

Commission Receives Bids For Addition To Town's Garage

Proposals Accepted For Third Time In Attempt To Enlarge Present Facilities; Keenan Reveals Out Of Court Settlement Reached In Damage Suit
Belleville Town Commission received bids for the third time Tuesday night on the proposed addition to the Town Garage on William Street, twice, earlier this summer. Bids had been called for the project, but when insufficient proposals were received, Commissioners had discarded all bids. This time 12 bids were received for the five categories into which the overall project is divided. Four bids each were received for the general construction and structural iron and steel phases; two bids were received for the plumbing work; and one bid each was received for the heating and electrical work.

Sufficient bids were received so that Commissioners referred the matter to Town Purchasing Agent Thomas McLaughlin for report back at the next town meeting. From roughly totaling low bids received in each of the five categories, it can be estimated that the proposed addition would cost somewhere between $35,000 and $90,000. The estimated cost of construction is much higher than Commissioners had anticipated previously. Although no proposed work, or if the high cost, two years ago Commissioners appropriated $40,000 for the purpose of building the addition.

Must Be Considered Public Works Director Kenneth Smith would not state after a meeting whether contracts would be awarded on the basis of the bids submitted, or if the high cost makes the addition unfeasible at this time. The matter must be considered with other members of the Board before any action is taken, he commented.

As originally proposed, the addition to the garage would be adjacent to the present structure, on the west side of the building. The new addition would consist of an enclosed yard used for storage, and lies between the Town Garage and the Erie Railroad tracks. Commissioner Smith has repeatedly stated that the addition is solely needed to alleviate a critical shortage of storage space for town facilities and office space. According to plans already drawn up, the new addition would consist of an enclosed garage.

Chapman Re-Elected To Head Library Trustees

William Chapman, of 2 Belmor Street, principal of School No. 1, was re-elected president of the trustees of the public library at a recent meeting. Chapman has served on the library board since 1946. Also re-elected were George Newman, of 24 Hewitt Avenue, vice-president, and Lindsay A. Graves, of 488 Cortland Street, secretary-treasurer. Also serving on the board are Mrs. George R. Gerard, of 35 Rossmore Place, G. Lawton Cox, of 189 Tappan Avenue, Ex-officio member, and Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde and superintendent of schools, Evan H. Thomas.

Weekend Weather

The weathermen look for temperatures to be several degrees below normal with frost forming at night. Sunday will be sunny and humidity will be low.

High School Twins Make You See Double

NROTC PROGRAM OPEN TO SENIORS

Applications are now available for the Navy's eleventh competitive examination for its nationwide NROTC college training program, according to a recent announcement by the Navy Department. The mental examination is scheduled for December 8, and is open to all high school seniors and graduates who can qualify. The deadline for receipt of all applications is November 17, the Navy stated.

Successful candidates will start their Naval careers in colleges and universities across the country in 1957, with substantial financial assistance from the government. After a normal college education, graduates will be commissioned as regular officers in the Navy or Marine Corps, for active duty with the Fleet throughout the world.

Applications for this career program are available from Samuel Sifkin, Guidance Director of Belleville High School or for the nearest U. S. Navy Recruiting Station.

CORNERSTONE WILL BE LAID SUNDAY FOR CLARA MAASS

Weekend Dedication Festival Starts Saturday Night At Essex House Dinner Party

The cornerstone of the new $5,000,000 Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, largest hospital built in the Newark area since 1929, will be dedicated Sunday with an impressive ceremony at the site of the new building in Franklin Avenue opposite Branch Brook Park. Governor Robert Meyner will speak at the dedication ceremony as will John F. Kilde, president of Walter Kidde Company, Inc. and chairman of the Clara Maass Hospital Building Fund; H. Bruce Palmer, president of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and of the Greater Newark Medical Center, and others.

Starts At 3 P.M. Sunday's program, beginning at 3 p.m., will feature the laying of the cornerstone of a weekend Dedication Festival which opens with a $50-a-plate dinner Saturday night in the Essex House, Newark, that will be attended by 500 civic and community leaders and prominent members of the medical profession. The two weekend events will also inaugurate a drive to equip the new $24-bed hospital. General chairman of this drive is Raymond S. Perry, president of Federal Telephone and Radio Company, a division of International Telephone and Telegraph Corp.

Dr. Gerald I. Cetrulo, chairman of the Dedication Festival committee and attending surgeon on the hospital staff, will be master of ceremonies Sunday. The cornerstone will be presented to the

Property Revaluation Done By J. Ceminshaw Company

Property Owners May Question Assessments During Next Week At Six Town Hall Conferences

The revaluation of all real property in the Town of Belleville has been completed, according to an announcement by Tax Assessor Arthur W. Clark. The gigantic undertaking was finished last week by the J. M. Ceminshaw Company, of Cleveland, who had been hired last year by Town Commission to do the job. The actual revaluation has taken the company some nine months to complete as they inspected and appraised more than 10,000 individual pieces of property here. This includes all real property, Clark said, from vacant lots to private homes and industrial sites. The Ceminshaw firm, is a nationally known one and Clark said it has done similar types of property revaluations in other Essex communities.

Clark said that owners of real property in Belleville are now invited to meet with representatives of the firm to discuss the new valuations which will be used as the basis for the 1957 tax assessments.

LATE REGISTRATION STILL OPEN FOR ADULT SCHOOL

More Than 300 Students Have Enrolled For Fall; Some Courses Are Filled

With more than 300 students registered for the fall semester, the Advisory Committee of the Belleville Adult School has announced that it will receive late registrations at the Belleville High School office during a night school day, and on Tuesday night, 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. Registration, however, is closed in beginning typing, intermediate typing, slip covers, and dancing class.

The Medical Forum will not be held this semester because there were not enough students registered in advance. At the close of this semester certificates will be awarded to students successfully completing their courses.

Still Open Courses still open for registration are Americanization, beauty hints and cosmetics, introduction to business, machine contracting, bridge, cooking, driver education, English for foreign born, French.

Board Hears Citizen Urge Study To Improve Facilities

Arvidson Points Out Need For Long Range Program; Board Begins To Formulate Plans To Study Situation; Waits Report From Thomas

Belleville Board of Education Monday night heard a private citizen urge them to investigate every possible means for improving the school facilities available to Belleville's children. Ernest Arvidson, of the Better Schools Committee, appeared before the Board to ask them to undertake a long range study of school needs to handle a population which the estimator would grow by more than 10,000 in the next 40 to 50 years. Arvidson urged a two pronged study aimed at determining what is best from the amount of tax dollars local residents can afford to pay, and how to get the best from the tax dollar we are already spending.

Although Board members made no official comment on Arvidson's request, the Board did agree to the possibility of future school expansion was one of the topics discussed at the Board conference following the public meeting. Board president William Allison Boyd remarked that no one has made up his mind on any way to solve the problem of expanding present school facilities. Everyone must be given the best way to solve the problem, he added.

Renovation Of Town Owned Buildings Proceeds According To Plan By Hyde

Program 75 Per Cent Complete; Will Cost Approximately $50,000

The vast renovation program undertaken to put the town's public buildings in proper condition is nearing completion. According to Commissioner Elmer S. Hyde, whose Parks and Public Property Department has jurisdiction over the town owned buildings, the project is about 75 per cent complete. Commissioner Hyde said the program will continue for about another six months until all contemplated work is finished. Working in for their share of renovating were each of the seven town owned pieces of property, including Town Hall, the three town fire houses, the Recreation House, the Town Garage, and the Public Library. Up to this time, Hyde said, most of the town owned buildings had been in deplorable condition. It had been allowed to deteriorate until a major remodeling program was necessary to restore it to proper condition. The condition of the buildings was so bad, people wouldn't even go into Town Hall to pay their taxes, the building was so rundown. Hyde figures that the entire renovation program when complete will have cost the town a little more than $50,000. Of this figure, $7,250 has been appropriated by the Board for the work completed to date. The balance of the funds have been spent largely in Town Hall, the fire houses, and the Recreation House. He said that some of the money for the improvements has been taken out of the regular departmental budget, and that the rest of the money has been appropriated by Commissioners through special ordinances. Some of these funds date back to 1952, he added. Hyde said that the actual renovation program started about one and a half years ago with work being done on Town Hall.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

Bellboys Come Close But Not Close Enough

For some reason or other, Belleville High School usually has a rough time against East Orange High in their traditional season inaugural and last Saturday wasn't any different as the Blue and Gold went down to a tough 13-12 decision at Montpelier Stadium.

Four years ago the Panthers have had the hex on Coach Ed Berlinski. I thought that when Belleville snapped the jinx and won its first game in the series last Fall that it would be the beginning of a new era. In fact many believed that the jinx would be a thing of the past with the Bellboys making it two in succession over East Orange.

But the old jinx is still around and what hurts is that Belleville came so close and finally had to be content with an opening game loss by the very slim margin of only one point. As Coach Ed Berlinski put it, "I would rather lose by a couple of touchdowns than drop a heartbreaker like that. But that's the way it goes. They say that games like that usually even out in the long run. I'll have to wait and see what happens."

Bruce McCumber, Blue and Gold quarterback, tallied both Belleville touchdowns. In the opening period he scored on a quarterback sneak. But McCabe's converted conversion was blocked and put Belleville one point behind, 7-6. East Orange went ahead with another TD in the second quarter but failed to register the extra point so that Belleville still had a good opportunity of deadlocking the contest.

They finally got going in the fourth period with McCumber going over the goal again on a quarterback sneak but again McCabe's conversion failed to get the necessary extra point. This time the Bellboys tried to run the piker over the goal but was stopped by the whole Panther forward wall.

It looked like Belleville might pull the game out of the fire after all. An on-sides kick was successful and the Blue and Gold almost started to move, that was until a clipping penalty stalled the drive.

Crystal Gazing

Oops!!! I'm behind the eight-ball already with only one week of the scholastic pigskin campaign completed. That crystal ball of mine was still slightly dusty and I managed to predict the outcomes of only six games while going down the drain with three others. Belleville always a tough one with me, dropped a squeaker, 13-12, to East Orange, little Glen Ridge upset Clifford Scott, and Bloomfield went on to take the measure of Stony Hall.

I've been polishing that crystal ball all week long. Let's see if the hard work will result in a better prediction percentage.

Belleville to upset Bloomfield. This shapes up as one of the better attractions of the day. Both teams were involved in upset decisions last Saturday with Bloomfield coming up with the win and Belleville taking a loss. From where I see it this will be one of the closest games around with not more than a point or two expected to separate the teams. Coach Ed Berlinski will have his charges up for this one.

Nutley to halt Orange. Coach Sandy Phillips is moaning the blues but things aren't quite so bad. I look for Nutley to make up for the 18-14 upset handed them by the Tornados a year ago when the Maroon Raiders lost only two games while winning seven. Orange was swamped by Montclair, 47-7, but you can't go by that since the Mounties are loaded once again.

West Orange to beat Clifford Scott. The Cowboys will make it No. 2 and will hold the running attack of the Scotties. West Orange by seven points.

Seton Hall to trim East Side. The Pony Pirates were surprised in their opener but will be ready for East Side with room to spare.

Montclair to trounce Irvington. I pity poor Irvington. The Campers lost to West Orange and now must take, or should I say try to take, Montclair. It sounds like a broken record but the Mounties look like the best in Essex County again. Coach Clark Anderson's boys need Orange with 47 points being scored. The Haines boys will give a field day and will be able to name the final score.

NOTICE OF RE-EVALUATION FOR 1957

Owners of real property in the Town of Belleville are invited to meet with representatives of the J. M. Clemenishaw Co. nationally known appraisal firm who have completed a re-evaluation of the entire Town, relative to their 1957 valuations.

The 1957 assessed valuations will be based on the results of their appraisals so that uniformity in assessments and a fair distribution of the tax burden throughout the Town may be realized.

Property owners may ascertain the sound value of their properties and discuss in general any question relative to these values.

Hearings will be held at the Council Chambers, Town Hall, 152 Washington Avenue, on the following days:

Monday	October 1st	From 9 A.M. To 5 P.M.
Tuesday	October 2nd	From 1 P.M. To 9 P.M.
Wednesday	October 3rd	From 9 A.M. To 5 P.M.

Bellboy Gridders Drop Close One To East Orange, 13-12

Coach Eddie Berlinski's Squad Drops Heartbreaking Opener As Last Period Drive Falls Short

by Dave Thaler

Topping East Orange in everything but scoring, the Blue and Gold gridders dropped their season opener Saturday by a heart-breaking 13-12 score. The backfield, supposedly the question mark in Belleville's attack, was stymied, while the line, their strongest point, was not up to par.

The line, however, presents no problem. It is one of the best around and will probably prove this to Bloomfield tomorrow. The Bengals are bigger, better, and faster than East Orange, but Belleville can't be underdog. Their backfield has proven itself, thereby solving Coach Ed Berlinski's biggest problem.

Belleville let the Panthers dominate the first half, and then tried to reverse the situation. It almost worked, but the extra point proved to be the difference. Belleville threatened constantly and it seemed as if a matter of time before they scored. But East Orange protected their goal line successfully until four minutes before the end of the game.

Then Belleville quarterback Bruce McCumber scored the first touchdown of the second half and left the score at 13-12. Larry Cordero and Ray Kimble then combined to successfully execute an on-side kick, giving Belleville possession on the East Orange 46. Several pass attempts failed though, and the ball went over to the Panthers who killed the clock.

Score First
In the first half, East Orange, who had won the coin toss, took the field. They were guarded and promptly scored. Joe Huguinin, their extra point specialist, made the conversion. Belleville got back in the game when Frank D'Angelo returned a punt from East Orange 15 yards for a 15-7 run of 70 yards. D'Angelo, by all that's right in football, should have been nailed five times. He never changed his direction but shook the first tackler off, faked the next two out of their chance, and then received some nice blocks to take care of the rest. When he had nobody but teammate's arms to rely on, he tripped himself and fell on the 15.

The next play took co-captain Malfatta out of the game. He tried a sweep around the left end and injured his leg. He was thrown for the rest of the day. McCumber then went to the six. He flipped a pass to Gene Pinazzella, left end, who made a diving catch on one yard line. McCumber then sneaked it over. Pat McCabe made the conversion. Belleville got back in the game. The Panthers scored again, and halftime score was 13-6, favor of the Panthers.

New Club
Belleville was a new club in the second half. They began to click, and East Orange rarely had possession of the ball. Pinazzella, Kimble, McCumber, and Barra were the stars. But they couldn't come up with the scoring play until it was too late. Bloomfield's defense, which opened against Seton Hall which gives Belleville a chance to atone for the Panthers' defeat, was not as good as Bloomfield could just be what the doctor ordered for Berlinski's squad. The Bellboys will probably enter the game a six point underdog though.

The Blue and Gold's chances depend largely on the recovery of Barra and Malfatta, who are limping around school. Their chances of an upset are not good without these two.

In other business, Town Attorney Lawrence E. Keenan announced that an out of court settlement had been reached in a $20,000 suit against the town. Keenan said the case had been settled by payment of $2,000 by the town. The court must still approve the settlement, he said.

The suit had been filed by Mrs. Frances Sparks on behalf of her 12 year old daughter, Katherine, of 15 Elms Place. It charged that Katherine had suffered injuries in a fall from her bicycle during the summer of 1954. The young girl fell from her bicycle when it got caught in a crack in the pavement on Elms Place. She sustained cuts about the mouth which have left permanent scars and lost three teeth as a result, he said. Extensive dental work was required.

Joan De Rogatis Is Wed Saturday At St. Mary's

Mrs. Robert J. Cochiarelli

St. Mary's Church in Nutley, was the scene of the wedding of Miss Joan Aurora De Rogatis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas De Rogatis, of 247 Greylock Parkway, and Robert J. Cochiarelli, son of Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Cochiarelli, of Bergenfield, last Saturday. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Augustine Jannarone, of Santa Maria Church, Bronx, great-uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. John Goding of St. Mary's Church. A reception followed the ceremony, at the Lexington Cocktail Lounge, in Clifton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Her three attendants were Miss Yolande Veres, as maid of honor, and the Misses Anna-Marie Salese and Phyllis Rich, both cousins of the bride, as bridesmaids.

John Cochiarelli served as best man for his brother, John Francis Brown, cousin of the bride, and John Giordano ushered.

The bride's gown was of chantilly lace and bridal satin. Her fingertip length chantilly lace veil fell from a rhinestone and pearl tiara. Her gown and veil were made from the veil worn by her mother, the former Mildred Jannarone, at her wedding twenty-nine years ago. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white ranunculus with a white orchid in the center.

Mrs. Cochiarelli is a graduate of Nutley High School and is employed as an executive secretary with the Oil Chemical and Atomic Workers in Newark. Her husband is a graduate of the James Monroe High School in the Bronx. He is with Shea Chevrolet of Hackensack.

Revaluation

Clark commented upon the thoroughness of the Clemmshaw people in making the survey. He said that the company employed at least 10 to 12 trained estimators in conducting the local survey. These men measured the property, inspected the inside and outside of every building, and took into consideration every possible factor that might affect the value of a piece of property.

transport committee, that group concluded that Newark Airport was neither the destination nor the origin of low flying aircraft over the town.

On the basis of that report, Lauterette said he would concentrate the efforts of his committee on a study of the Teterboro traffic. He added that airport officials would not be contacted until something concrete could be laid in their laps.

Lauterette's group was proposed at the August 21 Town Commission meeting by Public Works Director Kenneth D. Smith, who said he had received hundreds of complaints of noise from low flying planes over the town. Smith suggested that Lauterette, who had previously served on a similar committee, head the group. Hence then, Leonard D. Rocco, local attorney, and James Leonard have been appointed.

Seek Cooperation

Lauterette said he has sent letters to both Nutley and Bloomfield asking for their cooperation in the survey of low flying aircraft. He said he asked Mayor Harry W. Chenoweth of Nutley and Mayor Donald H. Scott of Bloomfield to consider formation of anti-low aircraft committees inasmuch as the three towns lie in the Teterboro pattern of flight. Both have agreed to propose such committees at their next Town Commission meetings.

Renovation

even the brass handles and railings are now being kept up. "These are the little items that in the overall picture are important," he said.

William Street Firehouse
The William Street firehouse

required major work, Hyde said. The bathroom, which had been there since the building was constructed in 1926, was ripped out, and a new tile bathroom with vanity basin and showers was installed. A new roof was placed on the building to stop leakage, and the building was painted inside and out. A new rear entrance was also built to replace the improvised one which had been put up some years ago.

The Silver Lake firehouse was in the same state of disrepair, but even worse, Hyde commented. The roof over the front dormitory was completely out. This has now been replaced, he said, along with the installation of a new heating system, and a thorough paint job. Washington Avenue fire headquarters also required major renovations, he said. A new roof was placed on the building and combination storm ashes were placed on the windows.

The money spent here has been well invested, Hyde said, as the men are now happy and satisfied.

Recreation House
The Recreation House, estimated to be about 125 years old, also took a large share of the repair work. The entire outside of the building was covered with a coating of stucco, which now replaces the old worn out brick work. Linoleum was laid on the floors and a portion of the main floor was restored. Most of the windows sashes had to come out to be replaced, Hyde said.

"Once public property is allowed to deteriorate for 20 or 30 years, there is a tremendous loss and a high cost to bring it up to standard," Hyde said. But once the buildings are in good condition, it is easy to keep them up and have respectable property, he concluded.

she and her husband breed dogs as a hobby, and a case full of ribbons and trophies supported their claim to pedigree fame. Two more dogs belonging to the Spinosa are kept at the Milton kennels, where they visit them every weekend. Another of Mrs. Spinosa's hobbies is crocheting such items as dollies, stoles and scarves.

"Our roots are really in Belleville," Mrs. Spinosa concluded. My parents have lived here all their lives. My husband and I both grew up on this street, we even went to school together, and now our son is going to the same school. I doubt if we will leave Belleville in a hurry," she said.

"No salary...it costs you money to work here!"

It's A STRANGE BUSINESS when your deductions are bigger than your pay check! Imagine being told you'd have to pay your employer to work for him!

But that's exactly the situation confronting the railroads of New Jersey.

Since 1941, the New Jersey railroad industry has been paying in New Jersey an average of $1.27 in taxes for every dollar earned in the state... the earned dollar and 27 cents besides. In 1954, for example, your eleven Class 1 railroads earned $8,034,509 in New Jersey, but they paid $10,435,084 in New Jersey taxes. In effect, the railroads had to pay all their New Jersey earnings plus $10,008,575 for the privilege of serving the state.

How do your railroads serve New Jersey? By providing New Jersey citizens with 34,000 jobs and $122,000,000 in pay annually. By transporting millions of tons of products and materials that help keep New Jersey factories, farms and stores humming, carrying 150,000 New Jersey residents a day about their business or pleasure travel. By spending millions of dollars annually in New Jersey for equipment, goods and services.

Clearly, the economic health of the railroad industry is vital to the enduring prosperity of New Jersey. Yet it is being jeopardized today by New Jersey's unrealistic and discriminatory tax system. New Jersey railroad taxes per mile are the highest in the nation—more than five times the national average. Railroad property is taxed an average of more than twice as much as non-railroad property of the same value!

Such disproportionate taxation—that actually wipes out earnings and creates losses—seriously handicaps your railroads' effort to keep pace with New Jersey's economic progress.

You can help New Jersey progress—by being a well-informed citizen and speaking your mind on what needs to be done to get tax fair play in New Jersey. You'll find the facts in "Facts on Tracks." Just write: Railroad Information Bureau, 11 Commerce Street, Newark 2, N. J.

Autumn Air

Today the autumn air was honed and thin. The ivy vine was scarlet overlaid. With patterned gold, I brought the peppers in. Globes of polished ruby, tinged with jade. Then at dusk, I heard the wild geese pass. Though the sky was far too dark to see. This morning frost lay white upon the grass. And there was gold-leaf on the maple tree. By these signs we put the long years by. When thoughts are gentle sleep within the fold. When unseen music haunts the darkened sky. And quiet days are fallen leaves of gold.

Put Emphasis On Votes

The next fortnight will be critical in the presidential election as time grows short. Five weeks from next Tuesday, the United States goes to the polls.

As matters stand today, the Democrats, having gotten off to a running start, with two very able and healthy campaigners, have the advantage. They are almost certain to gain control of both the Senate and the House, and the chances of President Eisenhower's re-election would seem to turn upon his ability to convince, during the next two weeks, the normally Democratic electors of seven Southern states to vote for him again.

Yet, the Republicans have much to sell if they would only get out and sell it before it is too late—a world at peace and a balanced budget. Instead of selling what they have and the Democrats have not, the GOP national, state and town leaderships seem more intent on raising campaign funds than on winning votes. Funds, of course, are necessary but votes are vital.

The second successive annual balanced budget of the Eisenhower administration should be made into the prime campaign issue alongside the President's accomplishment in ending the war in Korea and keeping the world out of World War III.

The Democrats might attempt to belittle the balanced budget and might try to attribute it to a neglect of public welfare and national defense, but they would have to tread very carefully or run the risk of backing deficit financing. It is a matter of record that under the unlamented Harry Truman's presidency, when deficit financing was a national policy, our national debt rose to a staggering 275 billion dollars.

It is our contention that on a local level, these splendid accomplishments of the Eisenhower administration have not been "sold". Too much emphasis seems to be placed on door-to-door solicitation of money in place of door-to-door solicitation of money.

National elections do, of course, cost money, particularly since the trend seems to be to buy time on the TV networks where each minute of televised oratory costs $50,000. In the 1952 campaigns, some 147 million dollars were spent. On the basis of spending to date, the 1956 national election will cost around $156,000,000. In 1952, nationally, the GOP spent $5.50 for every $4.50 spent by the Democrats, according to a study just published by the University of North Carolina.

The study disclosed many interesting facets of solicitation of funds which would seem to discredit the money aspects of national politics. The survey shows, for example, that in the Truman administration 13 of 27 men appointed to diplomatic non-career posts abroad, chiefly as Ambassadors and Ministers, had contributed $500 or more to the Democratic national campaign fund. All were Democrats.

That would seem to confirm the theory that big contributors to the political war funds really buy "access". The big gifts open doors which normally are closed. When they give a thousand or thousands of dollars, they look for something in return. They look for doors to open. They look for favors and prestige. These are the financial realities of the American political system. It is not a pretty picture but it seems to be the accepted philosophy of electing a party to power.

One Man's Opinion

A Suez Canal Boycott Could Be An Expensive Game For The West To Play But In Time It Would Work

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Since a straight line is the shortest distance between two points, Egypt's Colonel Nasser has the unhappy West over a barrel — a barrel of oil.

There are two ways that Colonel Nasser could be brought to his knees — firstly if the West applied an air-tight boycott to the Suez Canal and kept it for six months or a year, if necessary, and secondly, if the United States which has 6,500,000 surplus bales of cotton in storage — for which it already has paid its growers more than $1,250,000,000 — would dump all or part of this cotton on the world market and bring disaster to Egypt's basic economy because Egypt's economy is based almost solely on the canal revenues, which brought it $17,000,000 as its share of the revenues last year, and upon its cotton growing.

A canal boycott, alas, could work two ways. The Arabian oil ports lie conveniently handy to the Red Sea and the Suez Canal. The distance from the oil ports to London, for example, would be nearly twice as great around the Cape as through the Suez Canal. A boycott could be a very expensive game for the West to play.

Cotton As Weapon

On the other hand, we would stand to gain only Egypt's ill will if we did dump our surplus cotton on the world markets, though it is doubtful if there is any good will towards the United States left to lose in Egypt.

Two countries would suffer tremendously if we did dump our cotton. Egypt is one, Russia is another because under the next to the last 5-Year Plan, Russia went in heavily for cotton production and has already had sizeable returns.

Without waiting for any decisions of the London conference, several British shipping companies which run mail and passenger liners to the Far East have begun to divert some of their vessels from the Suez Canal route to the Cape of Good Hope.

Already Diverting Ships

They explained that they seek to avoid sending them through a troubled area. At the same time, Lloyds and the Institute of London Underwriters more than doubled their "war risk" insurance rates on shipping passing through the canal. The rates covering "war, strikes, riots and civil commotion" were raised from two shillings per 100 pounds (28 cents per $280) to 5 shillings (70 cents).

The Peninsular and Orient Line which operates seven passenger liners from London to Australia and four liners to the Far East and Hong Kong, has already routed its vessels around the Cape of Good Hope. A sister company, the Orient Line, is also, already using the Cape route.

Shipping authorities point out it is relatively cheap to divert vessels on the Australia-England route. But to alter the route of ships between England and the Arabian oil peninsula or to India, they say, is a very costly risk.

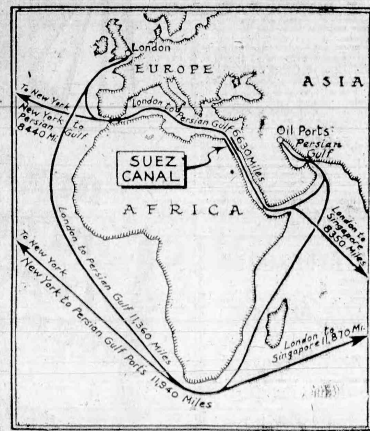

Time Is Money

For one thing, the cost of running a vessel at sea amounts to between $1,120 and $1,960 a day. For liners in a larger class, the run upwards of $2,800 a day.

Thus, for a vessel making the long trip from Britain to Australia, the extra time to round the Cape amounts to a mere 0.5 per cent of the time at sea.

But a liner making the run from Penang, Malaya, to Britain needs the extra time to round the Cape. A vessel from the Persian Gulf oil ports needs 80 per cent more time at sea to make

Suez Route Is Shortest By Half

The above map showing the main shipping lanes, pictures clearly that the Suez Canal is a vital shortcut from the oil ports to England and Western Europe. The comparative distance is 6,630 miles via Suez or 11,000 miles via Capetown from the chief Arabian oil ports to London, almost doubling the time of transport.

the trip around Africa.

The longer a ship is at sea, the fewer runs it can make, and the fewer runs per year, the less profit for the owners.

The diverting of oil tankers to the Cape route would result in reducing the flow of oil to the West and, inevitably, it would force a raise in costs to all of the oil consumers, down to the motorists.

Last year, 67,000,000 tons of Arabian oil passed westward through the Suez Canal. Of that total, 9,000,000 tons came to the United States; 58,000,000 tons went to Western Europe and Britain. To carry that much oil around the Cape would require a total tonnage of tankers twice as great as the tonnage used today. There just are not that many tankers on all the seas.

When Secretary of State Dulles unveiled his second "Canal Users" plan in London last weekend, he presented a plan that had been worked out in Washington. It called for carrying about 800,000 barrels of oil a day from the Arabian ports to London and Europe. The remaining 450,000 barrels a day which the West needs would have to be supplied by the West.

any hemisphere and shipped across the Atlantic.

The United States, in the meantime, would have to find somewhere on the American Continent the 300,000 barrels of oil it is getting every day from the Arabian oilfields, through the Suez Canal.

The only answer, as oil men see it, would be to increase production in the United States and Venezuela. Western Hemisphere production would need to be increased by 45,000,000 tons yearly in order to replace American imports from the Middle East and to supply Western Europe with the equivalent of oil lost through closure of the Suez Canal.

Such production increase is feasible. But the United States would be forced to loan Britain and France huge amounts of dollars to pay for the new supply of oil coming from the Western Hemisphere.

a phone for her own room!

It's not a bad idea—as more and more parents of socially active teen-agers are discovering.

A growing daughter—or son—is thrilled to be able to make calls without an audience. It gives them a wonderful feeling of maturity.

And the parents say it's worth it just for the peace and quiet it brings.

An extra phone in any part of your home is a great step-saver for everyone too. The cost? Only 75¢ a month. Easy to order—just call your Service Representative at the Telephone Business Office.

P. S. An extra phone in color makes a wonderful gift for teen-agers (or anyone). Next time you pass the Telephone Office, stop in and we'll tell you about it.

Griffith Music Series Opens October 22 With "Mikado"

A performance of "The Mikado" by the Fujiwara Opera Company of Japan at the Mosque Theatre, Newark, on Monday evening, October 22, will open the 1956-57 season of the Griffith Music Foundation. Mrs. Parker O. Griffith, its president, announced this week. The Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera will be sung in traditional English style but the artists, stage settings, and decor will be authentically Nipponese.

The performance will be one of three events which have been booked to mark the observance of United Nations Week which starts the previous day. The "Mikado" will be followed by the Robert Masters Piano Quartet from England, which will include the foundation's chamber music concert in Griffith auditorium on Thursday evening, October 25, and by the Royal Danish Ballet which will come to the Mosque for one performance on Saturday evening, October 27.

Two four-star special events are also announced by the Foundation. One will be a performance of Puccini's opera, "Madama Butterfly," sung in English by the newly-formed NBC Opera Company on Saturday evening, December 8, and the other a "Fiesta Mexicana" which will bring many of Mexico's finest musical artists and film and television stars. It will be presented at the Mosque on February 2.

The Vienna Philharmonic, conducted by Carl Schuricht, will open the symphony series of concerts on Tuesday evening, December 4. This series will also bring the Boston Symphony, under Charles Munch, on January 10, and the Philadelphia Orchestra for two performances on March 4 and April 3. Michael Tree, brilliant young American violinist, will be soloist with the Philadelphia at their first concert, on December 9; Gina Bachauer, on January 13; and Walter Gieseking, on February 10.

Artists who will perform in the new series of Sunday afternoon master piano concerts will include Moura Lympany who will have the assistance of the Little Orchestra Society in an opening concert program on November 4. Other pianists appearing in the series will be Byron Janis, on December 9; Gina Bachauer, on January 13; and Walter Gieseking, on February 10.

PTA Group Takes Theme

"Partners in Education," will be the theme of this year's program outlined by the members of the No. 3 School PTA. The group's executive board met at the home of Mrs. H. Mann, of 35 Reservoir Place, last week.

Through the Oven Door

by your Heckers' REPORTER

Maybe you've already found that it's easier to roll out your pie crust on wax paper. To keep the paper from sliding, just wipe your table or counter with a damp cloth. Then the wax paper will remain firm.

There's nothing quite so satisfying as turning out your very own extra-special home baking. It's your individual touch that counts — and wins your family's praise.

And Heckers' certainly makes the difference. Good bakers always start with the basic fundamentals — and there's nothing more basic than Heckers' flour. Heckers' is UNBLEACHED and NATURALLY WHITE — because it is allowed to turn its own snowy white under nature's careful attention. But, despite its careful production, Heckers' costs no more than other flours. That's why economy goes hand-in-hand with fuller flavor, better texture, and finer appearance — when you bake with Heckers'.

How about this Fall "quick-and-easy" to bring the family back for more? Slice generous portions of canned corned beef hash, top each with a tomato slice, and sprinkle freely with grated cheese. Broil until the cheese is melted and the hash is thoroughly warmed.

And here's an old-fashioned Brown and White Marble Cake that probably was one of your grandmother's favorites.

Brown & White Marble Cake

Ingredients for White Butter
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups sifted Heckers' flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup milk
1 teaspoon vanilla
4 egg whites

Ingredients for Chocolate Butter
1 ounce chocolate
1/4 cup sugar
1 tablespoon milk
1 cup white butter
1 1/2 tablespoons Heckers' flour

Cream shortening. Add sugar gradually. Sift together flour, baking powder, salt. Add alternately with milk to creamed mixture. Add vanilla, fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Grate chocolate, add sugar and milk. Heat and blend thoroughly. To 1 cup of white batter add chocolate mixture. Add flour. Put a layer of dark batter between 2 layers of white in a greased 9-inch tube pan. Bake at 350° F. for 45 minutes. Cool and frost.

MASON LEAVES ON GM TRAINING PLAN

Robert Frederick Mason, 12 Jerome Avenue, left by train for Flint, Michigan, where he will begin a four year engineering course at General Motors Institute. Mason is employed at the Chevrolet-Bloomfield Division of General Motors Corporation.

General Motors Institute located in Flint was founded by General Motors Corporation more than thirty years ago. A co-operative system of education is in effect under which a student works at his sponsoring plant for two months and attends school for two months.

A number of General Motors executives received their education at General Motors Institute. Baccalaureate degrees in engineering and business administration are offered.

Mason is an active member of DeMolay. He was secretary of the Math Club at Belleville High School in his senior year, and graduated in June of this year.

Local Woman Holds Summer Classes For Girls

Mrs. T. Edward Davis, of 38 Washington Avenue, kept fourteen of her neighborhood girls occupied for the entire summer by conducting classes in sewing and arts and crafts in her back yard, concluding the summer with a barbecue on Labor Day. The youngsters presented their voluntary teacher with a handmade cutglass cheese and cracker dish. Taking part were: Barbara, Janice and Kathy Prosper, Patty Daudein, Judy Wittlinger, Ruth Thomas, Ann Marie and Alice Timdale, Judy and Sandy Healey, Shirley Boyer, Alice and Ann Martinson and Patty Ann.
