

AN EDITORIAL:

'Hostile Press' Cry Called Political Fake

The foregoing caption appeared over an article printed in the leading publication of the newspaper profession, Editor and Publisher.

The article is so appropriate to the local political scene that we believe everyone in Belleville should read it.

The Times-News is being used as a "whipping boy" by some politicians who, unable to defend their records and statements against legitimate editorial comment, find it convenient to blame a "hostile and slanted press."

The Editor and Publisher article follows:

State Senator James H. Snowden, of Wilmington, Delaware, berated his fellow politicians for using the press as a "whipping boy" to hide their own blunders.

Snowden, a Republican leader, said there are at least three ponderous political poses — three sacred cows — which slowly consume the truth with bovine placidity, and devour dollars, progress and principles, and yield nothing.

"There is an old saying," observed the Senator, "that when the law is on your side, pound the judge; when the facts are on your side, pound on the jury; and when you have neither the law nor the facts, pound on the table."

"This admonition was apparently absorbed some time ago by unhappy politicians who couldn't effectively debate their opponents and dared not debate the public — so they attacked the press."

"The news media, they learned, was a perfect whipping boy; it was impersonal, did not vote a straight ticket, and no matter how small the politician was, he looked bigger assaulting the press — a tissue paper David throwing pebbles at a newspaper Goliath — and although anyone could see through him, it aroused some sympathy."

"The party faithfully admired his brass if not his brains."

"Today, unhappily, this has become almost a standard practice. Whenever the popularity of a politician, a party, or a policy begins to shrink, some duly appointed mouthpiece utters the piteous wail about the 'unobjective press' — and paints the Fourth Estate as a wicked, back-biting conspiracy that has invested millions in plant, personnel, and philosophy for the sole purpose of destroying that one politician or that one party, or that one policy."

"This is breast-beating of epic proportions — and withal it is singularly unrewarding, for the press does not shut down nor the politician shut up."

"Perhaps I am expecting too much to suggest that we politicians leave the press alone."

"To the sorely offended politician, of course, the word 'unobjective' means the press has taken the 'opposite of his particular point of view. You can dismiss, literally out of hand, the whines and petulant pouting about distortion and misquotation."

"Few reporters are hampered by poor eyesight or poor hearing, and in general they are painfully acute in winnowing through the barrage of political oratory to find the few statements that merit the description of news. It is almost useless, however, to point out that the best way to avoid misquotation or distortion is to think before speaking, for my brethren in the political fraternity are unaccustomed to such self-discipline."

"Thank heaven our reporters and editors approach the political scene with the patience of babysitters and the curiosity of clinical psychologists; what a travesty our papers would become if all the political mouthings were printed and given the interpretation the office-holder deemed 'objective.'"

"All of this is said, of course, with a certain amount of wry sympathy for the public official when, for some dilapidated act or thought, he is neatly stretched on the rack by an editor, or when some of his less carefully well-chosen words are recorded for posterity in all their banality and terminological inexactitude."

"Despite the sadistic enjoyment of watching some of my associates being spit and turned in the heat of their own blunders, what concerns me is the need to puncture the prominence, the alleged reasonableness of that sacred cow, the 'hostile press.'"

"Such hostility exists only in the minds of those who cannot accept the possibility that someone else also could be right. The politician who is determined to shroud his faulty judgment behind his phony war with the papers should remember that ignorance is bliss, it is folly to read."

"But I care not one fig about his anemic conflicts with the press; I do, however, care that the public puts such conflicts in perspective — that the public realize that such histrionics are just camouflage for political error or the hunger pangs of wanting to be right even when wrong."

"For that reason alone — the sacred cow of the hostile press must be relegated where it belongs — to an amusement hall — it bears no more relationship to civic morality than wrestling does to sport."

"It is a fake — let it be known as such."

Four Are Killed As Skidding Car Rams Another On Rt. 21

Four persons were killed in a two-car crash on wet, slippery Route 21 in Belleville Tuesday night. The accident occurred close to the southern boundary of the town near the intersection of Bayard Street.

Fred Madden, 51 driver of one car, and his passenger, Conway Morton, 37, both of Newark, were killed instantly.

Mrs. Bertha Ward, 45, of Enslewood, died minutes after she was admitted to Clara Maass Memorial Hospital. Her son, Richard, 14, was crushed to death in the car.

School Year Subscription

When you're away from home it's natural to wonder what's going on in the old home town, and it's easy to feel homesick and lonely when you don't find out.

This is especially true of young folks at college, perhaps away from home for the first time in their lives.

There's an easy way to satisfy the student's wonderment about the doings at home and ease the feeling of loneliness and homesickness. That's by sending the college boy or girl a subscription to this paper.

An offer of a School Year Subscription at a special price will be found in an advertisement on an inside page of today's issue. Look for it and fill out the coupon. You'll make someone happy.

John Casteline Retires From Public Service After 35 Years

John P. Casteline of 285 North Belmont Avenue, Belleville, retired on pension from Public Service Electric and Gas Company August 31 after 35 years with the company. He was employed on February 17, 1927, at Kearney Generating Station, and at the time of retirement held the position of boiler room supervisor.

There were several early identifications of the subject circled in the picture on our Map Page last week, but we are awarding the prize to a later contestant for what we consider a very good reason — the later entrant spelled the subject's name correctly while the earlier ones did not.

The man in the circle was Burt Terrell Jr., an employee of George H. Mead, Inc., Ford dealer of 515 Washington Avenue. His first name was spelled "Bertr" by most contestants, while his last name was submitted as "Terrell" and "Terrel."

The first person to spell his name right was Mrs. W. J. Herbert of 117 Branch Brook Drive. Mrs. Herbert is a bookkeeper who works for Mr. Mead.

The Cooperating Merchant last week was The Times-News itself, and Mrs. Herbert will receive her award promptly.

And now, of course, a new contest is under way. There is a new contest, every week, you know, unless the subject in the picture remains unidentified, in which case it is carried over to the following week.

Drake Asks That Prosecutor Expedite School Board Probe

Richard H. Drake, president of the Board of Education, wrote Essex County Prosecutor Brendan T. Byrne recently asking him to expedite an inquiry being conducted by the prosecutor's office. The full extent of the inquiry has not been revealed but it is known that it concerns a former Board of Education rather than the current one, although many of the present members of the board were also on the former board.

Mr. Drake's letter follows:

I am writing to you as President of the Board of Education of the Town of Belleville. Recently several members of our Board and myself were questioned in detail by Mr. Carrella of your staff at the Court House concerning certain aspects of the proposed new senior high school, the construction and payments of which had been authorized by the people of our community at the referendum on December 21, 1961.

The August 27, 1962, issue of The Newark Evening News carried a story which indicated that you propose to submit this data to the Grand Jury. I wish to advise you that following a special meeting held last evening, the entire Board unanimously agreed to fully cooperate with your office in this undertaking and to give full assistance to your inquiry to the end that the matter may be fully aired and the shadow of doubt which now exists may be quickly and permanently dispelled.

My colleagues and I are fully aware of our responsibilities in this regard, and we feel that any delay in resolving these charges will have a decidedly harmful effect not only on the entire school system, but on the chil-

"I'll Be Tough As Hell!"

"Mostly you'll find me a mild-mannered man with a few semi-humorous jokes, but I'll be tough as hell when it comes to a few fundamental principles," William A. Sommers, Belleville's new Town Manager, told a gathering of department heads Tuesday afternoon. After the meeting he posed at his desk for The Times News, as shown above.

Bans All Town Employees From Political Activity

William A. Sommers, who was sworn in as Belleville Town Manager Tuesday morning by Judge Edward J. Abramson, lost no time in calling department heads together to tell them his position on various aspects of Belleville's new government. He summoned them to the upstairs Council chambers at 4 p.m. the same day and gave the group a half hour talk in which he mixed humor and firmness and gave one important order.

The order was the dictum that no Town employee will be permitted to hold a political office or engage in any political activity.

"This is a point I will be very strong about," he said. "It doesn't necessarily mean that an employee may not belong to the Democratic or Republican party, but it does mean not holding office in the party and not being active at election time at the local, county, state or national level. Any deviation from this will mean that an employee will have to resign. The Council-Manager form of government is a non-partisan operation. The Town Manager does not depend on politics or political organizations. Mixing politics into the Council-Manager form creates an atmosphere contrary to its entire conception."

Councilman Thomas P. Greco asked Sommers if he had legislative backing for insisting that Town employees abandon political activity and office.

"Yes, I do," Sommers replied. Except for this brief exchange the Town Manager did all the talking at the session.

"You're all going to have plenty of chance to come to me with your questions and problems later," he said. "You'll find that my door is always open. Of course, most of a manager's time is spent saying 'no' and he glories when he can say 'yes.'"

Sommers said he wanted to be sure everyone understood the two elements of municipal administration in the form now governing Belleville.

"The Council attends to setting important policy," he said, "and the people who have the know-how do the work." Following his talk, Deputy Mayor G. George Addonizio officially welcomed Sommers to his new post. Also present at the meeting were Councilmen James R. Golden and Vincent Strumolo.

Chamber Of Commerce Has Suggestions For Sommers

The Belleville Chamber of Commerce this week submitted to William A. Sommers, new Town Manager, 16 suggestions for "making a good town better."

The suggestions range from the adoption of a new building code to a study of overnight parking.

"Some of these suggestions may require legislative action, others can be accomplished by directives to department heads," Harry T. French, executive director of the Chamber, said, when submitting the suggestions.

"Some are the result of our own thinking, some have come to us from people outside the Chamber," he added.

Mr. French said the Chamber of Commerce would do all possible to support the Town Council in implementing any of the suggestions which meet with Council approval.

"The Chamber's only interest," Chamber follows:

BUILDING CODE

The adoption of a new up-to-date building code which will require that adequate space for parking be provided in all new structures, and in the case of apartment houses, the addition of space for play areas.

HOUSING CODE

The adoption of a housing code which will require landlords to maintain the minimum standards of health and safety, and to keep their buildings in good repair, so that the deterioration of the appearance of our town will be halted.

WARNING SIGNS

Place signs at important intersections on Washington Avenue which will warn motorists against moving into the intersection when the lights are stopped at red because of a fire alarm. Many of them do not know why the lights do not turn green, they think the light is "stuck". Accidents can happen this way, and the fire trucks could be hindered from reaching the scene of the fire.

PLANNING BOARD

Continue the work of the Planning Board and implement those portions of the land use plan which meets with the approval of the Council as soon as possible, particularly where there is need for more parking in business areas.

NO HAWKERS

Issue no more licenses for vendors or hawkers, which not only degrade the town, take business from taxpaying store owners, but also, since they cannot be properly inspected, present a health menace to their patrons in the dispensing of foods.

NO SIDEWALK DISPLAYS

Eliminate the display and vending of merchandise on sidewalks in front of stores, beyond the building line. This, too, creates a bad appearance and in the case of food sales exposes such foods to the dust and dirt of the street.

BAN CERTAIN SIGNS

Prohibit the posting of signs, placards or other advertising material on poles, trees, buildings and fences, other than on regularly established billboards.

IMPROVE STREET LIGHTING

Improve side-street lighting in order to eliminate the possibility of assaults and robberies.

FORBID THROWAWAYS

Prohibit the distribution of advertising material, other than mail, which litter lawns and steps and, in vacation time, serve as an invitation to house breaking.

Meeting Held By Entire School Staff Of 325

The entire staff of the Belleville public schools, numbering 325 persons, gathered in the High School auditorium Wednesday morning in a get-together session that marked a first in Belleville. It was the first time that the entire personnel employed by the Board of Education met together at the beginning of the school year.

According to Superintendent of Schools Frank M. Durkee, it was done with the thought that presenting a discussion of the schools to the personnel just before the start of the term would be beneficial to all involved.

Talks were given by the group by Mayor Robert M. Laterza, Dr. Durkee and Richard H. Drake, president of the Board of Education. It was the first time a mayor of Belleville has addressed such a meeting, Dr. Durkee said.

The 36 teachers who are new to the Belleville school system this year were introduced. Fourteen of these new teachers are in the High School and 22 are in the elementary schools. The elementary staff (kindergarten

To Tender Testimonial To Addonizio

Plans have been made by the George Addonizio Association to tender a testimonial dinner-dance to their standard bearer, who is Deputy Mayor of Belleville. The affair will be held at the Branch-Brook Manor restaurant, Washington Avenue, corner of Mill Street, on Thursday evening, October 18, at 7:30.

The committee promises a gala evening of music and entertainment and a capacity crowd is expected.

Friends who wish to attend may secure tickets from Angelo Pesci, PL 9-3454. "Make reservations early," he asks.

Post 105 Will Send Delegates To Convention

With the Department convention of the American Legion to be held at Wildwood, September 6, 7 and 8, Belleville's delegates are busy preparing for the trip there.

A large group headed by Commander John Kay will leave Belleville today (Thursday). Delegates and alternates representing Post 105 include 1st Vice Commander Meredith Marx, 2nd Vice Commander Dominic Turano, Service Officer Richard Shannon, Ritual Officer Peter Johnson, Adjutant George Mitchell, 3rd Vice Commander Don Williams, Finance Officer Walter Weiss, and Historian Ruth L. Miller. Mrs. Miller is also the Department Historian and is up for reelection. Arthur Sharrock and Jack Throckmorton complete the local group.

With Governor Hughes and other State and national figures scheduled as speakers, a very interesting and informative convention is in view. With the facilities of Wildwood open to the Legionnaires, plus the drum and bugle corps competition, the huge parade on Saturday topped by the convention ball on Saturday evening, a busy time is assured all.

Belleville Plant Nurse Is 'Gal Friday' Winner

Mrs. H. Vreeland, R. N., of the Walter Kidde & Company, Inc. Medical Department beams proudly as she displays the Hawaiian orchid presented to her as winner of the "Gal Friday" award on the August 24th Herb Oscar Anderson radio program. Mrs. Vreeland's name was submitted to the WABC disc jockey by Ernest Adams (left), a Kidde machine operator, in gratitude for her professional skill and general pleasantness in treating the Belleville safety equipment manufacturer's employees. A poem written by Tom Perrotta (right) of Nutley and dedicated to Mrs. Vreeland was read over the air by Mr. Anderson.

YOU AND YOUR INSURANCE

(A public service column about all forms of insurance.)

'Go Kart' Owners Urged To Study Safety And Insurance Requirements

The fast growing interest in 'go karts' and midget automobiles should be matched with a like concern for the accident potential of such vehicles.

When the 'go karts' first became popular there were few, if any, rules governing their operation. This was true despite the fact that, in most cases, small children operated the vehicles. Many parents considered the machines in the category of toys and saw no need for special safety or insurance precautions.

While their operating speed is generally only a few miles an hour, the karts are capable of higher speeds and in the hands of youngsters are potentially dangerous.

For this reason many states today require that the karts be registered as motor vehicles if they are operated on the public streets.

Where this is the case, the midget machines should be insured as automobiles, if coverage for bodily injury and property damage liability is to be afforded.

If the karts are operated only on the property of the owner, they are covered by comprehensive personal liability insurance both on and away from the owners' property provided liability insurance is included in the homeowners' package policies and also can be purchased separately. It protects the policyholder against claims for bodily injury or property damage caused by his family's personal activities and includes coverage for the midget automobile and golf cart hazards as explained above.

This column will be glad to answer any questions you may have about property and casualty insurance. Send them to: The Belleville Times-News, to the attention of Carl A. Orechio or to the Orechio Agency, 43 Washington Ave., Nutley, N. J.

Town And State Ahead In Civil Defense Program

Belleville is one of the first municipalities in the State to complete the first phase of the National Fallout Shelter Survey. And New Jersey leads the nation in the survey, according to Acting State Civil Defense Director Thomas S. Dignan. To date the Garden State has established close to 4,000 fallout shelter areas.

"Under the State's program," said the director, "we will begin October 1 with the stocking of a total of 175,000 shelter spaces in the Essex and Camden County areas. Eventually the project calls for licensing and provisioning of enough facilities to provide shelter space for close to one and a half million persons."

"In Belleville some delay in the follow-up licensing is being experienced" Belleville's CD Director Ludwig Pesa states, "because of reluctance of building owners or managers to sign the licensing agreement. This continued reluctance is based mainly on the thinking that this would involve an invasion of privacy."

Pesa hastens to advise that the first call for the use of the shelter areas would be for the actual tenants or employees of the building, also the stockpile of such items as concentrated food, water and medical supplies provided at no cost by the U. S. Federal Government will on the average only occupy a floor space of four square feet.

Periodic inspections of the shelter area and the stockpile provisions could be assigned to a tenant or employee of the building, provided they were registered with the local Civil Defense Office. In seeking 100 per cent licensing, Pesa assures building owners or managers that there will be no intrusion or interfering with the normal functions and operation of the building.

Dignan said the survey program which started January 1, is now in its second phase. Under phase one of the program, it was the job of statisticians to compile and compute information on the number of buildings in the state suitable as shelter areas. Phase two, which got under way March 1 called for on-the-spot inspection of properties by teams of architects and engineers.

According to Dignan, most of the credit for putting New Jersey ahead of the other states in the survey, goes to local CD directors. Through the efforts of the local CD leaders, property owners were contacted and their buildings were inspected under the guidelines set down by the U. S. Army Corps of Engineers. If a building was found to be suitable as a shelter area, a license was issued. The license, said Director Dignan, is a written contract between the property owner and the federal government designating a section of a building as a fallout shelter site.

Automobile racing is a fast, thrilling and sometimes dangerous sport. It is the second largest spectator sport in the nation. And, in the Indianapolis 500, auto racing boasts the greatest sporting event in the world.

Nutley will long remember its days as one of the top auto racing towns. The Nutley Velodrome was filled with capacity every night the midwest racers roared. Some of the greatest auto racers of our time raced at the velodrome.

In its climb to prominence among national sports, auto racing has survived the charges and complaints of newsmen, the disgust of politicians and the degrading remarks of persons not interested in it, as a sport, has been threatened by law, criticized, and has been called "manslaughter".

Nevertheless, it remains as one of our most popular sports.

True, it is dangerous, but so is football, boxing, all fighting, bobsledding, parachute jumping, horse racing and a host of other great sporting attractions. The spirit of competition is all that attracts the players, the sense of satisfaction in that a person can do something very well.

The idea that all race drivers are candidates for a mental hospital is silly. This year's Indianapolis 500 winner Rodger Ward, is one of the best educated and most respected sports figures in the world today. His dynamic personality and ability to speak with sincerity, has placed him among the most sought after sporting personalities. Ward spends most of his time speaking to groups of young people and adults expressing his views as a racer as well as an expert in highway safety.

Not quite a year ago, Don Freeland, a well-known race driver came to Nutley and delivered a brief talk to some high school students. Freeland, like any other race driver, can make a point with young drivers. That "whether you are on the track or not safety is the most factor in driving an automobile."

But yet, these men, who take time to try to save the lives of the motoring public, are called crackpots. And, most of the namecalling usually comes from Joe Numbskull, who just ran you off Highway 21 with his bucket of bolts he calls a car.

Too, too many people have the wrong idea of auto racing. True, three drivers were killed last week. Each, however, knew the risk involved, and who knows, their members may have been up despite their crashes.

Being closely connected with the sport, I can appreciate the feelings of Mr. and Mrs. Average American when they see headlines saying "Two Racers Killed In Crash". I, too, stop and think and ask the question, "Is it worth it?"

If we did not have the race tracks and the men drive on them, we would lose many more lives each year.

The nation's race tracks serve not only as an attraction and a way of earning a living for the competitors, they serve as the proving grounds for automobiles of the future.

Recently legislation has been suggested making the use of auto seat belts mandatory. The seat belt is the most important part in auto racing safety. It has been used for the past 40 years.

The rear view mirror was first introduced at the Indianapolis Speedway in the early days of automobiles when a driver attached a "looking glass" to his car so that he would not have to turn around to see what was behind him.

Tires have also been improved through auto racing. Each year the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company spends thousands of dollars testing new racing tires.

The tests which are run by professional racing drivers and conducted by tire engineers, provide the drivers with the answers to many questions which arise when a new tire is constructed.

The tires on your passenger car are probably the same type used several years ago on the nation's speedways and race courses.

Yet, these men who conduct these tests and risk their necks to help save yours, are called nuts.

If auto racing is manslaughter so is testing airplanes. Many test pilots are killed every year trying a new type of instrument which may protect our nation from aggression, or get you to and from a business appointment in Chicago faster and perhaps a bit more safely.

A few years back I stood in the pit area at a small race track in Connecticut talking to a racer named Al Herman. Moments later he was dead. I felt terrible, disgusted with the sport of racing and determined that I would never again watch another race.

A day or two later I played a record on which Herman was interviewed. I will always remember his words, "Too many people today aren't doing what they really want to. I am, so I think I'm a pretty guy."

When Al Herman climbed into his racer that tragic day he was doing what he wanted to do. He was happy. He was a race driver.

As Rodger Ward put it, "It requires a desire more than anything. You really have to want to do it. There is no element of danger, but we don't think of it that way."

The roar of the engine and the spirit of competition continue to attract men, and as long as there are men there will be racing.

NUTLEY

The Plotters Keep Plotting

Grown, mature men are holding clandestine meetings whose sole purpose is to subvert constitutional government.

Tuesday night another meeting of the clan was held. Their gripe is not that our new Council is spending too much money — it's that they are not spending enough!

Let's tear away the mask that shields their operations and examine the naked facts.

The group's leaders consist of a couple of public officials, a motley crew of defeated candidates and some town employees boldly embarked on a program which they hope will bring discredit upon Mayor Robert M. Laterza, Deputy Mayor G. George Addonizio and Councilman Vincent T. Strumolo.

In beer halls and other respectable joints some of the followers stoop to the curbstake level — they inject ethnic considerations, deemed long ago to be un-American.

Attempting to transfer the sea of legitimate government from the Town Hall chambers to basement recreation rooms, in the dead of night, when the rest of the town is sleeping they plot their nefarious schemes to rob respectable citizens of their hard-won reputations in order to disenchant the public and urge the people once again to "throw out the rascals."

The insidious, unAmerican nature of this scheme carries with it the germs of self-destruction. The plotters may continue to plot but they are doomed to failure because the self-respecting citizens of our community will resent the effort of the schemers to use them as pawns in their mad, headlong rush to quench their unquenchable thirst for power.

Unfortunately there are a few good, decent citizens who have been brainwashed into attending some of these clandestine meetings. It is not too late for them to turn their backs upon the schemers and join that great body of citizens who still believe nights are made for sleeping and not scheming.

A Poor Policy

The Board of Education, by a 4-0 vote — three members abstaining, approved the employment of Raymond O. Smith as high school principal.

Smith has been principal of the Manville, N. J., high school. A native of Belleville he returns with excellent teaching and supervisory credentials.

We feel confident that time will prove Smith to be a competent administrator.

We have one reservation over the selection of a new high school principal. We believe the vacancy should have been filled by the promotion of a qualified individual already a member of our system. We subscribe fully to promotion from within. Such a policy can do more for the morale of our teaching staff than any other single matter of board policy.

It is our understanding that seven applicants were considered for the vacancy. Among the original applicants were members of our system. At least two seemed to be as qualified as Mr. Smith. But the Board would have none of that. Of the seven applicants under consideration the Board unanimously decided to restrict consideration of a selection by Dr. Frank Durkee, school superintendent, to two individuals — both from without the system. In consequence Dr. Durkee was compelled by Board action to make his recommendation from two names submitted, Dr. Ward R. Young and Raymond O. Smith.

It is a matter of historical note that Dr. Young received the appointment and subsequently rejected it. Left with only one name, Dr. Durkee was obliged to recommend Raymond O. Smith for the job which Dr. Young refused.

We believe the procedures followed in this instance were unfair to the members of our system who have every right to believe their applications for promotion should be treated with more respect and consideration than demonstrated in the selection of a new high school principal.

We believe the policy of promotion from within or without the school system is a proper issue for the February School Board Election.

Voters should be invited to express their preference at the polls through voting for candidates who share their personal views on this question.

A New Fire Chief Needed?

Fire Chief Carl Hundertpfund is beligerently opposed to any proposal to put into effect a 42-hour work week for our firemen without adding any additional men.

Hundertpfund wants 22 more men. The ANNUAL cost in the early years for these additional men will be approximately $130,000.

We say Belleville taxpayers cannot afford this added burden.

Moreover we think it is unnecessary. Our fire department presently consists of 69 paid firemen. Belleville has 3.2 square miles in territory or 2,112 acres.

By comparison the Nutley Fire Department consists of 20 paid firemen and the town has about 3.3 square miles of real estate or 2,176 acres.

Nutley adopted a 42-hour work week also. It will go into effect January 1, 1963. How many extra firemen do you suppose Nutley intends to add? Only six.

So we find Nutley putting into effect a 42-hour work week with a total of 26 paid firemen while in Belleville Fire Chief Hundertpfund wants a total of 91 men to do the same job.

Chief Hundertpfund says Belleville cannot put into effect a 42-hour work week for firemen and still maintain adequate fire protection. We disagree vigorously with his position. We believe the new work week for firemen can be put into effect and still maintain adequate fire protection for our citizens.

It appears to us that the Chief simply refuses to consider such a proposal — even for a trial period.

In the circumstances perhaps the Chief has served his usefulness and maybe we need a new Fire Chief.

Of one thing we are certain — the taxpayers of Belleville cannot afford the $130,000 that Fire Chief Hundertpfund demands.

The School Board Probe

The concern of Richard H. Drake over a current "series of talks" the office of the Essex County Prosecutor is having with members of the Board of Education is readily understandable. As president of the board, Mr. Drake is well aware of the possible serious effects the investigation (for that is what it really is) may have on the financing of Belleville's new high school. And, of course, any adverse effect along that line will result in an equally bad, even disastrous, effect on the pocketbooks of Belleville taxpayers.

It is less than a month ago that the board, through strenuous efforts on the part of its members and even more particularly on the part of Board Attorney Max Schwartz, freed itself from the suffocating clutches of a suit by the Citizens Tax Council. Seemingly all was then clear for the sale of bonds to finance the high school with no cloud darkening the prospects for disposing of them at an attractively low interest rate. Now, it seems, the same sort of thing is again obscuring the outlook.

Mr. Drake has written Prosecutor Brendan T. Byrne informing him that the entire Board of Education has unanimously agreed to cooperate fully with his office in any inquiry and to give full assistance to the end that the matter may be fully aired and any doubts quickly and permanently dispelled.

The board president stressed that any delay in carrying the inquiry through to a conclusion will have a harmful effect on the entire school system, the children, their parents, the staff and the community at large.

As for the school bond issue, Mr. Drake was even more emphatic. He said that not only will security and institutional investors be reluctant to consider the bonds as an acceptable investment, but their sale can probably now be effected only at a substantially increased cost to the people of Belleville.

Mr. Drake is well aware that the advantageous sale of the school bonds cannot be the paramount concern of the prosecutor or his staff in their conduct of the inquiry. However, in asking that the determination of the true facts be speedily carried out, the board president has the interests of all the taxpayers of Belleville in mind — and that is no inconsiderable concern.

We hope that Prosecutor Byrne also considers the taxpayers of Belleville to the extent that his inquiry is carried out as expeditiously as possible.

Last week we wrote about Magnavox TV sets. Today we report about their Hi-Fi stereo merchandise. Magnavox has always had an exceptionally fine position as far as sound reproduction is concerned. Capable, which has long disappeared, Stromberg Carlson, on this gave the last year and Magnavox were the outstanding names in sound for many years. Now only Magnavox is left and the company has become stronger every year. According to a survey by Billboard Music Week Magazine, Magnavox sold alone more than 50 percent of all stereo phonographs during last season, more than all others combined. There is good reason for this. The widely imitated record changer with its extremely low needle pressure makes it possible, to guarantee the stylus for 10 years. Quality components and speakers throughout assure excellent performance.

A large selection of styles and finishes makes it easy to select just what the customer wants. Due to the direct to dealer policy of the factory, eliminating the middleman and his profit, Magnavox prices are lower than other merchandise of equivalent quality. Last but not least, one year unconditional warranty, for parts and labor, on all Gold Seal models, and 10 year warranty on the diamond LP stylus, are standard with Magnavox.

This company has a portable transistorized stereo Hi-Fi set with angled speakers of amazing top quality. Parts on these sets are guaranteed for 2 years, labor is free for one year. The output is 10 watts, which is exceptionally high for a table model. The performance of the table set is as good or better than many console models of other manufacturers. This is the first transistor set of this kind, power and quality, on the market.

Morris County Fair Draws Record Shattering Crowd

With the weather man doing his very best all through the week of August 18-25, the Morris County Fair attracted a record breaking attendance of 150,000 this year. Clear blue skies ushered in the fair on opening day. That afternoon Governor Richard J. Hughes was there to open the Telstar exhibit in the Science Show. The skies frowned briefly on Monday night but didn't dampen the enthusiasm of the audience at the first round of the Miss Garden State Beauty Contest. Since this was bathing suit night, the girls didn't mind the rain either. The next evening, lovely 18-year old Alice Jones of Verona came smiling through as Miss Garden State of 1962. Beauty blossomed this year along the mall where North Jersey garden clubs interspersed lovely garden sites among the industrial exhibits. The Chatham Township Garden Club's "Steady As She Goes" was the prize winner. The changing exhibits of the Flower Show brought visitors back many times. This year the seldom awarded tri-color went to Mrs. T. Cannell, Livingston, for an unusual arrangement of flowers and vegetables.

There were many firsts scored at the 1962 Morris County Fair. The Salvation Army Star Line Band under the direction of Erik Leiden, famous arranger for the Goldman band, appeared 180 strong in the bandshell Friday night. Another unusual first event was a Hair Styling Contest, with leading hair stylists creating original coiffures under the eyes of an eager audience. Down in the livestock area, a night milking contest in the Future Farmers of America tent attracted all kinds of amateurs. Lucky winner of the P.P.A. pony raffle was Toni Scordato, North Haledon.

Some beautiful horses and expert horsemanship were exhibited in the Morris County Horse Show. Grand champion was Scott Orlando, Wayne, on "Old Bud," and Reserve Champion was Ruth Ann Tallamy, Branchville, on "Nardo's Boy."

ENFORCE DOG ORDINANCE
Enforce the leash and curb your dog ordinances and find better ways and means for dog catcher services.

ENFORCE GAS STATION LAWS
Enforce the law on service gasoline stations doing heavy garage repair work and using their stations and property to park cars and trucks overnight in light business and residential areas.

MORE HEALTH INSPECTIONS
Have the Health Department make more frequent inspection of business and store areas for junk, debris and health violations. If not now required, all food handlers in restaurants, diners, etc. should have health department certificates indicating freedom from contagious disease, especially TB and V.D.

MORE POLICE ON FOOT DUTY
Provide for more of the patrolmen to cover night beats on foot.

RE-EVALUATE TOWN LAND
Re-evaluate town-owned land, including playgrounds (some may no longer be needed or are in the wrong place) for possible new ratables.

STUDY OVERNIGHT PARKING
Study the matter of enforcing no overnight parking in streets. Many towns in this area do enforce such a rule. Perhaps where room is not available for a garage, a special window sticker could be placed on cars, permitting street parking. In fairness to people who are paying taxes on garages, a fee could be charged for these stickers.

Beautiful Bucolic Belleville Chimney And Water Tower Are Long Gone Landmarks

By FREDERICK J. PIXLEE

This article will be devoted to the recollection of two long vanished landmarks. One was a tall brownstone chimney that stood at a bend of the Passaic River just north of the intersection of Main Street and Greylock Parkway. The other was the old Jersey City water tower in North Arlington. While the latter was not within the limits of Belleville, it could be seen from almost all of the eastern part of our town, so I am including it in this series.

On the Belleville side of the river there stood for many years a tall, gaunt, brownstone chimney, inside of a very ornate iron and brownstone gateway. Near the chimney were four large rectangular tanks filled with brackish water. This was all that was left of an early attempt to obtain drinking water from the Passaic River for the City of Newark.

PUMPING WATER

There had been a pump station here at one time, but no traces of the pump house were visible from 1916, when I first visited the site, until the chimney was finally razed in 1938. There still is an old pipe line extending from this point almost in a straight line to the reservoir on Joramelon Street. This pipe line is mentioned in many deeds of property owners under which it goes. It goes through the basement of the apartment house at the corner of Malone and Washington Avenues.

The original function of this pipe line was to bring water from the river up to the reservoir and now it is allegedly used as an overflow pipe from that body of water. It has not been necessary to use it in over 80 years for that purpose, for the reservoir has never overflowed and probably never will.

The promontory of land that the chimney once stood on was known by the old river men as Chimney Point. One of their expressions after going through the Belleville Bridge bound upstream was: "Keen Chimney Point just a few points to port until about Tall Landmark."

TALL LANDMARK

The chimney itself was one of the highest landmarks around. Some of the more adventuresome boys managed to get inside the chimney and found a set of iron rungs. Those who climbed these rungs said that about half way up they shifted from one side to the other and I do not know of anyone who dared to cross this in the dark. Stygian blackness inside. I would appreciate hearing from anyone who did accomplish this.

There was a beautiful view of the river in both directions from this point of land, providing you had a cloth napkin on your nose and a strong stomach. The smell could literally knock you down.

EXPENSIVE

The chimney was razed by dynamiting sometime in 1928 and the tanks were filled in. For a decade or so, Belleville had a fine park at this point. It is very unfortunate that the Essex County Highway Department took this away from Belleville and has not given us a satisfactory replacement.

The other structure, the old Jersey City water tower, was an outstanding landmark from about 1859 to 1938. An idea of how it looked may be seen in the accompanying illustration, supplied to me through the courtesy of Paul Gibney, of Harvey Ziegler's Tavern on Holmes Street.

FLOOD OF 1903

This picture also shows how the Passaic River overflowed during the great flood of October 1903, which will be the subject of some future articles.

The water tower was used to furnish water to a storage reservoir at the top of Schuyler Hill in North Arlington. This employed a function well known to anyone familiar with physics, using a standpipe in the tower and a sloping pipe from its base up to the reservoir. As the water was pumped into the standpipe it also rose in the connecting sloping pipe until it reached the reservoir.

The project seemed to be a very costly operation and one wonders why it was ever used at all. The Passaic River is a tidal stream at this point and the water must have been brackish, even if there was no evidence of pollution.

There were three buildings that were used in connection with the water tower. One on the river side was the gate house, pipe intakes and filters, machine shop and also a small office. The smaller structure south of the tower was the boiler room and the large building next to the tower was the pump house. Inside of this building were two huge Watt Beam Engines, fully 40 feet high. The cost of operation and maintenance of the entire installation must have been very high because it was necessary that these pumps be operating at all times.

The late Joseph McCreery, an old "country gentleman" of North Arlington, once told me that the original standpipe fell across the road after a storm. It was then decided to build a new one and enclose it with brick.

My only memories of the entire installation was after it was long in disuse. The form of architecture was strange, almost eerie. There were long windows ending in an arch in all the buildings and smaller ones in the tower. The tower was 156 feet high as far as the upper ledge and the metal superstructure above that was fully 24 feet. This made a total of 180 feet and at one time was considered the tallest structure in the State.

EFFICIENT CARETAKER

Somewhat adjacent to the building there was a fine house that belonged to the caretaker. He was a fine old gentleman when you got to know him. However, he was very efficient in his job

Chamber Of Commerce To Seek Members

Arthur Jackson, chairman of the board of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, announced this week that at a meeting of its board to be held on Tuesday, September 11, at Parrillo's, John Baker Jr., vice president of National Fund Raising Service, Inc., will present a plan for expanding the Chamber's membership. The Service is a nationwide organization that for 40 years has been conducting chamber membership campaigns all over the United States, and during this time it has been successful in over 500 campaigns. Jackson pointed out that since its reactivation some two years ago the Chamber has made no concerted effort to increase its membership, but rather has in these two years increased from 10 to 60 members, most of whom were contacted and made interested in joining by the present members.

"But in order to be of greater service to the community it is now time to reach out and involve more businessmen, industries and professional people in the Chamber's work," Jackson said. "The Chamber has, through its day to day activities and especially as a result of two very successful Cavalcades of Progress, gained the respect and confidence of the community."

The Chamber at its September 11 meeting will discuss ways and means for a membership campaign which probably will be held some time early next year.

Montclair Art Museum Shows British Works

The Montclair Art Museum will reopen on Sunday, September 9, showing as its first major exhibition of the 1962-1963 season "British Constructivist Art."

This is the first showing of this exhibition, which then goes on a nation-wide tour. Constructivism is defined as an alternative to the traditional means of making a work of art. It is not painting; it is neither carving nor modelling; it is the act of assembling. Technically, a construction depends on the combination of separate elements which, as they are made to cohere, do not lose their individual clarity. The 31 objects in the present exhibition are made of a wide variety of woods, metals and plastics assembled in combinations. Some of the pieces are nearly two-dimensional and have been designed with only moderate projections, while others make use of deeper relief. Still others, in the form of delicate mobiles or curved aluminum structures, exploit fully the use of three-dimensional space.

This exhibition was organized by the Institute of Contemporary Arts in London and is being circulated throughout the United States under the auspices of the American Federation of Arts. Represented are the works of able artists currently active in the Constructivist movement as it has developed in England since 1951: Victor Pasmore, John Smith, Stuart Gilbert, Anthony Hill, Kenneth and Mary Martin.

Red Cross Delegates Back From Organized Training

Carolyn Kay, Evelyn Mostel and Alana Truett, delegates to the New Jersey High School Red Cross Leadership Training Center, have returned home after five days crowded with fun, inspiration, knowledge and understanding of Red Cross and especially Junior Red Cross.

All three girls were full of praise for the training they received. This is one of the opportunities offered by the Junior Red Cross to secondary school boys and girls.

The ninth annual Training Center was held at the Peddie School, Hightstown, Aug. 19-24.

This year it was sponsored by Newark Chapter, ARL-1924, and operated by a Planning Committee composed of 29 adult Junior Red Cross Leaders from 17 New Jersey Chapters, the Delaware Chapter and Eastern Area Headquarters, Elizabeth A. Tunks, director of Junior Red Cross for the Newark Chapter, was business manager.

The Belleville Chapter was asked to provide two volunteer Nurses Aides to assist the Center Nurse with the physical examinations of the delegates. Mrs. Kenneth Cary and Mrs. Herbert Tucker went down and reported they thoroughly enjoyed the experience of seeing so many wonderful young people training to be our future leaders.

Our Belleville delegates also had been asked to be on hand early so they could rehearse and

Barbara Underwood Returns From Sojourn In France

Miss Barbara D. Underwood, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Underwood of 345 Washington Avenue, is among more than 160 Americans who have spent the summer living in 29 countries throughout the world under the auspices of The Experiment in International Living.

Miss Underwood has just returned home, thrilled with her experience, and is now busy with preparations for college. She will attend Radcliffe at Cambridge, Mass.

The Times-News hopes to be able to bring its readers some details of Miss Underwood's trip in a future issue.

Each participant in the eight-week program lived for about a month in the home of a foreign family, learning the customs and culture of the country by living it. The groups were distributed as widely as India and Iran, Cameroon and Brazil, Greece and Finland. The second month of the program was spent in informal travel, usually accompanied by members of their host families.

Miss Underwood spent her period abroad in France.

The Experiment is an independent, nonprofit organization in the field of international education which promotes international understanding by family living. Since its founding in 1932 by Donald B. Watt, The Experiment has sent more than 17,000 Americans abroad to learn how the peoples of other countries think, act and live. They travel in groups of about ten under a specially-trained leader. The Experiment also brought an equal number of nationals from 71 countries to live for a month in U. S. homes, many of them prior to entering college.

Since its founding, more than 96,000 persons have participated in The Experiment's activities, either as Experimenters to other lands or as family members who have played host to incoming visitors. Many of them are now prominent in the national and international affairs of their home countries.

Her creation was modeled by Miss Mary Beth floor, 80 Cleveland Street, Belleville.

A letter from Dean David M. Malovsky advised that the judges had cited the entry as separated by a thin margin from being a trophy winner. They made the certificate award as evidence of unusual professional skill.

At the fair, the audience of more than two thousand applauded as each of thirty-one models showed off the creations of stylists from all over the state on the brightly lighted outdoor stage. Awards were made in three classes: basic, evening and fantasy hair styles.

Excellent technical execution, originality, and adaptability of the style to the model were the points on which the certificate award was made.

Payments Slowing Down Business Report Shows

There has been a slowing down in the rate of payments to manufacturers and wholesalers in the second quarter of 1962 as compared with the first quarter of the year, and the last three months of 1961, but the lag in the accounts paid promptly was only two cents on the dollar, according to a recent report by the National Association of Credit Management.

For the period April-June, 17 cents of every dollar owed was paid due, as against 15 cents for the first three months of the year. However, there was little change in bills owing for over 90 days. When accounts are delinquent for more than 90 days, this usually indicates that the creditor is in serious business difficulty.

A detailed report by the Credit Research Foundation shows that manufacturers of radios, TVs and other home appliances were having the hardest time collecting their bills. Their customers paying on time were 65.2 per cent of the total while for the first quarter of the year over 80 per cent of their receivables were "current."

The food products industry seemed to be fortunate in having customers who paid most promptly with 92 per cent of the receivables current as of July 1, as against 96 per cent on April 1.

U. S. Heavy Machinery Exports Rise Sharply

WASHINGTON—A Commerce Department report puts the US trade surplus in heavy equipment at the rate of $6 billion so far this year. However, because of heavy imports of consumer goods, imports may exceed exports by more than the $600 million deficit run up in 1961.

The survey shows that in the first six months of 1962, the US exported manufactured goods at the rate of 11.9 billion for the year. For the like period last year, the annual rate was $9.3 billion. Imports of heavy equipment through June totaled just over $5.8 billion.

A breakdown of the report shows that most of the gains in shipments of heavy machinery came in sales to the Communist Market countries. Last year the US delivered a total $3.7 billion in finished goods to Western European countries for a trade surplus of $500 million, as against a deficit of $1 billion for 1960.

For the first six months of 1962, exports of finished manu-
