personnel is concerned, the schools are ready to go. However, students needn't get alarmed for they're still free to enjoy the remaining six weeks of summer vacation. Schools in Belleville aren't scheduled to re-open until September 10.

Of the 25 new teachers who will be in local classrooms for the first time, six will be filling vacancies caused by retirements at the end of the last school year. Six more of the newcomers will be taking over positions that have been newly created by the Board which did not exist last year. The remaining 13 will be taking the places of teachers who left the system for one reason or another. Thomas was quick to point out that of the 13 teachers who left the system since the close of school, only two left to change to another system.

Small Turnover Thomas said that considering there are 240 faculty members in the system, the total of 25 new teachers for the coming year represented an exceptionally small turnover. The figure is even more impressive, he said, when compared to many surrounding communities which have turnovers in faculty as high as one-third or more.

The Face Is Familiar: Biased Thinking No Asset To Group - Mrs. Cassidy

By Rita Knoll

An unbiased member is a valuable asset to any group. So Mrs. Charles A. Cassidy, one of the newest members of Belleville's Board of Education, "I don't think a member of a group should be prejudiced in his thinking before considering each issue on its own merits, and I don't think that personalities should enter into the judgment of an issue, when the welfare of the town's schools are at stake," she said. With this idea in mind, Mrs. Cassidy has been voting on each issue on its merits, ever since being elected to the board seven months ago last February.

Like most people, Mrs. Cassidy, who lives at 270 DeWitt Avenue, has opinions on many issues, but she feels that her personal opinions on school issues should not be voiced before the Board discusses an issue and comes to unanimous or majority decision.

Auditorium Addition But all this doesn't mean that Mrs. Cassidy is indecisive. On the contrary, as members of School No. Three's PTA will tell you, she played a pretty decisive role in the addition of the new auditorium, now being built at the school. During her two years as president of the PTA, one year as vice-president, and seven total years of service to No. Three's PTA Board, Mrs. Cassidy has constantly fought for bet-

CAMP CARRAGHER PLAYGROUND OPENS

At Far End Of Hill Street, Site Is Tenth Playground

Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde announced this week that Camp Carragher has been opened as a playground with competent supervision and a good program. The site is located at the end of Hill Street, and is the tenth playground in operation.

New available to the children of the Jaramon-Franklin area are swings, slides, merry-go-round, horseshoes and a fine handicraft program. A large picnic type fire place is in process of completion which will finish a picnic site which will be available to Brownies and Girl and Boy Scout Troops as well as families who want to have cook-outs. Recreation-Superintendent-Robert E. Cook said.

Commissioner Hyde said that this site is thickly wooded and one of the most beautiful in Belleville. As a policy, the Recreation Department will act to preserve as much possible in its natural state. Clearing has been done where necessary and the area has already been enjoying a good attendance of enthusiastic youngsters.

Rev. Goldston Warns Of Imposter Collecting Cash

Congregational members of Belleville's Second Baptist Church have been cautioned by Rev. W. Goldston to be wary of solicitors claiming they are collecting money for the church. Several members have been recently approached, as well as local merchants, by an imposter who claims he represents the church, Rev. Goldston warned.

At the present time, he said, there is no one from the church soliciting for funds. The congregational leader cautioned that if church members do go soliciting in the future, they will all carry the official church seal and proper credentials so they may be identified.

Disneyland Trip For Paul Is Climax To TV Audition

Paul Hertz

A young man certainly going places is thirteen-year-old Paul Hertz, of 271 Jorammon Street. First stop for him will be the Disneyland studios in Hollywood, where a screen test for a role on TV's Mickey Mouse Club awaits him.

Paul, together with his mother, Mrs. Sanford Hertz, left yesterday on a TWA plane for a two-week stay at the Disney Hotel, in the heart of the newly constructed Disneyland. If the tests are successful, there is a possibility that Paul will remain in Hollywood for a two-year period.

Coming from a family of musical people helped the youngster in getting his start in show business. Paul's mother and father are both music teachers, and run the Hertz School of Music in Newark. Paul, an eight grade student at No. Three School, has been studying accordion with his father for four years. In the past, he appeared on a TV show called "We The People", on radio station WCAU of Philadelphia, and for two years, he performed at the Toy Conventions at the Hotel New Yorker, where he demonstrated six different instruments.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gortin

Riders To Use Stadium For Scheduled Games

The Belleville Riders, known as the Belleville Rees until two weeks ago, will play their three scheduled Essex County League games at Municipal Stadium, according to Department of Recreation director Bob Cook.

In last week's "Spotlight on Sports" it was pointed out that Manager Bill Murphy had appealed to the league officials to change the team name since the club was being sponsored by DeBacco Sports Shop, operated by former bike racer Joe DeBacco. In the ensuing telephone conversation Cook, a little annoyed by Murphy's actions but never once consulting with him about the various problems, told me that the Rees would no longer have use of the Stadium for their remaining home games.

Cook after much thought, however, decided not to penalize the Essex County League and agreed to let the schedule stand but the original decision was not reversed until after The Times - News deadline. Cook was prompted in his latest move by Nutley Colonel Manager Ernie Lantz who presented the league's stand when he learned of the rift.

Lantz told Cook that the game had been scheduled for Municipal Stadium before the start of the season back in April and that his home field, Park Oval, would not be available since it would be revamped for the nearing football season. With no field available Lantz pointed out that the site for the contest would be a question mark.

Cook repeated to me this week that he has no axe to grind. "I am an easy going guy and want to help establish baseball in Belleville but so far Murphy has yet to meet with me and tell me just what's what. I can't understand his actions. He seemed happy and never asked for anything and then boom, I read all about it in the newspapers. I didn't even know that Murphy changed the name of the team from the Rees to the Riders until you told me. Even when I left a message he didn't see me.

Let's get one thing straight right now. I am all for baseball in Belleville and will do everything to keep it here. The remaining three Essex County League games will be played in Municipal Stadium as planned." When asked about next year, Cook said, "We'll have to wait and see what develops."

A Pair Of Nice Guys

Two well known football coaches, who have been popular opponents of Belleville and have given Blue and Gold Coach Ed Berlinski some anxious moments in past seasons, will no longer be on the field when the grid season comes around in the near future. Tim Argauer, of East Orange, and Bob Redmond, of East Orange, a pair of nice guys.

Argauer, crafty Kearny football mentor for ten seasons, and Bob Redmond, tactful student of the game while coaching at East Orange, no longer will give Belleville gridiron followers fits while proving something that has been obvious to Blue and Gold fans since the advent of Berlinski. Nice guys don't have to finish last despite what "Lippy Lee" says.

Argauer, after compiling a record of 51 wins, 29 losses and 9 ties, this Fall will direct the football fortunes of Garfield High School, where he will also serve as assistant principal. Redmond, whose Panther teams won 26, 10 and 7 and tied 2, has been named principal of East Orange High School, and it couldn't happen to a nicer guy.

Although an individual first meeting Art and Bob would say that they were very dissimilar, they were alike in one basic respect which attribute a successful football coach must have: the ability to win the respect of the boys playing for him.

Whereas Argauer is inclined to be on the talkative side, approaching a problem from all its many angles, all of which he discusses freely before giving a considered opinion on the subject. Redmond remains silent until he has thought out most of his angles and then gives his answer without revealing the reasoning behind the statement. Neither one tries to alibi a defeat.

Argauer is returning to his old stamping grounds. The veteran grid pilot put Garfield on the map back in the late 30's and early 40's. The Boilemakers in those days enjoyed a reputation similar to the one that Gary Anderson has built up at Montclair. Once Argauer left the Garfield stock plummeted. It was no secret that they wanted him back but it took 10 long years before the move could be made. While at Kearny, Argauer rebuilt the team spirit and molded a habitual loser into a strong contender against suburban competition.

As for Redmond he accomplished a similar job at East Orange. In Redmond's four years at the helm of the Panthers he turned the squad into one of the most feared teams in the state. One thing that always hurts Belleville was that Berlinski would always have to send his charges against the Panthers in the first game of the season. "Easy Ed" was never one to start off with a breather. He would always jump in head first and take his chances. For three of the four years that Redmond was at the helm the Blue and Gold had their hands full but last September the Bellboys finally did something no other Belleville team managed to do in the past. They took the measure of a Redmond coached squad.

Junior League All Stars Will Meet Nutley Team In Series

Local Team Will Be Composed Of Players Picked By Coaches, Managers, And Director Brand

By Dave Thaler

As the Belleville Junior League enters the second half of its season, it appears that it too, will make its contribution to the Belleville-Nutley rivalry. Harold Brand, League Supervisor, has announced that plans for a Belleville-Nutley All Star Series are almost complete. The series will be of no less than four games, and will be played at Municipal Stadium, Belleville's home park, and Park Oval, where Nutley's teams reside.

Belleville's team will be coached by Brand and the League's managers. The squad will be picked by the league's managers and the team's coaches. The managers will nominate three players from their team to the squad. These nominees will be screened by Brand and the managers, who reserve the right to make any changes they deem necessary.

The selections have not been announced, but from this writer's viewpoint it seems that a little maneuvering will have to be done if the team is to have balance.

Hurling
The hurling for the Belleville All Stars will probably be done by Mike Morano, Giants, Ed Szepp, Braves and Jim Dattoli, Cubs. Morano is 3-1 on the season, and Szepp sports a 2-0 record. Dattoli's talents were ruled more advanced than his age, and he has been confined to first base during the season. Jumbo Jim is a southpaw, and as Morano and Szepp are right-handers, adds balance to the mound staff.

The third base and catching departments present the problems to the coaches. Both positions are being held by several talented players. It appears that three thirdbasemen will be named to the team. Fred Rice, Cubs, Bob Blomquist, Giants and Frank Dunn, Phillies, seem to have the inside track for their manager's nod. If this proves to be true, the hot corner is going to be mighty crowded.

On the other side of the ledger, there is a shortage of outfielders. It appears three outfielders definitely will be nominated, with several others under consideration.

With the formation of the All Star team, the Junior League appears complete. It would be impossible to expand the loop any further.

There is but one league missing in Belleville, American Legion Baseball. Now any Belleville youngster has the opportunity to play ball from the time he is eight until he reaches his sixteenth birthday. Then he must wait until he has reached the level of semi-pro ball before he can play with an organized league. If American Legion Baseball is brought to Belleville, there is a good chance that next year, it will, the chain will be complete. From Little League to Junior League to American Legion to semi-pro, from eight to eighty years old, there will be a ball field at Belleville for Belleville boys to play ball.

ST. ANTHONY'S IS IDLE SECOND WEEK

Local Nine Slated To Face St. Lucy's, Newark, Sunday

For the second week in a row, St. Anthony's of Belleville was idle in the Essex County CYO Intermediate Baseball League. However, whereas they picked up a forfeit victory two weeks ago when St. Patrick's, Newark, failed to show at Memorial Stadium, they got nothing in the way of help for Montclair. Mt. Carmel's disappearance act last Sunday—at least not yet.

Mt. Carmel requested a cancellation on the day of the game but

TOURNAMENT HELD AT PLAYGROUNDS

Competition At Monsignor Kelly, No. 4 Playgrounds

Children at Monsignor Kelly Playground were very much occupied last week with tournaments in ping-pong, horseshoes, and checkers.

Winners in the ping-pong tournaments were Dennis McCarthy, Charles Martin, Bob VanDyne, and Martin Hiegh.

In horseshoes, the winners were James Fitzgerald and Bob VanDyne, while the checker champions were Mildred McDermott and Jerry LaManna. Another popular activity here is hopscotch. Agnes McNally, Helen Delany, Kathleen McGuirk and Regina McConner seem to be the stars at this game.

At No. 4 School Playground, a drawing contest was held. The winners were Loretta Britt who drew a cowboy, and Johnny Conno who drew a ship at sea. Runners-up were Gerald Corbo and Samuel Britt.

In short-hair ping-pong tournament, Sherry Haines was the winner with Ralph Rizzolo second and Vicki Savi third.

The Giants took advantage of Carl Barbers' wildness in the fourth inning, a inning that will always be remembered, they scored 10 times without the benefit of a hit! Mike Morano, who seems a sure thing for the all-star berth got credit for the win. In their next game, the Giants came from behind to win, 10-5. They trailed at one time, 5-0, and then five to three. The Pirates kept picking away at the three run deficit, but succumbed, 5-3. For the Giant's third straight game the Phillies were taking on the Giants, with second place at stake. Mike Morano, Giant hurler, reported with a sore arm. Morano was assigned to second base.

Next week the Braves encounter the Giants in what could be a battle for first place.

Riders Closing In On First Division Spot In Essex County League

The Belleville Riders, formerly the Belleville Rees, closed in on fifth place in the Essex County League with a one-sided 10-2 victory over cellar dwelling West Orange as left hander Frank Spoviero went all the way for Bill Murphy's charges in a Sunday game conducted at Colgate Field. Spoviero gave up two runs in the first inning and was never touched after that point.

Belleville will take on some stiff league competition over the weekend when they play a pair of first division clubs. On Saturday the Riders, sponsored by DeBacco Sports Shop, will travel to nearby Nutley and encounter the second place Colonels at Park Oval in a 3 p.m. tussle. On Sunday Belleville will play another away game with the East Orange Sovereigns providing the opposition at Grove Street Oval.

ESSEX COUNTY LEAGUE
Team	W.	L.	Pct.

South Orange	7	8	.467
Belleville Riders	7	11	.389
Montclair	4	14	.222
West Orange	4	14	.222

Murphy's charges had their hitting shoes on in the West Orange game as they banged out 14 safeties but all hits were singles. John Miska and Jim Meehan led the hitting attack with three singles in four times at bat. Richie Veith had three for five and Tony Delury collected two hits in four times at bat.

The Belleville defense also turned in a fine game. Three double plays helped make things easier for Spoviero. The Riders didn't make any errors in the nine-inning contest.

For Spoviero the victory was his fifth since donning the Belleville uniform. He has lost only one game. He struck out two batters and issued only one base on balls.

Belleville broke the game wide open in the third inning as they tallied four runs to go ahead, 5-2.

More Than the Hills

Loving America, what do we love?
For each there is one region where the earth
Seems firmer underfoot, and the sky above
Much larger, and the taste of grief and mirth
More pungent, the ideal more near at hand
Than elsewhere in the broad, beloved land.
Each one of us, in all the diverse space,
Is inwardly at home, because we each
Are native to the dream more than the place,
The mighty dream of goals all men may reach,
The boundless vision of what men may be—
The land is where we set the vision free.
We love the land because we love the dream
Of justice and of liberty for all,
Of each heart free to follow its own gleam
To its own victory, erect and tall.
More than the hills, the rivers, or the loam
Of any region, the vision is our home.

In Withdrawing Our Offer To Help Build
Egypt's Aswan Dam We Are Taking A Calculated Risk Russia May Step In

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

To the bitter surprise of the "neutralist" Egyptian government of President Gamal Abdel Nasser, the United States got tough and cancelled its seven-month-old offer to help Egypt build a huge dam on the Nile, at Aswan. Diplomatic language is indirect and flowery, but it could not have escaped the attention of Cairo that the re-examination of policy represents a major decision—a calculated risk.

Convinced that the Soviet Union cannot afford the luxury of an outright grant of $56,000,000, such as we had offered on December 16, plus $200,000,000 which we had promised to obtain for Egypt from the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development and plus another $14,000,000 which the British had promised as a grant, our State Department is taking a calculated risk.

If Russia can and does provide the $270,000,000 to help Egypt build the $1,300,000,000 dam and canals, which would have added one-third to Egypt's irrigated land and have multiplied her electrical resources by eight, our calculated risk will have proven a bad one. We came to our major policy decision on the conviction that Moscow was bluffing when, two months ago, she offered Egypt to help build the dam by lending the money needed at a most favorable interest rate of 2 percent.

Chance We Take
It is obvious that if Russia reached a working agreement with Egypt, as a consequence of step-

Adlai Stevenson's reaction, yesterday, to Harold Stassen's promotion of Governor Herter for Richard Nixon's post as vice president was that it proves clearly to him that the Republican party is "split down the middle". That coming from one of the candidates in a multiple-cornered fight for the Democratic nomination borders on the ridiculous. If either party is "split down the middle" it is not the Republican party but the Democratic which must solve, in its platform, the issue of states' rights which sorely divides Northern and Southern Democrats.

Obviously, however, in a Presidential election marked by a dearth of real issues, in an era of undisputed peace and prosperity, it behooves the political "hucksters" to fabricate an issue. The old curmudgeon Harry Truman invented one: "Eisenhower is a part-time president". It is, as one might expect from the Missourian who dismissed the Hiss affair as "a red herring", a monumental historical error.

The White House keeps an accurate log of every President, past and present, day by day, hour by hour, miles traveled, method of travel—a record of the hours spent on and off the job.

Which president, do you think, spent more time away from the White House than any other president in our history? Eisenhower? None other than the arch-Democrat of them all, Franklin Delano Roosevelt. During his four terms in the White House, FDR spent a yearly average of 136 days away from his desk.

It will come as a surprise, perhaps, but the president who gaddied the second-most was William Howard Taft, an average of 131 days a year away from the White House. Eisenhower is far down the log—124 days a year. Truman, who really should know all about "part-time presidents" was off the job 121 days a year. That puts Ike in Harry's own seven league boots and would seem to deprive the Democrats of another campaign issue.

R.E.H.

Industrial potential. It now becomes clear that when Cairo let it be known that Shepilo, during his visit to Egypt offered help in building the dam, there was more bluff than fact. Nasser, apparently, was trying to speed up the credits by forcing our hand. For once, the bluff failed.

Obviously, our decision to withdraw our December offer of credits was dictated by Nasser's neutralist efforts and, more specifically, by his meeting on Brioni Island last week with two other arch-neutralists, Tito and Nehru.

Nasser Must Choose

Our change of policy put Nasser on the spot. Egyptian economists make no secret of the fact that the construction of the dam and its irrigation canals is a matter of life and death for Egypt. Egypt cannot finance the vast project without outside help, nor can it proceed with the dam without settling with the Sudan the question of water rights.

It is obvious that a neutralist Egypt, meddling directly in the Arab revolts against France in Tunisia, Algeria, and Morocco, where we enjoy air base rights in NATO's defense system—is out of favor in Washington, Paris, and London. If Nasser wants to get back in the West's good graces, he must abandon his neutralist activities, his revolutionary action in North Africa under the guise of Pan-Arab nationalism and his flirtations with Moscow.

Tito Must Be Next

If Congress has its way, Tito will be put on the same spot. His neutralist activities and his recent kiss-and-make-up trip to Moscow make him a doubtful risk for further foreign aid funds. Tito could not survive if the United States was to shut off the spigot and deprive Yugoslavia of further credit.

its, yet the Croatian dictator is preaching neutralism to Germany and Greece.

Our major policy decision was inspired, doubtless, by knowledge that at Aswan Nasser's domestic affairs among the Arabs of North Africa, who get all their revolutionary funds from Cairo, he has not been able to get control over the Arab bloc.

Iraq stands between Nasser and his goal. Iraq is Britain's chief ally in the Arab world. The Arab lands while associating openly with Communism and its ambitions in the Near East, or diplomatically by trying to reestablish its credit with the West by toning down his Pan-Arab activity and disassociating himself with the Tito-Nehru brand of neutralism.

Under his guidance the young King and Iraqi leaders have lately begun to make new friends and fresh contacts in the newly independent Arab states of Morocco, Tunisia and Libya—all of which show fear of the menace of Egyptian expansionism.

It is too soon to expect any powerful political line-up under Iraqi leadership. Much depends on Nasser and his pretensions to lead the Arab world.

He has, according to Arab sources already offered and worried the North African Arabs by his posturing as the "Arab George Washington." Moreover, Egyptian maneuverings in Jordan are said now to have boomeranged and to have created an anti-egyptian reaction there.

Our withdrawal of our offer of credits is, therefore, a timely slap in the face. Nasser's capriciousness in one of the two ways; angrily by fomenting more troubles for France and Britain in the Arab lands while associating openly with Communism and its ambitions in the Near East, or diplomatically by trying to reestablish his credit with the West.

This week, the Times-News in an attempt to learn more on public opinion on this vital issue, asked several people the following question:

What do you think can be done to curb the rise of juvenile delinquency in our community?

Mrs. Margaret E. Cooper, 147 DeWitt Avenue, a housewife:

"Let parents tend to children instead of running out to card parties and other entertainment. I blame the parents."

Harry Onuskevich, 63 Darcy Street, Newark, music instructor:

"There should be classes for parents to teach them how to bring up their children. Parents should be more strict with children. I think that in nine out of ten cases it's the fault of the parents."

Robert E. Cook, 95 Tappan Avenue, Superintendent, Belleville Recreation Department:

"In the first place, stop talking about juvenile delinquency. Give a young person who's done something worthwhile a pat on the back. People should educate themselves to the interests of young people and not set themselves up in opposition to every young person who wants to do. Don't look at each young person as a potential delinquent, but as a potentially fine citizen. That way they will try to live up to your opinion of them."

Mrs. Phyllis Muscara, 306 Pearl Street, clerical worker:

"I think parents should make more of an effort to know where their children are and what they are doing. They should get to know friends of their children to make sure they don't get into the wrong kind of crowd."

Norman Thompson, 302 Washington Avenue, realtor:

"I think the problem comes from the home. There should be a stricter control over the children. There are adequate recreational facilities in town if only parents would direct their

Mr. Kelly was employed with the Prudential Insurance Company.

Abromson Guest Speaker At Kiwanis Meeting
Judge Edward J. Abromson was guest speaker at this week's meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at the Bethany Lutheran Church. Abromson is president of the club, and was the second speaker in his present series where each member is responsible for a different week's program.

Topic for the speech was a comparison of the old and new courts throughout the state. Abromson pointed out the changes in the judicial system brought about by the new state constitution adopted several years ago.

SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE

So often, a simple recommendation from the Telephone Service Representative can make all the difference in the world in your telephone service.

Perhaps, it's a suggestion about the location of a phone that will increase the usefulness of your service... or the addition of an extension... an outside bell or a phone with an illuminated dial.

With so many new items available these days you may be missing a convenience you really need.

Why not give your Service Representative a call? Her only job is to help you get more out of modern telephone service.

Miss Pat Brooks of the North Hudson Office is one of the 1,100 Service Representatives now helping New Jersey families to take advantage of new telephone improvements.
