Two Have Midsummer Wedding Celebrations

Mrs. Frank J. Ressler, Jr., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Kuszony, of 62 Melvex Street, became the bride of Sgt. Frank J. Ressler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Ressler, Sr. of Clifton. Rev. Francis Blake performed the double ring ceremony. A reception followed at Schweisgruth's Grove in Clifton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Attending her were the Misses Madeline Castell as maid of honor, and Lorraine Kowzowski, cousin of the bride; Olga Lakowitz, cousin of the bride; Margaret Stevenson and groom, as bridesmaids. Flower girl was Marilyn Cousins, cousin of the bride.

Best man was Sgt. John N. Brady, ushering were Sgts. Robert D. Golden, John C. Brown and John Baron. Ring bearer was Emil Hrael, nephew of the bride; tulle lace and nylon tulle over gown.

The bride's gown was of champagne with a scoop neckline and long sleeves. Her headpiece was a crown with a fingertip length nylon tulle veil. She carried a bouquet of a white orchid surrounded by white roses.

The maid of honor was dressed in a blue nylon tulle over tulle floor length gown. She carried a cascade of red roses. The bridesmaids wore gowns of three shades of blue ranging from ice blue to romantic blue. They also carried red roses. The flower girl wore a dress the same shade of blue as that of the maid of honor, and carried a small cascade of red roses.

The bride is a graduate of Belleville High School. Previous to her marriage, she was employed by New Jersey Telephone Company of Newark. Her husband attended Clifton High School. He is presently serving an enlistment in the Marine Corps.

After a two-week trip to Canada, the couple will live in New Gortort, Virginia.

Sharon Cheney And Partner Entertain Dance Teachers

Sharon Cheney and Barry Johnson in one of the routines which earned them an invitation to dance in front of hundreds of dance teachers. They are students of Bob Kimble.

Ten-year-old Sharon Cheney, of 183 Greylock Parkway, together with her partner, Barry Johnson of Lyndhurst, were chosen by Dance Educators, of America, one of the largest dance teachers' organizations in the country, to appear with their teacher Bob Kimble, at the Plaza Hotel in New York, last week.

The youngsters appeared before hundreds of teachers at their annual convention, and demonstrators for Kimble, Belleville dance teacher. Both have appeared on several television children's programs and were chosen from amongst hundreds of child aspirants, for the demonstration show.

Among the routines the two presented are "The Lollipop Tree" and "Who's Got the Pain".

Kimble is owner of the Kimbo Dance Record Company. He specializes in routines for children and is now on tour teaching other teachers his material.

Jr. Legion Ball To Come To Belleville???

It appears at long last that there may be a Junior American Legion baseball team representing Belleville in the Essex County Division before the next baseball season rolls around. The town of Belleville has been continuing forward in baseball activities with rapid strides in recent seasons.

I can remember not too long ago when the Little League was organized for diamond aspirants between nine and 12 years of age. The program, started with volunteer support, mushroomed rapidly until there are now more than 400 young baseball players who are learning the game under proper supervision. There are 27 men who are helping to run the farm program.

That wasn't the only activity that was instituted. Along came the Belleville Junior baseball program, sponsored by the Department of Recreation. According to director Harold "Bud" Brand there are more than 100 players between 13 and 15 who are keeping busy during the summer by participating in the summer organization.

Also organized last year were the Belleville Reds, who played an independent schedule. Now the Reds, or better known as the Riders, gained entrance into the strong Essex County League and is former high school and college stars.

With such an over-all program as that there was baseball activity for all boys except those who were in high school. That is the age bracket that the American Legion takes in. But now I understand that Belleville Legion Post 105 is seriously considering fielding a team for next year.

If such a team comes in to being it will fill a tremendous void in the Belleville recreation setup. Such a program would not benefit the boys who would be playing but it would serve as a definite feeder for Belleville High varsity Coach Ed. Berlinski. Such a program exists in nearby Nutley and Montclair and is one of the reasons why the two towns can usually be counted upon to field top notch contenders in the Big Ten Conference during the scholastic campaign.

They way the Essex County Division operates there is an eight-team league with each team facing each opponent once during the first half championship for a total of seven games. The first half race is completed by the Fourth of July and the winner goes on to represent the county in the district and sectional playoffs.

While the title winner advances in national competition the remaining teams in the league conduct a second half race with new and enlarged rosters being allowed. Upon the completion of the first and second half races the two winners then dash in a best two-out-of-three game post season series to determine the Essex County champion for the year.

Other Big Ten Conference teams which are entered in the Junior Legion program are Irvington, East Orange, West Orange and Orange.

Little League Ump Caught In Middle

Pete Strauch, former professional catcher and game official, now umpire-in-charge of the Belleville Little League program, was caught in the middle last Saturday when the Belleville American All-Stars took on the Nutley Nationals in a sectional semi-final game at Carlstadt.

You see, although Strauch does just about all the umpiring for the Belleville games, he is a resident of Nutley and his son, Jack, was the losing pitcher in the Nutley National Little League. It was a question of whether Pete would come out openly and root for the boys he was watching play all season or if he would cheer for Nutley and his 12-year-old son.

It so happened that the Nutley Nationals, the last remaining entry from that town, was eliminated by the Belleville Americans by a 5-2 score as the younger Strauch lost the decision.

Sometime this month the Belleville Little League All-Stars will encounter the Nutley All-Stars in a benefit double header at Nutley's Father Glatzback Park with the proceeds to go to Newark youngster Joey LePre, who lost both legs in an automobile accident last spring.

Junior All Stars Are Released By Team Managers

Nineteen Players Named To Squad From Each Team; To Meet Nutley In Competition

The manager's choices for the Junior Recreation League All-Star team, which will play Nutley in an inter-town series beginning August 11, have been announced.

The selections follow: Ron Valante and Dave Thaler, first base; Larry Sims, second base; Bob Cassidy, Ron San Filippo, and Bob Kiefer, shortstop; Fred Riccio, Frank Dunn, Bob Blomcoe, and Marty Carluccio, third base; Don DeBrowski and Eric Hatch, outfield; Pat Bivona, catcher.

Gene Napolitano, and Frank Anichiarico, catchers; and Ed Sep, Mike Morano, Jim Dattoli, and S. Cudde, pitchers.

There will have to be a little maneuvering done, as there are no natural second basemen, (Sims a shortstop) and there are but two outfielders.

Sims has been working out at second and has looked good. Riccio, one of the many third basemen, has been trying shortstop and has a good look. He covers so much ground at the new position, that the fans hitters have just about given up in their attempts to get the ball past him.

The team will be beginning its work-outs Monday, with Ed Berlinski putting them through their paces. Enthusiasm is running high in Belleville as to how the All-Stars will fare against Nutley. Most of the team has been working out on their own during this week, they are intent on beating the arch rival Nutley squad, and who is to say they won't?

The opening game will be played on August 11 at Belleville. The series will be either five or seven games depending on the first several games. If the competition is even then it probably will be carried seven, if not, it will be a five games.

Next week the starting lineup will be announced, and what could be an annual series will commence.

Ping Pong results: Fred Riccio is the new champion. He won ten of fourteen tournament games to game change hands.

Doll Contest—Those who entered the doll contest were Jane Shiles, Carmela Carrano, Diane Racecappi, Jean Ann Trend, and Cynthia Richter. Cynthia Richter won first prize with a big beautiful pink doll called "Pinky". Diane Racecappi won second prize with a small doll with a pink knitted outfit.

The model show was won by Pat Negro who displayed a mother dragon and two baby dragons modeled out of clay. Second prize went to Charles Golecki, who won with pottoliders, a wooden bowl, a winder and an ashtray made from clay. Others who entered the contest were Joe Carrano and Robert Farrandeno.

Stolen Car Recovered Wayne police located a stolen car Tuesday morning abandoned in the parking lot of the Three Vets, Route 23.

The car, a 1955 Oldsmobile, had been reported stolen from Belleville by its owner Nove Compitano, of 39 Naples Avenue.

HEAVY ACTIVITY AT PLANSOEN PLAYGROUND

Jimmy Joise Leads Boy's Checkers; Dodge Ball, Ping Pong Also Enjoyed

Mrs. E. Lundy and Mrs. Lillian Winfield report much activity at Plansoen Playground recently. The checker tournament is being run at the present time with David Jossi, Wayne Weiner, Howard Reese, Jimmy Joise, Angelo Joise, Fred Carisillo, Anthony Fantano, Paul Carisillo, Rach McGraw, Alie Moras, leading it out. At the present time Jimmy Joise is out in front.

Linda Parese and Judy Walker are leading the girls tournament over Linda Parese, Judy Walker, Barbara Moraski, Carol Kuehnus, Cora Jeanette and Mary Ann Parese.

Dodge ball games are enjoyed in the mornings when it is cooler by Linda Parese, Pat Moraski, Mary Ann Parese, Wayne Weiner, Lucille Parese, Judy Walker, Howard Reese, Paul Fantano, Edward Parese, Paul Fantano usually proves himself the best dodger on the playground.

Girls Ping Pong

Joan Gai is the best among the teen girls at ping pong, but Lillian Lennox, Florence Gai, Teresa Caracella and Evelyn Ray keep disputing her claim. Linda Parese is tops among the younger girls.

Clay modeling had the attention of Howard Reese, Edward Parese, Wayne Weiner, Judy Walker, Diane Walker, Marion Horton, David Erick, Sandra Kady, Bobby Jeanette, Dolores and George Needham. These children modeled some fine ash trays, vases, hats, mummies and footballs.

Nineteen children entered the doll contest last Thursday and the three winners were Joanne Parese, Debbie Hathaway and Judy Svenson. Jeanette's doll was the prettiest, Debbie had the tiniest, and Judy's doll was the most original. Susan Long, Donna Jeanette, Dolores Nott, Josephine Curcio, Marilyn Nott, Mary Ann Parese, Donna Carisimo, Peggy Carrissimo, Donna Frich, David Frich, Nancy Parese, Elaine Marcas, Linda Parese, Sandra Kady, Linda Zeppe and Betty Lynn Karlson also participated.

Riders Beaten In Essex Loop By Colonels, Browns

The Belleville Riders, striving to improve their sixth place standing in the Essex County League, received a double set-back over the weekend when they dropped successive loop games to the Nutley Colonels, 5-3, and the East Orange Browns, 3-1.

Belleville will be active over the weekend with two more league games on tap. On Saturday the Riders will encounter Montclair at Nishuane Park and on Saturday will play the East Orange Sovereals at Soverel Field.

Rain halted the Saturday game against Nutley in the top of the seventh inning as Manager Bill Murphy's charges started closing in on the league leading Colonels. Although Nutley won the fray the Riders outlasted the Colonels, nine to four.

Sal Ruffo, former Colonels pitcher, started on the mound for Belleville in the first inning but was sent to an early shower with another former Colonels hurler, Frank Sprioviero, being sent into action in the opening frame.

Sprioviero, a left handed pitcher, hurled good hard ball but it was to no avail. The Colonels didn't score another run after the first inning.

Ted Galliarl, who went all the way for Nutley helped his own cause in the first when he drove home the fourth and fifth runs with a single. Those two markers proved to be the difference between the two clubs.

First baseman Richie Veith was the hitting star for Belleville in the Nutley contest. He had three singles in three times at bat.

In the fourth inning the Riders, sponsored by DeBacco Sports Shop, tallied all three runs on singles by Jim Mesheal, Ed Shepard, Sam Graziano and Veith. There was also a walk and an error.

A sudden 15-minute downpour halted the game in the top of the seventh inning with one Belleville runner on base and two out.

More and more younger housewives are discovering the fun and satisfaction of creating their own better and getting their hands in their own home-made dough.

This is partly because of the wonderful new kitchen they have to work in. These, in themselves, are an inspiration.

But mostly it's because this younger generation of housewives is so well informed about nutrition and what it takes to keep a family well fed and happy.

Oddly enough, the scientific facts that these younger housewives have crammed into their pretty little heads have set them to turning out many of the same creations that their mothers and grandmothers put together before them. Like their mothers and grandmothers, too, they do their baking with unleached flour. Heckers', naturally, because only Heckers' is unleached.

Feel like giving an ice cube this week? Here's a recipe for one you'll want to bake again and again.

Chocolate Walnut Loaf Cake

Ingredients: 2 squares unsweetened chocolate, 1/2 cup shortening, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 eggs well beaten, 1 cup sifted unleached Heckers' flour, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup sour milk or buttermilk, 1 teaspoon vanilla extract, 2/3 cup chopped walnuts.

Directions: Melt chocolate over hot water and set aside to cool slightly. Cream shortening and sugar together thoroughly, add unbeaten egg yolks and blend thoroughly. Blend in chocolate. Stir together flour, salt and soda and add to creamed mixture alternately with sour milk or buttermilk. Blend in vanilla and chopped nuts. Turn into greased 8" square cake or bread pan. Bake in 350 degree oven for 35-40 minutes. Cool. Frost with favorite icing.

Wide Open Windows

This is the season of wide open windows, Cool fragrant breezes fill every room; Rays of sunshine are clear and cleansing! To sweeten, brighten and chase away gloom. Songs of birds in new homes are nesting, Bees are sampling flower honey and dew, Trees are rustling and softly whispering; All voices of nature are humming anew. Voices float in through wide open windows, Riding the air-waves both near and far; Days are merry if voices are glad some With no unpleasantness our joys to mar. Guard them well — your wide open windows, Send thoughtful words to expand and swell, Circle the world with joyful good tidings — They'll return like homing pigeons to dwell.

The Age For Drinking

In response to questions put to him this week by The Times - News, Governor Meyner said New Jersey officials have been trying to get New York authorities to adopt a 21-year law for drinking. New York has local option and in some municipalities the minimum age is 18. He admitted that the state is disturbed because New Jersey youth in areas adjacent to the New York State line have been crossing over to get what is legally unavailable to them in New Jersey. He said, frankly, there has been a consequent increase in traffic accidents and fatalities among New Jersey youth so tempted.

The Governor pointed out, in his statement to The Times - News that while a 21-year minimum in New York State might help this situation, a law does not necessarily cure everything. A lot depends on parents, he said. If young persons under 21 are permitted to drink at home, they, too, probably take to the highways in the family car now and then. No law can protect them against themselves — nor against a breakdown of parental responsibility.

Ike And Congress Had "Peaceful Co-Existence"

Congressman Peter W. Rodino, Jr., in an exclusive interview with The Times-News, this week, said that he will stand for re-election next November, here in the 10th District, on the record of the 84th Congress, which wound up its work last weekend for the Summer. Well he might, because none of the pessimistic predictions of two years ago that a Democratic-controlled Congress and a Republican President never could work together came true.

Campaign strategists are now weighing the record of this 84th Congress and have already found that unlike the so-called "do nothing" 83rd Congress, it has a splendid record of legislative accomplishment. There was only "peaceful co-existence", no "cold war". It will be hard for the Republican party to defeat Rep. Rodino, here in the 10th District, on his record in Washington. It is almost safe to predict the re-election by Belleville of Congressman Rodino.

If anything, the split personality of Washington with Congress in Democratic control and the White House in Republican hands brought out a responsible leadership of national affairs. There is no reason to believe that a Republican majority would have given President Eisenhower any more support than he obtained from the Democratic majority. There are various tints of Republicans in Congress, too.

It would appear to The Times-News that the accomplishments of this Congress will preclude any possibility of a successful campaign on the simple slogan of "Give Ike a Republican Congress". Any Congressional seat won by the Republicans will have to be fought for and conquered on a district basis. In most cases, any change of political complexion of a Congressional delegate will have to be on a basis of personalities. Here in the 10th District, it would be hard to defeat Congressman Rodino on such an issue.

R.E.H.

One Man's Opinion

Britain May Refuse To Use Force To Regain Suez Canal Control From Nasser, But Oil Will Weigh Final Action

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

"I look at you Americans and say: May you choke to death on your fury."

It might have been Hitler, at the height of his glory, who said that; instead, it was a 34-year-old Egyptian Lieutenant - Colonel Abdel Gamal Nasser, dictator of Cleopatra's kingdom, who, in a blind rage because we cancelled out our offer to carry the heaviest share of building the Aswan canals and dam on the Nile, cursed a nation and whose next gesture was to ape Hitler and confiscate the Suez Canal. It was the curse of a typical hot-tempered Arab camel driver, not of a head of state.

Hitler, in a blind rage, tore up the last chapter of the Treaty of Versailles, in 1935, and ordered the German military reoccupation of the demilitarized Rhineland. He got by with his mad act, at the time, because of British weakness which overruled a French desire to throw him out — but, in the end, Hitler paid for his folly with his own life and with the ruin and division of Germany.

It is almost certain that the British will not consent to the use of arms to free the canal of the Egyptian grab, even if the French and ourselves urge her to do so. It is almost certain, too, in this "One Man's Opinion" that Nasser will get by for now with his illegal act, just as Hitler did 21 years ago, but that, in the end, Nasser and Egypt will pay dearly for his had gesture to rally the Egyptians behind him so that they would forget his failure to win America's millions of dollars for the dam project which he had promised to Egypt as the monument to his regime — just as the Pyramids and other relics are monuments to past pharaohs.

One reason why, in this "One Man's Opinion", Britain is opposed to the use of force to regain control of the canal operation is that the international agreement under which the canal was built by a Frenchman, Ferdinand de Lesseps, has but 12 years more to run. Upon its expiration, the canal will go to Egypt. "So why fight a war for 12 years' possession if, by exerting economic pressure on Egypt's financial weakness or by stirring up distrust of Nasser among other Arab lands, he can be curbed or overthrown? Britain has faced and survived many such illegal grabs. She took Hitler in her stride, and Hitler died at his own hands in his battered bunker.

Oil Dominates Solution Oil is much more likely to provide the solution to this crisis than military action. The Middle East's oil is vital to the very existence of Britain and Western Europe, and of no mean importance to ourselves. Of the 110,000,000 tons of shipping which passed through the Suez Canal last year, 70,000,000 tons was oil.

Colonel Nasser told the Egyptian people that the earnings of the Suez Canal Company are $100,000,000 yearly and that in five years the Egyptian Government will have collected $500,000,000 to use towards the start of the Aswan dam. Colonel Nasser, deliberately or not, lied.

The company's earnings after expenses, in 1955, were $46,000,000. That Colonel Nasser would have to double the canal tolls if Egypt were to realize the $100,000,000 yearly goal and, yesterday, he announced that he has no intention of raising tolls.

Improvements and maintenance of the canal have drained away much of the company's earnings over the past several years. These problems steadily grow as the tonnage moving through the canal increases.

The latest reconditioning contract amounts to $50,000,000. Nasser must meet that bill from tolls.

World Trade Passes

British ships are the largest users of the canal. In 1954, there were 4,493 British vessels among the 15,215 ships which passed through. There were 1,738 passages by Norwegian ships; 1,133 French; 1,018 Italian; 630 Netherlands; 452 Swedish; 393 American; 335 Danish and 302 German.

Practical problems of maintenance and the compensation of stockholders, which Nasser has promised, coupled with international repercussions, make it difficult to see how he can turn Suez Canal earnings into a real help in building the Aswan Dam. Britain's unwillingness to rush warships and bombers to Suez is based as much on pages of history as it is on British pigmy.

There is still fresh in British minds, the case of Iran and of the serious consequences which befell its fiery Premier, Mohammed Mossadeq, only five years ago, in 1951, when he confiscated foreign holdings and nationalized Iranian oil.

When it was found that Iran by itself could not manage its oil fields, and that the West would not help Iran under the terms demanded, Mossadeq was overthrown by an Army revolution and put in jail. At the time he nationalized Iranian oil, Mossadeq was as popular among Iranian masses as Colonel Nasser is with Egyptians today. No one cherished him when his seizure failed.

This is not to suggest that Colonel Nasser is doomed to the path followed by the former Premier of Iran. But the Suez Canal, channel for the oil on which Britain's industrial machine depends, is perhaps even more vital to the West than were the oil fields of Iran. If Colonel Nasser thinks he can nationalize the Suez Canal and with that one stroke become the absolute master of this flow of oil from the Red Sea to the Mediterranean, he may find he has aroused forces which simply cannot let this happen.

Even the Arab countries whom Colonel Nasser is seeking to dominate are reported as growing restive over his impetuous moves. None of them is considered ready for, desirous of war.

This column is a report of Little League All Star activities through Sunday July 29. At this time both Belleville American and Belleville National Little League All Star teams are straining at the bit to meet each other Wednesday evening, August 1, at Carlsbad Little League Field. The winner of this game will be declared District Champion. The district includes Belleville, Nutley, Lindhurst, Rutherford, East Rutherford, Carlstadt, Woodbridge and North Arlington.

It is difficult to attribute the success of either team to the accomplishment of any one individual. For the Americans accolades are due Wayne Young for his two pitching wins, to Ernie Stefanelli for his one hit, to Stefanelli, Belus, Pindar and Nosavacia for their hitting, to Gary Schwarz for excellent way he has held up the catching end, for both Young and Stefanelli and his two timely hits. Special praise is due Charlie Librizzi for covering centerfield so beautifully and his spectacular catches which stopped driving attempts by our opponents. The American League second base combination of Pindar and Belus was outstanding in defensive play and proved once again the old adage, "Be Strong Through The Middle And Your In".

The National League All Stars have the right to enter the finals with the American League by sparking defensive play and excellent pitching. George Sheridan pitched another no hit in the first game and struck out 16 men while walking only 3, also established himself as the hitting and base running star. Silco, the second game twirler, was equally effective allowing one hit and pitching the Nationals to a 2-0 win over the pre-tournament favorite from Woodbridge. Luzzi's home run with Pucciarella aboard accounted for the Nationals 2 runs.

We can be most proud of all our boys, for comments heard by this observer, in the press box at all games, concerning the gentlemanly manner and the meticulous appearance of both teams at all games, was most gratifying.

It is impossible for both teams to become the finalists but whatever team should win Wednesday night at Carlstadt the losing team and its supporters should be most proud for they have upheld Little League oath in a true sense of the word.

Insurance Warning For Car Travelers

Traveling conditions have changed radically. Motor trips are being made in the hundreds of millions of dollars are being spent by Federal, State and local governments in improvements. The dragline has been taken out of extended motor on new highway construction and trips by new car styling which provides the comfort needed.

However, before you "hit the road" this year, especially in the popular summer months, make sure that your automobile Bodily Injury limits are enough to satisfy the Automobile Safety Responsibility laws in the states through which you intend to drive.

This is to say that you should have Bodily Injury limits of at least $10/20/20,000 if you plan to drive in the following states: Illinois, Wisconsin, Florida, New York, Vermont, Minnesota, Maryland, Delaware, Michigan, Maine, Virginia and New Hampshire.

You should have Bodily Injury limits of $20/20,000 if you plan to drive in Connecticut. The remaining states will be satisfied with Bodily Injury limits of $5/10,000.

Should you fail to comply with these Bodily Injury requirements in the state where Bodily Injury limits of $10/20,000 or higher, are mandatory, your driving privileges will be suspended in your own state as well.

This means, for example, that a New Jersey driver having the minimum Bodily Injury limits of $5/10,000 as required in New Jersey is involved in an accident in the state of New York where limits of $10/20,000 are required, he faces suspension of his driving privileges in that state. Reciprocity agreements may cause his driving privileges suspended in his own state of New Jersey as well.

Victor Squitieri Instructs Reserves At Fort Slocum

Local native, First Lieutenant Victor C. Squitieri Jr. returned to civilian life on Sunday when his Army Reserve unit, the 303rd Military Government Group of Kearny, completed its annual two week summer training encampment. The 303rd is currently conducting a Military Government school at Fort Slocum, New York for Reserve and National Guard personnel. Since 1st Lt. Squitieri had vast experience in Military Government activities in Europe during World War II he has been selected as an instructor at the school.

During the years 1943-1948 1st Lt. Squitieri served overseas with Military Government in North Africa, Sicily, Italy, Austria and Germany, where he was a demobilization officer. He has been a member of the 303rd since 1954 and is displaced persons officer of the unit.

As a civilian the Lieutenant is employed as an automatic controls engineer with the Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulating Company in Union. Prior to graduation from New York University he was a member of the Delta Phi Epsilon and Beta Gamma Sigma fraternities. The son of Mr. & Mrs. Victor Squitieri of 12 Watessing Avenue, he resides at 79 Baldwin Place with his wife and children, Linda, Susan and Rosemarie.

Does it Pay to Pamper Penelope?

BLUE RIBBON WINNERS

RUSHED FROM NEARBY FARMS

It is seldom that our hens lay anything but Grade "A" eggs. But they could become Grade "B" if they weren't rushed to you at top speed in A-1 condition. That's why Food Fair eggs are selected from nearby farms (distance is important) and rushed to you daily under constant refrigeration.

PENELOPE — and her sisters — are pedigreed hens. They live in the lap of luxury... are fed on a pampered diet and do nothing but lay eggs. Of course there's nothing exceptional about hens laying eggs but in this case the eggs they lay are exceptional. So exceptional in fact, they won 4 Blue Ribbons in open competition in the Mid-Atlantic Farm and Home Show. It is these incomparable golden-yolk beauties that are rushed nest-fresh at the crack of dawn to you daily at Food Fair. That's why we're able to guarantee — and why you can be certain — that Food Fair eggs are strictly fresh. Food Fair eggs come in several sizes — but they're only one quality. The "tops"!

RIGID INSPECTION

Every single Food Fair egg must get an unqualified "A" in grade school. Each egg is examined under a bright light. Yolks must be dimly visible. Whites must be firm and clean. Shells must be clean, strong and flawless. Any egg that fails these exacting tests fails to get into a Food Fair carton...
