

AN EDITORIAL:

The Case Of J. Golden, Reformer

At the last Town Council meeting, Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo unsuccessfully introduced a resolution calling for an investigation of charges that Councilman James R. Golden used town owned facilities to prepare and distribute some of his campaign literature.

The charges were originally fired at Golden by former Commissioner Kenneth Smith on Monday, June 4. Since that time, Golden has accused Smith of a deliberate effort to libel and defame him. Going a step further, Golden said he intended to sue Smith for libel as a result of the charges. Meanwhile the citizens wait for the answers — did James Golden use town facilities for his political campaign on June 4th?

Now comes Police Chief Charles H. McGinnis to give testimony. McGinnis says he received a phone call from the Essex County Prosecutor's Office instructing him to visit the suite of offices occupied by former Commissioner George Kiernan and if he discovered any Golden campaign literature in the offices, the Police Chief should impound the literature until further notice.

Chief McGinnis found Golden's campaign literature — and more — in the suite — but let's listen to the Chief's own words of his discovery:

"At 11:45 a.m. on that date (June 4, 1962), Acting Police Sergeant of Detectives Nicholas J. Mariano and I entered former Commissioner George R. Kiernan's office at 1 found Mr. James R. Golden seated in the outer office of Commissioner Kiernan's suite, and in the private office were former Commissioner Kiernan, Mrs. James R. Golden, Mrs. Shirley McCann, a person known to me only as "Beef" Mitchell, Mr. Arthur Levy, and Miss Marion Malcolm. ALL PERSONS MENTIONED AS BEING IN THE PRIVATE OFFICE WERE PLACING PRINTED LITERATURE INTO ENVELOPES FOR MAILING PURPOSES. (emphasis ours). I also picked up an orange sheet of paper, headed "A Word to the People from James R. Golden."

Who are some of the people the Chief discovered using town facilities, paid for out of taxes collected?

Mrs. James R. Golden is the wife of the former town critic and reformer. Mrs. Shirley McCann is the wife of the co-chairman of the pressure group trying to force the Town Council to commit taxpayers to a $300,000 expenditure by giving Eugene G. Barnett tenure in a job which can be performed by the Town Manager at no extra cost.

Miss Marion Malcolm is a town employee.

Mr. Arthur Levy is a resident of Clifton, New Jersey, and while holding no official title, fills in as confidential aide, political advisor, and campaign strategist for James Golden. Levy's name appeared on the campaign literature as the person paying for the literature. Levy, upon the request of Golden, also attended conferences of the newly elected Council between Election Day, June 12th and inauguration day, July 1st.

Enough of the background of some of the participants named in the McGinnis report.

Our Chief of Police has placed sufficient evidence in the record to oblige our Town Council to authorize a thorough investigation of allegations that James R. Golden used town facilities to print and prepare for distribution some of his campaign literature.

The Council's first obligation is to the taxpayers. The people are entitled to know whether or not material, labor and facilities purchased with their money was used for the private political campaign of a politician, and at what cost — $100, $1000? $5,000?

The people will not rest until this question is answered — (and not by Golden) — did a politician use town-owned supplies, machines, employees, and facilities for personal gain?

The Strumolo resolution was in order last week and will be in order next week. It should be adopted by a Council that professes interest in clean, honest government. And the Councilman who should have proposed the probe — is the accused — James Reynolds Golden. And the Councilman who should have supplied a second to the motion is the man who everyone believed would have made a great contribution to the restoration of clean government to Town Hall — Councilman Thomas P. Greco.

Sadly we must point out to our reading public that it was Greco who said, "There is no point to authorize an investigation of the allegations against Golden, after all, the charges involve a period before Golden became Councilman."

Apparently Greco misses the main point — it matters not when the alleged incident took place — the central question is whether or not a candidate for public office used materials, labor, and facilities paid for by taxpayers for personal use. The charge is of such a serious nature it goes to the very heart of a public official's fitness for office. Councilmen cannot establish a double standard of official behavior — one for former public officials — and another for themselves.

The probe should proceed.

Public Schools Will Open for New Term On September 6th

Belleville schools will start the fall session on Thursday, September 6, with an anticipated total enrollment of about 5,300 students, of which about 1,608 will be in the high school. When school started in September 1961, the total enrollment was 5,207, of which 1,561 were in the high school.

The new term will be marked by an overlapping session in the high school, requiring a nine-session day. There will be a new class in the Cerebral Palsy Center, supported by funds from the State. There will be an additional teacher in the high school shop and mechanical drawing department, also an additional teacher in home economics.

On Tuesday, September 4, Belleville schools will have an orientation day for new teachers. Meeting in the multi-purpose room of School Seven at 9:40 a.m. for refreshments, new teachers, advisory councils, directors, principals, department heads and supervisors will begin their program with a message from Dr. Frank M. Durkee, superintendent of schools.

A panel presentation on "The First Year" of teaching, presided over by Michael Rosanalia, general supervisor, will include Mrs. Mary Earl for the primary grades, Miss Marie Marino, intermediate grades, Miss Nancy Munch, grades 7-8, and Miss Catherine Gallagher, high school. Following questions and discussion, the orientation group will have luncheon together. Teachers will then spend the afternoon in their schools with principals in going over the instructional program.

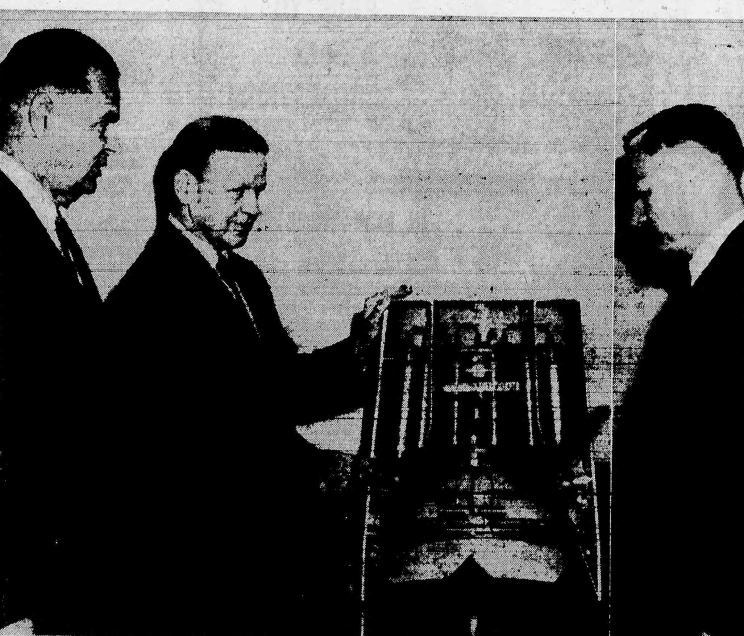

MEETINGS
Wednesday, September 5, will see the following school meetings:

10:00 a.m. All Principals — Conference in superintendent's office.
11:00 a.m. General Faculty Meeting — Belleville High School Auditorium.
1:30 p.m. Directors, psychologist, general supervisor, elementary supervisor — Conference in superintendent's office.

1:30 p.m. Remedial Reading Teachers — Meeting with Mrs. Lally at School One (Review program and make uniform plans to be submitted to superintendent).
2:00 p.m. Directors, special teachers and general supervisor. Meeting in multi-purpose room.

Violent Storm Is Cause Of Three Fires

A violent electrical storm hit Belleville Monday night and early Tuesday morning. Lightning struck two homes and a garden apartment, starting fires in all three.

Considerable damage was caused to a bungalow owned by Aksel Pederson at 137 Bremont Street. An outdoor clothesline covered with plastic was struck by a bolt, which then shot along the line and into the attic.

In a home owned by Mrs. Louisa Cordasco at 270 Belleville Avenue electrical wiring was burned out as the result of a lightning bolt.

An apartment at 58 Branch Brook Drive was also struck with resultant damage to wiring and bathroom fixtures.

An ancient maple tree on Stephens Street, south of Terry St., was struck by lightning and ripped open from top to bottom.

Ralph Vara, superintendent of public works, said his department would probably remove the tree within the next couple of weeks.

The heavy rain that fell caused flooding in various parts of Belleville.

Recruiter Calls Attention To Many Openings

Staff Sergeant Joseph A. Gonzalez, recruiter for the Belleville Nutley, Harrison, North Arlington, Kearny, Lyndhurst area, has announced that there are openings in the Air Force for interested youths with aptitudes in the electronics, mechanic, general and administrative fields.

Interested young people in the area can see Sergeant Gonzalez at 1066 Broad Street in Newark or call him at 642-3731.

Friends who desire to enlist in the Air Force together can join in a buddy flight which will insure that all stay together until at least after they have completed basic training.

Office hours in the Newark office are from 8 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. Interested youths in the Belleville area can talk to Sergeant Gonzalez at the Civil Defense Center on Washington Avenue in Belleville each Tuesday between the hours of 1 p.m. and 3 p.m.

Young Rejects Post of High School Principal

ROBERT KESNER

Robert Kesner Dies From Injuries In Auto Crash

Robert Kesner, 17-year-old Belleville youth who graduated from the local high school last June, died early Thursday morning, August 16, in Clara Maass Memorial Hospital. He lived at 14 Belle Terrace with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Kesner, and a brother Norman.

Death came as the result of injuries the young man sustained in an auto accident five hours earlier at Passaic Avenue and Greylock Parkway. Police said his car collided with one driven by Donald Bienkowski, 23, of Bloomfield shortly before 11 p.m. Both youths were alone in their cars.

Bienkowski suffered head and chest injuries. Clara Maass Memorial Hospital reported his condition as fair earlier this week. Police said a mandatory check of causing death by automobile would be lodged against him.

Born in Newark Kesner lived in Belleville most of his life. He attended Belleville School Three and in high school he managed the football team. He was to have entered the University of Georgia this fall, where he intended to major in business administration.

Manville Applicant May Be New Choice Of Board

Dr. Ward R. Young, who was appointed Belleville High School Principal by the Board of Education August 7, has notified the board that he will not accept the contract tendered him. He has instead accepted the superintendency of the school system of Morris Township, N.J., on a two-year contract calling for $14,000 the first year, $15,000 the second. He would have received a salary of $13,350 the first year if he had accepted the Belleville post.

The Board of Education will meet in special session at 8 p.m. Monday at which time it is likely that the subject of a new appointment will be brought up. The man who was runner-up for the position at the time Young was appointed was Raymond Q. Smith who has been principal of the Manville, N.J., High School for the past three years. Dr. Frank M. Durkee, Belleville superintendent of schools, may now recommend Smith for the vacant post.

Dr. Young was principal of the Fallsburgh, N.Y., Junior-Senior High School. He was highly recommended for the Belleville job, and received the unanimous approval of the local Board of Education for the post.

When the board meets Monday, in addition to possible consideration of appointing a principal, it will receive bids on repair work on the east wall of School 4. Another important item on the agenda will be consideration of approval of the plans and specifications for construction of the new high school. This step is preparatory to sending the plans to Trenton for a final okay.

Rodino Attends Geneva Parley

This week, when the House of Representatives is not in session, Congressman Peter W. Rodino Jr. (D-N.J.) is attending the 18-nation disarmament conference in Geneva, Switzerland. Sponsor of the legislation which created the U. S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency in 1961 Rodino was invited to the conference by William C. Foster, director of the agency.

While in Geneva, the veteran New Jersey Democrat will work with Ambassador Arthur H. Dean, U. S. Representative to the conference, and other members of the U. S. delegation.

Upon his return Rodino will give a report of his observations to House Speaker John W. McCormack, Congressman Thomas E. Morgan, chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, and other Congressional leaders, as well as to Disarmament Agency Director Foster.

Prior to leaving for Geneva Rodino was also appointed by House Speaker McCormack to be a member of the U. S. Delegation to the North Atlantic Treaty Parliamentary Conference, which will meet in Paris in November.

An odd feature of the contest was that Mrs. Canyon, the winner, was named as the subject in the picture by another contestant. All who participated stated correctly that the location was the Shop Rite Market.

Incidentally, there are two cooperating Merchants for this particular picture. Stefano's Diner and Mary's Alteration Shop, plus the De Witt Savings & Loan for the picture in the issue of August 2 which remained unidentified.

This means it's a triple award this time! Congratulations to Mrs. Canyon!

And now there's a new contest for readers of the Map Page. Turn to it now and try to make a correct identification. The Cooperating Merchant is Abbot's Drug Store, 531 Washington Avenue. Be sure to follow the rules.

Identify the person circled in the picture by giving his or her full name, and also state the place where the picture was taken.

The answer must be delivered in person to the office of The Times-News, 246 Washington Avenue, or it may be sent through the mail. Telephone entries will not be accepted.

Beautiful Bucolic Belleville

Passenger Boats Served

Belleville A Century Ago

By FREDERICK J. PIXLEE

This article will be devoted to the least known form of transportation from Belleville and its environs — that of water transportation.

This field of transportation is one that the author is very familiar with, having served in World War II in the Transportation Corps of the United States Army as a First Lieutenant by rank but with the imposing title of Assistant Superintendent of Harbor Boat Service, New York Port of Embarkation.

The Belleville of over a century ago was served by several small passenger boats which went to Newark, Passaic and New York. The trip to New York was a long and tedious journey by way of Newark Bay, Kill Van Kull and then the Upper Bay to the Battery. However, it was considerably less tedious than the trip over the corduroy Plank Road across the Jersey Meadows by stagecoach.

The first steamboat of any record was the Olive Branch, which ran in 1838 from Passaic, Belleville, Newark and New York. The run was taken over later by the stern wheeler Proprietor, Lodi and J.T. Bolton.

UNPROFITABLE

All of these ventures ended in financial disaster, because of the length of time required to make the journey. The railroads were being built and they could make the journey much faster to New York.

Transportation to Newark was a different matter. This was very poor, being mainly by horse car. It was only natural that people turned to the Passaic River for a more efficient mode of transportation.

Belleville had three of its own steamboats during the period from 1856 to about 1895. They were all sidewheelers about 150 feet long. All of them had the ornate fan-shaped paddle box and were no more than 150 feet long.

The first one was the Rotary, renamed the Belleville, and ran for about two years after 1856. The second one was the Rockaway, purchased from New York to Coney Island and the Rockaways. In 1939 this vessel was still running down around Portsmouth, Va., according to the U.S. Government Registry. The last passenger vessel on a regular run from Belleville to Newark was the General Runyon.

This vessel is very accurately described in Hugh Holmes' book on Belleville's history which I have mentioned before. Unfortunately he does not mention the years that the General Runyon was in operation, although he does mention the day and month.

PASSAIC QUEEN

Mr. Holmes mentions the small propeller Passaic Queen, running from Newark to Belleville and Passaic, and some of the old timers might possibly remember her. I never saw the vessel nor are there any photographs of her in existence to the best of my knowledge.

It was the author's fond dream as a boy to some day see a revival of passenger transportation on the Passaic River. I can still recall sitting in Miss Anna Underwood's English class in Belleville High School. She was trying to drum into our minds the mysteries of Homer's "Odyssey." I knew the story anyway and spent most of my time looking out the window at the river. She would ask me a question, knowing that I was not paying any attention, but to her surprise I could answer it correctly. I later showed her a book "The Adventures of Ulysses" by Chas. Lamb and she laughingly agreed that I probably knew the "Odyssey" as well as she did.

The dream of long ago was never fulfilled on the Passaic River, but it paid huge dividends on my return to active duty in World War II. I served almost three years among the many harbor craft of the United States Army. One of the most interesting jobs was Officer-in-Charge of the Sandy Hook, which formerly belonged to the New Jersey Central Railroad.

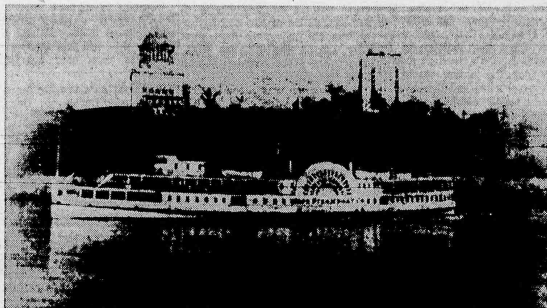

There were three attempts by steamboat operators to establish passenger transportation on the Passaic that the author remembers. The small steamer Forest Queen was in winter quarters at a dock near the Belleville, Newark line in 1919-1920. She ran from Newark to Keansburg in the Summer of 1920, but after an unsuccessful season went back to Cato Bay, Me.

The Crescent and the William Penn tried running from Passaic to Coney Island with a stop at the dock just south of the Avondale Bridge for the convenience of Belleville and Nutley passengers, but after a few weeks in the Summer of 1934, discontinued the run. This was the end of passenger service of the excursion variety on the Passaic River.

In conclusion, I will mention an interesting experiment on the Passaic River in connection with the establishment of a Showboat. In 1937 the once proud fleet belonging to the Iron Steamboat Company was broken up in Newark Bay. The former flagship of that fleet, the Sirius renamed the Ambassador, was stripped of her engines and brought up the river to a place about opposite the Belleville-Nutley line. This was quite a feat, for the Sirius was fully 220 feet long and had a beam under guard of 32 feet and of 50 feet over sponsors, or sidewheel overhang.

She made quite a pretty sight at her anchorage near the Lyndhurst shore and was a nice place at the time for a unique evening entertainment. In 1938 the owners sold her to some Southern interests and she left the Passaic River forever. The day of the steamboat on the Passaic is no more.

VIRGINIA — Alexandria is increasing the school day and doing away with study halls.

This picture of the Iron Steamboat Company's sidewheeler the Perseus is from the collection of the author of Beautiful, Bucolic Belleville, and resembles the majority of the vessels described in this article, particularly the Belleville, General Runyon and the engineless Sirius. The Perseus was a sister ship of the Sirius. The photo was taken on Labor Day in 1921 by the author's late father, Fred M. Pixlee.

Auto Club Says There Are Not Enough Roads

Some day New Jerseyans may be prohibited from buying new cars, the New Jersey Automobile Club (AAA) suggested fancifully today.

"We just haven't got enough road space," explained F. Kenneth Schultze, General Manager of the Club. "If every car that is in New Jersey tomorrow tried to get on a state or county road, the arteries would clog the state from top to bottom with less than a car-length between vehicles."

Taking tongue out of cheek, Schultze cited some statistics to prove that there was more fact than theory to his statement:

New Jersey has 2.6 million registered vehicles and another half-million that come into the state daily. At the accepted average of 17 feet per vehicle, that's about 53 million feet of cars and trucks.

There are 1,883 miles of highways in New Jersey. The bulk of these highways are two-lane, the rest three, four and up. Calculating the total highway space, then, there are 5,702 miles — or 30 million feet — of highway lane-space in New Jersey.

There are 13,300 miles — or 70 million feet — of county road space.

"So, we have a total of 100 million feet of driving space and 53 million feet of vehicles," Schultze concluded. "It's a good thing we've got 22,000 lineal miles of municipal streets so we can park our cars."

Schultze recalled that the Club last year pointed out that New Jersey, with 263 vehicles per square mile, had the highest density of vehicles of all the states in relation to population and size.

"What do all these figures imply after we've put them together?"

"The Club feels that they testify to what the Club has been advocating continuously: the exclusive use of highway-user taxes for highway purposes and the need for more and more driver education — not to enable someone to get a license but to prevent him from killing other pedestrians and motorists, and to show him how to use the limited driving space most efficiently."

What Golden Didn't Say

At last Tuesday's Town Council meeting Councilman James R. Golden publicly made a statement accusing others of attempting to dictate the selection of the then Councilman-elect Robert M. Laterza as the new Mayor of Belleville. Golden said the discussion took place at 2:30 a.m. in Laterza's home, six hours after the polls closed on Tuesday, June 12.

Golden is right as to time and place—but what he failed to tell the public last Tuesday night is that Bob Laterza received an unannounced nocturnal visit from an out-of-town stranger who was accompanied by two local citizens, at 2 a.m., Wednesday, June 13.

The name of this stranger is Arthur Levy. He lives in Clifton, New Jersey. Levy said he represented James Golden. Levy further said that Golden wanted to be Mayor. Levy asked Laterza to pledge his vote to Golden for Mayor and in exchange Laterza could have the power to appoint five of his friends to top posts, i.e. Town Attorney, Magistrate, Town Clerk, etc. Five witnesses will bear testimony to this fact.

Laterza rejected the offer out of hand. And it is to his everlasting credit that he did. However, from Laterza we did not expect less.

When Councilman Golden makes speeches in or out of Council chambers he doesn't seem to tell ALL the truth, for if he doesn't we'll print the portion he forgets.

Wheeler and Dealers

At least three meetings have been held during the past fortnight all aimed to oust Robert M. Laterza as Mayor.

The two councilmen behind this attempt are James R. Golden and Thomas P. Greco.

One of the meetings was held in Greco's basement. A collateral purpose of the plotters is to establish a three-member block which would control Town Hall.

The councilman receiving this sudden attention is Deputy Mayor G. George Addonizio.

Deputy Mayor Addonizio tells one and all that he campaigned as an independent candidate, was elected as an independent, and intends to serve out his term as an independent—that he will have no part of any arrangement contrived to establish a ruling bloc. GOOD for him.

The 1962 Class of Tammany-type politicians may continue its shabby efforts to secure control of Town Hall for the special interest of themselves and their associates. That they are doomed to failure there is no doubt.

The taxpayers of Belleville have had it. The voters proved it May 2, 1961 at the government—change election. They proved it again on May 8 and June 12 when every incumbent seeking reelection was defeated.

The current crop of wheeler and dealers, regardless what banner they choose to fly—reformers, town critics, etc.—must the voters' intelligence with their plotting. They fool no one but themselves.

The Truth Is Out

At the last Town Council meeting it was finally disclosed that Councilmen James R. Golden and Thomas P. Greco were among the original supporters of the plan to consolidate the positions of Town Manager and Town Clerk, thus permitting an approximate $10,000 annual savings in the salary of a Town Clerk.

It is known that Greco was so anxious to effect the consolidation that he urged Mayor Robert M. Laterza and Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo to stay with him on the question regardless of pressure from pressure groups and ecclesiastical personages, which at the time were being applied to Greco.

Laterza and Strumolo continued to assure Greco that they were absolutely convinced the move was needed to cut back on costs of operating Town Hall and they could be relied upon to support the economy measure.

Suddenly and without the slightest advance notice, both Greco and Golden made a switch—they voted against the very economy measure they argued for in caucus.

Golden promises to introduce monthly a resolution establishing a separate office of Town Clerk and appointing to that office Eugene G. Barnett. Frankly, we hope he keeps this promise. It will be a month.

The Good Old Days

5 Years Ago

The Board of Education voted to have the Viola Spray act as assistant principal at School No. 1 in place of her duties as teacher of the 5th grade. A part-time principal was being utilized at 1 because of a shortage of pupils.

The Belleville Lions Club elected William A. Fry as its new president, replacing Frank Bridge Jr. in that post. As first vice president the club named Albert H. Bormann.

A proposal by Mayor Isadore J. Padula to air-condition the revenue and finance offices in the Town Hall met a hot blast of opposition from Commissioners Elmer S. Hyde and Kenneth D. Smith. The matter was tabled, pending a survey of conditions in the building.

The James G. Shaver School walked off with first place honors in the Elementary School Baseball League sponsored by the Board of Education. The Shaver squad completed the season undefeated.

The Board of Education was embroiled in a controversy with parents over the redistricting of pupils attending certain Belleville schools.

The Kiwanis Club presented a prize to Robert Herman of Perry Street in its annual photography award contest.

Congressman Peter W. Rodino was urged to run for a seat in the United States Senate.

A campaign in Belleville to eliminate the nuisance and danger of low-flying planes from Newark and Teterboro met with wholehearted support by the citizens of the community.

A proposal to establish a parking lot adjacent to the Town Hall for the benefit of shoppers patronizing local merchants was denounced by James R. Golden at a meeting of the Commissioners as something to be used as a personal advantage of a select few.

Connie Francis, a 1956 Belleville High School graduate, was shooting to the top of the "platter ladder" with her unique rendering of popular songs.

The Belleville office of the Fidelity Union Trust Company installed air conditioning for the comfort of its employees and customers. It was one of the new places in Belleville that had air conditioning, although supermarkets in the neighboring shopping centers were starting to go in for it in a large way.

Public Safety Director Harry J. Sullivan ordered the purchase of an electric timing device designed to cut down speeders. The device consisted of two cables similar to those laid across the aprons of gas stations, placed 132 feet apart, and connected with a special clocking device that calculated the speed of vehicles on the basis of their speed across one fortieth of one mile.

At least five persons were given first aid treatment or were taken to the hospital when two successive days of intense heat hit the town. A large part of the Silver Lake section was without water for about two and one-half hours because of unauthorized hydrant showers. Many Belleville industrial plants closed early. A few days previously a deluge of rain had flooded many local cellars.

A new $9,000 Cadillac ambulance was delivered to the Belleville Public Safety Department and was put into immediate service. The ambulance which it replaced had traveled nearly 100,000 miles on errands of mercy.

It was announced by the Board of Education that in the fall every available nook and cranny of Belleville's nine elementary schools would be in use.

Hopes for a hospital for Belleville and its neighboring communities were revealed at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners. Attorney Fred C. Waldron and Architect Raymond B. Platt applied for the vacating of portions of Belleville Avenue, Magnolia Street and all of Keen and Wheelbar Streets as a preparatory step toward acquiring full title to the property needed for the hospital.

Miss Carolyn Pohl of Tappan Avenue, a teacher in the Belleville schools, was a delegate to the 90th convention of the National Education Association in Detroit.

15 Years Ago

A move was initiated by a group of Belleville manufacturers to organize a dinner forum at which management and labor could discuss the provisions of the Taft-Hartley bill.

Creation of a scholarship fund for the benefit of boys and girls of Belleville High School who wished to pursue a college education was announced as the latest project under consideration by the Belleville Foundation.

Protesting against the lack of recreational facilities in Silver Lake, 75 youths and adults from that section picketed the Town Hall while a meeting of the Town Commissioners was in progress.

The possibility of the erection of a civic center was discussed at a meeting of a special committee at which the Rev. James K. Morse acted as chairman.

An amicable settlement was reached between the owner of the Franklin Casino and neighbors from the vicinity of the tavern. It was agreed at a hearing that the owner would try to control noise and lights emanating from the establishment.

The license application for the Casino had been held by the Commissioners pending the hearing. Learning the ropes in his new work was Joseph McGreevy, who was appointed to fill the post of administrative clerk in the Belleville Revenue and Finance Department. The vacancy arose when Arthur Clark was promoted from the clerk position to tax assessor, succeeding the late Charles Watson.

It was announced that Fred B. Handon, whose dismissal as Recorder's Clerk by Public Safety Director Noll was upheld by the Civil Service Commission would appeal the case to the New Jersey Supreme Court.

An application to construct a gasoline service station at the northwest corner of Belleville and Pleasant Avenues was turned down by the Board of Commissioners after hearing vehement protests from residents of the vicinity.

The Town Commission, sitting as an excise board, heard complaints about taverns concerning excess noise by departing patrons and allegations that some taverns stayed open after hours. The reports were read into the record by Public Safety Director Gerard but were dismissed after lengthy consideration of the evidence.

A ruling from the A. F. of L. allowed wire weavers employed by the Eastwood Neely Corp., who were out of work for a week due to broken looms, to return to their looms and make minor electrical and mechanical repairs so that they might start work again. The machinists whose job it would have been to repair the looms had been out on strike for five weeks. The workers refused to repair the looms until the got A. F. of L. permission.

The WPA adult education class closed with an exhibit of class work and sewing in keeping with the project.

DON'T PUT SIGNS ON UTILITY POLES

Every day, hundreds of Public Service linemen climb utility poles to help keep your electric service at its best. But many poles have become so covered with metal nails and staples that it has created a safety hazard. Linemen depend on their "spurs" cutting into the wooden pole to provide surefooted climbing. But if there are nails and staples in the pole, there's a chance that a lineman's spurs will not dig into the wood. A serious accident can result.

"Please help our linemen to help you. Do not put signs on utility poles!"

Beck's Column

Last week we reported on the "new" 1963 RCA model TV sets. RCA is always the first to show. The others then follow in quick succession.

Today we are going to write about Zenith. This company still uses handwiring, which is obsolete, considering the requirements of today's "sophisticated" electronics equipment. Although there is nothing wrong with handwiring, plated etched circuits are more uniform, easier and cheaper to repair, and less expensive to manufacture.

Zenith always made a good TV set, except the first round screen they came out with. They have a large assortment of cabinets and styles. As far as performance goes, Zenith sets are no different than many others.

With great fanfare Zenith announces a "new revolutionary" tone arm in the stereo phonograph line. Essentially they reduced the weight of the tone arm and the groove pressure. Other manufacturers have this for years already. The weight of these tone arms is so little, that one can scratch only the surface of the records, the impressions of the grooves below the surface of the records will not be damaged. This is a great advantage. Of course there is no danger of scratching records, if they are handled with care. The main advantage is that the records and the stylus will last much longer. Amazingly enough, Zenith does not stress this feature, they dwell mainly on the non-scratch feature.

The writer is of the opinion that the stereo effect on Zenith Hi-Fi sets is not sufficiently noticeable. All sets have both speaker systems built right into the cabinet. When they are top closed, as they have to be unless the cabinet is extremely long, the stereo effect is poor. Other manufacturers have facilities to turn the speakers or they mount them on the side of the cabinets. Zenith speakers are in the front, radiating straight ahead, which accounts for the poor stereo action. There is nothing wrong with speakers radiating straight ahead, but they will then have to be farther apart for a good stereo effect.

We service what we sell.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Wolson
On Honeymoon In Canada

The Alpine, Maplewood, was the setting for the wedding of Miss Arlene Entin, daughter of Mrs. Herman Entin of 201 Fairway Avenue, and the late Mr. Entin, to Neil Wolson, son of Mrs. Louis Wolson of 2 Prospect Avenue, Hackensack, and the late Mr. Wolson, Saturday evening, August 11.

The ceremony was performed by Rabbi Victor Cohen of Congregation Anshei Chesed, Belleville. A reception followed. The bride was given in marriage by her mother and her brother, Edwin B. Entin of Belleville. Her gown of white bouquet taffeta was designed with a bodice of reembodyment, Alencon lace and bell-shaped skirt ending in a chapel train. Her French illusion veil was draped from a crown of seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white baby orchids.

The bridegroom's sister-in-law, Mrs. Morton Wolson of White Plains, N.Y., was matron of honor. She wore a street length dress of blue silk organza with round neckline and full skirt. Her flowers were white orchids.

Morton Wolson, the bridegroom's brother, served as best man, and ushers were Norman Hahn of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Leonard Schwartz, New Brunswick, cousins of the bride; Joseph Barnao, Hasbrouck Heights; Jay K. Berman, Camden; Eugene Greenberg, Bloomfield; and Eugene Walzer, Hackensack. The bridegroom's nephews, Scott Wolson of White Plains, acted as ring bearer. Jeffrey Entin, the bride's brother, escorted the bride, and the bridegroom's brother, Jeffrey Entin, escorted the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a light blue lace and crepe sheath, and the bridegroom's mother was attired in blue peau de soie. Each had a white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from Belleville High School, attended Douglas College, and was graduated from Newark College of Rutgers University. She will teach in New Milford in September.

Mr. Wolson, a graduate of Hackensack High School and Fairleigh Dickinson University, is president of Stego - Welbar, Inc., Fort Lee.

After a honeymoon in Canada, the couple will reside at 1242A Inwood Terrace, Fort Lee.

Miss Helen M. Jones of Belleville was guest of honor Saturday evening, August 18, at a surprise miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. David Hume of Newark. Mrs. Robert W. Jones, West New York, and Miss Gertrude Jones, Belleville.

The guests included Mrs. Geo. Lanner of Jersey City; Mrs. James Dolan, Bloomfield; Mrs. Edythe Steiner and Mrs. Thomas McLaughlin, Clifton; Mrs. Grace Dennis, Paterson; Mrs. Joshua Jamison and Miss Doris Jamison, Manasquan.

Mroczek - Galla Nuptials
In Newark Church Rites

MRS. W. J. MROCEK, JR.
Former Judith Galla

The wedding of Miss Judith Elaine Galla, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Galla of 618 South 18th Street, Newark, to William J. Mroczek, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Mroczek of 44 Essex Street, Belleville, took place Saturday morning, August 4, in a ceremony preceding a Nuptial Mass in St. Ann's Church, Newark.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. T. A. Bauer, and the reception was held at Thom's Restaurant, Newark.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowned in white peau de soie trimmed with Alencon lace and featuring a portrait neckline, short sleeves and full skirt ending in a chapel train. A floral headpiece trimmed with aurora borealis held her triple tier silk illusion finger-veil, and she carried phalaenopsis and gardenias with an orchid center.

Miss Dolores Amato of Bloomfield was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Mrs. Helen McCourt of Irvington; Miss Joan Galla, Newark, sister of the bride, and Miss Helene Mroczek, Belleville, the bridegroom's sister. Arlene Pionick of Newark acted as flower girl.

The maid of honor was gowned in turquoise silk chiffon with flower headpiece and matching bouquet. The bridesmaids wore apricot silk chiffon and the flower girl, turquoise. She had a tiara and a basket of flowers.

Best man for Mr. Mroczek was Richard Snyder of Glen Ridge. Ushers were Charles Galla - of Matakwan; Ronald Andrichowicz, Irvington; and Edward Callahan, Newark.

A graduate of Caldwell College for Women, the bride is with Bell Labs in Holmdel. Her husband was graduated from Seton Hall University, South Orange, and will attend Seton Hall School of Medicine, Jersey City, in the fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Mroczek are residing at 165 Franklin Street, Bloomfield, after a honeymoon in the Peconics.

Miss Grace Ann Festa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Festa of 35 Grove Street, and Nicholas James Vara, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vara, 27 Grove Street, exchanged vows Sunday afternoon, August 19 in St. Peter's Church. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. James F. Heavy, and the reception was held at Royal Hawaiian Palms, Lyndhurst.

Mr. Festa gave his daughter in marriage. She wore a gown of silk organza over taffeta with scoop neckline outlined with seed pearls. Alencon lace applique trimmed the bodice, sleeves and bell shaped skirt which ended in a chapel train.

A lace applique - headpiece trimmed with seed pearls and lilies of the valley held her double tier fingertip veil, and she carried a bouquet of baby orchids and stephanotis.

Maid of honor for her sister was Miss Charlotte Festa and bridesmaids were Mrs. August Mitechke, Miss Donna Parist and Miss Angela Vara, the bridegroom's sister, of Belleville, and Miss Jeanette Hanna, Newark. They were gowned in turquoise silk organza cocktail length gowns with scoop necklines and short sleeves. They had matching headpieces and carried yellow carnations.

Charles Cerami of Belleville served as Mr. Vara's best man, and ushers were Robert Ed - wards and Pasquale Intindola of Belleville; Anthony Giannini, Lyndhurst, and Felix Garruto, Rutherford.

The mother of the bride wore pink chiffon and the bridegroom's mother chose apricot organza. Each had matching accessories and a corsage of orchids.

The couple are graduates of Belleville High School. The bride is employed at National Newark Hospital, Montclair. The seven pound, eight ounce youngster joins a sister, Diane Susan, 2½. Mrs. Vazzano was formerly Camille T. Salvatorelli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Salvatorelli of Nulley. Mr. Vazzano, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sal Vazzano of the Naples Avenue address, is a bus driver for Eastern Greyhound Corp., New York City.

SPORTS TIMES

LOOKING FOR TEAMS

Joe Negra sends word that the Belleville Manufacturing League, with a top average of 880, is looking around for a few bowling teams, either industrial or sponsored, for the coming season.

The league bowls Thursday nights at 8:30 at Olympic Bowl.

Joe can be reached at PL 9-8000, Ext. 204, during the day, and at DE 4-4970 after 5. Give him a buzz if you're interested.

GRID SEASON NEARS

Constant reminders are everywhere that the grid season is just around the corner. Youngsters are out doing their road work, coaching staffs are holding meetings, and midweek events are already practicing.

All we need is a little nip in the air, then the pigskin too will be in the air in earnest, not to let up till the snow flies. Racing may be the Sport of Kings, but this time of year football is the King of Sports!

THE JAYCEE CLASSIC

Speaking of football, the Jaycee Classic, a charity pro-football game between the Giants and the Eagles on September 8 at Palmer Stadium, Princeton, will benefit more than 200 charitable organizations in the state.

Dave Haight tells us that the Belleville Jaycee Chapter is actively participating in the sale of tickets to the Classic. Ten per cent of the sale price will be returned to Belleville for use by local charities. The Belleville Jaycees will turn this money over to the local United Appeals Drive.

Here is an opportunity to see a top flight pro game and contribute to many charities in the state and town.

Ticket information may be obtained at the Belleville Times office, at Flowerama, 143 Washington Avenue; or you may call Dave at PL 9-7332, evenings.

HIGH SCHOOL PRACTICE

Also on gridiron topics, Thomas Testa, high school football coach, is broadcasting the reminder that the first day of football practice, September 1, is approaching very rapidly and that it is of paramount importance that all football candidates be in their best physical and mental condition.

"Daily general calisthenics promote agility and endurance," he says. "I recommend running 15 to 25 yard wind sprints. By opening day each boy should strive to run a mile in 6 minutes."

Sophomore, junior and senior football candidates must report to School 8 on August 31 at 10 a.m. for physical examinations.

"No excuses," says Testa. "This is mandatory!"

Football uniforms and mouth protectives will be issued promptly after the completion of the physical examinations. The mouth protectives are a required item this year.

All freshman candidates will be given their physicals on September 6, the first day of school. Patch tests will be given prior to any actual football practice.

Testa says he is trying to encourage more freshmen and sophomores to come out for football.

"It's a very worthwhile and rewarding sport for every growing boy," he said. "I also urge parents to encourage their sons to participate in football."

The boys will practice both morning and afternoon on the first day of practice, September 1. On Monday, Labor Day, a double practice session also is slated.

FROM CAMP MOORE

From Theresa Mancini, who directs Camp Moore for Under-Privileged Boys at Haskell:

"Herewith a little note that I'm sure your readers will be interested in reading.

"Camp Moore is just about to close the season of its Silver Jubilee. Since its inception in 1937 more than 12,000 boys have received the benefits of the camp without cost to themselves, their parents or guardians. During this period many boys from Belleville were recipients of camp vacations.

"As a fitting climax to our Silver Jubilee year all the boys at the camp and the entire staff were guests of the Teamsters Union to a full day's outing at Palisades Amusement Park. Bus transportation and a good day of fun and refreshments were furnished. The boys returned to camp a very tired but a very happy lot.

"Not content with furnishing the boys with the day's outing a committee visited the camp and made donations of equipment for the camp truck, a television set and benches for the recreation hall, besides a sizable cash donation to assist the camp to continue its efforts in aiding the under-privileged boys of Belleville and the rest of the State."

Playground Champions For Summer Listed By Leaders

Recreation Department leaders have announced this year's Playground champions. They were given awards Thursday, August 16.

The winners were based on the number of points accumulated at the playgrounds throughout the summer. Playground-goers receive points for participating in softball games, ping pong, and other activities supervised by the playground directors.

The town-wide winners were Mike Work, boys 6-8; Mike Butkus, boys 11-14; Linda Giacomio, girls 6-8; and Roxanne McGraw, girls 11-14.

At School 1 Playground Charles Smith and Richard Sweeney came in at top in the boys' divisions, and Maria Toscano and Maria Cameron were the champs in the girls' divisions.

School 4 boasted Vincent Costantino and Louis Corsi as the boys' champs, and Mary Costantino and Anita Benenato, each in their own division.

At School 9's Plankton Playground the winners in the boys' divisions were John Moraski and Stephen Butkus, Cathleen Butkus and Pat Restano came in highest in the girls' divisions.

Montgomery announced as its winners: Victor Squitieri, Bill Eccles, Angela Pozio and Maria Basile.

The playground champs at the Stadium were Mickey Bottino,

Ted Hahula, and Linda De Rogatis.

Monsignor Kelly's highest scorers for the girls were Margaret Petruski and Paula Cloutier. The winners in the boys' divisions proved to be Albert Casaleto and Mark Smythe.

At the Recreation House Playground the champs were Ronald Rizzolo, Tony Di Giacomo, Annette Guardabascio and Linda Romano.

Fairway announces that Kenneth Broo, Joanne Barbone and Cindy De Bonis were the participants with the greatest amount of points.

Teen-Age Survey Reveals What They Want To Learn

What do high school students really think about the subjects they study? In a recent survey teenage boys and girls were given the opportunity of suggesting the study areas they feel need a change of emphasis in American schools.

The results of the poll indicate that students have definite ideas concerning the subjects they are required to study, and most of them feel they need better preparation in science, mathematics, foreign languages and English.

The survey was conducted by The Institute of Student Opinion an independent activity sponsored by Scholastic Magazine. It included nearly 10,000 students from all parts of the country and from grades 7 through 12, in junior and senior high schools of all sizes, both public and private.

Boys and girls agreed in some cases, went their separate ways in others. Specifically, boys wanted science, mathematics, foreign languages, and English emphasized in that order. The should-be-stressed lineup for girls was foreign languages, science, English and mathematics.

The combined group favored: (1) Much more emphasis on the fields of science and mathematics. This is very much in keeping with the current American trend to better scientific training at all educational levels. Traditionally a boy's field, the study revealed that our modern minds are also developing a keen interest in science.

(2) Increased training in foreign languages. Our teens stressed this as an important "must."

Daniel Russomano Is Undergoing Recruit Training

Daniel P. Russomano, son of Mrs. Margaret M. Russomano of 257 Forest Street, Belleville is undergoing recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine-week basic training includes training in drill, military etiquette, physical conditioning, swimming and survival, first aid, shipboard safety precautions and security duty.

As the world grows smaller daily, both boys and girls desire fluency in other tongues, through earlier and more thorough language training.

(3) Greater emphasis on one's own language. The "poll" proved that high school students have awakened to the necessity of a good command of English in preparing for college or a job.

Other subjects that both boys and girls wanted given more importance are social studies and physical education.

They indicated satisfaction with the current emphasis on commercial subjects and agriculture.

Again displaying basic differences, boys preferred less emphasis on home economics and music and visual arts, while girls wanted shop de-emphasized.

No names were taken in the survey. Nevertheless, the anonymous replies reflected the careful and earnest thought that went into them. Our hard working educators may find helpful "directional signals" in these students' suggestions.

Modern Teaching Methods Challenge Children To Learn

Concentration of attention on improving the nation's public school system during the past ten years has achieved successes that will present a most exciting and rewarding experience for all the children now being made ready to go back to classes for the new fall term.

"Schools are better," is the verdict of college authorities and learned critics alike. The high schools are turning out more students qualified by grades and mental attitudes for higher learning, say the colleges. The improvements in teaching methods that have brought this about have encompassed the elementary as well as the secondary schools.

Experiments in testing the capacity of the very young to begin learning math, basic science, and foreign languages have revealed their greater capacity for learning than that with which they have been credited. Revision of curricula to put greater emphasis on basic subjects, accompanied by new types of instruction which give them the benefit of specially qualified teachers in team study, is paying off.

NEW TEACHING METHODS STIMULATE INTEREST

Introduction of modern mechanical devices for exposing more children to better teachers, utilizing such things as close circuit television, slide projectors and sound equipment, and newly revised textbooks that can be kept up-to-date with the fast-paced changes in this modern world, are stimulating students to a great attention to learning.

While current heaviest emphasis in the public prints appears to be on the high school crowd—where percentage-wise enrollment increases are highest, and also in colleges—educators are not neglecting the warning of the President that there is little value in efforts at improving higher education without making a greater effort for excellence at the elementary level.

The mounting enrollments—nationwide—are fantastic but not unexpected. They are the product of the post-war population explosion. Estimates for fall anticipate somewhere between 43 and 45 million in public and parochial elementary and secondary schools, and far in excess of 3,000,000 in colleges. Not counting adults.

Some areas lagging. Improvement in the educational system across the boards does not necessarily mean that schools have become perfect, nor that all have improved equally. Some have lagged for lack of aggressive public support, some for inability to obtain fully trained teachers who are in short supply.

What this would appear to indicate is the need for a determined rededication on the part of parents to the task of supporting educational authorities and teachers in their efforts toward attaining the new goal for all the children, which is—no longer average competence—but, rather "excellence."

The youngsters themselves appear ready to meet this challenge with their now demonstrated capacity for learning more, earlier.

A serious problem is the "drop-out" whose failure to continue in high school is generally attributed to boredom with learning, or despair over meeting the challenge of these fast-paced years.

All this suggests a three-point program for immediate consideration by parents, as the new school term approaches.

First is the development in

COMPLETES TRAINING Kenneth A. Hansen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hansen of 38 Garden Avenue, Belleville, completed recruit training recently at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The nine week basic training includes instruction in seamanship, ordnance and gunnery, damage control and military customs and courtesies.

A full-dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries marked the end of the training period.

Homework Is Growing As Subject Matter For Teen-Age Telephone Conversations

There is a growing chance that if parents were to listen to the conversations on the telephone between their teenagers, they would be pleasantly surprised.

For more and more of the youngsters, so happily developing mature and sophisticated attitudes toward their schooling, are discovering the telephone to be a useful accessory in completion of their homework.

KEEPING UP WITH SCHOOL WORK, though temporarily in bed because of illness, is no problem for sister, when there's an extension phone in her room, which makes it possible for her to be in touch with teachers and classmates.

The trend is revealed in a report from the Bell Telephone System which says that the teenagers are now using the phone more seriously and constructively. The report says, by way of example, that 60 per cent of the young telephonsers use the phone for homework and other school activities.

The constantly increasing homework load and the added number of "projects" in which high school students are required to participate have had their influence. Information must be acquired, and frequently discussed, with the greatest possible efficiency, which prompts them to depend on the telephone in the manner of their elders.

Their constructive use of the phone extends also into club and church activity where so many now work on youth committees, not only on behalf of social events but also for charity.

That many parents are recognizing the more constructive use the youngsters are making of the telephone, appears to be borne out by the increasing popularity of extensions for the child's bedroom or study area.

In addition, the bedroom extension has proven helpful to the student who is confined to bed and has to miss a few days of school. From her bed she can call a classmate or a teacher to get the latest assignment, to review points missed on days out, and to ask any questions necessary.

The Bell Telephone System reports that parents in increasing numbers are offering the teenagers private telephone lines as an incentive to improvement in their school work and for other achievements.

Marine O'Connor At WAVES' Anniversary National Convention

Marine O'Connor, a former U. S. Navy WAVE, wife of Blue O'Connor of Bakersfield, Calif., and daughter of Mrs. Lillian Nacca 4-91 Ralph Street, Belleville, attended the WAVES' 20th Anniversary National Convention held in Washington, D.C.

Receptions, banquets and tours to national shrines were included in the program. More than 1,400 WAVES and ex-WAVES from throughout the U. S. met and recalled experiences, many of them greeting friends of World War II days.

At the hotel in La., was selected as the site of next year's convention.

Professor Will Go To France To Do Research

Dr. Augustus E. DeMaggio of 49 Maier St., Belleville, associate professor of pharmacognosy at Rutgers University College of Pharmacy, has been awarded a Waksman Foundation in France Fellowship which will assist him to do research in France during the 1962-63 academic year.

The State University pharmacognosist will do basic studies on fern embryos at the Laboratory of Plant Physiology in Versailles, France.

Given annually by the Waksman Foundation in France, the fellowship helps finance study and research by members of Rutgers University faculty and student body in a university or institute in France.

The Foundation is supported by funds contributed by French manufacturers of streptomycin in lieu of royalties. It also aids French students to come to Rutgers. Streptomycin was discovered in the Rutgers laboratories of Dr. Selman A. Waksman, a Nobel Prize winner.

Dr. DeMaggio has been a member of Rutgers faculty since 1959. He holds a $32,000 grant from the National Institutes of Health for a three year study of "Influence of Restraint on Plant Embryo Development."

He received B. S. and M.S. degrees from Massachusetts College of Pharmacy and M. A. and Ph.D. degrees from Harvard University.

Motorists Are Urged To Discard Worn Tires

The New Jersey Highway Authority has warned motorists against driving on the Garden State Parkway and other expressways with inferior tires.

Authority Vice Chairman John B. Townsend said the warning was given as an urgent appeal for safety in view of a rash of blowouts and skid - tire slides along the Parkway involving close escapes from serious injury.

"Our experience indicates that long - distance, high - speed travel imposes a severe strain on tires and requires that they be of the best quality and condition for true driving safety," Commissioner Townsend said. Studies of Parkway accidents resulting from blowouts have attributed cause to defective tires as well as badly worn treads. There were 29 blowout accidents in 1959, 39 in 1960, and 47 last year.

During the first seven months this year, there were 24 such mishaps. However, it was also the number of near - accidents from blowouts and skidding on bare treads which the Authority cited as cause for alarm.

"While we cannot have an accurate count of such cases," Commissioner Townsend said, "the reports and evidence along the road are sufficient to prompt this warning and appeal. We urge all motorists to consider the quality and condition of their cars' tires for expressway travel."

State Police and toll collectors along the Parkway have been on the alert for cars with inferior tires or in other hazardous condition. Such vehicles are not permitted on the Parkway under its regulations.

In the first seven months this year, 4,817 incidents of flat tires were reported on the Parkway. There were 8,983 in all last year; 6,679 in 1960; and 8,344 in 1959.

TWO MAKE LIST
Anthony Vandorose of 165 Fairway Avenue and Arthur E. Jr. of 281 Main Street are Belleville residents who made the dean's list for the day sessions at the Rutgers campus of Fairleigh Dickinson University.

2:00 p.m. Directors, special Teachers and General supervisors — Meeting in multi - purpose room. School Eight (Coordinate schedules to be submitted to superintendent by Mr. Rosamilia.

2:00 p.m. Principals — Meet with faculty in their respective buildings.

All school personnel will attend the general meeting in the High School auditorium. After messages from Board President Richard H. Drake and Mayor Robert

M. Laterza, Dr. Frank M. Durkee, superintendent of schools, will talk on "Our Schools."

KINDERGARTEN
Parents should note that kindergarten children must enroll in the various schools not later than 10 days after school opens. After that time enrollment is only by special action of the Board of Education.

"All children need kindergarten experience as a foundation for Grade One," Dr. Durkee said. "Much can be accomplished in developing muscle coordination, social experience and readiness for reading and numbers in kindergarten."
