SPOTLIGHT ON SPORTS

By FRANK JONES

The Essex County CYO baseball leagues are again setting wheels in motion for the 1959 diamond season. A meeting has been scheduled for April 4 at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Montclair, at which representatives of all interested parish teams will gather. Opening games in the various leagues will get underway about the middle of April.

Two projects that we hope will snowball into something really worthwhile are due to be started in Belleville within the very near future. One of them is the junior baseball team that American Legion Post 105 hopes to organize in Town. Legion baseball is normally one of the major summertime recreation attractions in most towns and it is gratifying to note that the local post is working to bring this activity to Belleville boys of high school age. Heading the committee for the organization of the team is Post Commander George Mitchell.

The other noteworthy event on the recreation scene is the proposed formation of a girls' softball league by the Recreation Department. Mrs. Catherine Popko of the Rec Department announced that any girls interested should attend an organizational meeting Thursday at the Recreation House at 8 p.m. High school girls only are eligible.

In the words of our erstwhile school sports reporter, Tom Senior, "Spring has sprung," which means that the Belleville High crew is once again making ready for its annual sallies against teams consisting mainly of college freshman outfits. The picture is fuzzy at this point since only three carsmen are back from last year. However, with a total of 76 aspirants to the squad, Coach Bill Bennett is likely to develop a pretty fair aggregation.

Wecquahic Trotting Club Sets Program

The Wecquahic Park Amateur Trotting Club will conduct an education program for beginners in the various phases of harness racing. Admission will be free and the public is invited.

Classes will be held every Saturday from 9 to 11 a.m. at the track in Wecquahic Park, Newark. The first class will be held Saturday, March 28, and the course will run until May 23.

Subjects to be covered will include breeding, grooming, training, driving, shoeing, feeding, harness and boots and the history of the sport.

Club officers and guest speakers will conduct the program.

County CYO Begins Loop

Rev. Vincent F. Affonso of Montclair, County CYO director, has announced that baseball league operations will be played out-April with playoffs between divisional winners to decide the county champion in June.

He said the CYO again plans to sponsor leagues in at least five areas in Essex and West Hudson to accommodate upwards of 30 teams.

Frank Ferraro, Newark official, has been named CYO baseball director for the second year and has called a meeting of interested teams for April 4.

The meeting will be held at Our Lady of Mt. Carmel, Montclair, at 10 a.m. Only parishes represented at that meeting will be allowed to enter teams.

The CYO league is the oldest league for this age group in the county, featuring diamonds and equipment will be used with the use of batting helmets being mandatory.

Boys who were under 15 as of last September will be eligible. Twenty-player rosters will be allowed. Deadlines for filing rosters will be April 10.

Defending the county championship will be St. Thomas the Apostle, Bloomfield.

Belleville Crew Opens Up Practice Drills On Passaic

Coach Bennett And His Assistant Coach Rosamilia Have A Rebuilding Year Starting Them In The Face As Only Three Vets Return

By Tom Senior

Well, spring has sprung, and with it has come the launching of this year's crew season as the "Belboy" and the "Queen Bee," the two Belleville shells can be seen moving up and down the Passaic River in the after school workouts.

Coach William Bennett returns for his 16th year as Belleville and Nutley's coach. With him he has his assistant, Michael Rosamilia, who is in his fourth season as assistant mentor for the crew squad. These two will not have three boys with variety of experience, and only two of the three are letter winners.

The three returnees are Howie P. and Art Connolly, and Tom Palante. In the proposed varsity lineup for the early workouts hereof is stroke, Connolly is number six, and Palante, number five. The other promising boys that will row varsity are Sandy Burns, coxswain, John Holister, number four; Ralph Casale, number three; Bill Elting, number two; and Doug Bartell, bow. However, this lineup is subject to change before the initial race of the year. There may be many bright prospects in the event.

In all there are 76 candidates from Belleville for the crew team, and as it has been the usual practice to have a tryout on the river as only the two shells are available.

The Belleville team has six crews on its 1959 schedule. Most of the competition is on the freshmen college level, and for this reason, records in the event are not made.

However, the thing that really means a lot is the National Scholastic Championships at Detroit, Michigan. Both the Nutley and Belleville crews look forward to the prospect of going to the Motor City.

Another big race of the year is the Belleville-Nutley freshmen race in which the freshmen crews of both schools race for the Bill Bennett Trophy.

Belleville took the trophy last year in its first year of existence. The trophy was donated to the Belleville-Nutley University schools by the Belleville-Nutley High School which has had very good relations with the two schools.

St. Mary's Is Upset In CYO Mixed Bowling Loop

Championship hopes nourished by St. Mary's in the Essex County Senior CYO Mixed Bowling league were dealt a shattering blow when the Nutley team lost three games to Sacred Heart 2, 1, 1.

Sacred Heart was in 21st place in the 22-team league before the match while St. Mary's was just a game off the pace. Now St. Mary's is four games in arrears.

The Nutley club had to give up its 21st place position before the match when St. Mary's rolled in pins after rolling a high of 678. Top individual games were the 162's rolled by Terry Inaugurato and Sal Tabasso.

Any boy born after September 1, 1941, will be eligible to play on the team. This is the first time that American Legion baseball has been brought to the youth of Belleville.

Booster stickers will be on sale to help maintain this organization. Anyone not contacted and wishing to make a contribution may send it to John Kay, 476 Washington Avenue, Belleville. Make checks payable to American Legion Junior Baseball Fund.

Spring's Squirrels

Spring playful as squirrels
Making trapeze of trees,
Gymnasts of the upper branch,
Fiskiest furs a tree ever wore.
Their gray pinks the blossoms, blues the snow,
They dip their paintbrush tails
In the palette of all seasons
Trees without squirrels
Are a sea without dolphins.
Nibbling, peeping, storing their treasure,
Sunning on a branch,
Snuggling into a hollow
Scattering shells about,
They're the trees' children
Living in a shoe
Pampered dears
They sit up and beg
With their little hand paws and licorice
eyes,
Frisk-tail through twigs and last Fall's leaves,
Squirrel silhouette on the grass
Simple as a child's cutouts,
Gay as Spring itself.

The Educational Scene

The close to 100 Belleville citizens who turned out for Monday's meeting of the Board of Education were treated to one of the most nauseating displays of petty politicking and personality clashes that we have ever witnessed at a public gathering here, even in Belleville. Where to put the blame for this inexcusable exhibition is a question that is as impossible as it is futile to answer. Naturally, every individual involved in the fracas found many others on that view, very few of these people were without some share in it.

Triggering the action Monday night was the Calabro vs. Minasian case which should by no means have been allowed to go as far as it did. The matter, as we see it, was purely administrative, whether it should have been settled by the Superintendent of Schools or by the School Board itself. However, certain individuals saw fit to drag the unpleasant affair out into the public eye without apparently giving the administration a real chance to come to any decision as to what course of action to take in the matter. Big issues were at stake in the case; an alleged injustice committee against an elementary school pupil and, possibly, the future of a school official who had served the town many years.

Such a matter must be handled with the utmost tact and caution, and good sense and patience must prevail on all sides. But this was not to be so. The lid was blown off the whole affair Monday in such a manner that leaves little doubt that petty political grudges lay somewhere at the bottom of the entire situation.

Thus, as a result of the events that transpired at Monday's meeting, Belleville citizens were left with two very concrete conclusions concerning the local educational scene: 1. that the School Board is split into two distinct political camps which can only retard whatever good intentions individual Board members might have toward improving the school system, and 2. that the school administration itself is beset by personality conflicts that are actually interfering with the proper execution of duties on the part of certain school officials.

In the face of such a multitude of unfavorable circumstances, what can be done to even begin to correct the situation? All we can do at this point is make an appeal that we have made on numerous occasions in the past, as yet to no avail. This is an appeal to the seven members of the Board of Education upon whose shoulders the ultimate responsibility falls for the preservation of a healthy school system. In the name of their charges, the school children of Belleville, we would beg them to forget past political differences, live up to the responsibility they have taken upon themselves, and take unified action to straighten out the seemingly sorry state of affairs that was in evidence four nights ago.

It's Time To Call A Halt

Commuter service on the Nutley branch of the Erie Railroad will be cut, on Monday, by one-third with the consent of the Public Utilities Commission. That reduction of transportation facilities in this metropolitan area must be the last for a long time.

The decision of the PUC was, in our opinion, too hasty. It should have awaited Congressional action in support of the rights of the commuting population.

Yet the future of towns like ours, in this metropolitan area, depends upon railroad service. It is the most economical means of mass transportation. To replace commuter trains by automobile travel on our highways would create congestion on S-3 and in the tunnels which would stagnate our flow of traffic within a very few days.

The Erie Railroad wants to eat its cake and have it, too. It wants to maintain its rails through Nutley for the profitable haulage of freight. If it is to be allowed to haul freight on this branch line, it should carry passengers, too. Freight trains are an inconvenience for all those families which live within sound of the tracks because much of the freight is being hauled at night.

The PUC should bear in mind that passenger service is a compensation for the freight hauling privilege and in an area of such great industrial expansion that freight business can be amply profitable to carry part of the burden of running commuter trains. One should not be tolerated without the other.

One Man's Opinion

German Reunification Must Be The Eventual Aim Of Western Diplomats
At Summit Conversations

Split down the middle, as it has been since its defeat, Germany is as helpless as France was under Hitler's "divide and rule" stratagem and as helpless as we would be if the United States was cut into two zones by the Mississippi River and each half was forbidden to trade with the other.

Whatever else they do at their May 11 meeting, the Big Powers foreign ministers must lay the groundwork for German reunification. It must be clear to the Russians that their Eastern Germany is running a very poor second, economically, to the wealthy Western zone based on Bonn. If that economic reunification can be accomplished, Germany will rise to the top of the heap as the richest, most productive . . . and potentially the most powerful . . . country on the continent.

When the Western allies and the Soviet Union split Germany in two halves as fighting halted, they merely took a page out of Hitler's book.

In 1940, I watched as Hitler split France in such a way that one half grew all the food and the other half contained all the mines and factories. By keeping the two zones apart, one governed from Vichy and the other dominated from Paris, he kept France near prostration for as long as its military occupation was necessary.

West Has Coal

Germany is a rich country, as its natural resources go, but its wealth comes chiefly from the use of her very industrial people make of their own labor and of the materials at hand. Her greatest assets are her coal mines . . . she is supposed to possess an unlimited wealth of 80 billion metric tons.

Happily for West Germany, the Ruhr, in the Rhine area, produces 78 per cent of Germany's coal. The Silesian area also has coal resources but they were handed over to Poland by the disaffected League of Nations at the settlement of the Silesian dispute.

The seams of Ruhr coal are very thin, making production costs high while the Upper Silesian seams are thick and worked by slave labor, production costs for the Communists are low. Those mines, however, are badly situated for distribution purposes, while the Saar and Ruhr mines are in the center of the Essen industrial basin.

Germany has no natural oil and not nearly enough iron ore, being dependent upon Belgium and French Lorraine ore. But all of the iron in Germany is in the West and South, hence in Free Germany.

When Germany lost Lorraine to France, at Versailles, at the end of World War I, her annual ore production fell from 29 million tons to 9 million tons.

Cocktail Of Races

Despite the pretensions of Hitler that the Germans form a race, modern Germany is really a concoction of races. There is nothing in common between a Jew, a Slav, a Prussian, from the East, for example, and the broad-headed German of the Alpine type who predominates in Bavaria.

The Eastern half of Germany, now under Communist control, has a strong Slavonic mixture, a consequence of steady migration from Poland and the East. But the Communist problem is, and always will be, the vast Prussian population of Berlin and the territory to the north and east. The Prussians are Germany's greatest militarists and their hatred of the Slavs is historic.

It might seem an almost impossible task to keep two sections of any nation apart, but, after France's defeat, I saw 600 miles of open frontier between the two zones of France held inviolate by a small force of German machine gunners.

Helpless Borderline Germans

In today's divided Germany, machinegunners have been coupled with barbed wire and electric lightning. Each German zone is effectively sealed off from the other and the unhappy thousands who live along the wire are the most helpless people of Europe. In many cases, their fields are split into zones; in others, factories are on one side of the wire and their pool of labor is on the other.

This barbed wire frontier was laid down by the occupying powers in July, 1945, to mark the boundary between the Western and Eastern zones of Germany.

It was then regarded by the United States and Britain mainly as a demarcation line for administrative purposes until this country was again reunified. The line followed the boundaries of Mecklenburg, the Province of Saxony and Thuringia, in the German Reich.

But in 1946, the Soviets turned it into an "iron curtain" and on May 26, 1952, at the time of the signing of the European Defense Community treaties, the line of the Eastern sector of Berlin and of the Soviet zone were closed against the West.

800 Mile Wire Fence

Since then this green frontier has remained hermetically sealed, except for few authorized points where travelers and traffic are most carefully scrutinized, and special East German permits must be shown.

At present, there are only four road crossings, seven railroad crossings, and two canalized zones of inland waterways. Yet, anyone who wants to cross from one zone to the other needs only to go to Berlin and take the subway from one zone to the other.

This great hostile frontier stretches for 800 miles from near Lubec on the Baltic Sea to near Hof, in Bavaria. For some 300 miles of its length there are hundreds of different sorts—barbed wire fences, truncated roads, blown-up bridges, and so on.

A strip 16 kilometers, about 6.6 miles, wide on the east side can be entered only with special permission . . . even by the Germans who live there. There is a 500-meter "defense" strip inside that, and next to the barbed wire a five-meter strip has been plowed up. In some areas, special watchtowers have been erected. Keeping sharp watch over the whole frontier are armed guards who never appear to smile but are constantly agitated by the least movement.

For miles the frontier picture is that of desolation—houses abandoned and derelict, of woods and ruined houses and factories where there should be prosperity, of villages and roads, and even houses cut through by the barbed wire frontier.
