HIGH SCHOOL REFERENDUM TOMORROW

Mothers Urge Commission's Endorsement

BULLETIN — Commissioners Sullivan, Grubis and Pico endorsed the school building program last night after meeting with the Mothers Committee for the High School. Commissioner Kiernan said he would leave the decision to voters but admitted loss of accreditation had placed a new light on the issue.

A group of mothers stirred by Belleville High School's loss of accreditation presented the town's four commissioners with a petition last night carrying almost 400 names supporting the school referendum.

Mrs. Anthony C. Izzo of 33 Van Houten Place began the campaign, which culminated in the meeting last night.

The meeting was arranged by Commissioner Harry J. Sullivan, director of Public Safety, acting for Mayor Isadore J. Padula who was out of town. Commissioner Sullivan had been the only commissioner to openly endorse the

Judge Rebuts Plea Of Tax Council

The Superior Court rejected the Citizen's Tax Council's attempt to postpone Thursday's referendum. Judge Nelson K. Mintz, in a hearing Friday, denied the council's request for an injunction that would have put off the voting, saying he found no evidence of any irregularity by the Board of Education that would warrant the "extraordinary relief of granting an injunction."

The council had attempted to stop the referendum on the grounds that its charges of alleged misconduct by the board

Calabro Presents CTC Arguments

Sal Calabro, president of the Citizen's Tax Council, presented a summation this week of his organization's opposition to the proposed new high school. He attacked again estimates showing that refurbishing and adding to the present school would be as expensive as building a new one.

Calabro also repeated his insistence that the Middle States Association, which withdrew

Teenagers Demonstrate How Adults Destroy Education

A surprise demonstration was held last night by Belleville High School students who were attempting to influence Thursday's referendum by passing the referendum for a new high school.

A nucleus of 50 drew large crowds outside the high school after the Passaic-Belleville basketball game inside. Students gathered to hang a stuffed dummy from a lamp post at Washington Avenue and Holmes Street to signify, they said, the Belleville citizens who "are hanging education."

to see what they're doing to us," said one student. "They've made us at us the only students in Essex County to be discredited."

Another added that perhaps "by shaming adults into realizing what they've done to us, they'll change things."

Several students agreed they were very worried about being accepted into college as a graduate of an unaccredited school. "We believe what Rutgers University says about accreditation," said one. An admissions official said last week that loss of accreditation could not be ignored.

Rutan Home Owner Sends Message Asking Yes Vote

Juliano Waits With Gag-Rule

Nicholas Juliano, school board member, postponed Monday night introduction of an amendment to limit authorization as school board spokesman to the board president. Juliano said at the last meeting of the Board of Education he would present it at the December meeting.

A Rutan Estates home owner added his personal appeal to the campaign for a new senior high school with a letter researched, prepared and mailed by him for his fellow home owners.

Edward T. Nowalk, a Belleville resident of five months, bought his home at 41 Rutan Road during the first referendum campaign. The prospect of a new high school, he said, was one factor in making him "choose to live in Belleville."

Nowalk found the Oct. 17 referendum defeat "disheartening" and decided people might not have been properly informed. "I decided maybe people like me

AN EDITORIAL

Take This Picture To The Polls Tomorrow

We have given deep consideration to the content of a new school editorial for this issue of the Times-News—the last before our voters visit the polls tomorrow, Thursday, December 21st, to vote on the question.

Nothing we could have said would begin to approach in significance and eloquence the words contained in the Middle States Association letter of November 15th addressed to the Belleville Board of Education, which in effect blacklisted Belleville High School with every college and university in the United States.

So—when visiting the polls tomorrow, Thursday, between 2:00 and 9:00 p.m. take with you a picture of the letter reproduced below:

OFFICE OF THE CHAIRMAN
3445 WALNUT STREET
PHILADELPHIA 4, PA.

OFFICIAL NOTIFICATION OF ACCREDITATION

November 15, 1961

Mr. Hugh D. Kittle
Principal
Belleville High School
Belleville 9, New Jersey

Dear Mr. Kittle:

The Commission on Secondary Schools at its meeting on November 13, 14, 1961 considered the reports and records relating to Belleville High School, including the report of the Special Committee which visited your school on October 30, 31, 1961. It is with regret that I report that the Commission acted to withdraw the name of Belleville High School from the List of Accredited Schools. The serious overcrowding resulting from increased enrollment, the limited program made necessary because of inadequate physical facilities, and the large classes seemed to the Commission to make this action necessary. This action follows the warning given in the official letter dated January 3, 1961.

Very truly yours,

R.D. Matthews

Voters Hold Fate Of New Senior High

Students Offer Services To Get Voters To Vote

Belleville students organized "to wake up the town of Belleville and plead for a 'Yes' vote for the new high school." A spokesman announced the group would provide transportation and baby-sitting services to help get out the vote.

Composed of students from all grades "who wish to further their education," the group formed "said one student" because of the realization that without accreditation Belleville's students will find it extremely hard to gain admittance to the college of their choice. College interviewers have told seniors that loss of accreditation will have a definite bearing on acceptance. We have been told our high school grades cannot be taken at face value."

The purpose of the group, according to one member is to enable people to vote. "We can do our part and offer our services

Light Vote Expected Large Vote Needed To Carry Proposal

Belleville citizens go to the polls Thursday to vote again on a new high school and additions to two grammar schools costing $2,982,000.

The Board of Education is seeking approval of a senior high school, at Passaic and Division Avenue, costing $2,730,000, and all-purpose rooms at Schools One and Four, costing $252,000.

The polls in all schools will open at 2 p.m. and close at 9. Two proposals making up the same referendum were defeated on Oct. 17. The count for the new school was 3,368 to 2,836; for the all-purpose rooms, 3,127 to 2,968.

There are 17,690 registered voters in Belleville. Observers have predicted a light vote because of the busy holiday season. Many have said a heavy vote would be necessary to carry the referendum.

The referendum was scheduled again immediately after the first vote. The Citizen's Tax

Berlinski Dropped As Head Grid Coach

Edward Berlinski, football coach at Belleville High School for the past 15 years, was relieved of football coaching duties by action of the Board of Education on the recommendation of the General Athletic Council.

The board also acted at its meeting Monday night to relieve the assistant coaches of their duties until a new head coach could be appointed.

Berlinski will remain as baseball coach and physical education instructor for seventh and eighth grades.

Applications will be screened by Herman Wische, director of physical education, and Dr. Frank M. Durkee, superintendent of schools. The new coach must be approved by the board. Conferences with the athletic council will be held.

Applications are also being

Bass Demands Mayor Padula Enforce Local Laws

Another Request Goes To Byrne

Another trip to the Essex County Prosecutor was made by this week by James R. Golden of 62 Tappan Avenue. This one contained the invitation that the prosecutor, Brendan Byrne, look into the payroll of the department of Public Works.

Already before the prosecutor is another of Golden's invitations—to look into a paving contract that was increased from $5,735 to $14,879. Another request before the prosecutor is to study the omitted tax assessment on former synagogue property. This request was made by John Bass, president of Rutan Estates Home Owner's Association.

The newest invitation concerns charges made by Golden at last week's commission meeting that members of Commissioner Robert C. Grubin's department were being paid for 44 hours of work and only working 42½ hours. Grubin

John Bass, prominent civic leader and president of the Rutan Estates Home Owner's Association yesterday demanded that Mayor Isadore Padula enforce the violations section of the municipal building code.

Prevented from speaking on the subject at the last Commission meeting by reason of Padula's enforcement of a ten-minute gag-rule Bass yesterday issued the following statement:

"When I was rudely stopped from speaking at the Town Commission meeting Tuesday night by the interruptions of Commis-

Mystery Teen

LOUIS DIBELLA

The last mystery teen was Louis DiBella, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis DiBella of 159 White Oak Terrace.

Louis looked very promising in football this year until his injury at the Garfield game. He wants to go to college and thinks he might want to become a dentist. Some of his spare time is spent at St. Mary's CYO.

ANOTHER TEEN

This week's mystery teen is becoming quite well known around the school even though he is just a freshman. He holds one of the Freshmen class offices, made a very good showing on the undefeated Freshman football team, and he is now going to take part in freshman basketball. Besides all this he has begun to show his academic ability by starting off with an A average.

Can you guess the identity of this popular, important freshman?

this week's $5.

Mrs. Molloy recognized her niece, who was shopping in Tannen's Shoe Shop. Mrs. Mahon was formerly from Mill Street. She moved to Saywood South in September. "So I don't see her as much as I did before," says Mrs. Molloy. But picking her out in a picture was certainly a nice way of seeing her. Mrs. Molloy agrees.

The Molloy's have lived in Belleville for 15 years. Mr. Molloy is employed by the Internal Revenue, working in the Newark office. The couple has four children: Robert, 24, serving with the armed forces in Germany, Thomas, 21, Joseph, 20 and Mary Anne, 11.

One of the persons in the photo is singled out with a circle. Readers are invited to identify this person and the spot where the picture was taken. The first one to do so—by mail or in person at the office of The Times—will receive an award of $5. Please note: Identification of the person and place must be made by coming to the office of The Times, 246 Washington Avenue, or by mail. Phone calls will not be accepted.

William H. Warner, director of Secondary Education of the Department, also said, "It is our hope that during this interval plans will be implemented for removing the sub-standard conditions now existing in the high school."

RUTGERS REPORT
Based on the Rutgers Report the Board of Education recommended a new senior high school to permit an over-all plan for improvement of education in kindergarten through 12th grade. The present high school would become a junior high, allowing a 6-3-3 year school program.

Studies by the school board architect, Alfonso Alvarez, show an adequate addition would cost $2,783,544—or $39,000 more than a new school. The Tax Council has argued building an addition would be more economical.

Improvement of education in kindergarten through 12th grade is more difficult and more expensive.

There is extra cost in the handling of materials on a small site and mechanical improvements are very costly, he said. In addition, officials pointed out, new construction can be amortized over 25 years, while work on an old building requires bonds be retired in a ten-year period. The Board of Education anticipated arguments that an alternative proposal should be permitted on the ballot with a statement of the law. "New Jersey laws do not allow alternate school plans to be presented in a referendum," the Board of Education said. "The law places the responsibility of deciding what school facilities are needed."

Council, opponents of a new school, failed Friday to get a Superior Court injunction postponing the referendum.

The Board of Education sponsored an open rally last night to present relevant information on the question. Among those present on a panel were Dr. William H. Twichell, county superintendent of schools, who spoke on how the County and State education office looks upon Belleville's school needs.

ACCREDITATION LOSS
The referendum comes after Belleville High School has been notified that it is being withdrawn from the list of accredited schools by the Middle States Association. In addition, the State Department of Education said the teaching staff was "working against severe limitation imposed by a building that is inadequate both for the number of pupils to be served and the curriculum of a modern senior high school in New Jersey."

The State said "Because present conditions cannot warrant the usual five-year approval period, we shall recommend to the State Board of Education that the approval of the school be continued on a limited basis until June 30, 1962."

JAYCEES SUPPORT SCHOOL

The Junior Chamber of Commerce repeated its full support for the high school referendum this week. "We are for this school," said a spokesman, Alan Bernstein. "We believe it failed the first time only because the public needed further education on the matter."

considered for the post of high school principal, which will be vacated at the end of the year with the retirement of Hugh D. Kittle. Dr. Duseigne indicated there was a possibility the new principal would be named by Jan. 1. If not, George Lees, vice principal for the past three years, would assume the duties of principal until one was hired.

The board accepted the resignation of Eugene J. Westlake, English high school teacher and freshman basketball coach, who has accepted an English teaching and guidance position at Northern Valley Regional High School. Westlake also assisted the school board director—at Belleville High.

Another Request

he said at that time he was paying men in his department the way they had been paid in the past, "always on the 44-hour week."

LETTER TO BYRNE

Golden's letter to Byrne, dated Dec. 14, read:

"Several weeks ago I advised you of conditions affecting a local municipal paving contract which I urged your office investigate to determine if any irregularities were inherent. I believe such an investigation may be in progress."

As an outgrowth of further examination of town records I have gleaned that for the past several years some approximately thirty-three (33) reputed hourly employees of the local Public Works Department have seemingly been paid on the official or final payroll for forty-four (44) hours of work per week (44 hours actually only working forty (40) hours). Many were also recipients of such time and one-half overtime pay for the weekly work period.

About two (2) weeks ago Comm. Gruhn the department director ordered these men to work forty-two and one-half (42½) hours per week, such order having been implemented. Despite the newly directed two and one-half (2½) hours of work which now offers a weekly total of hours worked of forty-two and one-half (42½) the men are still paid forty-four (44) hours at their prevailing rate.

ON 44-HOUR WEEK
"Belleville's payroll is calculated on a 44-hour work week for these men and so stated on the department's preliminary payroll."

"Mr. Byrne, it is difficult for me to accept that any transgressions of the law that might have been perpetrated by a public official's representatives, if such they were, would justify or condone the continuance of the same malpractices by a new office holder. I question the propriety of the certification of the preliminary payroll and the approval of payment certified by the official or final payroll for forty-four (44) hours of pay if only forty (40) or forty-two and one-half (42½) hours of work were actually performed. A gross amount in excess of $50,000 appears involved for the past three years."

"May I sir, beg your indulgence by inviting you to cause to be conducted an appropriate investigation by your office into all the facts and broad connotations of this situation, giving a view to ascertaining if any deviation from accepted payroll practice were committed."

Calabro

Belleville High School from its list of accredited schools, did not say Belleville must have a new school, since that association does not dictate to school authorities. He acknowledged that the association has pointed out some solution was necessary. Rutgers University and Columbia University experts, hired by the Belleville school board, recommended a new school as the best solution. In a statement he said:

"On Dec. 21 you will again be asked to vote on whether or not you desire a new Senior High School for Belleville. "As you know, the Citizen's Tax Council has openly opposed the addition of a new school to our present ten school system without plans to introduce corresponding or sizeable economies which we have demonstrated as possible. I am sure that you will agree that 11 schools for a school population of approximately 5400 pupils is indeed inefficient and costly. Consequently, on your behalf the Citizen's Tax Council has on various occasions suggested various economies which would provide the enriched educational program which we all desire, at minimum cost to the taxpayer. As a matter of fact, on two separate occasions, after the defeat of the Oct. 17 referendum, I offered the Board of Education the cooperation of the Citizen's Tax Council in working out a sound, economical, educational program in conjunction with the Board and other interested civic organizations. My offer was never accepted because apparently, the present Board of Education is not interested in any other resolution of the educational problem other than the one they unsuccessfully tried to sell the voters on Oct. 17."

PRESENTED HONESTLY
"We argued at that time that the issues involved should be presented to the people honestly and factually and that both sides should be given an opportunity to present their views. We still feel the same way. Apparently, the majority agreed with us as evidenced by the defeat of the Oct. 17 referendum."

"The referendum to be held on Dec. 21 is essentially the same as the one which was defeated by the people on Oct. 17. Therefore, the CTC sought an injunction to delay this referendum until after February 1962 when a new Board would be in office which might be more responsive to the voters' desires. We failed in our efforts because the irregularities we complained about during the Oct. 17 referendum were no longer apparent this time. In a sense we were gratified because we feel that the change for the better is due to our efforts to maintain high standards in school referenda. Now the voters may go to the polls and vote objectively on the basis of facts and not propaganda."

"This is the way we like it!"

Give the people the true facts and let them make the final decision since after all they pay the bill.

MIDDLE STATES ASSOCIATION
"In order to clarify the present situation, I would like to highlight some matters which might be confusing to some people. The first is the issue of the Middle States Accreditation. Let me emphasize that Middle States has never said that we must have a new high school. As a matter of fact, in a letter which they wrote me, they clearly stated that it is not their practice to dictate to local school authorities and that they would be willing to consider other solutions. Therefore, a new high school is a solution—but not the only solution. An additional building would also probably be satisfactory."

"I would also like to clarify the statement that to refurbish the present high school and add a new building on the present site costs as much as the new proposed school. This is not so! The refurbished high school with an additional building would house 1350 pupils whereas the proposed new high school would only accommodate 1000 pupils. Furthermore, we doubt that refurbishing and adding a new building would be as costly as it has been represented to be, since the estimate was made by the same architect who planned the new high school. Therefore, it is highly improbable that this estimate is as reliable as it would have been if an unbiased architect had been used."

REST CASE
"This letter is the only action the Citizen's Tax Council will take on this referendum. We will not circulate any other additional information because we feel confident that the issues have been amply aired and that by this time you know what you desire. Therefore, we will rest our case with you. However, prior to closing, the Citizen's Tax Council would like to emphasize that as a civic organization we are vitally interested in good education but we are also interested in securing the lowest possible tax rate consistent with obtaining adequate vital community services. Consequently, we have a right to expect efficient administration of our schools just as we do for other departments of government and we should guard against waste and inefficiency sponsored and condoned by alleged lofty purposes which are lacking in substance and which cannot stand the scrutiny of a rigorous analysis."

Now that we have skimmed over the highlights, the decision is yours to make. Vote in accordance with your best judgment and thus help your community make an intelligent decision. Don't neglect your civic duty—go out and vote because it is only through a large vote that the true cross section of community opinion is realized."

"On behalf of the Citizen's Tax Council and myself I wish to take this opportunity to wish you and yours a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

Survival In Nuclear War Is Examined Four Ways At Belleville Symposium

The effectiveness of fallout shelters in the event of nuclear warfare was discussed at a symposium on "Foothold Memorial Presbyterian Church, Belleville, Wednesday evening, Dec. 13. The Rev. George Van Leuven minister of the church, who served as moderator, made it clear that the subject was not being discussed — only discussed. The session last week attracted about 100 persons and was sponsored by Belleville Tri-County Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, formerly known as Nutley-Belleville Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy.

To participate in the exploration of the value of shelters, the sponsoring group had invited three points of view: that of civil defense, which favors the construction and use of shelters; that of the sponsoring unit, which opposes shelters on the grounds that the only way to survive a nuclear war is to prevent it through negotiation with other nations, particularly Russia; that of the scientist, whose argument is that nuclear bombs are so powerful, no shelter could afford protection against them; that of the clergy, which holds the view that dependence on God is of greater importance than reliance on shelters.

The several views were represented by David Daniels, Belleville High School science teacher and radiological officer in the Belleville civil defense organization, who spoke in favor of civil defense; the Rev. Charles Bonner, pastor of Knox Presbyterian Church, Kearny, representing the clergy; Dr. Philip Feiglson, Columbia University professor, who presented the scientific aspect; Donald Keys, program director of the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy, who championed the viewpoint of the Sane Committee.

Dr. Feiglson, a member of the Scientists Committee for Radiation Information, described what would happen when a nuclear bomb fell (blast waves traveling at a speed of 1000 miles an hour . . . second-degree burns up to 24 miles away from point of explosion . . . all material other than concrete and steel would ignite immediately, etc.) but pointed out that these were effects over water and desert and that it has never determined what the effects would be in a modern city of steel and concrete were hit.

Saying he was speaking for himself rather than as a representative of civil defense, Daniels said that he considered war inevitable and that fallout shelters would be the only hope for protection available under such circumstances. He urged that shelters be sought by all.

On the other hand, Keys, the Sane spokesman, saw nothing but darkness ahead for this country if a nuclear war broke out. Few people, if any, could survive nuclear blasts, he thought, and those who did survive the original attack, he claimed, should find it impossible to continue living because of contamination.

The problem, he said, was to find a way of avoiding the consequences ("We do not want to be dead or Red") rather than seek measures for saving a comparatively few lives. His answer was controlled disarmament and discussions with the Soviet Union which might lead to the elimination of nuclear bombs as weapons and even the elimination of the threat of war altogether.

The Rev. Mr. Bonner, who spoke of the morality of nuclear warfare and who is associated with the Sane movement was perturbed by what he termed Daniels' "defeatist" attitude in accepting war as unavoidable. He feared the consequence of people "leaning on" shelters as protection in case of war and deplored the "why worry" frame of mind induced by such dependence on shelters.

Impressed by the scientific view of the disastrous effect of nuclear bombs, the clergyman called for a united campaign against war.

During the open discussion period, which had to be curtailed the Soviet Union.

He said he felt hurt when all Russians, even those in Russia, were labeled as "barbaric" and "untrustworthy." It was his view that many Russian people did not agree with the thinking and policies of the political leaders of the country.

This was seen as support for the theory that "pushing for controlled disarmament" among the peoples of the world — even those in Russia — could prove fruitful.

Recruiting Counselor Has Income Tax Forms

Sergeant First Class Granville Marshall, local Army recruiting counselor for West and North Essex County, with headquarters in Montclair Post Office, has available a variety of income tax forms for the general public. On order also are a limited number of non-resident New York tax forms. No assistance will be given in completing tax forms.

This is the fourth year that Sgt. Marshall has extended this courtesy, which is other than his assigned duty but serves as a public relations gesture. The Montclair Army Recruiting Station is located in the Post Office at 366 Bloomfield Avenue, Montclair.

A. Barbata Again Elected Officer Of Clara Maass

ARCHIE BARBATA

At the annual dinner-meeting of the board of trustees of Clara Maass Memorial Hospital, held at the hospital in Belleville Thursday, Dec. 14, John F. Kiddle, chairman of the board of Walter Kiddle & Company, Inc., Belleville, was re-elected to his fifth term as president of the hospital board of trustees.

Other officers re-elected were: presidents: Karl J. Olson, president, Olson Travel Agency, E. Orange; Henry C. Pfaff Jr., president, Pfaff & Kendall, Newark; vice president and treasurer, Archie C. Barbata, president, Bank of Nutley, assistant treasurer, Herbert V. Peterson, investment management, Newark; secretary, John D. Fischbeck, retired; assistant secretary, Albin H. Obereg, executive director of the hospital; corresponding secretary, the Rev. John R. Weber, pastor, St. Matthew's Lutheran Church, Newark.

Elected to the board of trustees was Leslie W. Finch, Belleville attorney.

A highlight of the meeting was the announcement by Mr. Kiddle that plans were proceeding for the new 100-bed wing addition to the hospital. These plans should be completed by mid 1962 and it is expected that the campaign for funds will get under way in the early fall. It is hoped that construction will get under way early in 1963.

This new addition, as a further step in the development program of the hospital, has been prompted by the heavy and unexpected demand for beds since the hospital opened, and particularly during 1961. As of the end of November, more than 46,000 patients had been admitted since the hospital opened in August 1957. During 1961, an average of more than 1000 patients per month has been admitted.

Also in his yearly report, Mr. Kiddle called attention to the new School of Nursing, dedicated in August of this year. This new building, named the Louise C. Kiddle Hall in honor of his mother, will provide accommodations for 100 student nurses, an increase of 50 per cent over the capacity of the old school.

Another forward step in the development program was the graduate nurses' apartment building with accommodations for 16 graduate nurses, also dedicated in August. This building is known as the Mary Jennings Lee Residence, named in memory of the wife of Charles Lee, a former Director of the hospital.

Attention was called to the

After Graduation Opportunities Discussed

Lieutenant C. A. Linder, Cadet Procurement Officer, U. S. Coast Guard Academy, visited Belleville High, Wednesday Dec. 13, and met with seven interested junior and senior boys. He described the program of studies offered at the Academy, and the application procedure. According to Lt. Linder, it costs the U. S. Government $40,000 to train a cadet. At the end of four years the cadets are commissioned ensigns in the U. S. Coast Guard.

Interested students may obtain applications for the U. S. Coast Guard Academy in the high school guidance office.

On the same day James Krieger of Wagner College visited the high school to speak with five interested juniors and seniors. Krieger explained the admissions requirements at Wagner College. In addition to outlining the regular liberal arts program, Krieger discussed the four-year nursing degree course offered by Wagner College.

A Christmas Prayer

By ALDEN DE RONDE

Father, give us the wisdom to realize and truly evaluate the many benefits we are capable of bringing about through serving our fellow-men.

Teach us to comprehend that serving conscientiously and unselfishly results in greater satisfaction to the servant than to the served.

Please, God, never permit us to look upon any man as being so far below us in station that we are ashamed to serve him. Tomorrow may bring a reversal of positions.

Allow us, Father, the privilege of remaining in close communion with Thee at all times so we may absorb and retain the strength and the resolution to serve quietly but without limitation.

In the realization that Thou hast, in Thy wisdom, given to all men the power to aid all others, we pray Thee to confer upon us an ever-increasing determination to utilize this power as servants, rather than wait for others to serve us.

Let not the possession of mere worldly goods tempt us to sacrifice the greater wealth which comes to him who serves where and when the need of service becomes evident.

Whatever we see that needs doing so that others may benefit, please, God, give us the character and the strength to do it with a might that knows no restraint nor compromise.

Give us to think daily, Father and particularly on this Christmas Day, of our responsibility toward others, and help us, through service, to bring into our community a spirit of neighborly cooperation, and may we be instrumental in filling the hearts of our townspeople with a sense of security and of—

Peace and Good Will,
Amen.

Ushering In An Important Period

We are entering one of the most vital periods in the life of a municipality—the time when budgets are prepared.

In many instances, town officials already are busy on preliminary figures for 1962 municipal budgets and 1962-63 school budgets. Soon these financial documents will be completed and presented to the people for their approval.

There is a timetable established by law for the preparation and taking action on budgets: municipal, school, county. We present this information now—quite early in the budget-making period—for one simple (but highly important) purpose: we want the Belleville people to be warned far enough in advance to make it possible for them to plan to participate in the discussions which should precede final action on the figures set up for the coming year.

A municipality's governing board cannot approve a budget prior to Jan. 1 and it must do so no later than Feb. 10. Municipal budgets must be advertised no later than March 10 and public hearing must be held no later than March 20. It is customary to take final action at the meeting at which the public hearing is held.

In the case of school budgets, action must be taken somewhat earlier. The law says that Boards of Education (in communities such as ours) must have their budgets prepared on or before Jan. 9. The figures must be advertised seven days before the public hearing, which should be held no later than Feb. 1. Final action on the figures is taken by the public when the voters pass judgment on the document at the election on Feb. 13—at which members of the school board are chosen also.

The county budget, too, must adhere to a timetable. It is much earlier than that laid down for municipal budgets. No later than Jan. 26, the Board of Chosen Freeholders must have its figures ready. Publication of these figures must take place no later than Feb. 15 and adoption of the budget can take place at an advertised public hearing held no later than Feb. 25.

The logic of early action on county and school budgets is recognized when one realizes that the County tax rate and the amount required by the schools determine in large part what the local tax rate is going to be.

We urge the people of Belleville to show a concrete and early interest in all three budgets referred to above. We recommend that the people not be content to await publication of the figures and announcement of the public hearings. It is none too early to ask questions now as to what is proposed by those in office to include in the several budgets.

And when the public hearings are announced, they should be attended by large numbers—not to heckle, but to offer constructive comment. If the budgets appear to be fair and equitable, the officials responsible should be complimented. There should be no speech-making just to hear oneself talk. If there is cause for objections, by all means they should be submitted—in an orderly and helpful manner.

There is a growing desire for separate municipal and county tax bills. Municipal officials like the idea because it pinpoints the county's responsibility for tax rate increases and high budgets.

The same can be said about school district tax bills. While the school budget is compiled by the Board of Education with no contact with the governing body of the municipality, the town collects the money and turns it over in bulk to the school trustees. The amount required by the school is made part of the taxes the town will collect—just as is the sum demanded by the county. The town acts as tax collector for earmarked school and county funds.

The two-fold argument advanced by proponents of separate bills, is, first, that it is unfair to give the impression that the municipality is asking, for the entire tax load when it is merely serving as collector, and, second, that it would be useful to impress upon taxpayers how much of their tax money goes to the school, how much to the county and how much remains in the municipal treasury for purely local purposes.

We hope calling attention to budget procedure this early will influence more people to take an interest in the finances of the town, school and, especially, the county than have ever before shown such concern.

Living In Moderation

No word better expresses the proper philosophy of life than the word moderation. We do not mean to suggest that moderation can be applied to any practice, since many practices are bad even when practiced in the slightest degree.

However, in living one's life, moderation is a general guide which can be used to solve most of life's problems concerning habits, work, play and other activities. It is difficult for anyone, whether he is a teacher, preacher or a parent, to outline a flat rule of conduct which covers all students, all members of a church, or all children. In each case, the answer may differ slightly.

The individual must learn to think for himself and exercise self-discipline. He cannot rely upon ironclad rules to guide him through life and become his philosophy or substitute for common sense and the ability to make decisions in life. Each individual must live his own life and must decide, as best he can, what is best for him.

Jesus Himself believed in moderation, as any student of the Bible knows, and laid down comparatively few arbitrary rules of conduct for His followers. Rather, He taught that man should believe in God and dedicate his life to Christian living and helping his fellow-man.

The great strength of many of our religions is that they encourage the thinking process and discourage fossilized mummified doctrine and dogma, which no longer made sense in the light of modern science and human progress. While religious principles never change, human beings should continue to seek enlightenment, and the true spirit of Christian living, in the hope that further progress can be made.

While blind obedience to a set of rules may be in the best interest of many, it is not necessarily in the best interest of Christian progress and enlightenment. Civilization's greatest leaders have been thinkers, and many of them have been branded as radicals or revolutionaries in their day. Nevertheless, they refused to blindly conform to the demands of the narrow-minded of their time.

UP SPEAK

Rejoices At News Of Rahway Vote For New School

Dear Sir:

If I were a resident of the town of Rahway, N. J. I couldn't help but rejoice at the news that the citizens of Rahway had voted to support their school improvement program. I telephoned my congratulations to a member of the Board of Education and received a few words of encouragement and a wish of "Good luck, Belleville."

Rahway will construct a new junior high school and make an addition to the senior high school. The truth is that each problem must be solved by the method which most fits the need. The Rahway victory accords in a most significant manner and a very appropriate time the necessity and desirability of our own school expansion and improvement program.

It is almost inconceivable that in this day and age there resides in such large numbers adult persons who appear to be prosperous, progressive and intelligent yet intentionally refuse to accept the recommendations of authoritative opinion from highly respected educational sources. Almost as scandalous as the discovery of a thief in our midst this fact is met by reasonable and responsible people with shock and disbelief. It should not be so difficult for people to understand that education is the life insurance of our democracy.

The citizen who does not feel obligated to support public education while he is fortunate enough to be able to provide a private one to his own is denying the very basis of the foundation of the brotherhood of man and the spirit of the golden rule, and for those may have forgotten it, "Do unto others as you would have others do unto you."

Our generation is being expected to make decisions which are unprecedented and which can only be made by the most highly trained, educated and dedicated who possess the highest quality of moral and social justice. How then can we ignore the warning from those who have examined our school system and advise us that it no longer provides the basic requirements to meet the needs of and ever challenging and changing world?

Our children are the most priceless contribution we can make to the future and we must not short change them at the most critical period of their lives. Let us not relegate the Belleville High graduate to the list of second class applicants before college entrance examination boards.

In the words of the immortal Aristotle, "All who have meditated on the art of governing mankind have been convinced that the fate of empires depends on the education of youth."

An honest examination of conscience will insure a vote which will restore our faith in our own good judgment and save our children's chances, our schools and our town. Vote yes, yes, yes. Respectfully submitted, MRS. A. C. IZZO should be heard by the State Board of Education before any voting takes place. These charges refer to actions by the board before an earlier referendum was held Oct. 17. Judge Mintz denied the group's argument that such actions would have a carry-over effect on the coming referendum. The council charged the board with using school children to distribute material supporting the school proposal. Affidavits from school officials denied the charges, said Judge Mintz. He said there were no supporting affidavits from the tax council.

To the council's request that public funds be given to them to present their side of the building question, the judge asked the council's lawyer, Seymour S. Weinblatt, if he realized "how perfectly unmeritorious" this was. Weinblatt had tried to prove that the board's material was one-sided and warranted the board's financing a presentation of the council's ideas. The tax council's charges against the board were to be heard on Dec. 11 and 12 but Weinblatt had asked for a postponement until January to prepare his case. The request for an injunction came after the postponement was granted. Judge Mintz insisted that the case could have been heard already if the tax council had not been lax. He pointed out that the council "sat by and did nothing" as early as November that the Board of Education was planning a second referendum. He said that Weinblatt was not retained until the end of November. "SPECIALLY TIMED"

The judge continued that the council "had plenty of opportunity to avail itself of the chance" to have the charges heard earlier. The council, he said, "was somewhat less than diligent in prosecuting." He called the council's action against the board "specious."

Max N. Schwartz, attorney for the school board, said the tax council was acting to "confuse the public and defeat the referendum." When the charges were first made, school officials called them an attempt to embarrass and cast suspicion on the building program.

The judge also commented on Belleville High School's lost accreditation. "You wouldn't regard that as complimentary," he said to Weinblatt.

school building program. Before the last referendum he urged its adoption at a mass public rally. "I guess everybody knows where I stand," he said yesterday. IMPROVE EDUCATION

"Improving education," he said "is something that has to be done to provide our children with the best things possible. We're not in that position now."

He insisted the "town is letting them down." The commissioner cited the importance of the referendum, not only to the town children, but to the value of each home here. "It's a form of insurance for both," he said. The value of a home depends upon what the community offers, he said. "Values go down when the desirability of a town lessens."

He pointed out that some better homes in Belleville were "not moving well" on the real estate market. When competition among buyers decreases because persons aren't moving here, the value of property decreases, he said. GAVE THE BEST

Mrs. Izzo explained the mothers were vitally interested because "I think we mothers have a bigger stake in this. We raise our children and try to give them the best and now we might fail them in the most important years of their lives, their college and high school years. Every time we do for our children goes to waste if we don't see that they get the best chance in education."

The mother of two children, one who is 12 and the other is 4, Mrs. Izzo works full-time from her home assembling security seals. "I'm busy," she said, "but I don't think anyone is too busy to help her children."

Mrs. Izzo was aided by Mrs. Charles F. Bogert, Mrs. Bernard E. O'Connor, Mrs. John Pappagallo, Miss Marie Serrettella and Mrs. Filippa Bruno.

Two Short Weeks: Your Co-operation Asked

The next two weeks will be short ones for this newspaper because of the holidays on succeeding Mondays: Christmas Day, Dec. 25, and New Year's Day, Jan. 1. This will reduce materially the time available for sending the Dec. 25 and Jan. 4 issues of the paper to press. Your co-operation is solicited. Please submit news and advertising material at the very earliest opportunity. Turning in copy on the Wednesday, Thursday and Friday preceding each issue will be most helpful.

Spatz Urges Holiday Drivers To Use Caution

The Christmas and New Year holidays, and the week that separates them, are characterized by gaiety, activity and togetherness. Unfortunately, many persons never stop to realize that it is also a time when numerous hazardous influences can intertwine to weave a tapestry of tragedy.

Chief of Police George R. Spatz points out that the year-end holidays are one of the year's crisis points so far as traffic accident occurrence is concerned. "It's a happy time of year," the chief reflected, "but several ingredients are present which can spell undue trouble if not kept under vigilant control. "First, the fact that families and friends like to be together at this time of year means a general work-out for family automobiles. The resulting increased traffic, while so important to our enjoyment of the season, signals a need for increased alertness and caution when driving and walking.

"Then there is the ever-present possibility of bad driving weather—sleet, snow and slippery streets. People hate to miss a holiday celebration so they are inclined to drive whatever the weather. We can't stop them, but I would like to remind them of the importance of driving a safety-checked car, fully equipped with required and optional winter driving aids: windshield wipers, checked for adequate arm pressure and blade condition; adjusted lights; proven brakes; and reinforced tire chains in trunk, ready for use when needed.

"Then there's the danger, which we should frankly recognize, that conviviality may lapse into over-indulgence, leading to severe impairment of one's ability to drive safely. A National Safety Council survey revealed that 55 per cent of Christmas season fatal traffic accidents involved drivers who had been drinking."

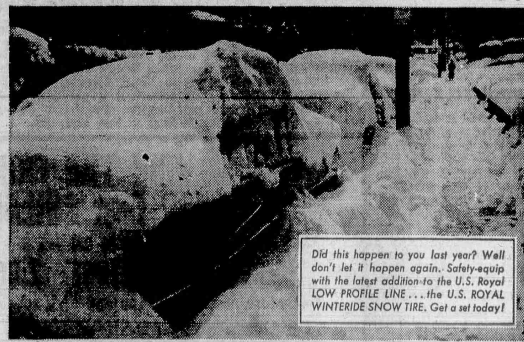

Research has also proved that the driving ability of many drivers can be seriously affected by relatively low levels of alcohol in the bloodstream. From observation of drivers over a period of many years, the men on this police force can tell you that most drinking drivers are affected more severely than they realize. Never trust the slightly intoxicated driver who says, "I'm okay"—especially if that driver happens to be you.

"The best advice is the old advice: Don't drink and drive." Chief Spatz expressed the hope that local residents would use common sense and moderation, not as dampers on their holiday merriment, but as safeguards to assure that happiness would not suddenly be turned to sorrow for someone.

The famous New Jersey Tea Party was held December 22, 1774, in Greenwich, Cumberland County. The tea had been unloaded from the brig "Greyhound" ten days earlier and stored in the home of Daniel Bowne. On the 22nd, 20 young men, disguised as Indians, carried the chests of tea out and burned them.

Driver Not Hurt In Car Tumble

It was only the eve of the hunting season, Mrs. Flora Gelbarth isn't a hunter and even though she got her head a deer, the wasn't at all happy about it.

Driving in Pennsylvania, Mrs. Gelbarth of 24 Moore Place, struck a deer with her car. "I tried to swerve and avoid hitting it when it ran in front of my car and my car completely turned over," she said. "It made a complete tumble, but do you know nothing happened to it mechanically. All it needed was a complete paint job and it will be fine."

Mrs. Gelbarth, who owns Florida's Beauty Salon at 447 Washington Avenue, said neither she nor her sister, Mrs. Russell Stahl, with whom she was driving, were injured. "It was a miracle we weren't," she said, and then added, "but that poor deer."

OBITUARIES

Luke A. McCool Sr.

Luke A. McCool Sr. of 194 Fairway Avenue died Wednesday, Dec. 6 at Essex County Hospital after a long illness. He was 80. The funeral was Saturday, Dec. 9 from Damiano Memorial Home. A Solemn High Mass of Requiem was offered in St. Peter's Church. Interment was in Holy Cross Cemetery.
Mr. McCool was born in Scranton, Pa., and lived for 20 years in Newark before coming to Belleville 14 years ago.
He was employed by the Veterans Administration in Scranton, teaching rehabilitation crafts to veterans. Later he traveled through the United States working with the claims division of Veterans Administration.
He worked for Driver-Harris Co. in Scranton for five years and was transferred to the Harrison plant in 1928. During World War II he worked in defense as a forman for Crucible Steel Co., Harrison.
The sixth son of six sons, Mr. McCool was honored by the city of Newark for having six sons in service during the war. In his mid-sixties at that time, he was doing defense work. His wife, the late Mrs. Rose Anne Hall McCool, was an outstanding blood donor during those years.
He was a charter member of the First Fire and Hose Department of Scranton, which recently celebrated its 50th anniversary.
Mr. McCool is survived by his six sons, Thomas, with whom he lived, William of Hidesville, L.I., Mr. St. Hugh J. serving with the Air Force at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., Luke A. Jr. of Newark, James of Jacksonville, Fla. and Philip of Dayton, Ohio. He also leaves nine grandchildren.

Max Kraftschick

Max Kraftschick of 171 Cedar Hill Avenue died Wednesday, Dec. 13 in East Orange General Hospital after a long illness. He was 65.
The funeral was held Thursday, Dec. 14 from The Suburban Chapel Philip Apter and Son. Interment was in King Solomon Cemetery.
Mr. Kraftschick was born in Russia. He lived in The Bronx before moving to Belleville 15 years ago.
He was a retired accountant. Mr. Kraftschick was a financial officer of Congregation Ahavath Achim.
He leaves his wife, Mrs. Ida Rokin Kraftschick; a son, Harry Kraft, of North Caldwell; a daughter, Mrs. Chester Koss, of Long Island; a brother, Irving Kraft, of New York; a sister, Mrs. Isadore Greenberg, of The Bronx, and four grandchildren.

Clarence L. Morehouse

Clarence L. Morehouse, formerly of 18 Wilson Place, died Tuesday, Dec. 12 in Belleville after a long illness. He was 68.
The funeral was held from Kiernan Funeral Home on Saturday, Dec. 16. A Solemn High Mass of Requiem was offered in St. Peter's Church. Interment was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery, Montclair.
Mr. Morehouse was born in Newark. He moved to Belleville in 1919. He was employed as a factory supervisor with Sonabone Paints, Nutley, until he retired in the 1940's because of illness.
His wife, Mrs. Abbie Thomas Morehouse died in 1954.
Mr. Morehouse leaves a daughter, Mrs. William Pappas of Midtown, and a son, Edward W. Morehouse, of East Orange, and four grandchildren.

Peter Chimento

Peter Chimento of 222 North Belmont Avenue died Thursday, Dec. 14 in Clara Mass Memorial Hospital of a stroke. He was 60.
A Solemn High Mass of Requiem was offered in St. Anthony's Church on Monday, Dec. 18 after a funeral from Zaro Funeral Home, Interment was in Mt. Olivet Cemetery.
Mr. Chimento was born in Brooklyn and had resided in Belleville for 36 years. He worked for 38 years as a printer with Boorum and Pease, Brooklyn and had been on disability retirement for the past five years.
He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Mary Constantino Chimento; three sons, Carmine and Ralph, both of Belleville, and Luciano, at home; a daughter, Miss Angelina Chimento, at home; two brothers, Mariano of Brooklyn and Frank of Huntington, L.I.; four sisters, Mrs. Salvatore Alasia, Mrs. Vincent Zechino and Mrs. Otto Stahl, all of Huntington, and Mrs. Louis De Feo of Brooklyn, and four grandchildren.

Approximately 1,000,000 tree seedlings are grown each year and sold at minimum cost to New Jersey landowners to promote reforestation. The trees are raised at the Department of Conservation and Economic Development's nursery at Washington Crossing State Park.

THE 96,000-acre Wharton Tract, administered by the New Jersey Department of Conservation and Economic Development, has nearly 400 different types of plants. Among the 36 varieties of trees found there are eight species of oak.

Birth Of Jesus Christ Local Churches Herald

Christmas, the holy season of the year, will be observed with great rejoicing and solemnity in churches of Belleville. Sunday morning, Sunday night and on Monday as throughout the world the Day of the Incarnation is remembered by Christians. Traditional music and carols of old will be sung and played to remind the faithful of the coming of Christ in a humble stable in Bethlehem.
Midnight Masses and services will take place in many of the town's churches, commemorating the birth of the Saviour of the world who redeemed mankind almost 1,000 years ago.
Among the services here will be the following:

ST. ANTHONY R. C. CHURCH

Christmas Choir will sing Christmas carols from 11 to midnight on Christmas Eve. A Solemn High Mass will be offered at midnight in the Church and a Mass will be held in the Chapel also. On Christmas Day, Masses will be at 7:30, 9, 10, 11 and 12 noon in Church. Masses in the Chapel will be held at 9, 11:05 and 12 noon.

ST. PETER'S R. C. CHURCH

A Solemn High Mass will be offered at midnight on Christmas Eve. On Christmas Day, Masses will be at 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12. The 9 o'clock Mass will be a Children's Mass at which children's carols will be sung.

BELLEVILLE REFORMED CHURCH

A Candlelight worship service will be held at 7 p.m. Christmas Eve. On Christmas Day, services will be at 10 a.m.

CHRIST CHURCH

A family service will be held at 7:30 p.m. Christmas Eve and at 11 will be The Christmas Festival Eucharist. Holy Communion will be at 10 Christmas morning.

FEWSMITH MEMORIAL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The annual Christmas Candlelight Service will be held at 8 p.m. Christmas Eve. At the morning church school on Sunday special Christmas observances will be conducted in each department.

GRACE BAPTIST CHURCH

After a half hour fellowship of the Baptist Youth Fellowship at 6:30 p.m., members and friends will go carolling until the Christmas Eve Candlelight and Carol Service at 8 o'clock.

LITTLE ZION, U.A.M.E.

A Christmas sermon will be given by the Rev. Nancy E. Forsberg at the Sunday worship service.

Materials & Methods Vary When Teaching Reading

The I. R. A., International Reading Association, annual dinner was recently held at the For Hills restaurant. Dr. Ailsa E. Smith, Director of New York University's Reading Institute, reading authority, author and lecturer spoke on "Differentiating instructions to provide for the needs of learners through methods and materials."

Never have methods of teaching primary reading been more varied, said Dr. Smith. Never have materials been more profuse. Perhaps this variety and abundance are due to the generally recognized need for improving reading instruction and the earnest desire to find more of the effective procedures and mediums for meeting the exigency of this situation, she said. Whether a pressing need is felt by many people, numerous solutions are offered and reading is no exception to this generalization.

Individualized instructions are probably the most discussed plan currently offered as a procedure for teaching reading. It is effectively, according to Dr. Smith. This plan as it is usually carried out, combines and applies much of our modern information concerning child psychology. It is self-propelled, the child selects that which satisfies him, and he works at his own pace. According to noted educators, seeking self-selection, and pacing are fundamental concepts in child development, she pointed out.

Collectors of trade books constitute the most commonly used reading material from which the children make their choices. In some cases, however, the teacher includes reading texts in the self choice collection of books, she said. The method was explained as being that of silent reading by pupils at their seats, plus individual oral reading conference at which the child is given help with unrecogized words. Some comprehension questions are asked and a record is made of the child's progress and needs. Periods of individual or group practice on skills are usually provided.

Very little valid research has been conducted in regard to the effectiveness of individualized instruction, she said. The studies that have been made are contradictory in their results, some indicate superior results in reading achievement over other methods. Many of them report an increase in pupil interest and teacher enthusiasm. Much more careful evaluation of this plan is needed, Dr. Smith said.

Many linguists are now urging the structural approach to reading, it was said. This emphasizes the recognition of basic structural principles of word order as being fundamental in learning the reading process. Methods for utilizing the structural approach in teaching reading are just beginning to evolve. No doubt this concept holds much promise. Experimentation should be encouraged, Dr. Smith said.

Several schools are now experimenting with visual approaches to reading through the medium of film and television. "While those who employ television teaching report excellent results, I believe that none of them would advocate the exclusive rise of television in teaching reading," she said. Television is looked upon as a supplement to other learning situations in reading instruction.

Many educators, she said, would feel the use of formal lists of phonic rules and phonic terminology are inappropriate for beginning readers, or for those in any of the primary grades.

"Special mention should be made of the different types of materials and their particular uses in meeting individual needs. All of the current basic reader stories take into consideration the meeting of individual needs. Provision for differentiation is evidenced in several ways: in carefully controlled vocabulary which advances in small increments, in carefully planned skill development programs which gradually extend in scope and sequence. Another provision is seen in the trend to increase the number of books in a basal series in order to better meet individual needs. Diagnostic tests are often provided for the teacher to use in assessing individual needs. The teacher's manuals continuously point out procedures for helping individual children. Attractive trade books, easy books intended for reading in the early primary grades, and paper backs are finding their way into schools with good results."

Each of the methods discussed, said Dr. Smith, has some good features. Some elements of each may prove themselves to be superior when working with certain individuals. Teachers should be equipped with materials to use in teaching several of these methods, then left to his own judgment in regard to which one, or what combination of several to use with certain pupils.

Sixty-six people attended the dinner, including Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank Durkee and Mrs. Durkee, state organization Chairman of the I. R. A. Mrs. Alma Liotta, school board members, town principals, teachers and parents and friends.

MISS BARBARA HOFFMAN

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman of Carpenter Street, Belleville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Barbara Marian Hoffman, to Rocco V. Agostino, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Agostino of Passaic Avenue, Nutley.

Miss Hoffman, a graduate of Belleville High School, is associated with the Prudential Insurance Co., Newark. Her fiancé, an alumnus of Nutley High School, is employed by American Food Stores, Passaic.

MISS BARBARA L. MINER

The Rev. Edwin D. Miner and Mrs. Miner of Ramsey, announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara L. Miner, to Evan Hughes Thomas, Jr., son of Mrs. Evan Hughes Thomas of 153 New Street, Belleville, and the late Mr. Thomas, former Superintendent of Belleville schools.

Miss Miner is a graduate of Ramsey High School, and is employed as a secretary at Tung-Sol Electric, Inc. Bloomfield. Mr. Thomas, a graduate of Belleville High School, took his pre-medical studies at Lafayette College and Fairleigh Dickinson University School of Dentistry, Teaneck. He served two years in the Armed Forces, 15 months of which were spent in Korea.

MISS IRMA TORRIERI

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pezza of 53 Overlook Avenue, announce the engagement of her daughter, Miss Irma Torrieri, to Francis P. Ciccone, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis P. Ciccone of North 9th Street, Newark.

The bride-elect, daughter also of the late James Torrieri, is a graduate of Belleville High School. She is a legal secretary in Newark. Mr. Ciccone, a graduate of Solon Hall Preparatory School, is a junior at that university.

MISS MARGARET HASSAN

Mr. and Mrs. Anna Hassan of 237 William Street, Belleville, and Edward Hassan of 648 Mt. Prospect Avenue, Newark, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Hassan, to David Martin Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Stevens of 84 Romaine Avenue, Jersey City.

A graduate of St. Michael's High School, Newark, and St. Joseph's Hospital School of Nursing, Paterson, Miss Hassan is presently a staff nurse at St. Michael's Hospital.

Mr. Stevens was graduated from St. Peter's Preparatory School, and St. Peter's College, Jersey City, with a B.S. degree in Physics. He is presently a field engineer with Sperry Rand Co., Long Island. The wedding will take place January 13, 1962.

Congregation AA To Honor College Students

Congregation Ahavath Achim of Belleville will dedicate its office to college students on Friday, Dec. 22.

At the Oneg Shabbat, a discussion entitled, "Knowledge from the University and from Judaism—Do We Choose?" will be held. The discussants will be Daniel Schwartz, George Washington, Michael Ross, Franklin Marshall and David Thaler, University of Mississippi; Marcia Gruhn, Jersey City State; Joan Fellman, Simmons; Susan Fischel, Albert Einstein, Howard Ellis, M.L.T.; Carol Jacobson, Rutgers; and Michael Sussman, Columbia.

The discussion will then be open to the other students and Congregation. Rabbi Victor Cohen, spiritual leader, will lead the service and make the concluding remarks.

Rutan Estates Assn. Has Children's Party

More than 100 children participated at the Rutan Estates Home Owners Association children's Christmas party Sunday afternoon at the VFW home. A children's show was presented by June and Don Stirling of Newark. The youngsters sang songs with a choir and received toys from Santa Claus.

Toys not distributed will be given to St. Anthony's Orphanage, Arlington, this week. John Bass, president, and George A. Augusto were in charge of the party.

Horman Retires From U.S. Navy

Matthew Horman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Horman of 14 Marion Court, retired last month as Chief Petty Officer in the U.S. Navy.

A graduate of School Five and Belleville High School, he began his naval career on a submarine chaser at the beginning of World War II. He was on a destroyer in Japan when the peace treaty was signed there. He also was an instructor at Key West, Fla. He saw action during the Korean conflict and was also stationed in Hawaii for three years. Specializing in submarines and underwater detection, he was assigned to work with the first atomic tests.

Horman and his wife, Rose, will make their home in Norfolk, Va.

Virginia Ann Kulvicki Named To Dean's List

Virginia Ann Kulvicki, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Kulvicki, of 76 Nollon Street, has been named by Dr. John E. Brown, Jr., president of John Brown University, Sileom Springs, Ark., as one of the honored students to merit a place on the 1961 mid-semester Dean's List of Distinguished Students.

According to Dr. Brown, a student must carry at least 12 semester hours with a 4.0 or higher average in academic subjects, and a grade of B or better in vocational training, to be placed on the Dean's list. Virginia Ann, one of the 68 outstanding students listed, is a Sophomore majoring in English.

Party For Veterans

Belleville - Nutley Chapter 22, Disabled American Veterans, held a Christmas party at the Veterans Hospital, East Orange Monday evening, Dec. 11. Refreshments were served.

SUEDE

For just a slight general brightening up of suede articles, there are several things you can do. A wire brush, of course, helps quite a bit — and it'll help still more if you first go over the suede with a cloth dipped in vinegar. Another good brush-up can be done by rubbing a piece of stale dry bread over the surface of the suede.

Parents Without Partners Will Hear Cartoonist

The Essex-Union Chapter of Parents Without Partners, Inc., non-profit, non-sectarian, educational organization, devoted to the welfare and interests of single parents and their children, will have as guest speaker at a meeting Friday, Dec. 22, Miss Kay Kato, cartoonist-lecturer.

Miss Kato's cartoons and paintings have appeared in outstanding magazines and newspapers, and she has appeared on the Jack Parr Show and the Jimmy Dean Show. Miss Kato will sketch volunteers in the audience and present them with the pictures. The meeting will be held at The Coronet, 925 Springfield Avenue, Irvington.

Columbus Hospital Has Christmas Party

The Welfare Council of Columbus Hospital, Newark, held its Christmas party Dec. 15, at Thomm's Restaurant, Newark. The program included a skit, written and directed by Miss Marie Russomano and Miss Eleanor Malgeri, followed by a visit from Santa Claus who distributed gifts. Philip Deher was chairman, assisted by Miss Diane Malgeri, Miss Ann Auremiano, Emil Crisafulli, Miss Louise Stefanelli, Miss Helen Miles and Miss Shirley Sagan.

Christmas Stockings Filled For Patients At Greystone

Seventy women patients in Ward 45 at Greystone Park Hospital were presented with gay Christmas stockings, bulging with sweets and surprises, on Sunday afternoon. The stockings were filled, taken to the hospital and given personally to each patient by Mrs. Joseph Novotny and Miss Estelle Schillat of Nutley. Miss Beverly Van Wagner and her mother, Mrs. Charles Van Wagner of Montclair and Mrs. Joseph Van Ness of Bloomfield. Mrs. Van Wagner, Mrs. Novotny and Mrs. Van Ness are sisters. This is the fourth year that the women have made the Christmas visit to the hospital.

Miss Van Wagner, a registered nurse now on the staff of Barnert Memorial Hospital, Paterson, was formerly employed at Greystone, and it was her idea to prepare the stockings and take them to the women patients. Her family joined readily in the project.

"The women in the ward look forward to it and sit there waiting patiently for us," Miss Van Wagner said. "The stockings are beautiful and it's quite a joy to fill them. We all sit around the kitchen table at home the night before we go and stuff the stockings."

They are filled with hard candy, gingerbread, mince pie and popcorn. A comb and face cloth also go into each stocking as well as some nice soap, prettily wrapped.

To make the stockings even more festive, a piece of novelty jewelry, donated by neighbors, nurses and other friends, is added to each. The donors take old Christmas cards, cut out the pretty pictures with pinkish shears and pin or tape the beads pins or something else sparkly to the Christmas scene which is then affixed to the stocking.

It's a lot of work and a lot of pleasure, and the women say they wouldn't miss seeing the happiness of the patients, who, although many of them have lost track of time seem to know that it is Christmas time. They respond to Christmas carols and to the holiday atmosphere, and with no exception seem to have been pleased and to understand about the gift stockings.

Carol Frantum Is Betrothed To Fred Ferriero

The engagement of Miss Carol Anna Frantum to Fred Ferriero of 120 Jay Avenue, Lyndhurst, will be announced by Miss Frantum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Frantum of 87 Union Avenue, on Christmas Day, Mr. Ferriero is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Ferriero. The bride-elect attended Belleville High School. Her fiancé is employed by John Hawkins & Son, Nutley. The wedding will take place Sept. 8, 1962.

VACATIONS IN HAWAII

Louis Donato of 261 Greylock Parkway left Thursday, Dec. 14, by plane for a two week stay in Hawaii. Traveling by way of San Francisco and Sacramento, Mr. Donato is visiting his son who is stationed in Hawaii with the U. S. Army. His trip was planned by Belleville Travel Service, 246 Washington Avenue.

Eugene Ormandy Will Conduct At Mosque Jan. 3rd

No other major symphony orchestra in the world plays more concerts or travels more miles during its average season than the Philadelphia Orchestra, which will be heard at the Mosque Theatre Wednesday evening, Jan. 3, under Carnegie State Concert auspices. Average seasonal audiences to which Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra play total about 220,000 during more than 80 concerts in the Academy of Music in Philadelphia.

The orchestra is the most recorded orchestra in the world and it would be impossible to count the millions who enjoy their own concerts at home. Eugene Ormandy is the integral part of the orchestra's heavy schedule, conducting at least three hundred of all concerts during a given season. The orchestra will be heard in the following program, the second number of which: The Hindemith, is being presented for the first time in Newark. "Rhapsody," "Burynath," "Hindemith, Symphony Mathis der Maler, and Tchaikovsky, Symphony No. 6 in B minor, "The technique."

Clifton Grabs Game On Last Minute Shot

By ROGER WARTELL

Belleville's cagers — dropped their second game last Tuesday when they lost a squeaker to Clifton 57-53. The contest, which was played in Belleville, was close all the way with the home-town retaining the lead until the third quarter. The Bellboys lost the lead in the final seconds after holding a four point edge with a little over a minute to play. Ken Van Dalen was the leading scorer with 24 points. Bob Van Dyne led Belleville with 16 points, with Tony Raimo, Dave Hatch and Bob Byers all hitting in double figures.

The Bellboys jumped into a 14-8 lead at the end of the first period on the fine shooting of Bob Byers and Dave Hatch. Clifton rallied early in the second quarter with six straight points to tie up the score. From here the home team again took the lead and at the end of the first half the score read 31-26 in favor of the Bellboys.

Two Wins Put Chets Ahead In Senior Rec Basketball

In the senior circuit of Recreation Basketball competition Chets Cleaners holds down first place with a perfect two and 0 record. King A. C. and Dolphins are tied for second place with identical records of one win and one loss. The Bruins A. C., a pre-season favorite for first place, has dropped its first two encounters much to the surprise of the experts and is in last place with an 0-2 record. Scores first week: Chets 73-Bruins 38 and King A. C. 47-Dolphins 46. Second week: Dolphins 50-Bruins 47 and Chets 57-King A. C. 52.

The Intermediate League seems to be very well balanced and the majority of the games have been won by one or two points. Tied for first place are the Chargers and Lions with one win and no losses. The Vikings, Celts, Jesters and Branch Brook are tied for second place with one and one records. Chets holds the cellar position with two losses and no wins. Scores first week: Vikings 44-Chets 43; Lions 37-Jesters 31; Celts 25-Branch Brook 24. Second week: Jesters 50-Chets 47; Branch Brook 58-Vikings 57; Chargers 47-Celts 26.

In the Junior League eight teams battled in their first week.

Try For Second Meeting Fails; Hearing Date Set

Another meeting to discuss property owned by the wife of Commissioner Robert C. Gruhin, director of Public Works, was sought this weekend by Padula. Commissioners contacted refused on the grounds that the matter had already been discussed at a meeting last Wednesday.

At that time the commissioners met with the Mayor, Isadore J. Padula, the tax assessor and town attorney, but Gruhin did not attend. Gruhin had requested a meeting with the mayor, and Emanuel DeNoia, assessor, and Thomas D'Avella, attorney. The mayor extended it to include the commissioners.

Gruhin later protested the meeting in a letter, saying "I note from the press of December 14, 1961, that a special meeting of the Board of Commissioners was held on Wednesday, December 13. At no time was I given notice of any special meeting, either in writing or orally. Any such meeting and any action taken at that time were improper.

"At the conclusion of the regular stated meeting of the Board of Commissioners on Tuesday evening, a conference was held with a committee group. This broke up subsequent to 11 P.M. No mention was made at that time that a special meeting would be held the following morning in the mayor's office."

Mayor Padula has insisted that the commission majority did not order him to cause the property to be assessed. He said the complaint was signed the day before by William J. Friel, the tax collector.

CONCURRED

The three commissioners, George F. Kiehlman, Nuncio R. Pico and Harry J. Sullivan, concurred unanimously with what had been done, said the mayor. The complaint was notarized the day before also, Padula pointed out.

The complaint was ready to be filed, before the meeting. It was not filed, however, until after the meeting ended.

At a commission meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 28, Padula said he would introduce a proposal about the property at the next meeting. The proposal, which was not introduced at the Dec. 12 meeting, was: "That William J. Friel, Tax Collector of the Town of Belleville, N. J., is hereby empowered and authorized to file a complaint with the Essex County Board of Taxation for four omitted tax assessments for premises in the name of Congregation Ahavath Achim at 317-319 Washington Avenue, Belleville, N. J., Block 133, lot 36, or its successors in title, for omitted taxes for the years 1960 and 1961 by reason of the fact that Congregation Ahavath Achim has lost its tax-exempt status for these premises in accordance with law."

The property was bought Dec. 1, 1960 by Mrs. Gruhin. The deed was not filed until one year later, Dec. 6, 1961. Gruhin had been accused of avoiding payment of taxes on the property that had been tax-exempt.

The Essex County Tax Board set Dec. 28 for a hearing on the complaint that Belleville should get 18 months back taxes on the property. The town has billed the congregation from July 1960 to January, 1961. Mrs. Gruhin was assessed from Jan. 1, 1961.

The town is seeking $2,231 from Mrs. Gruhin and approximately $1,115 from the congregation. Town records show the building assessed at $50,000 and the tax at $13,000. Gruhin has said the assessment is too high. He and synagogue officials said the building and grounds were purchased for $14,000.

Gruhin filed a plan and building permit application with the building inspector on Dec. 14, 1960 which set forth the Congregation Ahavath Achim as the owner of the property. We now learn that Mrs. Robert Gruhin became the owner 14 days before her husband filed the building application and plan containing inaccurate information.

"I demand Mayor Padula instruct his personnel to enforce the law with regard to the discrepancies contained in the building application filed by Gruhin. I am forwarding this demand to the Essex County Prosecutor so as to alert him to the violation involved."

"This is what Gruhin and Padula stopped me from saying at last Tuesday night's Commission meeting when Padula enforced the un-American gag rule and Gruhin preempted even the ten minutes time Padula allotted to me."

Bass Demands

sioner Robert Gruhin and the enforcement of a gag rule by Mayor Isadore Padula had intended to demand of the mayor that he take steps to enforce our local laws.

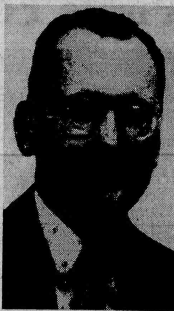

"Much has been said and printed about the tax-exempt status of the former synagogue building at 317 Washington Avenue.

What is escaping public attention and a matter which Padula and Gruhin both probably want to forget is the inaccuracies of the application for building permit filed by Gruhin. Part One, Paragraph 19 of the Belleville building code reads as follows: "Any owner or agent who violates or is accessory to the violation of any provisions of this ordinance shall be liable to a fine of not more than $20.00 or to imprisonment for not more than 30 days, for each offense. Each day's violation shall constitute a separate offense. Violations shall be prosecuted and penalties collected in the manner prescribed by law or ordinance in the Town of Belleville."

Gruhin filed a plan and building permit application with the building inspector on Dec. 14, 1960 which set forth the Congregation Ahavath Achim as the owner of the property. We now learn that Mrs. Robert Gruhin became the owner 14 days before her husband filed the building application and plan containing inaccurate information.

good valuation for my home."

Nowalk, office manager of the Newark branch of the National Cash Register Company, and his wife have two children, a 15-year-old in eighth grade and a seven-year-old in second grade.

His letter mailed last week to his Rutan neighbors read:

"I am certain that everything that can be said has been said by the Belleville Board of Education in favor of the new proposed school expansion program. These people are our elected representatives for education in this town and know without a doubt what they are advocating."

"We all have read pages and pages of reports, have followed newspaper articles, etc.; and from these have absorbed as much as we could. On the basis of these our opinions for or against the school expansion were formulated."

"I am not a qualified educational expert, nor do I have a college degree. But I want to bring these facts to you in everyday words as Rutan Estates Home Owners as the real reasons why each and every one of us has an obligation to vote in favor of this school expansion."

NEWEST HOMEOWNERS

"We are, among the newest homeowners in Belleville. We have a great deal of pride in our homes; and they represent in the vast majority of cases many years of saving and sacrificing before we were in a position to buy them. When the time came to buy we chose Belleville; and I am sure careful consideration was given to the educational facilities the town had to offer. Why then have we sat back and listened to vicious propaganda from would-be amateur experts on education who continually dwell on high taxes as the end result of a modernized school system.

"We have a higher investment in our homes than the average citizen. We paid more, and of course we want to protect our investment. Let me tell you right here and now, whether you want to believe it or not, the loss of the Middle States Association Accreditation of Belleville High School has struck a severe blow at your home investment. This has already happened. It is not something which will come in the future. Stop and ask yourself, "Who would consider buying a home in Belleville at this time with the run down and overcrowded school system when they can find equal values in other neighboring towns which have modern schools?"

ADDITIONAL EXPENSIVE

"The would-be experts have told us that an addition to the present school would suffice at this time. The Board of Education have secured estimates on the cost of such an addition, and it was found that actually this would equal, if not exceed, the cost of building the new school. In addition to this, the bonds necessary for this type construction would be based on a 10-year repayment schedule. This means that actually your taxes would go up 2 1/2 times the amount they will if the new school is built. And the cost of maintaining and staffing this new addition will be the same as for the new school."

"In 1961 the town of Belleville received approximately $80,000 in state aid. The State Board of Education has served notice that it will continue the approval of our schools on a limited basis until June 30, 1962, expecting that something will be done to remove the sub-standard conditions existing here."

"If we turn down this school expansion program at this time, and we do lose state approval, you and I, the taxpayers, will have to dig down into our pockets to the tune of $80,000 more each year in taxes; and what's worse, we will still have sub-standard, unaccredited schools. On the other hand, if we go forward with our Board of Education, great efforts will be made to increase the amount of state aid we are now receiving, and in the long run we will all benefit."

"The proposed location of the new high school is of great advantage to the Rutan Estates homeowners. It is well within walking distance for children; and can be considered an excellent sales argument in your favor from the standpoint of valuation on the resale of your home, should it become necessary."

"Right now you are thinking 'This all sounds great, but will it cost me too much increased taxes?' It has been estimated by our educational people who should know that the average tax rise will be $33 per year. This figure takes into consideration an average $17 increase per year resulting from the new construction plus an additional cost of $16 per year for necessary increased operating costs of the new school. Breaking this figure down further, it will cost us $2.75 a month, and figuring on the basis of a 30-day month, our daily cost will be less than 10 cents.

"Furthermore, this, basing the estimated tax rise on construction of the addition to the old high school, since we will still need additional staffing, etc., and we will only have ten years to pay for this, your tax rise will approximate $59 per year, or $4.92 a month or 16 cents per day. Now, I ask you, "How much is too much?" This is a decision you must make."

SOUND DOLLAR VALUE

"Thirty-three dollars a year is certainly a reasonable enough fee to pay for a completely renovated and modernized school system that would be second to none; and still maintain and guarantee sound dollar value, and even increase it on your home."

"I have attempted to bring to you the main reasons, each having a bearing on you and me, why we have no other choice but to vote in favor of the new school. Read this letter over carefully a second time; discuss its contents with your family and neighbors. These are true facts and have a bearing on each and every one of us as homeowners in the Rutan Estates."

Abramson To Be Honored At Dinner-Dance

WILLIAM ABRAMSON

Plans have begun for the annual dinner-dance of Congregation Ahavath Achim at which William Abramson, a leader in the Belleville Jewish community for 30 years and long active in civic projects as well, will be honored.

The affair on April 7, 1962 at the congregation's Sisterhood Hall, 125 Academy Street, marks the 38th year of the congregation's existence, and the 38th year of Mr. Abramson's service on its board of directors.

A gala entertainment program is planned. Wilfred Yudis is chairman of the dinner-dance committee.

to discuss suggested resolution," he would wait until a later date.

The amendment to the rules would exclude the representatives from acting as board spokesmen. The board president's power would remain unchanged.

"If we turn down this school expansion program at this time, and we do lose state approval, you and I, the taxpayers, will have to dig down into our pockets to the tune of $80,000 more each year in taxes; and what's worse, we will still have sub-standard, unaccredited schools. Efforts Made To Simplify Filing Income Tax Form

In an effort to improve individual income tax returns and make the instructions more meaningful, U. S. Commissioner of Internal Revenue Mortimer M. Caplin has announced that individual taxpayers who are required to file 1967 Federal income tax returns will have two forms to choose from instead of three.

In his announcement, Mr. Caplin unveiled the new two-page Form 1040, which combines the better features of the first two pages of the 1960 Form 1040 and the discontinued Form 1040 W.

Page one of the new Form 1040 provides space for listing the sources of income, the computation of tax by either the optional tax table or the tax rate schedule, a listing of tax payments and credits and a computation of tax due or refund. Page two provides a schedule for listing exemptions and various schedules for itemizing deductions.

The revised Form 1040 should make the preparation of tax returns much easier for those taxpayers who previously filed on Form 1040 (nine million in 1960) and whose income was from salary and wages and in addition did not receive more than $200 of dividends and interest.

Those taxpayers who have previously filed on Form 1040W (7 1/2 million in 1960) will be able also to use the Form 1040 in the same manner as they have used Form 1040W in the past.

Schedules for reporting various types of income which heretofore appeared on page three and four of the Form 1040 will be contained in a separate Schedule B for 1967. Therefore, this schedule and other convenient schedules need only be completed and attached to the Form 1040 by the small percentage of taxpayers whose income consists of income other than salaries and wages or receives dividends and interest in excess of $200.

Improved printing techniques have enabled the Service to revise the format of the forms package, which consists of all necessary forms, schedules and instructions, and to rearrange its contents in a more orderly sequence. Forms and schedules are now perforated for easy removal from the package, thus eliminating the confusion of removing and separating bulky and sometimes unnecessary forms and schedules.

The convenient line-by-line instructions developed for assisting taxpayers in preparing their returns have been inserted in the forms package to immediately follow the forms and schedules to which the instructions apply. In addition, the instructional material has been clarified by eliminating confusing and unnecessary technical language and phraseology.

Mr. Caplin further announced that the very few changes in the simple punch card Form 1040A other than minor revisions for clarity and typographic. He urged taxpayers with income of less than $10,000, which consisted entirely of wages reported on Form W-2 and not more than $200 total of dividends, interest and other wages, to avail themselves of this form.

Mr. Caplin said that more than 61 million packages for delivery to individual taxpayers will be placed in the mails late in December and that every effort will be made to send each taxpayer the simplest form he can file.

Federal income tax forms for the preparation of 1967 returns will be available about Dec. 15 at all district offices in reasonable quantities to accountants, attorneys and other professional personnel who need advance copies.

Safe Driving Prevents Accidents Like Magic

A magician-turned-policeman right there as the other delivered a trick - studied talk on traffic safety to students of Belleville High School on Monday afternoon, Dec. 11.
The speaker was Lt. Carl S. Pike, Pike, currently on leave from the Kent County Sheriff's Department, Grand Rapids, Mich.,
who is maestro of the "Safety Magic Show." Sponsored by the American Trucking Associations, Inc., of Washington, D.C., the show has been booked by the New Jersey Motor Truck Association for appearances at 20 secondary schools in this state from
Dec. 4 to 15.

Pike was a magician on the stage before he became a policeman 13 years ago. His show has been presented in schools in 48 states to more than three and a half million students.

MAGIC FEATS

He sprinkled his hour-long talk with feats of magic, each illustrating an important safety point for teen-agers, especially those who have recently obtained driving licenses. He also relied heavily on humor to keep his audiences laughing while learning.

much right there as the other fellow; shove on your brakes when skidding - it makes the job more artistic; drive close to pedestrians in sloppy weather - for a fine game of monkey tag; make your turns without looking back - you make acquaintances that way.

Jane Wittek was called from the audience to help Lt. Pike with student after his lecture. There was a very high accident rate where he lived, he said, "and I thought I should try to do something about it."

The presentation has been endorsed by many educational and civic organizations, including the New York University Driver Education and Safety Institute and the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents. Pike himself has been commended by governors and police and education officials in many states for his work in safety education.

SAFETY FLAG - Making a safety banner appear out of thin air is just one of the many tricks performed by Police Lieut. Carl S. Pike in his "Safety Magic Show" for teen-agers. The show was presented in Belleville High School, under the auspices of the New Jersey Motor Truck Association.

Lt. Pike said teenagers are accident prone because they do not think of the responsibility they hold when they drive. The minority of young drivers are reckless, he said, but there are many who are careless. "I have an 18-year-old son who is an average driver, so I know what I'm talking about," he told one

ing, business English, calculating machine, comptometer, dental assistant, legal secretary, practical nurse, power machine sewing, stenography, typists.

Additional courses may be organized for employers, labor unions, or government agencies requesting training not regularly provided. Those interested in special courses of this nature should contact the Essex County Technical Schools, Part-time Division, 1060 Broad Street, Newark.

President Urges UNICEF Support

President John F. Kennedy has urged "all my fellow-citizens, young and old, to support UNICEF generously again this year."

In a statement issued from the White House, President Kennedy noted that "The world's children offer our greatest promise for the future. It gives me great pleasure to send a message of congratulations and support to UNICEF again this year."

"The United Nations Children's Fund has worked tirelessly and effectively across national boundaries to help children escape the threat of hunger and disease," the Presidential message stated.

"Their program of education in disease prevention medical care and nutrition already has had a real impact upon today's children, and its benefits will be felt even more keenly by the millions of children to come. We feel proud of the co-operative effort which has enabled UNICEF to carry out its work."

President Kennedy concluded: "UNICEF has caught the imagination of our people—especially our nation's children whose Halloween collections have become a symbol of concern and an expression of tangible aid. I urge all my fellow citizens, young and old, to support UNICEF generously again this year."

UNICEF's aid currently goes to more than $6 million needy children and mothers in more than 100 countries.

Prophet Has Tongue In Cheek This Week

This may be The Old Farmer's Almanac's idea of humor but to us it sounds like the guide the artist, died, 1872; painted 40 the year. For the coming week (and more) the almanac's weather prognosticator has this to say: "This cold is severe but of good cheer (tongue slides into cheek) blizzard is near."

It happens or happened this week:

Thursday, Dec. 21—Winter begins, 9:20 p.m.

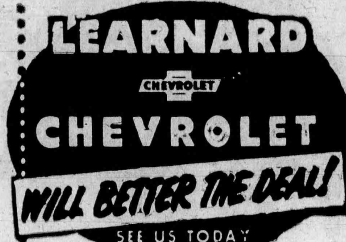

Saturday, Dec. 23—Catin, the artist, died, 1872; painted 40 the year.

For the coming week (and more) the almanac's weather prognosticator has this to say: "This cold is severe but of good cheer (tongue slides
