Boy Flipped From Cycle At Fifty Miles Per Hour

A near tragedy occurred when 19-year-old Robert F. Spagnuolo of 59 Smith Street was flipped from his newly acquired motorcycle traveling fifty miles per hour. The accident took place on Route 23, Riverdale Tuesday.

Spagnuolo dramatically ended his two week vacation from National State Bank in Newark. He was returning from a day of swimming at North Jersey lake with Fred Kingston of Franklin Avenue, Nutley who was riding directly behind him on another cycle.

Unconscious for more than ninety minutes after the accident, Spagnuolo was unable to recall anything about the accident. A passing doctor, administered first aid until the Pompton Lakes Ambulance Squad arrived. The boy was rushed to Chilton Memorial Hospital in Pompton Plains and later removed to the Clara Maass Hospital. He suffered severe lacerations of the face and arms. Further examinations and x-rays will be taken to determine the extent of the injuries.

Spagnuolo is an altar boy at St. Peter's Church and purchased the cycle only four months ago. His father told the Belleville Times that he was against his son continuing the sport. "My son is not really the motorcycle type. He doesn't smoke or drink," Spagnuolo is a graduate of Queen of Peace High School in Arlington.

Patrolman Edward Picchetti of Riverdale conducted the investigation.

The Olympic Bowl, a luxurious, modern bowling alley, will open on July 1 at 67-689 Washington Avenue. Courtesy bowling will be featured for the opening day. Friends and neighbors will be invited to participate for the first 24 hours.

A novel feature of Olympic Bowl will be a nursery with professional supervision, where children of patrons may play while their parents bowl. Other activities for children will include a Little League Baseball youth organization under the sponsorship of the Junior Committee of the American Bowling Congress. A program for children will also be established where various individuals and groups will compete and in which prizes will be awarded.

Rutan Estates Gets Go-Ahead

Despite the protests of residents on Plunge Drive, the Board of Commissioners this week approved the first revision of the second section of a map for Rutan Estates which had previously been rescinded. This decision gives the go-ahead signal to Rutan Estates to build more homes directly in back of those located on Plunge Drive.

The map gives the town a fifty foot right of way on each side of the river. Plunge Drive residents alleged that when they bought their homes it was promised to them that no building would go on in back of their property. Separating their land and the property owned by Rutan Estates was a time-alter of privately owned land. Rutan bought this, and changed their lot plan merging the Southern section of Plunge Drive into the Northern section where they intend to build. They also changed the plan to build nineteen homes where they

Board Rejects Plan To Study Range Problem

The Belleville Board of Commissioners this week rejected an offer for use of the professional staff of the Passaic Valley Planning Association to study the possibility of relocation of the police pistol range.

The Board agreed unanimously at the caucus meeting before the regular session Tuesday night, to turn down the suggestion that the range and all municipally-owned property in the vicinity be turned over to the Essex County Park Commission. The Commission would then have incorporated the property into the new inter-municipal County Park.

Offer By Moore

The suggestion was made through the Belleville Times by John Brewer Moore, associate planner for the Passaic Valley Citizens Planning Association.

Commissioner Harry Sullivan declared at the caucus that he had complained to Ernest Eber, director of the association, that Moore had gone to the press and not directly to the Board of Commissioners.

Eber has asserted that after Sullivan made the complaint he checked with Moore and found Moore was sure of his facts and that "he knew what he was talking about." Eber said he saw no reason to take action on the matter. He also stated that he found Belleville parks "deficient."

Moore said the Planning Association has "done all that it can possibly do. The rest is up to the Belleville Board of Commissioners and the people. If the people want to live with that easement, then it is their business."

"I think," Moore continued, "it would benefit the town in the long run to let the Park Commission take over, because sooner or later the town will have to build flood walls. If the land were left vacant, it would obviate the need for this. Only time will prove who is right."

Moore also stated he had had several conversations with Mayor Isadore Padula, who was perfectly willing to go along with any suggestions and who was completely aware of the situation. Moore said he felt that Padula deferred to Sullivan's wishes.

Moore stated that he did not wish to get involved in "internal politics." "All we wish to do is beautify the town and provide a lovely and utilitarian park."

He declared that if "Commissioner Sullivan doesn't have the best interests of the people of Belleville at heart, that's his business. If he wishes to live with the thought that one day a child may wander onto the range or be killed by a stray bullet, that too is his business."

Moore stated that he had been trying to get something done for six months before he went to the press. Eber said the declaration is not a political group and is permitted to do what ever they feel is best to provide for an airing of a problem and a possible effective solution.

BELLEVILLE MAN HELD BY POLICE FOR EMBEZZLING

Charles Brink, 22, of 78 Carver Avenue was arrested this week by Bloomfield detectives who charged him with embezzling $3,000 from Litchwitz Past Products, a trucking company at 125 Bloomfield Avenue, Bloomfield.

Brink, a shipping clerk with the firm, was arrested at work and later released in $3,000 bail for a court appearance July 6. Detective Captain Clifford Holmes said Brink is charged with embezzling that amount of money since December by withholding receipts from bills of lading. A line officer, Rely Stoner, at the shipping firm became suspicious during several days that Brink was absent because of illness, Holmes said.

Holmes said that truck drivers would deliver material from the Bloomfield depot, get money for the deliveries and return the "run sheets" to Brink, who had to account for them to the firm's Chicago office within 60 days.

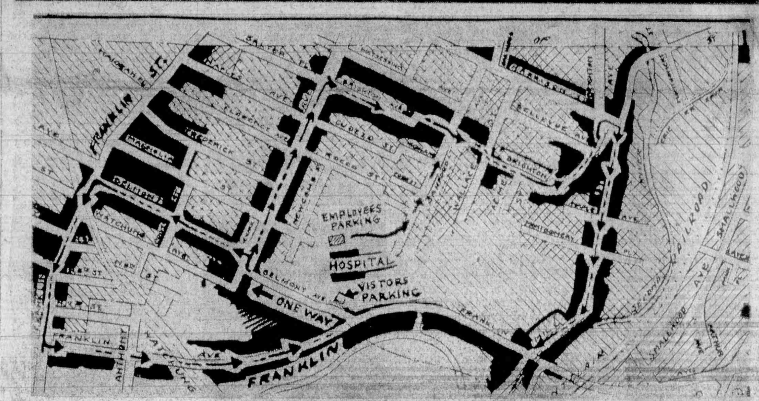

Brink would keep some of the money, and cover for the "run sheets" by new checks he received from other drivers, Holmes said. In this manner Brink was always a little behind.

Town Buys 1.52 Acres For Public Purposes

The Town of Belleville this week acquired land adjacent to the stadium, near the bridge, for public purposes. The sum of money to be paid for the land, owned by Jerry Lepré, will be $2700 as agreed upon in a letter between Commissioner Robert C. Grubin and Lepré. The property is located on Division Avenue and is 1.52 acres.

Grubin, who is Director of Public Works, is not now available for comment as to how the property will be used.

City Hall Inaction Thorn In Side Of Clara Maass; One Way Entrance Causes One Mile Of Inconvenience

Belmont Avenue is one-way for 200 feet leading to the parking lots at the hospital. One of the lots is for employees and doctors at the hospital and the other for visitors.

In order for motorists to return to the Belmont-Franklin Avenues intersection, 200 feet distant, they must travel more than a mile.

The one-mile plus distance is through heavy rush hour traffic on streets crowded and narrow, with the ever-present danger of injury to youngsters.

The map above gives a graphic illustration of the distance a visitor or hospital employee must travel from the lots. There are two main routes a motorist may use to get back into the heart of Belleville or Nutley. One is to continue along Belmont Avenue to Franklin Street, turn left, go down the intersection of Franklin Avenue, turn left and continue back up Franklin Avenue.

The other is to turn right at Newark Avenue, go up to Brighton Avenue, turn right, follow the curves of the street to Harrison Street, turn right and right again at Mill Street and continue down to Franklin Avenue, turning left.

This second route is longer than the first.

Belleville and Nutley residents comprise approximately 50 per cent of patients using Clara Maass Hospital.

Board Passes Ordinance For Removal Of Nuisances

The Board of Commissioners at their regular meeting this week passed an ordinance providing for the removal of nuisances created by stagnant or obstructed water courses which are or may become dangerous to life and health. Through the ordinance, the town is authorized to assess the removal cost as a municipal lien against the premises affected and provide a penalty for violation of the ordinance.

The ordinance is a result of complaints made by residents on Overhill Road in the past few days. The residents complained to the Board of Commissioners about an open ditch on the property of Krugman and Depeiro, a Clifton real estate Agency. The agency owns a large tract of property in the rear of homes on Riverdale Avenue, Overhill Road and vicinity.

It was alleged at that time that there was dumping of garbage where only clean air is permitted and that the presence

Board of Education Appoints New Teachers, Retires One

The Board of Education at its regular meeting this week passed a resolution authorizing the Superintendent of Schools to grant contracts to personnel for vacancies that occur during the summer period. These contracts would be subject to confirmation by the Board at the next regular meeting. The temporary appointments are to be made with the knowledge and consent of the president and the vice president of the board of Education.

The Board of Education accepted the resignation of Miss Alma Gray who will retire June 30. The appointments of the following teachers were made: Barbara O. Decker, high school mathematics teacher at an annual salary of $4,300; Jerome Weiss as high school industrial arts teacher at an annual salary of $5,200 and Philip Peabro as sixth grade teacher in School Nine at an annual salary of $5,000. The appointments will become effective September 10.

A resolution providing that Frank A. Spotts, principal of School Four be granted an additional reimbursement of $250 for the 1958-59 school year was turned down by the Board.

Board members who voted the resolution down were Michael Albesine, Mrs. Violet Roehner, Dominick Lally and Mrs. Mary Coronato. All indicated they felt that the jobs of the principals in this capacity: Business Educa-

CONTROVERSIAL BILLBOARDS: Above signs are located on Town-owned property, next to the police pistol range. Their location is part of a controversy in which John Brewer Moore, Associate Planner of the Passaic Valley Citizens' Planning Association, charged that Commissioner Harry Sullivan, whom he said was employed by United Advertising, builder of the signs, was in conflict of interest. Sullivan denied the charges, stating he was employed by the Outdoor Advertising Association of New Jersey and that the signs were placed before his term of office. Although the signs are an issue, they were not discussed at this week's meeting of the Board of Commissioners.

The Board provided by resolution that eighteen twirler uniforms and one drum major uniform be ordered from Oswald Inc. Staten Island at a total cost of $772.88. The uniforms will be ordered in accordance with specifications as prepared by the assistant superintendent of school.

Pink And Turquoise Motif For Marian Forte's Wedding

Mrs. Anthony Sinisi

Rev. John M. Golding Officiates At Marriage To Anthony Sinisi, of Newark; Reception at Royal Hawaiian Palms Follows

In a late Sunday afternoon ceremony, Miss Marian Forte, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Forte, of 280 Whitford Avenue, and Anthony Sinisi, son of Mrs. Michael Sinisi, of 235 Delavan Avenue, Newark, and the late Mr. Sinisi, were united in marriage in St. Mary's Church.

Rev. John M. Golding, of St. Mary's Church, performed the ceremony. A reception followed at Royal Hawaiian Palms, in Lyndhurst.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of embroidered tulle, featuring a fitted bodice topped with a scoop neckline and cap sleeves. The floor length skirt of tulle, embellished with clusters of sequins, terminated in a cathedral train.

A crown of sequins and pearls held her fingertip tulle veil. She carried a prayerbook with orchids and Stephanotis.

Miss Vivian Cacio, of Newark, acted as her cousin's maid of honor. The Misses Joanne Mares and Annette Greco, of Belleville, were bridesmaids. Miss Cacio was groomed in pale pink lace and chiffon, with three-quarter length sleeves, a V neckline, and full, skirt-length skirt. She wore a matching crown of sequins with a veil. She carried turquoise carnations.

The bridesmaids were attired in gowns similar to that of the bride, in rose lace, with matching accessories. Both had bouquets of white orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Belleville High School. Her husband was graduated from Barringer High School, and attended Upsala College. He is with M. Sinisi and Sons, Bloomfield.

Burdzy Urges All Residents To Swim At Approved Areas

Residents of Belleville who like to swim in lake bathing places in northern New Jersey were urged today to look for a lake bathing area displaying a sign showing it has been approved by the New Jersey State Department of Health as meeting safety, sanitation and water quality standards.

The recommendation came from Edward Burdzy, Health Officer. "When the proprietor of a lake bathing place complies with the standards set by the State Department of Health, he is given a certificate of compliance and he is authorized to display a sign 22 inches high and 16 inches wide which reads: 'This Bathing Lake meets standards of the New Jersey State Department of Health.'"

Possession of a certificate and a sign is evidence that the bathing water is of good quality; the general sanitation of the area is good, and there is adherence to safety requirements.

Most of the signs this year will be posted at lake bathing places in northern New Jersey.

Commissioner George F. Kiernan says that this year's show promises to be a "best-ever" performance with ten of the top acts in circus.

The Recreation Department Independence Day Celebration will again be an all day event, track and field events in the morning, baseball games throughout the day including Recreation Jr. League, American Legion, Little League and Essex County League, and, in the evening, the circus and the fireworks.

There will be lots of prizes for the youngsters who compete in the day's events and there will be a good supply of watermelon.

A crowd of over 15,000 is expected.

Richard King of 90 Plenge Drive stated at the meeting that seventeen residents on Plenge Drive would be effected by the new building prospects. Milton Lowenstein, attorney for the residents, pointed out in caucus session shortly before the meeting that the building of homes so close together on the Northern and Southern sections would be a fire hazard.

The Town Engineer stated that Rutan Estates plans met all the requirements of the town.

The foyer behind the area occupied by bowlers has been luxuriously appointed, with wall-to-wall carpeting and restful modern decor. The usual rows of spectator theatre-type seats will be replaced by "Sidewalks of Paris" tables and chairs from which the bowling action may be viewed.

The Olympic Bowl will also have a beautiful cocktail lounge, where between game recesses can be enjoyed in comfort. A snack bar will also be available to the patrons.

A new free parking lot adjoining the alleys will be paved. The center lanes will be air-conditioned for year round bowling enjoyment.

Among the services to be offered New Jersey bowlers are free clock bowling, free bowling sound movies at regular intervals, exhibitions by nationally known bowling stars, and junior and women's bowling leagues sanctioned by the American Bowling Congress.

A spokesman said, "The increase in daytime bowling in key suburban areas and the growth of industrial and house bowling leagues are ushering the sport into its golden age."

Commission's Inaction Poses A Stumbling Block To Progress

Since the establishment and operation of the Clara Maass Memorial Hospital on Franklin Avenue at Belmont Avenue, thousands of Belleville residents have been inconvenienced by the apparent unwillingness of public officials to solve a very simple, but nevertheless pressing, problem.

One page 1 of this issue, the Belleville Times-News reviews the problem produced by maintaining Belmont Avenue one way at the entrance to the hospital grounds. Approximately 200 feet up the road is a parking lot where visitors to the hospital park their cars. Employees, including doctors, nurses, attendants and volunteer assistants, use the parking lot at the rear of the hospital. Whichever parking lot is used, the fact still remains that no one can legally exit from Belmont Avenue to Franklin Avenue. The arrow at the Franklin Avenue — Belmont Avenue intersection points one way — and it is the other way.

We have stated before that this one way street requires a visitor at the hospital to travel over one mile to return to the Franklin Avenue — Belmont Avenue intersection whereas, if Belmont Avenue were made a two-way street, the traveling distance is only approximately 200 feet.

Why must official inaction regarding this ridiculous situation remain the order of the day? We are told that county officials are opposed to the designation of Belmont Avenue as a two-way street. It is our understanding that Belmont Avenue is a town-owned and managed street. This being the case, the responsibility falls squarely upon the shoulders of the five Town Commissioners sitting in Town Hall. They cannot shirk their responsibility in this matter nor can they point a finger of blame at the county government based in Newark. Two hundred feet of roadway in a town which boasts 65 miles of roads may seem insignificant. To this is a major problem and can very well be a major issue in any campaign. This condition calls for action and if the Commissioners desire petitions requesting the change, we shall be happy to join other interested citizens in getting this message through to the Commission in petition form.

Taxpayers Thrown Another Curve

With trumpets blaring and one foot in a jet, Governor Robert B. Meyner takes off for Russia leaving behind him a politically attractive package of the first magnitude.

Governor Meyner proclaimed to one and all that henceforth the plight of the New Jersey railroads will no longer exist and we, the taxpayers, should accept his proposal to use New Jersey Turnpike surplus revenues to subsidize railroad deficits.

Governor Meyner took pains to point out to the reading public that Highway Commissioner Dwight A. Palmer should get the primary credit for the suggestion.

Mr. Palmer presented an eleven-page report to the Governor, which Meyner used as a basis for his recent publicity statement. We have read Mr. Palmer's eleven-page statement and we think it's a fraud and politically immoral.

When the New Jersey Turnpike Authority was created, the taxpayers of New Jersey were told that the facility would be a free road when the bonds were fully paid. Mr. Palmer suggests that if revenues maintain themselves, the Turnpike would be toll-free with all debts cleared by about 1974, fourteen years ahead of time.

Of this frightful possibility Mr. Palmer states on page 7, paragraph 3 of his report, "It would seem inequitable to give these privileges the opportunity of using this especially fine road as a wholly free project in any event earlier than 1988, when the Turnpike bonds were designed to mature."

The maturity date of the Turnpike bonds was predicated upon a projection by the financial experts. That they missed their guess by fourteen years is no reason for going back on a promise to the people of the State.

Nowhere in Mr. Palmer's eleven-page report does he state the hidden fact that Hudson County would be the chief beneficiary of any windfall to relieve railroads of their real estate tax burden. It has been estimated that approximately 90 per cent of railroad real estate taxes are paid to Hudson County municipalities. We see in this proposal a scheme to bail out Hudson County at the expense of the taxpayers throughout the State of New Jersey.

Governor Meyner and Mr. Palmer are asking the voters of New Jersey to approve a subsidy for railroads knowing full well that the Garden State Parkway will be operating in the red come 1965.

The able Executive Director of the Garden State Parkway, D. Louis Tonti, recently appearing in Nutley through the courtesy of the local Chamber of Commerce, was asked, "When will the Garden State Parkway begin operating at a deficit?" Mr. Tonti replied, "1965 will be the first year when the Garden State Parkway will be unable to meet all basic requirements, which means interest, amortization, operating costs and debt service."

Mr. Tonti was asked the next logical question: "Who would have to foot the bill in the event of any deficit?" Mr. Tonti answered: "The State Statute of New Jersey, 1952, Chapter 17, paragraphs 4 A and B, page 95, states: 'These deficits will be made up by increased taxes on motor fuel and/or increased taxes on property to be imposed by the State Treasurer.'"

In this instance, we have one of the Governor's chief aides warning us that all real estate taxpayers in New Jersey may have to pick up the tab for a deficit arising from the Garden State Parkway operation and another chief aide, Mr. Palmer, asking us for permission to use Turnpike surpluses to help the railroads.

Who will come to the aid of the beleaguered taxpayers in 1965 when the Garden State Parkway runs out of money?

Mr. Palmer's eleven-page report does not tell us what he intends to do about cutting down those oversized salaries and fat expense accounts paid to railroad executives. Nor does Mr. Palmer tell us why railroads should be given preferential subsidies when, for example, the local pharmacist, automobile dealer or gas station proprietor, if he can't meet his bills, is forced to close his doors. Our community depends upon the pharmacist and two-thirds of the American people depend on the automobile for transportation. If a newspaper publisher, who ostensibly serves the public, can't make ends meet, is he entitled to a government subsidy, too?

Basic to the contention of Governor Meyner and Mr. Palmer is the overriding question of broadening the base of paternalism in government. Should we be ever ready for handouts when one fellow's wheel begins to squeak?

In the plush days when the railroads were coining gold, we never heard a whimper or cry from the railroad magnates that they wanted to help out the real estate taxpayers.

Both Governor Meyner and Mr. Palmer could serve better the taxpayers if they came to the voters with a proposal to consolidate the highway department, the Garden State Parkway authority and the New Jersey Turnpike Authority under one head, thus eliminating the heavy burden of high-salaried executives in three separate administrative offices replete with staffs, free automobiles and whatnot.

The legislators who at first blush looked upon this Meyner-Palmer scheme as a chance to win the commuter vote should take a second long look at the proposal and take a position serving the best interests of all the taxpayers of our state.

Mr. Palmer states on page 3, paragraph 2 of his report, "With no commuter railroad service, the outlay by our State and our municipalities for highways over a period of years when traffic would be entrapped would amount to several billions of dollars with a continuing annual outlay for upkeep, repairs and maintenance."

For any responsible public official to make an observation of this kind in all seriousness, in order to support a weak contention in the first instance, is to insult the intelligence of New Jersey's taxpayers. Profit or loss, private or Port Authority owned, Mr. Palmer notwithstanding, railroads are here to stay.

To Gov. Meyner and Mr. Palmer we say — stop throwing us curves and give us some straight balls for a change.

The Board Needs Help!

Despite firm efforts on the part of Dr. Frank DiRuggiero, president of the Board of Education, to curb the unruly spirit of a somewhat divided and unstable board, some of the members have outdone themselves to make outlandish and inconsistent remarks. Although they claim to be making constructive suggestions, the end result is a waste of precious time.

Two board members in particular seem to be guilty of these time-delaying antics. They are Michael Albertine and Dominick Lally. For the past two weeks these members have been concerned with unfairly attacking and criticizing Dr. DiRuggiero.

Although they allege that Dr. DiRuggiero seems to be seeking personal glory, these noisemakers outdo themselves in transparent attempts to impress the press and public with what they are doing and can do for the school system. Neither one has as yet distinguished himself, by the presentation of a single suggestion to solve any one of the urgent problems facing the board.

Mr. Lally claims that he can save the town $10,000 on the conversion of the New Street field house into a locker room for the football team. This is good — if it can be done. Mr. Lally is under compelling obligation to present a concrete plan now. The time for words has long since past, we are ready for action.

Mr. Albertine has an unusual facility for viewing both sides of an argument and unperturbedly staying in the middle. Or perversely changing his mind. This position suggests lack of conviction on the part of an elected official. While in a democracy, each of us reserves the right to change our minds, education is a most serious business. Board members should not be unstable and overly flexible.

If consideration is to be given to a matter, then it should be tabled for discussion. However, it has been the sad plight of this board to decide to take action on a matter, call a special meeting to do so and then at that meeting change their minds completely.

People will respect a board which gives deep and prayerful consideration to matters brought before them. Their confidence will be shaken when a board changes with the weather.

It will certainly not benefit the board if it keeps bringing members' personalities into each discussion rather than intelligent logical thought and effective solutions.

Budget Minded Commission Defeats $$-Minded Ordinances

A budget conscious Commission defeated an ordinance to buy the Elks House at 251 Fairway Avenue for $88,000.

The ordinance had been introduced by Commissioner George F. Kiernan, director of Parks and Public Property who was also in favor of the retention of the present Recreation House at 407 Jerusalem Street.

Kiernan said that the property could be used immediately by the Recreation Department and in the future possibly by the Board of Education.

At the time that the ordinance was introduced, Kiernan was quoted as saying he was putting all his efforts toward "providing the best recreation that sound economy would permit."

An ordinance providing for the purchase of two special body trucks with snow-plow equipment for $59,000 was unanimously introduced.

Prior to the voting, the board was under verbal attack by James Golden, self styled critic of the town, for excessive appropriations. Golden pointed out that the expenditure would exhaust the budget allowance of $200,000 for capital improvement in the first six months of the year.

He also questioned Commissioner Grubbs' need of two new trucks for his department. Grubbs asserted that "if the need were not a compelling one," he would not introduce the ordinance.

The board also approved an ordinance authorizing the purchase of two passenger cars for use by the department of Public Works. This department is headed by Commissioner Grubbs.

LUNCHEON IS SET FOR NEW TEACHERS

The Board of Education will sponsor a luncheon for new teachers on September 8 as part of an orientation program to be held that day. There will be one hour sessions for kindergarten pupils the first two days of school, September 10 and 11.

Francis McCoy was appointed by the Board of Education as Custodian of School Monies for the 1959-60 school year at an annual salary of $1,000.00.

Make Belleville Clean Is Women's Club Plea

The Woman's Club of Belleville called upon the Board of Commissioners last Tuesday to enforce existing town ordinances "to enhance the appearance and sanitary conditions of Belleville."

The appeal to the Town Commission was presented by Mrs. Richard A. Shafter, 131 Broad Street, a member of the Civic Department of the Club. In a personal survey, Mrs. Shafter told the Commissioners, she found that the alternate over-night parking rule was not at all enforced. As a result, the town's street cleaners find it impossible to do their job well and thoroughly. Garbage removal suffers greatly from carelessness, unnecessary noise and bad talk on the part of the men employed, Mrs. Shafter found.

Mrs. Shafter charged the town's "businessmen with 'extreme carelessness' in the handling of their garbage and refuse. Many of them, she said, leave their containers standing uncollected at the curb and refuse to be moved. This practice is not only most unsightly and an offense to the sensibilities of nearby homeowners, but also it entails a definite danger to our public health," Mrs. Shafter said.

She suggested joint action by all five Commissioners to remedy the shortcomings of garbage removal in the town. "Let's live up to the true meaning of our town's name and make Belleville a cleaner and more beautiful place to live in," she stated.

St. Peter's Ranks 3d in Communications

St. Peter's Church, Belleville, ranked third among participating parishes in the Holy Communion Crusade sponsored by the Essex County CYO this year. More than 6,000 youngsters from 35 parishes in Essex — West Hudson participated.

Youngsters in St. Peter's Parish recorded 3,500 Masses attended and Communications received during the week the parish took part.

Also participating was St. Anthony's of Belleville.

During the Crusade, which was the CYO's principal spiritual activity for the year, a total of 42,501 Communications were received by the youngsters.

Archbishop Thomas A. Boland of Newark launched the Crusade at a Holy Hour in Sacred Heart Cathedral during Catholic Youth week last October.

A different group of parishes participated in the Crusade each week through May with the youth of participating parishes pledging to attend Mass and receive Communion daily during that week.

Results of the Crusade were announced this week by the Rev. Vincent P. Affanese of Montclair, county CYO director. Reports had been submitted by each participating parish.

Two special intentions had been assigned to the project by the Archdiocese. One was that more youngsters would accept vocations to the religious life. The other was that each youth taking part would receive the grace to live a life free of serious sin.

Gotrell Agency, 10 W. 11th St., is the agent of $1,633.75. The board also authorized an order for high school library books for the coming school year, which will go to Baker & Taylor Company, low bidder for the amount of $485.87.

Junior Patrol supplies for the elementary schools for the 1959-60 school year will be ordered from Graubard's Inc., low bidder, for $536.80.

A two-week vacation was granted to George Rawcliffe, assistant custodian at School One. Locker repairs at the High School were authorized by the Board. The order will go to Corby Engineering Associates, Ten-

An Address By Lansing P. Shield

"What Do We Need For Economic Survival?"

Biographical Data On Lansing P. Shield

LANSING P. SHIELD

Lansing P. Shield, president of The Grand Union Company, entered the chain food business in 1919 after discharge from the Army Air Corps in which he served as a pilot.

Mr. Shield joined The Grand Union Company in 1924, was elected treasurer in 1928 and vice-president in 1929, which position he held until 1947 when he was elected president of the company.

Mr. Shield is a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York and a member of the board of directors of the Prudential Insurance Company of America. He is a director and member of the executive committee, American Re-Insurance Company.

A leader in business, Mr. Shield was elected president of the International Association of Chain Stores (I.C.S.) in June, 1956, for a three-year term.

He is a director, member of the executive committee and past chairman (1949), of the National Association of Food Chains (U.S.A.).

Mr. Shield is president of the New Jersey State Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Committee on Business and Agriculture of the Harvard Business School.

In March, 1953, Mr. Shield was appointed chairman of Puerto Rico's Food Advisory Commission by Governor Muñoz Marín of Puerto Rico.

He serves his alma mater, Rutgers University, as a life trustee. The University honored Mr. Shield in June, 1952, by conferring upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws. He was given "outstanding alumnus" award in 1957 by the Rutgers Alumni Federation.

His invention of the "Food-O-Mat," gravity-fed display and dispensing fixture, was a major contribution to the retail food industry. It has been acclaimed by some as one of the greatest advances in customer convenience in food shopping in the past half century.

Mr. Shield has been the recipient of a number of distinguished awards. He was made a Chevalier of the Legion of Honor by the Government of France in 1958.

The Government of Italy honored him by naming him a "Cavaliere Ufficiale al Merito della Repubblica" in 1956.

(Publisher's Note: Mr. Lansing P. Shield delivered an address at the 11th Annual New Jersey Business Conference held recently at Rutgers University, New Brunswick. We believe his message, entitled: "What Do We Need For Economic Survival?" presents such an intelligent appraisal of the problems confronting us today that each word of the message should be of interest to our readers.)

First of Two Articles

If that wise old statesman, Winston Churchill, had prophesied in his farewell press interview last Saturday that the world would come to an end by 1970, we would all be greatly aroused. But the world could come to an end before 1970—at least the kind of a world to which we are accustomed.

In the Soviet Union's determination to defeat us, our adversary is overtaking us rapidly in the field of production (and it doesn't have to worry about slow-downs and strikes). The living standards of Ivan, the Russian, are rising sharply. Break-even points in the Russian economy are constantly dropping. Ours are steadily rising.

The crash program of our competitor overseas is catching up fast—he now boasts that by 1970 he will have a greater material production than (to use Khrushchev's words) the "moribund capitalism" of the United States.

Your dictionary will define "moribund" as "in a dying state" or "on the verge of extinction."

And so it may be a safe assumption that, despite threats and barking miscalculations on either side, the war for survival of our system will be fought in the market places instead of on battlefields. To win this conflict, America must rely not so much on armament and combat veterans as on economics and economic veterans.

Probably the most reassuring thing about our position is a general awakening to the possibility that our system may not survive. President Eisenhower said recently that, "It is not the goal of the American people that the United States should be the richest nation in the graveyard of history."

Now if this is not our goal, logically we should ask ourselves: "What do we need for economic survival?"

The answer is a qualified "yes"—yes, providing we add to our strengths and attack more vigorously the weaknesses in our economy.

When we are concerned about the survival of our business, the first thing we do is to take a hard look at our balance sheets. We weigh our assets against our liabilities. Let's take a look at America's balance sheet.

Our assets are so obvious that we need dwell on them only long enough to give us the proper perspective in an examination of our liabilities.

On the left side of the balance sheet, freedom—political, religious and economic—is still our greatest asset. This asset, won through the American Revolution, for almost two centuries has made democracy the hope of millions around the world.

Next in the asset column are the basic characteristics of our people. Other great sources of strength are our natural resources—soil and climate and to some extent, our farms produce more food than we can consume.

High in the asset column is American industry—America's mass production and mass distribution systems. We all know that in the number of homes, automobiles and gadgets, the United States is still way out in front. Just as examples, Americans own 47,000,000 refrigerators and the U.S.S.R. less than 3,000,000 (some have said every Russian home is a refrigerator). 121,000,000 persons in the United States have life insurance policies worth over $300 billion (the best insurance a Russian can get is to slip outside the Iron Curtain).

Yet these impressive assets that have yielded both freedom and the highest standard of living in earth are in jeopardy.

With our system under attack, our liabilities seem to outweigh our assets.

Every day we are losing battles to the enemy and we have lost, for the most part, the moral leadership of the world. Donald David, Chairman of the Committee for Economic Development, said recently, "Our civilization, based on the spiritual concept of man created in the image of God, has acquired the reputation of being hard, cold and often inhumanly materialistic."

Reservoir of Good Will Nearly Empty

In 1941, Wendell Willkie, a businessman who looked beyond his business, made a trip around the world. When he returned he pointed out that, over the years, America had built up a reservoir of good will—a national image in the eyes of other nations that pictured America as the champion of individual freedom—a people with an unselfish desire to help nations less privileged. That was 18 years ago.

If Wendell Willkie were alive and making that same trip today, he'd be a disillusioned man. He would find that reservoir of good will nearly empty. At a time when we can least afford it, we seem to have replaced an asset with a liability.
