

PROPERTY OWNERS DISCUSS VALUATION WITH CLEMINSHAW

Tax Assessor Clark Says
Next Year's Tax Bills
Computed On 40% Basis

Close to 1,200 Belleville residents reviewed their new property assessments last week with officials of the J. M. Cleminshaw Company, of Cleveland, which completed the town's first real estate revaluation last month.

Of those asking information on their assessments, only about 10 per cent have asked that the revaluation firm re-examine their property, according to Tax Assessor Arthur W. Clark.

The hearings have uncovered a small number of clerical errors and these are being corrected, he stated. "The remainder of the town's property owners will not know at what figure their property has been revalued, until they receive their tax cards next year."

A final tabulation from the Cleminshaw company has not been received yet, which would show the town's new total tax ratings. Clark expects to have this figure shortly.

However, the general consensus among property owners is that assessments will show a general increase all along the line. Clark did not state that the new valuations presented by the Cleminshaw firm were higher than the figures shown in use. He did indicate that the tax rate based on the new assessments should come down. He said that if an increase is shown in the town's total ratings, this should be reflected in a reduced tax rate to counterbalance the increase.

The tax assessments to be computed by Clark will be based on the results of the Cleminshaw firm's valuations and a fair distribution of the tax burden throughout the town, he said.

Clark said that next year's tax bills would be computed on a 40 per cent basis of the total assessed value.

He stressed that tax payers had until August 15, 1957 to pay some plans, with like-county tax board over the current year's assessment.

CRECCA INVITES LOCAL PHYSICIANS

Dr. William D. Crecca, President of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, announced today that he issued an invitation to all Belleville physicians to apply for accredited privileges at the new hospital, now being completed on the Newark-Belleville boundary.

He said that while a number of Belleville residents have already been granted this recognition, his invitation is extended to others who have not yet made formal application. In some cases, he said, the processing of applications has been temporarily held up because the hospital's present facilities in Newark are inadequate.

"This condition will be remedied when we open our new building early in 1957. Therefore, we hope that every qualified physician in Belleville will become a member of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital medical staff," he said.

PERRY SUGGESTS BELLEVILLE FLOOR IN NEW HOSPITAL

Private Citizens, Business,
And Industry Are Invited
To Cooperate In Plan

An invitation to furnish and equip a floor in the new Clara Maass Memorial Hospital was extended today to residents, business firms, and industries of Belleville by Raymond S. Perry, President of Federal Telephone and Radio Company, who is general chairman of the hospital equipment fund.

Perry said that the hospital plans to list on available space in a block or neighborhood of a firm as the men, women and companies who will have made the Belleville floor and rooms possible. The community floor project is part of a new technique being used by Perry for the Equipment Fund program which stresses the merchandising to friends of the hospital of the hospital's equipment and furnishings that will be required for the new 324 bed facility. Through this plan it is now possible for a Belleville resident or a group of Belleville people to specify each item they want to install on the Belleville floor. They may also specify items to be used elsewhere in the building, such as the furnishings for the chapel, hospital administration offices or kitchen.

The proposed Belleville floor could be any one of the seven in the new building. The third

Low Flying Plane Spotters Report 186 Under Safe Altitude Level In Week

Lauterette Now Compiling Data Collected In Round The Clock Watch; Nutley Mayor Harry
Chenoweth Reports Formation Of Group There

A week long check on low flying airplanes over Belleville was concluded last week with reports submitted on well over 1,000 planes. Norman D. Lauterette, head of the special investigating committee, said that of this number, 186 were classified by the checkers as being low flying planes.

Lauterette's committee had the cooperation of Belleville's firemen during the week's checking period, with the fire fighters marking positions atop an apartment building across from fire headquarters on Washington Avenue. The check was originally to have lasted two weeks, but Lauterette said that sufficient data had been obtained in all types of weather conditions after one week's checking.

Under 1,200 Feet
During the round the clock vigil, firemen secured data on all planes which appeared to be under 1,200 feet. This altitude had been established by the National Air Transport Committee. Town officials had been informed that this was the minimum height at which planes should fly over a community.

From an analysis of flight directions and course bearings, most of the 186 planes classified as being too low were believed to be either coming from or going to the Newark Airport, spotters revealed. Of the 186 planes, 128 were definitely classified as flying "low to very low." An additional 58 planes were estimated to be on the borderline, Lauterette explained.

The information was submitted in a report from fire chief Harry Chenoweth.

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN OFF TO A FLYING START

House-To-House Canvass
Will Be Conducted Next
Thursday, Friday, Saturday

Belleville's 1957 Community Chest Drive got off to a flying start this week with the report that $2,725 has already been turned into the headquarters. Drive chairman Raymond Williamson said he was pleased with this preliminary figure since it represents contributions collected in less than two weeks. The drive opened on October 1 and is slated to run through November 9.

Mrs. Rochan emphasized the importance of making this part of the drive a success. She said, "In spite of the fact that we are in a business and industry, the Community Chest could not possibly succeed without the donations of every local resident who stands to benefit from the seven Chest supported agencies."

DAVID ROBBINS IS DISASTER HEAD

Local Businessman Named
To Red Cross Position

Dr. Frank M. Durkee, chairman of the Belleville Chapter of the American Red Cross, has announced the appointment of David Robbins, of 538 Washington Street, as local Disaster Chairman. Members of the Chapter Board of Directors forming his committee are Robert Williams, Dr. Hillard Mann, Mrs. Howard Ryer, Mrs. William Strange and Mrs. Marion E. Peppel.

Norman Thompson was the former Disaster Chairman. Robbins said, "No one can foretell where or when disaster will strike. We must be ready." He is now busy perfecting his organization.

Since its founding in 1881, the American Red Cross has acted for the people of the United States in providing nearly help to the victims of fires, floods, hurricanes, tornadoes, shipwrecks and similar catastrophes on the average of 300 times a year. Dr. Durkee said this means providing emergency food, clothing, shelter and medical and nursing care, and as far as possible, rehabilitation of the family to its pre-disaster status.

"Red Cross meets the needs of the family whether it be for repair or rebuilding the home, providing household furnishings, tools or equipment. All disaster assistance is on a grant basis, providing there are never any strings attached," Dr. Durkee added.

ROTARIANS VIEW NEW CLARA MAASS

Members of the Belleville Rotary Club were given a preview of the new Clara Maass Memorial Hospital last week when they toured the partially completed building which is located on the Newark-Belleville line. Earlier they were addressed by Raymond S. Perry, President of Federal Telephone and Radio Company, who is General Chairman of the Equipment Fund program now being conducted for the hospital.

Perry, principal speaker at the club's weekly luncheon meeting, presented a detailed outline of the Equipment Fund program's objectives. The meeting was held in the Cerebral Palsy Center, located on the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital's 17-acre tract. Arrangements for the meeting were made by Sigfried B. Bart, President of the Bart Manufacturing Corporation, and chairman of the Equipment Fund Program in Belleville. The other co-chairman in Belleville is Stanley G. Freck, Manager of Personnel and Community Relations, Walter Kidde & Company, Inc.

The next morning when MacEachern awoke, his trousers were gone. MacEachern discovered his trousers were lying on the ground outside the window.

MacEachern called the police, who came to the scene and reported that a prowler had apparently forced the screen open during the night, reached in through the window, and removed the trousers.

Although the trousers were recovered, MacEachern reports the thief took his wallet which was in a pocket, containing $40, drivers license, and other papers.

Bids For Addition To Town Garage Rejected Third Time; Nicolette Request Held Over

In an effort to alleviate the acute parking problem which exists in some residential sections of town, and to prevent the situation from becoming worse, Belleville Town Commissioners Tuesday night accepted on first reading an ordinance which would regulate off-street parking in residential zones. The proposed ordinance would require apartment and tenement builders to provide one off-street parking space for each family dwelling unit they construct.

The ordinance was introduced by Commissioner Kenneth D. Smith, director of the Department of Public Works. Smith said the ordinance has been brought up because a number of apartment and tenement building permits are pending without adequate parking facilities, he said, this type of dwelling could throw the town's parking situation into chaos.

Public hearing on the ordinance has been set for the next Town Commission meeting on October 23. If the ordinance is approved on second and third readings at the meeting, it will become effective twenty days after its final publication.

The ordinance reads that off-street parking facilities for at least as many as the number of dwelling units shall be provided for each structure used or designed to be used for such purposes which are constructed hereafter. The parking facilities may be required indoors or outdoors.

Three alternative methods are listed for placement of the parking facilities. They may either be located in the building, beneath the yards or courts, or in the rear yard of the building.

Further stated that these garages shall be for the use of the tenants of the building. "No building permit will be issued unless evidence of future compliance with these provisions is supplied to the issuing authority," it reads.

In addition, penalties of imprisonment and fines are provided by the ordinance for any violations of the provisions.

For the third time since early this summer, Commissioners drew out all bids for the new addition to the Town Garage on William Street. Commissioner Smith moved that the bids be rejected because sufficient money is not on hand to cover the cost of construction.

Local Man Loses Pants In Tuesday Night Theft

Russell MacEachern, of 384 Joramene Street, is beginning to wonder if it pays to take his trousers off at night before going to bed. Tuesday night, MacEachern went to bed after he had hung his trousers over a chair standing next to a bedroom window.

The next morning when MacEachern awoke, his trousers were gone. MacEachern discovered his trousers were lying on the ground outside the window.

MacEachern called the police, who came to the scene and reported that a prowler had apparently forced the screen open during the night, reached in through the window, and removed the trousers.

Although the trousers were recovered, MacEachern reports the thief took his wallet which was in a pocket, containing $40, drivers license, and other papers.

Chief White, in a special Fire Prevention Week news item, urged all mothers and fathers to be certain that their children, especially the youngest ones, are always in good hands.

"Never leave your children alone, even for a few minutes," he pleaded. "You take a terrible risk that your child will be trapped and helpless to escape a fire or any other emergency in your absence."

The Chief stressed that such a danger is not at all farfetched. A recent study by the National Fire Protection Association brought out the fact that young children alone and helpless account for one out of every three child fire victims, he said.

"If you must leave the house always take the children with you or leave them in the care of a responsible person both physically and mentally able to save them in an emergency," Chief White advised.

Chief White, in a special Fire Prevention Week news item, urged all mothers and fathers to be certain that their children, especially the youngest ones, are always in good hands.

Plans are progressing for one of Belleville's biggest annual events, Veterans' Day parades this year, according to Nicholas Raimo, chairman of the marching units and bands committee of the newly created Veterans' Council. Date for the parade has been set as Monday, November 12, with no alternate date decided upon in case of rain.

Raimo said that several area bands have already been invited to participate in the parade and that he was awaiting their acceptance. He also stated that his committee would contact local businesses and individuals to see if they would sponsor floats in the parade.

Leo Horan was named in charge of a committee to invite all town civic and social units to participate in the festivities.

Schwartz Finds Law Has Answer To Most Problems

By Rita Knoll

Visitors to sessions of the board of education, may have noticed a man who usually remains in the background. On occasions, he will offer an opinion, not personal, but legal, as Max Schwartz is the group's legal consultant.

Although Mr. Schwartz was born in Hoboken (a fact which he won't admit except under pressure) he is practically a native of Belleville. He attended School No. 3 and was a member of the first graduating class of Belleville High School, which had its commencement exercises in the town's first high school building. While in high school, he was second baseman on the school's team.

Still interested in sports, Mr. Schwartz now confines his active participation to golf, where he shows well both in and out of the clubhouse with professionals. In a less active sport, Mr. Schwartz has played championship bridge, and has competed in state tournaments.

Considered Expert

Considered an expert in the law of public education, Mr. Schwartz also specializes in the laws of zoning, matrimony, estates, and business corporations. "I am not an exacting and analytical profession," he said, "in fact, I now find myself being born in Hoboken (a fact which he won't admit except under pressure) he is practically a native of Belleville. THE LAST CALL TO REPAIR

Fall is the logical time to repair your home. Winter storms, extreme cold, just the wear and tear of time will work havoc to your home or property without that protective coat of paint or that water-tight roof.

Whatever the needs, repairs should be taken care of now before fall rains and the winter blizzards. Delay only increases the ultimate cost next spring.

Belleville Wants This One Very Much

When Coach Ed Berlinki sends his charges against West Side tomorrow afternoon at Municipal Stadium they will be fired up like they have never been fired up before. He wants his boys to bring back a victory very much after the Blue and Gold went down to their third successive defeat at the hands of arch rival Nutley High, 13-0, after holding the Maroon scoreless for three periods.

The Bellboy line played a great game against Nutley until time started to tell in the final quarter. During the first half of action the much heralded Nutley attack was held to a paltry 37 yards on the ground.

Belleville, however, lost its ideal opportunity just before the end of the first half when a blocked Maroon punt put the ball on the Nutley one-yard line with four downs to go. The Blue and Gold, did nothing when a little yard or two was needed. Twice the backfield runners fumbled the ball but managed to recover the pigskin.

It is useless to so use the word IF; it is probably the most used word in the dictionary but actually means little, however, IF Belleville had fumbled that touchdown the complexion of the game might have taken a completely different course. Two plays later the half ended and the Bellboys would have gone into the dressing room with a one-touchdown advantage. They would have been in a much better frame of mind, whereas the pressure would have been on Nutley to fight back.

The Maroon Raiders tallied their first touchdown just after the start of the final period and it took a former Belleville High player, Roy Lupinacci, to turn the trick. Now a resident of Nutley, Lupinacci recovered a fumble to turn the tide.

Berlinki took a big gamble with the score 6-0 in favor of Nutley and about five minutes to go in the game. Belleville had the ball on its own 36-yard line and coached about four yards to the first down. The Bellboys gambled on fourth down and failed. That helped set Nutley's second touchdown and iced the final outcome.

As the result of dropping the 13-0 decision the Varsity Club-Nutley Third Half Club trophy will be retained by Nutley High for another year.

Tomorrow's game against West Side promises to be a real thriller right down to the final whistle as the Blue and Gold forward wall strives to halt the offensive attack of West Side. The Newark team is one of the better outfits in the City League and is currently perched in first place with two victories as its main strategy.

West Side holds a half game margin over Barringer in the Newark race for team honors. Last Saturday they took undisputed possession of first place with a hard earned 7-0 victory over rival East Side.

Crystal Gazing

I'm way behind the eight-ball with no prospects of even getting off the ground if the first three weeks of crystal gazing is any criterion. That crystal ball of mine is just about ready to be junked. I think by using my lucky silver dollar I would be much better off. This past week my average stumped to a new low. The way things are going I will be very lucky to get back up to the 700 mark. Right now it is at a low 607, a drop of 25 points in one week as I called only five of nine games correctly. Since the start of the grid campaign I have nailed only 17 of 28 frays on the nose. Well, here I go, and this time I even have my fingers crossed.

Montclair to defeat Nutley. As much as I would like to go out on a limb and predict an upset in this game, it just doesn't seem in the books. Both teams will enter the game undefeated but Montclair has one of its highest scoring machines in recent years, and that's a tough mark to beat when you consider the Mountie squads of past seasons. In three games Coach Clay Anderson's boys, led by twin halfbacks Richie and Ed, and quarterback Ray Festa, have recorded the unbelievable total of 129 points for an average of 43 points per outing. In the three contests the Mounties have failed to score less than 41 points and last week encountered previously undefeated Kentucky. The score of that game was 41-0. It will be an up-hill battle for the Maroon Raiders. Nutley will probably field the strongest line that Montclair has seen so far this year, but the Maroon attack will have to be clicking on all cylinders to take this one.

Belleville to squeeze by West Side. Belleville's veteran line played a good game against Nutley for most of the game. If the offensive attack gets rolling and fumbles are kept to a minimum the Blue and Gold will capture their first victory of the campaign. West Side is one of the better teams in the City League.

Barringer to trounce Weequahic. This will be an easy one for the Big Blue as they continue in their quest for the City League championship.

Seton Hall to lace Central. The High Streeters can't seem to get moving at all. They were routed by South Side, 25-0, last Saturday.

Columbia to wallop Orange. This will be a big anniversary game for Orange but it will do little to bring home a victory. Columbia, with Bob Schue calling signals and doing the passing, registered a very impressive 27-12 victory over highly rated Morristown. Orange even lost to Irvington last week.

East Side to edge South Side. Give me East Side in this tight City League fray with only a point or two expected to be the difference.

East Orange to romp over Irvington. The Panthers were held to a 7-7 stalemate with West Orange a week ago but will make up for it when they face the Camptowners. Irvington finally showed a little sign of life when they edged Orange, 20-18. It was the first Irvington victory in three years but I doubt very much if they will amass a two-game winning streak.

Clifton to clip Snyder. The Mustangs provided the biggest surprise last week when they trounced previously unbeaten Bloomfield by a one-sided 40-0 score. The Mustangs will have little trouble as Roger Fardin does the quarterbacking and George Telech carries the "mail".

Kearny to nip West Orange. The Cardinals will have blood on their faces after taking it on the chin at the hands of Montclair. This game shapes up as a tight battle with little expected to separate the two squads.

Belboy Gridders Drop Third Game To Nutley, 13-0

Fumbles Halt Blue And Gold Scoring Opportunities; Raiders Score Twice In Last Period

by Dave Thaler

Trying for the third time to register their first victory of the season Saturday, the Blue and Gold lost to Nutley when the Maroon Raiders scored twice in the last period. Belleville had its golden opportunity as the first half neared its end, but fumbles cost them dearly, enabling Nutley to successfully defend their goal line after the Bellboys had the ball on the one-yard line and four opportunities to score.

The game was a battle of the lines. Neither team was yielding much yardage, and fumbles were numerous. Belleville was in its own territory during the first quarter, with a fumble intercepted pass twice stalling attacks that had just begun to look promising.

Nutley was threatening to score throughout the period, but their aerial attack was not functioning, thus preventing them from breaking the game open.

As the period ended, the Maroon Raiders were on the march. But an incomplete pass and a 15-yard penalty killed the drive.

Can't Move Ball
Belleville would not do anything with the ball after Nutley had to punt, but Lou Long, the Blue and Gold's punting artist, got off a 50 yard kick, putting Nutley in their own territory.

The Maroon and White got as far as the own 24 and were forced to punt. The kick could not be gotten off, however, as Al Hilla threw himself in the path of the ball, blocking the kick and sending the ball rolling towards the goal line. Hilla was on the ground and coaches about four yards to the first down. The Bellboys gambled on fourth down and failed. That helped set Nutley's second touchdown and iced the final outcome.

As the result of dropping the 13-0 decision the Varsity Club-Nutley Third Half Club trophy will be retained by Nutley High for another year.

Makes Gain Against Nutley

Now that the Yankees have finally won the World Series, football can have the spotlight for itself. Appropriately enough, the heavyweight teams of the Football League will go running into action tomorrow morning. At 9:00 the Bears will play the lightweight teams, the Kiwanis and the Elks, and play each other. In the afternoon the other two heavy teams, Federal Industry will play the Tigers while in the second game, with the lightweight being featured, the Lions will play the Varsity Club.

"Wait till next year!" is what they said and apparently they're waiting was well worth it. Last Saturday the Varsity Club beat the Kiwanis. A year ago the Varsity Club, although potentially strong, failed to come through and lost every game. However, this year it was a different story. The Varsity Club played a strong team game, and defeated the Kiwanis 21-0. Although the Kiwanis lost, they showed that they've got what it takes and would have a very successful season.

In the other game on Saturday Elks defeated last year's champions, the Lions. Even though they downed the Lions the teams are so equal that a return game might have a different outcome. One of the most enjoyable sights Saturday, besides the game, was the twirlers and cheerleaders. The girls, who received 500 new uniforms, were all dressed up in their new uniforms and virtually stole the show.

One Man's Opinion

It Will Take More Than The Return
Of The Saar To Germany To Bring A
Federation Of Western Europe

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

Somehow, I could not get excited this week about the news from Paris that on the occasion of a meeting there of the Western European Union, France and West Germany signed a new Saar treaty providing for the reincorporation of the coal-rich industrial territory in the Reich. I had a feeling that I was seeing an old film for the second time. In reality I was.

Once before, on March 1, 1935, I had stood on the town square of Saarbrücken and watched the French customs agents leave and Hitler's new German "constabulary" march in to take over the Saar in the name of the Nazi Reich in conformity with a plebiscite which had been held in that troubled state which lies between the Reich and France. In that plebiscite, on January 13, 1935, which I had also watched, 98 per cent of the Saarlanders went to the polls and 90.3 per cent of them declared for reunion with Germany, 0.4 per cent for annexation by France and 8 per cent for autonomy under the League of Nations.

Since Paris despatches this week try to picture the new Saar treaty as a starting point for a possible future federation of Western Europe let me recall what actually happened when, once before 21 years ago, the Saar was returned by France to Germany.

I remember Adolph Hitler saying that March day, in 1935, that with the return of the Saar to the Reich, the last roadblock between the arch enemies, France and Germany, had been removed. He no longer had any claims against France. As far as he was concerned, there could be only peace with mutual trust and good-will.

Hitler's Strategy Of Lies

That was on March 1, 1935. About a fortnight later, on March 16, 1935, I was back in the Rhineland for the United Press. I was without warning, had broken the Versailles Treaty clause restricting Germany to a token army of 100,000 men, by ordering the start of conscription and the expansion of the German army, the creation of an air force and the enlargement of the navy to include forbidden subs.

France protested bitterly, but found no backing. A month later, London, without letting France in on her secret negotiations with Hitler, signed an agreement with the Führer consenting to an expansion of the German fleet provided its tonnage did not exceed 35 per cent of the tonnage of the British fleet at any time.

Then, exactly one year later, on March 7, 1936, I rushed back to the Rhineland when Hitler tore to shreds the last remaining chapter of the Treaty of Versailles and also tore up the Locarno Pact in the process by marching his troops back into the demilitarized Rhineland. I saw him move in on the west bank of the Rhine from which Germany had been banned by Woodrow Wilson.

The strategic position of the Saar at the crossroads of Europe is shown on this map. All of the Saar, farms, factories and towns, stands on a bed of soft coal, the richest coal reserves in all Europe.

Lloyd George and Clemenceau at Versailles.

And War Came

Three years later, on September 3, 1939, Hitler after having marched into Bohemia and into Poland was at war with the West, once again. And that is why I am skeptical of the hope which Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and French Premier Guy Mollet expressed in Paris, this week, that the return of the Saar to the Reich will open a new era of rapid European integration. Hitler is dead, but Domitius was released from prison last week. Germany will not forever be divided.

The Western European Union, to which Adenauer and Mollet dedicated their new Saar treaty, is a seven-nation alliance, concluded in 1954, as the symbol of reconciliation of France and Germany as neighbor countries with a common destiny. The Saar treaty, providing for reincorporation of the industrial border territory into Germany, is expected. Adenauer and Mollet said to mark the end of a controversy that has poisoned French-German relations for generations.

Torn Down Internationalization

The new Saar agreement was the end result of a plebiscite held October 28, 1955, in which the Saarland's 1,000,000 inhabitants rejected a chance to attain autonomous status under "European" sovereignty.

To that plebiscite the Saarlanders voted by a 2-50-1 margin against a plan to give the territory an internationalized position under supervision of the Western European Union, with economic links to France maintained.

That vote terminated France's ten-year effort to detach the frontier region from Germany permanently. Subsequent negotiations sought only to fix the terms of France's withdrawal from the 91-square-mile territory occupied in 1945.

In exchange for permitting the Saarland to be reincorporated into Germany on January 1, 1957, France obtained these commitments and concessions:

French industrial and financial interests will be able to liquidate their position in the Saar gradually during a three-year transition period. France is authorized to extract 60,000,000 tons of coal in the next 25 years from the Warndt mines, which are reached by shafts sunk across the border in French Lorraine.

West Germany is committed, in addition, to deliver another 24,000,000 tons of coal to France in the period 1962-82.

French currency now circulating in the Saar, the equivalent of about $100,000,000, will be converted to Deutsche marks at the official rate of 85 francs to the mark. This was the most troublesome problem in the negotiations. Bonn had insisted on conversion at the more advantageous free rate of 73 to 1.

West Germany is to pay France an undivided amount, through the French Government to Saarlanders in 1945.

The Moselle River, a waterway linking the Rhine with the French industrial region in Lorraine, is to be developed into a commercial waterway by the two governments. The canalization project, which will give Lorraine ready access to Ruhr coal supplies and West German markets, is expected to cost $50,000,000 Deutsche marks ($131,000,000), of which West Germany is committed to put up $30,000,000.

Premier Mollet and Dr. Adenauer agreed also on specific steps to broaden the present narrow base of Western European integration. These include the creation of a European atomic development pool, creation of a common market for non-agricultural goods and an arms production pool.
