

Giving In Thanksgiving

As is traditional among our three great religious faiths, appeals are being made during the Thanksgiving season for support of their world-wide programs of assistance to the homeless, hungry and destitute of other lands.

Throughout our national Protestant community, funds are being asked for the Share Our Surplus program through which many millions of pounds of excess foods from our government stocks are distributed to hungry men, women and children abroad.

In Catholic churches, The Bishops' Thanksgiving Clothing Collection is seeking millions of serviceable used garments for distribution among the needy overseas.

And the United Jewish Appeal, as the instrument of American Jews, is asking aid for reconstruction and rehabilitation programs for recent refugees and other Jews in distress in more than a score of countries throughout the world.

By sharing in these and the many other ministries of our religious faiths to the impoverished and underprivileged, our citizens make pertinent contribution to the basic friendship among peoples that is vital to peace among nations.

Aid thus given goes forward because individual Americans care about the plight of individuals abroad. Through these person-to-person programs they give of themselves as well as of their substance — not as nations impersonally but in brotherly love, a spiritual as well as material sharing.

Keeping faith with those in need — in recognition of the blessing of our abundance — is in the truest spirit of Thanksgiving.

Each who thus helps the despairing abroad will be glad he did — and so will they!

Iron Dukes, Exasperated By Conduct Of Visitors, End Season With A Tie; Wind Up With 6-3-1 League Record

BY JOHN BASILE

The Belleville - Nutley Iron Dukes closed their 1960 season on a rather sour note as they struggled to a scoreless tie with the fighting (literally) Stratford (Conn.) Giants Sunday, Nov. 13, at Belleville Municipal Stadium before approximately 1,400 fans. The deadlock stretched the Dukes' non-losing streak to six games.

The Dukes finished the EFC season in third place with six wins against three losses and one tie for a .667 percentage.

The completely callous actions of the Connecticut entry was amazing. They arrived three quarters of an hour late for the opening kickoff with the explanation that "they got lost." This, despite the fact that they were here less than three months ago to play a non-league game.

Even that might have been believable if they had not pulled the same stunt on the Union County All-Stars two weeks ago in Elizabeth. Further, they suited only 21 men, four less than the league minimum. The Iron Dukes had three alternatives: 1) play the game (hoping it was completed before darkness); 2) call the game and win a forfeit victory besides collecting $500 damages because the kickoff was ten minutes past the one-hour limit or 3) call the game, etc., because Stratford did not have 25 men in uniform.

However, the latter choice would have alienated the 1,400 fans in the stands who had been waiting patiently for more than an hour to see a football game.

Therefore, at 3:10 P.M., Stratford kicked off to the Dukes' Joe Brooks, who returned it 22 yards to the Iron Dukes 32-yard line. The Dukes were unable to gain and kicked to the Giants. Three plays later Big (6'8") Bill Mead, Stratford right end, caught his only pass of the contest and picked up a first down on the Iron Dukes 26. A few plays later Don Munford intercepted an Esposito pass on his own one-yard line to stuff the Stratford threat.

The Giants made only one more offensive threat in the rest of the contest as the Dukes defensive platoon smothered all their attempts. Late in the first half Joe Bucci picked off a Cary Wills pass on the Duke 45 and returned it to the 21. Three running plays picked up a first down on the Iron Dukes eleven. Chick Henry dove to the six. On the next play he broke off tackle and he was racked up at the three by Tom Appicella, the ball flying out his grasp into the end zone, where safetyman John Pucciarelli covered the ball for an automatic touchback.

There were four minutes and 45 seconds left on the clock and the Dukes had the ball 80 yards from the promised land. Wills hit Don Munford for a 12-yard gainer and Beau for a 15 yarder during the drive. Cary himself picked up ten on a keeper for a first down on the Giants ten. Three bucks up the middle by Chuck Munford picked up seven yards, leaving a fourth-and-three situation, from the three. At this point, Coach Pete Spera of the Dukes ordered a field goal attempt by Frank Barnes. Barnes' boot, to most observers, split the uprights and then veered to the right after crossing the bar. However, the officials ruled the kick no good.

A magnificent 56-yard punt return by Chuck Munford gave the Dukes another chance and a first down on the Giants 14, midway in the third canto, but the Dukes couldn't cash in on it.

With better than four minutes remaining, the Dukes were unable to move after Dom Pomponio intercepted a pass on the Stratford 35 and the officials called time and stopped the game. It was so dark that you needed a flashlight to see the ball.

The Dukes offensive unit picked up 200 yards (13 first downs) to their opponents' 147 yards, (eight first downs) but couldn't score. Big Chuck Munford, the best back in the EFC, added 71 yards to his total, giving him 691 over the EFC season and 1,080 yards over-all.

The defensive platoon earned the hero's laurels with a supreme effort. Linebacker Tom Appicella was his usual tremendous self. But Bob Paganelli, continuing to improve, was the single spectacular figure on the field, as he made tackle after tackle. He was "out of this world."

The tackles — Dom Pomponio and Nick DeBenedetto — were impossible to move, and Pomponio, recovered two fumbles and intercepted a pass as well (Nick also recovered one fumble.)

Halfback Frank Barnes played his best defensive game as he was all over the field, making and assisting in tackles. It remains for the last to relate the efforts of Gerry Skidmore and, especially, Bob Castelli in holding Bill Mead to one completion and no touchdowns, as the giant Nutmeg end had his worst day in pro football. Castelli, in particular, covered Mead like a blanket, although "Coz" is almost a foot shorter than his adversary.

Further, it is safe to say that the Iron Dukes never again will play the incorrigible Stratford entry which would rather kick and punch than play football, and, further, has no scruples about completely disregarding the local fans who paid their money and came to see a game at the scheduled 2 P.M. kickoff.

The management of the Iron Dukes apologizes to the fans for

The Bank That's Strong for You!

We hope we can continue our wrong predictions this week by choosing Orange over the Bellboys on Thanksgiving Day. Belleville's 3-5 record isn't particularly becoming; the team has the potential but someone has yet to find it.

BY ROGEE WARTELL

The Belleville - Nutley Iron Dukes, who finished their regular season a few weeks ago, will play the Franklin Miners December 4. This special bowl game will give the Dukes a second chance at beating the Eastern Football Conference champs.

The Belleville-Nutley club lost to the Miners in the first meeting of the two teams—which also was the first Duke game of the season. The score then was 3-0. Statistically, the Dukes played on an even par with the Miners. A field goal by Neil Buckman proved to be the only score.

This time the Belleville-Nutley eleven will have the services of a lot more players than during the previous games with the Miners. This might make a difference in the final score.

BY DOM GIOVACHINO

Nick Del Guercio, last year's regular quarterback at Belleville High until he broke his collarbone early in that season, is presently quarterbacking at McCook College in Nebraska. With out being hindered by any injuries this season, he found a regular spot on the first team at McCook and is doing a bang-up job. The team is currently 6-2 on the season, leading their conference undefeated in that loop. "Kiki," as he was known at the high school, is attending McCook on a football scholarship.

The Bellboy football squad, knowing what they will be up against in the season finale Thursday, have been working hard to be ready for Orange. The boys themselves have commented on how the team seems to be more spirited now than it has been and how they are playing together more. As attitude has a lot to do with the outcome of a game, we can not exclude the possibility of an upset on Thanksgiving Day.

Thursday's game will be the last chance to see much of the Belleville High football squad in action as graduations will take its yearly toll. We would like to see a huge turnout at Orange on Thursday not only to support the team, but also the band, twirlers, and cheerleaders who have worked just as hard all year and will likewise have members performing for the last time.

Belleville has had its share of bad breaks, one being Frank Annichiarico's missing three games. He should be back in action for Thursday's big game, though, which is a boost to the Bellboys. Orange, however, is 7-1 and a prospect for a sectional group IV title. They have a potent attack, led by John Scott and have been able to get past all the big teams, except East Orange (19-18). They definitely have the edge and should be able to make it without too much trouble.

Why don't those announcers at football games go over the pronunciation of the visiting players' names? Week after week we've listened to just about every conceivable pronunciation of the frequently used names of Annichiarico, Luzzi, Cernero and even LoCoco.

Roller skating has now come into its own as a health and reducing medium. Tony Fiduccia of Belleville Roller Rink where roller skating has been on the upturn, advises us many beneficial effects of skating which very few people are aware. The vibrations conducted up the legs as far as the hips strengthen the ankle muscles and is an aid to flat feet.

The weight of three and a half pounds on each foot tends to make one feel light and springy when the skating session is over. There is no problem with insomnia, after two hours of skating, "you are tired," says Mr. Fiduccia. The rhythm of the skating and the music of skating has a soothing influence on body and nerves. The owner of Roller Rink has many testimonials averring that foot ills have been overcome with roller skating.

The vibrations of the eight wheels are being used at Warm Springs, Ga., for polio victims. They use overhead wires and hand straps. The forward speed and motion of the skate buoys their spirits and strengthens leg muscles while they are having their recreation.

The motion of the eyes from side to side in gliding around the track is excellent exercise for those who work around desks or stare ahead in their jobs.

BHS Co-Captains Cerno, LoCoco Agree Second Half Will Tell Out Come

Joe Cernero: A Serious Man

BY DOM GIOVACHINO

Probably the two most looked upon football players on the Belleville High squad are Co-Captains Joe Cernero and Sal LoCoco. These two boys are spotlighted each week just before the game when they meet with the opposing captains to try to win the toss of the coin.

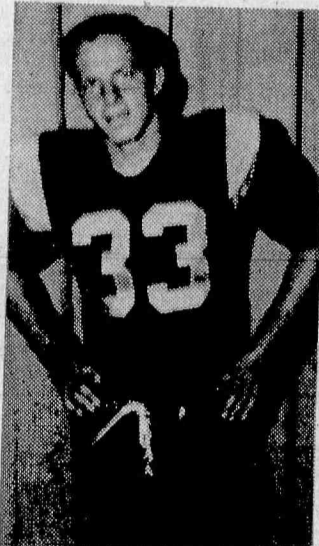

But Joe and Sal are on the team for other reasons besides the fact that they're good coin guessers.

Joe has been playing football at BHS four years. He played on his freshman team, and in his second year gained a starting position on the varsity squad. Joe also played some JV ball that year but he won a varsity letter, a fine achievement for any sophomore.

Joe is a defensive linebacker, although he has played at guard on occasion, on offense. He says, though, that he'd "rather play defense."

Now a 17-year-old senior, Joe stands 5'8½" but is a 175 pounds of fight and scrappiness. One of the unsung heroes of the team, he torments the opposition, getting in on play after play, and forming a consistent strongpoint on the Bellboy defense.

JOE CERNERO

age. He'd like to go to Rutgers University after high school but modestly "isn't sure of playing football, because of the keen competition." He says he'd be content watching the games from the stands, but the chances are he'll be out on the field.

Being a fine athlete, Joe rows on the crew team during the spring. He's been a member of the crew four years, on Varsity since last year and also won a letter in that department last season. He naturally enjoys both sports but football "has a slight edge in appeal."

SHOULD BE ON TOP
Regarding this year's team, Joe believes that "we have a good squad. We should have been on top as we have the team that could have done it. Possibly with a bit more work and more breaks, we would have been a top team."

One thing that has been noticed this year is that the Bellboys don't seem to be as coordinated as they might be. "Last year's team was the best Belleville team I have played with," Joe stated. "They had a lot of life and spirit, and played together, more so than has been seen this year."

"Actually the only team that was really better than us this season was Nutley. We should have compared with and beaten those other teams, even Bloomfield."

"Last week we looked like a much better team, as everyone played well against Kearny. It was an all around good game. Thursday, although we'll be the underdogs, I believe we'll have a good chance. The team is playing better, and they all want to win. There's been more life and aggressiveness in the past week, and the defense is especially strong. All we must do is to keep it going."

LoCOCO'S OUTLOOK

Jo's co-captain, Sal, agrees that the Orange game Thursday will be a "good game. We'll have a good chance if we all work together, even though Orange has the better team."

Sal LoCoco: 3-Letter Man

"This year's problem is that we just aren't clicking. One week the offense will be on and the defense off or the other way around, like in the Garfield game. Just one or two touchdowns would have given it to us, as we held their offense down all through the game. We've got good material and the potential; that 3-5 record just doesn't fit us. Of course Frank Annichiarico's missing three games hurt us too."

"Also we have trouble in that second half," Sal noted. "It seems we're sparked up in the beginning, and do a right once we get rolling, but nothing happens the second half. Just like last week against Kearny. Our momentum from the first half carried us through, but this won't happen Thursday."

Sal has been playing with the team the past three years. Last year, he played some JV, and played varsity for the first time. Although he didn't finish the season because of a broken wrist, he still won his letter.

Sal is also a senior, 6'2" and weighs 175 pounds. He plays only offensive end, has done a great job. Combining on passes from George Sheridan or Joe Latore, a fine aerial scoring punch has been set up. In fact Sal scored the only touchdown in the first three games, taking a pass in the first quarter of the first game, with East Orange.

THREE LETTER-MAN

Sal is a "three-letter man" for the Blue and Gold as he also lettered in basketball and baseball last year. He has played basketball three years, and will begin his second Varsity season in a few weeks. Looking forward to his fourth year playing baseball too, Sal became the regular first sacker last year in his first varsity year.

Right now Sal isn't sure about going to college after graduation, but if he does he thinks he'd like to play football.

No Buts About It: Belleville Can Break Orange on Thursday

spot — occupied up until this time by Al Iacullo. Joe McDermott is in Joe Cernero's left guard spot and George Sheridan is moving to the left back position where Frank Annichiarico used to play. Annichiarico will now be at fullback and taking Sheridan's quarterback position will be Joe Latore.

These changes in the lineup may be the trick to an upset Thursday.

ORANGE HOT

Orange boasts some fine players including its "four winds" who are John Scott, quarterback, Joe Luongo, right end, Barry Thomas, right halfback, and David Gubitosa, fullback.

This quartette is Orange. They account for most of the squad's points this year and just about all of the ground yardage. Keep an eye on them Thanksgiving morning; they will be your key to forecasting the game's outcome.

Varsity Club's Football Dinner Date is Dec. 6

Belleville Varsity Club's 16th annual football banquet will come off Tuesday, December 6 in the Robin Hood Inn. Frank Gifford, New York Giants halfback, will be the guest speaker. The program is scheduled to start at 7:30 p.m.

The dinner will pay tribute to the Belleville High School football team. Another highlight of the evening will be the showing of the film "The Violent World of Sam Huff." Huff, another Giant, was last year's speaker at the banquet.

Tickets may be obtained through any of the following: Hugh Kittle and Herman Wische's office at Belleville High School, The Belleville Rosery, Anderten and Fobert Texaco Service Station, Ralph Casale at PLYmouth 9-6632, William Chapman at PLYmouth 9-2630 and Al Riffin at PLYmouth 1-2460.

Scott is particularly good on roll outs and has done some long running this season. Luongo is primarily a defense man—the type that likes to intercept passes. Gubitosa has earned the reputation of a crushing fullback.

Local fans who watched the Nutley - Orange game may remember Scott's scoring two touchdowns and pulling down a pair of Nutley passes.

FAREWELL

Fourteen players dressed in blue and white Thursday will be on the high school gridiron for the last time; they of course are the senior class members on the Belleville football team.

These seniors are Tom Perry, Sal LoCoco, George Sheridan, John Herbert, Frank Annichiarico, Fred Partus, Ralph Casale, Joe Cernero, Lou Genegrasso, Lou Mazza, Walt Smith, Carmen Mineo, Dan Carnavale and Craig Anderson.

Some of these guys however can expect to see some collegiate action next September. But in the meantime, they still have to beat Orange. -P.W.

Civil Air Patrol To Reach 19th Anniversary On Dec. 1; Invitation To Join Issued

The following statement in connection with the Civil Air Patrol's forthcoming anniversary was issued by Essex Composite of the Patrol, which meets at Irvington Community Center, 143 Clinton Avenue, Irvington:

"Thursday, Dec. 1, will mark the 19th anniversary of Civil Air Patrol's service to our country. CAP, as it is commonly called, is the civilian auxiliary of the United States Air Force.

"No matter what your occupation is, there is a place for you on the CAP team. Thousands of the senior members of CAP contribute to the success of the Civil Air Patrol as cadet instructors, chaplains, communications officers and in scores of other important assignments. There are many family groups in which the parents share the same enthusiasm as the cadets. There are members living in Nutley and Belleville.

"Civil Air Patrol was born just a few days before the bombing of Pearl Harbor. Fiorello H. La Guardia, Director of the Office of Civilian Defense, signed the order creating the Civil Air Patrol so that the opportunity for voluntary service by especially qualified citizens may be provided in line with the traditions of the nation."

"The organization is governed by a national board consisting of wing or state commanders, Air Force liaison personnel and civil ian employees of the Air Force, stationed at Ellington Air Force Base, Texas. The National Commander of CAP (required to be an Air Force general) currently is General McElroy.

"Civil Air Patrol pilots gave important service during World War II. In most instances the members used their own lightweight planes to hunt for the enemy submarines in coastal waters and call in the scattered combat forces for the kill. At first these forces were unarmed, but soon these 'Flying Minute Men' were dropping bombs and depth charges on enemy subs.

"The contribution of these volunteers in anti-submarine patrol, courier service, air search and rescue, border patrol and anti-aircraft tracking caused the late General H. H. 'Hap' Arnold, wartime Chief of the Army Air Force, to say 'The Civil Air Patrol grew out of the urgency of the situation; the CAP was set up and went into operation almost overnight. It patrolled our shores at a time of almost desperate national crisis. If it had done nothing beyond that the Civil Air Patrol would have earned an honorable place in the history of American air power.'

"When the war was over General Arnold sponsored Public Law 476, which made CAP a congressionally chartered non-working for American air power, providing aviation education for the youth of our country, and assisting in local and national emergencies. A year later it was made a civilian auxiliary of the Air Force. Since then it has grown steadily. It now has about 90,000 members, of which about 40,000 are cadets.

"The adult members help teach aviation subjects to the cadets of the patrol. Most Civil Air Patrol plane owners fly their aircraft on CAP missions. Other pilot members command CAP planes donated by the Air Force, but maintained by CAP members and patrons. CAP members receive no pay whatsoever for their services and pay an annual membership fee for the privilege of promoting aviation. CAP senior members also buy their own uniforms, the U. S. Air Force uniform with distinctive CAP insignia.

"The cadets must be in good physical condition and between the ages of 14 and 18. They study aviation in all its aspects. They learn about meteorology, navigation, aviation mechanics and the theory of flight. Through Summer encampments at Air Force bases they learn about Air Force life and procedures. They also take part in an annual international drill competition and an international cadet exchange by which outstanding CAP cadets are given the opportunity of a free trip to Europe or South Am-

"Honored cadets also are selected to take part in a jet orientation course sponsored by the Air Force. CAP also maintains a national radio network of more than 11,000 fixed, mobile and airborne facilities. They operate on both medium and very high frequencies assigned by the Air Force and blanket the 50 states, the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico and the District of Columbia.

"Essex Composite Squadron is your local CAP unit. The squadron is composed of about 15 seniors and 20 cadets. The seniors are from all walks of life—salesmen, clerks, stenographers, mechanics and many others. The cadets are mostly made up of high school and college students. They range in age from 14-18, but by permission may stay until the age of 21.

"The seniors of the squadron are mainly there as advisors and instructors. They conduct most of the squadron business. Their main objective is to create an air-minded youth. However, they also conduct air search and rescue exercises for the benefit of the country.

"The cadets, on the other hand, are tomorrow's seniors and are instructed accordingly. They have classes in all phases of aviation education. Each year the CAP sponsors a cadet exchange program through which cadets go for a specified length of time to a foreign country for free. It also sponsors a cadet drill exchange by which the best drill team competes with other cadets of this country, the winner competing with cadets of other countries.

"Aside from this foreign program, each Summer for two weeks the cadets can go to a regular Air Force base in their locality. While at this encampment the cadets follow military procedure and often are flown in military aircraft, sometimes even jets.

"Essex Composite Squadron cordially invites you to attend its 'open house' Friday evening, Nov. 25, from 7:30 to 10, at Irvington Community Center, 1143 Clinton Avenue, Irvington. At the 'open house' there will be displays and personnel to explain them and the different phases of CAP. If you are unable to attend this open house, write for further information to Henry N. Jacquemin, 168 Prospect Street, Nutley.

"There is a display in the window of the store at this address which should interest you."

AFIELD IN JERSEY

NOVEMBER

The murky skies of November might be thought by some to discourage the migration of birds. Unlike the hawks, however, which under normal circumstances move southward, with favorable skies overhead and strong north and northwest winds in back of them, the ducks and geese, and waterfowl in general, migrate under all conditions.

Visit the Jersey shore on most days in November and set up your spotting scope at a favorable station. Soon after your watch begins, a large wedge of black birds with long necks passes. A glance is sufficient to tell the experienced observer that the birds are cormorants, but the tyro may have to study the movement for a while. There is something about the movement that is characteristic.

Something was pointed out to me years ago by Charles Urner, the authority on New Jersey birds a generation ago. Urner said that cormorants always seemed to him to be large X-shaped birds with their necks out in front, their legs trailing and their large lateral wing spread. The wingbeat is moderate in speed. Fishing stakes attract them frequently and they perch upon them, and then inspect the water's surface for fish. Cormorants are common coastal species from October to April (they are present any month of the year, but are more common in winter).

The ducks are the most eagerly sought of all birds hunted by man. In decades when the breeding areas are in good condition, a percentage of the birds may be harvested with no detrimental effects to the species. Men, especially those out of touch with conditions on the breeding grounds, are inclined to believe that hunting of all species in all years is justified. A year when the pot holes of the part of North America are to a large extent dried up will be one requiring cutbacks in the number of individuals of a species that can be legitimately taken. In some cases the men of the Fish and Wildlife Service, to whom the waterfowl are entrusted, decide that a species should be on the protected list. This is not meant to deprive hunters of game, but only to prevent the extermination of a species. A series of dry years in the prairie states and provinces could sound the death knell for several species such as the canvasback, redhead, shoveller and ring-necked ducks.

If unprotected, a local species which may appear to be abundant, might in a decade be reduced to a dangerously low ebb. The greater snow goose is one of these. Breeding largely in Greenland and Baffinland, the bird winters in Delaware Bay off Fortescue, N. J., and in North Carolina. Formerly its range was much more extensive, but because its flesh is so palatable, its numbers have deteriorated.

The brant is thought by New Jersey hunters to be abundant. It is locally, but New Jersey may have a large percentage of the world's population wintering within its borders. Convincing men of the need for conservation of a species is sometimes difficult if local conditions seem to belie the position of the species as a whole. This is true of the brant.

The flights of ducks to the Atlantic flyway come from as far away as Alaska, the Yukon, Saskatchewan and the Dakotas. The salt water regions attract the great majority of our wintering duck population. The so-called duck-ponds of the North Jersey shore harbor numbers of scaup, ring-necked ducks, ruddy ducks and coots; the estuaries afford protection to American and red-breasted mergansers, to black ducks and mallards and to Canadian geese; the vicinity of jetties along the coast seem to harbor common and red-throated loons, horned grebes and harlequin and eider ducks.

Tremendous quantities of duck use the Mississippi flyway, going to Louisiana and the Gulf Coast. The pintail ducks and blue geese are truly abundant there. In New Jersey these species are found but in much fewer numbers than the Mississippi River basin. The southwestern counties each winter have pintails, and scattered birds occur on the Atlantic side at Brigantine refuge and else-

Amaranth Will Have Visit From State Heads

Ideal Court, Order of the Amaranth, of Belleville will meet Friday evening, November 25 at Masonic Temple, Joralemon Street, Belleville. An official visit will be made by the Grand Royal Matron and Grand Royal Patron of the State of New Jersey, Margaret G. Simkins and Leon P. Cooke, as well as grand officers.

Royal Matron Grace M. Stewart and Royal Patron William Novotny have extended an invitation to all Courts, members, officers and Masons to attend.

where, but nowhere is it abundant.

A few blue geese are found normally among the wintering snow geese. If the winter is bitter cold and Delaware Bay largely frozen over, the geese head south, but in other winters they remain in Delaware Bay, feeding on the roots of grasses, sedges and rushes of the marshes.

Another species which is at present in the decline is the wood duck, a bird that nests locally. Few of the birds ever winter with us. Even though artificial nests are established at Brigantine, not many are utilized by the species.

We who live in New Jersey are fortunate because considerable habitat is available for waterfowl (a collective term for loons, grebes, ducks, geese, coots, gallinules, etc.). Perhaps those who are afield during the winter months might do well to keep an account of the birds which seem to be in the decline (redheads, canvasbacks, ring-necked ducks) and submit their findings to me at Union Junior College or to a regional editor of the New Jersey Audubon Society (address of These individuals available from the N. J. Audubon Society, Ewing Avenue, Franklin Lakes). It is to be hoped the coming winter will not be severe; the summer production of young was low.

GSA Leadership Program Over, List Graduates

Five Brownie Troops and four Intermediate Girl Scout Troops will benefit from group leadership training just completed by Scout leaders. The course, a service to leaders of the Girl Scout Council of Greater Essex County has been in progress for the last six Tuesday evenings in the scout meeting rooms at Old School at St. Peter's, Belleville.

Included in the course were methods of teaching, discussion leading and organizing groups in planning program efficiently. Emphasis was placed on the role of the three neighborhoods in the Belleville District in making scouting possible for all local girls.

In welcoming new leaders into Scouting, Mrs. A. H. Verhagen, district chairman, remarked on the enthusiasm of the group. "It is wonderful to know that we have women who feel that our future citizens are worth the investment of their time and energies. With well trained and interested leadership, we can have a thousand or more Scouts in Belleville, and I hope it will not be long before we do," she said.

Training certificates were presented at a graduation ceremony by Mrs. Robert Underwood, district director for Belleville, and instructor for the course.

Those completing the course are Mrs. Manuela Costa, Mrs. Helen Cowan, Mrs. Edward Cypolinski, Mrs. Thomas P. Daley, Mrs. Lawrence Gildenberg, Mrs. Ann Higgins, Mrs. Robert Haley, Mrs. Margery Karatz, Mrs. Ernest McGill, Mrs. D. E. Odle, Mrs. Robert F. Individual Reading Needs Of Youth Stressed In Talk

Dr. Lavergne Strong, organization chairman of the International Reading Association, and curriculum director for the State of Connecticut, spoke on "Individualized Reading," before the I. R. A. Chapter of the Belleville Public Schools, at a dinner held recently at the For Hills Restaurant, Newark.

Dr. Strong stated that the council is growing steadily, reaching international proportion in countries such as England, Australia, Portugal and Canada. She pointed out that people are either for or against individualized reading, and said, "We do have, whether we care to admit it or not, a philosophy of education which in turn helps us to arrive at our decision in handling our everyday classroom procedure."

Discussing the needs of children, she said, "We must recognize the individual differences of children and meet these individual needs. They learn best when they move at their own rate and when they participate in the selection."

Another point stressed was motivation. Dr. Strong stated that motivation is the removal of barriers to learning. Remove the barriers and students can cope with the situation more readily and forge ahead at their own pace. Allow the barriers to remain and the students become confused and frustrated.

Asked the question, "How are we going to set these policies into motion?", Dr. Strong stated, "Forget about the bandwagon and find out the needs of your own particular school. Develop a criteria on how to select a book at the proper level, set up cards and a filing system in order to allow you the records necessary to know where you are with each child and where you are going.

"Allow the child to help keep his own records. Group work has a place and is necessary according to the need. Word recognition is important; never use unknown words but start with known words and lead into the unknown. Tell them why they're taking spelling, etc., and allow the children to do their own correcting after you designated that correction is necessary."

In conclusion Dr. Strong stressed the ability of the teacher to handle individualized reading, emphasizing the fact that only well trained teachers with special abilities would be able to handle individualized reading successfully.

Favors City Manager

Tax Council Head Criticizes Mayor-Council Type in Talk

Advantages of the council-manager form of government to Belleville were expounded before the Valley Civic Association at a special meeting which heard Salvatore R. Calabro, president of the Citizens' Tax Council.

Calabro highlighted strengthening features of the council-manager government type and compared it to the mayor-council form whose adoption is being urged by Commissioner George Kieran.

The Citizens' Tax Council for many months has been engaged in a campaign to force a referendum on the council-manager question.

Calabro said that the council-manager form is one "which Belleville vitally needs if it is to prosper and progress in the future." He told the Valley Association that "we must remove small men from big jobs and replace them with qualified individuals possessing the required background and experience to do a thorough and efficient job of municipal management."

ANTI MAYOR-COUNCIL

Noting the movement in Belleville toward the adoption of the mayor-council government type Calabro presented two reasons which he said cause this form to be "a wasteful, inefficient innovation which will not improve the welfare of the community in any manner whatsoever."

Calabro believes the mayor in a mayor-council setup "must make many promises to political hacks" during his election campaign and since the mayor alone makes the political appointments, Calabro asserts the best qualified personnel would not be named.

The second reason Calabro gives in opposition to the mayor-council type is that "it is probable that a person of little administrative ability might be elected as mayor because of his vote-getting appeal and this would indeed be disastrous for our community."

He noted that "if an inferior individual succeeds in becoming mayor, the people of this community will be saddled with him for a four-year period during which time he and his lackeys could completely drain the substance from this community."

BRINGS PETITIONS

The Tax Council head came to the Valley Association session armed with petitions calling for a change to the manager form. Calabro explained that the city manager under this type setup would be hired by the council from among professional applicants who may reside anywhere in the United States.

If what Calabro calls "an inferior individual" is hired as the city manager, presumably by mistake, he states that the council can remove him "at any time and for any reason."

Under the council-manager type, the manager serves full time, appoints and directs the department heads, prepares and submits the annual budget, attends council meetings has no vote but submits most of the business to be discussed.

Brooks Director Of Local Center

WILLIAM H. BROOKS

This photograph is of William H. Brooks, newly appointed director of the Cerebral Palsy School and Treatment Center in Belleville. The news release concerning Mr. Brooks' appointment was published in last week's Belleville Times. However, the accompanying picture with the article was not Mr. Brooks. The Times regrets any inconvenience resulting from the error.

He noted that there would be no mayor "in the old sense." The council picks its chairman from among its own membership. The chairman retains his vote but without veto or other powers and he then is commonly called "mayor" as a courtesy title.

END OF CORRUPTION

According to Calabro, "under the council-manager plan, the Belleville Town Hall will not be susceptible to becoming a scene of political corruption. Nor will it be dominated by shabby political cliques, self-service and self-perpetuating, utilizing patronage and favoritism to entrench themselves at public expense against dislodgment."

Calabro concluded his remarks by listing figures showing the popularity of the council-manager form of government. He cited that in towns of Belleville's size, "the manager plan is found in approximately 50 per cent of all communities."

He told that Belleville High political science courses and universities are teaching that the council-manager plan is the most efficient of the three types of municipal government adding that "the textbooks are not neutral or cautious in this matter; they are unanimous and positive."

He asked those attending the meeting who believe the council-manager government form to be the best for Belleville to sign the petitions provided by the Citizens' Tax Council.

Church Women to Elect

Election of officers will highlight tomorrow's meeting of The Belleville Council of Church Women. The annual business meeting is set for 10:30 a.m. in the Fewsmith Presbyterian Church.

Members are asked to bring own lunches. Beverages and dessert will be available. A film will be shown during the afternoon.

A Correction

In the November 17 issue of The Times, a headline stated that Rocco Liuzzi had been elected to head an organization of "Realtors." This was in error. The word "Realtor" is a copyrighted term referring to a specific organization of real estate agents. Mr. Liuzzi was elected president of the Preferred Realty Board of Bloomfield, Glen Ridge, Nutley and Belleville.

Rotary Governor Addresses Club Here Last Night

CHARLES E. LEMASTERS

The Rotary Club of Belleville was host to Carl E. Lemasters, Governor of the 747th district of Rotary International, last night at the For Hills. Making his annual official visit to each of the 43 Rotary clubs in the Northern New Jersey district, Lemasters addressed the Belleville club and also conferred with President Norman Thompson and committee chairmen on Rotary administration and service activities.

Lemasters is the owner of an insurance agency in Washington, Warren County, which bears his name. A member of the Rotary Club of Washington since 1952 (he previously was a member of the Hackettstown Club), Lemasters served as president in 1955-56. He has served on several district committees and was elected a district governor of Rotary International for the 1960-61 fiscal year at Rotary's 51st annual convention in Miami, Fla., last June.

He is one of 287 district governors supervising the activities of more than 10,600 Rotary clubs which have a membership of nearly 500,000 business and professional executives in 116 countries throughout the world.

He noted last night that wherever Rotary clubs are located, their activities are similar to those of the local club because they are based on the same general objectives—developing better understanding and fellowship among business and professional men, promoting community betterment undertakings, raising the standards of business and professions, and fostering the advancement of good will, under-

Town College Student Rescues Skindivers At Ocean Beach, N. J.

Richard Paft of Belleville and Robert Halk of Lyndhurst rescued two experienced Packanack Lake skindivers from the Atlantic Ocean November 20 at Ocean Beach. Paft and Halk are students at the Rutherford campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

The two Packanack skindivers, Robert Martin 18, and Linda Kuzman 15, have been practicing skin-diving regularly for four and two years respectively. They waded out past the first swell in seemingly calm water, carrying their flippers and headgear. Martin and Miss Kuzman reached only waist-deep water when they were caught by a freak undercurrent and swept seaward.

Sensing the emergency, Halk phoned police while Paft tied a borrowed fishing line around his waist. With a board, he reached Miss Kuzman, placed her on his back and they were reeled to shore by a fisherman. Then the Fairleigh Dickinson students reached Martin and got him ashore. He was unconscious.

Miss Kuzman and Martin were rushed by ambulance to the Point Pleasant Hospital. She was treated for shock and he for submersion. The couple was swimming off the shore of Martin's summer home in Sea View Avenue.

Tell School Board Present Facilities Very Inadequate

Belleville High School's physical education and athletic departments are working under overcrowded conditions with inadequate facilities, Herman Wische, director, told the board of education Monday night. He said the program "would be improved 1,000 per cent" if a new school were constructed in the stadium area.

Wische's statement came during the physical education department's presentation of its program before the school board. Board members hear similar reports from a different department at each meeting.

The Belleville director of athletics said three handicaps would be overcome if a new stadium school were built. First, the problem of large classes would be eliminated; second, facilities would be improved and finally, the school would be closer to playing grounds and fields.

The whole question of how the physical education department would benefit by the construction of a new high school in the stadium was raised by a direct question to Wische from Max Schwartz, board attorney.

Wische said that presently "we have an average of 105 students" per class. He noted that during some periods, rain or inclement weather may force three classes to use the gymnasium "for instructional sessions" and that disturbances among the different groups seriously handicap the program.

He figures that the proposed 1,000-student high school in the stadium area would reduce gym classes to about a 55-pupil average.

Showers and locker-room facilities are inadequate at present, Wische said. Earlier in the evening Edward Berlinski, director of the boys' elementary physical education program, said that these facilities generally are lacking in the lower grades.

PLAYING FIELDS

One of the most serious handicaps which a new school in the stadium area would overcome is the lack of playing fields. Wische noted at present the high school and playing fields are separated by distance and that several of the fields have to be shared between high school boys and girls and usually with grammar school children as well.

Wische reported that recent ratings of the department put "physical properties" at the lowest rank. Noting that other high schools often offer field hockey for girls, some archery and more programs like softball and soccer, Wische said that these activities all are not provided because of the lack of and crowded playing fields.

Others speaking before the school board Monday included Miss Ida Thompson, high school girls' physical education program; John Westlake, driver education and physical fitness tests; Stanley Scher, high school boys, and Mrs. Hilda Sherman, elementary school girls.

Francis C. Brown, president of the Foundation's board of trustees and the pharmaceutical company, said that the money will go toward the school's building fund.

Choral Vesper Service To Hear Advent Cantata

The Choirs of Wesley Methodist Church will join for a special choral Vesper Service this Sunday afternoon at four o'clock. The featured offering will be Dietrich Buxtehude's "Advent cantata, 'Rejoice, Beloved Christians'" which will be sung by the Chancel Choir.

The accompaniment for this work will be provided by a string trio and organ.

Among the guest musicians participating in this service of worship will be Peter Zaret, violinist, and former resident of Nutley. Zaret is presently studying at the Juilliard School of Music in New York under Joseph Fuchs. Zaret has given many recitals in this area and has appeared as guest soloist with the Nutley Symphony.

Assisting with the accompaniment will be Marcia Peck, cellist, and daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Samuel Peck of Belleville. Ann Kelsall of Belleville will assist at the organ.

The youth and children's choirs will also participate in the Vesper Service. They will sing an anthem by Healey Willan, "Come Jesus Holy Child to Me." The Rev. Frank C. Shannon, pastor of the church, will conduct the liturgy and David Greer, organist-choirmaster, will direct the music.
