NEW HOSPITAL IS NAMED IN HONOR OF JERSEY NURSE

Clara Louise Maass Born In Orange; Gave Life As Volunteer In Fever Test

Clara Louise Maass, the New Jersey girl who gave her life as a volunteer in a great scientific experiment that helped rid a large part of the world of the scourge of yellow fever, is dramatically memorialized in the new $5,000,000 hospital that bears her name. Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, a 324-bed facility located on the Newark-Belleville boundary, will be placed in service Sunday, August 18, when patients will be transferred from the old hospital in Newark.

Heroic Nurse Maass, a daughter of Robert and Hedwig Maass, was born June 28, 1876. It is thought that the place of her birth was 425 Valley Street, Orange, but it is definitely known that at the age of one year she was living with her parents at 726 Sanford Street, East Orange. Subsequently the family lived in Norfield (now Livingston), and then later to East Orange where they lived at 344 Main Street. She was educated at the Norfield school and

RO-LI SUITABLE TO NEW & OLD ALIKE IN SUMMER HUTCH

Youngsters Eager To Learn While Veterans Continue Where They Had Left Off

Campers, at Ro-Li, old-timers at the stuff and newcomers, seem to be enjoying the summer to its full this year. To those used to the greatest of living close to Nature, such as Paul and Charles Shapiro, John Wolthmann, Bruce and Gary Walker, Jim and Jeff Fitzgerald, Kitchener, Bob Keener, and George and Joe Frank, Nick Candura and Leonard Brandman, getting back out so that they would have a chance to eventually go to all.

Always one of the most popular places at camp is the waterfront. Dan Santanelli and David Bukur, who are both veterans, are each other at the front. Tom Speziafero was also working with the swimming instructor with Robert Paterson and Robert Gilchrist. He'll probably make it by the end of the season.

Richard Sylvester was more interested in taking out a canoe.

The Face Is Familiar:

An Interested, Alive Person Family Service Receptionist

Those who have had occasion to seek the services of the Family Service and Child Welfare of Belleville have already had an opportunity to meet perhaps that with Mrs. William Lapham of 19 Fairway Avenue.

She is the very lovely looking lady who acts as receptionist-secretary in the offices of the Family Service at 280 Washington Avenue. Her work there began a few years ago when she was a board member of the organization. Illness and resignations left the staff empty and Mrs. Lapham took over the position. When the staff was reorganized she remained in the capacity of office secretary. This was in 1954.

As she is very fond of children she finds the work extremely rewarding. Among her duties there is the arranging for children to attend summer camps. As various camps offer "campships" and money is allotted by the Salvation Army, many children who otherwise would not have the opportunity, are enabled to have a summer fun. From "campship" application from such camps as Bonnie-Bride and Ro-Li, Mrs. Lapham arranges for the children to "fill the bill".

There are also special camps of the care of heart disease. Many of these opportunities are solely dependent upon special designated gifts.

By the way, the Family Service and Child Welfare Service of Ensign Louis A. Noll, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Noll, the former, a former Belleville Commissioner, of 120 Rutgers Street, Nutley, was recently transferred from Port Security School, Groton, Conn. to the Coast Guard Base in Gloucester.

At the present time he is taking specialized courses at the University of Maryland, in College Park, and up on completion of the courses will return to his base.

Noll is a graduate of Montclair Academy and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Commerce from Washington and Lee University. Following his graduation he entered the Officers Candidate School at the U.S.C.G. Academy in New London, Conn.

Fact Sheet On Clara Maass Maass Memorial Hospital

Bricks used in the construction of the new Clara Maass hospital totaled 500,000. With this quantity 50 one-family houses could be erected.

The building, supported by 28,000 feet of piling, contains 1,000 tons of structural steel, 250 tons of reinforcing steel and 5,000 yards of concrete.

The building contains 50 miles of conduit and piping. The new wing has been designed to withstand the shock of an atomic blast or of a design load five times greater than the ordinary load. Walls are composed of four inches of brick, one inch of air space and eight inches of reinforced concrete. In this wing are located the surgical and maternity suites.

The two 25-ton boilers with which the building is equipped can produce enough steam to warm 40 one-family houses.

The building is fireproof, water-proof and has been acoustically treated for quiet.

Ground was broken in April, 1955, and construction was begun soon after. The site is a knoll on a 17-acre tract overlooking Branch Brook Park. The cornerstone laying ceremony took place on September 20, 1956. Contents of the cornerstone include a list of contributors, a history of the hospital, a biography of Clara Maass, copies of invitation to the dedication ceremony, a Bible, copies of newspapers, Eisenhower and Stevenson campaign buttons.

Mechanical equipment includes an emergency generator to give the hospital its own electrical supply in an emergency.

As protection against air-raided explosions in the air-conditioned surgery suite, switch fixtures are encased in three-eighths inch steel and view boxes for X-ray pictures are of heavy gauge steel and shatterproof glass.

There is direct voice communication between each patient's bed and nurses' stations. Oxygen is piped to every corner of the room. This hospital is the first in New Jersey to be equipped with automatic "trays" for patients' food service. The system uses assembly line methods to dispense, via dumbwaiters, food from kitchen to patient in seconds.

The hospital's pediatric wing is equipped with windows in

COLONY CLUB HAS ITS ANNUAL PICNIC

Merola Chairman Of Outing To Forest Hill Park, Sunday

Belleville's Colony Club held its annual picnic, Sunday, July 28, at Forest Hill Park off Route 25, and over 100 St. Anthony's Orphanage youngsters were in attendance. Chairman of the proceedings was Daniel Merola, 528 Jonathan Street, who attended with his wife. Helping with the cooking of the food were Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rossi, 23 Lake Street; Mrs. and Mrs. Louis Bruno, 628 Jonathan Street; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lovino, 174 Union Avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Galletta. The menu consisted of cake, milk, lamb chops, frankfurters, watermelon, peaches, cracker jacks, soda, ice cream, etc., which were served all day long at the guests' respective tables.

Much of the food was left over, and that was donated to the nuns at the orphanage.

LUCY SEEKS AID FROM SEN. FOX ON TOLLGATE ISSUE

Asks State Senator To Intervene On Question Of Garden State Tollgate Removal

Highway Commission over the removal of the Essex County park system by acquiring and developing for combined recreational and flood control purposes both banks of the Third River from Harrison Street to Joralemon Street.

By letter, Commissioner Lucy pointed out to Senator Fox that, although Mrs. Katharine White, chairman of the Authority, promised to answer the complaints and suggestions of representatives of the three towns at a conference held in Bloomfield Town Hall on May 24, she has not communicated with the towns since.

"Six weeks is ample time for the Authority, its engineers and legal experts to have studied the proposals advanced at the Bloomfield conference and to have filed a reply," Commissioner Lucy told Senator Fox in asking the intervention.

Lucy pointed out to the Times-News that the Authority has an autonomous status, beyond the

Guided Tours Into New Building Held Monday; Medical Staff Chief Guides Mayor And Wife

"The hospital in the park" opened its inner doors last Monday for the first time to the public—and the last, for some.

Shown through the new Clara Maass Memorial Hospital by Dr. William D. Crecca, chief of the medical staff, Mayor Padula and Mrs. Eliza G. Wright along with other local dignitaries were greatly impressed with the efficiency, and authority which went into the construction. Other guests were conducted by Red J. Volunter, workers. On extended tours through the new hospital.

The hospital is realized on an assembly-line idea of efficiency, happily escapes the aridity which normally follows such a plan. Pastel tinted walls, varying from room to room; well-decorated walls as in a garden; "ports" serve to enliven the hospital so that it may be the patient's "happy away from home".

The old practice of oxygen tents is eliminated by the installation of oxygen outlets in each room. From these outlets oxygen may be pumped in at any time without running without possible adverse psychological effect upon the patient.

Extremely impressive are the hospital's 11 solariums. From these one may view Branch Brook Park, Newark and the New York skyline. In addition, the solariums give an exciting effect of a high Tibetan plateau. The land and activity below seem barren.

Third River Park Plan Supported By Passaic Planners

J. Moore, Consultant To Planning Board, Backs Nutley-Belleville River Park Proposal

In a report to the Town Planning Board, this week, the Passaic Valley Citizens Planning Association, as professional consultants, gave wholehearted support to the efforts of Nutley and Belleville to obtain an extension of the Essex County park system by acquiring and developing for combined recreational and flood control purposes both banks of the Third River from Harrison Street to Joralemon Street.

John Brewer Moore, the Association's associate planner and Planning Board, stressed in his report that with the loss of the 37 acres of the Passaic riverbank park in the two towns by the sale to the State Highway Department, Nutley and Belleville will be woefully lacking in adequate recreational area unless the Third River banks are preserved.

"As consultants to the Belleville Town Planning Board we would like to endorse the plan to preserve the Passaic riverbank park by acquiring and developing the valley of the Third River," the Planning Association report stressed.

Same Acreage Pointing out that the acreage of the proposed new park would about equal the combined area of the Passaic riverbank park in the two towns, the Association's report, as relayed by Moore, concluded:

"The Third River park should be extended southward from Harrison Street to Joralemon Street, taking up all available land east of Prospect Street. Our estimate is that this would approximate ten acres in Nutley and twenty in Belleville.

"This proposed park, like several other in the Essex County park system, would serve both a recreational and a flood control purpose. Much of the area suggested in Belleville was once lake bottom. Like Branch Brook Park, this proposed park is already contained in some areas, merely be a scenic walkway along a stream.

Padula Continues Pressing Own Plan To Commission

Representatives Of Commission And Park Planning Consultants To Be Shown Land On August 19

Mayor Isadore J. Padula said Saturday that he will continue to press for the Essex County Park Commission to develop about 12 acres south of Joralemon Street near the Third River to replace Passaic River parkway land lost to the Rt. 21 freeway.

He said representatives of the commission and its park planning consultants will be shown the land on the morning of August 19. The officials will examine land in Nutley the same afternoon. The land to be studied includes some 25 to 30 acres along the Third River in Nutley and Belleville which has been proposed for park use by Nutley officials, in addition to the 12 acres mentioned by Padula.

Prospects for acquisition and development of the property were discussed by Padula and his staff, deputy engineer for park commission, after Padula suggested that the commission for flood control on the portion of the Third River that runs through Belleville.

The engineer retorted that it had not been the practice of the commission to acquire land in areas of land for park use and that the commission is not "in the flood control business."

Padula said yesterday that "Mr. Whitaker is not the park commission. I have hopes the park commission will still do it." The mayor said he did not make the proposal for flood control alone. "It's a beautiful spot and

One Man's Opinion

By Berlin Declaration, Russia Is Told That Peace In Europe Depends Upon Reunification Of Germany By Free Elections

By Ralph Eric Heinzen

The same Germany which twice in a quarter of a century provoked World Wars I and II, in a search for "Lebensraum", has become the keystone of our anti-Communist defensive arch in Europe.

The Berlin Declaration, signed last weekend in Schoenberg Borough Hall, seat of the West Berlin Administration, left no doubt that Russia was peering in Europe the must agree to the reunification of the two zones of Germany under a new all-German government chosen in free elections.

Just 19 years ago this month, at Munich, Hitler's glory reached its peak. He gambled on peace and won the biggest diplomatic swindle of all time. Germany was arming and strutting, the most powerful military force any single nation of Europe had devised. Then Germany was crushed by the force of arms of nine enemies.

Events have reached a full cycle. That same Germany, humbled and prostrate in the worst defeat any modern nation ever has suffered, in now the hope of the anti-Communist world. France and Britain, just their own great military might have ceded their places to the new armed force of Western Germany. NATO is today chiefly dependent on German and American might and, as time goes by, Germany's role will increase with our declines.

For a decade since Hitler killed himself in his bomb shelter under the Chancellery in Berlin, Moscow has held Germany in check by a policy of "divide-and-rule". With no regard for commitments, Soviet Russia installed a puppet regime in East Germany and by controlling Berlin sought to dominate Berlin.

That there is now behind us. West Germany has prospered and armed herself. East Germany is poor and weak. Germany has come when Bonn is able to sign a German Declaration, along with the delegations of the United States, Britain and France, telling, not asking, the Russians the terms of peace on Russia's long Western frontiers.

The Berlin Declaration, which is certain to become one of the historic documents of this age, sets down in 12 points the terms of peace in Europe—on Bonn's terms.

The 12 points were:

1. The German people should be allowed to determine their own way of life and to provide for their security with their own hands.

2. German reunification remains the responsibility of the four great powers as reaffirmed by their heads of government in Geneva July, 1955.

3. International tension over the division of Germany can be ended and a European settlement achieved only if the nation is united in freedom.

4. An all-German government must be freely elected if it is to make pledges that will be trusted by other countries and honored in the future by the German people.

5. The one way for such a government to be informed is by free voting for a new national assembly.

6. The freedom and security of a united Germany should not be prejudiced by the imposition of neutrality or demilitarization.

7. To take account of the security interests of Germany's neighbors, the German people should have in mind arrangements such as their Geneva offer of a Treaty of Assurance on the Reunification of Germany.

8. The people of a reunified Germany could determine whether they wanted to join the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

9. If the New Germany did choose to join the Atlantic alliance, the Western powers would be prepared to offer "assurances of a significant and far-reaching character" to the Soviet Union and other East European countries.

West Germany's strategic industrial and military importance provides the real background to the London disarmament talks. Both sides know that is Germany goes so Europe may go. Tremendous political consequences will flow from any solution of the German problem.

To the Soviet leaders, an East German treaty to the West might mean the beginning of the end of Moscow's East European satellite system. To the West, Communist West Germany would mean the beginning of the end for the rest of West Europe. A neutralized, reunited Germany could mean the end of the Atlantic alliance as an effective military organization.

The stakes clearly are a great, and the future of Germany is, without doubt, the primary political problem behind the technical discussions now going on in London.

3rd River Park

fanning out from time to time into play areas, tennis courts, basketball and foot ball fields and perhaps a children's model sail boat pond.

"This proposed intermunicipal park is locally a function of the County Park Commission and undoubtedly could be acquired and developed with the aid of the proceeds of the Route 21 sale."

"Both Belleville and Nutley are considerably developed small lot development. Neither town requires more than basically a 50 x 100 lot for a single family home, which by today's regional standards is very low. The future of the Nutley-Northwestern Belleville depends in part on the presence of large public open spaces to compensate for the relatively high population density brought on by small lot development. To appreciate, promote and perpetuate the recreational value of the area involved, an intermunicipal County park of thirty acres or more along Third River is needed."

"To serve the best interests of both the County and the towns involving this proposed park, the park borders, should contain scenic and active recreational areas. Flood plain areas would not only be a way to detract from these other basic parkland values and purposes."

"We consider such integrated development to be both an excellent long range use of public funds and the best illustration of the physical development of the Passaic Valley Region."

at public grammar schools and the public high school at East Orange.

Miss Maass, one of the first graduates of the nursing school conducted by the Newark General Hospital, as the institution then was known, completed her training in the nursing school in 1914. She responded to a call for nurses in the Spanish-American War in the Philippines and later in the United States. She was in Cuba to nurse the sick.

At that time Surgeon-General Sillberg of the U. S. Army had been fevered by the conquest of yellow fever. He and the famous Major Walter Reed agreed to experiment using human beings in a test to prove a theory that a type mosquito spread the fever.

They went to Havana, and it so happened that in 1900 Nurse Maass went to Cuba to nurse the sick.

She volunteered to be bitten by the fever-carrying mosquito suspected as a carrier, in order that she might help to aid the mosquito's knowledge of the disease and to be a better nurse.

She died at the age of 26 on August 21, 1901. It is interesting to note that the opening of the hospital to patients takes place, by coincidence, very close to the sixtieth anniversary of her death.

Miss Maass was the only American to succumb in the test. Her death established the fact that "yellow fever was carried by mosquitoes." From the knowledge gained, Dr. Gorgas was able to clear the tropics of yellow fever, making possible the construction of the Panama Canal.

She was buried in Cuba; but later her remains were returned to the United States and reburied with military honors in Fairmount Cemetery, Newark. The original small stone that marked her grave has been replaced by a memorial of polished pink Milford granite containing a bronze plaque bearing a likeness of the heroic nurse. Subsequently her mother was granted pension by the U. S. Senate.

On June 19, 1952 the hospital's name was formally changed to Clara Maass Memorial.

rooms on either side of an interior corridor. Through these windows it is possible for nurses to observe patients located at any point in the 34-bed wing.

The arrangement of the patient admission section is regarded as an innovation in hospital interior planning. A separate entrance leads directly to an admission desk from which patients are admitted by elevator to his assigned room. This method assures privacy for entering patients and speeds the hospital admission procedure.

There are four elevators and two dumbwaiters. One of the latter is for central sterile supply and the other is for use of the pharmacy.

The hospital is equipped with a central vacuum cleaning system, a water softening system and a laundry in which 600 pounds of soiled linen can be washed each hour. There are giant washers, extractors, dryers and a sheet room. Linen closets are on wheels.

From the second to the sixth floor, the north-south wings provide 140 semi-private rooms and 114-bed rooms.

Quarters are provided on the fifth floor for 12 internes. Between each pair of the six-bed rooms is a tub and shower bathtub.

Two automatically-controlled sterilizers in the central supply department, located on the sixth floor, prepare medical equipment used in the hospital.

Mrs. Perry Dedicates Poem To Clara Maass Hospital

Submitted over the past week was a poem dedicated to the new Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, written by Mrs. Katherine M. Perry, of 468 De Witt Avenue, on behalf of the hospital Guild. It is entitled "Our Haven Of Hope."

Now that our dreams are realized
At long last
And on the surrounding grounds
When day is through
Her shadow she will forever more
Be cast.

We give thanks that our hospital
Is finally built
To lower over her suffering as Though to wreathe them
In a downy quilt.
If just one life through our efforts
Must be saved to save
So happy are we
That just a little of ourselves we Have given.

The Lord for her selected
A lovely location in the park,
You, with the Standard Oil Company,
Ben Alving, might cheer to the song
Of the lake.
And millions of blossoms around her
He will make appear.
To raise those within her know
That there's nothing to fear.
For this must be a bit of heaven
Amidst in their midst.
Making them feel that this that is Called pain
Must surely be much.
There alone she so proudly stands
And to all extends her welcome hand.
Regardless of color, race, or creed
She now is ours if her we should need.

Question: How do present-day teenagers compare with teenagers of earlier generation?

In some aspects they are more mature. In other aspects they are less capable in organizing their own affairs. In most aspects they are just about the same.

William Kintzing, Board of Education member, 395 Union Avenue.

Teenagers of today are more intelligent, they have more facilities available to attain that intelligence (school programs, television, etc.) Today's youngsters get into more mischief which is nationwide. There is not as much discipline in the home, there are no curfews, and more parents are working.

Ernest Arvidson, Former President of the Better Schools Committee, 478 Floyd Street.

They are more mentally advanced due to the influence of radio and television. They aren't as familiar with books, they lack the reading of classic literature. Morally they are about on an even par with teenagers of my day.

Daniel Merola, proprietor of the Community Super Market, 589 Jerusalem Street, member of the Belleville Colony Club.

Actually there is no difference between teenagers of today and teenagers in my day, but there are more of them. With more youngsters available to create, more will be created, good and bad.

Alfred Roemer, retired Public Service Supervisor, 12 Centre Street.

Teenagers are much worse, but the parents are to blame. More Mothers are working, and don't have time to care for their children. The teenager is scientifically in high school, and morally in kindergarten.

Charles Rothman, proprietor of the Bell Spa, 628 Jerusalem Street.

The teenager is too outspoken.

LOUISE LOVE AND PAUL D. KELLY OF LONDON ARE WED

Miss Louise Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allan G. Love, formerly of 154 Smallwood Avenue, now of Lake Mohawk, was married to Paul D. Kelly of London, England. The wedding took place on July 5 at Old First Church, Presbyterian, Newark.

The bride is a graduate of Belleville High School. She attended the University of Wyoming where Mr. Kelly was also a student.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Kelly are employed at the Essex County Hospital. They are at home at 68 Montclair Avenue, Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominico Granese, of 18 Magnolia Street, are the parents of a new baby boy, Dominico II. The child was born on July 16 in Columbus Hospital. Mrs. Granese is the former Doris Mary O'Keefe.

They have no respect for their elders. The music that they like is "dumb", and does not help their mentality.

Mrs. L. H. Eyer, Housewife, 221 Adelaide Street.

Most of them are level headed youths, who are mechanically minded, think straight, and have good judgment. I can judge, though, only my own child and the friends that he is in touch with.

Mrs. Elisha Thigpen, Housewife, 23 Terrace Place.

Today's teenagers are different. When I was brought up, we had to be in the house by a certain time. Today the modern way is to give the teen more freedom. They have too much time, with nothing to do.

I think they're much faster. They are not kept strict as we were. They have a little more freedom; however, times change and we must go along with them. The teenagers of today have places to go where we didn't have them. We were kept more at home with the guidance of our parents.

Orioles Win Saturday Double Header Via 12-10, 4-2 Wins Over E. Orange

Long Sparks Belleville's Triumph In Opener, Singling In Deciding Run In Seventh; Bell And Marks Help Tosies Take Second Contest

Belleville's Orioles copped both ends of Saturday's double-header with the third place East Orange Browns, by 12-10 and 4-2 scores at the latter's home field, to bring their season mark to 9-18, just 2½ games out of sixth place, and 3½ out of fifth. Shortstop Joe Long singled in the O'Brien in the seventh inning of the first contest to hand the 1956 champs their first defeat of the afternoon. Mark's two run double in the first, and Bell's homer with the bases empty in the second sparked the Oriole's second game victory, as Tosies scattered eight hits in achieving the win.

Each team scored two runs in the second inning of the first game, but Belleville jumped ahead with three runs in each of the third and fourth frames.

In the third Long, a .500 first-sacker, Richie Vietti hit first-backtripper off starting pitcher Tony Ray, Diamond, the Oriole's left fielder followed with a double, and got home on two walks and a sacrifice.

O'Brien was hit by a pitched ball to lead off the Oriole's half of the fourth. A single by Long followed, and the Oriole's left fielder followed with a double, and got home on two walks and a sacrifice.

The Browns got one back in the fifth on two errors and a single, only to have Belleville score two more in the top of the sixth to make the score 10-3.

Then suddenly the score came in on starting pitcher Allen. Singles by Hunter and Kull started matters after pitcher Solowick, who had fanned to open the frame, Richie Menningall doubled in one run, first baseman Lange walked to load the bases, and Crawford singled in two more. Johnson then cleared the bases with a long triple, to make the score 10-8.

Long erred on Freda's ground shot, Johnson scoring, and Popola tied the score, singling in Freda. Menningall erred on Grady's pitcher grounder to open the Long knocked in the clincher with a single to left.

Belleville added an insurance run in the eighth on three singles and an error.

The Orioles continued where they left off in the first game with two quick runs in the first and one in each of the second and third innings of the second contest.

Catcher Shepard led off the first with a walk and was singled to second by third baseman Calcare. After Long flied out to right and Vietti whiffed, Marks hit a long two-run double to right.

Bell led off the second with a triple, and scored on Shepard's ground force at second. Another fielder's choice, a single by Long, and a walk to Vietti loaded the bases, but Marks' first deep to right ended the inning.

Bell hit his home run in the third, a long blast to left to complete the Oriole's scoring.

East Orange came back with single runs in the third on a walk, a double, and a single by Lange, and in the eighth on three walks and a single by Freda before tomatoes! They're Great...

FROM THE GARDEN STATE

Pick up a bright red, plump New Jersey tomato... cut it in quarters... then take a big bite into this luscious, fresh vegetable... man, isn't it delicious?

One of the most popular foods in our country, the tomato has been grown here since 1671. Much of the development in new varieties has come as a result of research at the N. J. Agricultural Experiment Station at Rutgers, the State University. In fact, one of the finest tomatoes is named "Rutgers" after the University.

Of course, tomatoes are used as one of the most important commercial vegetable crops and are processed into many popular tomato products. New Jersey's tomatoes are favored all over the country.

Whenever you buy fruits and vegetables from your chain-store, supermarket or local grocer, ask the man: "Are they from Jersey?" Help yourself to the riches of the Garden State.

Belleville is supported entirely by the Community Chest of Belleville.

These children rarely develop into well-adjusted, productive adults. Instead they become "problem" children in their schools and communities, become juvenile delinquents and delinquent adults. She looked around her and observed the fact which is so obvious to one who knows what to look for. And everyone knows that so many times it is the baby who does the weeping.

An interested and alive person, Mrs. Lapham finds time for a wide variety of activities. Can you imagine 36 actually inhabiting your home? Actually, they reside in her basement and these 36 are the remaining birds who have survived their fellow creatures in Mrs. Lapham's parakeet-breeding establishment. She used to raise them for sale, but her warm and sensitive nature rebelled against seeing her parakeets ill-treated by those who purchased them. Empty food trays, dirty bird baths, and tiny cages were too much to bear. Her birds are now "retired."

From her work with the Family Service, Mrs. Lapham became active in her husband and three sons' Child Welfare Program. Under the title of Service Unit Representative she makes home visits to the request of the Salvation Army. She is not of the tambourine-tapping variety, but not charity but welfare. The investigations she makes are concerned with children who are being neglected, not attending school, being abused, etc. After acres being urged for development by Padula. Hyde said he did not think he would go along with Padula's plan.

Commissioner Carl Orchio, Nutley director of parks and public property, said, "we are encouraged by the fact that they (park commission representatives) are at least coming to Nutley to look over the land in question." Orchio estimated that the town owns about half of the nine or 10 acres he would like to see developed in Nutley.

Case

$50,000, if it is provided by Congress.
Case said the urgent need for a solution to the perennial flooding of the Passaic River valley was apparent.
The re-survey undertaken by the Army was started last year, he said, and the additional $50,000 would permit the completion of the job and the preparation of a report and recommendations. The House has provided only $20,000 for the fiscal year ending next June 30, in line with the recommendation of the Army.

Tollgate
direct control of the State legislature, but he asked the intervention of Senator Fox because the Essex Democrat has wide relations in Trenton and in Red Bank with highway authorities. Mrs. White, a Mayor appointee, is a Democrat.

It is Commissioner Lucy's desire that the Authority reply to the specific Nutley proposal that instead of moving the entire tollgate from Belleville Avenue, in Bloomfield, northward to the Passaic County line at Route 3, one of the seven wickets in each direction be converted to toll-free use and that stanchions be used to mark off single lanes, one northbound and one southbound, leading to Hoover Avenue ramps. Under the Nutley proposal, northbound motorists would be able to use the free wicket to reach the Hoover Avenue ramp, about 300 feet north of the tollgate. From Hoover Avenue there would be direct access to Nutley, Belleville and Bloomfield and by Claremont Avenue to Montclair, Verona and Cedar Grove, or by East Passaic Avenue to Springfield.

"We feel that our suggestion should have been snuffed up by the Parkway Authority because it represents a way out of an illegal situation without the investment of one penny," Commissioner Lucy told The Times-News.

"The bill voted by the legislature, creating the Authority and authorizing the construction of the Parkway, specified that in return for the sale by Essex County of the Orton Parkway there would be toll-free use of the highway in this county between Springfield Avenue, Irvington and Belleville Avenue, Bloomfield.

"That, obviously, implied that there would be an exit ramp at Belleville Avenue, at the end of the free ride. Instead, the Commission provided no exit and, instead, northbound motorists are trapped and must pay 25 cents toll at Essex Plaza to reach the first exit ramp, at Hoover Avenue.

"It is to correct that illegality that the suggestion was advanced by Nutley that the free wicket be established. In that way, many motorists now using the Bloomfield Avenue ramp, where traffic congestion is hazardous, will continue to Hoover Avenue. It will give Nutley a more direct Parkway exit and it will relieve the traffic problem in Bloomfield."
