TIMES-NEWS STARTS DEFENSE FUND FOR INDICTED MEMBERS OF SCHOOL BOARD

$700,000 In Past Debts To Be Paid By Taxpayers Of Belleville In The Future

Expenditures of $700,000 made by the former town commission and financed by the issuance of temporary notes will be assessed against taxpayers beginning with next year.

This fact was disclosed at Tuesday's Council meeting when the Council passed on first reading of a series of bonding ordinances which aggregate $700,000. Tuesday's bonding ordinances amounted to $173,000.

The legal firm of Reed, Hoyt, Washburn and McCarthy of New York advised Town Treasurer Francis H. McCoy that it is necessary to have ordinances "to fund the notes because the original ordinance did not authorize the issuance of bonds. Also, the firm said, there is no authority to renew notes more than two years from their date and if the notes are not paid the amount may have to be included in next year's budget."

The $173,000 is for the purpose of paying for the following:

Improving lot reserved for Recreation on Riverdale Avenue, $9,785.

Accounting machines and accessories, $7,885.

Sanitary sewer in Main Street, $2,850.

Office equipment, $35,625.

Police and Fire radio equipment, $23,750.

Acquisition of lands for public purposes on Valley Street, $14,820.

Public Library improvement, $2,540.

Resurfacing part of Cortlandt Street, $970.

Mill Street improvement, $8,845.

Nelson Street improvement, $10,300.

Motor pick-up sweeper, $13,775.

Traffic signals at Franklin and Belmont Avenues, $1,235.

Snow removal truck, $3,325.

Heavy duty truck and spraying machines with accessories, $14,850.

Municipal stadium improvement, $7,780.

A public hearing on the two bonding ordinances was set for October 23.

The Council meeting was a lengthy one, terminating close to 1 a.m.

Town Manager William A. Sommers submitted a report summarizing his first month in office and commenting on various topics. He defended his edict, issued on his first day in office, and which has created a furor in some circles, that no town employee may engage in political activities.

"It is clear to me," he said, "that to build an organization dedicated to the complete service of the town, it is vital that they cease political activity." He added that he was sure "there is

Grand Jury Levels Counts On 8 Belleville Citizens, 2 Others

AN EDITORIAL:

Not A Finding Of Guilt

The four indictments handed down by an Essex County Grand Jury Wednesday afternoon involving eight present and former members of the Belleville Board of Education, Professor Felix McCormick, board consultant, and Alfonso Alvarez, architect for the new high school do not represent a finding of guilt. Only a trial jury may make that determination.

The citizens of our community should withhold final judgment concerning the accused until they have had the benefit of a fair trial by jury.

The accused are presumed innocent until proven otherwise. And an indictment is not a conviction. The indictment is an allegation that certain state laws were violated. It remains for the Prosecutor to prove the guilt of the accused.

This brings up the question of a defense for the accused. Named in one or more of the indictments are the following present board members: President Richard H. Drake, Vice president Ernest S. Arvidson, Dr. Frank N. DiRuggiero, Nicholas S. Juilliano and Arthur M. Pico. Also included are former board members Michael V. Albertine, Dominic A. Lally and Mrs. Violet Rochau.

The accused are obliged to pay for their own defense. Town funds cannot be used to hire attorneys to defend anyone of the eight. Board members serve without pay. Civic pride motivates most candidates who seek election to the school board. Without attempting to prejudice the case we believe the eight present and former school board members who sacrificed much of their family lives spending endless hours and nights in the pursuit of better education for our children are entitled to the support of the community. More, they are entitled to the best legal brains that money can buy. Some of the accused cannot afford funds to engage attorneys to defend them — be they competent attorneys or otherwise.

If we were to permit these eight citizens to go down the drain for lack of competent attorneys to defend them it will be the beginning of the end for Belleville as a first class community. No longer will good citizens offer themselves as sacrificial lambs on the altar of civic pride. No longer will good citizens offer their names on a ballot for elective office to a non-paying job on the school board only to wake up one morning facing the possibility of a jail sentence as a reward for dedicating themselves to providing our children with the best possible educational system.

In short Belleville may well end up a haven for assorted cranks, defamers, hypocrites, demagogues, and worse.

Because the indicted individuals exposed themselves to the charges preferred against them while in the line of civic duty and serving without pay — and because we believe they are entitled to the support of our community until proven guilty THE TIMES-NEWS has decided to establish a TIMES-NEWS EDUCATION DEFENSE FUND to be applied to the payment of attorney fees incurred in the defense of our eight present and former board members.

Citizens and merchants interested in contributing to the defense of these eight citizens can do so by drawing checks made payable to The Times-News Educational Defense Fund. A chairman and treasurer for the fund will be selected over the weekend and the announcement will appear in next week's Times-News. Contributions may be brought in or mailed to The Times-News, 246 Washington Avenue.

A final comment: The accused are entitled to a speedy trial, and the present status of the high school construction demands it. The inclusion of the school architect in the indictments creates an especially serious situation. Moreover, the sale of school bonds to finance the construction will be adversely affected until all clouds hanging over the project are cleared away.

An Essex County Grand Jury on Wednesday indicted the seven members of the 1961 Belleville Board of Education, architect Alfonso Alvarez and educational consultant Felix J. McCormick on four counts for misfeasance and non-feasance, and also indicted the seven members alone on two counts for misfeasance.

In addition the Grand Jury indicted a 1960 member and board president, Mrs. Violet Rochau, together with McCormick, on one count for misfeasance, aiding and abetting, and has indicted 1961 board member Arthur M. Pico on one count for false swearing.

Besides Pico the other 1961 board members are Dominic A. Lally, Michael V. Albertine, Ernest S. Arvidson, Dr. Frank N. DiRuggiero and Richard H. Drake. The last four named, together with Pico, are also members of the current Board of Education, with Drake heading the board as president.

The first named indictment charges in its first count that the seven members "unlawfully, knowingly, willfully and corruptly" refused to reveal prior to the School Board referendum of October 17, 1961 and December 21, 1961 essential and material information "with the intent to mislead the citizens of the Town of Belleville."

The information withheld was specified as, "The true conditions of the subsurface soil of the proposed new Belleville High School building site at Passaic Avenue and Division Street, more particularly the results of the Walsh Report dated April 28, 1961."

The second count charged Alvarez and McCormick with aiding and abetting the seven board members on the first count.

The third count charged the board members with neglecting to seek out the information about the subsurface condition, "knowing that the essential and material information was demanded of them by the citizens of Belleville at public meetings . . . knowing they were under a duty 'to do so'."

The fourth count charged Alvarez and McCormick with aiding and abetting the seven board members on the third count.

The indictment against the seven board members alone for misfeasance charged in its first count that they exerted "undue influence upon Arthur M. Pico . . . to change his vote in connection with proposals and resolutions regarding the construction of the new high school . . . by offering Pico a position in the school system of the Town of Belleville."

The second count charged Pico with changing his vote.

The indictment against Pico alone charged him with giving false testimony to the effect that he had not discussed with Board Attorney Max N. Schwartz at any time charges filed at Trenton by the Citizens Tax Council of Belleville with the State Department of Education, "whereas as he well knew he had discussed the charges with Schwartz."

The indictment against Mrs. Rochau and McCormick charged that Mrs. Rochau had kept secret a letter she had received from the New Jersey Chapter of the American Institute of Architects and signed by John Scacchetti, president of the chapter, Scacchetti said a clipping from a daily paper had noted that the Belleville Board of Education had selected an architect for its proposed high school "on the basis of concessions by the appointee in the matter of services rendered."

Scacchetti said the AIA had established minimum recommended fees and that a concession in the fee "can result in a loss to the architect, a condition hardly conducive to continued efficiency or happy relations."

The indictment also charged that McCormick had aided and abetted Mrs. Rochau in keeping the letter secret.

The parade is sponsored by Belleville Chapter of United National.

Grid Squad Is Ready For Important West Side Game

By ALFRED MCCLURE

The Belleville High School football squad is eager to go against West Side High School this Saturday after last week's all-important encounter with Nutley was postponed due to wet grounds at the Belleville field.

According to Head Coach Tom Testa, "The boys will be ready for West Side and what we lack in size we make up in courage and desire."

Obviously, the Bellboys will move to be trouble for the Rough Riders of West Side. Led by Captain Joe Latore, who directs the team's offense from a spread T formation, the Belleville gridgers should penetrate West Side's formidable forward wall for sufficient ground gains.

With Halfbacks Rich Luzzi and Frank Zinna hitting the line and man assisted by Lions Henry Lewis, Harry Ziegler, Edward Howell, David Robbins, Donald Bowden, Fred Weber, Joseph Gracchi, Leo Christian, Lester Demler, Emil Hork, Allen Miller and Mike Pariso.

Quarterback Joe Latore is an accomplished passer and Bob Byers and Lou Pomponio are more than adequate at the ends. The Belleville interior line consists of center Joe Del Guercio, guards Leonard Lungio and Bob McGee, and tackles Bob Byers and Drew Horvat. Although the interior line is not as beefy as West Side's line the Bellboys are well trained and good blockers. Lungio, a sophomore, is one gridders, and was outstanding in the Bellboy's 21-14 victory over a strong Bloomfield squad.

West Side will also find Belville's defenses formidable. Luzzi and Zinna will cut down West Side's passing attack by blitzing with all things taken into consideration it is expected that Belleville's superior passing, blocking and speed will carry the day. Luzzi, Latore and Lungio will be to much for the Rough Riders.

Taxpayers Must Pay $700,000 In Future For Past Debts

Two bonding ordinances passed upon first reading at Tuesday's Council meeting brought to light the fact that $700,000 spent by the former town commission during the past two years must be paid for by Belleville taxpayers during the next ten years.

The money was used for a number of past expenditures and was borrowed on short term notes now coming due. Under the law the notes must be retired and the underlying indebtedness amortized by bond issues.

Tuesday night only $173,000 in bond issues was considered. Approximately $530,000 remain to be acted upon. Next year's municipal budget will include an expenditure of approximately $100,000 representing principal and interest payments for the amortization of the foregoing bond issues. This will add 16 points to the 1963 tax rate.

So for next year the Town Council, elected just three short months ago, is burdened with expenditures not of their doing. In addition to the above $100,000 is the need to raise $48,000 to cover "emergency expenditures" during the first six months of this year. Nor can we forget the $300,000 annual expenditure for our new high school. Just these three items alone account for $448,000 of next year's tax money. What would happen to our 1963 tax burden if we added 22 more firemen and 9 more policemen as was requested?

The taxpayers and Council of Belleville are in for a tough period. It behooves all of us to work to attain every possible economy in operating the affairs of our community.

In preparing its budget the school board should be mindful of the overall community fiscal problems before going out on a limb for increased expenditures.

The New Administrative Code And That $300,000 Our Council Did Not Spend

The Town Council at Tuesday's meeting adopted the basic laws which will govern the administration of our community under the Council-Manager form of government which the voters adopted on May 2, 1961.

Opponents of the Council-Manager form of government flatly predicted the new government would cost Belleville taxpayers $300,000 in new jobs.

Well, the new government has been organized, new laws adopted, and at this writing it appears our new government will cost less to operate than the cast-off Commission government. All members of the Town Council are entitled to bows for a job well done.

The Administrative code is the basic tool of local government. It establishes the basis for the Town Manager's authority and reflects the basic governmental policy which the Town Council is obliged to pursue.

Passage of the Administrative Code Tuesday night was not attained without catcalls, hissing, and ungentlemanly conduct from disgruntled, defeated candidates who continue their efforts to threaten and intimidate our Council with probes, recalls, etc.

The Code is basically a good document. That it will be amended from time to time there is no doubt. At least it is a beginning.

The President Speaks

Some public officials make more sense when they speak in their rolls of public officials than when they take the stump to support candidates for political offices.

One such public official is the President of the United States, John F. Kennedy. Lately he's been jettisoning around the country telling the folks that he isn't doing too well with Congress and how much better he could do if the voters back home sent him more Democratic Congressmen and United States Senators.

Nor since the days of Franklin D. Roosevelt has the Democrat party had it so good in Congress. At latest count the House of Representatives is 262 to 174 Democrat. The Senate majority is even bigger for the Democrats — 64 to 36. How much better does Kennedy want it?

With overwhelming Democrat majorities in both houses Kennedy has the audacity to blame the Republican party for his legislative failures.

Kennedy insults our intelligence with his phony pitch about how the Republican party is responsible for his legislative failures. He should be man enough to face up to the truth — tell the people that his Dixie Democrats are sabotaging his program — more — Kennedy should campaign in the South against the Democrats who after all are the persons really responsible for his failures in Congress. The majority party has the responsibility for success or failure of legislative programs but by rewriting the English language Kennedy would have us believe the opposite to be true.

Any day now we can expect to hear Kennedy blame the Republican party for the disgrace at Oxford, Mississippi.

Who Is The Opponent?

There is a race presently underway for the 10th Congressional seat held by Congressman Peter V. Rodino, running "hard" for reelection.

Rodino won the seat in 1948 turning back the challenge of former County Clerk Anthony Guiliano, presently a Newark councilman. During the past fourteen years Rodino has compiled a rather voluminous record. One would think a Rodino opponent would expect to be successful only if he attacked THE CONGRESSMAN'S RECORD.

In the current campaign Rodino's opponent is running President Kennedy and his handling of our foreign affairs, especially Cuba. One would think the 10th Congressional District Republican candidate is running against John F. Kennedy. The GOP candidate incidentally, is Charles A. Baretzki.

Baretzki's Republican friends should remind him that his opponent is Rodino of Newark, N. J. and not Kennedy of Massachusetts. Baretzki should tell us what is wrong with Rodino's record and how he, Baretzki, would improve upon that record.

Until such time as Baretzki discovers his opponent is Rodino and not Kennedy his campaign statements add up to a lot of nonsense. Even in this day and age voters expect their candidates to talk sense.

For Baretzki to continue in the present vein is an insult to the voters' intelligence. And for the most part the 10th Congressional District is populated with a sophisticated, intelligent voter.

Our Public Libraries

Public libraries play a major part in the growing Adult Education movement. The major stock in trade of libraries are books, periodicals, and newspapers to which have now been added records, sound motion picture films, microfilm, tape, filmstrips and other media of communication as soon as they have been proven feasible for public use. The library's role is to organize these materials for use and then to encourage the use of this material in groups formed by the library, among groups supported by clubs, and classes under the supervision of public school Adult Education programs and smaller units offering Adult Education services.

Along with materials, the professional service of trained librarians makes it possible for these groups to program the materials into educational units satisfactory to thousands of residents.

Public libraries have been in the forefront of cultural development. Next to the major museum activities, libraries have traditionally developed and housed art exhibits of all types.

Of the other Adult Education activities that public libraries have developed, the one that stands out most sharply is that of Readers' Advisory Service. This service is an individual one and is concerned with planning the development of individual adult growth in any area. Librarians are trained to select book materials which will enable individuals to grow educationally in a planned fashion.

Dropouts and adults who have never had the benefit of much formal education are thus encouraged to work as individuals to grow as their more formally educated fellow citizens do. By the same token, librarians involved in Readers' Advisory work are also trained to cooperate in program planning to help all types of groups and organizations, develop complete programs for the education and education of their group members.

Visit our public library frequently. It is one of our greatest cultural institutions.

Carriage Mounting Stone Is 'Back Home' In Town

A "rolling stone" from the 1800's has returned home to Belleville after spending 34 years in New York state.

Alan Crisp, founder and chairman of the newly organized Belleville Historical Society, has announced the gift by Mrs. Henry S. Hendricks of New York of an exquisitely carved carriage mounting stone. This stone graced the Hendricks estate, a Belleville showplace, until the mansion was demolished in 1928 and the large estate deced to the Essex County Park Commission by Harmon Hendricks.

Experts say that the stone, which weighs 1,000 pounds, and has been placed on the Belleville Library lawn, is one of the finest examples of stonemasonry in the country. Made of brownstone, for which Belleville's own extinct quarries were once famous, it consists of two broad, curved steps rather than the usual square block. It bears two sets of the entwined initials of its original owner, Uriah Hendricks, who was born in 1802, and his wife, Fanny Tobias Hendricks, and their marriage date, "1826," as well as "1870," their 50th wedding anniversary.

The stone was taken to the country home of their son, Henry S. Hendricks, in Manassas, New York, in 1928. It remained there until this estate was sold in 1963, when the family placed it in storage in a warehouse in White Plains for nine years, until its homeward journey to Belleville.

ville. Mrs. Hendricks, now widowed, says that they felt content that "one day we would find the suitable place for it."

A dedication service will be held by the historical society on the grounds of Belleville Library on Sunday, October 28, at 3 p.m.

Mr. Crisp said, "The response to the formation of a historical society in Belleville has been most gratifying and heartwarming. It is particularly fitting that our first acquisition should be identified with the Hendricks family, whose copper mill provided employment for Belleville residents for more than a century. Furthermore, their gift of many acres of land to the county park commission in 1928 has brought pleasure to countless thousands. I hope that many will turn out on October 28 to honor Mrs. Hendricks and show our appreciation of her generous gift."

Paths Going 'Cross Lots' To School Are Remembered

By FREDERICK J. PIXLEE

Now that the Fall is upon us and the children have returned to school, it brings to mind how we used to go to School 3 in the second decade of this century.

We did not have to go by side-walk and street. That was too dull and prosaic. Most of us went "crosslots" by various paths. Unfortunately it is impossible to do so today because there is no great expanse of vacant lots left in Belleville anymore.

There were several paths leading to the school, some wide and some narrow. It depended on how many children used it. My path was not a wide one but there were many things to see on the way. Over the back fence on Hornblower Avenue, midway between Joramelon Street and Division Avenue, I went and joined another path used by Charles and the late Henry Hess. In earlier years it had been used by Herbert and Ralph Carson, both now deceased.

Down the path, past a thick bed of wild cherry trees that made an excellent "camp," I went until I joined another path used by William and Maurice Brown. William is also deceased and Maurice is a successful District Sales Manager for the Socony Oil Co. in Woodstock, N. Y.

SMALL HILLOCKS

There were numerous small hills in these lots and we named these hills after famous battle sites of the past. "San Juan Hill," "Little Round Top" and "Lookout Mountain" were only a few feet high, but we had imagination, which counted a lot.

I crossed Oak Street on a diagonal that headed almost straight for the school. Now the path became perceptibly larger, for the children on Oak Street also used it.

The late Henry Busse, a famous band leader in later years, was one of them. It was here that his lip was badly injured when he fell while sleigh riding, the back end of the runner injuring it badly. Even though this prevented him from continuing his career, he went on to fame as an orchestra leader.

Courtlandt Hunkle, a member of an old Belleville family, was another boy that used the path. Also Henry and Louise Le Gros, who originally came from France.

The path went up a fairly steep hill to the school steps on De Witt Avenue and it made a fine place to sleighride in the winter.

OTHER PATHS

The path that I have described in detail was one of the shorter, lesser traveled ones, but there were others that were wider and longer.

One of the largest began on Linden Avenue, midway between Little Street and Malone Avenue. This also went in a diagonal direction headed for the school. It was almost the size of a wagon road, so you can imagine how well traveled it was. Crossing Malone Avenue, it again became larger and meandered through some humps and hillocks to Tappan Avenue.

Due to some houses on Tappan Avenue and Division Avenue, there was a slight detour, and the path entered the latter street, alongside of a store that vended dry goods and notions and was operated by Mrs. Albert Broomer-Smith. Harry Brabban's Grocery and Candy Store adjoining this was also a welcome detour to many.

The path resumed its journey on the south side of Division Avenue, now headed about due southwest in the direction of the school. Past numerous thickets of the ever prevalent and useless wild cherry, it proceeded toward

De Witt Avenue.

Near the edge of a steep embankment leading up to De Witt Avenue there stood a huge tulip tree, the only one of its kind anywhere around. It had many forked branches and it was an easy one for most boys to climb.

The path went up the embankment in easy stages on the bias, as the saying goes, and emerged on De Witt Avenue about opposite the homes of Le Roy Bunnell and John Denike. From there it was only a short distance to the school.

Who were some of the children that used this path? Dr. Tracy Wilson, the dentist, was one, doing his daily kind deed in bringing the crippled daughter of Mr. Betts, the grocer, to school in an express wagon.

Max Schwartz, now a prominent attorney, was another. He was noted for his kindness toward little boys, of which I was one then. He never allowed any of the other boys to bully us.

Another boy who was in the same category as Max was Merton Leach. When "Leachy" was around, we were safe. He also made us bows and arrows and later on became a leader of boys, both in the Boy Scouts and in a Military Cadet Corps.

Merton's younger brother, Norman, excelled in penmanship. His handwriting was considered one of the finest in the school. Ruth and Eleanor Leach, older sisters, were talented elocutionists and singers.

Walter McLaren, now a bank vice president; the late Philip Cooper, who excelled at the violin; Mrs. Edna Pabst Heibert, who has been mentioned before in these articles as an excellent performer at the piano; only make up a few of the ones who used this path.

Nathan Paul, who helped his father on a dairy in the valley section down Little Street, also must have used this path. He is known today as a highly respected real estate broker with the Jacobs Realty Co.

George and Percy Karner and their cousin Harold; Joseph, Edwin and Hannah Phelps; Leonard Ferris and Eleanor Clark probably used this path before they went to School 5.

The list could go on and on, for I have only touched the ones that I personally knew. These fall days bring back the memory that once it was possible in Belleville to go "cross lots" to school.

WEST SIDE NEXT — NUTLEY NOV. 17

This past Saturday, the long awaited Belleville-Nutley game was cancelled due to a waterlogged stadium in Belleville. Belleville's wide-open air and field attack would have been hampered by a wet field, Nutley, which mainly relies on straight T-power plays would have had the advantage in Saturday's grid contest.

Coach Testa and the freshman coaches were able to enjoy a good lunch Saturday and then proceed to scout the Irvington, Orange platoons. Both teams showed magnificent offensive attacks as they battled to a 20-20 tie. While one set of coaches were in Bell Stadium, Orange, another set, consisting of Varsity line coach Harris, Pat Forte and John Jacone, went to watch West Side tilt the City league by winning their first game of the season against Central. Never underestimating their opponents, Belleville will have to be on the ball next Saturday when they face the Rough Riders. In all probability Belleville will play a ground game. It is my prediction that there will be a conservative score with Belleville at the winning end.

SEASON STILL TOSS UP

With a 1-1 record behind them Belleville has a tough seven weeks ahead. The teams are pretty equal this year and the tide may flow both ways. Good examples are this weekend's games. Garfield went against a strong Passaic team and tied 7-7. The Orange-Irvington 20-20 tie speaks for itself. Belleville should have its hands full in combating both teams' strong offenses.

However, with such defensive men as Strumulo, Luongo, Goglia and quick, alert Rich Luzzi, they should see the season through successfully.

Another team which may be a strong threat is Kearny. Although they were flattened 21-6 by mighty Montclair, they fought and struggled during the first half to have a 6-0 lead on the Mounties. All in all though, the Blue and Gold is really shaping up and with a little more work the team led by fine-backs Luzzi and Latore should have a good season.

Coach Testa And His Boys At "Proving Grounds"

BELLEVILLE PROVING GROUNDS— Coach Testa has put this sign on the Field House. He feels that if these boys really want to prove themselves, Clearman Field is the proving ground. The games will take care of themselves but the proving is done by boys during practice for the Saturday game. Front row, left to right: Frank Zinna, Ken Zarro, Richard Luzzi, Joe Latore, Joe Cervasio, Joe Valvaro. Back row, left to right, Robert Byers, Drew Horvat, John Visco, Joe DelGuercio, Louis Pomponio and John Senesicy. Photo by Kondreck

THE SAGA OF BELLEH CASTLE
By MARLIE JAMES

Citizens of Belleville, open your doors and your pocketbooks, the 1962 Belleville High magazine campaign is on again! This very worthwhile fund-raising project gives you a chance to order your favorite magazine and to help your high school at the same time. The proceeds that are collected during this drive are used for worthwhile projects of student clubs, for sports and other equipment — that otherwise could not be purchased, and for many other activities around the school.

Each year a different theme is used to inspire and interest the students to work toward the monetary goal which is set. The theme for this year is that of a medieval castle. Belleh Castle which is just being built. As more and more money is brought in, more of the castle will be built. When the goal of $12,000 is reached, the castle will be completed. All students who don't make a sale are sorry while those who pay their obligations to the realm (subscriptions) by bringing in their feudal dues (money collected) are knights.

The driving force behind this campaign is the magazine com-

St. Peter's To Join In Parade Sunday

Rev. James F. Heavey, Spiritual Director of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, Belleville, has issued an invitation to all men of St. Peter's Parish to join in the Holy Name Parade on Sunday, October 14.

With an expected 40,000 men from more than 100 parishes participating in the Newark parade, Father Heavey anticipates a turnout of at least 350 men from St. Peter's. The group will be in second position in the fourth parade division, and will meet in front of St. Peter's Church at 1:30 p.m. After a short "warm-up" parade on William St., Washington, Belleville and Union Avenues, the marchers will enter chartered buses for the trip to Washington Park in Newark, the mobilization area for the Fourth Division. At the conclusion of the parade at Military Park, the same chartered buses will return the group to Belleville, where refreshments and entertainment will be provided for the marchers and their drum corps.

The "Hi-Hat Brigade" — those wearing high hats and tails — is being organized again this year by Gene Barnett. More recruits to this special corps are gained each year.

An Open Letter To Belleville Taxpayers . . .

DID WE SAVE $300,000?

Taxpayers of Belleville, Read the Facts and You Decide!

Dear Friends:

As the fight for government change reached its climax in April of 1961 the opponents of change published a last minute advertisement flatly predicting Council Manager Government would cost Belleville taxpayers $300,000 for new positions.

The Belleville Administrative Code approved by us provides for no new pay jobs except that of Manager.

Before we hired a manager we decided to merge the position of Town Clerk with that of manager. For the two jobs we agreed to pay our new Town Manager $15,000, thus saving $9,000 annually which was formerly paid out for the Town Clerk.

The net increased cost of the government change for new jobs is approximately $6,000.

But we have saved more than this amount by eliminating most of the car and telephone allowances paid to many employees under the commission form of government. And this is not all - more savings are on the way.

Due to our efforts the projected $300,000 increased cost of operating government never came about.

To refresh your recollection we reproduce at right an advertisement of April 28, 1961 predicting a $300,000 job increase.

As the elected trustees of your money we are happy to make this report to you at our expense.
