

Double Sessions At High School Loom Within Next Two Years

Lay Advisory Group Hears Thomas Report

With an announcement that the high school may have to go into double sessions within the next two years, Evan H. Thomas, school superintendent, informed members of the Lay Advisory Committee that the school's enrollment is reaching the critical stage.

THOMAS REPORT SHOWS NEED FOR NEW JUNIOR HIGH

Board Receives Survey It Previously Requested On Projected Enrollment

Belleville's schools stand in definite need of reorganization to include provision for a junior high school, that was one of the conclusions of a survey submitted to Board of Education members by Superintendent of Schools Evan H. Thomas.

Board members had requested the survey from Thomas this summer as a possible basis to start their discussions on necessary revisions in the Belleville school system.

Thomas recently completed a study on the town's school enrollment figures. He stated that although the elementary school enrollment is decreasing, particularly in certain parts of town, the size of the high school enrollment is increasing.

Thomas stated that the high school in the next few years would not doubt result in bulging figures. He stated that the high school in the next few years would not doubt result in bulging figures.

Board Holds Conference As Press Barred

Belleville's Board of Education met in a closed conference on Monday night as a Times-News reporter was not admitted to the meeting.

Later, when questioned, Board president William A. Boyd stated that he feels Board members can discuss problems more freely when they know they aren't going to be quoted in the press.

A Thursday night's Lay Advisory Committee meeting, the Times-News reporter was informed by Boyd that the Board of Education would likely begin a preliminary discussion of school expansion plans at Monday's conference.

It was learned that the discussion of school facilities centered around a survey recently completed for the Board by Superintendent of Schools Evan H. Thomas.

The survey, which discusses enrollment and projection trends, was released to Board members on October 29. Boyd did not want contents of the survey divulged to the press because of what he termed "inefficient" use of what Board members give it proper study.

One of the major topics to be discussed at the closed session was the school system's music program. The Board heard members of the department explain the functions and the workings of the music department in all its aspects.

This is the first in a series of such inquiries which the Board plans to make into all phases of the school's educational departments in order to become better acquainted with the program offered.

The Board also met with heads of the various departments of the school system. The Board will hold a special meeting on Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. at School No. 8. The press and public will be admitted.

High School Students Elect Eisenhower In Poll

Belleville High School students conducted their own election Wednesday morning, and if the results follow the same pattern, President Eisenhower will be re-elected.

Out of 881 students casting ballots, Eisenhower received 837, or 244 for Adlai E. Stevenson. For the Congressional seat, students elected incumbent Peter W. Rodino over GOP candidate G. George Adonizio by a 496 to 325 margin.

Discuss Belleville Floor

This big progress chart enables Frank H. Bridge, Jr., President of the Belleville Lions Club and secretary-treasurer of the Essex Lumber and Supply Company, to visualize features of the proposed Belleville Floor in the new Clara Maass Memorial Hospital as outlined by Stanley G. Brock (left), co-chairman of the Equipment Fund program.

Bridge, an active supporter of the program, discussed it generally with the board of directors of the Lions Club at their meeting yesterday.

New Clara Maass Hospital To Present Many "Firsts" When Structure Is Finished

First New Jersey Hospital To Have Food Tray Dispensing Service; Unique Arrangement Of Windows And Patient Admission Section Noted

Just as the old Clara Maass Memorial Hospital building in Newark proudly lays claim to a great many "firsts" for the accomplishment of which the hospital has attained national prominence, so, too, will the new $5,000,000 structure on the Belleville-Newark boundary continue that tradition.

For example, this 324-bed facility, to be ready for patients early in 1957, will be the first New Jersey hospital to be equipped with a food tray dispensing service that has adopted assembly line methods to disperse, via dumbwaiters, food from kitchen to patient in scant minutes.

Moreover, the hospital's pediatrics wing will be unique in its use of a long line of windows in all rooms on either side of an interior corridor. Through these windows it will be possible for nurses to observe patients located at any point in the 24-bed wing.

Another unusual feature and one that is regarded as an innovation in hospital interior planning is Clara Maass Memorial's arrangement of its patient admission section. In this area a separate entrance leads directly to an admission desk from which the patient is whisked by elevator to the floor to which he has been assigned.

This method assures privacy for entering patients and speeds the hospital's admission procedure. From the ground floor service area with its massive 40,000 gallon fuel oil storage tanks, its huge boilers and its twin 5,500 horsepower pumps.

Record Number Of Voters Expected At Polls Tuesday

Polling Places Will Be Open From 7 a.m. To 8 p.m.; Full List Of Voting Spots Given

Belleville voters are expected to go to the polls in record numbers Tuesday to cast their ballots in one of the most hotly contested presidential races ever conducted. Pre-election predictions range from shouts of a republican landslide in one corner to shouts of a democratic landslide in the other.

Next Tuesday's results will probably show the truth somewhere in between the partisan claims of each party.

In addition to voting for a presidential and vice presidential candidate, local voters will have a voice in electing a representative to Congress from the Tenth Congressional District, three members to the Essex County Board of Freeholders, a sheriff of Essex County, and three county coroners. Two public questions will also be presented to voters on a referendum issue.

The majority of voters will be primarily concerned with the presidential tickets, where they can choose between President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon or the democratic aspirants, former Illinois Governor Adlai E. Stevenson and Senator Estes Kefauver. A number of minor party candidates will also confront the voters.

Rodino Seeks Fifth Term In Congress. The incumbent Peter W. Rodino, Newark democrat, will be seeking his fifth consecutive term, and is opposed by Belleville republican G. George Adonizio, who practices law in Newark.

For county freeholder, each party is running three candidates for the three seats to be filled on the nine man board. Republican candidates are Mrs. Eliza G. Wright, present director of the board, Frank S. Platts, also an incumbent and James A. Curtis, a former freeholder. The democratic candidates are Rev. Raphael B. Schmitt, a pastor of the First Baptist Church, and Mrs. Elizabeth C. Butterfield.

The democrats need two seats to achieve control of the Board. The republicans must win all three seats to gain control.

For local judges, the democrats are running a sheriff from among republicans incumbent Neil G. Duffy, councilman Michael A. Bontempo of Newark, democratic candidate John J. Guidera, police lieutenant Fred K. Guidera of Newark, an independent.

Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. A complete list of local polling places follows: First ward, district 1: School No. 1; district 2: Bigelow Motors; district 3: School No. 2.

RESIDENTS SIGN PETITION AGAINST APARTMENT UNITS

Will Be Presented At Thursday Night Meeting Of Town Commissioners

A petition will be presented to Belleville Town Commissioners at their meeting this Thursday night protesting the proposed garden apartment development which was disclosed after their last meeting.

The plans were presented by Nidley builder Karl Zimmerman for a $500,000 development on a seven acre tract of land between Overall Road and the Third River, adjoining the Forest Hill Field golf course.

Residents met last week in the home of Frank D'Arc, of 217 Fairway Avenue, to plan their protest campaign. D'Arc said this week that all the immediate area is being canvassed for signers to the petition. "So far, one has turned us down," he said.

KIWANIS PASS OUT SAFETY FOLDERS

The Belleville Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the local Police Department, this week is distributing safety folders to every school child in Belleville's public and parochial schools.

The folders are illustrated and contain information on how to behave in suspicious acting strangers. They emphasize the fact that police officers are the friends and protectors of children to report any suspicious behavior to them.

The folder sets up six rules for the children to follow: 1. Never accept rides from strangers.

2. Never accept candy from strangers.

3. Always report any stranger seen loitering where children assemble.

4. Always try to get a description of the stranger.

5. Remember that the police officer is your friend and go to him whenever in trouble.

Mrs. Mead-Mazza Is Stevenson Supporter; Sees Woman President

Chairlady of Belleville's Democratic party, Mrs. Mead-Mazza, of 242 Washington Avenue, Mrs. Mead-Mazza is also a state committeewoman, and holds down a full-time job as administrative clerk at the Essex County Board of Elections.

In Newark, "I've always been a Democrat," Mrs. Mead-Mazza told this week. "I'm poor, and most poor people are Democrats," she explained.

A medium-sized blond woman with short, wavy hair, Mrs. Mead-Mazza admitted that some of her ancestors had belonged to "the other party, but I'm a Democrat, so is my son, and I hope my three grandchildren will be too."

Mrs. Mead-Mazza's son, Edward Mead, is a member of the local police force. Belief in Candidate A first, she said, in her party's candidates was obvious in Mrs. Mead-Mazza's description of them. "I've known them all my life," she said. "I've known them all my life."

COMMUNITY CHEST CAMPAIGN HITS $14,555 MARK

Drive May Be Extended In Order To Surpass Quota Set By Leaders

Belleville's 1957 Community Chest campaign passed the $14,000 mark this week and is on its way to topping the goal set by drive leaders. The exact amount collected by this Wednesday morning was set at $14,555.

The drive, which is being led by William and Chest secretary Mrs. John Keller. The figure represents a little less than one-half the campaign goal of $34,722 set this fall by campaign leaders. However, Mrs. Keller reports that this year's drive is running ahead of last year's collections for a comparable period of time.

Drive leaders are still optimistic about topping the quota set by them and feel that local residents will not let the drive fall short. It may be necessary to extend the deadline for a short period of time, they said, in order to collect the outstanding pledges and have the volunteer workers complete their calls.

A complete breakdown of the money collected to date by divisions follows: special gifts, $7,921; corporate gifts, $5,315; employees, $4,500; Washington Avenue, $2,861; commercial, $772; purveyors, $685; professional, $400; church, $242; and residential, $2,243.

On the voting machines, in the November 6 election, voters will be asked to vote for or against a lengthening of the term of Sheriff from three to five years and for or against an amendment to the State Constitution which will establish uniform rules for assessing homes and property. For tax purposes, so that the basis of valuing the "true value" of taxable property will be the same in all counties.

Assemblyman Alfred N. Beadleston, one of the two co-authors of the constitutional change, said that the change is to prevent chaos in tax evaluations. Beadleston, of Red Bank, who introduced the legislation in Assembly, said that the change is to prevent chaos in tax evaluations.

ST. PETER'S CYO GIVES RADIO PLAY

Historical Play Written
By Martin A. Malague

An original historical play by Martin A. Malague of St. Peter's parish, Belleville, was presented by CYO members from St. Peter's over radio station WAAT on Sunday.

Entitled "Christ of the Andes," the presentation was particularly appropriate because it was given on the Feast of Christ the King. Christ the King is the patron of youth and that feast day every year opens the celebration of National Catholic Youth Week, which will extend through November 4.

Malague's script tells the story of the erection of the world-famed statue of Christ the King high in the Andes mountains of South America. Fourteen CYO members, eight boys and six girls took part in the broadcast. The group was directed by Malague, James Leonard Jr. and Rev. Francis Ignacino, CYO moderator at St. Peter's.

The broadcast is one of a series given every Sunday night over WAAT from October through June by the CYO. General title for the series, in which CYO groups complete for one of the three Archbishop Walsh Memorial Radio Awards given each year, is "Catholic Youth Presents."

Winning parties in the competition, carried on in three divisions based on parish population, will be named at the final broadcast in June by Archbishop Thomas A. Boland. Winners will be determined by write-in votes cast by listeners. Title series is now in its 16th consecutive year on WAAT.

elementary schools with provision for kindergarten and eight years of elementary instruction. Under exception in none of these schools being offered, nor can there be offered with present facilities, the type of instruction considered adequate to the all-around needs of maturing boys and girls. In the upper elementary grades, our present school program falls far short of what today is represented by authorities as the minimum essentials of education for successful living in a democracy.

Thomas' report stresses that both the curriculum and extracurricular programs followed by the upper grades would be strengthened by the adoption of the reorganization plan. "Today's school recognizes that quite as important as the mastery of subject matter is the acquisition of skills, attitudes, and ideals fostered by participation in planned pursuits."

Specifically, Thomas' report recommends the adoption of a plan of organization to include kindergarten, six-year elementary schools, a three-year elementary high school, and a three-year senior high school. He adds that such school organization is advocated by educational experts and has found rather general acceptance throughout the United States.

He suggested that the Board of Education consider the advisability of constructing a new junior high school building. After the defeat of the proposal to build a new senior high school, it appears likely there is some interest in a new junior high school which could be built more economically, the report states. The present high school could then be renovated to provide more adequate facilities, he said.

The report continues: "The modern junior high school aims to promote for each boy and girl the optimal mental, physical, social, and moral development. Our present upper grade program, can in only a very small degree, attain the individualization of instruction possible under a junior high school unit organization."

Thomas further states in his survey that the adoption of a junior high school will provide educational facilities largely nonexistent under the present system of organization. Among these are a well equipped, properly staffed and organized library; science rooms; gymnasium, for a completely adequate program in physical education; industrial arts and home economics units; music and art rooms; and a cafeteria.

In conclusion, Thomas warns, "Last but not least, building a junior high school will avoid a double session program in our high school, a circumstance we are fast approaching."

Seniors Compete For National Merit Awards

On Wednesday, twenty Belleville High School seniors took The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying test.

The National Merit Scholarship Program is a nationwide search for high school seniors who have demonstrated ability and promise to benefit from a college education. Four-year college scholarships are awarded annually. The amount depending upon financial need, and a supplementary grant is made to the colleges while the winners attend. The winners are selected on the basis of aptitude for college work, secondary school achievement, character, and qualities of leadership.

At least $1,000,000 is available each year for scholarships. Last year over 550 four-year scholarships were awarded. The funds are made available by leading manufacturers in the United States.

The principal of the high school selects the most promising five percent of his senior class to take the scholarship qualifying test without charge. Other outstanding students may also take the test. Semi-finalists will be asked to take the Scholastic Aptitude test of the College Entrance Examination Board to be given on Saturday, January 12. In addition, a biography form is completed by the students. Finalists will be selected on the basis of scores on the Scholastic Aptitude test, school recommendations, and biographical information. All finalists will be awarded certificates of merit. The amount of aid will vary depending on financial need from $100 to $2,000. Supplementary educational grants are made to the colleges attended by the winners to help defray the cost of the college of education merit scholars.

SPOTLIGHT on SPORTS

By Bob Gortin

Little Leaguers Show 'em How

If you want to see where football players get their start in the contact sport show up at Municipal Stadium on Tuesday, election day, either in the morning or the afternoon, and you will see the future Belleville football stars in action. I'm talking about the excellent Little League football program sponsored by the Department of Recreation. The program was set up by director Bob Cook and his top aide, Harold "Bud" Brand.

There are over 160 boys taking part in the program in two different divisions, lightweight and heavyweight. There are four teams in each league with each squad being completely outfitted. The uniforms are purchased by various town service organizations and companies and the helmets are owned by the Rec. Department.

The kids really put on a show. Some of the runs and completed passes are hard to believe when you consider the age of the players involved. Then, too, all the grid enthusiasts learn the proper fundamentals and a complete system of plays taught by volunteer coaches who give up much of their spare time.

With players starting out when they are 10 years of age, the Little League program can't help but improve Belleville High School grid teams in future years. If will take about five years but fans will begin to notice a gradual improvement in the brand of ballplayed on a high school level.

The lightweighters are 10 and 11 years of age and weigh between 80 and 110 pounds. The heavyweights are 12 and 13 and go up to 160 pounds. The games are split with the lightweighters playing one half and then the heavies getting in a half in order to give the boys enough rest so that they don't overtire themselves.

If you think the Rec. Department is only catering to the boys, you're greatly mistaken. The girls are also getting into the act with 44 members of the fairer sex taking part as cheerleaders and twirlers during the games.

Four games are scheduled for the Stadium on Tuesday with two games to be played in the morning and two in the afternoon. Starting at 9 o'clock the Lions, defending lightweight champs, will encounter the Varsity Club. This year the two teams have reversed their positions. The Varsity Club, winless a year ago, is now in first place with a perfect 3-0 mark and the Lions are still looking for their initial victory.

The second game will pit undefeated Federal Industries against the Tigers. In the afternoon the Kiwanis and Elks will clash in a lightweight fray and the Bears and Jolly Cleaners will meet head on in the other attraction.

Remember, if you want to see where football players are born, watch the Little Leaguers in action on Tuesday!!!

Football Banquet On November 29

The scholastic football season is still in full swing but the Varsity Club is already making plans for their annual Football Banquet. This year the affair will be held on November 29 at the Robin Hood Inn, in Clinton. The dinner will be the 12th sponsored by the sports minded organization.

Joe Grosch has been named chairman of the banquet. He is a very active member in the Varsity Club and is a teacher in the James G. Shawger School. Grosch has been a Varsity Club member since 1946. He is a World War II and Korean War veteran.

Also named to help on the dinner committee is Bill Chapman. A charter member, Chapman is publicity chairman.

Crystal Gazing

That crystal gazing percentage of mine is slowly closing in on 100 percent. Last Saturday I called seven on the nose but lost out on two with one ending in a stalemate. Proving me wrong once again was Belleville.

Winless in all five starts, the Blue and Gold finally came to life and upset favored Hillside. The other game that knocked down the percentage was East Side's unexpected 33-19 trouncing of Clinton. After six weeks of trying to predict the outcomes of the Saturday games my percentage now stands at .685. Thirty-seven of 54 frays have been called correctly. Let's if I can keep the crystal ball operating.

Nutley to upset Clifton. That's right, I selected the Maroon Raiders to knock the Mustangs out of the undefeated ranks. Clifton is good but they aren't in Montclair's class. The Mustangs have their hands full and just edged East Rutherford, 27-20. Clifton has two of the finest backs in the state in Roger Fardin and George Telesch. Fardin is deadly with his passes. If the Nutley pass defense can stop the strong Clifton aerial attack a major upset will be in the making. Next week Clifton will play host to Montclair but they better not look ahead and forget the Maroon Raiders. I look for the Mustangs to be in real trouble.

Belleville to halt South Side. The Blue and Gold finally broke into the win column with an 18-0 victory over Hillside. Coach Berinski's boys will make it two in succession.

Thomas Jefferson to lace Central. The Highstreeters have been coming around but they will not be able to slow down the Jeff running attack enough to make a difference.

Irvington to squeeze by Bloomfield. Irvington is on the roll. The Campdowners are enjoying their best season in years. The Mustangs are former Pennsylvania Coach Walter Marshall instills a new winning spirit. Bloomfield will be rough but I think that the Campdowners will be up for this one.

Columbia to get by Kearny. The Cougars took it on the chin at the hands of Montclair last week but they will be more in their own class when Kearny comes to town. The Cardinals have been having their troubles the last couple of weeks and can't seem to right themselves.

Milburn to maul Livingston. This game won't even be a contest. Milburn is enjoying a terrific season while Livingston, a new school, is still getting its bearings.

Montclair to romp over West Orange. Leave it to Richie Haines to name the final score in this one.

East Orange to set back Orange. One week Orange is playing and the next week they're down. East Orange has been playing a very steady type of ball.

West Side to trim Weequahic. Barringer is out in front in the City League race but West Side will nail the No. 2 slot. Weequahic will have to be the cellar.

Barringer to edge East Side. The Big Blue will continue to roll over the opposition in the Newark City League.

Belboy Gridders Top Hillside, 18-0, For First Victory Blue And Gold Notches Win With Two Touchdowns Coming In Second Quarter March

By Dave Thaler

After two near-misses, and three not-so-near misses, Belleville captured its first victory Saturday. They displayed a sterling defense, and a tremendous ground attack in defeating Hillside, 18-0. The Belboys scored twice in the second period, staved off a Hillside threat in the first part of the third period, and added icing to the cake in the last period.

The Belboys exhibited an astonishing ground attack in view of the fact that they have experienced no little difficulty in netting over a hundred yards in several of their games. The Blue and Gold backfield netted 207 yards on the ground, being forced to punt only once.

The game started out as a see-saw. Belleville took the kick-off and marched from their 42 to the Hillside 19. Their attack stalled there, and they lost the ball on downs to the visitors. The enemy promptly marched downfield to the Belleville 31. But, their attack, too, ran out of gas and they attempted to punt. However, Belleville back, executed the play he is famous for, and blocked the punt on the Blue and Gold 36-yard line.

This time Belleville was not to be denied. Two running plays netted six yards, and then quarterback Bruce McMiller found Jay Kimble all alone and hit him for 15 yards. Their next play netted the ball on the Hillside 15. Kimble carried on an end - around and got to the Belleville line.

Then came the crisis. Pinnadella got nowhere on an off - guard play, and Belleville fans began to grow impatient. After three of the many times the Belboys had been stopped after they had penetrated the Hillside line, McMiller pulled a beautiful play, faking a hand-off into the line and keeping it on the bootleg. He timed his drive for the goal perfectly, rolling out to the right and going over the line.

The victory was somewhat counterbalanced by the news that Frank "Chicky" Malfatto was through for the season. Malfatto was injured the second time he carried the ball this year, and has never fully recovered. This was to be his year. He was Belleville's break-away threat in his junior year, keeping the defense Pinnadella and Apple. With those two gone, Coach Ed Berinski looked to "Chicky" to pull the inexperienced backfield together. He never got the chance.

This touchdown was achieved only by the efforts of the right-tackle attack. There was but one short pass, from McMiller to Schoner, for seven yards. For the most part it was a succession of short gains on the ground. It took thirteen plays for the touchdown to be scored, but it was the Blue and Gold to take it over from the one. On fourth down the ball was on the Hillside 35. But, McMiller slammed off-tackle for that all-important inch. This time the conversion was attempted by Tony Passarelli, Belleville's kicking specialist. Passarelli's kick was blocked.

Last in Second Period

This touchdown was late in the second period. That was indeed fortunate for Belleville, for the side began to click as time in the first half was running out. They took the ball from 35 to the Belleville 35 in less than four plays. On the last two plays they switched from the single wing offense which they had employed, to the T formation. Their "gold dust twins" Deo and Bass, who carried the ball ninety percent of the time in the single wing were used just as much from the T. Deo was the quarter-back, and Bass was in the full slot. The switch didn't beat the clock, though, and the half ended with the ball deep in Belleville territory.

The visitors took up where they left off in the third quarter. They made their deepest penetration of the day when they reached the home team's 22-yard line. They were thrown for a two-yard loss, and a fourth-and-three situation arose. The ball went to the visitors, and they attempted to convert. However, Belleville's new recruit, a newcomer to the Belleville lineup, smeared him at the line of scrimmage.

Score Third TD

The Blue and Gold led the game in the last quarter. The big run was Davey Schoner, junior end, who scored the TD. Schoner made the biggest gain of the drive on an end-around which covered twenty-six yards. He got good blocking on the play, and it was a pleasure to see how he took full advantage of it.

McMiller then kept the ball when he couldn't get a pass off and converted a potential loss into an 12-yard gain. The ball was on the 12, and Schoner again took the end-around to tally the third and last touchdown.

The victory was somewhat counterbalanced by the news that Frank "Chicky" Malfatto was through for the season. Malfatto was injured the second time he carried the ball this year, and has never fully recovered. This was to be his year. He was Belleville's break-away threat in his junior year, keeping the defense Pinnadella and Apple. With those two gone, Coach Ed Berinski looked to "Chicky" to pull the inexperienced backfield together. He never got the chance.

The Red Cross, American Legion Auxiliary and Montgomery Presbyterian Church are just a few of the groups to which Mrs. Fredericks has and still does belong.

With four children and four grandchildren of her own, Mrs. Fredericks feels the family unit of a utmost importance. Her comment on President Eisenhower's famous leadership of the country was: "A man who can hold his family together, will hold the nation together."

Mrs. Fredericks believes that the intelligent voter will listen to both sides before making up his mind, but of course she hopes that Belleville will "vote the straight Republican ticket."

SWEPT-WING '57 Dodge

How do you describe a car so daring in concept, so revolutionary in features and advances, so rewarding in beauty and performance?

How do you explain its newness when everything about it is new?

On display today is just such a car—the Sweep-Wing '57 Dodge that steps you into the wonderful world of Autodynamics.

What is this wonderful world of Autodynamics? It is a world where everything is new from road to roof to achieve absolute mastery of motion.

Here's what it does in the Sweep-Wing Dodge:

- It unleashes a hurricane of power from a thundering new aircraft-type Super Red Ram V-8 engine that's a spitfire in action!
- It tames a tornado of torque with a new TorqueFlite Push-Button Drive for the greatest get-away on the road!

- It breaks through the vibration barrier with a revolutionary new rubber-mounted suspension system—Dodge Torsion-Air—that features race car torsion-bars. You ride in a "Realm of Silence," isolated from vibration, noise and road shock.
- It is sweep-wing mastery of motion in a sleek, low-slung beauty barely 4½ feet high that has no equal in the way it corners, handles and rides.

You have never seen, felt or owned any car that compared with this new Sweep-Wing Dodge. See and drive it today! . . . now at your Dodge dealer's!

erected there shortly after the war, and recently condemned, and the opening, last year, of a parochial school in the vicinity.

He said that the families which had lived in the barracks had moved to other parts of, or out of Belleville, and these were mostly families which would now have children in elementary school age. Also, St. Anthony's School is now taking a larger part of the student enrollment because every year they plan to add one more grade to their curriculum.

Shaffer, whose committee was also asked to investigate the possibility of finding new quarters for the Board of Education, recommended to Board president William A. Byrd, also present at the meeting, that there might be a possibility of converting maintenance buildings at School No. 8 into Board offices. The Board now is located in the main building of School No. 8. Thomas told committee members that as soon as the Board can find new quarters, this space would be converted into classrooms for the school.

Mrs. Mead-Mazza accounted for the growth of support for the Democratic cause in Belleville, by the rise in industry in the town. "It comes from the increase of hard working people here," she said.

Not confining her time solely to political causes, Mrs. Mead-Mazza also finds time to be assistant secretary to the New Jersey State Funeral Directors. Its headquarters are located in Hoboken, where Mrs. Mead-Mazza spends some two evenings every week. Zimmerer presented his plans to Town Commissioners before last week's meeting and after studying the proposal, Commissioners told the Nutley builder that they could take no action on the plans whatsoever until the matter was first approved by the town Zoning Board of Adjustment. If that body grants a variance after public hearing, then Commissioners would be able to take action.

It was pointed out that only rough study plans had been presented to Commissioners and that no final plans had been drawn up yet. Previously Zimmerer had presented plans for a development of one family homes in the same area, but has apparently not decided what course of action to follow.

As the situation presently stands, Public Works Director Kenneth D. Smith said, Commissioners can take no action on the proposed building plans until after the Board of Variance has

Let's Have the Hudson Politics in Our Essex Court House

WHY IT IS VITAL TO ELECT ALL 3 CLEAN GOVERNMENT FREEHOLDERS

Clean Government Republicans have a majority on the Board of Freeholders, but the Democratic machine-controlled minority continues to obstruct progressive programs through its veto power.

Unless all three Clean Government Republican Freeholder candidates are elected to over-ride this Veto, the progressive program of the Essex Freeholders will be blocked by this politically-manuevered Democratic machine.

The record of these Democratic obstructionists is deplorable. They have held up the pressing drainage program in Bloomfield, obstructed recreational facilities for our children, and vetoed a hospitalization plan for county employees.

They have defeated the appointment of respectable, devoted men such as Dr. Royal A. Schaaf and Dr. William D. Crecca, two of the state's outstanding physicians, to the non-salaried County Welfare Board. They have not represented the people of Essex County—they have taken their orders from the Democratic political machine.

Against this political maneuvering by the Democratic machine, stands the unblemished record of more than 20 years of prudent, progressive and humane administration of Essex County Government by Clean Government Republicans—20 years without a scandal or hint of corruption. Essex County Government is recognized as a model of good government throughout the nation. Our 65 cent county tax rate is one of the lowest in the country.

Defeat the Democratic machine by electing all three Republican Freeholder candidates and put an end to this political abuse of the veto power. Vote Republican and keep the Democratic machine from turning Essex into another Hudson with padded payrolls, "no-show" job holders, extravagant public contracts and lavish spending.

Motor Club Asks For Stiffer Licensing Examinations Here

A three-point program for stiffer licensing examinations to properly qualify new drivers was outlined today by the Motor Club of America (AANJ).

Under present procedure, New Jersey seemingly processes applicants through a licensing mill, according to Bernard Burstein, MCA Safety Director. An undermanned force of motor vehicle inspectors put about 250,000 applicants through a cursory examination each year. As a major step to eliminate this practice, Burstein and the MCA proposed:

1. Applicants for driver licenses must show evidence that they have passed an approved high school driver education course or its equivalent.
2. Before they are issued learner's permits, applicants must take a written test to illustrate their knowledge on state driving regulation. They also should undergo psycho-physical examination to uncover driver defects that could lead to motor vehicle accidents.
3. Road Tests should last 15 minutes at least, and should be given on an appointment basis, whenever the applicant feels he is ready to take the behind-the-wheel examination.

"This program would insure two things," Burstein said. "First, it would indicate that the new licensee has the proper background and attitude. Secondly, it would impress on a new driver, through the time and effort spent in getting a license, that his license was a privilege, and not a right."

"New Jersey's present licensing procedure," Burstein said, "falls far short of accomplishing even these basic objectives. Road tests last but a few minutes, primarily because of the state's limited force of motor vehicle inspectors, already too hard pressed, to properly examine thousands of applicants each year. Without necessary manpower and adequate facilities, it's a physical impossibility to handle so many."

Inspector force in 1942 totaled 110 men and officers. About 80 were used for licensing examinations. "Today," he said, "the force has been increased, but the increase is relatively negligible with 146 men and officers. Furthermore, some 70 are assigned principally to licensing examination, where during 1955 they tried to examine approximately 250,000 applicants."

Burstein said, "that the legislature has a responsibility to correct this extremely obvious defect, by appropriating funds for more manpower and facilities to handle the licensing procedure. This legislative action should be taken now."

Voting Is Your Right

So Exercise It

What do you suppose the inhabitants of Poland or of Hungary, of Rumania or of Czechoslovakia, or of the last republics of Latvia, Lithuania or Estonia would give for your right to vote? If they could vote, do you think they would fail to exercise that freedom? If their right to vote in a free and honest public election was restored to them do you think they would fail to register or fail to vote?

Your vote has the value which you, yourself, attach to it. If it means something to you, vote. If it means nothing to be an American, then don't vote. But blame only yourself if, some day, you share the miserable fate of the Poles, the Hungarians, the Rumanians, the Czechs, the Latvians, the Lithuanians or the Estonians to whom any voice in their own destiny, their own government, their own fate is denied.

Time For Action

In School Crisis

The wheels of progress started turning this week in the general direction of finding a solution to Belleville's school problem. The problem can be simply stated: overcrowded schools and antiquated facilities. The solution is not so easily found.

Suggestions and proposals from various sources will have to be studied thoughtfully by every resident of Belleville, by the Board of Education, by the Lay Advisory Committee, and other interested groups. Frank and open-minded discussions of all aspects of the present school situation, and of projected trends, are necessary so that when a decision is finally reached, it will be reached intelligently, and for the best interests of the town as a whole.

Lay Advisory Committee members this week heard Superintendent of Schools Evan H. Thomas report on the overcrowded conditions and inadequate facilities prevalent in our school system. Thomas shocked many when he flatly stated that double sessions in the high school may be possible within the next two years if steps aren't taken shortly to remedy the situation.

Later in the week, School Board members began a preliminary discussion of school needs and it was indicated that further talks along this line will follow. Used as a starting point in the discussions was a survey prepared for the Board by Thomas Wilch, outlined enrollment trends and pinpointed inadequacies in the educational system.

In his report to the Board, Thomas specifically recommended the establishment of a junior high school program. He suggested that the system be set up with a kindergarten, six-year elementary program, three-year junior high, and three-year high school.

At present, there seems to be three main approaches to solving the problem, and regardless of which plan is favored, there are few who deny the problem exists. The three ideas are:

1. Building of a new senior high school and converting the present building into a junior high to make the 6-3-3 program possible.

2. Building of a new junior high school, probably at less cost than building a senior high, and renovating the present high school to meet the demands of modern education.

3. Ignore the advantages of establishing a junior high school, and make additions and renovations to the present high school.

Each of the three proposals has its advantages and disadvantages. Possibly other proposals will be forthcoming in the effort to solve the problem.

However, above all else it must be remembered that the time for action has come, if indeed it has not already passed. This week's discussions indicate that as soon as a course of action can be settled upon, the action will be forthcoming. In the meantime, it is imperative that frank and open-minded considerations be given to the problem. This is not a political football to be kicked around and every effort should be made to keep politics out of the issue.

A great responsibility rests upon the shoulders of the Board of Education, not only to come up with a solution which will be accepted by the people, but to keep the people informed of their thinking, so that when the time for a decision comes, an intelligent vote can be cast.

Events In Europe
Strengthen The UN

The pent-up bitterness of a decade burst its bounds, in this past fortnight, in the revuls of Poland and of Hungary against Russian domination. In a few short hours, the work of ten years was destroyed. Soviet Russia no longer has an "empire" of subservient vassals. The floodgates of nationalism have been opened. We can expect very soon the same birth of nationalism, even a Communist nationalism, in Czechoslovakia and in Rumania, perhaps in East Germany.

Even this intermediate independence, a half-way mark on the return of Christian peoples from atheism and Communism, has its advantage. It has become necessary for the Kremlin to withdraw Soviet troops from those two countries, leaving security and national defense in the hands of their national governments.

Suddenly, the United Nations becomes terribly more important to them and to us. It was timely, therefore, that all this occurred when the United Nations was observing the 11th anniversary of its creation.

National governments in Poland and in Hungary, even Communist, can be expected to play more positive roles in the UN Assembly than in the past decade. Vassals of Moscow, they were mere puppets in the past, as Soviet delegates pulled the strings. Now we can hope that the Poles and the Hungarians will work for world peace and not for the glorification of the Kremlin.

It was a vindication, too, of the Eisenhower policy because despite the easy lie of Moscow that "fascist agitators" were responsible for both revolts—a lie which was promptly scotched by the governments of Warsaw and Budapest—Washington kept a hands off policy stating only that American aid is available to "freedom-loving peoples who want and can use it". R.E.H.

The H-Bomb As
Campaign Ammunition

There are three standpoints from which to examine the campaign argument over ending the H-bomb tests.

One is the political. So far this has led to confusion and talking at cross purposes. And it is evident that the campaign will neither bring a clear decision of the issue nor eliminate it as a subject of earnest public discussion. Indeed, we must hope that once the election struggle is out of the way new progress can be made toward a bipartisan, factually based solution.

Secondly, there is the military-security approach. This is strongly presented in the White House memorandum. The position in essence is that to halt the tests would risk American superiority in the vital field of nuclear deterrents. The paper contends that detection is uncertain, especially as to smaller H-bombs. Also that the time required for preparing tests means there would be a serious time lag in case one party to a ban broke it.

Further, against ending tests we have the argument that laboratory work cannot substitute for actual testing. This, it is said, is particularly true in trying to develop defenses against big bombs.

There is even one argument that it would be to America's military advantage to stop the big tests now, since the United States would thus retain the relative advantage it now holds through having carried out many times as many tests as any other country.

Finally, there is the humanitarian-diplomatic approach. Advocates of a ban greatly emphasize the air-contamination effects of the tests and contend that the United States could win many friends by pressing toward disarmament in a field where the stalemate over inspection could be bypassed. Opponents declare the contamination danger has been vastly exaggerated and that there is fall-out, too, from small-bomb testing.

Neither side gives much attention to another major factor. A halt in big-bomb tests would do little to remove the specter of atomic war. Whatever its psychological appeal, it would not mean atomic disarmament for anybody, as existing stockpiles are raised sufficient to wipe out most of the world's great cities.

Once removed from the campaign arena, the gaps between the two positions could be greatly reduced. There need not be continued talking at cross purposes about the amount of air contamination or the degree to which development can continue without tests. And there might well be agreement on a factual basis as to what sizes of bombs are detectable. Also as to what, if any, advantage the violator of a ban might gain.

One Man's Opinion

In Withholding Use Of Force In Poland Soviet Russia Refused To Run Risk Of Isolating Herself From Other Communist Lands

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

"Soviet soldiers go home," millions shouted in Poland and in Hungary, this week, as the Communist world turned. The Kremlin was getting some of its own medicine. For many years, in France, in Germany, even in England, demonstrators, inspired by leftwing leaders, shouted: "Yanks, go home."

The loss of Poland and the troubles in Hungary, where things are still in flux, and a greater blow to the power, influence and prestige of Moscow than the loss of the Suez Canal was to London or the break-up of the French Empire in Indochina and in North Africa was to Paris.

The Kremlin has been bested in a long-range test of power by Marshal Tito because the defection of the National Communist regime of Yugoslavia, Gomulka in Warsaw was merely a change of direction. Gomulka, abandoning the road to Moscow, strode defiantly down the "Tito road."

What has happened in Poland, may also materialize in Hungary. It could happen next in Rumania or Bulgaria, in East Germany or in Czechoslovakia, or it could stimulate the nationalist patriot in the last republics of Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia. The Soviet Russian "empire" is shaken; the best that Moscow can hope to do is to save her military alliance of Communist countries, the only one she has left with Red China.

The defection of Poland has shattered the Russian dream of a buffer of border states, friendly to Moscow and Communist-dominated, which could absorb the shock of any possible future attack on the Soviet Union. The friendly buffer states would provide a useful corridor for the mobilization of Russian armed forces. They would be the Kremlin's preferred battlefield, off of Russia's own soil.

Taken By Surprise

There is but one explanation why the Russian Army intervened with its machine guns and tanks in Buda Pest and not in Warsaw. The answer is that the Russians were taken by surprise in Poland and it would have been too apparent to the world outside if the Red Army had gone to work after the Polish National Communist regime had taken over.

In Hungary, it was the Hungarian Communist regime which was taken by surprise. It did not expect the uprising of students and workers and had to allow the Red Army to use its arms against the demonstrators when many of its own units joined the anti-Russian movement.

There was no reason, though, to have been taken by surprise because the recent happenings were brewed three years ago in Czechoslovakia when, in early 1953, the workers at the Skoda plant in Pilsen, rebelled and briefly took over the town. A few days later, just after the idea of June, all of East Germany flamed up.

But as yet the peoples of Eastern Europe did not know that Moscow would be embarrassed to use its military force. A show of Soviet tanks was enough to restore the surface of Soviet control in Czechoslovakia and East Germany.

Knew Eisenhower Watching All was relatively calm through 1954 and 1955. Yet under the calm the ferment was working. Above all, the knowledge was spreading among the peoples of Eastern Europe that individuals and groups were not alone in their distress and their resentment. They knew President Eisenhower was sympathetic to their aspirations.

Marshal Tito, who makes no

The Communist leadership of the satellite countries read the sign of the times. They knew that their people were moving away from them. They recognized, as any politician does, that the time would come when they would have to adjust their own policies to the wishes of their people, or someday perish.

Early in 1955 the government in Poland began to change its policy and personality. It broke the old ties with its own secret policy apparatus and Moscow. Premier Joseph Cyrulowicz took over personal supervision of that apparatus and brought it to heel.

Press censorship was relaxed. Improved diplomatic relations with Western countries were cultivated. Government officials began to talk to Westerners in tones of candor. The old Russian attitude of the Stalin era was laid aside.

The Polish Government tried to solidify its relations with the Polish people without breaking completely with Moscow. The Kremlin, however, was too blind to read the writing on the wall.

Could Have Used Force There must be no question in anybody's mind but that Russia could have crushed the new regime in Warsaw—"strangle Gomulka in its cradle," as Sir Winston Churchill so accurately and so picturesquely put it this week.

Russia has the military potential to take on Poland, Hungary and all the other Communist satellite states at the same time, with one hand tied behind her back in the Far East. She dared not use that strength.

Red Poland had barely 250,000 men under arms. There were 50,000 Russian troops inside of Poland, a half million in East Germany, and many millions garrisoned in Ukraine and other parts of Western Russia. Poland is the keystone of Moscow's carefully built Western defensive arch which anyone might have expected Red Russia to defend at the cost of a war.

That Russia did not use arms to put an end to the Polish defection can be put down as a victory for world opinion.

Gomulka Played Sure

It is quite obvious that Gomulka anticipated that Russia would not turn its machineguns on him. Correctly, he diagnosed the Kremlin's fear of losing face all around the world by using her armies to crush a nationalist rebellion, even a Communist revolt against the Kremlin's doctrine of Muscovite leadership of world Communism.

Had Russia used her armies to crush the nationalist rebellion in Warsaw, what would have happened?

bombs about the fact that he is a Communist, he sponsored and promoted the doctrine that there are "many roads to Socialism."

He took his own road, the high road of national Communism. Now Poland and Hungary, seeing that Tito succeeded in holding his own against the Kremlin and at the same time, received substantial shipments of American goods and American gift materials, decided to follow the "Tito road" to Socialism.

Tito's Hand Strengthened

Tito could have done nothing but condemn Moscow had the Russians used their overwhelming might to crush another Communist government. It is certain that Red China and India would have condemned such a dangerous precedent, indeed, have been difficult for India to hold to her role of a neutral if Poland had been crushed by Russian arms.

Against such overwhelming odds, Moscow did nothing to overthrow Gomulka in Warsaw. It may try, in coming weeks, to unsettle him from within or may try to convert him to become a tool, but, certainly, no Russian gun will be fired to get rid of him.

Russia could not run the risk of isolation. Her alliances with China and the Communist countries of Eastern Europe are too important. Those ties, along with India's benevolent neutrality and the reduced strain in relations with the West, all would have been ruined by a resort to arms.

There is plenty of evidence that Bulgaria and Khrushchev had ample warning of things that are about to happen in Warsaw and it was to try and defeat them that Tito was called to Moscow and then sat with the Russian Communist leaders in the sunshine at Yalta. Tito is now known to have announced that he would not lift a finger to deter the Poles or any other Communist from following the "Tito road to Socialism."

Applauds Towards Germans

Yes, since they had that advance warning, it is hard to understand how the Russian Foreign Office concocted the air note which it sent, last week, to Bonn regarding Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's German reunification can come about only after the (West) German Federal Republic has abandoned its military alliances with the West and found "a basis of cooperation" with the (East) German Communist People's Republic.

The language of the Soviet note is so cold, hard and un-diplomatic that it, obviously, was written before the happenings in Poland. If the Kremlin was to send a note to Bonn today, it certainly would have been written more graciously because it is obvious to the rest of the world that Moscow has suffered the greatest political defeat of her Communist history.

It is our conclusion, after reading the text of the Soviet note to Bonn, that Moscow does not want to talk about reunification now. Moscow is willing to wait until after the West German elections in September, 1957, with obvious hopes that Adenauer will not head the government thereafter.

Both the contents and tone of this note are a repetition of the attitude the Soviet union adopted at the second Geneva Conference and could be summarized in the words of Khrushchev, in East Berlin, when returning to Moscow at that time: "We shall not surrender the (East) zone so long as Bonn sails under the pinion of Americanism."

Prospects for a solution of the German question would also be considerably improved if the three Western powers cooperated in a rapprochement toward understanding and, that these two states
